WEYLER IS IN DISFAVOR.

Currently Reported at Madrid He Is to Soon Be Relieved from Command.

MUCH DISCONTENT WITH HIS POLICY IN CUBA.

Bitter Feeling in Mexico Against Spain—Many Applicants at the Junta in New York for Enlistment in Insurgent Army.

MAY LOSE HIS OFFICIAL HEAD.

MADRID, Dec. 15.—According to surface indications, General Weyler will soon be relieved from his command in Cuba. Discontent with Weyler is noticeable even in the government organs. They say that instead of going to Havana to receive an unmerited ovation, he ought to have continued his military operations in the province of Pinar del Rio. A bad impression is also created here by dispatches from Spanish correspondents at Havana announcing that Weyler had suppressed all dispatches referring to omissions in Spain in honor of Major Cirujeda. It is supposed the captain general's action is due to jealousy, and it is currently reported the government is disposed to replace Weyler by General Marin, now governor of the Cuban province of Porto Rico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 15.—There are unconfirmed reports circulating here tonight that a mob in Barcelona had assaulted the Mexican consul on account of his Cuban sympathies. Considerable ill-feeling against the Spaniards has been aroused here by anonymous circulars containing phrases insulting to the Mexican nation and government. Spaniards claim the Cubans got it up to further inflame the public mind against them. Telegrams from San Luis Potosi tonight say this document, together with imprudent articles in Correo de Espana, have contributed to bring about a state of high tension there and grave fears are expressed the police will have to be called on to prevent a collision between the populace and resident Spaniards. Further cause for irritation is an attack made on a laboring man in this city who, having shouted "Viva Cuba," was set upon by two Spaniards and beaten. Popular sympathy is especially enthusiastic with the Cubans, and their cause is immensely popular since it has come to be believed Maceo was betrayed to his death.

KEY WEST, Dec. 15.—Fighting is reported west of the trocha in Pinar del Rio where the insurgents under Maceo's successor, General Rivera, have taken the field against the Spanish forces left there by Weyler. No details are received, but fifty wounded soldiers came in yesterday from the neighborhood of Artemisa. It is stated in Havana Weyler has called in some of the troops now stationed outside the city, fearing an attack by Gomez, who is reported as coming eastward with a large force, well-armed and provisioned. Insurgents have already occupied several small towns held by Spaniards in the eastern part of the province of Havana, and had hardly any defeats.

HAVANA, Dec. 15.—The steamer Alfonso Doce arrived here today with 1,200 recruits, being the last installment of the 25,000 reinforcements dispatched from Spain in the last three weeks. The second trial of the crew of the American schooner Competitor is still in its preliminary stages and consequently, according to Spanish law proceedings, is private. It is expected the case will shortly pass into open court, when all features of the case will be made public. The stories circulated in the United States of the secret trial, sentence and approaching execution of the prisoners are wholly false.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The officers of the Cuban junta were besieged today by applicants for enlistment in the Cuban army. All were dismissed, with the information that no men were wanted. Cuban officials said today they had been quite overwhelmed with applications and during the last twenty-four hours nearly eight hundred men had applied for enlistment, all of whom were refused, owing to the law prohibiting enlistments here for service in foreign armies.

MADRID, Dec. 15.—News have been received here that 150 prisoners revolted at Cavite, island of Luzon, in the Philippine group, and killed six soldiers, seized arms and tried to raise the natives against the garrison. The revolters were shot down in the streets and a general massacre followed during the night. Scores of corpses were picked up; many prisoners were recaptured and shot the following morning.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 15.—At a big Cuban mass meeting tonight, called by Mayor Simrall, resolutions were passed that Cuba must be free and that the United States should help Cuba to freedom, by peaceful measures if she could, by forcible measures if she must. Colonel Tom Davidson after the meeting burned a Spanish flag amid huzzas.

TO JOIN MRS. MCKINLEY TO CHICAGO.

CANTON, O., Dec. 15.—When Major McKinley goes to Chicago, as he now expects to, this week, starting Thursday night, no special arrangements for traveling will be made and in all probability he will occupy a berth in one of the regular trains leaving here during the early evening. The object of the trip is to join Mrs. McKinley for a few days visit with her cousin, Captain and Mrs. McWilliams, as well as to obtain some rest from the continuous strain of receiving and entertaining callers. It is also believed Mr. McKinley desires some diversion and rest to better prepare for drafting his inaugural address, to which he is now giving some attention. This document, it is now believed, will be well under way towards completion before the work of forming the cabinet takes more tangible form.

National Chairman Hanna came here today to confer on inauguration arrangements, particularly those decided upon during his recent visit to the capital. The location of the inaugural reception is not fully determined, and the library building is still in view.

PROTECTION FOR LUMBER.

Next Congress Will Be Urged to Place It on the Dutiable List.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15.—A national convention of lumber interests met here this morning to arrange plans to secure adequate protection for lumber in the next tariff bill. The committee on permanent organization reported a list of officers, headed by W. C. Goodyear of Buffalo for president. The committee recommended the appointment of a committee on ways and means to represent the lumbermen before congress and to have general charge of the interests of the organization. All officers were made ex-officio members of this committee. After the unanimous adoption of this report President Goodyear was escorted to the platform. He spoke of the protection accorded iron and other industries and the discrimination against lumber, the largest of American industries.

The report of the committee on resolutions was then taken up. It was criticised at first as lacking vim and comprehensiveness. These criticisms were answered by the statement that the resolutions were not an appeal to congress, but a manifesto to the general public setting forth the attitude of the lumbermen of the nation. It was further explained that all matters of method and detail be left to the ways and means committee, and the convention never contemplated forestalling or embarrassing that committee by a multitude of resolutions. The resolutions, as adopted, are:

Resolved, That the placing of lumber on the free list by the existing tariff law not only promotes ruinous competition on lumber from Canadian mills, but discriminates against lumber as compared with other manufactures; therefore, be it

Resolved, That each lumber dealer of the United States be urged to furnish to the senators of his state and to the members of congress from his district full information in relation to the needs and condition of the lumber industry to the end that they can consistently assist in the passage of this measure; finally

Resolved, That this convention recognizes the fact that unjust discrimination prevails in some countries in South America and elsewhere as against American lumber, and we are entirely opposed to such unjust discrimination, and we invoke the aid of the United States congress for the purpose of removing the same either by reciprocity or otherwise.

Resolutions were then adopted authorizing the president to call the next meeting, fixing the time and place. The convention then adjourned sine die.

DENY THERE WAS A CONSPIRACY.

Lynch and Sharkey Stick to Their Foul Blow Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—The Fitzsimmons-Sharkey witnesses today gave no sensational testimony, but Fitzsimmons' friends say they are now able to prove a doctor performed an operation on Sharkey to produce external evidence of apparent foul, and that he was paid $1,000 for his service. Lynch, Sharkey's manager, denied all knowledge of conspiracy. He said that neither he nor Sharkey were members of the National club, and declared the referee Sharp had no particular interest in the check for $10,000. On cross-examination by Fitzsimmons' counsel, Lynch was asked if he had ever been prohibited from racing at local tracks, and why. Objection from Sharkey's attorney saved the witness possible embarrassment in replying.

Benjamin, a sporting reporter, witnessed the fight but saw no foul blow struck by Fitzsimmons.

Sharkey's testimony was simply a denial of the stories told by his trainers, Billy Smith and George Allen. He never heard of a conspiracy before the fight, had no talk with Sharp and bet no money on the fight. He declared Fitzsimmons had struck him a foul blow in the groin. When asked why he screamed as if in pain when he was with Dr. Lee in the dressing room after the fight, Sharkey said Dr. Lee had pressed his groin hard during the examination after Fitzsimmons' blow and that the pressure caused him great agony. He stated he still suffered pain from his injuries in the groin.

Several amateur sportsmen testified the recent meeting was not a prize fight, but a glove contest so the court could take cognizance of the present action.

Actor Salvini Is Dead.

FLORENCE, Ita y, Dec. 15.—Alexander Salvini, son of Tomaso Salvini, the great Italian actor, died today from intestinal tuberculosis. He was born in Rome in December, 1861. His wife, formerly Miss Maude Dixon, who was the leading lady of his company and to whom he was recently married, had been in constant attendance upon the sufferer. D'Artagnan in "The Three Guardsmen," was considered young Salvini's most attractive part.

Ats Poisoned Food.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 15.—Two children, Agnes and Mary Novock, died this afternoon at Solvay, near this city, presumably from arsenic poisoning. Joseph Novock, the father, and the mother and three other children are dangerously ill. At least one more will probably die. The whole family was taken sick shortly after breakfast. Suspicion attaches to a woman living in the neighborhood.

SENATOR MORGAN FOR WAR.

Advocates Armed Intervention by United States to End Spanish Brutality in Cuba.

FACTS INDISPUTABLE AND GOVERNMENT'S DUTY PLAIN.

Allen Wants an Inquiry Into the Use of Money in the Recent Election—A Pension Veto Overridden—Other Senate Doings.

SHOULD MEET THE EMERGENCY.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Morgan (Ala.) today addressed the senate on the Cuban question. He said "if a war with the United States is necessary to reconcile the Spanish people to the loss of Cuba by foreign conquest we shall be compelled to meet that emergency." He characterized the Spanish as "robbers, cut-throats, assassins, ravishers and pirates." All their crimes, Morgan declared, would be found to have been authentically stated to our government when the seals of secrecy are broken and they are brought to the knowledge of the world for the vindication of our course "if we are forced to war to put an end to these saturnalia of blood and fire." The senator spoke bitterly of the interference of "supposed business interests" to prevent the government from ending the "horrid and brutal purpose of infuriated men."

Referring to Turkey, he expressed the hope the policy of this government should not be relaxed, and we would not much longer hear of these Turkish offenses against humanity. The senator said he foresaw the time was near at hand when the final stand of the United States must be taken. It was foreshadowed by the message, and the moment might come at any time when the president would take a definite and final stand. When this came the senator would follow the colors of the president, and if it meant war would any American hesitate to respond? In conclusion, Mr. Morgan said:

"In this condition of impotency, to establish permanent peace in Cuba and permanent security for our own people while Spanish monarchy is dominant in that island, we have no alternative left us but the single choice between a continuous repetition of the evils portrayed in the message of the president or a base, humiliating and cruel delay on our part while rapine and destruction are rampant in Cuba in the hope that some fortunate turn of events may relieve us from the duty we owe to humanity, to Christian civilization, to the spirit and traditions of our country, to our people's plea and to the lives and liberties of our own people in Cuba who are now held by the cruel power of Spain. I do not rely upon any authority for what I have said beyond the president's message and the report of the secretary of state. That is enough; the facts are incontrovertible, and our duty is plain. If we fail to act upon them we take the responsibility of the delay to perform a plain duty at the expense of our people whose lives are in constant peril."

At the close of his speech, Morgan asked for the adoption of a resolution presented requesting the secretary of state for the papers in the Competitor case and in other cases involving the arrest of American citizens by Spanish authorities. The resolution was agreed to without division.

The senate then took up the bill pensioning Nancy Alabach, which was vetoed by the president. Palmer (Dem. Ill.), in charge of the bill, answered the suggestion of Cockrell that this was a move to override the president, that the duty of the senator was to act according to his information despite the position of the president. While he had the utmost respect for the president he was not willing that a precedent should be established in which the president should prescribe the rate at which pensions should be established. Mr. Palmer thought the president had acted under a misapprehension in vetoing the bill. After roll call to determine the presence of a quorum, which demonstrated there were fifty-seven senators present, a vote was taken, resulting 41 yeas to 11 nays, after which the chair announced the bill had passed, notwithstanding the president's objections. The negatives were cast by Hate, Berry, Blanchard, Cullton, Faulkner, Harris, Mills, Morgan, Pasco, Vest and Waithall.

Allen (Pop. Neb.) offered a resolution for a committee of nine to "thoroughly investigate the extent to which money, if any, was corruptly used in connection with the recent presidential election, especially to what extent for such purposes the owners of silver mines, gold mines, bankers, manufacturers, railroad and other corporations, millionaires and all classes made contributions and what contributions, if any, were made by persons and corporations residing abroad."

The house concurrent resolution for adjournment from Dec. 22 to Jan. 5 was agreed to.

After an executive session, the senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Loud Bill, to Amend the Second-Class Mail Matter Law, Is Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The house today entered upon the consideration of the Loud bill, to amend the law relating to the transmission of second-class mail matter. The bill has been widely discussed in the public press, and has met with most intense opposition from certain quarters. It denies the right of serial novels, to admission to the mails at a newspaper cent per pound rate, denies to newspapers the sample copy privilege, prohibits the return of unsold publications at the pound rate, and makes some other changes in the present law designed to

WISE COUNSEL.

Chas. D. Lane of San Francisco, who is chairman of the National Bimetallism committee, gives the voters who stood by the silver cause in the late election excellent advice in an address to them.

We earnestly advise all our friends and coadjutors throughout the United States to suspend active agitation of the subject of free coinage of silver any further than a simple mobilizing of the free silver clubs throughout the union.

This is right in line with what THE MINING JOURNAL has urged upon the silver voters since the election result was known.

SOUTHERN HORSEMEN.

Their Recklessness on Green Horses Astonishes Northern Hunters.

It is hard to fathom the spirit of recklessness that most sharply differentiates the southern hunter from his northern brother.

I have known one of my friends in the blue grass to amuse himself by getting into his buggy an unsuspecting friend.

A northern visitor was irritated by the apparent reckless driving of his host, who is a famous horseman in the blue grass.

"You lunatic," he said, "you'd better drive over those stone piles!"

TO DEVELOP THE OSCEOLA LOSE.

C. & H. Preparing to Sink Three Shafts on the Amygdaloid Vein.

The Calumet & Hecla began the preliminary work Monday for three new shafts to be sunk on the Osceola amygdaloid vein. As is generally known, this mine has been developed and has earned its fabulous profits altogether from the Calumet conglomerate lode. This lode extends some distance north and south of the property, but the Centennial mine, adjoining on the north, and the Osceola, which abuts on the southern line, have never been able to get enough copper out of the Calumet conglomerate in their ground to make it pay.

The Calumet & Hecla, however, has the amygdaloid underlying its entire property, the amygdaloid dipping under the conglomerate and outcropping about six hundred feet to the eastward of the richer lense. Drifts have been driven from the underground workings on the conglomerate to the amygdaloid belt, lying to the eastward at three different points, and at each place cut the Osceola lode was found rich in mineral.

It has been a surprise to many not acquainted with the methods and management of the Calumet & Hecla that no attempt has ever been made to develop the great amygdaloid belt, which is fully as rich as in the territory of the Osceola and from which the latter named mine has been able to pay over two million dollars in profits. The policy of this great mine, however, is a consistent one, and with such magnificent reserves of mineral ground as are possessed on the conglomerate lode, it had not been deemed wise to attempt opening an additional lode carrying a much smaller amount of copper until the present time. The work was begun Monday of removing the buildings which occupy the site of one of the three projected shafts, and the actual work of sinking will be started in a short time. The shafts will all follow the incline of the lode, and will be in copper-bearing ground almost from the start, and consequently will in all likelihood pay for their sinking by the copper taken from the ground they pass through.

The work of sinking the three shafts and erecting the necessary engine houses for their operation will probably require a couple of years, for the owners of this big property have ground opened ahead for more than ten years production of copper and need be in no hurry about opening more territory. It does not necessarily follow that the mine will increase its output because of the opening of the amygdaloid vein. It is a fact that No. 10 and 11 shafts, near the southern boundary of the property, were opened for ten years before they began producing copper, and they would have remained unused for a longer time but for the fires of 1887, which rendered the older workings of the mine inaccessible for a number of months, and large forces of miners were put at work on the two shafts named. With its older workings protected from the ravages of fire by a carefully planned system of fire-alarms, fire-doors and pipe lines carrying water for fire protection, and with its vertical Red Jacket shaft, equal to six ordinary mining shafts, nearly ready for production upon an enormous scale whenever it is desired to bring the copper out of that part of the property, even a more serious fire than is likely to occur under almost any circumstances could scarcely operate to seriously hamper the regular production of the mine, and it may be many years before the amygdaloid shafts now being begun will be required to furnish their quota.

Obituary Mention.

John Doyle died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at his home in Hancock from consumption at the age of forty-nine years. The deceased was a carpenter by trade and he had been a resident of Portage lake for the past twenty-five years. He leaves a family, consisting of a wife and seven children, to mourn his loss. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning from St. Patrick's church and will be attended by the members of the C. M. B. A., of which society he was a member.

William Renfrey of Tamarack received a telegram Monday morning informing him of the death of his mother at Lead City, S. D. The deceased was a former resident of Copper Falls.

Another old citizen, Alfred Munch of Calumet, died yesterday morning at the age of sixty-six years. His wife and four adult children survive him. Funeral services will be held this morning from the Catholic church at Hecla.

In Competent Hands.

From present indications the copper country department of the New Year's edition of THE MINING JOURNAL will be one that will reflect great credit upon the ladies in charge. At a recent meeting of St. Agnes' Guild of Houghton, Mrs. Clara G. Bawden of Hancock was appointed editor-in-chief, with Mrs. Lydia Taylor of Houghton and Mrs. Clara S. Baer of Hancock as assistants. Other members of the Guild will act as reporters, and a bright, news department is certain to be the result.

The Title Found Perfect.

The work of examining the title of the Grand Portage property is completed and has been found perfect. Ruppe & Son, former owners of the property, were so notified yesterday morning and arrangements were made for the transfer of the deed to the new syndicate in the afternoon.

Quite a Curiosity.

An old-time relic in the shape of a game bag, once owned by Daniel Webster, is in the possession of A. F. Rees of Houghton. Mr. Webster used the bag in carrying books and legal documents to and from court. The bag is fourteen inches square, canvas back and linen face, with the figures of three dogs and a hunter produced by needle work. The bag shows the effects of time, and Mr. Rees intends having it framed.

Decorated China Sale.

Mrs. J. S. Dunham and Miss Louise Morrow of Green Bay will be at the Douglass House, Houghton, on Thursday and Friday of this week, with a very nice line of decorated china. These ladies have stopped over at several towns on the way up, including Marquette, and report having met with success in disposing of their china. They have a line of decorated china here that is not often to be seen in this city and the execution of which is their own. The ladies will welcome all visitors.

COPPERDOM BREVITIES.

Five funerals were held at Calumet Sunday afternoon.

Valentine Cima and Theresa Nepote of Calumet were married Saturday by Justice Fisher.

The Y. M. C. A. fair in the Calumet Armory is being well patronized.

George Pedley of Hancock underwent amputation of the right arm Monday at St. Mary's hospital.

The members of the Hancock Lyra are preparing for their entertainment to be given New Year's eve at Germania Hall.

Ed Shepard, teller of the Merchants & Miners' bank of Calumet, who has been seriously ill during the past two weeks, is now convalescent.

The clerical force of the Quincy Mining company is moving into the new office this week. The office is said to be the finest on the upper peninsula.

"The Jolly Old Chums" at Calumet, Jan. 11 and Houghton, Jan. 12. The performance, which is of the farce comedy nature, comes highly recommended.

The child of Dan Holland of Hancock who was afflicted with diphtheria is now out of danger. This is the only case at present, and there are no cases in Houghton.

Peter Debenardi, who conducts a saloon on the main street of Red Jacket, was fined $25 and costs yesterday morning by Justice Curtis for keeping a house for the resort of prostitutes. The arrest was made by Marshal Ward.

Sheriff-elect Fred Lean returned from Detroit Sunday evening. Regarding the Detroit real estate sold to Portage lake people by Mr. Richards of Detroit, and which was reported to be almost worthless, Mr. Lean says he examined the property and found it to be all that was claimed for it. Local holders, he says, need have no reason to regret their purchases.

Cauliflowers.

There are few more delicious vegetables than a well-grown cauliflower, but unfortunately it wants to go off to the mountains with fashionable society when hot weather arrives. If its desires are not gratified, it speedily runs to seed. In most parts of the United States, therefore, it is a rather scarce vegetable. In the more northern portion, however, very good results may be had by sowing under glass about the time tomatoes are sown. Young plants set out early in very rich earth will generally do fairly well, especially if very early varieties are selected. In the warmer regions they can only be had by sowing in September, and then growing the plants under frames. The heads then come in for use in early spring. It is possible that in some southern localities good cauliflower could be had wholly outdoors in winter time.—Mechan's Monthly.

PRINTING OFFICE FOR SALE.

A small job printing office, completely equipped for the usual run of commercial work. The office was gathered together by H. W. Harvey, who was a cripple and who took this means of occupying his time and adding to his income. He has since died, and the office is for sale. It contains a fine assortment of plain and fancy type faces; leads, slugs, rules, etc., in sufficient quantity; a first class Gordon press (foot power); a power paper cutter, lead cutter, tableting press, etc., together with cabinets and various other aids to the work of a job printing office. The press is new, not 10,000 impressions having been made on it, and the material all in first class condition. The parties holding the office can make no use of it, and it will be sold at a great bargain. It is a fine chance for some young man who has a taste for printing to procure a good working outfit at a nominal figure. Address inquiries to L. D. Harvey, Chocolay, Mich. Mr. Johns of the Marquette Mining Journal, may be referred to as to the value and condition of the office.

ASSISTANCE CAME TOO LATE.

Suicide of a Friend Teaches a Stock Broker a Lesson.

They were old acquaintances, and in happier times had no time to loaf about the parks, but this summer the speculator was out of luck. He said it was no use at all for him to go down to the board, consequently he was in the habit of meeting the retired stock broker every afternoon in Lincoln park. The stock broker, being well-to-do—that is, owning a row of houses—could well afford to take life easy, looking on at the hardships of the toiling masses with perfect complacency.

These two old cronies would resort to the same bench every pleasant afternoon, to watch the pretty bicycle girls, and other girls, for that matter, and boast of their conquests to each other, both being great admirers of the fair sex. As the summer wore into autumn and the days became shorter it sometimes seemed to the stock broker that his friend's conversation had in it a tinge of melancholy, though he never uttered a word of complaint.

One day on his way to the park the stock broker stopped to take a drink, and at the bar met an acquaintance who knew of his intimacy with the speculator. He confided to him that he observed his friend closely and was convinced that he needed help and that immediately. Fully resolved to extend a helping hand that very afternoon, he hurried away, reaching the rendezvous a little later than usual. But the bench was empty—his friend was not there.

Time passed; he glanced at the velvety lawns, the gay flower beds, the waveless lake and the constantly passing bicyclists, but everything looked gloomy and unattractive. Almost impatient at the delay of his friend, he was suddenly startled by the loud report of a shot. The sound seemed to come from a clump of bushes not far away. He saw workmen running to the spot, and following them with trembling limbs, he heard one say: "The poor fellow has shot himself."

As they lifted the body of a man from the grass he recognized the face of his friend, his old comrade. His good resolution had been formed too late! His friend was beyond earthly assistance!

That night the stock broker's wife sat down to a solitary dinner. Eight o'clock passed and still he was not there, she retired to her room to wait for him. Near midnight she heard the house door open and recognized the steps of her husband on the stairs. Instead of coming directly to her he entered a rear room and closed the door.

Then everything was quiet again. She waited for some minutes and then went and opened the door. The room was dark, but by the moonlight she saw her husband sitting at the window holding a glistening object in his hand. She sprang forward grasped the weapon, exclaiming: "Heavens, what are you doing?"

"Charles has killed himself," said he. "I saw him, and he looked so—so reproachfully at me. I could have helped him yesterday, but now it is too late—too late."

What was the mysterious power which caused this careless man of the world to lose all self-control, even to the extent of attempting self-destruction?—Chicago Chronicle.

ITALY'S TOMB SPIDER.

A Thing So Odd That It Is Believed to Exist Only in Imagination.

The people of Italy believe in the existence of a wonderful creature which, for the want of a better name, is called the tomb spider. The entomologists know nothing of this queer beast, and declare that it only exists in the fancy of the superstitious persons and those whose curiosity or business makes it necessary for them to explore old ruins, tombs, catacombs, etc. According to the popular account the tomb spider is of a pure white color, has wings like those of a bat, a dozen horrid crooked legs and a body three or four times the size of the largest tropical American tarantula.

The accounts of this queer insect and his out-of-the-way places of abode are by no means common, and on that account the information concerning him which we will be able to give the "curious" is very meager. An Italian will tell you that such a creature exists, however, and that he is occasionally met with in old mines and caverns, as well as in tombs and subterranean ruins. The London Saturday Review has an article from a correspondent who was present when some Roman workmen unearthed a church of the fifth century. He says: "We were standing by one of the heavy pillars that had originally supported the roof, when something flashed down from the pitchy darkness overhead and paused full in the candlelight beside us, at about a level with our eyes. It was distinctly as visible as a thing could be at a distance of three feet, and appeared to be an insect about half the size of a man's fist, white as wax and with its many long legs gathered in a bunch as it crouched on the stone. * * * Our guide had seen, or at least heard of, this uncanny insect of ill-omen before, but was by no means reconciled by its presence, as his actions proved. He glanced around uncomfortably for a moment, and then moved away, we following. It seemed really a bit queer, but it is said that the strongest nerves give way in the presence of this insect of such ghostly mien. Even today this uncanny apparition is said to be an unclassified monster—an eternal mystery. When the grave spider is encountered by those opening tombs and vaults it is thought to be a 'sign' of death to one of the workmen or some member of his family."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Didn't Get Her Present. Mamma—Well, Edith, how did you like the kindergarten? "I didn't like it a bit. The teacher put me on a chair and told me to sit there for the present. And I sat and sat, and she never gave me the present."—N. Y. Tribune.

POMEROY LOSSES HIS SEAT.

Credentials of the National Waiters' Association President Are Rejected.

HOT SESSION OF THE LABOR FEDERATION CONVENTION.

The Fight Against the Chicago Man as One of Mark Hanna's Lieutenants Brought to a Successful Termination.

A STORMY POLITICAL DEBATE.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15.—This was the second day of the convention of the American Federation of Labor. The opening session was rather brief and devoted to reports of committees. On re-assembling Delegate Waite offered a resolution re-affirming the boycott on the American Tobacco company; referred. The Milwaukee delegates reported the Schlitz Brewing company had acceded to the scale of the Coopers' union, and that case was withdrawn from the grievance committee. The committee on credentials then reported its finding on the case of President Pomerooy of the Waiters' association, without recommendation. The charges of the Illinois state federation and others were submitted for final action.

A long discussion followed. Vice President McGuire presided during the stormy debate that continued till night over the report on Pomerooy, who had credentials from the Waiters' union. With dozens on their feet at the same time claiming recognition and raising all sorts of points, it was difficult to maintain order, but McGuire's quick ruling held the contestants to business. While every effort was made to keep politics out of the federation there was little but politics in the session.

Delegate Weissman, of the Bakers' union of Brooklyn, opened the stormy debate by charging that Pomerooy had been pursued by the Chicago organization and by the Illinois federation because he had worked for the Republicans in the last campaign; and now the fight against Pomerooy as one of Mark Hanna's men was carried to the American federation by his political opponents. Delegate Morrison, of the Typographical union, called attention to a campaign document issued last fall by Pomerooy which he signed as general organizer of the federation and for which his commission had been revoked.

Then followed a free-for-all, in which all wanted the floor at the same time. Delegate Woodbury, as prosecuting witness and contestant, made a terrific assault against Pomerooy as a broker and schemer. Other fiery speeches followed until Delegate Duncan offered an amendment to the report to accept Pomerooy's credentials and refer his case to the Waiters' union for final action. After several had discussed the silver question Delegate Ewing protested against the trial of any one in his absence. Pomerooy being still confined to his hotel by a sprained ankle.

Chairman O'Sullivan, of the committee on credentials, insisted that as the Waiters' union was in good standing they should be allowed their duly accredited representative. O'Sullivan said he had voted for Bryan and Pomerooy for McKinley, and it Pomerooy had supported Bryan these charges would not have been heard of. This brought Woodbury and dozens of others to their feet with such interruptions that O'Sullivan could not proceed.

When the previous question was ordered to shut off the clamor Delegate Warner said that when the committee on credentials went to Pomerooy's room today to get the contested statement, Pomerooy had called on his attendant to get his revolver. Out of 2,400 votes, only 197 were cast for Duncan's amendment. Then the motion of Morrison, which was the main question, to reject the credentials of Pomerooy, was carried by only 198 dissenting votes, out of a total of 2,400, and the report of the committee on credentials adopted.

There is much jollifying over the unseating of Pomerooy, as the vote was an endorsement of the previous action of the general officers and executive council.

LONDON CITY COMPANIES.

Some of Their Peculiar Rights Are Still Being Exercised.

Among the powers still exercised is the right of members of the Vintners' company to sell foreign wine and spirits without a license. There are still many "free vintners" throughout the country who do not come under the jurisdiction of the licensing authorities. From time immemorial this company also enjoyed the exclusive right of "loading and landing, pitching and turning" wines and spirits imported to and exported from the city of London. Its franchise is still exercised by its tackle-porters. The gunmakers, too, have kept their right to test and approve guns at their proof house. They formerly had the right to punish any man who made a gun without having been apprenticed to the trade and to prevent persons hawking guns for sale. Another company exercising important powers is the Scriveners', which prevents any man practicing as a notary in the city unless he is a member of the company and duly qualified.

The Fishmongers' company has always had control of the fish trade, and a reminder of this issue came in the form of a notice recently issued, addressed to "fishermen, fishmongers, dealers in fish and others," warning them against the capture of unseasonable and unclean salmon, and of migratory fish of the genus salmon, and its sale, either in London or the provinces. They do not, however, as in olden times, impose fines "of their own right," but initiate prosecutions before the legal tribunals. Their functions in the matter of the seizure of unseasonable fish are also largely undertaken now by the inspectors and officers of local authorities.

One of the latest powers exercised was by the Butchers' company, which in the reign of George III. got an act passed which was known as the "flaying act," by which, in concert with the cordwainers and curriers, they had the power to levy fines on persons "willfully, negligently or carelessly" gashing the skins of animals when flaying them. This act was repealed in 1834. Before the commission of sewers took over the duty, this company used to search for and seize bad meat, but they found a difficulty in recovering their costs. Still more curious powers of this company were those for preventing "forestalling, discommending other men's meat," and "conspiring not to sell meat except at a certain price." They had further the power to tax butchers for the removal of the general offal. The cordwainers regulated the sale of boots and shoes up to the time of George IV., when the power ceased to be exercised, "by the will of parliament."—St. James' Gazette.

SENATOR MORGAN FOR WAR.

correct existing abuses. A change in the second-class mail matter law has been repeatedly urged by successive postmaster generals. It is estimated that the abuses of the law have cost the government two hundred and forty million dollars in the last ten years.

Loud, author of the measure, brought it forward today quite unexpectedly to the majority of the members of the house. The opposition was led by Quigg (N. Y.), who inaugurated a filibuster and attempted to prevent its consideration by adjourning but the house stood by Loud in two votes, defeating the opposition, 134 to 102 and 141 to 83. The opposition is, however, hopeful of defeating the measure when it is put on its final passage.

Loud made the opening speech on the measure, during which he declared the bill would save the government twenty million dollars annually. He also said it had received the endorsement of the Newspaper Publishers' association and was only opposed by those who participated in the bounty obtained under the present law. Tomorrow appropriations bills will be brought forward to displace it.

Before this bill was brought up a bill to re-organize the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad company was called up and passed, with some amendments, after an hour's debate. The bill, as passed, gives the purchasers under foreclosure sale all the rights of the old company under its government charter, but it provides it shall assume all the debts and obligations of the old company and that the lands unearned July 6, 1886, along the then uncompleted portions of the road shall, as a condition precedent to re-organization, be relinquished in writing by the purchasers.

Representative Woodman of Illinois today introduced in the house a joint resolution directing the president to intervene in Cuban affairs.

CAPITAL MISCELLANY.

Current News of the Day at the Nation's Headquarters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The attention of the officials here has been attracted by stories coming from all portions of the country indicating enlistments are going on of parties of men to go to Cuba to join the insurgents in their struggle against the Spaniards. These enlistments are in direct violation of the neutrality laws, and are prohibited under severe penalties. For accepting a commission to serve against Spain, a country with which the United States is now at peace, the penalty is $2,000 fine and three years imprisonment, while for enlistment to serve against Spain or hiring any one to enlist the penalty is almost as heavy, being a maximum fine of $1,000 and three years imprisonment. The enforcement of these laws naturally fall within the functions of the United States officials to whose knowledge an attempt at infringement is brought, but if the movements continue on as large a scale as reported, it is probable the department of justice will send instructions of a special character to all its agents, calling their attention to the proclamation issued by the president last spring and enjoining upon them strict enforcement of the neutrality laws. The government doubtless will be obliged to do this in order to manifest its purpose to meet the requirements of international law, just as it has warned the shipping interests against taking part in filibustering movements and has sent rigid instructions to the judicial officers at Atlantic ports to prevent infraction of the laws in that respect.

Members of the ways and means committee say there have been no developments either in their various conferences or in suggestions from leaders of the house indicating there is any desire or intention to pass a tariff bill during the present congress. It has been reported the bill on which the committee is now working would be passed this session. Chairman Dingentomption and no such plan would be considered unless something was done by the senate, which would be to take up the bill it now has, amend it and put it into conference. Dingentomption indicated it would be impracticable to pass a bill which could not receive consideration in the senate. Another member of the committee said it would be foolish for this house to pass a bill which would be torn to pieces in the senate. The next house would have to pass it again, over the opposition bill aroused in the senate.

The nomination of Secretary Francis, as the head of the interior department, was referred to the finance committee, in accordance with the custom of the senate. The nominations of a president for cabinet positions are usually confirmed very promptly. The nomination of Francis was sent to the senate a week ago, and today was the first meeting of the finance committee since the nomination was sent to it. Secretary Francis will not be confirmed until after the senatorial election in Missouri. It is understood Senator Vest, a member of the finance committee, suggested the nomination go over until after the holidays. The opposition, if such it can be termed, can be traced to the recent election, in which Secretary Francis supported the gold Democrat candidates. Considerable feeling was engendered, but it is not believed the opposition will be carried so far as to prevent confirmation.

The house committee on appropriations today finished the bill for the legislative, executive and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898. The bill carries a total of $21,667,869, which is $1,099,281 less than the appropriations for the current year. The principal new item is for the clerical force of the new congressional library, which will number 187 men, an increase of 144.

A meeting of the officers and executive committee of the American Bimetallic union began here today to arrange the details for a convention of the silver leaders of the country with a view to the inauguration of a comprehensive organization on behalf of silver.

CHICAGO MARKETS. CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Wheat was unsettled and irregular today, with moderate business. The market ranged within 1/8c, closing at the bottom and 1/16c lower than yesterday. The market opened strong and higher, in sympathy with Liverpool, which reported that prices were 1/16c higher; then northwestern receipts were lighter, there were good sales of flour at Minneapolis, and San Francisco reported three cargoes sold for Europe and the surplus in Oregon cleaned up. As the advance a good deal of long property was offered, and the market lacked support, while later cables were lower; also foreigners were selling at the lowest, at which it closed.

Corn was dull, dragging within a 3/4c range, closing at the bottom and 1/16c lower than yesterday. The weakness was in sympathy with wheat. Oats were in liberal trade within a 3/4c range, closing 3/4c above the bottom and 1/16c lower than yesterday. The decline was due to selling by shorts, liquidation by longs and the weakness in wheat and corn. The leading grain futures ranged as follows:

Table with columns: Opened, High, Low, Closed. Rows for Wheat, Corn, and Oats.

CASH QUOTATIONS. Flour, dull; unchanged. Wheat, easy; No. 3 spring, 77c; No. 2 red, 90c. Corn, easier; cash 25c. Oats, lower; No. 2 white, not quoted; No. 3 white, 16c@18c.

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS—Flour, 10,000 bbls; wheat, 25,000 bu.; corn, 138,000 bu.; oats, 546,000 bu. SHIPMENTS—Flour, 6,000 bbls.; wheat, 27,000 bu.; corn, 33,000 bu.; oats, 171,000 bu.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Continued pressure by professional dealers against the market resulted today in a further disturbance of prices and a fair amount of liquidation. The volume of business was larger than Monday's, but the dealings were not well distributed. The market moved with some irregularity, but the main tendency of prices was toward a lower level. The feature of the day was a drive at Gould stocks for which no explanation was reported up to the close. Missouri Pacific and Western Union figured for losses of 1/4c and 1/8c, respectively. Sugar led the entire market in point of activity. The market closed weak, with general fractional declines in railway shares and more material losses in industrials.

The following were the closing prices of United States bonds and railroad stocks, etc.: U. S. regular, 100; No. Pacific, 29 1/2; U. S. 4s cp., 120; Nor. Pacific, 28 1/2; U. S. 5s reg., 113 1/2; Nor. consideration in the senate. Another member of the committee said it would be foolish for this house to pass a bill which would be torn to pieces in the senate. The next house would have to pass it again, over the opposition bill aroused in the senate.

The nomination of Secretary Francis, as the head of the interior department, was referred to the finance committee, in accordance with the custom of the senate. The nominations of a president for cabinet positions are usually confirmed very promptly. The nomination of Francis was sent to the senate a week ago, and today was the first meeting of the finance committee since the nomination was sent to it. Secretary Francis will not be confirmed until after the senatorial election in Missouri. It is understood Senator Vest, a member of the finance committee, suggested the nomination go over until after the holidays. The opposition, if such it can be termed, can be traced to the recent election, in which Secretary Francis supported the gold Democrat candidates. Considerable feeling was engendered, but it is not believed the opposition will be carried so far as to prevent confirmation.

The house committee on appropriations today finished the bill for the legislative, executive and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898. The bill carries a total of $21,667,869, which is $1,099,281 less than the appropriations for the current year. The principal new item is for the clerical force of the new congressional library, which will number 187 men, an increase of 144.

FUNGI FOR EATING.

In the Fields and Woods Only Can Mushrooms Be Understood.

Fungi, like human beings, give off carbonic acid, and not oxygen, as do most other vegetables. This is due, probably, to the absence of green coloring matters. A popular error is to suppose that fungi are edible and toadstools poisonous. There is no such line of demarcation, nor, strictly speaking, has toadstool any precise scientific meaning. Very many fungi are edible, the number of poisonous varieties being greatly exaggerated. The common Agaric usually eaten in England is not the most palatable and wholesome; indeed, in Italy it is said to be condemned, and not allowed to be sold in the fungus market, which is there quite an institution. But this assertion is a traveler's tale, and not more trustworthy than many of the narratives of visitors to foreign lands who hastily jot down their first impressions, and believe everything they chance to hear or fancy they hear.

Few foods are more savory or greater favorites than well-cooked fungi. The souls of good vegetarians hunger and thirst after them, and no wonder! They have the reputation of being very nutritious, but physiologists say that this is an error, and that there is reason to believe that a given weight of them is not so sustaining as from its chemical composition it ought to be. This does not mean that they are not useful adjuncts to food. As flavoring ingredients they have no superiors. Far greater use of them ought to be made, and I cannot see why the supply of fungi should not be increased twenty-fold. In this way a most valuable industry might be developed, or, more correctly, built up in our midst. Nothing is easier than to grow them, and they are very profitable.

The active chemical principle which, in very rare instances, causes inconvenience and even death from eating fungi, is called muscarine. It is the same principle which, I believe, is found in putrid, poisonous meat. Some foul smelling and repulsive species are rich in it, but most fungi are harmless, and a few country walks in the early autumn in the company of a mycologist would furnish hints enough to be an invaluable guide to any person of common intelligence. Unfortunately, no amount of reading will make a man a practical mycologist. It is in the fields and in the woods that the science must be learned. There, and there only, and from the teaching of an old student, will the tyro learn to distinguish the wholesome from the dangerous.—Health News.

ABSURD THEORIES.

The Ancients' Explanation of the Rising and Setting of the Sun.

The recent death of a man who had maintained all his life that the earth was flat recalls the curious theories entertained by the ancients to explain the rising and setting of the sun, says the New York Journal. They thought the earth was flat and were greatly puzzled to know how the same sun which plunged into the ocean at a fabulous distance in the west could reappear the next morning at an equally great distance in the east.

A number of remarkable theories were advanced and every one of them wrong. The old mythology asserted that after the sun had dipped in the western ocean at sunset (the Iberians and other ancient nations actually imagined that they could hear the hissing of the waters when the glowing globe was plunged therein) he was seized by Vulcan and placed in a golden goblet.

This strange craft, with its astonishing cargo navigated the ocean by a northerly course, so as to reach the east again in time for sunrise the following morning.

Among the more sober physicists of old, as related by Aristotle, it was believed that in some manner the sun was conveyed by night across the northern regions and that darkness was due to lofty mountains, which screened off the sunbeams during the voyage.

Apple Shortcake.

This is not so well known as strawberry shortcake, but it is equally good when well made. The above preparation of apples makes a particularly delicious one. The usual directions for the shortcake part result in the plainest of soda biscuits; but this is a great mistake, as such dishes are not supposed to be concocted with a single eye to the benefit of the nursery. What is needed is a reasonably plain pie crust, which, by being handled like puff paste, can be made very nice. This paste should be rolled into two thin layers and lightly baked on a jelly tin, placing one on top of the other, but being careful not to press them together. When baked they can be separated with much greater ease than if made into one cake and pulled apart. The rich apple sauce should then be liberally spread between the two layers of crust and on top, and served with cream.—Boston Budget.

UNTOLD MISERY

RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills, but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged

There appears to be a general misunderstanding in regard to the guild sale this today. It will be held in the chapel, beginning early in the afternoon and lasting through the evening, or until all the articles are sold. Tea and chocolate will be served in an attractive manner through the afternoon for a slight fee. There will also be a sale of cakes, pies, home made candies and other dainties.

Friends of the young man named Schulte of Calumet, are circulating a petition for the reduction of his sentence. The fellow is now serving a sentence of fifteen years at Marquette for criminal assault. An official of the court circumventing Schulte, who knows every circumstance of the case, said that the crime was a most aggravated one and that his influence would never be used to reduce the punishment inflicted.

Among the attractions in the way of entertainment during Christmas week will be a cantata entitled "A Jolly Christmas" to be given by the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the City school. The principal solos are taken by members of Miss Davis' Glee club of boys, who are to be known in the cantata as the minstrels, and will render Christmas carols and the "Music of the Bells," the latter chorus being a particularly pretty one with bells as an accompaniment. Santa Claus will appear attended by his Christmas fairies and there will be a chorus "lined off" in the old time manner and conducted by one of the Glee club boys. The cantata will be given next Tuesday evening in Fraternity Hall, the proceeds to be used in buying pictures for the City school.

PENNIES OF ALUMINUM.

The Mints Making Tests to See If They Are Practicable. In the short period that will elapse before congress convenes again in December, a series of interesting experiments in coinage will be conducted at the mint in Philadelphia. Metals and alloys heretofore untried for the purpose will be tested and stamped into token coins. Their availability as substitutes for the alloys of which the minor coins-nickels and cents-are now made will be ascertained and samples submitted to congress.

Of all the countless possible alloys to be obtained from copper, tin, nickel and aluminum in different combinations, perhaps 15 or 20 may be found fairly satisfactory. It is possible that one or two of these may advantageously be brought into use for general coinage. No fault has been found with the present one-cent and five-cent pieces. The experiments are merely ordered to keep in touch with the times and to gain a knowledge of resources. The Philadelphia mint, while having no regular experimental department, is well equipped to make the tests.

Aluminum, which has never yet found a place in the currency of any nation, is to be worked up into trial coins. It is also to be given a chance in new alloys. Aluminum is a metal of which but little has been known until recently, and it has been found useful in so many ways that a sort of popular idea prevails that it would be good for coins. Chief among its advantages would be its very light weight. Cents made of it could readily be distinguished from coins of the same size by this remarkable lightness alone.

Dr. D. K. Tuttle, the chief refiner at the mint, who knows all about the properties of metals, is somewhat skeptical, however, as to whether aluminum will come out of the proposed tests with flying colors. It is extremely difficult to anneal, and when heated will suddenly run like butter instead of becoming plastic. There would be trouble in rolling it into the long strips from which disks are cut preparatory to stamping. Of course, it can be worked, but not with sufficient ease and rapidity to make it practicable for coining on a large scale.

Pure nickel has recently been coined in Switzerland, but it has been found just as difficult to handle as aluminum, though for a different reason. Such great heat is necessary to bring it into condition for coining that the operation is slow and expensive. While pure nickel coins might be satisfactorily made in the mints of Switzerland, it does not follow that the same would be true at the Philadelphia mint, which is called upon to turn out 50 times as many five-cent pieces as the mints of that country, and could not spare the time to work over them.

The five-cent coin now in use contains only 25 per cent. of nickel, the remaining 75 per cent. being of copper. Nickel, more than any other metal, has the property of giving its color to an alloy. Even an alloy of 90 per cent. of copper and ten per cent. of nickel will be nearly white. The advantage of using a greater proportion of nickel in the five-cent piece is therefore not apparent, especially as more than 25 per cent. of it makes the alloy refractory.

The experiments at the mint will include different combinations of nickel, copper and zinc, forming the alloys known under the head of German silver; copper and tin, which produce bronze; aluminum and copper, which make aluminum bronze. German silver has been used for coins by one of the small South American states, and proved fairly adapted for the purpose. Bronze is commonly used for coins of small value. It is doubtful if aluminum bronze in any form will be found acceptable, as it is hard to work and has a yellow, brassy appearance, resembling gold, which is to be avoided in all coins of small denomination.-Philadelphia Record.

WHAT LIFE IS WORTH.

Just What Each One of Us Makes It Worth. What is life worth? Just what you choose to make it, and no more. As you sow, so will you reap. If from the first hour of responsible living you choose to live only for self, for your own comforts and pleasure, regardless of the wishes or comforts of others-if a habit begun in childhood, thinking first of all how will such a course or act profit me, is allowed to gather force as years roll on, your life will be worth very little.

While the young blood rushes wildly through the veins, and careless and reckless, you plunge from one excitement to another, still more selfishly regardless of the wishes or comfort of parents and the closest friends, for you there may be a kind of mad enjoyment. But will it last? And while it lasts, what is it? What is your life-what is such a life really worth? How soon will all such unnatural excitements and selfish pleasure wear themselves out? How soon will they prove a totally insufficient stimulant and leave you always reaching out after more, which, when gathered, may prove just as worthless and unsatisfying.

Or, if in your heart you are longing for wealth instead of riotous pleasures, and if you determine to secure it and labor for it until you have spent all your young years, it begins to flow in upon you, and instead of finding pleasure in what you have gained? Your bank accounts swell to large proportions, but you live on the barest pittance, giving your family only the most common necessities, while your ledger at last shows you to be worth millions. What has your life been worth?-Boston Budget.

SIMPLE JOYS OF ROYALTY.

Practical Jokes and Cold Beef - The Queen's Artlessness. The simplicity of taste and feeling which distinguishes the members of our royal family has always struck me as their most charming characteristic. "There is no woman in the world as artless as the queen," once declared a friend who had had every opportunity of studying her majesty's character. Simple joys and simple pleasures are what most appeal to her, while the earnestness and warmth of the affection shown to one another by the brothers and sisters and cousins and aunts of the Guelph family shows their real unworldliness in a very charming light.

One of the most homely and lovable members is Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, as the following little anecdote will serve to show. Princess Christian, "Lenchen," they call her in the royal circle, takes a deep interest, as we all know, in charitable doings; nay, she spends half her life in helping to clothe the poor and feed the sick and hungry. Not so very long ago she persuaded a friend to adopt some poor little waif and stray. Soon the friend came to her royal highness with complaints.

"This child," she told, "for whom I have done so much-can it be believed? -is dainty about her food. She actually objects to cold mutton!" And what do you think Princess Christian replied? That paupers ought to have no tastes, no likes or dislikes? Oh, no! The princess is too sweet and human for that. She merely laughed and said in a delightful simplicity of accent:

"Well, cold mutton is not so very nice, after all, is it? I am not fond of it myself, and as to mamma, though she rather likes cold beef, the one thing she cannot and will not stand is cold mutton!"

Even the prince of Wales, man of the world though he be, retains a vest deal of simplicity. He and the duke of York are like boys together sometimes, rather than father and son, and will chaff one another and laugh together as heartily as two young undergraduates. I remember how, when the duke of York presided over his first big charity dinner at the Great Ormond Street Hospital for Children, and a larger sum was subscribed after his speech than had ever been the case when the prince of Wales himself was at the head of the table, how the duke drove off to Marlborough house in triumph immediately afterward to "crow," as he put it, over his sire. Whether the prince or duke was the more delighted it would be difficult to say.

The life the royalties lead, guarded, as it were, from so many outside influences and kept from absolute contact with the world, exempt from the petty cares which harass the majority of their subjects, conduces to keep them young and simple-hearted. As for a practical joke, there is nothing they enjoy so much. The queen, although never given to practical joking now, as in her youth, is quick to see the point in a funny story and loves above all things to hear an amusing recitation-aye, and enjoys a display of mimicry if the mimicry be not ill-natured. We know that she even insists that one of her equerries (a very clever amateur actor) should give an imitation of herself. No joke causes her the least amusement that is not perfectly refined.

A year or two ago a large party of youthful princes and princesses were laughing very heartily in the drawing-room at Osborne, where her majesty entered with Princess Beatrice. She asked to be told the joke and, after a good deal of hesitation, a young prince gave it as it stood. The joke was rather, shall I say, an advanced one. The queen did not smile and her rebuke, gentle as it was, made itself felt. "We are not amused," she replied, answering for Princess Beatrice and herself.-The Woman at Home.

A New Fiber. The pineapple leaf yields a fiber which promises to be of great commercial value. A rope 3 1/2 inches thick made of this fiber will support a weight of three tons, and from the same material a textile of the fineness of silk is made. The Indians use this fabric with silk to make very pretty and durable things. All the work hitherto done has been done by hand, and naturally the product is expensive and less even in quality than might be made by machines. A ton of pineapple leaves yields between 50 and 60 pounds of fiber. Upward of 2,000 pounds can be raised to the acre. As this, even in the present state of the market, is worth ten cents per pound, it is easy to see what the possibilities of this new industry may be.

Mrs. Pew-"What a blessing it is to hear Mr. Oily preach." Mrs. Stole-"He's perfectly splendid. No wonder he's the popular. Why, he preaches so beautifully that the wickedest one in the better Mr. Oily makes one feel." -Boston Transcript.

See the man. Is the man sitting behind a big theater hat? The man is sitting behind a big theater hat. Does the man breathe vengeance? The man goes out between the acts, and when he comes back he breathes vengeance right through the hat. -Detroit Tribune.

A certain rector in a Suffolk village who was disliked in his parish, had a curate who was very popular, and on his leaving was presented with a testimonial. This excited the envy and wrath of the rector, and meeting with an old lady one day, he said: "I am surprised, Mrs. Bloom, that you should have subscribed to this testimonial."

"Why, sir," said the old lady, "if you'd bin a-going, I'd 'ave subscribed double." -Tit-Bits.

CARLSON'S SUBORDINATES.

He Will Retain Sam Bennett as Under-Sheriff and John Berg as Watchman.

Sheriff-elect John Carlson has decided to retain Samuel Bennett, the present under-sheriff, and John Berg, the night-watchman, as his assistants at the county jail. Mr. Carlson had received many applications from persons desiring these positions, but he concluded, after careful consideration of the matter, to retain the old officers, as they have excellent records for efficiency and faithfulness. There were twenty-seven applications for Mr. Berg's place and five for that held by Bennett.

RACE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Fast Skaters Will Show Their Speed at the Bancroft Ice Rink.

There will be a one-mile race, free-for-all, at the Bancroft rink next Saturday evening. The winner of the contest will get twenty-five per cent. of the door receipts, which is quite an inducement, as the rink is being largely patronized this winter. It is expected that there will be from six to eight entries. Some of these will be from outside places. There is a fast skater at Negaunee and it is expected he will be on hand, so that a lively contest may be looked for. The band will be in attendance both Friday and Saturday evenings.

New Officers Chosen.

At a special meeting of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of Ishpeeming, held Sunday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Joseph Kennedy; vice president, Michael McNamara; recording secretary, Thomas Quinn; financial secretary, Patrick Cronin; treasurer, Timothy Hughes. The remaining officers are appointive and will be announced by the president at the next meeting. The installation will take place at the regular meeting on the first Tuesday evening in January. The division is in excellent condition. The treasurer reported a cash balance of $1,200 on hand, and the number of members in good standing is 190.

The election of officers of Hematite Camp No. 1,128, Modern Woodmen of America, held Monday evening, resulted as follows: Venerable consul, Joseph P. Labreche; worthy adviser, David Halpin; clerk, August Carlson; banker, Henry Routhier; escort, John Hosking; physician, J. H. Andrus; watchman, Philip Pele; sentry, Thomas W. Smith; manager, three years, Dr. W. J. Bell; manager to fill vacancy of two years, M. A. Kahn. A. J. Youngbluth is the retiring venerable consul. The installation will take place at the first meeting in January.

Second Visit in Three Years.

Although living within eight miles of Ishpeeming, Nathaniel Mortensen, who was the first editor of Superior Posten, the Swedish paper published here, has been in the city only twice in the past three years. He came to town Saturday, remaining but a short time, when he returned to his homestead near Clowery. Mr. Mortensen is perfectly contented on his little place. His wife and son are there with him. The latter spends the greater part of his time in the woods hunting, and occasionally comes to the city to visit friends. Mr. Mortensen expects to prove upon his homestead in less than a year. He has considerable timber and cordwood on the place, which he will dispose of as soon as he obtains full title to the claim.

A Good Show Coming.

The theatrical season of 1897 will be opened at the Ishpeeming Opera House Jan. 8 with the "Jolly Old Chums" company. This is the original company that made such a big hit throughout the larger cities during last season. Miss Eloise Willard, the well known comedienne, and Murphy and Moore, the famous musical team, are with the company. The latter have made themselves famous by introducing novel musical specialties. John J. Magee and the Princeton sisters, who starred in the play last year, are also in the cast this season.

Stall Timber Coming.

The first consignment of stall timber for the mines here this season arrived yesterday over the South Shore line from thirty west of here. There were about thirty carloads in all. Each of the three large companies, the Lake Angeline, Cleveland-Ciffs and Lake Superior, took a portion. It is expected that timber for the mines here will arrive at frequent intervals during the remainder of the winter, as some reasonably large orders have been placed by them.

Band Concert.

The National Cornet band will give a concert next Friday evening at the Winthrop mine school house. The program will consist of selections by the full band, vocal and instrumental solos by Mrs. Schumacher, Miss Jennie Bickle and Messrs. Senob, Wilkins and others. The admission will be twenty-five cents for adults and ten for children.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Rev. T. Cory-Thomas is spending a few days in Milwaukee.

P. S. Brumby of Menominee did business in Ishpeeming yesterday.

Mrs. W. J. Stevens and Miss Merritt of Marquette spent yesterday in the city.

J. M. Hayden has recovered his fine St. Bernard pup, which had been lost since Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. J. N. Williams came up from Marquette yesterday on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Hayden.

The members of the guilds of Grace church will open their Christmas market today in the Wilbur block on South Main street.

The musical by the Philharmonic society has been postponed until after the holidays. The date has not yet been determined.

Rev. Dr. Hillis of Chicago, who will give the second entertainment of the Teachers' course, will be at the High school auditorium on Wednesday evening, Jan. 20.

Manager Lynch of the Bancroft rink is receiving a number of orders for season tickets for Christmas presents. A more desirable gift, at a moderate cost, could not be selected.

James Cianey has gone to Mt. Clemens to spend a week or so there. He was accompanied by his son Tom, who will remain with relatives at Port Huron during his father's stay at Mt. Clemens.

A very extensive program is being prepared for the annual entertainment to be given Christmas night at the Swedish Lutheran church. The members of the Sunday school society will take a prominent part in the exercises.

Among the songs to be sung Christmas morning at the Division street Methodist church are Mozart's "Gloria," taken from the Twelfth mass, Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" and "Sing, Oh Sing," from Daniels' Oratorio. There will be over forty voices in the choir.

HAS CANCER ITS MICROBE?

An Interesting Discovery Which May Mean Much.

A highly-interesting discovery, which will, perhaps, afford a clue to the cause of cancer, has been made in Prof. von Leyden's university hospital here, says a Berlin letter to the London Standard. A young woman of 22 and a man of 63, both suffering from dropsy and cancer of the stomach, were brought to the hospital last spring. In order to remove the accumulated fluid tapping was resorted to in both cases. The fluid was examined under the microscope, and hitherto unknown living organisms, belonging probably to the protozoa, were discovered.

Prof. Waldeyer, to whom the preparations were submitted, advised that they should be sent to Dr. Schaudinn, assistant at the Zoological institute of the Berlin university, who has been investigating the protozoa for years past. He began his examination on July 19 and ascertained that in both cases the fluid contained a rhizopod, which he named Leydenia gemmipara schaudinni. He inferred that it is a pathogenic organism, but both he and Prof. von Leyden still abstain from deciding as to the connection between it and cancer, though they admit the possibility of such a connection. They have made a preliminary communication on the subject to the Berlin Academy of Sciences.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison, Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1.00 per bottle at E. Farnham's Drug Store.

Boiling River

It is sure enough. It is not as large as the Mississippi, indeed it is quite small, but a mighty interesting stream for all that. It issues from the sides of a mountain in a thousand tiny rills, more or less, and of almost as many colors. These gather themselves into pools and lakelets on the mountain's side, covering an area of about 200 acres. Overflowing their boundaries they slowly trickle down the sides of the mountain forming small cliffs, the most wonderful in the world. From a distance one can hardly believe what the eyesight reveals—white, black, orange, lemon, terra cotta, green, blue, red, pink, separate and manifold combinations stand out before him. It is a hill of painted cliffs on the sides of the mountain that rises high above. And the odd part of it is that each of these exquisite colors represents a different temperature. Does that startle your credulity? Even so it is true.

When through with this beautiful painting process, these waters again come together and then, as if full of mischief like a pack of small boys trying to play hide and seek, dive down and remain under the ground for a space of two miles and then flow out from the mouth of a cononynta as one of the clearest, most beautiful, green streams imaginable. Where these streams emerge from the mountain into the little lakes they are hot, boiling hot. During their dark underground journey they fall several hundred feet and also many degrees in hotness, so that when they appear in daylight they are much cooler. This then is Boiling river, an underground mountain stream of hot water.

But you ask, where is it? Where can I see it? It is in Yellowstone Park at Mammoth Hot Springs. It is one of the lesser, mind you the lesser—wonders of this land of wonders. Go there and see it by all means but first send to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent, Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., six cents for Wonderland '96, that tells all about this renowned region. (7-34)

THE HANDSOMEST CITY IN THE WEST AND A LEADER IN ENTERPRISE.

Depot of Supplies for Michigan and Adjacent Territory.

William E. Curtis, the talented newspaper correspondent, thus entertainingly alludes to some of the beauties of the metropolis of Michigan:

"The people of Detroit have utilized the abundant natural resources for rest and recreation that surround them, in a very attractive manner. They have beautiful parks, and a magnificent boulevard system. Belle Isle, which sits in the river opposite the city and only a few minutes' journey from the court house [City Hall], is a lovely place. It has been decorated by a skilled and tasteful landscape gardener, and its drives and groves and lawns are unsurpassed. Trip down the river for a distance of thirty miles are clusters of hotels, club houses, cottages and villas and other private and public pleasure resorts, which offer attractions to all classes at all prices and easily accessible. Along the St. Clair ship canal, upon which the government has expended so many millions to make a channel that carries more commerce than any other waterway in the world, is a row of cottages and clubs several miles in length that are built upon stills, like the lake dwellers in Paraguay and the people of Maracabo, which Americus Vesputius saw when he cruised along the Spanish main in 1505. He called that country Venezuela, which means 'Little Venice.' The people of Michigan also call this cool and lovely place after the famous city on the Adriatic. Some of the houses are surrounded by lawns and groves of trees planted upon the reclaimed ground, and are very attractive. They say it is always cool there, that mosquitoes are unknown, and that you can catch fish enough for breakfast by dropping a line out of your bedroom window."

Besides Belle Isle Park, Detroit has nineteen other parks, the next in size being Log Cabin Park on Woodward avenue, one hundred and twenty acres. These twenty parks comprise within a fraction of eight hundred and eighty-seven acres of land devoted to the recreation and health of the residents of the city, and the pleasure of visitors. The value of this property is over six and a quarter millions of dollars. The Grand Boulevard is a semi-circle over eleven miles in length.

Detroit's Public Library contains nearly one hundred and forty thousand volumes. About two thousand volumes are worn out by use and replaced every year.

She has a Museum of Art which has cost in buildings and grounds one hundred and twenty-seven thousand dollars. The collections therein are valued at one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars, and they were all given to the Museum by Detroit citizens.

She has sixty-one public school buildings, valued with the ground they stand on at over two millions three hundred and forty thousand dollars. Seven hundred and thirty-seven teachers instruct the thirty-five thousand pupils in these schools. Besides, there are probably fifteen thousand pupils in the various parochial and private schools.

Detroit has two hundred and twenty-five miles of paved streets, one hundred and fifty-eight miles of public sewers, and two hundred and eighty-five miles of lateral sewers. The city is lighted at night by a plant which she owns and which cost over six hundred and thirty thousand dollars. About forty thousand electric lights blaze every night in her streets.

The official municipal manual gives her population as two hundred and eighty thousand. The city directory figures the number within her borders as over three hundred and sixty thousand. The area of the city is twenty-nine square miles.

Over one million six hundred and twenty thousand dollars was expended for new buildings in Detroit during the first six months of 1896.

Detroit contains the tallest commercial building outside of New York and Chicago—the new Majestic Building, fourteen stories and two hundred and eleven feet high.

The above scattered facts show that the State metropolis is not only a beautiful, comfortable and otherwise highly enjoyable place of residence, but that she is an immense and fast-growing commercial and industrial center. In several branches of trade, among which are the manufacture of cars, drugs, stoves, matches, varnish, soda-ash and pins, and in the seed business, Detroit leads every other city in America.

Naturally, Detroit is the wholesale depot for all Michigan and the adjacent territory. Here are some of her leaders in their respective lines of commerce, manufactures and finance:

In and About Negaunee.

Was in the Wrong Place.

A man who resides in the eastern part of the city spent Monday night in the cooler in consequence of a little indiscretion. He came down town early in the day and got gloriously full. About 9 o'clock he started for home. Losing his bearings, he went to a house on Main street, where he was refused admission. He then began to kick up a rumpus, declaring that it was his own place. An officer was sent for and the wanderer was taken to the city jail, where he remained until yesterday morning.

GOOD NEWS FOR HUMBOLDT.

Bessie Mine Will Probably Change Hands and be Strongly Wrought.
The people of Humboldt are happy over the very encouraging prospect that mining operations will be resumed at the Bessie mine shortly after the first of the year.

A Humboldt man who is interested in some of the mining properties there was seen yesterday. He said that Superintendent Davidson, of the Commonwealth Iron company, of Commonwealth, Wis., and L. B. Miller, representative of the capitalists who are contemplating the purchase of the Bessie, spent Monday looking over the mine. All the water had been pumped out of the shaft and lower workings, so they were able to subject the property to a thorough examination.

The mine was found in all respects as promising as it had been represented to them. This, together with the fact that there is considerable ore in sight, pleased them.

Before leaving Humboldt Monday night Messrs. Miller and Davidson gave the men in charge of the mine orders to remain at work and keep the water out. While they did not say positively that the sale of the property was assured they intimated very strongly that the proposition of the owners would be accepted and that the property would be wrought with a reasonably large force. In the opinion of those who are directly interested in the Bessie the deal is as good as closed.

The new owners of the mine will make a number of improvements about the property before beginning mining work on a large scale. A new hoisting plant and an air compressor and boilers will be installed. The shaft house will also be put in first-class condition. It is expected that nearly two hundred men will eventually be employed about the mine.

The shaft at the Bessie is down 130 feet. Three drifts have been driven from thirty to fifty feet. A non-Bessemer ore of good grade has been found in all the drifts. Up to the time the mine was closed down three years ago about 1,000 tons had been mined.

The transfer of the Bessie will bring new life to Humboldt. At present there are about twenty-five families at the location and very few men have been working there of late.

Will Teach Dancing.

Harry Verran has been urged by a number of the young people here who are desirous of learning to dance to organize a class. Up to yesterday fifteen persons had agreed to join. The waltz and two step will be the principal dances taught. Mr. Verran has rented rooms in Anthony's building on West Iron street, where instructions will be given every evening. Harry expects to have enough pupils for two classes within a week or so.

Death of Father Wallace.

Rev. Father Wallace, who assisted Rev. Langner at St. Paul's church about four years ago, died a few days ago at Escanaba. Rev. Langner went to Escanaba Monday evening to attend the funeral, which was held yesterday. The deceased was a young man and an eloquent speaker.

LOCAL LAOONIOS.

The local camp, Modern Woodmen of America, will choose officers for the ensuing year at the regular meeting tonight. A full attendance of members is requested.

The Marquette County Telephone company will soon put in a metallic circuit between the power house of the street railway line and the local office. This will do away with the induction so noticeable now when the phone at the power house is used.

John Reardon of Marquette was a visitor in the city yesterday.

About thirty-five men are now working at the Jackson Iron company's open pit. This will be about the number employed there during the winter.

L. E. Adams of Escanaba was in Negaunee yesterday.

Joseph Derocheau will likely enter the one-mile race at the Bancroft rink, Ishpeming, next Saturday evening. If he does a number from here will go up to see him, as he will give Ishpeming's fast skaters a hard pull for first place.

Andrew Lindquist got home from Chicago yesterday morning.

Mrs. A. B. Elledge of Marquette was in the city yesterday in the interest of the ladies of St. Paul's church, of that city, who will get out a special edition of THE MINING JOURNAL on New Year's morning. She will look after the literary work in Negaunee and Ishpeming.

Werner Nykaner was up the line on business yesterday.

The hearing in the electric light injunction case will come up Saturday in the circuit court.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamonddale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rivers Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its trial and highly satisfactory in results. Trial bottles free at E. Farham's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

BOY SOLDIERS ON PARADE.

First Exhibition Drill Given by Boys' Brigade in Casino Rink.

ORGANIZED BUT LITTLE MORE THAN A YEAR.

Aldermanic Character Valued at $25—Water Rates Nearly All Paid—Book Exploiting Georgia and Alabama Resources.

DRILL LIKE REAL SOLDIERS. Casino rink held a hundred and fifty parents and friends of the members of the Boys' Brigade last evening. The occasion of the gathering was the first exhibition drill given by the Brigade.

The Boys' Brigade is an adjunct to the Presbyterian Sunday school, and is planned to keep the boys in the school when they get to that age it is hard to keep them in their classes without some inducement. In this it has proved remarkably successful and companies are springing up all over the English-speaking Sunday school world. There are eight companies of the Brigade in the upper peninsula, but Company F is the only one in this immediate vicinity.

Boys are taken into the Brigade ranging in years from twelve to eighteen. None are taken in younger than this, and so soon as the maximum limit is reached they are dropped from the roll. Company 'F' was organized here in June 1895 through the efforts of Rev. D. B. Spencer who takes a great interest in the work for the boys of his church. There were twenty-five boys in the company, and its drill master was V. E. David. He has since been succeeded by A. D. Jacobs and John Wilson, Jr. Mr. Wilson, owing to frequent absence from town, has not been in active service for several months, so a major part of the labor and credit for the fine exhibition of last night devolve upon Drill Master Jacobs.

At no time has it been difficult to keep the company recruited. The number that may be enrolled is limited by no regulation, but instead was at first limited by the size of the drill room, the church parlors, and now that drills are held in the rink, by the ability of the pastor to secure the equipment. Each boy has a Remington rifle, belt, cartridge box and a cap, and the expense of thus outfitting the troop is about $6 per boy. Mr. Spencer hopes by next spring to secure full uniforms for the company.

The present enrollment of the company is forty, and thirty-four participated in the drill. The boys went through marching, guard mount, street column, platoon drill, manual of arms, and all the evolutions that are performed by militiamen, and they did it with a precision that would put many companies to blush. Drill Master Jacobs, under whose command they performed their evolutions, combined the functions of three officers, sergeant major, commander of guard and adjutant.

The company is further officered as follows:

- First sergeant—Jesse D. Meads.
- Second sergeant—George Preston.
- Third sergeant—Charlie Wheeler.
- Fourth sergeant—Floyd Hamill.
- Fifth sergeant—Roy Kimmell.
- Color sergeant—Howard Osgood.
- First corporal—Lawrence Jacobs.
- Second corporal—Frank Blackwood.
- Third corporal—Willard Crry.
- Fourth corporal—Byron Coles.
- Fifth corporal—Roy Young.
- Sixth corporal—Webster Smith.
- Seventh corporal—Harry Quarter.
- Eighth corporal—Philip Allen.

Only $2,000 Back. Marquette's semi-annual water rates amount to about $24,000. All of this due in the last half of the year is supposed to be paid before the 10th of December. After that date a water rate is a good deal like a tax, and a penalty may be added for the delay. In the case of the water rate the penalty is 10 per cent. of the bill.

Collections on the rate for the six months just ending were very good, and paid with fair promptness. Superintendent Kern says that out of the $24,000 due semi-annually he has collected all but $2,000, and $423 of that amount is what Scott & Morrison, owners of the Nester block are at law about.

Superintendent Kern is still hounding his books open, and during the last few days has been busy poking up delinquent users of the precious Lake Superior fluid. He does not have to do this, he does not have even to send them bills, but he had rather do this than have them get behind on their rate and have to pay the penalty, which obliges him to listen to their kicks and complaints.

"They seem to think," he says, "that I get that penalty money, that I put that ten per cent down my pocket. It isn't anything of the kind. I don't get anything out of it. That all goes to the board."

Speaking of those who were prompt in paying their water rates he said that the churches with one exception were on this list.

Vindication and Damages. The value of an Ishpeming alderman's character is $25. This was so determined by a jury in Judge Stone's court after six hours wrestling with the case of Hawes vs. Griffin.

Charles Hawes alleged, and apparently succeeded in establishing, the fact that Michael J. Griffin, a brother alderman of Ishpeming, said his tongue and vote were purchasable. The action was one for slander.

The trouble occurred the evening of the sixth of last May. That was council night in Ishpeming. Mayor Andrews made some recommendations in favor of extensive public improvements. There was a hot time in the council over them, and then his recommendations failed of support. On the side of the administration was Alderman Griffin. Prominent in the opposition was Alderman Hawes.

Hawes claims that he came down out of the council chamber when the meeting was over, and that as he was about to pass down the street heard the mayor use his name in a censorious connection. He turned about and an argument resulted between he and Mr. Andrews. He accused the mayor of not knowing the number of water bonds against the city, and the mayor responded hotly neither did Mr. Hawes.

At this juncture in the argument Alderman Griffin came down the steps. Addressing the mayor he said: "Come away Billy; don't stand there and talk to that fellow. He's getting paid for the way he votes and you ain't Billy." Hawes excitedly cried out that he couldn't prove it, and Griffin replied with words to the effect that he was able usually to prove what he said.

Witnesses on both sides of the case differed some as to the exact phraseology of the remark, but the best the defense could do was to try to turn it off and have it appear that it referred to Mr. Hawes as a preacher and a store clerk, not as an alderman.

The jury got the case at 4:30 in the afternoon, after spending all day listening to the evidence and arguments. It was almost 10:30 before the jury was ready with its verdict, making six hours it had to wrestle with the case. The big fight was on the question of damages.

Fruits of Industry. John M. Egan, late manager of the L. S. & I., has sent THE MINING JOURNAL a copy of a large illustrated book which is called, "Fruits of Industry." It is a work telling of the resources of Georgia and Alabama and is issued by the Central railroad of Georgia, the system over which Mr. Egan now presides as first vice president.

The book is about 6x9 in size and of 150 pages. It is bound with heavy rough paper, cream colored. Within its covers are described some of the fruits of industry along the line of the Central Railroad of Georgia system. By fruits of industry is meant the products of the fields and factories, mills and orchards, farms and gardens, and many points of interest that have been built up since the civil war. It is claimed in the book that in material prosperity and advancement the states of Georgia and Alabama have led the whole south, and that the sections of these states traveled by the Central show more advancement than any other parts.

In glancing over the book one of the things that is first to impress one is the number of cotton mills shown. From this it would seem that many concerns are springing up where they are most convenient for manufacturing the still greatest product of the south. In Alabama the line has its terminal in Birmingham, the now famous center of the southern iron district. The scenes in that vicinity are not unlike those which might be secured in the iron regions of the upper peninsula. There are a number of full page illustrations to show the prosperity of the fruit growers. Some of the displays of fruit shown in the pictures seem marvelous when viewed with northern eyes. There are a number of fine pictures of schools, colleges and churches, and a few pictures of typical southern views. The manifest endeavor is, however, to show the new south.

- Trustee—Gust Andrews, three years.

They will be installed at a meeting to be held Jan. 5, 1897.

NORTHERN LIGHT'S NEW OFFICERS.

Yesterday at the regular meeting of Northern Light lodge No. 155, D. of R., the following were elected officers for the ensuing term:

- Noble grand—Mary Young.
- Vice grand—Esther Wadsworth.
- Recording secretary—Ellen Marshall.
- Secretary—Louisa Helmert.
- Treasurer—Jennie Todd.

Card of Thanks.

To the many friends whose constant sympathy and help were ours during the long illness of our little Harold, and who during his illness and since his death have striven in every way to lighten the burden put upon us, we desire to return thanks out of the depths of full hearts. We appreciate their kindness and will cherish their deeds in grateful recollection.
