REED STIRS THINGS UP.

A Decision of the Speaker of the House Makes Yesterday's Session a Lively One.

DEMOCRATS REFUSE TO VOTE AND REED ORDERS THEM COUNTED AS PRESENT

THE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The house was thrown into an uproar this afternoon over an attempt by the speaker to count a quorum—an attempt which was pronounced by Mr. Breckinridge (Ky.) to be revolutionary. The election case of Smith vs. Jackson was called and Mr. Crisp (Ga.) raised a question of consideration. The democrats refused to vote and made a point of "no quorum." The speaker, however, counted as present members refusing to vote, and declared a quorum present. Before the announcement of the vote Mr. Rogers (Ark.), who inadvertently voted in the affirmative, decided to withdraw his vote but met with a storm of objections from the republican side. Mr. Rogers endeavored to secure a ruling from the speaker on the question in order that he might enter an appeal, but the speaker declined to rule. The speaker proceeded to make a statement defending his course. He quoted precedents to maintain the correctness of his position. His remarks

WERE FREQUENTLY APPLAUDED by the republicans, for instance where he applied to the minority of the language of the record of a New York case in which he described like conduct as rebellious and revolutionary. Mr. Crisp appealed from the decision of the chair. Mr. Rowell (Ill.) moved to table the motion. Mr. Crisp demanded to be heard in answer to the speaker, but the latter recognized Mr. Rowell instead. Whereupon Mr. Crisp denounced his conduct as unfair and unmanly. He appealed to the fairness of the republicans and was finally given the floor. Mr. Crisp proceeded to make a reply to the speaker. The greatest hubbub arose when the speaker directed the clerk to record the names of the members present and refusing to vote. This was the signal for a burst of applause from the republicans and jeers from the democrats. The clerk proceeded to read the names of the democrats whom the speaker had jotted down as being present and not voting. When the name of Breckinridge (Ky.) was reached he stepped into the aisle, and in a resounding voice said: "I deny the power of the speaker to do this and I denounce it as revolutionary."

CHEER AFTER CHEER characterized by the republicans as "the rebel yell" went up from the democratic side. It was several minutes before sufficient order was restored to continue the reading of the list of names. Mr. Bland (Mo) roared out that he was responsible for his actions only to his constituents and not to the speaker. Mr. O'Ferrall (Va) protested in the name of his state against the action. Mr. McCreary (Ky) denied the right of the speaker to count him present. The speaker—the chair is making a statement of the fact that the gentleman is present. Does the gentleman deny that he is present? (Applause and laughter on the republican side.) After more hubbub Mr. Crisp desired to appeal from the decision of the chair. The speaker replied that in due time he would allow the gentleman every proper appeal to the house in an orderly manner, as the chair would demonstrate to the satisfaction of the house the legality of its action. In the meantime Mr. Cooper was on his feet denouncing the act of the chair.

GOES TO THE PEN.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—Dr. Wm. H. Bradley, formerly editorial writer for the Philadelphia Press and more recently manager of the weekly edition of that journal, was to-day arraigned on indictments charging him with larceny of money furnished him to purchase postage stamps for the mailing department of the Weekly Press. Other indictments charged Bradley with embezzlement and alleged that his misappropriations amounted in the aggregate to between $8,000 and $9,000. The evidence was presented and the case given to the jury, but before a verdict had been returned, the counsel for Bradley withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered that of guilty. Judge Biddle then sentenced Bradley to five years and six months imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary.

IN THE LAW'S CLUTCHES.
NEENAH, Wis., Jan. 28.—Alfred S. Terry, of Detroit, Mich., was arrested last evening for violating the laws relating to starting insurance societies, on advice from State Insurance Commissioner Philip H. Heck. Terry was an agent of the National Endowment society with headquarters at Detroit. He is well known. He organized nearly all the Royal Adelphe societies in this state. He was put under $300,000 bonds. The case comes off January 30th.

MISAPPROPRIATED CHURCH MONEY.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 29.—The congregation of St. Jacob's German Evangelical Lutheran church has dispensed with the services of the Rev. E. C. F. Ernst, who is charged with misappropriating money collected to aid a church festival.

A Fat Dividend.
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Delaware & Hudson directors to-day decided to continue the dividends for the current year at the rate of 7 per cent per annum.

THE MINERAL RANGE ROAD.

Ask that the Assignment of H. S. Ives & Co. to Nelson Cromwell be Set Aside.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Mineral Range Railroad company, a corporation created under the laws of Michigan, has filed a bill of complaint with the United States circuit court for the southern district of New York against Henry S. Ives, George H. Stayner and Thomas C. Doremus, individually and as members of the firm of Henry S. Ives & Co., and William Nelson Cromwell, assignee of the firm. The bill is signed by Charles W. Cass, solicitor, and James C. Carter, counsel for the complainant. It cites the fact that the complainant company, on January 27, 1890, obtained a judgment in the supreme court of this state in Kings county against H. S. Ives for $450,957.27, and that the executions issued thereon have been returned unsatisfied.

The bill also alleges that the partnership of Ives & Stayner was begun in 1887, and ended in insolvency; that their "purpose was not to carry on a legitimate business but to acquire possession and control by fraudulent transactions of the property of other persons and corporations, to the end that they might apply the same to their own purposes"; that the assignment made by them on August 11, 1887, to Cromwell was made and accepted, with the intent to hinder, delay and defraud the creditors of the said firm; that the same was not made in good faith nor with the intention on the part of the defendants to cause the property of the said firm to be applied in payment of the claims of any of its creditors, but solely to hinder, delay, and defraud its creditors of their just demands and to apply to their own use various assets of great value which should have been applied to the payment of the claims of the creditors.

The complainant therefore prays that the assignment of defendant Cromwell be decreed null and void; that a receiver be appointed to take charge of all the assets of the firm of H. S. Ives & Co., and that a writ of injunction issue prohibiting the defendants from participating with or in any way disposing of any of the property of the firm.

HE HAD WRONGED HER.

A Divorced Chicago Woman Follows Her Betrayal to Troy, N. Y., and Shoots Him.

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—On Thursday last, a woman giving her name as Minnie McGrath, applied to the police of this city for assistance to find Edwin Firth, who, she said, had wronged her. She said she resided in Chicago, and she had there secured a divorce from her husband in order to marry Firth. Six months ago Firth suddenly left Chicago, and she bought a five-shooter bulldog revolver and followed him to-day asking him to meet her in her room in River street. He did not come and she started out to find him. She met him on Congress street and followed him to the corner of Broadway and Fifth avenue, where she shot him in the head. She then started for police headquarters, to surrender her self, but was overtaken by an officer. To Superintendent Willard she told the same story she narrated on Thursday about Firth wronging her. She was taken to jail. Firth was carried to his residence. He has a wife and two children. His wound is not regarded as fatal. Dr. Finder extracted the bullet. Firth denies that he ever promised to marry the woman. It has been learned that the woman's maiden name was Minnie Drath and that her married name was Mrs. Henry Warnecke. She has retained John J. Halligan, of New York, as her counsel. He had previously been retained by her to bring a suit for seduction.

Seem to Favor Chicago.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 29.—Both houses to-day had before them the question of the world's fair and adopted a resolution favoring holding the fair west of the Allegheny mountains. An effort was made in the senate to obtain an expression favorable to St. Louis, but failed. Chicago seems to be generally favored by the people of Mississippi.

The Convention Will be held.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 29.—The standing committee of the Episcopal diocese of California met here to-day and decided that it had no authority to postpone the general convention which has been called to meet in Trinity church in this city February 5, for the purpose of electing an assistant bishop of the diocese of California.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 29.—By a boiler explosion at a saw mill on Falling Rock creek, this county, three men lost their lives yesterday. Joe Wright and Morgan Hoover were instantly killed and Bud Mullins was fatally wounded. He only lived a few hours. Wright lived at Wellston, Ohio. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

A Sudden Death.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 29.—Feeling unwell this morning Edward J. Connor, train dispatcher of the LaCrosse division of the St. Paul railway, started from his office in the union depot to his home on Grand avenue. On the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets he had a stroke of apoplexy. He was taken home and died at 11 o'clock. He was a single man.

Committed Suicide.

ACTORS SNOW-BOUND.

Are Actually Suffering From Cold and Hunger. Many Other Theatrical Companies Snow-Bound in the Great West.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 29.—The main subject of interest among theatrical people now is the great snow blockade on the Central Pacific, which has kept three companies snow-bound in the Sierras and has cost several theaters much money on account of the failure of these companies to fill dates. The loss to the managers is estimated to amount to thousands of dollars, while the players are losing their salaries while locked up in the snow. In addition to this the actors and actresses are reported as actually suffering from the cold and from a want of proper food. The effect of this experience is likely to remain with them to the end of their lives. The Howard Specialty company has been the longest sufferer from the blockade. This company has been snow-bound in one car at Shady Run for fourteen days. During this time the actors have lived principally upon what is known as "packed food"—salt meat and fish, prepared for winter consumption at the smaller towns along the railroad. To men and women like the Irwin sisters and George Thatcher, to whom champagne suppers and wine dinners have become almost a necessary of life, this kind of food is not likely to be relished. Then, too, the fuel has given out and the occupants of the snow-bound car are obliged to suffer from cold as well as hunger. Rich & Harris, of Boston, proprietors of the company, have been doing all in their power to get their people and warm dinners. They sent a representative to Sacramento over the Southern Pacific and he has made arrangements with the railroad company to get the company back to Sacramento, as there is no probability of progressing east for the present. From Sacramento the company will go over the Southern Pacific to Kansas City, where they expect to open the Olympic theater next Sunday. A dispatch to Mr. Harris says the company is completely exhausted. The "Shenandoah" company is still snowed in nine miles from Wellsworth, Nev. Possibly the company will be dug out in time to reach San Francisco Friday. Roland Reed and his company are lost in the snow somewhere on the Central Pacific, but nobody seems to know where. The California theater in San Francisco, where they were to have appeared last Monday, is closed and will remain so until definite news is received of Reed and his people. The opening of the new Markham opera house, in Portland, Ore., has been postponed for a week because the Emma Juch company is unable to get to Portland. "The Pearl of Pekin" company escaped the perils of the snow but is blockaded between Fresno and Los Angeles by a washout. Taken altogether the players' pilgrimage to the Pacific coast this season will hardly be regarded as an overwhelming success.

IT WILL BE THOROUGH.

The Investigation of the Accounts of the Treasurer of the National Land League.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 29.—The committee recently appointed to audit the accounts of Dr. Charles Reilly, treasurer of the National Land League, began its labors in this city to-day. All the members of the committee were present with the exception of Hon. John Hearn, of Quebec, whose absence was due to an attack of la grippe. The committee organized by selecting Mayor Bushing, of Omaha, chairman, and Phillip McCallill, of St. Louis, secretary. It was unanimously decided to hold open meetings of the committee. Several members of the Chicago press were present. Mr. John J. O'Conner, of Elmira, N. Y., enquired why the auditing committee was called. President Fitzgerald, of the National Land League, stated that a long time having elapsed since the last convention, the Rev. Dr. Reilly considered it was due to the friends of Ireland in America that they should have a clear statement of his stewardship for their and his own satisfaction and as a matter of business and principle.

Dr. Reilly stated that the assertions made in the press that the committee appointed in former conventions had simply accepted his statement without an investigation were incorrect. The committees, both at Boston in 1884 and Chicago in 1886, held protracted sessions. Dr. Reilly read letters from Messrs. Parnell, Biggar and Dr. Kennedy, the treasurer of the league in Ireland, urging a further postponement of the national convention. Under the circumstances he considered an auditing of his accounts due both to himself and the public. The committee decided to make a detailed examination of the books and to have the report published in pamphlet form. The committee are at work this evening on the books and will probably finish to-morrow night.

Is Willing to Face the Music.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Schoolmaster Frederick Freund, who left the city last week to escape punishment for misreading a 14-year-old girl pupil, was arrested in Toronto yesterday. He has expressed his willingness to return to Buffalo.

RAN THEM DOWN.

A Runaway Wife and Her Paramour Caged in Negaunee's City Jail—The Van Atta & Cook Bankrupt Stock Closed Out—Trial of the City Building's Heating Apparatus—Notes of the Town.

Several months ago Mrs. Daniel O'Leary, who was then living with her husband in a small town in the southern part of Wisconsin, became enamored of one Vallour. When matters had almost reached a crisis, Mrs. O'Leary picked up her duds and ran away with Vallour, the pair leaving no clue to the direction they had taken. They came to the upper peninsula, and after spending a few weeks in Negaunee went to Sands, a small station about twenty miles down the North-western road, where they have since lived. The discarded husband immediately instituted search for the couple, and after spending a couple of months following false clues he succeeded in locating the pair at Sands. He secured a warrant from Justice Primeau and gave it to Marshal Cunningham, who soon had the guilty couple lodged in the county jail. The preliminary examination will take place in Justice Primeau's court this afternoon. The husband seems disposed to let the law take its course now, and there is little doubt that Mrs. O'Leary and her paramour will have to suffer the consequences of their liaison.

Mr. James Wilson, of Gladstone, assignee of Van Atta & Co., returned home yesterday, having closed the sale of that firm's bankrupt stock. The stock was bought by Morse Bros., of this city, for 45 cents on the dollar, and the purchasers are now removing it to their own store. The fixtures were disposed of piecemeal to various merchants here.

The Brown steam heating apparatus has been put in the city hall by M. R. Manhard, of Marquette, and it was fired up yesterday for the first time. One radiator has been placed in each room and judging from the trial yesterday it will be sufficient to keep the building perfectly heated.

Out of the fifty suits received yesterday by P. B. Kirkwood but few are now left. This presages a large attendance of merry maskers at the ball to be given by the German Aid Society to-morrow evening.

The kids take the streets now with their dog teams, and pedestrians at last have the right of way on the sidewalks. Woe unto the urchin whom Marshal Cunningham catches driving his dog on the sidewalk.

Tickets will be on sale in a day or two for the second of the Negaunee Entertainment Association's series. The lecture by Mr. George Wendling will be given at the opera house Tuesday evening, February 4th.

Those Negaunee men who won $7.50 and a case of beer from an Ishpeming sport on a horse race about a month ago are now anxious for another contest.

Mr. Kahn says that Charley Ericson and Julius Rich, both of whom will be remembered by many Negaunee people, are doing nicely in their store at Spokane Falls.

No, it wasn't Negaunee's snow roller that was seen on Marquette's streets Tuesday. We have use for the machine up here and can't spare it.

Architects here and in other places are busy making plans for a number of new buildings that are to be erected here in the spring.

The Northwestern boys had money in their pockets yesterday, the pay car having made its monthly round.

A number of people from the city will attend the charity ball to be given at Ishpeming to-night.

H. J. Atkinson of Metropolitan, passed through here yesterday to en route Marquette.

Sure Cure for La Grippe.
It has been demonstrated beyond doubt that change of scenes and climate is the best preventative and surest cure for the prevailing disease, and that those residing in cold climates are benefited by going to a warmer, and those of a warmer should go to a colder. But in order to realize all the benefits and escape unscathed you must go via the Milwaukee & Northern R. R., en route information rates etc., can be had upon application to any ticket agent or E. P. GIVEN TO A COLORED MAN.

B. K. Bruce is Named as the Register of Deeds for the District of Columbia.

UNITED STATES OF BRAZIL FORMALLY RECOGNIZED BY THE PRESIDENT.

The New Minister and the Minister Extraordinary Present Their Credentials and are Accepted by President Harrison.

GENERAL CAPITAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The president today sent to the senate the nomination of B. K. Bruce, of the District of Columbia, to be recorded of deeds for the District of Columbia.

BRAZIL FORMALLY RECOGNIZED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The formal recognition of the United States of Brazil by this government was completed this afternoon when the president received the credentials of Senhor J. G. Demaral Valente, the new minister accredited by the provisional government, and also the credentials of Senhor Salvador Mendonca as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary on a special mission to the United States. The ceremonies were marked with great cordiality. The two ministers with their joint suit of four secretaries made a fine appearance in their rich and brilliant uniforms. Secretary Blaine presented the two ministers and they presented their secretaries. The ceremonies took place in the blue room. The president in receiving them said: "Mr. Minister—I receive you as the representative of a new republic always a grateful duty to the government of the United States. The peaceful course of events that transformed the empire of Brazil into the United States of Brazil has been observed with deep interest by the government and people of this country. It is the source of profound satisfaction to the American people that the provisional government of the Brazilian republic came into power without bloodshed or violence. I trust this circumstance will prove a happy augury of peace, progress and prosperity in the career which now opens to the United States of Brazil. Speaking for the people of this country, it will be my constant aim to cultivate the most friendly relations with your government, to increase the personal intercourse, and enlarge the commercial exchanges between the two republics. I trust, Mr. Minister, you will find this capital a pleasant residence, as I am sure you will receive a warm welcome."

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A bill was reported for a further appropriation of $350,000 for a public building at Los Angeles, Cal. A bill was introduced for the erection of a monument to Abraham Lincoln on the Gettysburg battlefield, and was referred. Mr. Ingalls offered a long preamble and resolution as to the debts due the southern states on Indian trust funds and the direct tax of 1861. The resolution directs the secretary of the treasury to furnish the senate with full information on the subject. It was agreed to. Mr. Fry presented a memorial asking material aid for a structure at Philadelphia commemorating the events of the first century of our national life. Referred. Mr. Mitchell addressed the senate at great length on the free coinage silver bill. The Windmill bill, as it now stood, he regarded as fatally defective. With slight amendments, however, the proposition stood third in his estimation as a measure in the right direction. Free and unlimited coinage of silver stood first. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

The Central Pacific Blockade.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 29.—Information received in this city this afternoon, shows that the snow blockade on the Central Pacific is still unbroken though, the only portion of the track which is obstructed now is between tunnel 13 and Truckee, where a snowdrift this morning covered the track for a short distance. It is expected that this will be cleared in a short time and if no other slides occur, the railroad officials hope to have the blocked trains moving this evening. The rotary is still at Sacramento undergoing repairs and the work of clearing to-day was accomplished. A violent wind storm has commenced in the mountains, however, and there is danger that other slides may occur at any time. The reports received at the railroad headquarters in Sacramento this morning are not encouraging. The fact that the barometer is falling at Summit and that high winds are rising sweeping over the snow-clad mountains with driving fury, is not regarded as a favorable indication.

Another Cat in Eats.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—The Chicago, Burlington & Northern is about to make another reduction in passenger rates from St. Paul to Chicago to meet the secret cuts of rival lines. It has already reduced the second-class rate to $4, but has heretofore been content to leave the first-class rate at $9, where the Burlington & Northern has been cutting the market at St. Paul and claims to have purchased a first-class ticket to Chicago over a competing line for $8. It therefore proposes to openly reduce the first-class rate to that figure.

A Daring Robbery.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 29.—A special from Little Rock, Ark., says: A daring robbery was perpetrated at the depot this morning. Dr. J. C. Field, of Denison, Texas, being robbed in a passenger car by three well dressed men, who surrounded him in the aisle. One of the men thrust his hand into the doctor's pocket and got his pocketbook containing $190 and a railway ticket. The robbery occupied scarcely five minutes, the trio disappearing. One arrest was made but the party was discharged as he could not be identified.

Fell Seventy Feet.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Two Hungarians fell seventy feet from a shaft at the Lidington mine this morning. One died this afternoon and the other is in a precarious condition.

A MATTER OF JUSTICE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—General Crook was interviewed this afternoon with reference to the dispatches in the Pacific coast papers criticizing the proposed removal of the Chiricahua Apaches to the Indian Territory. With reference to the charge that Chatto was not faithful while serving as a scout, and furnished the hostiles with ammunition, and information, General Crook said: "This is all false. These stories are being circulated for a purpose. Chatto was not only faithful, but it was due entirely to the efforts of his Indian scouts that the hostiles under Natchez and Geronimo surrendered in March 1886. There were ninety hostiles who surrendered at that time. The terms were thoroughly understood,—all promised to go to Florida.

"On the way to Port Bowie, one night they camped near San Bernardino. It was extremely dark. They were filled with bad whisky and alarmed at the lies of a designing white man. Thirty-three of them stampeded. The balance, including the families of Natchez and Geronimo, continued on to Bowie, and were sent to Florida in accordance with the terms of their surrender. It is true that General Miles did discharge his Apache scouts, and after operating against these thirty-three Indians for over five months without killing or capturing a single one, he sent Lieutenant Gallwood with two of Chatto's scouts, who succeeded in securing the surrender of the renegades upon a promise that they should not be harmed and should be sent to join their families in Florida.

"It is very improbable that Chatto was planning a fresh outbreak at the time he was sent to Florida, as he and a delegation of chiefs had gone to Washington in June, where he was given a medal. Nor is it probable that his scouts would have secured the surrender of the party of Geronimo had they contemplated an outbreak. Instead of Chatto being sent back to his farm on the reservation with the delegation, they were sent to Florida where they received the same treatment as the hostiles whose surrender had been secured by their efforts. These Indians are thoroughly subdued and there is not the slightest danger of their becoming troublesome again. All they ask is that they may be placed where they can have ground to cultivate in order that they may become self-sustaining. The way these Chiricahua allies have been treated is an outrage, and reflects on the honor of the government."

The Times-West Case.

CHICAGO, Ills., Jan. 29.—The Evening Journal says: Shortly after James J. West was convicted of the fraudulent issue of Times stock and sentenced to five years imprisonment, a rumor was started to the effect that he had compromised the matter with the interested parties. This, it was said, he had done in order that, although under sentence, he might escape going to the penitentiary. The same rumor has it that the state's attorney had been convinced that the sentence was too severe. This part of the rumor, however, the state's attorney declared this morning in a journal report to be false. "I have not been convinced," he said, "I shall make no concessions, for I do not think the sentence excessive." Assistant States Attorney Elliott declined to say what he thought of the sentence, because the case was not yet settled. "You can say, however," he said, "that I have no idea of admitting the sentence to be great, or of moving a reduction of the sentence. What Dunn and Walker think about it I cannot say as I have been sick."

Attorney Walker was not in his office, but his associate in the case, Attorney Dunn, was. "I have not been sick," he said, "and I want it understood that I shall combat the motion for a new trial to the best I know how and so will Walker. Unless the motion is granted the sentence cannot be reduced. The sentence should not be reduced any way. West was working a systematized robbery; he knew it, and the idea that he was ignorant of wrong-doing is just as ridiculous. The sentence is just and had better not be on the jury under oath to do my duty. I should not have given him five minutes less. What is more, should West secure a new trial, any jury obtained would render the same verdict."

A Peculiar Accident.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—There was a sensational scene in Judge Clifford's Side Court about 2:30 this afternoon. The case of a young man named Schaefer, who was accused of committing an assault upon Officer James Maddox, was on trial. Officer Maddox was handling the revolver with which Schaefer tried to kill him. Suddenly the weapon exploded and the bullet whizzed dangerously near the heads of Mr. Neely and Judge Clifford. It passed between them and buried itself in the wall. There was a panic for a time. For some moments it was thought some one had tried to assassinate the judge. Officer Maddox claimed that before he left the station he extracted every bullet from the revolver and he cannot explain the accident.

A Frightful Accident.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 29.—A frightful accident occurred at the stone quarries at Chickies, this morning. A charge of dynamite failed to explode, when William Mestenhof, the foreman, went to investigate. It exploded as he was looking at it, tearing off his head and mangle his body in a frightful manner.

A SLICK SHARPER.

Works the People of Middleborough, Ky., To The Tune of $20,000.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 29.—A gentlemanly appearing young man arrived here a few days since on a prospecting tour. He went to Middleborough, Ky., the new industrial town, and was so pleased that he bought real estate on a large scale, paying some money down. He came here last Thursday and opened an account with the Knoxville Saving bank. He deposited $2,000 in money and some checks. He was of pleasing address and had letters of introduction from Middleborough banks. It now turns out that he was an expert crook. He was credited by the bank with bank checks and cash checks. One check was certified and was for $1,700 on a New York bank. A telegram from New York pronounces the certification a forgery. He took certified checks from the bank here, made small purchases, and got the balance in cash. He went to the bank to demand his money, but fortunately some checks had come in. The bank loses $1,000. The People's Bank of Middleborough loses $6,000; another bank $2,000 and a citizen $5,000 on an endorsement. Other parties here lost various sums. The total stealings thus far discovered amount to $15,000 or $20,000. He disappeared from Knoxville Friday night. His rascality was not made public until yesterday, and to-day a reward of $750 is offered for his arrest. He is about 28 years old and is evidently an ex-bank clerk. He gave his name as C. L. Paton.

FOLLOWS NEW YORK'S LEAD.

The Chicago World's Fair Committee Resolves to Increase the Guarantee Fund.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—At a prolonged meeting of the executive committee of the Chicago world's exposition this afternoon, Mayor Cregier was instructed, after the passage of a resolution, to send the following telegram to Colonel George R. Davis, at Washington: "By action of the executive committee of the Chicago world's exposition, it is proposed to increase the fund $10,000,000 by the issuance of $5,000,000 in bonds. (Signed) D. C. Cregier, chairman." This matter has been in contemplation for some time and in view of the satisfactory condition of the finances and the liberality of the public spirit displayed by the people of Chicago and the northwest generally, it was thought best to increase the fund this time in order to assure Congress that Chicago will do her share towards making the exposition the greatest success possible.

It has never been questioned but that Chicago would do more or as much as any city competing for the exposition and Mr. Young made a statement to the effect in offering the resolution providing for the issuance of $5,000,000 in bonds in addition to the $5,000,000 guarantee fund already subscribed. Mr. Onahan, treasurer, has felt the pulse of the people and feels confident that Chicago will, if a proper effort is made, double its stock subscriptions. Mr. Young added to the general enthusiasm by volunteering to take $100,000 worth of bonds and Mr. Onahan insisted that the resolution should be couched in unmistakable terms and in view of this, Mr. Young's motion was passed as follows: "Resolved, that in addition to the five million dollars stock subscriptions, five million dollars in bonds be issued, thereby increasing the fund to ten million dollars."

Traveling For His Health.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—President Benjamin S. Sibley, of Costa Rica, arrived in this city this morning, and registered at the Palmer House. He is traveling incognito in the company of his wife and mother. The president left Costa Rica December 14, and went by steamer to San Francisco direct. Since that time he has visited several western cities, Omaha last. He is traveling as quietly as possible as he wants rest and better health. He says there was no fighting in Costa Rica in November and there has not been since then. "The only revolution," said he, "was provided for by law and the objections which were then raised were not backed by force of arms. The people are all happy and prosperous. The Nicaragua canal will be of great benefit to the country. Now mahogany bound for New York has to be shipped around South America but the construction of the canal will cut off all that tremendous distance. All the people favor its construction and the government is disposed to be very liberal to the canal company."

Forecast of the Weather.

AFRICA.

ZANZIBAR, Jan. 29.—A number of French priests have arrived at Malindi. They state that they recently met Dr. Peters, the German explorer, concerning whose death many conflicting reports have been received. He was in good health.

Later news from the coast is to the effect that Lieutenant Borchert, a German officer, has returned to the coast. Borchert left Vitu in September to follow Dr. Peters with the second part of the expedition. Dr. Peters having started at the end of July. But Borchert had a mishap at the start. He was wrecked near Kipini, lost his supplies and did not find his way to follow Peters until some time in October. He followed the route Peters had taken up the Dana river but never joined him and did not get beyond the mountains in which the river rises. He is now lying ill at Lama Island.

AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—A daring robbery was lately perpetrated in this city. The thieves entered the office of the navigation company and walking to the desk of the cashier entered into conversation with him. Suddenly one of the men threw a quantity of pepper into the cashier's eyes, temporarily blinding him. They then seized the money which was on his desk and made their escape.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Serpa Pinto has arrived at Lourenço Marques on Delagoa Bay. He states that at the time of his leaving Mozambique that province was tranquil.

Agnes Huntington upon her own volition has succeeded in the Prince of Wales theater with no intention of returning. Her reason is the role of "Wilfred" in "Marjorie" is a tenor part and is not adapted to her voice.

The Will of Theresa Kinike.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—Among the wills probated to-day was that of the late Theresa Christina Kinike, the widow of the late Joseph Kinike, who died several years ago and who was well known for the interest he took in German institutions in this city. The testatrix died on the 16th inst. leaving an estate estimated at over $300,000; two hundred and fifty thousand dollars of which consisted of personal effects. The will bequeaths $44,000 to various charitable institutions in the city in amounts ranging from $2,000 to $5,000 and contains the following clause: "I direct my executors to pay to the proper civil authorities in Germany the sum of $30,000 as a permanent trust fund. Said authorities shall invest and reinvest said trust fund in lawful securities, shall apply the income thereof to the support and maintenance of the aged and infirm poor of the native place of my deceased husband and myself, namely the village of Erkehn in the district of Hoxter, kingdom of Westphalia, Germany. After making a number of private bequests to relatives, many of whom reside in Germany, and in different parts of the United States, ranging from $5,000 to $50,000, the last mentioned sum being devised to a servant in her employ, the will concludes as follows: "And as to all the residue and remainder of my estate, I direct my said executors to distribute the same among the charitable institutions in such proportions as they in their discretion deem proper."

The National League Meeting.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—It was after 3 o'clock when the adjourned meeting of the National League was called. The delegates in attendance were numerous. The negotiations committee reported that about 300 applications for positions had been received from players and a number had been engaged by the clubs through the committee. This report was accepted. This constituted the business of the day.

Attacked by a Vicious Sow.

WAVELEY, Ohio, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Boggs, of this county, while returning home through a field last evening was attacked by a vicious sow. Before assistance reached her she was horribly mangled. She cannot recover.

Another Mine Accident.

BESSEMER, Mich., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—At the Montreal mine this morning a bucket fell on a man and killed him. He leaves a wife and three children in Italy. Three other men were seriously hurt and were taken to the Bessemer hospital.

Mormon Tithing Scrip.

A Salt Lake correspondent of The St. Louis Globe-Democrat writes: "If you go into the principal office of the tithing house you will see a tall young man handling what looks like money. He is behind a counter, and the counter is protected by a high railing. The man glances through the window, then looks down at the bills, and then goes on thumbing them like a bank teller. He goes to and from a big safe, carrying bundles of one paper pinned about them. Sometimes the young man doesn't stop to count, but takes the amount on the brown slip as correct and passes out the money. This is Mormon money. It is the tithing scrip. It is used to facilitate the handling of the grain and hay and live stock and produce which come in. If you pick up one of these bills you will find it very much like a bank note in appearance. In one upper corner is a picture of the bill. In the lower left hand corner is the holy sign of Mormonism, a beehive."

Good only for Merchandise and Produce at the General Tithing Storehouse, Salt Lake City, Utah. Each note bears the signature of the presiding bishop. On the back is the denomination again, and a vignette of the new temple at Salt Lake City. The back also bears the wording: "This note is not current except in the merchandise and produce departments of the General Tithing Storehouse." The engraving is well executed and the printing is well done. The bills vary in color. There are greenbacks for one department of the tithing house, brownbacks for another, and so on. By using this scrip the church is able to create a market for considerable quantities of the tithing. This scrip is given out in dispensing charity. It is used in paying for work on the temple so far as the workmen can make use of it. Employees of the tithing house receive their salaries or allowances partly in scrip. In numerous ways the Mormon money gets into circulation.

Historical Puns.

The Roman bishop's famous compliment to the handsome Anglo-Saxon captives, "Not Angles, but angels," had greater results than its actual brilliancy might seem to merit, and St. Leo doubtless had no idea when he prayed to heaven to aid Rome against the invading Huns, "and huri back these Tartars into the fires of Tartarus," that this punning prayer was to fix upon the unlucky "Tartars" as they were, then called a nickname that would never die.

Such puns have more than once played a formidable part in history. France expiated by the devastation of an entire province a coarse and clumsy play upon "corps" and "corpulence" made by the French king in decision of his terrible neighbor, William the Conqueror. Charles V's jesting assertion that he could Paris in his glove (gant), though meant only to indicate the superior size of Gheat to the Paris of that day, stung Francis I into the renewal of a languishing war. One of Louis XV's upstart favorites was driven from the court by the biting pun that turned his new title of Marquis de Vauvergne into "Marquis d'Avant-hier" (the day before yesterday).

The epigrammatic brevity of Sir Francis Drake's celebrated but probably mythical dispatch announcing the rout of the Armada—which consisted of the single word, "as they were," i. e., the Spanish fly—has been twice paralleled in our own age. Sir Charles Napier and Lord Dalhousie respectively announced the annexation of Scinde and that of Oude in one word apiece, "Peccavi." I have sinned (Scinde), and "Vori." I have vowed (Oude). Equally historical is the bitter pun that changed the name of the sluggish Admiral Torrington to "Admiral Tarry-in-town."

Napoleon (who was no man for light jesting) is credited with only a single pun, and that a rather poor one. During his great Italian campaign of 1796-7 he replied to a lady who wondered to find such a famous man so young: "I am young today, but to-morrow I shall have Milan" (i. e., "mille ans," a thousand years). A much better joke was that made on the great conqueror himself by an Italian countess, who, hearing him say, "All Italians are traitors," replied, pointedly, "Not all of them, but a good part" (Buona parte). Equally neat, and even more grimly significant, was Bismarck's answer to a person who was speculating how much the impending war of 1870 would cost France. "Not much," said the Iron Count; "only two Napoleons!"—David Ker in Harper's Magazine.

Why the Leaves Turn.

"Probably not one person in a thousand knows why leaves change their color in the fall," remarked an eminent botanist the other day. "The common and old fashioned idea is that all this red and golden glory we see now is caused by frosts. A true and scientific explanation of the causes of the coloring of leaves would necessitate a long and intricate discussion. Stated briefly and in proper language, these causes are these: The green matter in the tissue of a leaf is composed of the constituents of chlorophyll, and the sap color of flow in the fall, and the natural growth of the tree ceases, oxidation of the tissue takes place. Under certain conditions the green of the leaf changes to red; under different conditions it takes on a yellow or brown tint. This difference in color is due to the difference in combination of the original constituents of the green tissue, and to the varying conditions of climate, exposure and soil. A dry, cold climate produces more brilliant foliage than one that is damp and warm. This is the reason that our American autumns are so much more gorgeous than those of England. There are several things about leaves that even science cannot explain. For instance, why one tree grows on one side by side of the same age and having the same exposure, should take on a brilliant red in the fall and the other should turn yellow, or why one branch of a tree should be highly colored and the rest of the tree have only a yellow tint, are questions that are as impossible to answer as why one member of a family should be perfectly healthy and another sickly. Maples and oaks have the brightest colors.—Field and Forest.

His Wife Not Satisfied.

President Lincoln had been during our most stormy weather to visit the camps of the generals in Virginia, and taken a violent cold. Mrs. Lincoln was in despair, and one day said to Secretary Stanton: "I do wish you would look Mr. Lincoln out of the rooms for a week! He is ill enough to be in bed now, and suffers agonies with his arms from acute rheumatism. I don't know what to do. He goes out, and keeps at work every moment."

Mr. Lincoln waved his long arm at the secretary, saying, "Well, Stanton, there ought to be one comfort for my poor wife, anyhow—the same that the poor man Jefferson had, whose only son died. Did you ever hear the story?"

"His friends, family, neighbors, and church lamented, extolled and grieved over the loss, at the funeral, when Jefferson himself arose and said, 'My dear friends: We have the blessed consolation of knowing that every thing was done that could be done. He was dead no less than twenty-four times in twenty-four hours! But he had no strength and had to die.'"

Chartrouse.

The manufacture of chartrouse is of comparatively modern origin. Till 1835, in the Grand Chartrouse alone, an elixir was made of certain herbs steeped and distilled in brandy for medicinal purposes, and it was solely as a remedy that the original chartrouse was employed and distributed by the brothers. That their devotion would, become a liqueur for the palate of luxury never occurred to them. In time, however, both the manufacture was improved and the fame of its excellence extended; so that the rule old work shops in which the brothers distilled the herbs no longer sufficed, and new buildings were erected, and operative came into that Alpine basin to lend their aid to the perplexed and overworked brothers. Now, the manufacture has called into existence quite a small town. Formerly three kinds of chartrouse were made—the white, the yellow and the green, but the white has been abandoned of late years. The green is both the strongest and the most expensive. The yellow is a color in the green tints in the yellow. It is united that the reversed fathers themselves regard a blend of the two as the perfection of the liqueur in the proportions of one-third green to two-thirds yellow.—Chambers' Journal.

A Great Rat Catcher.

MR. S. A. JOHNSON has the complete rat trap we have ever seen. He has caught as many as eighteen in it at one time. We had the fun of assisting him in killing thirteen which he brought at one time this week. The trap is the length of the crib, and is covered by a box of three planks nailed together in the shape of a trough. Into this several holes are bored which coincide with holes bored in the trap. Through these holes the rats enter the trap. The trap being drawn out slightly the rats have no way of escape.—Green's (Ga.) Herald.

To Home Seekers and Land Lookers!

The Mobile & Ohio Railroad runs from St. Louis, Mo., to Mobile, Alabama, through the states of Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

LONG LEAF PINE LANDS ACCESSIBLE TO RIVERS AND RAILWAYS.
The Mobile & Ohio Railroad now have more than 70,000 acres ranging in price from $125 to $400 per acre. Situated along the line of their railway, for sale in tracts of suit size. Oak timber of the best quality in large tracts from $1.25 to $4.00 per acre. There is also millions of acres of fine Government pine subject to homestead entry and preemption along the line of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, from North-eastern Mississippi to southern Alabama.

BUY NOW!

Why? Because the price for good pine is lower to-day than it ever will be again. These Long Leaf Pine lands are accessible to water and are advancing with the increasing southern immigration faster than pine land ever did in Michigan. This is not wild, but a plain statement of facts susceptible of proof. These lands are situated in a strip about thirty miles wide, along the line of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, from North-eastern Mississippi to southern Alabama.

Thousands of acres of cheap grazing, farming and fruit lands, values increasing more rapidly than any portion of the United States. Situated in a fine, healthy climate—less than six weeks moderate weather, and free from excessive heat, within easy access of all the large cities of the country, good water and plenty of timber, and the natural fertility of the soil, among the cyclones and blizzards, where the railroads dictate the price you shall pay for the lumber and the price you take starvation prices for your farm products.

Freight rates and the importance to every farmer and mill man. Many navigable streams traverse the land great of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. The prairie lands of Eastern Mississippi—no finer agricultural lands in the world. High Rolling Table Land, covered with timber, deep, alluvial soil, good water, and very healthy. These lands, before the war, found a ready sale at from $50 to $80 per acre. They can now be purchased at $2.50 to $10 per acre. The great decline was caused by the freedom of the slaves. They have been nearly doubled in value in that time.

Good and better grass than we will here as well here as in more northern latitudes. Cover and other grasses grow so well here as well here as in more northern latitudes. A man with a little capital will be able to get an equal chance with the largest capitalist. Our main object is to settle the country. Correspondence is solicited from all classes of persons wanting any kind of land, whether it is one waiting forty acres for a homestead, or a capitalist wanting to invest in a tract of timber; we can furnish both without delay, and with the utmost satisfaction to all parties.

MOBILE AS A HEALTH RESORT.

Mobile on a plain shut in by slight hills at her back, washed by the Mobile river, and cooled by the Gulf breeze, and fanned by the tempered breezes of the Gulf stream. The climate of this City of the Gulf is the most healthful and pleasant to the limited sea.

The city itself, from its abundance of various trees, its beautiful gardens, its abundance of bloom and abounding in semi-tropical plants; its quiet and noiseless streets, and its broad avenues, is always captivating to the stranger. Then, to these, if we add the quiet hospitality, courtesy, and refinement of its people, it becomes a lovely one to the visitor. Dr. William H. Anderson, one of the oldest and most successful physicians of the city, and a Professor of Physiology in the Medical College of Alabama, in a pamphlet in relation to the health of Mobile, says:

"There are many chronic diseases that are positively benefited by the balmy air that blows from this tropical sea. It is well known that the iodine and bromine vapors, which float into the atmosphere of the Gulf of Mexico, are powerful remedies for many ailments. All those who exist there in almost infinitesimal quantities, still they are invigorating and have a beneficial effect on the system. The fact, however, that this atmosphere is entirely free from malaria in any of its forms, gives to salt air, water, the tonic properties which we find in the natural atmosphere in summer. I am aware that many parts of the southern country hold forth inducements to the invalid, and that Florida, Louisiana, and thousands flock to Florida every winter. But these resorts, although furnishing the requisite temperature, cannot boast of freedom from malaria for which the coast of the Mexican Gulf is justly noted. What is wanted by such invalids is a dry, sandy soil and a mild, southern sea breeze. These requisites are found in the city of Mobile and its vicinity to a greater extent than they can be found anywhere else, either in this country or on the shores of the Mediterranean."

"For consumptive patients, however, exercise in the open air, in a location free from malaria, is all-important. The atmosphere of a city unobscured by closed windows and doors is a positive poison that aggravates any disease. It is far better to live in a canvas tent, if the outer air is mild enough to allow it, than to remain shut up in a house. The blood wants free oxygen, and it cannot get it in a closed apartment. Now, I claim for Mobile and its vicinity this advantage, that the patient can be out in the open air nearly every day during the winter and spring seasons. If his open air, therefore, is mild and not poisoned with malaria, it fulfills all the indications necessary for consumptives. The very nature of the soil and the atmosphere is opposed to the generation of malaria."

Mobile is a delightful city of some forty thousand inhabitants, possessing a beautiful harbor. It has good schools, fine churches, a public library, good theatres and the law faithfully administered. The principal points of interest in and about the city are the Barton Academy, the Medical College, the Spring Hill College, and Spring Hill, which can be reached by the new dummy line, the Custom house, the new Court house, the market, the gardens, the famous Bay Shell-road, Fort Morgan, the scene of Farragut's great naval battle, the scene of Spanish Fort and Blakely, the scene of the last battle of the civil war, etc.

TALK OF THE TOWN.

Local weather prophets are now coming to the front with predictions of 40 degrees below next month.
Quite a number of Marquette young men and several ladies went to Escanaba to the conductor's ball last night.
The thaw continued yesterday and the streets are rapidly assuming a sodden aspect much in contrast with their former white glitter.
Mrs. Andrew Pierson, aged thirty-three years, died of consumption at 328 Washington street yesterday. The funeral will be held from the house at 3 P. M. Friday with interment at Park cemetery.
Jailor Bennett took Mrs. Jessie Petersen to the Traverse City asylum yesterday. She is suffering from melancholia, and it was considered advisable to send her where she could receive expert treatment. She has two small children.
Marquette lodge, F. & A. M. gives a "phantom" or "sheet and pillowcase" party at its hall to-morrow evening. Only gentlemen who are members of the order and their sons will be present, but of course their strict restriction as to ladies. Refreshments will be served and a general ghostly and jolly time had.
The capacity of the incandescent light plant has been reached, and a number of persons who delayed securing the light until the last moment are now loud in their disappointment. Many taxpayers, seeing the success of the electric light, are beginning to debate seriously the idea of taking measures to raise money to increase the plant.
A. F. Noble, agent of the South Shore line at Ashland, was in the city yesterday. He was much interested in the electric plant and spent some time examining it. He especially remarked the difference between the cost of the light here and in Ashland where a private corporation has the privilege and charges $11 per month for half-night lamps.

A Significant Confession.

Chicago has been for years the great lumber mart of the country. Of late years the tendency has been to divide the lumber trade and place it further north, nearer the centre of production. As the northern peninsula of Michigan has risen in importance so has Chicago's monopoly of the lumber handling declined. The decrease is but small in the aggregate as yet but there are evidently fears on the part of those most interested that it soon may be accelerated. Prominent among the factors that has caused this shifting of trade and helped place the upper peninsula in a position of independence from the great cities to the southward is the building of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad. In this connection the following paragraph from the last issue of the Northwestern (Chicago) Lumberman, will be of interest to upper peninsula business men:
A commission dealer of this city, who has about 5,000,000 feet of lumber on St. Louis bay, near Duluth, to dispose of, is figuring to send it to the eastern market. He says that he can forward it by rail over the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic route at a rate but 5 cents above that from this city.
That is to say the South Shore line is able to carry lumber from Duluth to the seaboard for but 5 cents per thousand more than the rate from Chicago to the seaboard. This difference of 5 cents is much less than the lumber could be carried from Duluth to Chicago. With the double advantage of water and short-line rail transportation the position not only of Duluth but of all other Lake Superior cities seems an excellent one.

Mendelssohn's Courtship.

Moss Mendelssohn, who was born in Dessau in 1729, of Jewish parents, and who died in Berlin in 1785, was one of the most learned authors of an enlightened age, writes Berthold Auerbach. His eldest son, Joseph (born 1770, died 1848), founded, with his brother Abraham (the father of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, the celebrated composer) the banking house of Mendelssohn & Co., in Berlin. Moss Mendelssohn was at the watering place called Fyrnont. Here he became acquainted with the merchant Gugenheim, of Hamburg.
"Rabbi Moss," said the merchant one day, "we all adore you, but with the greatest enthusiasm my daughter admires your work. It would be my greatest delight to have you for a son-in-law. Do pay us a visit at Hamburg."
Mendelssohn was very timid, for he was sadly deformed. He started for Hamburg, and on his way he paid a visit to his great friend Lessing, in Brunswick. After arriving in Hamburg he visited Gugenheim in his counting house. The merchant said: "Go to my daughter; she will be pleased to see you. I have told her a great deal about you."
Mendelssohn visited the daughter, and the next day he came again to Gugenheim in his counting house and spoke of the charming and thoughtful manner of the daughter.
"Yes, adored rabbi," said Gugenheim, "shall I honestly tell you?"
"Certainly."
"You are a philosopher, a kindly disposed wise man. You will not be offended with my child. She said that she was frightened when she saw you, because you—"
"Because I have such a hideous hump on my back."
Gugenheim nodded.
"I thought so," said Mendelssohn, "but I will bid farewell to your daughter."
He went into the dwelling, at one of the windows of which sat the daughter on an elevated chair sewing. They talked kindly and cordially together, but the girl did not look up at Mendelssohn. At last she put the question: "Do you also believe that matches are made in heaven?"
"Certainly. Something peculiar has happened to me. You know that there is a saying in the Talmud that at the birth of a child the name of the one he shall marry is called out in heaven. Well, when I was born, the name of my wife was called out to me, and with it was mentioned that she would be unfortunately deformed with a hideous hump. "Dear Lord," I then said, "a girl that is deformed easily becomes bitter and hard; a girl should be beautiful, dear Lord; give me the hump, and let the girl be pretty and attractive."
He had scarcely said this when the girl embraced him. Later on she became his wife, and they lived happily together. They had beautiful and brave children, of whom there are living descendants at the present time.—Boston Herald.
Didn't Want the Earth. When the oil excitement spread from Pennsylvania to Ohio, a German near Liverpool began to sink a well in his back yard. All the work was done by hand power, and his drills were of the cheapest make. He hammered away for week after week and month after month, until he was pretty near the roof over China. Then a few of us planned to give him a surprise and make life worth the living, or at least a few hours of it. We got a gallon of crude oil and poured it into and around his well in which the drills were still at work. This was done at night, and next morning when we got around there, according to agreement, Hans was sitting on a bench, arms folded and his pipe alight.
"What! Struck it at last!" exclaimed one of the boys in great astonishment.
"Yaw, I haf struck her," was the calm reply.
"Really got oil! Old fellow, let us congratulate you!"
We all shook hands with him, got down and tacked the oil and inspected the well, and finally one of the crowd inquired:
"Hans, do you want to sell out?"
"Yaw, I sell out," was the complacent rejoinder.
"Well, we are here to buy if we can get satisfactory figures. You know as well as we do that our very best will probably prove a hummer. It promises at least a thousand barrels a day."
"Meyne two thousand," said Hans.
"Who can say? Now, then give us your lowest cash figures, right off, quick. We want the well only. You can still live in your house. What's your figure?"
"Fifty cents a foot, fifty dollar."
"What!"
"Was she too high? Vwell, I make it forty dollar. Dot pays for my tools and makes me all right."
"Why, man, do you mean that you only ask forty dollars for this thousand-barrel oil well?"
"Dot vvas vho I mean, and if she vvas too high, I make it fifty dollar less. Shall we make out some paper?"
"And we had to back square down and back out of that back yard, feeling that we had been left. As the matter turned out the well would have been dear at forty cents.—New York Sun.
Human Influence. No human being can come into this world without increasing or diminishing the sum total of human happiness, not only of the present, but of every subsequent age of humanity. No one can detach himself from this connection. There is no sequestered spot in the universe, no dark niche along the disk of non-existence, to which he can retreat from his relations to others, where he can withdraw the influence of his existence upon the moral destiny of the world; every-where his presence or absence will be felt—every-where he will have companions who will be better or worse for his influence. It is an old saying, and one of fearful and fathomless import, that we are forming characters for eternity. Forming characters! Whose? Our own or others? Both; and in that momentous fact lies the peril and responsibility of our existence. Who is sufficient for the thought? Thousands of my fellow beings will yearly enter eternity with characters differing from those they would have carried had I never lived. The sunlight of that world will reveal my finger marks in their primary formations, and in their successive strata of thought and life.—Elihu Burritt.
Man's Hope of Immortality. The catpillar, on being converted into an inert scaly mass, does not appear to be fitting itself for an inhabitant of the air, and can have no consciousness of the brilliancy of its future being. We are masters of the earth, but perhaps we are the slaves of some great and unknown being. The fly that we crush with our fingers or feed with our hands has no knowledge of man and no consciousness of his superiority. We suppose that we are acquainted with matter and all its elements; yet we cannot even guess at the cause of electricity or explain the laws of the formation of stones that fall from meteors. There may be beings, thinking beings, near or surrounding us, which we do not perceive, which we cannot imagine. We know very little; but, in my opinion, we know enough to hope for the immortality, the individual immortality of the better part of man.—Sir Humphry Davy.

ABOUT ISHPEMING.

Officer Archie Explains Why He Didn't Put Out the Iron Store Fire—City Hall Project Not Abandoned—Some Talk of Electric Light—The Charity Ball.

Officer Archie's Story.

Considerable censure having been heaped upon Officer Archie of the night police force for his action in regard to the fire at the Iron Store Sunday night, the reporter saw him yesterday and obtained his story. He said that he did what he thought was right in the premises, and no one could do any more. When he reached the door of the building and looked in, the flames were raging above the counter in the dry goods department. He says there must have been considerable fire beneath the counter, and he does not think—nor did he think at the time—that it could be put out with a little water or snow. He says that had he been sure that it could have been put out by that means he certainly would have broken in the door and tried to extinguish the blaze. As it was, he ran to the nearest alarm box and turned in the alarm and then ran to the engine house, where he remained to give the general alarm until a couple of men arrived. He then went back to the building, and by this time a large portion of the interior was in flames. A few men who had arrived on the scene wanted to break in the door, but he told them it would be of no use, as the admission of air would only help to feed the fire. The men were then standing on the doorstep, and almost before they could get out of the way the whole front came out.

For A City Hall.

There are a large number of taxpayers here who, though they do not dispute the fact that the city stands badly in need of sewerage facilities, think that it is abundantly able to stand the expense of both improvements. These views will probably be expressed in some way at the next meeting of the council, the board having deferred until then final action on the matter. The question has now resolved itself into a financial one, for it would be hard to find anyone who will say that a city hall is needed more than sewerage. It is a question of whether the city is rich enough to afford both. There is no question but that the southern part of the city would be greatly benefited by the erection of the city hall—the reporter knows of one business man who will put up a fine block in that vicinity if the hall is built, and who says he will not if the project fails. The people in that end of the town will be pretty apt to ask the council to let the work proceed.

Electric light is being heard in some quarters of the city, and it is not improbable that something in that direction will be done before long. It was the purpose of the Ishpeeming Gas and Electric Light company to furnish electric lights at any time when there was a sufficient demand for them to insure profit in the operation of the system, and no doubt, should the business men ask for electric lights now, the company would take some steps to provide them. The question rests with the people. If they want electric lighting, let them ask for it, and if not let them continue to use the gas, which is of good quality and furnished at low rates.

For Sweet Charity's Sake.

The grand charity ball arranged for by the ladies of this city will be held at the Opera House this evening. A large number of tickets have been sold, everyone contributing to the worthy cause very readily, and a large attendance is assured. Good music has been secured and the ladies who are interested in the management of the affair will spare no pains to make it interesting for all who attend. From present indications, the proceeds will far exceed the expectations of even the most sanguine, and the work of distributing the funds will be begun immediately. The doctors are assisting to a great extent and have already reported a large number of cases where families are positively suffering for want of the necessities of life. Those who intend going to the ball are requested to remember that dancing will begin at 8 o'clock sharp, even if there are only a dozen then in the hall. The grand march will take place at that hour, and those who wish to participate should be on hand in time.

USING CARRIER PIGEONS.

HOW A WALL STREET BROKER KEEPS POSTED ON FLUCTUATIONS.

His Swift and Trustworthy Messengers Fly from the Street to a New Jersey Farm in an Hour—Winged Competition with Telephone and Telegraph.

One day a friend of mine, a Chicago business man, came to visit me at my farm down in New Jersey. "How do you find the time to give to this place," said he a few moments after his arrival, "to say nothing of the leisure one should have to enjoy it? I should think it would be impossible for a busy stock broker. Do you have a private wire to Wall Street?" Having been often asked the same questions before I held my peace. In a little while we went out of doors to look at the live stock. I had a pair hitched up to a double buggy, and, with my Chicago-friend at my side, was soon jogging around the track I have made to exercise my horses on.

We are at the first end of the track when one of the stablemen comes on a run from among the buildings and waves something in his hand. I quicken the pace of the horses and in an instant we are where he stands. He steps to my side and hands me a small slip of paper folded up very compactly. I unroll the slip and read the writing which is crowded on its surface. Then, turning to my friend:

"Prices have not changed since morning, and my manager says that the market is very dull. That slip has just been one hour in coming from my office in New street." "Is it a telegram?" queries my companion. "No." "Then how did it get here?" "By carrier pigeon," and with that I signal to the horses and we are once more spinning swiftly around the track.

FAILURES AT FIRST. About five years ago I bought my farm, Chetolah, in North Branch township, Somerset county, N. J. It is about forty miles by the Jersey Central road from Communipaw. The railroad depot, which is also a telegraph station, is about two and a half miles from the house.

To spend my Sundays there, with an odd day now and then thrown in, or perhaps a few days at a time when summer dullness settled on the market, seemed the best that could be hoped for. But, once tasted, country life presented a thousand charms and attractions that had not been dreamt of. The chief objection to bestowing a more liberal share of my time on it was that of keeping up communication with the "street." It was comparatively easy to get telegrams from the farm to my New York residence, but the more important messages from Wall street which would keep me advised of the condition of the market or of any sudden development that might require my presence or action were exasperatingly slow in reaching me.

Then the more or less amiable young ladies who successively had charge of the telegraphic department of the station had an unaccountable habit of going home for lunch just as an important message was about to come over the wires. At this juncture the idea suggested itself to try carrier pigeons. I had taken some interest in the performances of these remarkable birds. The distance from my office, close by the Stock Exchange, to the farm is about forty-three miles. Birds were constantly making longer journeys than that. It seemed like a good plan and it was forthwith put into execution.

A dozen birds or so were accordingly purchased from a fancier in New York and installed in a loft over the barn. My first success in attaching carrier pigeons was unsuccessful. After they had become presumably accustomed to their new home they were taken successively to town and let loose, but only a few ever came back. The majority may have returned to their original homes, but I may have picked them off or prospects of food and rest may have seduced them into consorting with plebeian pigeons. In short, the speculation were a decidedly bearish appearance.

At this point unexpected assistance was tendered me. One of my best friends in Wall street was that prince of sportsmen and stock operators, the late Charles F. Worcester, to whom I had confided my difficulties as a pigeon fancier. He knew of a famous breed of carrier birds somewhere in Germany. In a short time five pairs of males were brought across the Atlantic and domiciled in the cote I had rigged up for my birds. From these, with some admixture of strains of the best carriers to be found in this country, my present efficient little corps of messengers are descended.

BETTER LUCK ATTENDED THIS EXPERIMENT, but it required care and patience. The cote was arranged so that it would be attractive to the birds. Constant efforts had to be made so as to test and educate them. They were taken some distance from home and let fly in a flock, all arriving safely. Then they were tested separately, first on short distances, then on increasing lengths. In this way the strong and capable birds were separated from the weak and uncertain ones. At length the flock was weeded out, and those that remained can now be depended on to perform their duty satisfactorily.

As young birds are bred they are experimented with and only admitted to the select band if they show the proper ability and instinct. This is the origin of the Wall Street "Aerial Messenger Company" (limited). In practice it is simple enough. A hamper with several of the birds is kept at my office. They are only fed or watered sufficiently to keep them in condition while so detained. Spring, summer and autumn, when not in town, I feel that I can with perfect security and serenely stay at the farm or take a train to town early in the afternoon. If quotations changed or if a message of any kind has to be sent to me, it is written on a pad of ivory thin paper. The blanks are printed with the names of stocks, so that quotations can be readily jotted down.

Folded up into a narrow strip, this is wrapped with light wire to the tail feather of the bird. Then, let loose from one of the windows the intelligent creature rises up above the roofs of the surrounding buildings, and, with perhaps a preliminary circle or so, strikes out across the Hudson, over Jersey City, and steers a straight course to its cote among the hills of Somerset. The maze of telegraph wires that surrounds the Stock Exchange sometimes offer a temptation to stop and rest awhile before starting on the journey. But this, with the older and well trained birds, is rare. As a rule they perform their mission with a celerity and dispatch that would put the district messenger service to the blush.

They can be relied upon to make the distance in an hour, and this time is rarely exceeded save by a young or inexperienced bird. Stones and guns in the hands of boys and fools sometimes cause unaccountable disappearances. But, on the whole, the instinct that draws the bird to its home can be depended on. The detentions or accidents are no greater than would be the case with a telegraph line. All the misconception that my birds have ever been guilty of does not compare in its annoyance with what one generally suffers from that necessary evil, the telephone. In fact, the experiment shows conclusively that for moderate distances the homing pigeon can be made a useful adjunct to business.—Alfred de Cordova in Brooklyn Eagle.

WANT OFFICIAL ABSTRACTS

County Board Appoints a Committee to Consider Supervisor Wagner's Resolution for Them

WHAT MR. WAGNER SAYS ABOUT THE QUESTION AT ISSUE.

Official Abstracts of Title.
Supervisor George Wagner, of this city, introduced in the county board at its session yesterday a resolution looking toward supplying an alleged need in the county records. He moved the appointment of a committee to consider the advisability of preparing and maintaining a set of official abstract books of all real property in Marquette county. The motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Supervisors George Wagner, F. W. Read, C. J. Burns, Aril Ethier and E. A. Maas. The committee will hold a meeting at Ishpeming about the middle of next month and make its report to the county board at the meeting in March.

Supervisor Wagner was seen by a MINING JOURNAL reporter last evening. "I am anxious to have this matter of abstracts fully discussed and understood by the taxpayers," he said, "and I should be glad if the MINING JOURNAL would go into the matter with some fullness. I believe the need of such records to be real and pressing, and that we may as well do now what we will be compelled to do some time. Suppose an owner of real estate wishes to borrow money upon it or sell it. Before anything can be done a laborious search must be made through the records, involving, very often, much time and expense. There is much valuable land, especially mineral tracts, in Marquette county, and anything that will facilitate its transfer will make more easy its development and improvement.

"Then there is the matter of taxes. Under this new tax law I have been served with notice of suit for taxes upon land which I never owned, and I know that many others have had the same experience. In the course of years many errors have crept into the records. I paid taxes last year on 5,000 acres for the owners in Pennsylvania. I found that they were assessed for several tracts which did not belong to them and that other parties were assessed for land which my principals owned. For several years," continued Mr. Wagner with a laugh, "the town treasurer of Chocoley has been after me to pay the taxes on eighty acres in Chocoley that I never owned. People have come to me to buy that land or to buy the timber on it and will not believe that I do not own it. In the course of the thorough search back to the original records which a set of abstract books would require such mistakes as these would be cleared up."

"As far as I can learn the work can be done and well done for about $7,000. When once a complete history of each tract is obtained it will be a comparatively easy matter to keep it up and the work will require but little additional force in the office of the register of deeds. As I said before I am anxious to have the question set before the taxpayers that it may be fully understood and thoroughly discussed before any action is taken by the board of supervisors."

The remaining business of the county board was of a purely routine character. A few minor accounts were audited and ordered paid after which the board adjourned until March 19.

Opening of the Lecture Course.
Hon. George R. Wendling, the well-known and very popular lecturer and orator, will give the first of the regular winter series of lectures at the Methodist church on next Monday evening. Mr. Wendling will deliver on this occasion the latest of his lectures, entitled, "Is Death the End?" In this he discusses the question of immortality, drawing his proofs and illustrations wholly from outside the scriptures and coming to the conclusion, from scientific reasoning, that death is not the end. He thus speaks from a new and interesting point of view because nearly all speakers who have hitherto attempted to meet the attacks of agnosticism have begged the question by relying on the alleged authority of revelation.

Col. George W. Bain will deliver the second lecture of the course on the evening of February 7. His subject is "The Golden Gate" and the address is said to abound in flashes of wit and bits of humor. C. E. Bolton, whom a pleased audience of last year will remember, appears on February 28 with "Lands of the Midnight Sun," illustrated by a fine series of stereopticon views. On March 24 comes the Meigs Sisters concert. This is said to be the finest lady quartette in the United States. Col. L. F. Copeland closes the season on March 27 with his very witty and satirical address "Snobs and Snobbery." The series offered is an excellent one and contains sufficient variety to suit all tastes. Course tickets have been fixed at the very low price of $1.25, or only 25 cents for each entertainment. Seats may be reserved at Stafford's Front street store, without extra charge, for three days before each date. The sale of tickets has already been large but more should be taken that Mr. Wendling on Monday night may be greeted by an audience fitting of his merit and worthy the education and culture of Marquette.

Clarey-Stoll Marriage.
Miss Sarah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clarey, of 323 Rock street, was united in marriage to Mr. J. R. Stoll at St. Peter's cathedral yesterday morning, Rev. Father Langan officiating. Every seat in the spacious church was filled by friends of the bride and groom, and every one present wished them long life and abounding happiness. The attendants of the bride and groom were Misses Mary Galvin and Mary Stoll and Messrs. William Clarey and Hermann Stoll. The bride was handsomely dressed in white faille with the customary veil and wreath, while the groom wore the conventional black.

After the nuptial mass had been celebrated a breakfast and reception was held at the house of the bride's parents where a throng of guests congratulated the newly wedded pair. The presents were numerous and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the contracting parties are held. The reception lasted until noon when the bride changed her wedding robes for traveling dress and the couple took the west-bound train for an extended wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Stoll will be "at home" to their numerous friends after February 15 in their new house at 126 North Sixth street.

Gone to North Carolina.
Terrence Moore, superintendent of the North Republic mine left yesterday for North Carolina. He has an option on a large tract of timber and mineral land in Burke county and has gone down to look over it. The land is represented to contain an immense deposit of high grade bessemer and hematite ores and Mr. Moore wants to find out all about these alleged mineral riches. Henry C. Russell, the well known land-looker, accompanies him to estimate the amount of pine on the tract. It is said that there is upward of 400,000,000 feet of long-leaved pine besides large quantities of oak and other hard-woods. During Mr. Moore's absence, which will cover about a month, his Canadian mineral exploratory operations on the Algoma range will be in charge of a competent mining man. Mr. Moore's address during his absence will be Morganton, Burke county, N. C.
