BRYAN IN PENNSYLVANIA.
He Delivers Three Stirring Speeches in Erie to as Many Different Audiences.

THOUSANDS CROWD THE HALLS TO HEAR HIM.

Demonstrations at Syracuse and Rochester Wind Up His Great Tour of New York State—Text of His Addresses.

ANOTHER DAY OF OVATIONS.
ERIE, Pa., Aug. 26.—William J. Bryan made speeches today at three cities of two states—Syracuse and Rochester in New York and Erie in Pennsylvania—and incidentally traveled several hundred miles to meet the thousands who had gathered from the surrounding country to hear him at each place. The day's demonstration culminated in Erie, where the meeting of 350 delegates of Democratic societies of Pennsylvania made the presence of the candidate particularly opportune. Here Mr. Bryan made three stirring speeches to as many different audiences in the evening, being driven quickly from one hall to another. At the Auditorium, where an audience of 4,500 persons had crowded into the hall, he made his principal speech. Mr. Bryan said in part:

I esteem it a great privilege to be permitted to meet tonight with the members of the clubs assembled here from all over the state of Pennsylvania, because I know what these meetings mean. In my judgment we are entering upon a campaign which will be memorable in the history of this country for many reasons; not only because of the issue involved, but there are other reasons. This campaign demonstrates as no campaign has done within the last generation the capacity of the people for self government (Great applause and cheering).

Is there a man in all this land who doubts that the American people can rise to the requirements of any emergency? If so, I bid him to cast his eyes upon the seventy millions of people thinking out their own salvation (Great applause). Is there a man who believes party machinery can govern the people? I bid him to look until he can see the great common people breaking every machine that stands in their way (Great applause and cheering).

THE CAUSE OF THE PEOPLE.

Is there a man who believes that the age of oratory is gone? I point him to every precinct in this nation where he will find the modern Demosthenes. Oratory will live so long as there is a cause which appeals to the human heart. Come to my state and I will show you the banker and the money lender who will go forth to preach the gospel of bimetalism as never preached in any other gospel in life (Great applause). I will show you the briefless barrister who, armed with right, will meet the attorney of corporations and crush him before any audience (Great applause). I will show you the business man who never came from behind his counter before, but he, feeling that the welfare of his family, the welfare of posterity depends upon the settlement of this cause, can come from his store, rise before an audience and make a speech that has been answered by any man who would fasten the shackles upon seventy millions of free men (Great applause). I will take you to the carpenter who, as he works at his bench, will revolve in his mind these questions and come nearer finding what is the honest dollar than the man who represents syndicates and bows to the dictation of Lombard street.

TARIFF QUESTION IS SECONDARY.

I know a western town where the people congregated upon the streets and blocked up the sidewalks talking the money question, and when they got so numerous they had to put them off the sidewalks and blocked up streets one hundred feet wide, in order to allow some business to go on the city council hired a hall for those people to meet in every day to discuss the money question in that way. You cannot drive the tariff question into the campaign with a pile driver. It's not more taxes the people want. It's more money to pay the taxes they already have today. I want you to go home and take with you a determination to leave no effort undone to carry out the principle which you espouse.

We have a cause that appeals to the hearts of men. It's that love of justice which society is built on—without which there could be no such thing as government—and that sense of justice is offended by any legislation that seeks to give to a few people the prosperity that ought to be the heritage of all the people. When the people choose their sides in this campaign, after having studied the question and understanding it, they will take the side to which their sympathies lead them.

SECRETARY CARLISLE QUOTED.

You might not accept my authority; I will give you authority that our opponents, at least, will not question. Hon. John G. Carlisle in 1875 made a speech in congress and in the course of that speech used these words:

"If this measure (which was the Bland act) could be entrusted for its enforcement to a public official who was in sympathy with the struggling masses who produce the wealth and pay the taxes of the country, rather than with the idle holders of idle capital, there would be but little difficulty, because he would coin the maximum instead of the minimum provided by the amendment."

Do you comprehend what he has said in those words? Mr. Carlisle divided society into two classes. He said that on the money question the idle holders of idle capital were on one side and the struggling masses who produce the wealth and pay the taxes of the country were on the other side. My friends, I believe those words contain a great deal of philosophy. Show me a man whose sympathies are with the struggling masses and I will show you a man who will never stand up for syndicates and consent to let them control the financial policy of the United States (Great applause).

Do you think Mr. Carlisle praised the struggling masses too highly? No, my friends. He said that the struggling masses produce wealth. They do. Did you ever hear a man go before the public and say his sympathies were against the people? No, that is a sin that no man will confess even to his closest friend. You have got to find it out, not by what he says but by what he does. If you find a man who makes his money out of extraneousities of the government he will never tell you that he is opposed to the Chicago platform, because that is opposed to bond issues in times of peace and trafficking with syndicates. He will say he is opposed to the Chicago platform because those who stand upon it are anarchists and want to ruin the country.

Now, my friends, you know the crime of being a young man is one that while you can grow out of it you can never defend it. But I want our opponents to understand right now that the fact I am a young man does not mean that there is going to be child's play in this campaign (Cheers). We expect to wage unceasing warfare against every man who declares either for a gold standard or for foreign domination in domestic affairs. We shall not object if any Democrat leaves the party. Any man who feels more at home in the Republican party than he does in our house is not a welcome guest. All we ask is that when a Democrat leaves the Democratic party he shall have the candor to tell why he does it and not slander the following masses of the United States (Applause).

HE SPEAKS TO THOUSANDS.

Last Day of Bryan's Triumphant Tour Through the Empire State.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Candidate Bryan left Utica this morning. He spoke to several thousand people at the depot before the departure of the train. During the course of his speech he said:

We believe the free coinage of silver would bring gold to this country, and that, too, without the aid of syndicates.

In Hanover square, Syracuse, eight thousand people gathered to hear Mr. Bryan. He said in part:

I thought it might be well for one who is accused of being the candidate of a body of anarchists to show himself that you may judge whether he looks like one who is bent upon destroying the government under which he lives. I believe, my friends, there is no one in all this land who is more in love with our institutions than I. Show me a man who is interested in stock exchanges, in syndicates and in the great combinations of money grabbing in the country and Europe and I will show you one who is opposed to the Chicago ticket and charges us with being anarchists. I say these men are the greatest enemies this country has.

You live here in a community which is both agricultural and manufacturing and I appeal to you to examine the money question and ascertain for yourselves whether the restoration of silver is not good for you. I ask you to point if you can to a single instance in the history of the world where the people have prospered by an appreciable standard. What we want is a dollar that will maintain its parity with the property which that dollar is to buy.

We are opposed to a gold standard because it has never conferred one benefit upon those who produce the wealth of the world. Gold has been the prize of the man who hoards money; silver has been the medium of exchange among those upon whom the greatness of our nation has rested. There is nobody with us but the people, my friends, and they are the ones for whom this government was instituted. We are content to have it left in their hands.

GREAT CROWD AT ROCHESTER.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The Bryan party left Syracuse at 12:30 and reached Rochester at 2:15. The greatest crowd of the trip surrounded the Rochester depot and followed the party to Brown Square. Mr. Bryan was presented by ex-Secretary of State Frederick Cook. He spoke, in part, as follows:

There is one thing I like about advocates of bimetalism. Whenever you find a man who believes in the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation on earth, you find a man who believes in the policy to be good for himself and also believes it to be good for others also.

Ask a farmer why he wants bimetalism. He says: "Because it is good for me." Ask a laboring man why he wants bimetalism: he says he thinks it will be good for him. Ask a business man why he likes bimetalism, and he says: "I make my living out of those to whom I sell, not those from whom I borrow. Therefore bimetalism is good for me because it enables people to buy what I have to sell."

And you ask these financiers why they want a gold standard. Some of them will tell you that the free coinage of silver would be good for them, but that they do not want anything which would be good for them. They say they want a gold standard because it is good for the farmer, good for the laboring man, good for the business man. You tell them that these people are willing to risk bimetalism, and then these people rise to the full height of their moral stature and say the people must have a gold standard and they will ram a gold standard down the throat of the people whether they want it or not, because they love the people (Laughter). When I find a man who says he wants a thing because it is good for him I think he is a pretty natural sort of a fellow. But when a man says he wants a thing because it is good for me and tells me he is only feeling for me I am careful to see that he doesn't reach me (Great laughter).

The platform on which I stand declares against the issuance of bonds in a time of peace. The plank was not put in there to catch the votes of men who belong to syndicates, but we believe that for every Democrat who has profited by the financial policy of the government and who will desert the party because of our denunciation of that policy we shall receive the votes of ten honest Republicans who love their country better than their party.

If bimetalism is a good thing, how are you going to secure it? Just one way. You have got to secure it through the aid of those who want it and not through the aid of those who do not want it. We believe in the immediate restoration of bimetalism; that is, in the immediate opening of our mints to the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, and we do not believe in waiting for it.

The party had only an hour in Rochester. The party was taken by special train to a meeting of Democratic clubs at Erie, Pa. Half a dozen stops were made on the journey and Mr. Bryan delivered several speeches to the assembled thousands.

A FUSION TICKET NAMED.

Democratic, Populist and Silver Conventions at Bay City Reach an Agreement.

CHAS. R. SLIGH OF GRAND RAPIDS FOR GOVERNOR.

An Ironwood Man, Otto Karste, Nominated for Treasurer—"Democratic-Union Silver Party" the Name Selected.

THEY MET IN JOINT SESSION.

BAY CITY, Mich., Aug. 26.—The conferees appointed by the three conventions yesterday reached an agreement this morning. The name of the ticket will be the "Democratic People's Union Silver party." The Populists will be given three electors and have the nomination for auditor general. The three conventions are to meet in joint session to nominate a state ticket. The Populists and silver men together are to have a representation equal to that of the Democrats.

The Democratic state convention re-assembled and adopted the report of the conference committee and took a recess pending the joint meeting of the three parties.

The Populist convention deferred action on the report but invited the silver men to meet with them at 3 p. m. At the appointed hour they met in joint session. After considerable wrangling the report of the conference committee was adopted. The delegates then marched in a body to the Democratic convention hall.

At 7:30 o'clock, without nominating a ticket, the joint convention took a recess for supper. Upon reconvening the following ticket was placed in nomination:

Governor—Chas. R. Sligh (Republican silver Grand Rapids).
Lieutenant Governor—Justin R. Whitling, St. Clair.
Treasurer—Otto Karste, Ironwood.
Auditor—Alfred E. Cole, Fowlerville.
Attorney General—Alfred J. Murphy, Detroit.

LOSS IN THE MILLIONS.

Fire Fled Spared Only a Few Houses in Ontonagon Suburbs.

ROCHESTER, Mich., Aug. 26.—The fire which destroyed Ontonagon originated in neighboring swamps. A forty mile gale from the west sent the flames into the planing mills, box factory and dry kilns of the Diamond Match company. From them they descended on the business and residence quarters of the city and finally lodged in sixty-five million feet of the Diamond Match company's sawed lumber. Barely a dozen houses in the outskirts of the city remain standing. Hardly one person in twenty saved any of their effects. Eighteen hundred men, women and children are left without food or shelter, and many insufficiently clothed suffered severely last night. The loss to the Diamond Match company in mills and other buildings is nearly two millions and in lumber nearly one million. The loss on the balance of the village is two millions; insurance light. Provisions and tents have already been forwarded for the homeless.

WATSON IS ANGRY.

Wants to Be Officially Notified of Nomination—Makes Charges.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 26.—Thomas E. Watson, in his paper, this evening makes a serious charge against Chairman Butler of the Populistic national committee, declaring that the senator has mis-stated facts when quoted as saying it has never been customary to notify a Populist nominee and cites the fact that General Weaver and General Field were notified in 1892. Mr. Watson appeals to the committee to do its duty, and concludes:

"Why does Senator Allen, chairman of the notification committee, refuse to do what the convention instructed him to do? Is he afraid Mr. Bryan will repudiate our support? If so, our party has a right to know that fact. If Mr. Bryan is ashamed of the votes which are necessary to elect him we ought to know it."

RIOTS IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

Revolutionists Seize the Ottoman Bank—Bazaars Are Raided.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 26.—At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon a score of men, armed with revolvers and bombs, invaded the Ottoman bank, killing a number of gendarmes on guard. The invaders mounted the roof of the building and from the windows fired at the police in the street below. The police returned the fire and several were killed and wounded. The riot then became general, shops were sacked and bazaars invaded and the wildest excitement prevailed throughout certain quarters of the city. At 5 o'clock the bank is reported still in the hands of the invaders. A later report says there is no doubt but that the movement was revolutionary; that it had its origin at a secret meeting of the Hinchakist Armenians.

GOLD MINE IN ILLINOIS.

Paying Dirt Found Along Sugar Creek in Logan County. A Sample of the Clay Tested by an Experienced Assayer Shows $26.93 of Gold and Thirty-One Cents of Silver to the Ton.

With the name of "a gold mine" there is usually the association of hills and mountains, and for that reason it is not to be expected that a gold deposit will be uncovered in the great prairie state of Illinois.

The lake is fed by the cold, clear water of the springs, and there is an abundant supply for carrying on any mining that can be done in the gulch, while the creek beyond receives the surplus water, which works its way over the dam at the foot of the little lake.

Long before the place was fitted up for the accommodation of parties of picnickers it had been known that shining grains of gold could be washed from the sandy clay which formed the bed of the little streams at the bottom of the gulch.

For years little was done with it, but finally Tom Quisenberry, the old man who owned the land, made some experiments in panning out the dirt which convinced him that it was rich with precious grains of gold.
