RESIDENTS OF TOWN WARNED BY KRUGER TO LEAVE.

Said to Be the Boer Intention to Blow Up the Mines Before Evacuating—Meanwhile Panic Exists at Pretoria, the Exodus Continues and Practically No Measures for Defense Have Been Taken.

PROMENADE BY THE BRITISH WITH LITTLE FIGHTING

London, Thursday, May 29—5 a. m.—The correspondent of The Morning Post at Lourenzo Marques says: President Kruger has issued a proclamation warning all people to leave Johannesburg or remain there at the peril of their lives, as it might become necessary to destroy the town and mines.

London, Monday, May 28—Midnight—The war office, just before midnight, published the following dispatch from Lord Roberts:

"Klip River, Transvaal, May 28.—We marched eighteen miles Bulay and six miles to Johannesburg. The enemy had prepared several positions where they intended to oppose us, but abandoned one after another as we neared them. We pressed them so hard they had just time to gather their five guns into a train and leave as some of the Australian infantry dashed into it. 'French and Ian Hamilton's forces apparently are engaged with the enemy ten miles to our left, as firing has been heard since noon. Farmers near our line of advance are surrendering with their arms and horses. 'Rundie' occupied Senekal the 24th. No report of what took place has reached me yet. 'H. J. Whigham has just returned to Lourenzo Marques from Pretoria, where he went disguised. He wires that President Kruger has all arrangements made for flight, presumably to Heidelberg. A special train, provisioned, is already with steam up. The train waits some distance from Pretoria."

SITUATION SUMMARIZED.

London, Tuesday, May 29—4:30 a. m.—Lord Roberts now within a day's march of Johannesburg, and General French and General Ian Hamilton fought the Boers from noon until evening yesterday but with what result is not known here.

The burghers in northern Natal are, according to General Buller, preparing to fall back to Heidelberg hill and probably they will not contest Laing's Nek stubbornly. A correspondent with General Buller, wiring from Newcastle yesterday morning, said that Lord Roberts' advance had inspired the Boers with a desire to get back into Transvaal territory. Lord Roberts' latest movement was probably then unknown in the Boer and British camps in Natal.

ROBERTS MAY HELP BULLER. Military critics consider that Lord Roberts is in a position now to easily render Laing's Nek untenable, as he can cut off the communications and take the Boers in the rear. General Buller is remaining quiet. The Boers have fired six shells at the British camp from a six-inch gun on Pozvanna mountain. Following is the oath which Sir Redvers administers to the rebels:

"I, a British subject, do hereby swear that I was forced by arms against her majesty's troops, I now hand in my horse, rifle and ammunition; and, if permitted, will proceed direct to my farm and remain there as a loyal British subject until her majesty's pleasure. I promise not to communicate with, aid, or abet her majesty's enemies under penalty of death. Carl Cronje, son of Piet Cronje, signed the declaration, but arms subsequently were found on his farm. The Times publishes the following from Newcastle, dated Sunday: 'Four hundred Boers are advancing toward Dundee. There is no fear that our communications will be cut.' General Rundie was shelling the suburbs of Senekal Saturday. In a skirmish Major Dalbie and four men were killed and Lieutenant Kennard and three troopers wounded. Several British were captured. The Boers disappeared to the northeast of Senekal and the grenadiers entered town at dusk. Three thousand Boers were reported at Janning Kraals. One correspondent avers that the British patrol on entering Senekal was set upon by Boers concealed in a house. General Rundie's prisoners tell the same story. All are sick of the war and desire peace. The whole number of

ADVANCING ON PEKIN.

BOXERS BURN A RAILWAY STATION BUT TWENTY-NINE MILES FROM THE CHINESE CAPITAL.

Tien Tsin, May 28.—'Boxers' burned Luilino, a station on the Luan railway twenty-nine miles from Pekin last night. They also wrecked the track, destroyed a number of cars and murdered several Chinese employes. The Belgian engineers in charge of the work are safe at Feng-Tai. The Boxers are marching on toward Pekin. REFUGEES FLEE BEFORE THEM.

Shanghai, May 28.—The troubles arising from the defeat of the government troops by the 'Boxers' have extended to Luan, where the work on the railway is almost completely stopped. Five hundred refugees have sought protection in the French cathedral at Pekin.

the volksraad. The government hopes by this means to bring about English grave difficulties. The conduct of United States Consul Hay is admirably discreet and meets with universal praise alike from the Boers and British sympathizers.

BOTHA URGING FOR PEACE. Another dispatch from Lourenzo Marques says that General Louis Botha is at Pretoria urging President Kruger to arrange peace terms and that officials, with their families, were leaving Johannesburg and Pretoria for Lydenburg.

The Lourenzo Marques correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Monday, says: 'Commandant General Botha consulted with the Transvaal government a few days ago and in the strongest terms urged capitulation, recognizing that the struggle was utterly hopeless. Neither persuasion nor the liberal use of the skambok can induce the men to stand. President Steyn is equally emphatic for peace, but Kruger is still obstinate. There is a strong feeling at Pretoria that the peace party, however, may at any moment carry its point. While the reports of a possible border conflict between the Boers and Portuguese are not credited here, the unreasoning of the local officials continues. All sorts of sensational rumors are afloat. The latest is of the hauling down of the Portuguese flag at the Portuguese consulate in Pretoria. The Boers are undoubtedly strengthening their commandos on the border.' According to another special dispatch from Lourenzo Marques there are nine hundred Boers on the Portuguese border.

MINES TO BE DESTROYED.

According to a dispatch from Lourenzo Marques, Herr Underlay, proprietor of a German newspaper at Johannesburg, interviewed President Kruger a few days ago regarding the mines, and was told the mines would be blown up. A hundred cases of winter clothing for the prisoners at Pretoria have been sent by the relief association to United States Consul Hay, as well as £1,000 in cash.

MESSINGER BOY AT LOURENZO.

Durban, Natal, Monday, May 28.—James Smith, the American District messenger who is carrying a message of sympathy from the Philadelphia school boys to President Kruger, has arrived at Lourenzo Marques. President Kruger has sent a private car to convey him to Pretoria.

RELIEF TAKEN COOLLY.

MAFEKING DECLINES TO BE SURPRISED AFTER THE SEVEN MONTHS OF CLOSE SIEGE. London, Monday, May 28.—A dispatch from Mafeking, dated the 18th, says: 'This is how Mafeking took the relief. Faintly from the northwest, about 1:30 p. m., May 16, we heard the sound of artillery. Colonel Baden-Powell went up to the lookout. The women and children were on the rooftops and most of the men were manning the works. Major Mackenzie of the headquarters staff tumbled down-stairs at 3 with a pigeon in his hand. In a few seconds the dispatch was on the table and the code books were out. Major Mackenzie traced cried out: 'They left Mafeking this morning and are coming in.' The fight must have lasted three hours, when through our glasses the Boers could be seen stretching out in retreat. At sunset the garrison seized the Standard and Digger's fort and shelled the Boers as they passed. Darkness was drawing on, when Major Karri Davis, with eight horsemen, entered Market square. The town took the relief quietly. A trooper stopped a passerby and said: 'Hi, we are the relief column.' 'No, indeed,' said the citizen, 'we heard you were outside,' and the citizen proceeded on his errand. 'Well, I'm blowed,' said the trooper, 'but he takes it pretty coolly.' The party dismounted at the staff office, where a crowd gathered and cheered for the first time in seven months. Then the troops in the outer forts cheered. When the relieving column marched in at 4 a. m. there was plenty of whisky.

BANDIT TAKES PORTER'S PLACE.

HOLDS UP THE PASSENGERS ON A MO. PACIFIC SLEEPING CAR. Falls City, Neb., May 28.—The passengers on the sleeping car of the Missouri Pacific train which left Kansas City last night were held up and robbed this morning between here and Stella by a lone highwayman. There were not many passengers in the sleeper, and he did not get much. A mile east of Stella he jumped the train, keeping the passengers back at the point of a revolver, and escaped.

FIGHT LOST BY DEWEY.

Supreme Court Cuts in Two Prize Money Claim.

YANKEE FLEET STRONGER.

Held That Help from the Land Batteries Is Not Within the Meaning of the Statute.

SUM REDUCED TO $200,000.

Washington, May 28.—The United States supreme court today decided Admiral Dewey's bounty claim against the admiral's contention. In effect it deprives the admiral and the men engaged with him at Manila of half the amount claimed by them. Justice Harlan rendered the opinion of the court, which turns on whether the words 'superiority' or 'inferiority' in the statute had reference to the support of the enemy's vessels by land batteries, mines, torpedoes, etc. It was held that only vessels are included within the meaning of the statute. The original claim was about $400,000. The court of claims reduced it to $200,000. That decision is sustained by today's decision. The admiral's personal claim is reduced from $20,000 to $10,000.

Chief Justice Fuller and Justices White and McKenna dissented. Secretary Herbert, counsel for Admiral Dewey, filed a petition for a rehearing. The supreme court adjourned today until October.

MORE FILIPINO SURRENDERS.

OVER A HUNDRED MEN, WITH RIFLES, YIELD TO AMERICANS. Washington, May 28.—General MacArthur, at Manila, today cabled the war department as follows: 'Three officers and fifty-six men, with forty-six rifles, surrendered unconditionally at Cuyayan yesterday. Three officers and forty-six men, with fifty-five rifles, surrendered unconditionally today at Tarlac. These spontaneous surrenders are very encouraging.'

STRIKERS USE DYNAMITE.

ST. LOUIS LINE IS BADLY WRECKED—OFFICERS HURT. St. Louis, May 28.—The Bellefontaine line was partly wrecked by dynamite at Nearhouse avenue and Twentieth street this afternoon. Officers Stollman and O'Keefe were seriously injured. None of the passengers or crew were injured.

ATTEMPT AT ARBITRATION.

State Commissioner of Labor Rixey today sent a letter to President Whit-tacker, of the Transit company, and Chairman Edwards, of the strikers' committee, requesting him to appoint two persons, each to act as arbitrators, to settle the strike as provided by the statute, saying that if they failed to do so within twenty-four hours he would make the appointments himself. A meeting of the business men was held this afternoon at which committees were appointed to call upon both sides in an endeavor to secure mutual consent to arbitrate the differences.

POSTAL FRAUDS THE ONLY ONES.

AUDITORS AT HAVANA MAKE A GRATIFYING REPORT TO WOOD. Havana, May 28.—General Wood received today a report from the auditors who have been investigating the treasury and customs departments. The auditors say they have not finished their work, but believe everything, so far as they have gone, satisfactory. At all events, the method of keeping the books does not present any difficulty to the examiners. The auditors are not Havana employes, but have been brought especially from the United States because of their record as experts.

CUBANS ARE TICKLED.

Although the investigation has not been completed, much gratification is felt by the officials at the preliminary reports. It is now believed the scandal does not touch any other branch of the service than the postal. At the Cuban clubs, however, they say that the postal frauds alone 'settle the question of American occupation,' contending that this must cease as soon as the military are withdrawn because as the Cubans put it, 'the only civil department not under military supervision turns out to be a gigantic fraud.' The argument is that the Americans will not attempt, after these revelations, to impose civil government upon Cuba.

BRISTOW CUTTING EXPENSES.

Acting Director General Bristow is still endeavoring to reduce the expenses in the postal department, although fixing the salaries at figures slightly above those paid in the United States because of the abnormal conditions existing here.

C. & H. FIRE STILL BURNING. GAS FILLS THE ENTIRE MINE AND MEN CANNOT GO UNDERGROUND—LATE DETAILS.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a large force of workmen was still engaged in hauling clay to the vicinity of the burning shaft at the Calumet & Hecla mine. At that time it was impossible to say how far the fire had extended. It was still burning and gas in disagreeable quantities was in evidence about the mouth of the shaft.

Although well patronized, the excursion over the Copper Range on Sunday to the Ontonagon county did not pay as well as its predecessor. The opportunity for people of this county to visit the new copper mines in this way is certainly a good one, and it is to be hoped the plan will be followed during the summer.

The Houghton Concert band rendered a most pleasing concert at the band stand on Sheldon street Sunday evening. A large crowd of people was present and thoroughly enjoyed the music. The band has made wonderful progress under Professor Marino's direction during the past few weeks and will better work may be expected of it shortly.

DOOLEY ON ALCOHOL AS FOOD. "Ye don't know, Hinnessy," said Mr. Dooley, "that liquor is food. It is, though. Food-an' drinkin. That's what a doctor says in th' papers, an' another doctor was in th' stuff down to th' Philipeens. He says 't is almost insinial that people shud drink in thim hot climates. Th' prespiration don't dry on thim after a hard pursuit iv Aegyptaloo an' th' capture iv Giral' Pantaloon de Garshy, th' west an' th' bay'nits among th' people, he says. NEGRO IN THE SOUTH.

He Has Larger Opportunities in That Section Than in the North.

A Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript writes that paper saying that echoes of the Montgomery conference continue to come to the national capital, where everything pertaining to the race question has a practical as well as an academic interest. A gentleman of Massachusetts birth and training, connected with one of the scientific departments of the government, who has just returned from the conference, was asked by the Transcript correspondent if there was to him an objectionable "southern tone" to the gathering. His reply was: "My father would probably have thought so. He was an original abolitionist, and while I share his views to the extreme in regard to the evil of slavery, my long residence in Washington has made me incline to a more southern view of the negro than he would have taken. This is about the difference. There was no apology for slavery or defence of slavery heard in the conference, and at the same time there was a tendency to treat of slavery in a political and popular way, and to address the remarks to a southern audience. If the conferences are to be held in other years, as I hope will be the case, I think they will decide to divide the discussions so as to have the popular part of the speaking in the evening and the scientific and statistical in the day session. At this first conference they were confused.

"I got quite as much information from a man in Montgomery who was not a speaker at the conference as from any who were. This man told me his history and experiences with the negroes, and it seemed to me most valuable testimony. He was born in Rhode Island and taken by his parents to the south shortly after the close of the war, where they engaged in planting. He now has an immense estate upon which three hundred negroes live, renting of him what might be called small farms and turning over to him the produce. Among his tenantry crime is absolutely unknown and between the two races—the free whites and the many blacks there is not the slightest friction. While this is characteristic of the region in which he lives, in the lower part of the state, it is particularly so of his own place, and he attributes it to certain rules which he long ago put in force. Two classes of negroes he will not allow upon his estate, and as soon as he finds any of them he terminates their lease at the earliest possible date. They are the criminals per se—gamblers, idlers, thieves—and the exhorters. He makes a distinction between colored ministers and a particular type of negroes who take to exhorting at the religious gatherings, which are the units of social life on the plantation. He finds these men dangerous to the peace and safety of the community.

"Another rule which he insists upon in all his leases is that his tenantry shall have no business dealings with any other white man except himself. They must sell their cotton to him, for which he pays the market price. They are also obliged to accept his directions as to the handling of the crop and the management of their lands. While their requirements would not be tolerated by white tenants in the north, they are evidently designed to prevent the negro from being victimized by unscrupulous white men. An inferior class of Jewish traders have gone into the lower part of the south and are provoking great hostility on the part of the negroes, who are, I talked with. The negro is much taken with them because they call him 'Mr.' and inquire for the health of the 'madame.' They buy his cotton, when ordinary men are paying 6 1/2 cents a pound, at 6%, but so cast the figures as to leave the negro less money than 6 1/2 cents at an ordinary computation would bring. It is to prohibit the tenantry from doing business with these traders that the rule described was adopted.

"It is from men like this that the best views of the negro question can be obtained. The northern men who have gone south since the war have none of the inherited tradition of slavery days. The south as a whole seems willing to accord the negro an industrial opportunity—he can get his living there, which is something which cannot always be said of the north, where the labor unions in one occupation after another put up an impassable barrier against him. The negro has greater industrial opportunities in Atlanta than in Boston. He can do more things. Whether the south will preserve this industrial opportunity for him remains to be seen. In New Orleans I understand, along the river front, white labor is organized and has excluded the negro from much work that he could formerly find to do. That is the great negro problem in the future—the preserving of openings in which he can earn a living, when the tendency to crowd him out from one thing after another is so pronounced. While the south seems more hospitable to him in this respect, it will not tolerate political equality. The discussion of the repeal of the fifteenth amendment is wholly academic. The amendment will not be repealed, and if it were, conditions would not be greatly changed thereby.

A BORN FINANCIER. "There is a small boy that I know who is going to be a millionaire some day," declared Jones. "At present he has only an innocent face splashed with sun spots, over which I never even allow the ghost of a smile to flicker. I am fond of fishing; so fond, in fact that I don't mind now and then coming back from a fishing trip without even having enjoyed the sight of a fish. But there is one thing that I cannot stand, and that is the sight of my friends who cannot understand that the pleasures of a fisherman are not solely confined to a big catch.

"I went fishing the other day for trout in a small country stream which I have always held sacred even from my closest friends, and I found no luck, and was on my way home when I met this small boy with a long string of fine trout. His outfit would have caused a horse to laugh; but he had the fish, and I had none, so I did not feel like laughing myself. With my guying friends in mind, I struck a bargain with the urchin, paying him three prices, and went on my way rejoicing. Two days later I got around and buy 'em up; then I sell 'em to some greeny that ain't had no luck. I ain't caught a fish myself this year. I ain't had time," he added with a grin.

"See here," said I, somewhat exasperated at his luck. "I'll give you fifty cents if you will tell me how you manage to get such a string of trout every day." "The boy held out for a dollar and got it. 'Its jes' this way,' said he, 'all the kids around here fish more or less and sometimes they catch one or two, and I go around and buy 'em up; then I sell 'em to some greeny that ain't had no luck. I ain't caught a fish myself this year. I ain't had time,' he added with a grin.

OUR CONSULAR SERVICE. In the May Atlantic George F. Parker discusses the condition and needs of the United States consular service, showing its defects and suggesting that the present is a good time for agitating reformatory measures. Our consular service is less a mere paper name, which is particularly and chiefly commercial. We have more paid consulates than Great Britain has in Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Mexico, Spain, Sweden and Norway and Switzerland. English consuls in Algeria, Morocco, the small Balkan states and in the Dutch, French and Portuguese colonies, look chiefly after their government's political interests. Our consular service has rather given encouragement to the purchase of foreign goods for home consumption than to the export trade.

The foreign consular services are by no means models for us in every respect, as is often asserted. Mr. Parker believes our service would be more efficient by taking it from the state department and placing it under a department of colonies or commerce, if such is organized. There should be consuls general, two classes of consuls and two of vice consuls and partly clerical force. The work will be one of absolute utility. The present system is constructed to give the largest number of places, and these should be reduced. The 100 representatives sent to the British empire could be cut down one-half without a particle of inconvenience. Under Mr. Parker's plan, the consular service would contain 150 officials of the various grades, of whom fifteen would be consuls general, forty-five consuls and the remainder vice consuls, with a force of from 300 to 350 clerks and assistants and forty or fifty student interpreters for Russia, Turkey and the Orient. The plan provides for appointments of real experience and business habits, and provision is made for testing the ability of vice consuls before accepting them, by a year of actual service. The terms of service should be six years in the various grades, and consuls should be required to keep in touch with affairs at home and to visit periodically the

MOON SHUTS OFF OLD SOL'S RAYS.

Washington, May 28.—Advices received at the naval observatory from its agents in various points in the South show that favorable weather prevailed for observing the sun's eclipse today, that the contact occurred very close to schedule time and that the program arranged was carried out without a hitch.

THREE EXPEDITIONS SENT.

Three parties were sent out from the observatory, viz.: One to Pinehurst, N. C., in charge of Professor Aaron N. Skinner, one to Barnesville, Ga., under Professor Milon Updegraff, and the other to Griffin, Ga., under Professor Stimson J. Brown.

GET PICTURES OF THE ECLIPSE.

Washington, Ga., May 28.—The success attending the eclipse observations here was highly gratifying. The weather was perfect. The time of totality was one minute and twenty-five and three-tenths seconds.

BUT A FEW SECONDS OFF.

The first contact was scheduled to take place at forty-four and two seconds past 7 o'clock, meridian time. A few seconds before that the edge of the sun and moon were in contact, but it was several seconds later before the naked eye looking through smoked glass could tell that the eclipse was actually taking place.

VALUABLE DATA SECURED.

Dr. Boeger, who watched through the 26-inch instrument, for the phenomenon caused by the sun's rays falling through the leaves of trees, was rewarded for his pains. With an unshadowed sun the rays streaming through the leaves produce little circles of light on the ground beneath.

Professor Boeger found that these circles correspond to the radius of the sun. Unofficial reports which have reached Washington indicate that the eclipse was visible to a greater or less degree in the entire path of totality. Particularly fortunate were the observers in the southern section of the country, where the weather seemed to be unusually favorable for securing the photographic data which scientists are so anxious to obtain.

EUROPEAN ASTRONOMERS WITNESS ECLIPSE AT ALGIERS.

Algiers, May 28.—The eclipse was observed here under fine conditions. The sky was almost cloudless and the atmosphere almost transparent. Observations were made here from England, France, Germany, Italy and Switzerland, the largest one being the British.

TRIPOLI, MAY 28.—The eclipse expedition under Professor Lodd, of Amherst college, completed successful observations with twenty telescopes, including a 24-inch telescope.

MAJORITY REPORTING SUCCESS.

Washington, Ga., May 28.—The success attending the eclipse observations here was highly gratifying. The weather was perfect. The time of totality was one minute and twenty-five and three-tenths seconds.

SCANDALS AT HOM
A WASHINGTON PAPER CHARGES THAT IRREGULARITIES EXIST IN THE POSTAL SERVICE THERE

Washington, May 28.—The Post of this city prints a long article setting forth that corruption exists in the postoffice here, these including manipulation of the payroll.

No statement is made that this matter is new. In fact, the indications all point to its having gone back about a year, which is actually the case. Last spring, while the late Captain Willett was still postmaster of Washington, the same stories were brought to the postmaster general, who then had an investigation made by his inspectors. Meanwhile, Mr. Tracewell, comptroller of the treasury, had received complaints that the auditing under him had been carelessly done in certain departments; so he procured the services of some special agents, who investigated wherever the lines of suspicion led, and their reports were that several payments had been charged in the post office department to one appropriation which ought to have been charged to another, and that some hundreds of dollars had been expended without proper authority of law. The errors in appropriations charges were accordingly corrected by adjustment, and the functionaries who had made the unauthorized payments were required to make good the amounts out of their own salaries. When Captain Willett surrendered the postmastership, and Mr. Merritt, the present postmaster, took charge, he dismissed the special agents who had been in the office a number of years and put a man of his own acquaintance into the vacant place. Directly after that stories of irregularities began to appear, most of them pretty heavily veiled, in the local press. General Merritt's name being mixed in some way in most of them.

Postmaster General Smith has expressed the hope that congress or some other independent body will make a thorough investigation of every nook and cranny of his department, and, if there is anything wrong there, smoke it out. He has invited congressmen who were at the department today to be marked, as they came away, that congress would undoubtedly take up the subject and sift it.

ARMY REORGANIZATION.
PLAN FOR IT WILL BE PRESENTED AT THE SHORT SESSION OF CONGRESS IN THE FALL.

Washington, May 28.—The chairman of the house committee on military affairs, Representative Hull, announces that at the opening of the December session he will have ready a bill providing for the complete reorganization and permanent increase of the army, and will make a strenuous effort to secure the passage of this bill at the short session. He declares that unless it is then passed an extra session after March 4 will be necessary. Otherwise the United States will have to haul its flag from its new possessions and withdraw its authority from them. The present army of 65,000 regulars and 35,000 volunteers ceases to exist on June 30, 1901, when the army will again recede to 27,000 regulars, of which 15,000 are needed for coast defenses, unless congress takes action to increase it. He believes the bill should pass no matter which party wins the presidential election. The size of the army to be fixed by the proposed bill has not been determined upon, but the measure will provide for a regular army of strength equal to the regular and volunteer forces now in service.

A TALK WITH A LION TAMER.
Herr Seeth's Methods and Some Accidents He Has Had.

"Stalking" a lion trainer for the purpose of an interview is no easy matter. It is a lion tamer's job to be at the most proverbial. Have not the artistic wags of America ad our own country illustrated this from time to time in many a witty sketch—the main motive being in one picture the heroic demeanor of the terrorizer of the king of beasts in the lion's cage, and in a comic contrast his crestfallen demeanor in the privacy of his own particular domestic circle? This does not apply, however, to Herr Seeth, who is a man in every sense, both in the physical and mental meaning of the word. Our wholesale trainer of lions, a very masculine man of 6 feet 7 1/2 inches in height, and some seventeen stone odd in weight, at first entirely declined to be interviewed. And in this condition of mind a man of Herr Seeth's stamp is very difficult to deal with. However, with the help of the press representative of the hippodrome, I ran him literally speaking to earth by the devious passages that run under this magnificent building and discovered perhaps the greatest lion tamer that ever existed in the privacy of his dressing room.

He was reclining in his chair in the easy manner of an athlete. His greeting was of the cheery type. "What do you want me for? What can I tell you? I have not my birth certificate with me." And the great Herr regarded me in quizzical fashion from under his white brows and thoroughly enjoyed my discomfort. "I know what you are going to ask me. Well, my age is thirty-six, and I was born in the village of Kollmar, in the province of Holstein, and I have just three minutes to dress myself in."

"One fact I should like to know," I murmured. "You are the first trainer of lions that we have ever seen turn his back on a lion."

The massive frame of Herr Seeth shook with merriment. "Ah, my friend, the secret is to find out on which animal you can turn your back with safety. I do not show my back to every one of my twenty-one lions. When my animals growl and paw at me, do they mean it? Sometimes they do," remarked Herr Seeth, enigmatically, "and sometimes they don't. Whenever they do drop their paws on me, you will notice that I never move. They are the big cats of the feline species, and their habits are almost identical. You try to move quickly, and at once they uncover their claws. And a scratch from a lion is no light matter."

"I carry two whips? There is a good reason for this. One hand is always disengaged, and the whip is used in a

IRONCLAD FEVER.
A Singular Disease That Was Manifested on Early Battleships.

Probably the most striking event in the history of naval architecture is the substitution of metal for wood as a material for the hull of the battleship. In the days of the American civil war, not only demonstrated the advantages of iron over wood for purposes of war, and revolutionized the methods of naval architecture, but also furnished a marked example of how sanitary ideas in shipbuilding have had their capacity in the fight between the Monitor and Merrimack it was found that there was not sufficient air in the turret steamer for the crew, and that the suffocating gases generated by the explosion of gunpowder found their way below and rendered it practically impossible for the men to work. Necessity therefore compelled the introduction of some apparatus for artificial ventilation. The old methods in vogue for hundreds of years, had been retained, even under new conditions, and but for the striking exhibition of direct interference with the fighting capacity would have remained for many years longer.

It was in the early ironclads that a peculiar disease developed which, being confined to those vessels, was soon designated ironclad fever. In this affection the initial symptoms were much like those of typhus, but in a short time the severe occipital pain was followed by complete aphonia, and this by coma and death. The introduction of ventilating appliances caused the disappearance of this singular disease, and in time these metal boxes, almost entirely submerged, came to be regarded as the most salubrious vessels afloat.

LIGHTNING LIKE ROMANCE.

A well known official of the war department who selected this little story, declares that it is really true. The parties concerned are both clerks in the department mentioned, at least, one of them is, while the other was, up to a few days ago.

It seems that very recently a popular young man of the northwest was invited to card party. Among other guests he met for the first time was a young lady unusually pretty, if not beautiful, and unquestionably attractive. For a few fleeting moments he chanced to be her partner at one of the tables. A great deal may happen during a brief period, however. While the cards were being dealt the conversation was directed toward the Paris exposition, and the young lady remarked:

"I would marry anybody who would take me to Paris for the exposition."

"Do you mean that?" inquired the card partner.

"I most certainly do," was the reply. "I am going to Paris," then announced her partner; "will you marry me?"

"Why, of course," was the laughing agreement.

The bell at the head of the table rang, the parties changed their seats, and the little affair was apparently a thing of the past. It chanced that the young man was asked to escort the young lady home that night. Before reaching her residence details had been arranged and they were actually married the following day.

Some of her female "friends" say that she is sorry now because she has found that she does not like him so very much. At all events, they are going to Paris early in June—Washington Star.

NEW HOTEL.

Clifford Dagnais has rented the Werner block on Third street, just south of Washington, and will soon open the place as a hotel and boarding house. Everything will be run in first class shape and under Mr. Dagnais' efficient management the new venture gives every promise of success. The hotel will be known as the Republic house.

GERMAN IRON ORDERS FOR 1901.

A trade correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung, writing from the Lower Rhine, sends to that journal an interesting statement in regard to the position of orders for iron for 1901.

The majority of consumers seem at first disinclined to adopt this course, but rather to pay higher prices in the future than to arrange at the present moment for all the raw material required for 1901.

It is therefore believed in interested circles that the prospect for consumers is such that the only alternative ultimately will be for them to accept the offers for remote delivery.

FAST RIDERS FINED.
 NEGAUNEE POLICEMEN INTEND TO COMPEL AN OBSERVANCE OF THE BICYCLE ORDINANCE.

Scorchers are, apparently, a thick-headed lot. Some ten days or two weeks ago Marshal Gribble issued a notice to the effect that the bicycle ordinance to protect the general public from reckless wheelmen would be enforced. It calls for proper signal appliances on every wheel and requires that every bike used after dark shall be equipped with a light. Scorching and coasting about the city are particularly prohibited.

In a short interval following Marshal Gribble's notice there were a couple of arrests for violations of the section of the ordinance prohibiting scorching. Sunday three more fast riders were taken into custody and held in the lockup until yesterday morning, when they were tried before Justice Thoren. These offenders rode up Iron street at a breakneck speed at the time the Memorial Sunday parade was using that thoroughfare. Their necks were craned over their handle bars and they plowed ahead with the utmost recklessness in plain violation of the law. Marshal Gribble arrested them and on his complaint they were fined yesterday morning.

The officers say that scorching must cease and they intend to continue to arrest all offenders who practice this dangerous amusement. Wheelmen will do well to bear this fact in mind as the costs and fines consequent on an arrest make up a neat sum of money.

BAD RUNAWAY SUNDAY.
 One of C. W. Taylor's teams attached to a single rig ran away with three men Sunday just about noon. The horses were being driven in from the Palmer road. They have an unconquerable fear of street cars and on a couple of former occasions have broken away from their driver on meeting one. Sunday three cars stood at the eastern terminus of the track in front of the Breitung house waiting to return the Ishpeming people who were attending the memorial services at the Mitchell M. E. church to their homes. The team was thrown into a panic at the sight of the cars and dashed up Pioneer avenue at a high rate of speed. They made a sharp turn at Clark street, turning the buggy over on its side and throwing the occupants out. They ran but a short additional distance before being stopped. One of the men in the carriage was somewhat hurt while the equipage was badly damaged. It was fortunate that the horses did not get away a little later when the parade of the soldiers returning from the Mitchell M. E. church would have occupied the streets as they might have trampled down a pedestrian with serious results.

A CLUMSY BLUNDER.
 General Brooke's decree, continued still under General Wood in Cuba, refusing legal recognition to other than civil marriages, was an awkward exhibition, to say the least of it, of a singular lack of appreciation for the religious susceptibilities of a people by officials whose first duty it obviously was to conciliate. General Brooke was doubtless misled by the suggestion of some native radical who imagined that Cuba must follow the example of the French revolution in its path to complete freedom, and stamp out religion at the start. He was perhaps told that the clergy was oppressive, and that one of their strongest weapons in the control of the people was their monopoly of the marriage rite. He should have hesitated to decree as law in Cuba a regulation which no state legislature in his own country would dare enact. It not only throws discredit on the great majority of marriages in the island, but stamps as illegal couplings all marriages taking place after the date which might be legalized according to the religious convictions of the population. It must have sorely wounded the feelings of the people, and reminded them that the little finger of the American government was heavier upon them than the whole arm of Spain.

Archbishop Sarrett, with a large delegation of priests and laymen, has presented General Wood a petition against the obnoxious law, and at the same time made an address in which he characterized the law as narrow and un-American, opposed to moral and social order, and caused a needless and injurious conflict between the civil and ecclesiastical authorities, and was a violation of the principles of liberty, of conscience and freedom of worship professed by the American government and guaranteed by the treaty of Paris. It was contrary to the law of every state and territory of the United States, all of which recognize and validate every marriage contracted before a duly authorized minister of religion.

The petition was signed by over 30,000 people, and might have been signed by nearly the whole population, were it necessary. The catholic majority are by no means alien in their bigotry at this superfluous insult to religion, but have the sympathy of the protestants as well. General Wood will, doubtless, modify the law; but the episode will live in the memory of the people as an illustration of the awkwardness and lack of tact too frequently characterizing our officials in dealing with people of other races and other religions.—Detroit Tribune.

SOCIAL LIFE IN MANILA.

Dictates of Local Custom Are Very Closely Followed.

People of the Upper Circles Enjoy Themselves Driving, Dining and Dancing.

The fashionable life of London, Paris or New York cuts only a small figure in Manila, but the dictates of local custom are almost as exact as in any of these society centres. The hours for performing social duties and the manner of doing are very well understood and closely observed in this far eastern city, says a correspondent in the Chicago News.

The activity of the people begins early in the day, rests and sleeps in mid-day, reaches its most exciting hours about sunset, follows on its enjoyment until midnight or after and sleeps again. The English and Spanish people exercise early—before the heat of day—to their shopping about 9 or 10, have a light luncheon about 1 in the afternoon, sleep, have afternoon tea, take a cold bath and dress to go out at 4:30 or 5 o'clock. The best period of the day begins about this time. Every one drives, and after calls the Luneta is the objective point for all. Here a band plays daily at 5:30.

The scene on the Luneta is very bizarre and cosmopolitan. Spanish, English, Swiss, German, East Indian, Chinese, native and mestizo men and women mingle with the strong majority of Americans. Imagine the variety of colors in the grouping of high Roman Catholic bishops and dignitaries, white-robed priests, black friars, both Spanish and Filipino, American officers in white duck or khaki, American soldiers in brown and red or Spanish prisoners in blue, wealthy Chinese merchants in hellebore, blue or white silk, East Indians from Bombay in queer skirts, Spanish women with enormous pompadour coiffures and painted faces, English women in French hats, native women in the national dress of the Philippines. American women in light, thin gowns, Chinese nursemaids in long blue coats and black trousers, caring for the children of English, Spanish and American families. The intermingling of all these people is the pleasant social feature of the day-to-day life. Everybody comes out to see his friends, to hear the music and to see the glorious sunset.

GALLANT AND GENTLE DEED.
 Major Battie Won Victoria Cross by Succeeding Wounded Under Fire.

The battle of Colenso was fought on December 15, on the morning of a brilliant summer's day. At dawn the men had marched out eagerly and in keen spirits, and with a swing of the shoulders which told of certain victory. Before sundown they were beaten back, more than 1,000 dead and wounded were lying on the field, the hospital tents were filled to overflowing and the wagons which were prepared to move forward were moving back.

The gallant attempts made to save the guns led only to further loss of life. Colonel Long had been shot down, some fifty horses had been sacrificed, and the scanty ranks of the English were thinning rapidly. Still the cry went up, "Hold fast to the guns!" and when the last forlorn hope had been attempted and had failed, the green veil was lifted with the wounded, the dying and the dead. Near by the guns was a donga, and into this many of the wounded had crawled. The gallant who took up the news of the disaster reported the need of help for the injured. To this call Major Battie at once responded as a volunteer. His duty did not take him to the battlefield. He rode down to this inferno. He might as well have ridden before a row of targets during the smartest moment of rifle practice. Three times was his horse shot under him before he reached the donga. Here in the face of a galling fire he dragged the wounded into shelter, and a little later he ventured out under a rain of lead to bring in Lieutenant Roberts, who was lying in the open, desperately wounded.

For some seven hours Battie kept up the wounded in the shallow donga, no one daring to lift a head above the edge of the dip. He alone had a water bottle, and he doled out what water he had in a sixty-minum measuring glass. He was also able to relieve pain by morphine, and when morphine was occupied he sheltered poor Roberts' face from the scorching sun by holding above it a letter he chanced to have in his pocket. It was not until darkness was setting in that it was possible to venture from the seat shelter the donga provided.

The scene of this heroic act was a level stretch of green veld lying between the river and a brown road which led with many desultory turns to Hangwan. To the left were the village and gardens of Colenso, and to the right the grove of mimosa trees, in which the Boer forces were hidden. Beyond the river rose the enemy's entrenchments and the grim ridge of Grobler's Kloof.

The last time I passed over this spot was on the day after our cavalry had reached Ladysmith. It was on a day of peace. The sky was cloudless, and no breath of air stirred the grass. The bodies of the horses belonging to the long guns were lying in long lines across the veld. Their bones were as white as are the bones of museum skeletons, for the vultures and the ants had done their work thoroughly. The hides were still drawn over the bleaching bones, and I round the necks of these ill-fated beasts were still the collars and harness by which they had dragged the guns into action. There was an absolute stillness over the whole scene. To the left a train was being shunted at Colenso station with leisurely persistence, for the day was hot and the sun blazing. To the right were the mimosa groves, glorious with yellow blossoms. In the shadows of which the Boers had hidden.

It was strange that it was from these dainty woods that the hellish fire had poured forth which laid low so many English lads, for on this quiet day the trees were busy with complaining doves. By the banks of the donga, which had been for a whole summer's day a valley of the shadow of death, a Kafir was crouching over a concertina, from which came lazy, dirgelike music.

The railway engine, the doves and the rattling of the wheels moving objects in this garden of peace, all in the blue distance was the ridge of Grobler's Kloof, no longer belching fire and shell, but standing out delicately against the tender sky. No brave dead had ever a gentler setting.—Frederick Treves in the British Medical Journal.

HARD TO HUMBUG WORKMEN
 When They Take Time to Ask Questions.

Few people realize the sum spent monthly by workmen for tobacco, one of their greatest pleasures. The sum is from six to eight million dollars. Too large a proportion of this sum goes to manufacturers who do not hesitate to misrepresent their goods. Some of it goes to trusts. It behooves you to ask questions. You will run no risk of buying inferior or trust tobacco when buying any of the following brands: King-bolt, Gold Rope, Thrasher, or Rise and Shine; made by the Wilson-McCallay Company of Middletown, Ohio. This company is independent of any trust. Buy these brands from your dealers and you will be sure of a pure, wholesome plug tobacco and honest weight. No workman who uses tobacco should be without it. Remember it is made by Union labor. Keep the list of brands in your pocket.

Before the last insurrection of Spanish times, about the year 1896, Manila was considered the most attractive for its social life of all the cities of the far east. Even Shanghai, "the Paris of the east," as it is called, was not so gay. With tennis and golf, horseback riding, rowing and sailing, there was no lack of sport. With concerts and drives on the Luneta, the pony races at Santa Mesa, where the gentlemen rode and at the Hotel Oriente and receptions on the Spanish men-of-war, there was a diversity of social events, added to the smaller happenings, which must have made the life interesting and charming. The fascinating gardens of palms and bamboo, the very blue sea and the deep cerulean sky above the purple mountains, the gorgeous red and tawny yellow sunsets, the brilliant stars and the enchanting white light of the tropical moon, are there for a setting to all social functions the year round. The effect of the wars has been to quiet all this gaiety, but one can foresee that peace will bring back the festivity of old Spanish days, perhaps with a strong mixture of American ideas of social amusement.

TO DISCUSS TAXATION.

Call Issued for Residents of Upper Peninsula Cities to Assemble at Ishpeming.

SUCH A MEETING WILL BE HELD THERE FRIDAY MORNING.

Plan Evolved in Joint Conference Between Mayor Hartnett of Escanaba and George Wagner of Marquette—Invited by Telephone.

REPLIES ARE GENERALLY FAVORABLE.

Mayor John M. Hartnett of Escanaba and Supervisor George Wagner of Marquette had a consultation in the former city yesterday, and as a result of their conference Mr. Hartnett telephoned invitations out over the peninsula to the mayors, city officials and members of the county boards of supervisors to meet together in Ishpeming at the Nelson house at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

TO GET THEM ALIKE.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss taxation matters, with a view to getting the raises in valuation, which everybody admits will come, equal among the various counties of the upper peninsula. It is the hope of the committee that all the counties will come up to the mark of assessment prescribed by the spirit of the law, so there will be no unequal burdens borne by different counties because different boards of supervisors are working on different plans and with different ideas as to what constitutes the true cash value on which basic assessments are to be made this year.

The impression prevailed among such of the Marquette city officials who got wind of the meeting yesterday that it will do little good at this time for the reason that it has been called so late. In some places boards of review have already had their sittings and in others, Ishpeming for instance, they are now in session.

LEAVE THE WRONG VIEW.

There, according to a conversation which a Mining Journal reporter had with Mr. Hartnett over the long distance telephone last evening, hold an erroneous idea of the purpose of the meeting. It is more for the purpose of striking a proper balance of assessment valuations between counties than of balancing them between the various cities. As given by Mr. Hartnett the purpose of the meeting is to discuss assessments for the 1900 state and county tax. That tax will be equalized by the boards of review at one of their fall meetings, so the fact that the city boards of review either have held or are holding their sessions cuts small figure.

Mr. Hartnett says he thinks that anyhow it will be a good thing for the officers and principal citizens of the upper peninsula towns to get together. He anticipates that the meeting will result in the formation of a union of upper Michigan municipalities, although that feature of it has not been prominently mentioned in his invitations.

As the telephone company's long distance lines are not yet completed throughout the peninsula he was unable to reach several important localities, mainly Sault Ste. Marie and the towns of the copper country. The city officials of these places will be invited by letter. All places which could be reached by wire yesterday were reached and Mr. Hartnett says he received generally cordial responses. He expects that there will be a good turnout at Friday's meeting. No limit is placed upon the number of delegates who may attend from any city, nor is it required that they shall be holders of city or county office. Instead it is hoped that everyone interested who can go to Ishpeming will do so.

SOMETHING GOOD COMING.

A Treat in Prospect for the Music-Loving People of Marquette.

Through the influence of some of our musical people the celebrated Lyric Glee club of Milwaukee has consented to give an entertainment in the Marquette Opera House on Friday, June 1st.

The club numbers among its membership some of the enterprising business men of the Cream City, and in addition to the advantage of obtaining for our people an entertainment of the highest character it is a good scheme for Marquette to have such a body of Milwaukee's representative men in their city at a season of the year when the looks her best and efforts are being made to advertise her as the only summer resort for the people in the section south of us.

The club recently gave a minstrel performance, which was the social event of the season at Milwaukee, and in order to make their entertainment at Marquette specially attractive it is decided to have the first part, "A Minstrel Show," and the remainder of the evening a high class vocal concert.

The club will give this as a complimentary entertainment, its members simply asking that their expenses be paid. The company being large, numbering thirty or more, their traveling expenses and entertaining them while here will mean a good round sum for those who are to assume the obligation. And therefore subscription lists will be issued, which it is hoped will reach everyone, giving all an opportunity to make a pledge for the purchase of tickets for the entertainment, the price of which will be $1.75 and 50 cents.

ADVISE BUYING IT.

Hayden, Stone & Co. Recommend Purchase of Calumet & Hecla.

The fire in the Calumet & Hecla mine was the principal topic of conversation in the brokers' offices yesterday and the speculators who were assembled around the boards were there principally to watch the stock go down. This it did, dropping down thirty points from 750, but later recovering five of its loss. Nobody thinks that the property is ruined, or even seriously hurt, but all recognized that under the circumstances a decline was a certainty. Had it not been for the heavy margin required behind the stock there are no doubt many who would have gone after some sure money by selling the stock short. The same people would aim to ride the stock when it came up again, but once more the margin stands in the way of all but the largest dealers.

Hayden, Stone & Co. voice the common opinion in their prediction that the stock will rise again soon and that is a good buy. They said in yesterday's letter:

"Copper had another bad break today but the market here was scarcely affected owing to lack of interest. Calumet & Hecla fell badly on news of a fire in the mine but we don't consider it serious and advise buying it."

Outside of Calumet & Hecla there was almost nothing doing. The danger threatening the big mine did not have a salutary effect upon the smaller producers. Most of them which were on the move at all closed at lower figures than they had Saturday. The fluctuations of a point or more between Saturday's and yesterday's close are as here given:

Atlantic, off one to 22; Calumet & Hecla closed at 725, loss of twenty-five; Anaconda off one at 482; Orocopia (ex-stock) off 33 to 614; Quincy down two to 125; Tamarack up two to 192.

Palme, Webber & Co. said in yesterday's letter to the local branch:

"London, opened weak; spot off 12s. 6d.; futures off 12s. 6d.; closed spot up 2s. 6d., futures up 7s. 6d. The report from Calumet that the Calumet & Hecla mine was on fire caused more transactions in that stock than have taken place for some time. The price before 12:30 p. m. ran off 30 points to 720. Up to noon but 1,091 shares changed hands hands the most active being Calumet & Hecla, Utah and Winona. During the afternoon coppers were very dull."

The grains were inclined to be inactive yesterday. July wheat closed off an eighth at 66 1/2 and July corn closed up as much at 37. In the former case the finish was an eighth under top. A. R. Jones & Co. said in yesterday's letter to Fred Jones:

"Wheat opened at last night's close, but it had no influence here. As we said before this market is very much over-sold and ready to advance strongly but needs something new to give it a start, and so far the market is mostly a repetition of fly reports in the winter wheat section and possibility of serious drought damage to the spring crop. However, the same with which the market recovers from a decline is an encouraging feature and one which is likely to bring in good outside buying orders. The visible statement showed a better decrease than anticipated, 1,508,000 bushels; otherwise statistics were not notable."

MADE THE TRIP.

Moon Passed in Safety Across the Face of the Sun.

Marquette people were out in pretty good force yesterday morning to watch the moon make its journey across the face of the sun. The trip was made on schedule time and apparently without accident.

The day was not very favorable for observations. In the earlier stages of the transition, though, it was possible by all of the glasses to get a fairly good view of the moon gradually covering up the sun's surface. Later clouds closed in and a fog came up, between which two the spectacle was a good deal dimmed.

It was a disappointment to many that the day was not better for observations, as the phenomenon is one which is seldom seen, and even though not looked at with scientific eyes is well worthy of watching. The eclipse was not total here, but at the time of its greatest approach to totality the sun appeared like an inverted quarter crescent.

SENTENCES FOR TWO.

Judge Stone Pronounces Sentence Upon a Pair of Confessed Criminals.

The last of the criminal business which will come up at this term of circuit court was dispatched yesterday when Judge Stone pronounced sentence on George Wilson and James Cameron, both of whom had pleaded guilty to the crimes charged against them.

Wilson, who was originally charged with burglary but who was later allowed to plead in the charge of larceny, was given nine months in the Branch prison. James Cameron, whose crime was petty larceny, got thirty days in the county jail. In pronouncing the sentences the judge said he took into consideration that each of the men had already been in jail three months waiting trial.

Judgment was entered in two default cases yesterday. This week will finish up the present term, as Judge Stone will be obliged to open court in Iron county next Monday.

Charles Brown, of the Marquette Mercantile company, was the victim of a rather peculiar accident last evening. Just as he was going into his house for supper two dogs were lighting in the street outside. He walked out into the road and to separate them kicked one. The other dog, frightened by the onslaught, turned to run and in doing so knocked Mr. Brown's other leg out from under him, with the result that he fell to the ground and his head struck the curb. He was picked up unconscious and carried into the house and it was an hour and a half before he regained sensibility. Late last night he was resting easily.
