

Source: The Mining Journal
Marquette, Mi.
September 6, 1887

Tuesday

Houghton, Sept. 2 - The freight train due here at 7:00 o'clock last evening had an accident happen to it just a half mile south of L'Anse. The train was in three sections. The men were switching one of them onto a side track; some freight cars got away and ran into some flats loaded with hard coal, which upset the flat cars and threw the train off the track. Two box cars were ditched. One of them, containing a horse which miraculously came out of the car without a scratch, turned a complete somersault. The passenger train going south was delayed four hours by the wreck.

~~DSS&A~~
Passenger