A COAL MINE EXPLOSION.

An Explosion of Gas in a Pennsylvania Coal

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 14 .- A frightful explosion of gas took place this morning in the Mill Creek mine, operated by the Delaware & Hudson Coal company. At the time of the accident there were about one hundred miners, laborers and boys in the slope. The news apread rapidly and the whole population seemed to have gathered about the colliery. The explosion occured in what is known as No. 12 lift, which is located at the extreme end of the opening of the slope, being 4,000 feet from the mouth, and therefore its ventilation was a difficult problem. The gas had ignited in the breast, where a miner named Coffy was at work. An exploring party of some treatment.

Eighteen years ago the Iron Cliffs Store was established, the object being to protect the laboring people of Negaunee from high prices and inferior goods. 'The old store still remains, and the people are thankful for the protection afforded them. The store suffers from a poor location, being at one end of the town, but has the advantage of a heavy cash capital, and no firm can sell cheaper. More new goods have been received this Fall than at all the other stores in the city. Profits will be cut, and divided with customers, for the store exercises the same protection now that it did 18 years ago.
