PEACE NEARLY ARRANGED.

The Negotiations for Peace Between China and Japan Are Progressing Rapidly.

LI HUNG CHANG IS RAISING AN IMMENSE ARMY.

That Statesman May Take Command of an Army to Serve His Own Interests.

THE WAR IS ALMOST AT AN END.

ONE Foo, Nov. 30.—The terms of peace between China and Japan are almost arranged through the intervention of the United States. The feeling of security is now so strong that foreign ladies are returning to Peking.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 30.—The presence of three British warships opposite the estuary of Bien Tang Kiang leads to the belief that that country has decided to forestall all rivals in obtaining a voice in the settlement between China and Japan. The departure of the British war vessels from Shanghai under sealed orders created great excitement.

Fears are increasing that Li Hung Chang will place himself at the head of an army which he has created for his own purposes. Thousands of troops are arriving for service under him.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 30.—The steamer Victoria, thirteen days from Yokohama, arrived today. The Associated Press correspondent, writing on Nov. 17 says:—No trouble is expected to result from the affair of the steamer Sydney. The United States government is understood to regard the action of Japan as justifiable on the grounds of self defense, and Great Britain coincides although some form of explanation or apology may be deemed desirable. In France's opinion there appeared to be no exigency sufficiently alarming to call for so grave a measure as the removal of passengers from the French mail steamship. Later developments indicate that the self-declared explosive experts were irresponsible speculators, if not impostors.

Reports were received connecting Colonel Fred Grant with the undertaking and his name carried with it weight which would not have been accorded to unknown adventurers. It is well known that Li Hung Chang holds the memory of General Grant in reverence and he would presumably be disposed to place unusual resources at the disposal of a party representing his son. The sums alleged to have been promised Colonel Grant and which have been actually advanced to his agents correspond exactly with those set forth by the travelers on the Gaelic and Sidney. Taking these and other relative facts into consideration the Japanese government believed itself under the necessity of guarding against the threatened danger. The American passengers were released Nov. 12 after taking oaths not to aid China in any manner and expressing in writing their gratitude for the leniency of their treatment by the Japanese government.

The feeling of the populace is strongly against intervention in the negotiations for peace by the United States or by any western country and the Japanese government considers that nothing but an application from China herself will be acceptable.

That Great Britain has assumed an extremely threatening attitude towards China is asserted with great emphasis and directness by correspondents in Peking and Tien Tsin. The apparent neglect to demand reparation for Chung King's affront (when Japanese passengers sailing under the British flag were outraged and robbed by Chinamen) has never ceased to be a matter of surprise but if the reports now current are well grounded it is evident the wrath of the English government was not slumbering for a moment. We may hear of considerable preparation for the enforcement of satisfaction.

Admiral Fremantle has summoned the entire British fleet to meet at Shanghai to await the arrival of a strong military force from India, the landing of which at Chusan is to be effected without delay. A British envoy to demand the payment of a large sum of money, the degradation and dismissal of the chief magistrate holding office at Tien Tsin and the avowal of regret accompanied by a salute to the flag from the guns of the Taku Forts. If these conditions are not promptly fulfilled the troops and warships will commence reprisals. Startling as this intelligence sounds it is repeated from various quarters and on alleged official authority.

Affairs in Korea appear to be in a very bad state despite official Japanese statements. The interference of Japan towards putting everything right appears to have had a contrary effect by putting everything wrong. November was ushered in by the assassination of the vice president of the new law department. A fire on the 12th instant in Hiroshima barracks resulted in a large loss of life. Thirty-eight non-commissioned officers and soldiers who were on the second and third stories were burned to death with thirty-four injured. On the 5th instant an entertainment was given at Shijotori, Kyoto, in the celebration of Japanese victories. In the midst of the gathering a bomb shell was thrown from the outside and, exploding, wounded sixty-one persons.

Would you be strong and healthy? Use no baking powder but Dr. Price's.

ARE STARTING IN EARLY.

Populists Will Meet and Arrange for Next Campaign.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—The following call sent out today from this city fully explains itself: "By the request of the members of the national executive committee of the People's party and at the suggestion of the chairman of the state committees I hereby call a meeting of the national central committee of the People's party to meet in the Lindel hotel Dec. 28 and 29, 1894. In addition to the members of the national committee, the chairman of state committees, members of the "Reform Press association," People's party senators and representatives of the Fifty-third congress and those elected to the Fifty-fourth congress and all others who have taken a prominent part in organizing the party, those who are willing to work and vote with the People's party in the future for monetary reform are invited.

"The object of the meeting is to map out a policy for an educational campaign between now and the meeting of the next national convention and any other business which may come before the committee. The committee will discuss and act upon every phase of the present political and industrial situation of the country. This will be the most important meeting held since the Omaha convention." The call is signed by H. E. Taubner, chairman of the national committee of the People's party.

WILLING TO SURRENDER.

Samuel Sealey Did Not Go to Canada as Reported.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The attorney for Sealey, the defaulting bookkeeper of the National Shoe & Leather bank, says he will surrender to the federal authorities within forty-eight hours. He declares that both Sealey and Baker were merely tools; that the bank did not lose as much as charged. It is reported that Sealey is a partner in a book making firm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Ten indictments were handed into the court of general sessions today by the grand jury against Samuel Sealey alleging forgery and grand larceny. Charles J. Peschell, the criminal lawyer, said today that Sealey is not in Canada as reported. The directors of the Shoe & Leather bank met at noon today and passed resolutions offering a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of Sealey.

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Sealey the defaulting bookkeeper, it is known was in this city this morning but since the dispatch came offering a reward for him his whereabouts cannot be ascertained.

INVESTIGATION NEARLY ENDED.

Judge Ricks Will Be Given Opportunity to Defend Himself.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Representative Bailey of Texas, chairman of the judiciary sub-committee of the house, who has been investigating the charges against Judge Ricks of Cleveland, states that the sub-committee has practically completed the inquiry but the work will not be closed until the defense shall have had an opportunity to reply to the charges. The appearance of the docket shows the collection of a larger amount in fees than was paid in. When the explanation is made Bailey expects to have the report prepared for presentation to the house. It is understood special promptitude will be recommended in this direction in case the committee should decide that the charges be sustained. In that event and in case the house should adopt the report the matter will necessarily go to the senate where the impeachment proceedings which will be the result will be conducted. In case the committee should decide to exonerate Ricks there will be no necessity for haste.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED.

The Train Burned Up but No One Was Injured.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 30.—A successful attempt was made to wreck an incoming train on the South Carolina and Georgia road. Some one had thrown the switch a mile from the Kingsville station and wedged it tightly so that the train was thrown from the track while coming at a fast rate. The engine was tossed aside, the cars following mounting it. When the cars rolled over the lamps and stoves set them on fire and within a quarter of an hour they were wrapped in flames which completely destroyed all the wood work and ruined and shattered the engine. The loss is placed at about $85,000. All the baggage and express cars were destroyed. Strange to say no one of the twelve passengers were injured. An express messenger was caught in his car but by breaking open the window got out just as his coat was catching fire. The man who wrecked the train has not been captured nor is his identity known.

Government tests show that Dr. Price's Baking Powder has a leavening strength of 166 cubic inches per ounce. The New York Powder—credited with its ammoniacal gas—has but 160.6. Without ammonia it tests only 153.

WILL TURN STATE'S EVIDENCE.

Students Will Testify Against Their Grave Robbing Brethren.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 30.—The grave robbing cases were heard today in the county court. The cases were those where six university students and the dean were charged with body snatching. The cases of the students A. S. Ross and D. H. Roberts were noisily pressed and they were immediately subpoenaed as witnesses for the prosecution. It is said they will turn state's evidence. The attorneys for the remaining five defendants, Walter, Burford, Mehan, Ward and Alexander, raised points of illegal arrest and defective complaint. The court took the matter under advisement. The prisoners were arrested on the night of the 21st inst. at Colner university, charged with having stolen the body of Otto Albers. The body was found on the dissecting table in the university under the knife of the anatomical operator.

Three Children Cremated.

GETTSBURG, S. D., Nov. 30.—While August Miller and his wife were doing the chores on the farm the house took fire and three young children were burned to death.

WILL DO LITTLE BUSINESS.

Speaker Crisp Thinks Next Session of Congress Will Pass Few Measures.

NO FURTHER TARIFF CHANGES WILL BE MADE.

He Believes There Is No Necessity of Passing Another Measure to Raise Additional Revenue.

WILL BE OF NO IMPORTANCE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Speaker Crisp does not believe the coming short session of congress will be productive of much legislation.

"It is very important," he said, "that there should be some if anything can be done at this session and it must be apparent to every one that the present situation should not be permitted to remain long. Whatever suggestions the administrations has to make will be awaited with great interest. The present financial system, which gives the power to any one to deplete the treasury of gold and compel the government to increase its interest bearing obligations by the issue of bonds, is vicious and should be corrected as speedily as possible."

The speaker does not think there will be any tariff legislation during the session except to correct the alcohol schedule of the present law. Further legislation, he says, rests with the senate. As to sugar he says:

"It seems to me the same influences which, during the long session, put a duty on sugar will be able to prevent a repeal during the short time there is left for this congress to legislate."

Crisp does not think there is any necessity of a measure to raise additional revenue as the present law when it gets fully in operation will raise all the revenue needed. He regards as absurd the talk about defeating the appropriation to put the income tax in operation. As to other legislation the speaker says: "It seems to me there will probably be an effort made to do something with the Nicaragua canal. Then there are the bankruptcy and anti-option bills, which the senate should dispose of before the close of the session. A number of things may be attempted but there is no program arranged and everything depends upon what the general feeling is when we all get together."

WILL SOON BE CAPTURED.

Demented College President Found Wandering Through Iowa.

QUELWEN, Ia., Nov. 30.—A telegram from Grundy Center, Iowa, was received here this evening by a gentleman interested in the search for the missing college president, Hon. Walt T. Butler, stating he was in that village last night and made a demand on the town marshal for permission to stop in the jail over night and upon being refused he started away. The marshal was not aware of the party making the request was until too late to apprehend him. He appeared to parties who saw him to be in a demented condition. His clothing was torn and he looked tired and worn. When talking he appeared excited. The officers at Grundy Center expect to have him in their keeping by tomorrow.

THE POPE APPEALED TO.

Was Asked to Assist in Suppressing Armenian Atrocities.

ROME, Nov. 30.—The pope has received an account of the Armenian atrocities and has taken steps to obtain further details. His holiness has also received urgent appeals from Armenians in several places asking him to use his good office in their behalf with the sultan. Appeals to the Vatican, in addition, were made from England under the belief that none of the powers were willing to assume the responsibility of opening negotiations with the other powers for a joint intervention and also in the belief that it was impossible for the pope to remain indifferent to the sufferings of the Armenian Christians.

WILL ALLOW NO BRUTALITY.

The Yale-Princeton Football Game May Be Stopped.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Police Superintendent Byrnes announces he will stop the Yale-Princeton football game tomorrow at the first exhibition of brutality.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 30.—The Yale men when shown the dispatch regarding Superintendent Byrnes' order this afternoon ridiculed it and said they "guessed" there would be a free fight if Byrnes tried to enforce his order. The coaches and men said it was too trivial to receive notice.

Some baking powders work too slow, others too quick. The happy medium is reached in work done by Dr. Price's. Its ingredients are so accurately blended that its action is simply perfect.

TREASURY CASH BALANCE.

Payment of Bonds Will Likely Be Ended Next Week.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The cash balance in the treasury at the close of business today was $140,887,464. The gold reserve was $102,016,178, showing an increase since last Wednesday of $33,863,267. It is expected that by Monday or Tuesday next the whole amount of the bids will likely have been deposited. The regular monthly treasury debt statement to be issued tomorrow will show an excess of expenditures over receipts for the month of November of $8,156,367, which makes a deficiency for five months of the present fiscal year $22,610,226.

A SALE of 2,000,000 pounds of Lake copper was made to the General Electric company at 9.6 cents a pound, deliveries to be in January and February. The purchasing company endeavored to secure a considerable quantity of electrolytic copper at the same time but was unable to get it at prevailing prices.

AN IMPORTANT decree in favor of the Union Pacific railroad, but which affects all the roads in Nebraska, has been filed with the clerk of the United States circuit court at Omaha. It perpetually restrains the state authorities from enforcing the maximum rate law. The railroads will therefore, not have to reduce their rates in conformity to the schedule fixed by the state legislature.

The Lindholm hearing is in progress at Lansing before Justice Leshar. The charge against Lindholm is embezzlement of state funds. His attorney opened the proceedings by moving to quash the complaint and warrant on the ground that the complaint does not charge any offense known to the statutes, but he was promptly overruled by the justice, who holds that it is a crime under the statutes to steal state money. The examination will last for several days.

The Cleveland Iron Trade Review of the 29th states that "a close estimate puts the total shipments of ore for the season in the neighborhood of 7,400,000 tons. The estimate made some time ago of a season's total of 1,000,000 tons of non-Bessemer is increased to the extent of the non-Bessemer Mesabas that have been brought down, their character not having been determined by analysis until after the cargoes had left the head of the lakes. Further buying of small lots of Bessemer ores is looked for in the near future by a few furnaces not entirely provided for the winter."

WITHIN two days after the sale of $50,000,000 of government bonds by the secretary of the treasury there had been $26,000,000 in gold received by the government sub-treasuries in New York. Of this amount $10,000,000 was on account of the bond sale, being 20 per cent. on the purchase. The rest was made up of gold that had been drawn out to purchase bonds but was not required for that purpose, those who had withdrawn it not having their bids accepted, and ordinary payments on account of duties, etc. The reserve is climbing up rapidly this week.

ABOUT the biggest fake scheme extant at present is that of what is known as the Altamonte Water Power company, which proposes to dam the St. Louis river at a point twelve miles or so above Duluth and convey the water from there by a canal to a reservoir on the high lands over that city, whence it would be fed to manufacturing establishments at Duluth and Superior at a mere nominal cost per horse power. The engineer on whose estimate the project is based figures out that 600,000 horse power can be obtained in this way, that being six times what can be obtained from the falls at Niagara, according to the estimated capacity of that immense body of water when it shall all have been utilized for power. The published story of what the company proposes to do is a dead give-away of the scheme, but the papers keep on discussing it, notwithstanding.

SOME TIME ago it was predicted that the agreement of the Steel Rail association, formed about four years ago, would not be renewed when the period for which it was organized would expire, toward the close of the current year, but the prediction was not well founded, as appears from this article, reprinted from the Iron Trade Review.

Official confirmation comes to The Iron Trade Review of the report that at the meeting of the Steel Rail association the past week it was agreed to maintain the organization as it has existed heretofore, and to reduce the price of rails from $24 to $22 per ton at eastern mills. All rails weighing above forty-five pounds to the yard are to be considered standard sections; heretofore fifty pounds has been the minimum. Steel girder rails will be sold at $24 at mill. It is believed, from what is known of the proceedings of the recent meeting of rail mill representatives, that the steel manufacturers of the country are determined that one interest, at least, shall not participate in the general sacrifice that has been made of iron and steel manufactures the past year. This spirit ought to be contagious, to some extent, at least. Somewhere, sometime, somehow, a stop must be put to the ruinous cutting that has come to be well-nigh universal. Signs are increasing that when the statements are made up at the first of the year a new leaf will be turned with '95, and business conducted with a view to winning a profit. That is a platform on which representatives of the iron and steel trades ought to stand together.

An iron ore association, organized on the same plan and for a similar purpose wouldn't be a bad thing for the iron mining industry. Surely the producers of ore have as much occasion to organize for the purpose of maintaining prices at a point that will enable them to "win a profit" as the producers of steel rails, or any other article or commodity whose price is in a measure determined by the quantity in which it is supplied, there being a limit to the demand.

The Detroit Evening News thus "sizes up" Havemeyer's wall over the hardship worked the combination of sugar refiners constituting the sugar trust by the workings of the new tariff law:

The great sugar trust is sick again. Congress will meet again next week, and an object lesson must be read to it on the horrors and injustice of giving the fattest parasite in the whole list of parasitic, protection-fostered monopolies only the paltry protection of one-eighth of a cent per pound on its sugar product and a contemptible differential of one-tenth of a cent. Mr. Havemeyer—who, by the way, is now under indictment for not telling the country something that is really pertinent about his sugar business—has seen fit to fix up a statement for the newspapers. Of course this statement suits himself only. His unwillingness to talk frankly and manfully before a congressional committee last summer takes out of what he may say now every last grain of value. He says that the great sugar refineries of the great eastern cities have shut down and thrown out of employment 50,000 men because they cannot compete with foreign refineries. Mr. Havemeyer is not to be believed. His indictment is proof that he grinds out words as he grinds out sugar, for public consumption and for the money there is in the process. If it is true that 70,000,000 people are getting their sugar cheaper than he can make it, the thing for him to do is to tell 70,000,000 people why they should tax their coffee cups and cake baskets that his millions may be increased thereby. Mr. Havemeyer is a great bluffer, and the less ear congress gives to his opera bonife methods of whining for more pap the nearer we will be to a solution of some of the puzzles which distress our industrial and financial life.

GREAT SNAKE STORY. Reptile Marked All Over with Bible Characters from the Book of Genesis.

Very few readers ever dream that there is any single piece of reading matter in the world which lives, breathes and circulates on its own individual account, says London Answers. But anyone who will take the trouble to walk into a certain shop in Piccadilly, not far from the Egyptian hall, will be rewarded by seeing a specimen of snake, known as the lemon boa, with the whole of the third chapter of Genesis tattooed on its body. The reptile is only lent for exhibition, but the gentleman who purchased it states that on board the South American sailing vessel, the scene of this remarkable tattooing, it is a common diversion among the sailors to capture live snakes, extract their fangs and cover the body with any number of inscriptions, legends and devices, and then dispose of the reptiles at the first port. Few of the purchasers, however, care to have charge of live snakes—they are ever so harmless—so it is customary to either stuff these latter with fine straw and putty, or else immerse them in alcohol, although this process commonly has the effect of taking all the brilliancy out of the pigments employed.

In the case of long and extremely fine inscriptions, alcohol, however, shows up and preserves these to great advantage. A sailor spent six months in tattooing one of the "Sketches by Bez," containing four thousand five hundred and twenty words, upon the skin of a rattlesnake, which he afterward sold to a gentleman for eight guineas.

Outlook for Heavy Production from No. 3 Shaft of Tamarack Mine Is Improving Daily.

[All communications intended for this department should be addressed to Horace J. Stevens, Houghton, Mich. Telephone connection.]

The people here are at sea so far as knowing what are the plans of the new express company, which is billed to take charge of the express business over the South Shore and Mineral Range lines at the beginning of the new year.

The change is anticipated with feelings of dread by the business public although assurances are given that rates will be no higher than at present.

CRAB CATCHING.

A Popular Fall Sport on the Atlantic Coast. Points for the Uninitiated in the Art of "Nabbing" the Nimble Crustacean—An Inexpensive Pastime for Old and Young.

Out of the wide-spreading Hackensack meadows and along the Shrewsbury in New Jersey, in all the shallow bays and inlets of Long Island and the Connecticut shore there nowadays is great fun afoot, says the New York World.

The biggest and fattest of the blue-claws are now hunting tideway and creek, coming and going with every tide, hungry and eager as they sail in on the flood, and coy and well fed as they lazily depart on the ebb.

It is an inexpensive pastime and the fishing grounds are near at hand. For the matter of that a man may take his wife and children along.

Ten or a dozen lines are all one party can manage generally, for the crabs feed like newboys at a Christmas dinner.

The women all like it, too; like to shout over slipping in the mud, like to scream when a crab gets out of the basket or net and runs sideways at their feet.

It is not blest with wife and little one and is going alone, he may try a still more exciting form of the sport.

The "nabber" stands at one end, or if there are two "nabbers," one at each end and they simply let the boat drift with the tide.

The net whose thirteen or fifteen-inch frame seemed so large when you bought it now seems as small as an arrow point when you drive it at a vanishing crab and miss him clean.

At high tide one may only sidetrack the shore, catching what stray crabs he may find clinging to the sedges and reeds, for out in the bay the depth is too great.

PRICE OF PRODUCE HIGHER.

Farm Products Show a Somewhat Firmer Tone During the Past Week.

NO DECIDED IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS SHOWN.

Despite Recent Bond Issue the General Condition of Trade Remains About the Same.

BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—There is no general or radical improvement in business except in the central western states and particularly at some important cities in the old middle and north-east states, where a material gain in demand for many seasonal staples shows itself, with a corresponding increase in the volume of goods distributed and orders for future delivery. This independent stimulus to trade in certain lines is due to the approaching holidays.

A sharp revival in prices is shown by quotations from some grades of lumber but more particularly for cotton, wheat, oats and lard, the improving prices in the first two having had an influence for good. Decreases in the prices of steel rails and bars, cattle, hogs, Indian corn and naval stores are reported, but the quotations for structural iron, rice, whisky, tobacco, pork, coffee and sugar are steady. It should be explained that rails are now held at $22, the lowest price on record and steel billets and pig iron are respectively $2 to $1.50 below English quotations. At Chicago pig iron dealers are trying to force an advance, but at St. Louis the market is without life and the price is low.

Cotton is weaker since the cut made by a New York house. A stimulating influence of purely a statistical nature is the decrease of 2,008,000 bushels of wheat in the quantity afloat for and in store in Europe last week, thus nearly though not quite overcoming the increase of 2,138,000 bushels of wheat available in the United States and Canada last week. Exports of wheat and flour amount to 2,957,000 bushels this week against 3,312,000 last week and 2,440,000 bushels a year ago. The data presented by Bradstreet's point to the United States having exported about 65,000,000 bushels of wheat (four included) since June 30, and to our having $5,000,000 available for export during the next seven months, notwithstanding the alleged excessive demand this year.

Speculation in the New York stock market displays little response to the success of the government bond issue, the influence of a large over-subscription being overcome by the failure of foreign interests to obtain any considerable share of the new issue. Silver is demoralized by sellers of eastern bills on the part of the Japanese government, coupled with the fears that Japan may insist on a war indemnity from China to gold and not in silver. There is an increased demand for funds at Chicago (notably from packers) and at Milwaukee.

The statement compiled by Bradstreet's shows that the total bank clearances of the principal cities of the United States for the past week were $803,830,000, an increase of 2.9 per cent. compared with the corresponding week of last year.

It's sheer waste to use low grade baking powder. Dr. Price's is the highest quality.

DUN & CO.'S TRADE REPORT.

Increase in Gold Reserve Falls to Affect Business.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The complete success of the government loan and the replenishment of the gold reserve has not perceptibly affected business nor prevented the advance of foreign exchange nearly to the exporting point. Mean while domestic trade and industry is not influenced by the heavy defalcation in one bank and minor disorders in two others, nor by the failure of the Erie railway to meet the interest on its bonds. The closing of the sugar refineries will diminish the industrial outlook more than it is increased by the resumption of the Bethlehem steel works and a few other concerns.

A controlling fact is that although in two instances wages have been increased the earnings of the working man on the whole enlarging at present and the prices of the chief farm products do not materially improve.

Cotton reacted three-sixteenths of a cent after a week of heavy speculation. Wheat is 1 1/4 cents higher and western receipts still exceed last years amounting, since July 1, to 103,500,000 bushels against 100,900,000 last year, while exports from all ports are about 21,000,000 bushels smaller. The smaller quantity received last year paid more debts by about $8,000,000 than the larger quantity this year and wheat is selling for the first time below sixty cents just after harvest. May will naturally be held back for better returns. Corn advanced a fraction, receipts being larger than a year ago, and on the whole the outcome for farmers is not so improved as to promise larger buying by the west and south.

The great industries fairly maintain the production previously reported but cannot be expected to increase at this season. A few more iron works have gone into operation and the demand for exports is larger but there is a distinct weakness in prices, especially at Pittsburg, and Bessemer iron, billets, nails and some structural iron are quoted lower. The rail combination has agreed to a reduction of $2 per ton for the next year. Coke contracts are being made for the first quarter of 1895 at current rates.

The failures for the week are 289 against 271 last year.

WILL WORK HALF THE FORCE.

American Sugar Refineries Will Not Be Entirely Closed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The Evening Post says: "The statement of H. O. Havemeyer, president of the American Sugar Refining company, that the refineries must be shut down for a while owing to the depression in trade due to legislation was discussed today in business and labor circles. A modified announcement was made by Havemeyer today that only half of the force would be laid off as regarded an indication of a less fixed purpose than indicated in the declaration of the company's intention Wednesday night. In Wall street the disposition is general to connect the action of the sugar trust managers with the coming session of congress."

DECIDE NOT TO FIGHT.

Kobites Will Be Satisfied With Entering Vigorous Protest.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The exact program of the Kobites at Montgomery tomorrow was made known at the Populist headquarters today. It is to the effect that Kolb and the other members of the Populist ticket will go before a judge or justice of the peace and take the oath of office of the places to which they claim to have been elected. Then they will formally go before the state legislature now in session and lodge a formal protest against the inauguration of Oates and demand an investigation of their claims. They will not seek any trouble with Oates' followers.

HAVE REDUCED EXPENSES.

Secretary Lamont Makes Public His Annual Report of the War Department.

GREATEST MOVEMENT OF TROOPS SINCE THE WAR.

Secretary Advises an Increase in Standing Army and a Radical Change in Its Formation.

LIVELY YEAR FOR THE ARMY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The annual report of Secretary Lamont shows the saving of half a million dollars in salaries and contingent expenses in the administration of the war department at Washington, besides economies in the recruiting service, rents, etc. The expenditures for the last fiscal year were $56,039,009; the appropriation for the current year is $52,429,112, and the estimates for next year are $52,318,629. It was found necessary at times during the period from March to July in various places to employ a considerable part of the army to execute the orders of the United States courts, otherwise successfully defied and resisted, and to protect and dispatch United States mails and guard the property of the government. The movement of troops thus necessitated was the largest which has taken place since the close of the civil war. The extraordinary tasks imposed upon officers and men were discharged promptly, firmly and judiciously, attesting to the thorough efficiency of every branch of the service. On Oct. 1 the army numbered: Officers, 2,134; enlisted men, 25,772; of the latter for various causes only 20,114 being effective.

Secretary Lamont earnestly recommends legislation to establish the battalion formation now adopted by the armies of every other civilized nation. To effect the change he recommends a return to the law of 1870, fixing at 30,000 the limit of the army. The cost of the increased number of enlisted men would be $1,200,000 annually but retrenchment has reduced the administrative expenses of the war department $500,000 and by applying these economies to the benefit of the army an efficient organization and greater strength could be obtained at an increase of only $700,000.

The character of the recruits has improved and last year only 7,817 of 27,311 applicants were accepted. Of 2,710 men discharged by expiration of service 2,070 reenlisted. Desertions show a large decrease. Seven regiments are armed with the new magazine rifle and by May 1 the infantry will be completely equipped with the new arms. The manufacture of that arm will be continued to equip the militia.

The manufacture of modern field and siege artillery has been continued. Sea coast defense may now be presented as rapidly as congress makes appropriations for the purpose and if these are sufficient the projects of the Endicott board can be carried out in twelve and one-half years. The total cost of finishing the armament at twenty-eight of the chief seaports is estimated to be $50,377,248, with annual appropriations of $4,430,000 for the next twelve years.

Secretary Lamont observes that no statue to General Grant has been erected at Washington and recommends that such a statue be erected between the capitol and the congressional library, south of Greenough's statue of Washington.

The market was strong for desirable shipping steers and about steady for other kinds. Most of the stock had been sold on a basis of $1.25 to $1.50 for inferior to extra cows and heifers; $3.00 to $3.50 for common to fancy steers; $1.75 to $4.50 for westerns and $1.50 to $3.40 for Texans.

HOGS.—Receipts, 35,000. The trade is looking for large receipts for next week. During the day about all the hogs changed hands, but it was a dragging and rather disappointing market. The best heavy hogs sold around $4.75 to $5.40 and $4.45 was paid for choice light.

SHEEP.—Receipts, 8,000. Moderately active and strong. Light receipts during the last few days and the prospects of moderate runs in future seems to restore confidence. Good to choice sheep were quoted at $2.50 to $3.25 and poor to fair qualities at $1.00 to $2.25. The lamb market was strong at $2.00 to $4.25 and most of the sales were at $3.25 to $3.75.

Whales in Law.

The whales that move in the great waters have been in court, making of themselves martyrs for the development of the law of the land. Capturing and killing a whale and having it floating upon the ocean with marks of appropriation, makes it the absolute property of its captors, who may maintain an action against one who appropriates it with or without knowledge of the title of the captors. Finbeck, a whale killed in Massachusetts bay with bomb lances sink to the bottom. They float to the surface in two or three days, and that they shall belong to the person who killed them, no matter by whom found, is enforced.

Reflected Light.

Some months ago an English manufacturer made a number of experiments to determine the best method of illuminating his cloth mills. Gas jets, incandescent lamps and arc lights were all tried and found wanting, as they either failed to give light enough, gave too much light, or cast heavy shadows. The walls of a room were painted white, and under each of a number of arc lights was suspended a reflector, which threw all the light up to the white ceiling, from which it was reflected to the room below. This system was successful from the outset and has attracted considerable attention among English weavers.

An ever welcome guest to this cheerful household-Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. QUEER MAILS. Letters Carried on Dromedaries and by Band to Egypt.

"It was pretty hard for me to get used to the Egyptian mail system during the two years I spent in that country," said a traveler, according to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "The mails then went by a curious kind of post. All Egypt is on the Nile and one line of mail service up and down the river went through every city and village from Cairo to Assouan. This line was cut into sections, and on each section was a foot-runner, who went over his course three or four times a day, backward and forward, meeting the next runner at each end and passing along from one to the other any letter he might receive. Thus no mail bag was made up, but letters were passed singly. "All government letters went by extra express, a mail rider going by dromedary, crossing the desert, and thus avoiding the long bends in the river. It was sort of strange to follow with my imagination my letter in their wanderings, carried by an Arab mounted on a dromedary, guided by the stars across the desert at night and wearied by the hot sun in the daytime. Those letters are carefully preserved in my family as curiosities, and, if they could talk, would doubtless tell of Arab tents where they rested, and of wild, dark passes in the mountains, where howling wolves and fierce hyenas were close upon their track."

An Involuntary Investment. "Ever hear about my deal in turkeys?" said a man whose home is in a little village of northern Delaware. "I happened to be in a little mountain town of Virginia when an acquaintance asked me what I was buying. I said, just for a joke, that I'd buy a car load of turkeys, and thought no more about it until next day, when turkeys began coming into the railway station. There was nothing for me to do but to buy those turkeys, and when I left town I had twelve hundred and eighty of them. I brought them up here and when they were let out of the cars to be driven to the place where I decided to keep them it looked as if the little state wouldn't hold 'em. By actual count there was a turkey apiece for every man, woman and child in my village, but I sold 'em off in lots of twenty-five, fifty and a hundred to the farmers around, and the joke turned out pretty well, though I thought for awhile it was going to be an expensive bit of fun."

Remarkable Prophecy. The desire of Russia to secure supreme influence in China was pointed out as a danger to England over thirty years ago by the late Lord Cranborne, eldest brother of the present conservative leader; and he added, in words singularly applicable to the circumstances of to-day: "There is but one common-sense view of the whole matter; the Chinese ought to be induced by fair or foul means, to give more ample protection to the lives and properties of foreigners resident on their soil; both the French and English, therefore, are fully justified in demanding such concessions, and punishing treachery by armed force."

A BUFFALO RANCH.

An Experiment in Bison Breeding in the Texas Panhandle.

The Unique Enterprise of an Old Plainsman Who is Striving to Perpetuate the Valuable Qualities of an Almost Extinct Animal.

Goodnight, a little station on the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, in Armstrong county, in the Texas Panhandle, is the home of Charles Goodnight, who is quietly but earnestly and persistently conducting an experiment in the crossing of the American buffalo with native cattle, so far without completely successful results, but certainly with very interesting ones.

Mr. Goodnight, says Forest and Stream, has a little home ranch of about seventy thousand acres. This is his garden. His real ranch, where he does business, is the Quitaque, some distance away, where he has about four hundred thousand acres under fence. It is at his little garden, or truck patch, that he has his buffalo experimental station.

Several years ago, when buffaloes were more plentiful in Texas than they are now, the cowboys working for Mr. Goodnight would often "rope" a buffalo calf and bring it home. These were turned into an inclosure, and, though little attention was paid to them, they formed the nucleus of the herd now on the ranch. As the wild buffalo began to disappear these became of greater interest, and six or seven years ago Mr. Goodnight began in earnest the attempt to produce a new and distinct breed by crossing buffalo and neat cattle, and trying to perpetuate this type of inbreeding.

There are now on his ranch about twenty-five or thirty full-blood buffaloes and as many more half-breeds. Most of these full-bloods-probably all of them-were calved on the ranch. Indeed, the herd are the product of the calves roped and brought in by the cowboys in the late '70s, which grew up and multiplied by the regular and natural process. They are fine-looking animals. Old buffalo hunters say they never saw finer-looking ones when these animals covered the Texas prairies by millions, which is conclusive evidence that civilization is not fatal to the propagation of the buffalo. It needs only to be protected and given a fair show, and in time there is no reason why there should not be as many buffaloes on the prairies of Texas as there were twenty years ago.

The crosses are, however, of the greatest interest. It was Mr. Goodnight's desire to establish a type of cattle with the valuable robe, the thrifty rustling qualities, the weight and general characteristics of the buffalo. He has bred "black mullees" to the buffalo bulls-and the result is an animal with the light hindquarters and heavy shoulders of the buffalo, the shaggy head and the long, woolly hair so desirable in buffalo robes being reproduced almost as perfectly as in the parent bull. The tail is long and flat like a mule's tail. Horns are absent when bred to mullees. In two or three cases, where the mothers were Texas cows, the horns were like buffalo horns, but some longer. One peculiar animal, which is out of place outside of a sideshow, is the offspring of a buffalo bull and a Texas cow, which has black and white stripes running around the body like a zebra's. The half-breeds are heavier in weight than the average cattle, are better rustlers, and keep fat through cold weather and hard rustling that thin the others and often result in heavy fatalities.

Mr. Goodnight also has on his home ranch about thirty or thirty-five elk that were brought from Colorado, which he has in a pasture of four or five hundred acres, the fence around which is coyote-proof. These elk have not thriven well, and do not appear to be at home.

CALLS THE KING "MY BABY." The Spanish Queen Uses Pet Names When Referring to Her Son. Queen Christina, of Spain, is about the only monarch or royal personage in Europe who, when speaking of her children and relatives, does not consider it necessary to make use of their titles, says a writer in the New York Recorder. Thus, when the prince of Wales refers to his parent, he invariably uses the words: "My mother, the queen," the latter word being superfluous, it would seem. His son he always speaks of as "My son, the duke of York." The emperor of Austria refers to his wife as "Die Kaiserin," as does also Emperor William. The king of Portugal is so anxious to prevent any undue familiarity that he usually prefixes the words "Her majesty" to "the queen," and in the same way the wives of these respective royalties never speak of their husbands except as "the emperor," "the king" or "the prince," as the case may be. Queen Christina, of Spain, however, is quite different in this respect. She invariably talks of her little seven-year-old boy as "el nino," as "my son," as "my baby," or, when speaking in German, as "Mein bubi," the Viennese dialect for "my dear little boy." It diminishes nothing from the child's rank or grandeur to speak thus of him, but, on the contrary, contributes to increase the sympathy and the regard for this sensible and highbred widow and for her royal son, around whose fair, curly head are centered so many interests, both national and economic.

Corea's Literary Center. Ping-Yang, in northern Corea, the place where the great battle of September 15 was fought, was the first "literary center" in the peninsular kingdom. Its chief author was an ancestor of Confucius named Kishi, who, gathering up his writing materials and leaving China in 1123 B. C., emigrated eastward into Corean regions. His name is greatly venerated, and many tablets still exist in his honor in the northern parts of Corea.

HONORED THE INCORHONEY.

Ishpeming Red Men Visited by the Great Chief of Their Order.

HE WAS MUCH PLEASED WITH GITCHE GUMMEE TRIBE.

Fine Production of Cantata "Queen Esther"—Going West to Locate Permanently.

A PROSPEROUS SOCIETY Andrew H. Patton of Danvers, Mass., great incoboney of the Red Men of the United States, arrived in Ishpeming from Minneapolis Thursday morning and has been the guest of Gitche Gummee Tribe the past two days. Several of the leading members of the tribe called on Mr. Patton at the Nelson House shortly after his arrival and entertained him during the day.

In the evening a special meeting of the lodge was held at the Red Men's hall, at which the secret work was exemplified. Mr. Patton was agreeably surprised to find the degree team of Gitche Gummee tribe perform its work so well. He says its work is equal to any he has seen during his travels and that the team is entitled to a place in the front rank. Mr. Patton delivered a short address reviewing the history and advancement of the order. This society is one of the oldest in the United States, it having been founded by the Indians in the early days. The first branch of the order instituted among the whites was organized in one of the forts during the Revolutionary war. Mr. Patton took particular pains to impress on the members that the society is purely an American organization; that any man, no matter what his religious or political belief may be, is eligible to membership in it. All its objects are purely American and matters political or religious are never discussed at its meetings.

During the great financial stringency of the past two years this society has, Mr. Patton says, held its own in membership, while many other organizations of a similar character have lost ground. A short time ago Mr. Patton was in Ohio and was present at a meeting of the Red Men at which Hon. William McKinley "rode the goat." He will shortly assist in the institution of a tribe at Lexington, Conn., of which the governor of that state and Senator Linsley will be charter members. Many of the leading men throughout the country are members of the order and others are joining it rapidly. It is principally on this account Mr. Patton is bound to increase in popularity. The total membership of the order in the United States at present is about one hundred and forty thousand.

At Minneapolis and St. Paul, where Mr. Patton spent the early part of this week, the order is in a flourishing condition. Eight new tribes will shortly be instituted in that section with a large membership. Yesterday Mr. Patton was taken in hand by members of Gitche Gummee tribe and shown the sights of this city and Negaunee. In the evening a special meeting of the Degree of Pocahontas was held. An impromptu program, made up of vocal and instrumental musical selections, was rendered and short addresses were delivered by Mr. Patton and others. Following the meeting a banquet was served by the ladies of Pocahontas in glee in honor of their distinguished guest. A large number of members of both branches were present and a most pleasant time was had.

Mr. Patton and W. T. Cole, deputy great incoboney for Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, will leave this morning on the 7 o'clock train for Menominee, where a tribe will soon be instituted with a large membership. From Menominee Mr. Patton will go to Chicago, where he will remain a few days. Gitche Gummee tribe has dropped its initiatory fees to the constitutional limit with a view to increasing its membership. Its numerical strength at present is about one hundred and thirty.

Off for the West.

William Penglasse intends leaving for Flathead Valley, Mont., next Monday. He has had very flattering reports from that country from his father-in-law, William R. Gray, who left here a few months ago for there. Mr. Gray has established himself in the wood business and is doing well. He likes the climate and says the country in general there is much better than he expected to find it. He is located at Kalispel, a town of about three thousand inhabitants. It is a manufacturing point and there are a number of fine farms tributary to the place. The town is only about four years old and three first class banks have already been established there. Mr. Penglasse expects to take up a homestead as soon as possible after his arrival there. It is a fine lumber country and some very good claims are to be had. Mr. Gray has a place in view for him.

Prof. R. Ogden Doremus, of Bellevue Medical College, New York city, reports: "I find Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder composed of pure materials and compounded on correct scientific principles. Its yield of carbonic acid gas is greater than that of any other powder."

WHEN "SCAB" DATES FROM.

The Word Has Been in Use Since the Year 1809.

The first time the word "scab" is known to have been used in its present sense by union men was in 1809. Although in 1817 several shipbuilders struck at Medford, Mass., for a continuous rum supply, not till 1891 did strikes become frequent. Thirteen hundred persons were idle at Fall River for six months in 1890.

The railroad strike of 1886, which began in St. Louis, May 5, will long be remembered for its magnitude. A union man had been discharged by the Missouri Pacific road, and the mechanics and shopmen struck. This was the nominal cause. Texas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas were largely affected, and governors of these states issued proclamations.

Preceding this came the memorable strike of 1877 with its immense destruction of life and property. The four great New York trunk lines were in the hands of the strikers from first to last. The riots of Chicago and St. Louis were the work of tramps.

Sept and Died in a Coffin.

An interesting and original person named Vaszary Kovacs died in Hungary the other day, says the London Daily News. He had been a Honved in 1848 and then became a popular comic actor. When too old to go on the boards he discovered a strange occupation, which harmonized with the hobbies he entertained all his life. For a small fee he carried the wooden cross, customary in all Hungary, in all the funeral processions of the capital. The last time he was noticed in this part, which four correspondents says he played like a true actor, was at Kossuth's funeral. With his snow-white beard and flowing white hair, the wooden cross in his right hand and the left on his sword, he was a conspicuous and dramatic figure. For the last twenty years of his life he slept in his coffin, which with his own hand he had painted in the national colors of Hungary. He died in the coffin, and his last wish was that the lid should be merely nailed down over him and that no one should touch his dead body.

The period of confinement is also greatly shortened, the mother strengthened and built up, and an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child promoted.

J., writes: "I had been suffering from ulceration and falling of the womb, for several years, or since the birth of my youngest child. I consulted all the physicians around here and they gave me up and said there was no help for me. At last, almost discouraged, I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and took five bottles. It is three years since and I have not had any return of the trouble. I feel very grateful, and in fact, owe my life to it. I do not think I should have been alive now if I had not taken your medicine."

AN ARTISTIC BURGLARY.

A Church Member Tells How He Might Have Done It.

We were resting on a seat by the seashore at Eastcoast, whither I, the rector of Old Stanwick, had gone for a short holiday, accompanied by my friend and parishioner, James Ollacram, Esq., the eminent iron merchant of our city. He had been out of sorts for some time, and this fact, I suppose, caused him to make the revelation to me, which I have attempted to record hereunder.

"When he finished his tale I came to another conclusion. 'You may talk as you like,' said my friend, 'of the abilities of Campion or any other detective, and the very much over-rated intelligence with which some men are endowed. There is, however, a great deal more of it, I assure you, in the novel than in real life. Now look around you,' continued Mr. Ollacram, 'and consider how many of our great crimes are brought to light. Why, not one-tenth of them, if we were dependent on this wisdom and sagacity of Policeman XX. If the criminal brings intelligence to his 'job' the 'force' is immediately at fault.'

"Yes," he continued, "I am an authority upon the subject. I have been a burglar myself."

"You?" I exclaimed in horror. "Then, rising from my seat, I almost started upon a run. He was a man whom I had esteemed and respected, and one of the very pillars of my church. Mr. Ollacram laughed quietly at my excitement. His coolness was irresistible, and I could only excuse him on the grounds that he had gone suddenly mad."

"You may stare," replied Mr. Ollacram, smiling, "but I assure you there is nothing out of the way in my assertion. Sit down again calmly and I will tell you a short story. 'In the early part of my life I was an artistic burglar, and I made a considerable sum of money at the profession. The authorities never caught me, and I will tell you further that they never even suspected me of a crime. The reason is simple. I thought out my plans well before I put them into execution. I invariably laid little traps for the police who were to follow on my trail, and Sherlock Holmes, the prince of modern (story) detectives, would surely have been landed in a quagmire had he come on one of my burglaries, as he was in his adventure over the 'Yellow Face.'

"I re-created myself on the very end of the form and listened to the following revelation: 'In those days I dismissed the question of morality from my mind altogether. I ignored all restraint except the restraint of public observation and public opinion.'

"My part was studied from the beginning, alternative situations provided for, and, once planned out, I permitted myself to make no deviation. 'It was in this way that I carried out the burglary in the residence of our mutual friend and neighbor, Chumleigh, in Brown's terrace.'

"The houses in the terrace were all alike, and as I lived in one of them with my parents I was perfectly familiar with the features of the others. I could go through them by night as well as by day. Mr. Chumleigh was a respectable merchant, whose wife had recently died, leaving him with three children, the youngest of whom was an infant but a few weeks old."

"His wife during her life had been a very fashionable woman, and was always very lavish in her display of jewelry. It was this jewelry that attracted me. I concluded that these articles of value would still be found in the room on the third floor, lately occupied by that lady. I also came to the conclusion that Mr. Chumleigh now occupied a different apartment. I therefore determined to gain access to the room in which Mrs. Chumleigh had breathed her last. I trusted myself to be able to do the rest."

"I sent my maid servant on one occasion to the housekeeper, requesting her to let my father try Mr. Chumleigh's latch key, on the plea that our latch key had been mislaid and we were consequently unable to open the door. In a few minutes the girl returned, I had obtained the impression in wax, and the latch key, with many thanks, was back in the custody of Mr. Chumleigh's housekeeper. To manufacture a similar key was not a work of great trouble to me, and I thus obtained the means of quiet access."

"As I have said, I always arranged my burglaries with a preconceived idea. Accordingly I now picked up an old pair of boots that had seen their best days on the feet of a costermonger, doubtless, and a cap that would have been kicked by a workhouse messenger. I also obtained surreptitiously the awl, hammer and twine, or 'waxed end,' from a shoemaker who lived in the country."

"I next supplied myself with a used envelope, bearing a postmark, and a portion of a country newspaper. With these articles in my possession I felt satisfied, as an artistic burglar, that I could outwit the most skillful detective. I had, of course, also the usual and necessary instruments which pertain to the faculty of housebreakers, including a leather 'sucker' and a glazier's diamond, for the purpose of removing a pane of glass noiselessly, if it should be necessary to do so. My kit also included a small crowbar or 'jimmy.'

"Mr. Chumleigh stayed late at his club on certain nights, and, knowing this fact, one night I cleared for action. I smudged my face, donned my old clothes and sallied forth by the back door, which, like all the doors of Brown's terrace, opened out on a back lane."

"The house which I intended to burglar was now wrapped in darkness. From that fact I knew that the nurse and little ones had retired to rest. I walked boldly to the front door, and, using my new latch key, let myself into the house and shut the door behind me as quietly as possible."

"It is not a pleasant feeling, I assure you, to find yourself burglariously on the premises of another. The very stillness awes you, and a thousand eyes behind quite a number of revolvers seem to be peering at you from every turn and corner. The darkness is frightsome. If you have an associate the work may come much easier, but to be alone in a burglary requires the strongest kind of courage."

"I left the old boots in the passage, so as to create the belief that the burglar had taken off his boots before going upstairs. The farther the detectives followed their track the farther would they go from mine. I then went to the rear of the house and opened a window, leaving it open. In this way the belief would be induced that I had entered and departed by the same way."

"I then went cautiously up those dark stairs. Here and there the steps gave forth a little creak beneath my footsteps, as if protesting against the tread of the intruder. It was very aggravating, but I proceeded steadily, and shortly found myself at the foot of the room recently occupied by the deceased lady. Here a slight difficulty presented itself, but a little professional manipulation succeeded in effecting an entrance."

"I closed the door of the bedroom softly, and then proceeded to light my candle. The next thing was to arrange my accessories so as to induce the opinion of the (false) identity of the burglar, and to establish a theory that he had been disturbed in his quest. I had rolled a few bread crumbs in the old newspaper. This I now opened, and laid it on the bed, with the 'waxed end' close beside it. Then I laid the old cap on a chair, and the awl and hammer on the drawers. They were intended to tell a tale. Having thus arranged my supposed surprise, I proceeded to work—solid work. All the jewelry I found in a box, locked and placed in a locked drawer."

"The locks, however, made little difference to me. I appropriated all. I was rather touched, I confess, when I discovered the dead lady's wedding and engagement rings tied with a piece of black silk, and carefully placed in the corner of the little box. How those rings had kept the poor woman thinking, from the time she put them on until her dying day! I actually began to soliloquize in spite of myself. Then I adhered to my plan and placed them in the corner of the envelope I had brought with me to the house for that purpose. I had previously torn the envelope diagonally across, leaving the postage stamp and obliterated stamp visible."

"I had also left the final letters of a name, and the words '—rn, Beasley Road,' on the envelope to be studied by the detectives. The rings I left behind me."

"I never did believe in making a litter about a bedroom, so having placed the valuables in my pockets I closed the drawers and looked closely about the room for something more. You may judge of my surprise when I heard a key turned in the door below stairs, and the movements of Mr. Chumleigh in the hall."

"He had returned earlier than I had expected. Calmly I blew out my candle and left the room silently, creeping down the stairs to meet him if he had any intention of coming up."

"I had scarcely steadied myself when Mr. Chumleigh turned on the gas, and muttering something to himself, crept up the stairs as cautiously as I had previously descended. When he was well on his way I crept downwards once again, and when I heard him strike the light in his late wife's room, I noiselessly let myself out by the front door, and as noiselessly closed it behind me."

"You look surprised, sir," he continued, "but it was not a bad night's work. I netted over three hundred pounds sterling for my plunder, and I had the satisfaction of not having robbed his dead wife's treasured rings. This in itself was a satisfaction. Of course I had committed felony, and a shameful crime, I admit; but the business of a burglar and the business of a moralist cannot be expected to agree in every particular."

"The morning papers told us of the burglary of the preceding night. As a neighbor, I went up to sympathize. A sturdy policeman was standing at the door, and two others were making search inside."

"Here's where the cove has put off his boots," said one of the policemen, and a nice blooming pair of beetle crushers they are."

"They certainly did not look respectable in daylight."

"He has come through this window here," said another, in a strong Irish accent, to Mr. Chumleigh, "left his boots here and gone up the stairs in his bare feet."

"And the coolness of the fellow!" added the other. "Why, he has sat down and ate his tucker on the bed with the Morning News for a clane tablecloth."

"Then the detectives went upstairs, and came downstairs, and measured, and studied, and looked wise. And one saw it was a new hand and said so from the first; and the other said it was an old hand, and shook his head. Everybody was satisfied on one point, and that was that the perpetrator of the act was a shoemaker who lived on the Beasley road."

"And do you mean to tell me, Mr. Ollacram, that this narrative is actually true?" I asked him, angrily, as I moved farther from one whose very touch seemed now contamination."

"True, sir?" Mr. Ollacram replied. "Every word of it—as true as those other detective yarns we are reading in the magazines to-day. And if this is the period for an artistic detective, why should we not invent an equally artistic and equally intelligent burglar?"

"Then I knew that Mr. Ollacram had been jokingly taking a hand at his person, but I send you his tale notwithstanding.—Charles C. Russell, in Cassell's Magazine."

DRUNKENNESS AND CRIME.

Some Facts Gathered from the Statistics of the Branch Prison.

INTEMPERANCE THE MOTHER OF CRIME

Large Majority of Convicts Have Been Intemperate and Have No Regular Occupation.

THEY HAVE NO TRADE.

The report of the board of control of the branch state prison for the two years ended June 30, 1894, has just been received at this office. The financial and industrial features of this report have previously been discussed in these columns from the advance sheets and information supplied by the members of the board. But there are some curious and interesting things to be found in the statistical tables appended to the report, compiled by George W. Freeman, the efficient clerk of the prison.

These tables prove once more what has often been shown before, that the bulk of the criminal population consists of men who have no honest trade and who are intemperate in the use of intoxicating liquors. During the two years covered there were received at the prison 205 convicts. Out of this number 164 were intemperate in their habits and 161 had no trade. In the table of previous occupations 139 are listed as laborers and 10 of no occupation. On the ordinary understanding of skilled and unskilled labor it is probable that about 10 men to whom occupations are assigned in the table should really be added to the list of common laborers or those of no occupation.

The classification of nativities shows that of this total of 205 received 83 were born in the United States, 11 in England, 19 in Ireland, 3 in Scotland, 7 in Germany, 21 in the three Scandinavian countries, 5 in Italy, 31 in Canada, 17 in Finland, 5 in France, 3 in Poland, 1 in Russia and 1 in Austria. The lists do not distinguish children of foreign born parents from those of natives.

The classification of crimes is necessarily a little indefinite, since there are 37 entered as "disorderly." This is a very indefinite term but is undoubtedly taken from the commitments. Offenses against property were of course the more numerous, there being 95 such as compared with 45 against the person and 65 of a miscellaneous character, most of which were probably the kind called "against civil order," such as vagrants, common drunkards, keepers of houses of ill fame and other disorderly persons. Of the 131 convicts in the prison June 30 last 15 were there on second convictions. There were on that date five life sentence men in the prison, two for 25 years, two for 15 years, one for 13, one for 14 and ten for 10 years. It is rather curious that only one of these long term prisoners is a second convict.

The following paragraph in the report of the board of control under the head "sanitary condition" deserves quotation:

"The sanitary condition of the prison is excellent, as will be seen by the physician's report submitted with that of the warden. No epidemic of any description has prevailed, nor has a single death occurred in the prison during the two years for which the report is made. The latter fact may possibly tend to discourage those who are serving life sentences in the institution."

Which member of the board is responsible for the rather grim but very real humor of the last sentence? THE MINING JOURNAL leaves its readers to guess.

Dangerous Sport.

The parents of children who are coasting on Pine street had better look to it that some of the youngsters do not come home on stretchers or make themselves eligible to a quiet corner in the cemetery. Coasters on that street must cross the electric car track on Hewitt avenue at full speed and the block is so nearly filled with houses that the children can neither see the cars nor the motormen the children until too late to avoid a dangerous and probably fatal accident. Several very narrow escapes have occurred but the coasting continues—probably because the very considerable element of danger adds zest to the sport. If the parents will not the police should put a peremptory stop to coasting on that or any other street which crosses the car tracks.

The Weather for December.

Chief Harrington of the weather bureau requests the publication of the following data, compiled from the record of observations for the month of December, taken at the Marquette station for a period of twenty-three years. It is believed that the facts thus set forth will prove of interest to the public, as well as the special student, showing as they do the average and extreme conditions of the more important meteorological elements and the range within which such variations may be expected to keep during any corresponding month:

TEMPERATURE—Mean or normal, 23 degrees. The warmest December was that of 1877, with an average of 33 degrees. The coldest December was that of 1872, with an average of 12 degrees. The highest temperature during any December was 50 degrees on the 23rd, 1875. The lowest temperature during any December was 20 degrees on the 28th, 1890. The average date on which the first "killing" frost occurred (in autumn) was Sept. 17. The average date on which the last "killing" frost occurred (in spring) was May 22.

PRECIPITATION (rain and melted snow)—Average for the month, 3.25 inches. Average number of days with .01 of an inch or more, 16. The greatest monthly precipitation was 8.55 inches in 1884. The least monthly precipitation was 0.42 inches in 1871. The greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any twenty-four consecutive hours was 2.18 inches on Dec. 6 and 7, 1884. The greatest amount of snowfall recorded in twenty-four consecutive hours (record extending to winter of 1884-5 only) was 12 inches on Dec. 27, 1888, and Dec. 26, 1889.

CLOUDS AND WEATHER—Average number of cloudless days, 5. Average number of partly cloudy days, 9. Average number of cloudy days, 19.

WIND—The prevailing winds have been from the west. The highest velocity of the wind during any December was west, 34 miles, on Dec. 8, 1875.

Brighter than diamonds—the growing fame of Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

A Beautiful Day.

The bright sunshiny weather which should have been on hand for Thanksgiving appeared yesterday. The air was still and the sun shone clear from morning until night. The lake was almost as quiet as a mill pond and a number of sail and row boats were out in the harbor and even beyond the breakwater. It was the sort of a day which the Lake Superior man means when he brags about the glorious winter climate of this region to the uninitiated outsider from the damp and miasmatic regions to the southward.
