"WELL-BRED" STATIONERY.

"The good breeding and good taste of a lady—much abused word—are subtly yet conspicuously shown in the stationery she uses."

It may seem strange to speak of stationery as "well-bred" but we take the liberty to employ the phrase as a compact one to designate the kind of writing materials used by well bred people in their correspondence.

We have just received a full line of Hard & Pike's correct styles in paper and envelopes. The prices vary but it is all "well-bred."

MILWAUKEE'S GREAT FIRE.

Property Loss Will Reach $6,000,000 With Insurance Something Over $3,000,000.

TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED PEOPLE ARE HOMELESS.

Relief Fund Now Being Raised—Outside Contributions Not Solicited—Business Houses Will All Resume.

BETTER BUILDING LAWS NEEDED.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 30.—Insurance men were busy yesterday fixing up the losses of the great fire carried by companies represented by them. All that could be done was to get at the amount of insurance carried on the various burned properties. Not one firm in ten who had suffered loss could tell what its loss was or how much insurance it carried until such time as they can get at their safes. Of about twenty losers interviewed, among the large business concerns only one, the Milwaukee Bag company, could give a definite idea of either loss or insurance.

The aggregate of the insurance carried on the burned property, as compiled by the insurance men, exclusive of that carried by the Northwestern railroad, is $2,750,000 and is divided among about 166 companies, which, with one or two exceptions, the insurance men say, could easily stand ten times the loss sustained here without crippling them in the least. There are one or two mutual companies which lose heavily and may be seriously affected. Unfortunately, one of these is most largely represented in the residence burned district, where, should it fail to pay in full, the losses will fall upon a class of people who can least afford to stand them.

To this may safely be added $500,000 carried by the Northwestern railway in a blanket policy on all of its properties, making a grand total aggregate of $3,250,000 in insurance, aside from $300,000 to $500,000 estimated to be carried by companies which have no agencies here or by agents who have exhausted their facilities for placing insurance with companies represented here.

Insurance men say it is safe to add from 33 to 40 per cent to the insurance figures in order to arrive at the approximate value of the insured properties, which will bring the value of such properties up to $5,000,000 in round numbers. In addition to this there were several hundred dwellings and small business institutions burned upon which there was no insurance, besides the vast quantities of household furniture burned which was wholly uninsured and sufficient to bring the total loss close to if not above $6,000,000.

BUSINESS HOUSES RESUME.

Generous charity has chased destitution from the city and experienced enterprise has trodden the ashes of ruin under foot before the spent flames ceased sputtering. There is food and shelter for those in need of it; there is not a suspicion of failure nor a hint at discontinuance of any of the temporarily crippled industries and blocked channels of commerce.

The feature of the fire is the stability of Milwaukee business integrity which can stand such a shock without a perceptible shiver. All of the large wholesale firms and manufacturers will resume business with as little delay as possible. Though the losses in many cases footed up into the hundreds of thousands there was hardly a solemn face to be seen anywhere among the unfortunate business men. All were hustling about for temporary office quarters and busily communicating with their customers out of town. The one sentiment seemed to be to "get there" again.

BLESSING IN DISGUISE.

Already there is heard quiet talk of a blessing in disguise through a better care in construction of buildings and a uniform improvement in the adaptation to business of the valuable territory swept clean by the flames. As soon as the tears are dried and new homes are found by those who could least afford the loss of their all in the old ones, when the half-masted flags in testimony of the bravery of those who lost their lives in the battle are removed and the sad honors are paid their memory, that talk will be open and general.

The loss of life from the fire is confined to four persons, two of them firemen. The firemen number some injured and many exhausted, but none of these give basis for apprehension of new fatalities.

The number of homes destroyed will vary very little from the estimate of three hundred made yesterday, and the monetary loss will be within $5,000,000, of which about one-half will fall upon the insurance companies.

First among acknowledgments made by all is the becoming one for the prompt outside assistance furnished by Chicago, Racine and Kenosha in fighting the fire, and the no less prompt offer of monetary relief for the needy from individuals and governments of these and other cities.

LARGE HEARTS AND OPEN PURSES.

Noble has been the response for funds to aid the unfortunate who were rendered homeless by the conflagration Friday evening. Citizens, business organizations—every one appears anxious to give all in their power toward the relief fund. In his address before the citizens assembled at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday morning, E. P. Bazon, president of the Chamber, said that at least $100,000 would be necessary for the proper relief of the victims of the fire. In an interview yesterday Mayor Somers also placed that sum as the inside figure at which all the aid necessary could be administered to those rendered destitute by the fire. By all it was felt that more than that sum could easily be used, and from the generous responses which have been forthcoming from all quarters, there is no doubt that $150,000 will be raised in the hands of the relief committee as a fund for the sufferers.

ONE-HALF THE NEEDED AID IN HAND.

Up to last evening the sum in the hands of the general committee appointed at the Chamber of Commerce meeting was $55,000. Funds started by the real estate board and Sentinel company amounted to $5,000 and $768 respectively, making the total amount of subscriptions for the relief committee $55,768. Private subscriptions will undoubtedly bring the amount up to $75,000 this morning and that the remainder of the sum will be freely given there is no doubt. Among the individuals who last night notified The Sentinel of a desire to give for the benefit of the Milwaukee fire sufferers was the well-known theatrical manager, Chas. Frohmann, who telegraphed to Sherman Brown, the manager of the David-Son theater, to subscribe $100 on his behalf.

OUTSIDE FIRMS GENEROUS.

Outside firms also telegraphed their customers in this city of their desire to aid in the good cause, among them being Belden Bros. of Chicago, who wired the management of the T. A. Chapman company that they had mailed a letter with their check for $300 to be used in the immediate relief of the sufferers. At a meeting of citizens to be held at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon it is probable that a great number of similar subscriptions will be made public.

Telegrams were received from a number of cities yesterday offering to raise subscriptions for Milwaukee sufferers if necessary. At the meeting of the Relief committee yesterday it was decided that there would be no cause for outside aid. Unsolicited subscriptions from citizens of other cities of other cities will be thankfully received but no request will be made upon outside cities for aid and all telegrams asking if foreign aid is needed will be answered in the negative.

NO CHIEF IN CHARITY.

The Chamber of Commerce men were greatly aided by the prompt response of the religious and benevolent societies of the city which vied with one another in doing all in their power for the citizens rendered helpless by the fire. Sect and prejudice was laid aside. In perfect unity Catholic, Protestant and non-believer worked in the common cause and did all in their power to relieve the sorrow and destitution caused by the great calamity.

With the exception of the $5,000 given by P. D. Armour of Chicago and a few other smaller contributions the entire sum was raised in Milwaukee. A public meeting of citizens has been called at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the Relief committee to be held at the Chamber of Commerce when all will be given a chance to contribute.

Instances of private charity were numerous yesterday and the deeds of persons who conceived of their left hand the good action of the right were without number. Several charitable women of means made thorough tours through the Third ward, hunting up homeless victims too desolate to seek assistance, and gave them the necessary help to sustain existence.

P. D. ARMOUR'S GENEROUS GIFT.

The message of P. D. Armour was characteristic of the man and was a touching tribute to the home of his childhood. It was as follows: "Chicago, Oct. 29.—H. C. PAYNE: Picking up the paper this morn'g I learn of Milwaukee's great calamity and you can draw on me for $5,000 and place it where it will do the sufferers the most good. Let me know if the fire was as bad as reported and if you want more pull my latch string, as I have a warm spot for Milwaukee and her people in my heart. PHILIP D. ARMOUR.

James H. Quinn, who acted as secretary of the meeting, was immediately instructed to return the following telegram of thanks to Mr. Armour: "P. D. ARMOUR, Chicago: In the name of our homeless people I thank you for your generous subscription and for your patriotic remembrance of Milwaukee in her hour of distress. JEREMIAH QUINN."

FATALITIES OF THE FIRE.

Henry Peddenbroch and Charles Stahr, the firemen who were killed, met death in the alley in the rear of East Water street, where the walls of the Weisel & Vilter machine shop fell. Both of the men were at work in the rear of the building and when the crash came fell under the ruins. Several firemen were injured, also one member of the life-saving crew. It was stated this morning that it was feared that a watchman employed by the Bub & Kipp company had been burned in the factory. This report, however, could not be authenticated. A rumor that a young woman typewriter was burned to death in the building owned by the Standard Oil company was pronounced false by persons who were near the fire when it started. The dead and injured are: HENRY PEDDENBROCH, 522 Reed street. CHARLES STAHR, 522 Fourth street. UNKNOWN WOMAN, about 60 years old. MRS. CALLAHAN, died from effects of the shock after being taken to the Third ward schoolhouse. RICHARD GARDNER, machinist, 22 years of age, residence Humboldt and Auer. Injured about head and neck, seriously. J. H. ROSEN, pattern maker, 67 years of age, residence 184 Garfield avenue, broken leg and injuries about the head; not serious. WILLIAM WITTE, finisher, about 25 years of age, residence 379 Greenfield avenue, injured about the head and broken leg; serious. HENRY BERGENTHAL, distiller, aged 44 years, residence 119 Twenty-ninth street, injured about head; serious.

THE MILITIA CALLED OUT.

Lieutenant-Colonel Falk made his appearance at the Armory early in the evening and formed a squad of infantry from all companies. This was put under the command of Lieutenant Manion of the Sheridan guards, who at once hurried off to the conflagration to relieve the policemen, so as to enable the latter to do firemen's duty.

Companies A, D, E, F and G were turned out about 9 o'clock with the usual two taps of the fire bell summoning them to the armory. Colonel Falk also sent buglers among the crowds

FORECAST OF THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—8 P. M.—The weather bureau reports the following as its forecast for the next 24 hours: For upper Michigan: Fair, followed by rain during Monday afternoon; variable winds.

RIVER WAS IN FLAMES.

Several Vessels and Branch Water Works Destroyed by Fire and Explosion.

OIL FROM LEAKY PIPES GATHERED UNDER FURNACE.

Explosion Lets Large Quantity of Oil Loose to Burn Among Ships Loaded With Oil.

WATER SEEMED ALL ON FIRE.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning and but a few minutes after the firemen at the pumping station of the Point Breeze gas works had replenished the fires the people in the vicinity were startled by the sound of an explosion. A moment later the flames shot up from the river and a pall of dense black smoke began to gather over the wharves and shipping in the harbor. An alarm of fire was turned in and immediately the air was filled with the screams of the whistles in the neighborhood, the cries of the sailors and the hoarse summons of the officers on board the vessels lying at the wharves. Fortunately the Red Star tugs Juno, Churchman and Mary Louise were lying at the wharves with steam up and they went into service at once.

The steamer Astralkan, Captain Simpson, had finished taking in her load of 1,400,000 gallons of refined oil on Saturday evening and was awaiting the turn in the tide to start on her voyage to Japan. Captain Simpson assisted his vessel at once and with the assistance of the tugs hauled away from the wharf to a place of safety up the river without suffering any damage other than the blistering of the paint on the steamer's sides.

The bark Felix was surrounded by the burning oil which floated out into the river before she could be secured by the tugs but heavy streams of water were thrown upon her from the powerful pumps. She had heavy logs lashed to both sides to steady her but the lines burned from the timber on the port side and the vessel became top-heavy, careened to the opposite side and sank to the bottom directly across the channel.

The bark Elena G. was not so fortunate. Before the tugs could get a line to her the starboard side took fire and the flames spread up the ropes to the rigging. If looked for a little time as if she was doomed but the heavy streams of water which were poured upon her deck prevented the fire from reaching the cargo of oil and saved her masts and spars but she will have to be newly rigged before she can sail for Genoa, for which port she had cleared.

A lighter belonging to the Standard Oil company which was loaded with cased oil was burned to the water's edge and sank, her cargo floating from her deck and adding to the spreading of the flames.

Capt. Charles Dousman landed his barge at the gas works wharf on Saturday evening for the purpose of loading and it became a victim to the flames and was entirely destroyed. The tug boat Charles E. Pugh was also completely destroyed.

A small frame house belonging to the city, standing on the bank above the gas works wharf, was set on fire by flying cinders and entirely destroyed. It was occupied by Alexander Colwan, stable boss of the gas works, with his family. They succeeded in making their escape but lost all their effects. A large barn also belonging to the city, located near the house, was entirely destroyed.

The pumping station of the Atlantic refinery, owned by the city and the Standard Oil company, was so badly damaged that it will have to be almost entirely rebuilt. The boat house of John L. Davis, Jr., adjoining the pumping station, was entirely destroyed. The fire was caused by the explosion of oil which had leaked from the large pipes which connected the Philadelphia and Atlantic oil refineries, located on each side of the gas works. The oil pipes are buried under the road which runs along the bank above the wharves. The escaped oil worked down through the soil and collected beneath the furnaces at the pumping station in such quantities that when it became ignited it exploded with sufficient force to blow down retaining wall and the whole volume of oil spread in a burning mass over the surface of the river. The tide was on the ebb and with a stiff breeze from the northwest the blazing mass was carried down the river and under wharves. The loss with aggregate $134,500.

TWO LIVES WERE LOST.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Suffers Loss of $150,000 by Fire. ST. JOHNsbury, Oct. 30.—The worst fire that St. Johnsbury has ever known broke out at 7 o'clock this evening and raged for two hours before it was brought under control. In that time several business blocks and a large number of stores were destroyed. A gale was blowing from the northeast and the fire swept on with resistless force, licking up property to the value of at least $150,000. The local fire department responded quickly and did splendid work but the high wind and the oil that was stored in the burning buildings did much to assist the progress of the flames. It is now thought certain that a man and woman occupying rooms in the building where the fire started were burned to death. The other tenants had to fly for their lives.

THIS LOOKS SERIOUS.

The MINING JOURNAL learned late last night that a warrant has been sworn out by Nels Michelson of Grayling, in lower Michigan, for the arrest of J. Maurice Finn on the charge of embezzlement.

The Iron Ore of Ishpeming gave what it claimed was a true account of the transaction some weeks ago and challenged Mr. Finn to bring suit against the paper for libel if his allegations were not true in each and every particular.

At the same time we feel called on to explain that, so far as our knowledge goes, Prosecuting Attorney Young had nothing whatever to do with procuring the publication of the article concerning the check cashed by the Michigan mill keeper that was printed in the Ishpeming department of this paper on the 27th.

THE PROSPECT MORE CHEERING. The American Manufacturer finds the outlook much more encouraging in the iron and steel industries.

DECLARES IT A FORGERY. THE MINING JOURNAL is in receipt of the following communication from Mr. J. Maurice Finn.

HANCOCK, Mich., Oct. 28, 1892. EDITOR MINING JOURNAL: My attention having been called to an article in the Ishpeming department of your paper of the 27th wherein it is intimated that I may have had some knowledge of the drawing of a certain check which was signed 'Maurice J. Finn,' and which a Michigan saloon keeper cashed for a gambler named Loyer in March last, I desire to say that the reflection thus sought to be cast on my personal integrity is simply brutal.

THE FACTORY LASSES

SKETCHES OF THEIR LIVES IN THE GREAT LANCASHIRE MILLS.

Provisions Made by the Oxford Factory Owners for the Recreation of Their Employees—How the Girls Dress and Conduct Themselves.

For the recreation of their hands mills have no provision whatever—as a rule, that is. There are a few exceptions, and only a few. Unique certainly are the Oxford mills at Ashton-under-Lyne, in connection with which the late Mr. Hugh Mason founded a little colony.

From other portions of the district we take the following. The secretary of a cotton operative spinners' association is stated to have said: "Any girl who wants work can have it in the mills. That labor market is never overstocked."

Weavers, though there is nothing peculiar about their dress, can generally be distinguished from other factory girls. They have a personal trade mark—their front teeth are often bad, and besides many of them have at times a peculiar gesture.

As a rule, too, the lasses are in every way respectable. When a factory lass and her sweetheart go off on a trip or take a week at Blackpool or Southport or the Isle of Man, as often as not she pays the expenses.

Some mill girls never do any housework; their ignorance in which branch of female education is consequently colossal. Hundreds cannot make a pudding or a pie for the life of them, and the writer has heard of a lass putting a rabbit in a dish whole and making a crust for it with suet.

When a factory lass she corresponds to the heiress of ordinary life, and as such has no difficulty in obtaining a husband. When offsprings become old enough they are sent to the mill, as their parents were before them.

He Was a Pounder. The millionaire was desirous of employing a slugger to protect him from dangerous visitors, and a big two fisted fellow applied for the place.

AN INTERESTING MEETING.

One of the most interesting political meetings held during the present campaign was that which took place at the Scandinavian club room in the Sundberg block under auspices of the Scandinavian Republican club Saturday evening.

A Painful Accident. James Eddy, a motor man in the employ of the Negaunee & Ishpeming Street Railway, was the victim of a serious accident about twelve o'clock Friday night.

Granted Eight Certificates. The board of examiners of Marquette county, consisting of Superintendent F. D. Davis of Negaunee, Superintendent J. B. Montgomery of Champion and Superintendent Harlow Olcott of Ishpeming, held a session in Superintendent Davis' office in the Negaunee high school building Friday and Saturday last.

Uniform Bank Instituted. The Uniform Rank of Sir Knights of the Sons of St. George was organized Saturday evening in the Sons of St. George hall on Iron street.

Got Ninety Days. Peter Plow will spend the next ninety days of his existence in the county jail at Marquette, during which interval he will have time to reflect on his brutal conduct in having abused his wife until she was forced to appeal to the law for protection.

Buried Yesterday. The funeral of Mrs. John A. Buchanan of Duluth took place from the residence of her mother, Mrs. Courtney, of this city, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Saturday's Prohibition Meeting. The first and probably the last prohibition meeting of the campaign in Negaunee was held at McDonald's opera house last Saturday evening.

Will Be Given Away. Our enterprising druggists, H. H. Stafford, Son & Co., who carry the finest stock of drugs, perfumeries, toilet articles, brushes, sponges, etc., are giving away a large number of trial bottles of Dr. Miles' celebrated Restorative Nervine.

cause, but the attendance was distressingly thin. After spending some time in speaking of the evils of intemperance the speaker stopped and suggested that a collection be taken up to defray his traveling expenses.

Hats for the Season. "My hatter" (every well dressed man has a hatter) was asked about men's hats. What was to be the thing and so on, for these are things about which men want to know, and the women are just as anxious about the subject.

Three Bits of Calico. Three pieces of the first calico printed in the United States will be presented to the World's fair commissioners for exhibition through Commodore Bradley, one of the best known men in northern New York, who got them from Judge Waldron of North Creek.

Crowds at a Poet's Grave. So great have been the crowds that have visited Whittier's grave since Saturday that it has been necessary to put a special police guard around the lot. Every one who comes wants to carry away a leaf or flower as a memento, and if this were allowed the grave would be entirely stripped of everything of the kind.

Raising Quarters. A novelty in counterfeiting appeared in Sioux City, where a young man took new silver quarters, cut out the "quarter" and changed the last R to N, making it read "ten dollars," and plated the coins neatly with gold.

A big patron of the shoe market is Allen Milton Browning, of Huntington, W. Va. He has had six wives to the altar and is the father of sixty-seven children.

Athletes of the Present Day. J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, president of the Pastime Athletic club and athletic editor of The Sporting Times, writes: "For years I have been actively connected with athletic sports."

An Author's Feelings. The author of "The Turkish Spy" tells us he would rather meet a lion face to face than feel a spider crawling over him in the dark.

SCOTT'S HEROINE.

FACTS ABOUT THE ORIGINAL OF THE NOVELIST'S REBECCA.

She Was a Resident of Philadelphia and Was the Dearest Friend of Washington Irving's Only Love--How Sir Walter Scott Heard of Her.

Of all the women Sir Walter Scott has drawn Rebecca and Rowena are the best known and best beloved. The tender sweetness of the one, the tender perfection of the other, the romantic story through which they move and the perfection of the contrast between them--all contribute to fix them firmly in the hearts of all readers.

I stood the other day by her forgotten grave in the little old grass grown Jewish cemetery on Spruce street, just south of the Quaker meeting house, between Eighth and Ninth streets, and I read the simple inscription on the tomb--"Rebecca Gratz. Born March 4, 1781. Died Aug. 27, 1869."

Miss Gratz was a conspicuous member of an honorable Jewish family. She possessed in early years--indeed even to the day of her death--a singular beauty of face and form.

Gentle, benevolent and accomplished, Rebecca soon became the center of a brilliant circle of men and women--Christians and Jews. Her parents died when she was very young, but the Gratz mansion, presided over by Rebecca, continued to be known far and wide for its hospitality.

Scott and Irving met for the first time in 1817, the American visiting Sir Walter with a letter of introduction from the poet Campbell. He was most cordially received at Abbotsford, and there Irving passed several of the most delightful days of his life listening to the many tales, told as no one but Scott could tell them, and rambling about the beautiful hills.

Scott composed this story during moments of intense physical pain, yet at times he became so interested in the character of Rebecca, for he even adopted her name, that he rose from his couch and walked up and down the room while he dictated the story to his amanuensis.

When a young girl, it is said, Rebecca Gratz won the regard of a gentleman of good position and wealth, but as he was a Christian the difference in their religious faith proved a hopeless barrier to their union.

The author of "The Turkish Spy" tells us he would rather meet a lion face to face than feel a spider crawling over him in the dark. This he humorously attributes to transmigration.

REPORTORIAL PENCILINGS.

L. Paradise advertises for a satchel filled with goods, lost from a dray while being taken to his store Thursday.

The Grover Cleveland club will devote its meeting of Wednesday evening to explaining the method of voting with the new Australian ballot.

Principal Frank Epley of the High School addressed the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms yesterday afternoon and pleased a goodly audience by his crisp and pungent treatment of his theme.

Timothy Noster slipped on his doorstep yesterday morning and sprained an ankle bad enough to keep him at home for the remainder of the campaign. Who says providence isn't on the republican side this year?

Take in the Alger and Atkinson meeting at the risk tonight. It will be a rouser, for everybody from Alger county is coming up to assist in doing the cheering, and they raise men of mighty lung power down in Alger.

The next meeting of the common council will take place a week from tonight if the aldermen can find time to spend long enough on the night before election to attend to municipal matters. But it is safe to wager that the meeting will be adjourned for want of a quorum to organize it.

Andrew Peterson is disposing of the stock of the late firm of Mogren & Co. very rapidly. Regarding the status of the firm before the closing out began Mr. Peterson says that Charles Mogren was not a part owner of the stock but simply a partner in the profits. The owner of the goods is now, as before, John L. Johnson.

Owing to the inability of Prosecuting Attorney Young to be present at the preliminary examination of Ledman and Hunter for the stabbing of Kenneth Graham in Nesbitt's saloon Wednesday night it was postponed by Justice Cray from Saturday until 9:30 o'clock this morning. Graham is reported to be in a fair way to recovery.

The street railway injunction case will come on for hearing today before Judge Stone. F. O. Clark will represent the company in the case and the objecting property owners on Front street will have their rights brought to the notice of the court by City Attorney Brown, the MINING JOURNAL presumes, as that official has had their legal adviser thus far.

Rev. F. A. Holtzhausen of Hancock preached at the Baptist church before a large and appreciative audience on the subject, "Does Death End All." The sermon was an excellent presentation of the various arguments for immortality. Space does not allow the MINING JOURNAL to print the discourse and any brief summary would be an injustice to the preacher.

The reserved seat chart for the stereopticon entertainment this evening descriptive of the Columbian exposition grounds, buildings, etc., will open this morning at 9:30 at the box office of the opera house. Those who have not already supplied themselves with tickets can get them this morning. A special price of 10 cents for the balcony will be made for all school children.

The street car line carried quite a number of people to Presque Isle yesterday and Saturday. They went out to see the traces left on the rocks by the recent storm and to assure themselves by actual inspection that none of Marquette's beautiful park had been carried off in the gale of Friday night. They found it all there, including the costly improvements made during the summer by Mayor Adams.

Politics are warming up some in this section. With the democratic candidate for congress threatened with arrest for embezzlement, the populists claiming that they are going to carry Houghton county and the prohibitionists running a band-wagon campaign throughout the district the contest is assuming a more lively aspect, and the outlook for "lovely fighting all along the line" during what is left of the campaign is decidedly encouraging.

Enthusiastic prohibitionists in this city predict that their ticket will get 150 votes in Marquette this year. The MINING JOURNAL'S political gaffer wants to go on record as prophesying that the prohibition vote here will not reach 100. The voters of Marquette are a hard-headed lot of citizens, and it isn't likely that nearly ten per cent of them are going to throw their votes away in such an important election as that of this year.

The hunters who went forth to slay deer have about all returned, and most of them brought back nothing but a robust appetite and their hunting outfits. The deer are beginning to learn that they have the law on their side and that if they can only keep in hiding during the brief season when they may be killed in accordance with the game laws they can look on a man with a gun without fear for the balance of the year. They are no longer the guileless things they were years ago when the grizzled old nineros of the peninsula made their great records as deer-slayers.

An enjoyable "cineh" party was given by Mrs. Jas. Dwyer to a party of friends at her home on East Arch street Saturday evening. The card contest lasted until 11, after which refreshments were served and the gathering broke up so that all could make their homes before midnight. It was a very pleasant affair, indeed, and the prizes were well worth playing for, so the "cineh" experts who contended for them made some great records. This was the first of a series of similar meetings to be held during the winter by a recently organized cineh club, which appears to have a pleasant future before it, judging of the success that attended the opening "meet."

$1,000 AN ACRE FROM PEARS. It is pretty hard for people who live in a farming community were $25 an acre is considered a good profit to be told that farmers in North Galveston are making from $25 to $1,000 an acre each year in raising pears, plums, strawberries and all small fruits and vegetables. They do not have to work half as hard as the Northern farmers, either. The North Galveston Association, through their local agent, M. E. Asire, is making remarkable offers with their property; both for settlement and investment purposes. Drop a line to Mr. Asire or, better still, call up on him and get full particulars about this property.

COMMITTEES ON MUSIC. Should figure with Hughes and get "the best." Everybody likes it, and you might as well have it. Any instrumentation, with or without piano. Rooms, Opera House block. (10-31-92)

CRAZED BY HIS SUFFERINGS.

Jeanette Survivor Kills His Wife's Niece and Himself.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Early this morning James E. Bartlett, one of the survivors of the Jeanette expedition, shot and killed his wife's niece, Lottie Carpenter, shot his wife in the shoulder and then shot and killed himself. Mrs. Bartlett was aroused by a pistol shot in her niece's room and as she rushed out into the hall she met her husband, who without a word shot her through the shoulder, inflicting a painful wound. Then he shot himself through the head. When the neighbors rushed in they found Miss Carpenter dead by the side of her bed, where evidently she had sunk down when shot as she was trying to escape. Since his return from the Arctic regions Bartlett's mind has been weakened as the result of hardships experienced and yesterday he threatened to murder his wife and niece.

COUNTERFEITERS RAKED IN.

Claim to Have Flooded 30,000 Bogus Dollars in Boston.

Boston, Oct. 30.—A man giving his name as William D. Fuller and his address as 613 State street, Chicago, was arrested in East Boston last night for passing counterfeit silver dollars. His operations were confined to drug stores. When arrested a bogus dollar was found in his possession and the only genuine money he had was a quarter. The counterfeit was a poor imitation of the issue of 1880. Later in the evening officers made a descent upon the house No. 17 Norman street where they arrested John Dempsey, giving his residence as Providence, R. I. and William Powers, claiming to hail from Buffalo, N. Y. A search of the premises resulted in the confiscating of the gang's outfit, consisting of molds, melting kettles, ladles, etc., together with several counterfeit dollars. Fuller claims that the gang has flooded 30,000 in spurious money in Boston.

SUPREME'S CREW RESCUED.

Callant Work of the Gramore's Men Saves Thirteen Lives.

Boston, Oct. 30.—The British steamer Gramore arrived today with the crew of the wrecked bark Supreme, gallantly rescued at sea. When sighted the bark was almost totally dismantled. Her foremast was gone by the deck, main topgallant mast and rudder were carried away and the vessel had twelve feet of water in her hold. A volunteer crew was mustered and one of the life boats was launched. After battling with the elements nearly an hour they boarded the water-logged vessel and only with great difficulty took off the captain, eleven seamen and the steward and landed them safely on the deck of the Gramore. It was dark at the time of the rescue and was blowing very hard.

FRICK KEEPS HIS CASH.

Refuses to Contribute to the Republican Campaign Fund.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Hamilton Disston, a member of the advisory committee of the republican national committee, today denied a published statement that Henry C. Frick, the chairman of the Carnegie Steel company, had contributed a large sum of money to the republican campaign fund during his visit to New York. On the contrary Mr. Frick, Mr. Disston said, absolutely refused to contribute a cent to the campaign fund.

The Tomb of Eve.

The Arabs claim that Eve's tomb is at Jiddah, the seaport of Meowing out of the crack in the rock roof, which is of itself one of the wonders of the orient, is supposed to be built directly over the last resting place of the first woman. According to Arab tradition Eve measured over 200 feet in height, which, unlikely as it may seem, strangely coincides with an account of our first parents written by a member of the French academy, who also claimed a height of over 200 feet for both of the tenants of the garden of Eden.

Eve's tomb, which is a burying ground that is surrounded by a high wall, the gate to which has not been opened for a single interment for over 1,000 years, is the shrine of thousands of devoted Ishmaelites, who make a pilgrimage to the spot once every seven years. Once each year, on June 3, which is, according to Arabian legends the anniversary of the death of Abel, the doors to the tomb of our first mother remain open all night, no odds what precautions are taken to keep them closed. Terrible cries of anguish are said to emit from the tomb, as though the memory of the first known tragedy still haunted the remains which blind superstition believe to be deposited there.—Philadelphia Press.

Crime in Corea.

"They do not classify crime in Corea," said J. B. Winkler. "It is just as serious a matter to be convicted of stealing a pound of rice as of plotting treason or of committing wholesale murder. There is but one penalty for all crimes—to cut off the heads of culprits. During my visit to that queer country a pair of valuable sleeve buttons were stolen from me. I suspected a servant and he was taken before the tribunals and subjected to a rigorous examination. There was absolutely no evidence tending to fasten the crime upon him. I suspected the fellow of having swallowed the buttons to avoid discovery, and the authorities politely offered to cut him open in search of evidence if I said so."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Men with Memories.

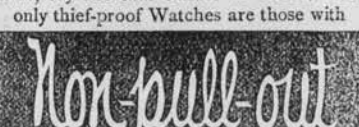

Seneca, the wise, could repeat 2,000 words in the uninterrupted succession in which they were read to him. The greatest Roman orator before Cicero, Hortensius, could recite all the prices given at a public auction. Themistocles, who considered it a greater art to forget than to remember, learned the Persian language inside of a year.—Pittsburg

CROWDING WORK TO A FINISH.

Ishpeming's Sewer Contractors are Making Every Day Count Now.

Consolidation of Street Railway and Lighting Companies—Those Typhoid Fever Reports.

NEARING THE END.

So near was the work on sewer district No. 3 to completion on Saturday evening that the contractors, Messrs. Kirkland & Starkley, decided to put a force at work yesterday to finish it. This was done and the work is completed in that district with the exception of the flush tank at the extreme end—the intersection of Third and Empire streets—which will be finished today. This is a three-foot brick sewer, and men will be set to work at once pointing the interior and cleaning it out. This will take a few days, after which the entire force of bricklayers and laborers employed on this job will be transferred to the main trunk sewer now in course of construction between the Carp river and the point near the Barnum mine where the trunk sewer was originally started. There are about 1,300 feet of main trunk sewer yet to be built between the river and the Barnum. Considerable difficulty has been experienced at this end of the trunk sewer, owing to the swampy ground. For some distance it was necessary to excavate the earth several feet below the sewer grades in order to strike a solid bottom, then filling in with sand and stone to the level of the grades. The greater part of this work has been finished, however, and the trench is nearly all dug so that the brick work can now be pushed along rapidly. The most difficult part of the main sewer construction has been completed and if the weather remains favorable for the next five or six weeks the job will be at an end.

The work on the lateral sewers throughout the city is making good progress, and there doesn't seem to be much doubt in the minds of the contractors that at least all the main connections will be made this fall.

Have Consolidated.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Negaunee & Ishpeming Street Railway Company and the Ishpeming Gas & Electric Light Company held at Negaunee Saturday morning the consolidation of the two companies was agreed on, the same to go into effect tomorrow morning, November 1st.

The capital of the street railway company will be increased from $120,000 to $200,000. A meeting of the stockholders will be held in thirty days to further perfect the organization of the company under the consolidation.

The new engine received Thursday last by the Ishpeming Gas & Electric Light Company from A. L. Ide & Springfield, Ill., will be put in place at the street railway company's power house. The plant now in use in this city will be removed there also as soon as arrangements to that end can be made.

That "Fake" News Fiend Again.

COUNCIL CHAMBER,
CITY OF ISHPEMING,
ISHPEMING, Oct. 29, 1892.

TO THE MINING JOURNAL.—Within a few days there has appeared quite generally among the press dispatches in the papers of the large cities a report purporting to come from this city in which it was stated in substance that an epidemic of typhoid fever exists here due to impure water and the disturbance of the soil by the construction of sewers; that there were 132 cases now under treatment and three deaths per day were occurring from this disease.

I have caused the health officer to report to me the actual state of affairs, and I find that there are at present less than forty cases of typhoid fever; that since January 1, 1892, there have been 115 cases and during that period 12 deaths due to that disease.

Since July three analyses have been made of the city water, two chemical and one bacteriological, by eminent experts, and the water was found free from all impurities.

During the year 1891 there were over four hundred cases of typhoid fever as compared with one hundred and fifteen during the first ten months of this year.

Fearing that some may have been misled by the false and careless, if not malicious, report which I have referred to, I take this means of giving its denial proper publicity. E. E. OSBORN, Mayor.

The Wind-Up.

A Good Time to Go Gunning.

John Hummel, the noted gunner and narrator of wonderful tales, was in town on Monday. He was full of those big gunning stories about himself, and whenever he stopped he drew crowds of boys and men, who listened to his awful tales in astonishment. John has a brand new book with this year's record in it, and it contains figures that are astounding. His greatest game this summer has been groundhogs, and according to his figures he has killed several freight cars full of them. He has also given considerable attention to butterflies, bees, ants, etc.

He was sorry that he had to come to town on business, for he would have killed thirty-six groundhogs had he remained at home. He said that he went out gunning the other day and groundhogs were so plentiful that the barrels of his gun became hot from shooting. His coat sleeve took fire from the gun and it almost burned off. He then set the gun against a fence and a post took fire from it. He says that he has a new way of shooting turkeys when people request him to slaughter such fowls. He shoots a load of shot against a cow's horn and when they strike they glance off and kill turkeys a mile off.—Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer.

A Banquet Below the Sea.

Some time ago the labor of deepening the harbor of Ciotat was completed. On that occasion the contractor gave to the members of his staff and the representatives of the press a banquet unprecedented for its originality. The table was set eight meters below the level of the sea, at the very bottom of the harbor, inside the caisson in which the excavators had been at work, and only the narrow walls of this caisson separated the guests from the enormous mass of water around and above their heads. The new fashioned banqueting hall was splendidly decorated and lighted, and but for a certain buzzing in the ears caused by the pressure of air, kept up in the chamber in order to prevent the inrush of the water, nobody would have suspected that the slightest interruption in the working of the air pump would have sufficed to asphyxiate the whole party. After the banquet an improvised concert prolonged the festivity for several hours, after which the guests ascended into the open air.—Vita Che SI

How Insects Breathe.

If we take any moderately large insect—say a wasp or a hornet—we can see, even with the naked eye, that a series of small spotlike marks run along the side of the body. These apparent spots, which are eighteen or twenty in number, are in fact the apertures through which air is admitted into the system, and are generally formed in such a manner that no extraneous matter can by any possibility find entrance.

Sometimes they are furnished with a pair of horny caps, which can be opened and closed at the will of the insect; in other cases they are densely fringed with stiff interlacing bristles forming a filter, which allows air, and air alone, to pass; but the apparatus, of whatever character it may be, is so wonderfully perfect in its action that it has been found impossible to injure the body of a dead insect with even so subtle a medium as spirits of wine, although the subject was first immersed in the fluid and then placed beneath the receiver of an air pump. The apertures in question communicate with two large breathing tubes, which extend through the entire length of the body.

From these main tubes are given off innumerable branches, which run in all directions and continually divide and subdivide, until a wonderfully intricate network is formed pervading every part of the structure and penetrating even to the antennae.—Lutheran Observer.

Effect of Invention on Fishing.

Doubtless the india rubber worm is only a beginning of the marvels in the fishing line. From artificial flies and artificial worms it is only a step to other kinds of artificial bait. The time is not far distant when bogus frogs, crickets, dobsen, snails, grasshoppers and grubs will form a part of every sporting outfit, with perhaps artificial trout and bass for the returning fisherman who dislikes to pass down the street dangling a single smfish.—Troy (N. Y.) Times.

AT FIFTY-ONE. Jestings is over with me forever—Life is too sober at fifty-one; No longer I worship the witty and clever; Things that amuse me I loathe and shun; I have come to the summit and now begun To sink to the vale on the other side; There's a damp in the air, there's a gloom on the sun, Whose warning the vapors of Orcus hide.

And my fellow travelers, left and right, Fall away from the track, as we downward lie. To their several homes; they are not in sight, But I hear the bells as they bid goodby! How lonely I feel as I get more high To my destined inn—a dismal place, Shut from all glimpses of the godly sky And the sunshine of every friendly face!

Yet what is to dread? There's a Master there Full of pity, to welcome the weary guest, Who will bind the footsore and have good care Of every poor soul who seeks his rest. I tremble to go to him, unconfessed; I bear him no letters from priest or pope, But I carry a passport within my breast Of his own sure word, and a deathless hope. —Thomas W. Parsons in Boston Journal.

Whether it is well to keep a single name in a family for generation after generation may be doubted from several points of view, but certainly this multiplication of Georges and Williams is confusing and of small utility.

Young George and old George invariably result from the fond parent's desire to perpetuate his own name, and no special good comes about in a majority of cases. Let us have a more reasonable selection that is now customary. We need a Matthew Arnold to inveigh against our "uninteresting" personal names as well as those of our towns and cities.

The mental mediocrity and laziness that has scattered Jenkinsvilles and Jonestowns, Homers and Virgils indiscriminately over the map of the United States is simply on a par with that which seems to take the name that comes handiest for the individual of every succeeding generation.

Away with Angelina and Gladys on the one hand and with Miltiades and Gershom on the other, and let us have instead the good old English names of Arthur and Harold perhaps, and the Biblical names Esther and Ruth. —Providence Journal.

Some of the words used by old fashioned country people, and laughed at by those who hear them, are not corruptions of language, but merely survivals of old forms—forms so old that many educated persons have forgotten, or perhaps have never known, that they were once in good and regular standing as English words.

If an old woman "axes your pardon" she is speaking as the most careful English scholars spoke for hundreds of years, down almost to the end of the sixteenth century. Thus in Wycliffe's New Testament—about 1380—we read, "What man of you is, that if his some axe hym breed, whether he wole take hym a stoon?" And Coverdale's translation of the gospel according to St. Matthew, published in 1535, has "Axe and it shall be given you."

So, too, when the same old woman says "piny" instead of peony, she is only following the ancient usage. In William Browne's "Britannia's Pastorals," printed in 1616, the poet contrasts "the ruddy piny with the lighter rose."

It amuses the schoolgirl of the present day to hear lilacs called "lalyocks," but Walter Savage Landor always said "lalyocks," following, as his biographer tells us, a pronunciation "traditional in many old English families."

When an Irishman speaks of his "fader and moder" he is guilty of nothing worse than talking older English than we are accustomed to hear. "Worschipe th' fadir and th' modir," says Wycliffe's New Testament.

"Axe," "lalyock" and the like are now vulgarisms, and as such are to be avoided, but it is well enough to know that they were once as well received in good society as their successors are at present.—Youth's Companion.

REPUBLICANS TO THE FORE!

Gen. Alger and Col. Atkinson With "All of Alger County" Will be at the Rink Tonight.

TURN OUT TO THE GREATEST MEETING OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Schooner Wrecked Near Sucker Bay. "Information Wanted" by Trustees of Peter White Library.

THE RALLY TONIGHT.

Gen. Russell A. Alger and Col. John A. Atkinson will address the voters of Marquette at the rink tonight, discussing the questions of the great campaign now nearing a close from a republican standpoint.

The presence here of two such noted champions of republicanism ought to draw out the greatest crowd that has been assembled in the rink during the campaign of this year. Both were gallant soldiers in the war that had issue in the preservation of the union when the rebellion of the southern states menaced its integrity; both are distinguished citizens of the state, and both are good speakers. They come to the upper peninsula to meet its people and have a talk with them on the issues now before them as voters, and they should be greeted with a grand outpouring of republicans at Marquette, where the first of the series of meetings that they will speak to in this part of the state is to be held.

General Alger is well known in the upper peninsula, where he has large property interests, and he is as popular here as he is widely acquainted. Colonel Atkinson has been up here frequently on legal business and has many friends and admirers in this section. He is a fine speaker and a man of commanding ability, and it is not too much to say that the fact that he and General Alger will speak here tonight gives assurance in advance that the rink will be crowded, for the opportunity of hearing them is one that few will care to miss.

A special train of five coaches will bring "all Alger county" to the meeting, as a special compliment to General Alger.

Went Ashore in the Storm.

Word reached the MINING JOURNAL yesterday that a vessel was ashore a couple of miles north of Sucker Bay, where she was driven on the rocks in the gale of Friday night, and that the crew had just managed to get off and give intelligence of the disaster. Later the paper obtained the particulars of the wreck from Mr. W. L. Wetmore, and is enabled, through his kindness, to furnish an account of the disaster to its readers.

The stranded vessel is the John Wesley, a schooner sailed by Captain Barnes as master, with a crew of six men and a woman aboard. The Wesley was bound up light, her destination being Portage Entry where she was to take on a cargo of stone for Malone Bros., of Chicago. The gale drove her ashore and she went on the rocks so hard that it is not thought that she can be got off. She was driven in so close that when the sea subsided the crew got ashore by running a sixteen foot plank from the vessel to the rocks and thus made their way to land without difficulty. They got off yesterday forenoon and walked to Rock River, whence they telegraphed an account of the disaster to the owner of the wrecked vessel, A. P. Read, of Kenosha, Wis., and then returned to the vessel to await word from him. The cabin of the Wesley is in good condition and the crew will experience no discomfort while they wait aboard the vessel for instructions from the owner, as they have plenty of provisions and there is no danger of the craft getting off the rocks on which the gale of Friday night drove her with such terrific force.

The point where the Wesley went on is two miles north of Sucker Bay and about four miles north of Onota. She was quite helpless in the storm and it was great good fortune for the crew that she went on so hard that the beating of the waves did not affect her after she was stranded, otherwise it is more than likely that she would have been pounded to pieces on the rocks and that the disaster would have been given a sadder shading by the loss of all or a portion of her crew. The Wesley is of 302 tons register and was built at Toledo in 1872.

Bring in the Literature.

The trustees of the Peter White public library are anxious to collect all the historical data obtainable pertaining to the early history of Marquette and Lake Superior. Reports descriptive of the channels connecting the great lakes and their harbors, and giving the facts bearing on the work of their improvement by the government with the effect this has had on the commerce of the lakes, will be gratefully received and carefully preserved. Persons who contribute anything of this kind to the library will assist in making it more valuable to the public by placing information that is much needed where it will be available for everybody, and also where it will be carefully guarded and preserved for all time. The MINING JOURNAL trusts that the people of the whole peninsula will respond to the appeal of the trustees of the library for contributions of the character desired, and will gladly make public acknowledgment of the generosity of those who assist in enriching the library in this manner.

Found Dead in His Cell.

Fred Johnson was found lying dead on the floor of his cell at the county jail about 9 o'clock Saturday evening. He had apparently dashed his head against the wall until he fractured his skull and produced a fatal concussion of the brain. Clots of blood were found in his hair and on his forehead.

While working on the coal dock Thursday Johnson fell to the floor in an epileptic fit. He was able to walk most of the distance to his home on West Bluff street where recovered a little. He afterward became frenzied and could not be restrained at home and on the advice of the attending physician, Dr. Youngquist, Officer Foubert was summoned and took him to the county jail. He had to be confined in an ordinary cell, as owing to the stringency of the last legislature in refusing to provide sufficient accommodation for the insane the padded cell is occupied by an unfortunate maniac for whom there is no room at Traverse City. Johnson became violent and a straight jacket was put on him.

Johnson was married but had no children. Justice Crary summoned a jury which viewed the remains and then adjourned until today to take evidence.

"Monte Cristo."
The company headed by Felton gave a well-staged and somewhat badly acted performance of "Monte Cristo" at the opera house Saturday night.

The text of the piece is incoherent in spots or was made to seem so and should be revised. The pistol horse play in the duel scene is rotten and should be cut out. It is also very bad taste to bring "Mercedes" and "Albert" into the killing of the husband of one and the (putative) father of the other. Whatever his crimes against "Dantes" and others there is nothing in the play to show that "Count de Morcerf" had not been an affectionate husband and indulgent father. The story requires him to be killed and the audience feels that he is justly killed but it is a gross violation of dramatic decency to bring his wife and son on the stage to see the killing done.

Fred Felton as "Dantes," Robert Dorton as "Caderhouse" and Margaret Felton as "Caderhouse's" wife are competent and pleasing. Marion Blair as "Mercedes" was decidedly weak and Charles Bailey as "Count de Morcerf" was decidedly bad. Mr. Bailey doubled the part of "Abbe Fana" and did that bit very well. E. D. Bigelow as "Douglass" is raw and suffers from a voice that produces "that tired feeling" in the audience. Mr. Felton should cease advertising his plush curtains, which are not extraordinary, and strengthen his company. "Monte Cristo" is a story so full of interest that any competent performance of it will always please the average audience. With a little revision of the text and bracing up of the company there is no reason why Mr. Felton's enterprise should not be a success.

All Got Ashore.
The twelve men on the scow which the tug Edward Fiske lost off Granite Island Friday evening went ashore just above Little Presque Isle about 10 o'clock the same night. When the men on board found they were near land and firmly lodged on a safe sand beach they turned in and went to sleep.

About 8 o'clock Saturday morning they constructed a raft of boards and were just getting ashore when Captain Cleary and the life saving crew arrived on the scene. The latter had made a careful examination of the shore on their way north but had of course found no trace of the scow until they reached the spot named.

The most of the men went into camp where they landed and only Ed Peterson accompanied Captain Cleary back to the city. They reached here about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and the news that the party was all safe quickly spread about the city and was hailed with general satisfaction. Peterson reported the other men all right and injured though of course they suffered considerably from exposure.

The escape of the scow is regarded as little short of marvelous. A large part of the shore in that quarter is rocky and in many places the coast is hedged with dangerous reefs. After they broke loose from the tug the men on the scow believed they were lost but resolved to make as good a fight for life as possible. The scow had steering gear but no sail or other power and they found themselves drifting rapidly upon the rocky shore. The scow began to leak but by keeping four men constantly at the pump the inflow of water was kept down. As they drove in they saw the surf boiling over a sunken reef and it looked as if they would certainly be lost there. Most fortunately a huge wave struck them just in time to carry them over this reef and a few minutes later they ground on the sand about twenty feet from shore. Several men came near being washed overboard but managed to hold on.

Reports from the scow last evening say that she lies in two feet of water. An effort was made yesterday by the Fiske to pull her off but it was unsuccessful. One of Gillett's tugs tried to dredge a channel with her wheel but did not succeed. Another effort will be made today to cut a channel and if that cannot be done the cargo will be lightered. The cargo consists of about $5,000 worth of supplies, chiefly provisions, and is consigned to Hall & Munson at Big Bay by the Smith-Fee company, wholesale grocers of Duluth.

A Small Fire.
The fire department was called out at 4 o'clock Sunday morning to subdue a fire in a building in the course of erection at the corner of Fisher and Champion streets. The blaze originated from a salamander in which a fire was left burning by one of the workmen. It was put out before the building was damaged much. The building is owned by Joseph Riley. The loss is less than $25.

No Imposition Practiced.
TO THE MINING JOURNAL.—As a subscriber to the "Life of Christ," I would like to say a few words concerning "those sly book agents." The "retired minister" who called on me was perfectly gentlemanly and explained the terms and conditions explicitly. Had he not done so, however, I cannot see how there was room for any misunderstanding as every one of the six parts (not volumes) which he delivered has on back of cover a paragraph headed "Terms of Publication," stating in plain English that "the work will be completed in twelve single and fourteen double parts issued monthly" and be supplied only to subscribers who agree to take the whole. On same page, the price, "Single parts 25 cents, double parts 50 cents," is also plainly stated. In view of these facts, I think the ladies who "unknowingly contracted to pay $10" have only their own carelessness to blame. The work is published by the leading publisher of "art works" in this country—George Barrie, successor to Gebbie & Barrie of Philadelphia. The carrier, in delivering the parts to me, has been perfectly polite and business-like.

REGENERATION.
To secure a normal and regular tissue change throughout the body use Brandreth's pills. This tissue metamorphosis consists in a constantly proceeding waste of tissue and its regeneration. Brandreth's pills are the best solvent of the products of disintegration of the tissues and increase their elasticity. They are an alterative and eliminative remedy, which allay irritation and remove obstruction by aiding nature and are of great benefit in cases of temporary and habitual constipation, torpid liver, biliousness, headache, indigestion, rheumatism and diseases arising from an impure state of blood.

Brandreth's pills are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.
