To Be Extended

The Ironwood Times has the following in its last issue in reference to the extension of the DSS&A to that city.

The Times has learned from very reliable authority, the very cheering news that the DSS&A will extend its range branch into our city at once and that the rails and the ties for the work are expected here almost every day. The grade is fully completed up nearly to Silver st., on the flats. This cannot fail to bring a large amount of custom and business to our city and it opens the immense timber resources of the main line of the DSS&A to the mill our city has and those that are sure to be erected here in the future. It will also prove a source of supply for the immense amount of mining timber required here yearly. The completion of the branch has long been looked for by our citizens and the mystery has been why it has not been built long ago. It is good news to know therefore that it has been decided to construct it at once.
