SUPPLEMENTARY SERMON ON TEMPER- FENCE PLANTING ON THE IOWA AND NE-

The temperance sermon of last week was so just, so truthful, and in the main so temperate, that the preacher's remarks were not only well worth the attention of every thoughful mind but it is important that they should carry with them the additional weight of a little more complete consideration in one or two particulars.

The preacher says, and it is simply true, that "it is not in the food or drink, but in the excess of food venience there would be no fences; but as fences or drink, that sin is found, and a great and heinous are a convenience, the improving prairie farmer sin it is in the sight of God." He also says "Go I's plan, which is the only plan worthy our attention, is are the desideratum; and there are three plants this; there is no restriction as to meats and drinks, which are most in favor for the purpose but whatever articles are made use of they are to be received with thanksgiving as coming from God," which is true, but not the whole truth. There is no restriction as to meats and drinks; but there is a result. The White Willow is also of hardy and rapid caution in regard to the use of the liberty given. If growth. a lawyer in court reads a part of the law, and stops short omitting its modifications, he is, at the very least, called tricky. To deal with our own souls in the same manner in reading God's law is, at least, incomplete and dangerous. While we may use a grove of white Willow, covering twenty acres, set God's gifts, rendering thanks, we must also "take heed, lest by any means this liberty of ours become a stumbling block to them that are weak." The observance of this last injunction is, in our opinion, the only reasonable ground where total abstinents can stand in their own individual practice, except, of course, they have a liberty to abstain.

But to pass from a passage that has been made to do excessive duty, to a broader point. God's law enjoins love, is love, and love worketh no ill to his neighbor. If human governments undertake to prevent the liberty of one citizen from working barm to other citizens, they cannot be said to abrogate, to "modify," nor to "correct" God's plan, but to work in obedience and in perfect harmony with it. With the "self constituted reformers who would alter this text, "be not drunk with wine," and make it read, "do not drink wine at all," we have at present nothing to do. We, at least, do not "attempt to get above the throne of God" to do any "thankiess job." Neither do we think that the law-makers of the State of Michigan have either attempted or accomplished any such thing. So far as we can learn by copied it off, as nearly as he could remember, for consulting expounders of the law, the law-makers publication. The result is appended. It is lovely : of this State do not say anywhere "do not drink wine at all." They do not say we shall not drink cider at Office third floor Adams block, over Conklin's jewelry store | all, nor beer at all, nor even imported liquors at all. P. O. DRAWER 157, MARQUETTE, MICH. 282-34 | And the Legislature can no more be called a body of "self-constituted reformers," in regard to the liquor laws they have enacted, than they can be styled the same for the enactment of laws that regulate the vending of poisons, harmful books, the proximity of slaughter-houses and cemeteries to our cities, or the regulation of any other acts by which one citizen can use his own liberty to the injury of his fellow citizen. They undertake to prevent, so far as they can, the burdens that must fall upon all the rest by increased taxation, increased danger to life and property, increased pauperism, in consequence of the refusal of some to obey the injunction of the text, 'be not drunk with wine." In so far, the State law-makers imitate the beneficence of God in caring equally well for the obedient and thankful users of His gifts by imposing, for the good of all, restrictions and penalties upon those who are willing to indulge themselves, regardless of the rights of others.

The laws of our own State allows cider, beer and domestic wine and imported liquors to be sold in certain quantities. If it would not be silly it would be, at the least, presumptious, since the point has never been tested, for any one to say that "the sale of these articles in such quantities and under prescribed circumstances would work more mischief than the present state of things."

While we have no right to interfere with the liberty of any man to drink wine or water as he pleases up to a certain point, it comes within the right of self-defense to restrict any person's liberty of action, or even liberty of body and limbs when he uses that Architects, Builders and General liberty to injure another person or to injure society at large, and in preventing such injury we imitate the Divine law given, who in providing us good things to enjoy, and enjoining the giving of thanks in acknowledgement, requires that caution about the rights of others which the "plain, old-fashioned preacher" practically ignores.

"Excess of every kind, in other words, intemperance of every species, in drinking, in eating, in sleeping, in laboring, in resting, in apparel, in everything, God will judge in the great day of fine' account." In the words "in everything" may be included an intemperate interpretation of Christian liberty, ignoring its modifications and limits; intemperate denunciations of those who differ from us; intemperate efforts to impose our consciences upon others; intemperate zeal in working even for the

So far as we know of the efforts that have already been made in the cause of temperance in this city, they have been so free from fanaticism and bigotry that it is a puzzle to account for the fact that every one and all of our law-abiding, orderly, public-spirited citizens are not enlisted in its favor. Especially that the plain, old-fashioned preacher, if he be a fellow-citizen, does not give the movement among us his active support, since he would find so much that is harmonious with his published opinions, and so little that would be in antagonism.

to read with the bible in their hands; the supplementary sermon will, we think, bear the very same comparison, and we invite it. FANNY N. STEELE.

WHY THE CALIFORNIANS ARE HARD DRINKERS .-New Orleans and St. Louis are both famed for magnificent bar-rooms, but the splendor of both those cities is effectually paled by the oriental elegance which characterizes the saloons of San Francisco. They are palaces, builded in marble and decorated with gold. All the treasures of art are lavished upon their frescoed ceilings and emblazoned bars. Beautiful statues occupy niches in the wall. The floors are covered with carpets which yield like mosses to the feet. Large mirrors decorate the walls in which the magnificent scene is reproduced.

BRASKA PRAIRIES.

The erection of board fences on a prairie farms is an expensive operation. In Nebraska the law wisely removes the necessity for fence building, by providing for the herding of live-stock; and in lowa the needs of practical farming life bring about very much the same result. But in each case the law and the practice are the things of the day. It is an instinct in the owner of the land to define his possessions by metes and bounds, obvious to the eye, which separate his land from that of his neighbor. If fences were not a consets himself to their creation as soon as his house is built and his land broken. Live fences, of course, Honey Locust, the Osage Orange, and the White Willow, make good fences. The two former are im-permeable to stock; and when the latter is well-

Mr. C. B. Mendenhall, of Marshall county, Iowa, has used the White Willow extensively. On his farm are about thirteen miles of willow tencing, of from three to seven years growth, about half of which will turn cattle, and a portion cut half a cord of wood to the rod. Mr. Mendenhall has also out six years ago, and which he considers to be worth $500 per acre. As, we doubt not, some of our readers are even now considering the question of moving west to Iowa or Nebraska, and, as knowledge is a light bur-den to carry, we give Mr. Mendenhall's method of planting: The willow slips are to be eight inches in length, thirty sprouts of one or two years' growth.

The ground for the hedge-row is to be plowed as idiot! deeply as possible during August, a dead furrow being left where it is proposed the fence shall stand. Just before frost comes the laud is to be turned back, the dead furrow being filled in. As soon as the earth is open plant the slips eight inches apart, covering them with finely pulverized earth. Cultivate as corn for two years, keeping the infant fence entirely clear of weeds. The following will ensure a rapid growth: Mulch well in the fall after the second year, placing the mulching as close to the plants as may be without touching the stems. By following Mr. Mendenhall's plan the prairie farmer, with White Willow, will have a thrifty fence in the course of three or four years; and in six years his enclosures will be perfect.

Among the raciest and most vigorous of all the good speeches made at the recent anniversary of the Liberation Society in London, those of Mr. Spurwas concerning the social process by which the liberation of religion in England is to be accomplished. He argued that the process would be from the lower parts of society upward; and that though liberation would come ultimately from an Act of Parliament, that Act would be a result, and not the cau-e "The work has to be done outside the House of Commons. the orator evoked immense laughter and applause by this sentence, which followed the or quoted: First of all, I believe, the light originates in poor and obscure people, who have not the power to push it very forward for a long time, and there it struggles among despised but earnest men, and at last it reaches another class, and then another; and we must expect to see the truth leaven the mass of the people, and then, by and by, I have no doubt it The readers of the former sermon were requested will reach the seum of the population floating at the coread with the bible in their hands; the supplewise student of the history of reform, and he might have drawn many illustrations of his proposition from reformatory movements in America in our

THE poet of the Lynchburg News hasn't been particularly lucky. In an ode to his girl he says: "Keen is your sorrow, but keener is my grief." The compositor set it up, "but keno is my grief." THE Terre Haute Express say: A young gentleman remarked to his female companion the other evening: "Ah! the most beautiful evening in my recollection. Luna looks peculiarly beautiful." "Was that her that just went by?" quietly asked over three times. A VERY good joke is circulating in Washington at the expense of Mr. Morrill, of Maine. It seems that the Senator was out for a walk Sunday evening. In passing a leading colored church he was so pleased with the singing that he went in. He had been seated but a few minutes when a colored dignitary approached him, and said in substance that the church was for colored people, and they pre-ferred being left undisturbed by white people during their services. Mr. Morrill immediately retired, A few days before he had been earnestly working for the passage of the Civil Rights bill.

A TRUE STORY .- A boatmen on the Mississippi river tells the following: A poor chap going down the river in a dug-out, had been informed of a certain locality called Rich's Bend, which was eighteen miles around, and in one place 100 yards across. He was advised to land at the narrowest point and drag over his craft, but he passed the spot going down without observing it, and paddling on eighteen miles around, he struck it on the other side. Landing at once, he dragged his boat across, and went glidding along down with a light heart till he came within a few paces of the spot where he dragged across before. Thinking it was a new cut-off he went ashore and tugged his boat over again. When he got back to the river a second time he sauntered around a little to stretch himself and soon discovered an old newspaper out of which he had taken his breakfast that morning. It was now about sundown, and as he had traveled thirty-six miles without any flattering progress, he scuttled his dug out with a hatchet, built a camp, and waited till next day for a steamboat.

on the Savannah River, Georgia, was in the habit of sending his negroes down the river to fish with nets, as the tide served. On one occasion two of his boys reached the fishing ground before the tide had fallen sufficiently for their purposes. Cuffee always goes to sleep when he has nothing else to do. So pushing a pole into the mud they tied the canoe thereto, and lying down intended to sleep until the tide served. But along came a huge devil-fish, which grubbed up the pole and tucking it under his flip-per, began towing the canoe and its contents toward the deep water. When the negroes awoke they were terrified well nigh out of their wits. They were proceeding to sea at the rate of about four miles an hour, but the power propelling the canoe was wholly invisible. The first impulse was to jump geon are prominent. One point aptly made by him overboard, but it occurred to them in time, fortunately, that they were unable to swim. Finally the rope by which master devil-fish was towing them by was cut, and they reached the land in a pitable state of terror. An individual of this species has been known to take up the kedge of a small schooner and carry it upward of a mile, towing the vessel that distance, when he dropped the anchor, apparently tatigned with the amusement.-Galaxy.

A VALUABLE RECEIPE. - The Journal of Commerce publishes a receipe for the destruction of insects. which, if it be one-half as efficacious as it is claimed o be, will prove invaluable:

Hot alum water is a recent suggestion as an insec-

tide. It will destroy red and black ants, coek-reaches, spiders, chintz bugs and all the crawling pests which infest our houses. Take two pounds of aluta and dissolve it in three or four quarts of boiling water; let it stand on the fire until the alum disappears, then apply it with a brush, while nearly boiling hot, to every joint and crevice in your closets, bedsteads, crevices in the floor of the skirting or mop boards, it you suspect that they harbor vermin. If, in whitewashing a ceiling, plenty of alum is added to the time, it will also serve to keep insects at a distance. Cockroaches will fee the paint which has been washed in cool alum water. GRAND PACIFIC HOTEL

Opposite the Government Square and the new Fedeal buildings, is without doubt the most perfect hotel structure in the world, and the largest edifice representing private enterprise in the Ucited States. Its four fronts, on Jackson, LaSalle, Quincy and Clark streets, have an extent of ten hundred and twenty-two (1022) feet. It was opened to the public on the 2d day of June, 1873, and has proved to its multitude of patrons, representing the best elements of the traveling community, the well chosen and unsurpassed character of all its appointments and arrangements, (of which special mention may be made of the Baths, Turkish, Electric and Vapor,) secured with a lavishness of outlay, sided by experience and careful study, never before given to an enterprise of its class. The magnificence of the exterior, its great interior rotundas, superb public apartments, and unequalled suites of private rooms on its mile of corridors, the system and detail of its management have not only won the pride and admiration of our citizens and guests, but furnishes the key to the success of the GRAND PACIFIC, which from the outset has never been equalled by any previous or cotemporary enterprise. Central to all the great railway depots, the banks, wholesale stores, and places of elegant hopping, and amusements, it is at all seasons, by its lightness, spaciousness, and perfection of ventilation, the most comfortable as well as elegant home for the resident guest and tourist ever offered. And it will be maintained as it has begun, the most complete and perfect hotel in the world—a claim for it sustained by the guests of the past eleven months, many of them our patrons since the opening of the former Sherman House, July 8, 1861.

Our city marshal has issued a pronounciamento regarding the numerous dogs which inhabit this place. He allows that every dog must be "licensed, numbered and ornamented" according to law, or suffer the penalty-death. This is considered rather hard on the dogs, for many of them don't know who they belong to, and the panic has left them rather short of money. If any dog attempts to waltz around without a license, "shoot him on the spot" -or anywhere else if he don't happen to be spot-

Religious .- A meeting was held at Austin's hall on Friday evening of last week, for the purpose of formally organizing a Presbyterian church society in Ishpeming. The committee of organization appointed by the Presbytery were Rev. D. Stuart Banks, A. R. Harlow and G. P. Cummings, of Marnette. These gentlemen were present, Mr. Banks the chair. After devotional exercises, and the pointment of a secretary, the business of organiion was carried out. The letters of members m churches in other places were examined, and tse parties accepted as members of the church. Alection for ruling elders resulted in the choice of Mrs. Chos. L. Sheldon, B. W. Wright and Duncan Girist, who accepted the trust and were ordained. Jus Ropes was then elected treasurer. The election a board of trustees will take place on the 10th the present month, the laws requiring ten daysotice to be given before the event. Thrganization now consists of some twentyseven mbers, nine of whom had not yet received their letters from their respective churches. The meeting was of marked interest, and every one present seemed greatly encouraged, and ready and willing to enter heartfly into the new enterprise. The minister, Rev. J. Boyd Andrews, is well pleased with the result of his labors among us. He has been here only three months, and the newly established church is the fruit.

At the meeting on the 10th inst., the question of building a house of worship will probably be discussed. The society has been offered lots in various parts of the city, and it is likely action will soon be taken in the matter. Meantime, services will be held, as heretofore, every Sabbath, in Austin's hall, at 10;30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M.

IRON ORE SHIPMENTS IN 1874.

An erroneous interence may, perhaps, be drawn in regard to the total product of ore this year, from the amount of shipments given to this date, unless certain elements of comparisons are clearly understood. Several circumstances May and June this year far beyond the proportion which they bore to the whole shipments Thursday, July 2: last year. Among them are the following:

1st. The opening of navigation was about a fortnight earlier this year than last.

2d. The rates of lake freight this year have thus far been much lower than those of last, so that all the charters made for ore transportation have been kept in the trade and worked to their fullest extent in all cases where there was any option on the part of the vesselswhereas, last year, when grain freights were higher than ore freights, no ore was carried by season-chartered vessels in the early part of the season which their contracts would enable them to avoid.

3d. The contracts for the lake transportation of ore which were generally and largely made last summer by the ore companies to run through the present year, and which must be filled as the vessels come round, have occasioned the working of some of the mines thus far which would otherwise stop work in the present depressed condition of the iron market. In the course of six weeks more these charters can be exchanged by the ore companies for grain freights without loss, and, perhaps, at a profit. They will not then be, as they are now, compelled to ship any stated quantity, and the shipments of the latter part of the season will diminish greatly compared to those of last.

4th. Railroad facilities for shipment from several large mines, such as the Republic, Klo man, Spurr and Michigamme, were not con plete till near the middle of June last year while this year those mines, under the effect of the circumstances which have just been men tioned, had shipped nearly or quite 50,000 ton of ore by that date.

The total ore product of all the mines of th Lake Superior district for the whole season of 1874 is pretty certain to be 40 per cent. les than that of 1873. This estimate is based o the fact that all the producing companies have curtailed operations fully to that extent, an during the winter months some of the compa nies suspended operations entirely, while others Bay furnace...... 2,199 reduced production to even a larger per cent. than that mentioned.

A NEW discovery has been made by Capt. Trowell on property near the Metropolis. The vein is said to be about eighteen feet in width and the ore of a very fine quality.

MR. O. S. BOND, of the Toledo Iron and Lumber Company, is now here making preparations for beginning work on the lands belonging to that company, a part of which adjoin the Republic, and upon which ore is known to exist.

Good.-Mr. Cavis, engineer for the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon Railroad, has orders to proceed at once with the final survey of the road foom the Republic mine to Michigamme on the west side of the river. It is the intention of the company to build the first section through the new iron discoveries northwest of the Republic and Kloman, at an early day, and complete the line as fast as develop- endorsement of the Senator or Representative of the ments shall warrant.

FURNACE NOTES.

No. 1 STACK of the Pioneer at Negannee was blown in on Thursday evening, after a rest of of the new banks will be at once transmitted. some two months, during which many improvements have been made.

THE product of No. 2 stack of the Pioneer furnace for the week ending June 26th was 241 tons-a good showing, but not quite enough to entitle founder Downing to "the broom." It is, long, and thus "stave off" as far as possible a repehowever the largest run ever made by the tition of the wire pulling lately indulged. stack in the same length of time, and the consumption of coal was remarkably small.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS, M. & P R. M. Co .-At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Marquette & Pacific Rolling Mill Company, held on Monday last in this city, the following directors for the ensuing year were chosen: E. A. Elliott, E. H. Drake, Wm. Phelps. J. Q. Felt, W. N. Carpenter, E. C. Hinsdale, W. W. Wheaton, all of Detroit; C. H. Hall and John Scudder, of Marquette. The new board will soon meet and elect officers of the company. All of the gentlemen elected as directors are large lie mind the just inference that he has been guilty stockholders and interested in the success of of the derelictions with which he stands charged. the company. The furnace has been put in excellent condition, and the mill is now undergoing thorough repairs, under the supervision of Mr. Jewell, the superintendent. From the im-of new contracts being made by some of the iron companies, and the addition of new forces in consequence." If the paper in question had taken the trouble to name the mines that have been so fortunate as to secure new contracts we might be compelled to believe the assertion. So far as we have been able to learn, the Klo- ready been made. As noted in our last report, there is a man is the only mine which has increased its decidedly firmer feeling, with considerable inquiry, espeforce, and the company itself consumes the entire product in their furnaces at Pittsburgh. It would seem strange, indeed, if the companies, but with some of these the wish is no doubt father to the having large quantities of ore unsold in Clevco thought, and besides they are as it were a mere drop in land, should now find it necessary to increase their forces in order to supply an over-stocked market, at prices below a living profit. The month ago would hardly consent to look at a sample, who

ped is sent forward in vessels that were chartered last season, and the owners of which insist majority of the mines would reduce their forces very materially, if they did not suspend operations altogether.

PARAGRAPHIC EDITORIAL.

THE Comptroller of the Currency is prepared to receive applications for the organization of national banks in all Western and Southern States. Applications may be made by letter, giving the names of not less than five shareholders of the proposed organization, which should be accompanied by the district where the bank is to be located, giving satisfactory information in reference to the character and means of the applicants. Applications will be considered immediately upon their receipt, and, if approved, the necessary forms for the organization

In some manner reports have lately been circulated that pig iron his raised $5 a ton in price. provements made and being made, we opine As near as we can trace the rumor, it owes its that a fair future is in prospect for the company. origin to an obscure sheet published in Detroit, and claiming a "commercial" character. The mar-A so CALLED iron paper up the road "hears | ket is certainly firmer at the present time, but we do not find in our eastern exchanges, devoted to iron, any report of a decided advance. The American Manufacturer of last week gives the following regarding the Pittsburgh trade : "Trade continues quiet, as it nearly always is at this season of the year, and the market presents but little that is really new or important to which reference has not alctally for future delivery and diminished offerings; there are some operators who are still apparently impressed with the belief that the lowest notch has not been reached the bucket. While there has been no quotable change in prices the market has been stiffening for several weeks past; this is evident from the fact that consumers who a

Furthermore, the stiffening up is not confined to shipments would be very small indeed, and a Pittsburgh or vicinity; we have recent and reliable advices from the producing region west of here, which, while they report trade as being inactive, as it usually is a baby. at this particular time, state that there is a stronger feeling on the part of producers, and, there as here, it is only those pressed financially that manifest a disposition to sell even at current rates. There a e several causes assigned for the reaction which has set in recently, the chief one of which is the very large falling off in the production; and of this there can be no doubt, as 67 per cent. of all the furnaces in the country were reported out of blast a couple of months ago, and since then furnscemen have been blowing out steadily as they worked up their stock; furhermore, it is claimed that the stock, especially of good aill irons, has been largely overestimated, and this, whether it is correct or not, has not been without its effect n bringing about the reaction to which reference has een made. While the future of the market is, to say he least, very uncertain, there is no question but that he outlook at this writing, present as well as prospectve, is more favorable to the producing interest, and the 1,200 hands. eneral belief just now is that pig is good property at from 3,000 to 2,500 tons per week to our report.

RED RIVER EMIGRATION .- This question is still one of much discussion among the laboring classes in this district, who are either unable to obtain work, or dissatisfied with the present prices and unwilling to wait for the better times which are sure to come before long. There has been in our city so in the expectation of finding work plenty in the various industries consequent upon the building of these roads. The Canadian line depends for iron and other materials upon the finishing of the American portion, and this enterprise, having failed to receive from Congress such extensions and grants as were expected, is now at a stand-still.

We make the following extract from the Manitoba Gazette, published at Winnipeg, as tearing upon this question: "In view of the very large stream of immigration which is already beginning to pour into this country, and of the numerous rumors that we hear on all sides of others who numerous rumors that we hear on an sides of others who intend to come, we think it is but right that we should drop a word of warning, so that if any disappointment ensues no blame, at least, will be on our shoulders. We are aware that one of our contemporaries, at least, has been at great pains to represent everything connected with the Northwest as all coleur de rose, and many a poor fellow who is here to-day and unable even to find work for his board, is bitterly anathematizing the f lse tales that led him to leave his home and friends under the expectation of bettering himself in the Far West. To the young of the eastern provinces we would therefore say: 'Unless you have some capital—say at least from $500 to $1,000—stay and be content at home for the present.' The labor market here is overstocked. Many a new arrival is anxious and willing to work for his board, but has to remain idle while he sees his little hoard rapidly deviable way. dwindle away. A new-comer from the neighborhood of Barrie, Ontario, told us the other day that he with a par-Barrie, Ontario, told us the other day that he with a party of twenty-four others had been induced to come up here by the glowing representations he had seen in the papers, in which everybody was invited to come up, that there was work for all, etc., etc. Their intention had been to take up claims and then come into town and earn sufficient to enable them to commence farming. Well, what is the result! They find the land everything that it was represented, only waiting to be cultivated to yield a bountiful return of any crop that may be put in, and yet many of them have been compelled to turn their backs upon this farmer's paradise simply because they have been unable to find the labor that they were told was so abundant. And so, unable to procure the means of helping them along, the next stage or boat will bear many of them back to Ontario, while they have sufficient funds left to pay their passage. This is no overdrawn picture, but the actual state of affairs. Our country is dependent but the actual state of affairs. Our country is dependent for its prosperity in a great measure upon the disbursement of public moneys in our midst, and the only public works at present going on are the custom house and land office, for the erection of which there is more than enough labor to be had on the spot. It is to use are promised, and money voted for a railway to Pembina, a bridge across the Red River, a pentitentiary, a railway in connection with canals, etc., to Thunder Bay, ditto to British Columbia, works which represent an almost fabulous sum of money, and the expenditure of a tithe of which would be the means of rendering things easier and furnishing work for all who come, but until you hear of an actual commencement of some of these long-promised nishing work for all who come, but until you near of an actual commencement of some of these long-promised works, if you are a wise man who has to depend for your daily bread upon your daily labor, stay where you are, where, if you are out of work, you probably have friends to help you. Of course, these remarks do not apply to those who have some small means at their command and intend to go in for farming. To such as these there is a splendid field open, the demand for agricultural products being always greater than the supply, and every prospect of its remaining so for some years to come. For instance, of its remaining so for some years to come. For instance, this spring potatoes cannot be got for love or money, $2 a bushel offering freely, and in one instance we heard of a man offering $4 for seeding purposes, and con d not get them, butter 40 cents a pound, and scarce at that, and all other form produce in proportion. So to all those who

other farm produce in proportion. So, to all those who come prepared to till the soil we bid a hearty welcome but to the others we have mentioned, our advice is: 'Wait until you get reliable information that your hands will not be idle on your arrival in a strange land.'" MICHIGANISMS.

-It is announced in West Virginia papers that a company with a capital of $300,000 has been formed to manufacture nails from the law material at Huntington, in that State. This is one of the many evidences of the tendencies of capital toward the great mining centres of the Union, and especially in Virginia. During the last few years a great deal of mineral lands in the Virginias have been sold to foreign and New York capitalists, and broad foundations are laid for extensive industries.

-The Bessemer Steel Manufacturing Company at St. Louis will, when completed, be a very extensive affair. The capital of the company is $1,000,000. The works are located on the river bank, directly opposite Carondolet, and the property embraces 100 acres of land, with a frontage on the river of 1,197 feat. There will be two blast furnaces, each 60 feet in height, 17 feet at boshes, and 13 feet tunnel head. The East St. Louis and Carondolet railroad runs through the property, and a narrow gauge road to Cairo and Big Muddy rivers. The works are expected to be in operation early in 1875, and will employ 250 hands.

-The Cleveland (Eng.) iron stone mine proprietors announced to the strikers that they would enforce a greater reduction than 12% per cent. if the miners did not return to work by the 9th inst. It was thought at the date of last advices that the men would not yield, and that the dispute must be disastrously prolonged. The London Times of the 5th inst. says: "It is estimated that between 2.000 to 3,000 miners have left the district. The effect of the strike upon the trade is severely felt. Wholesale places of business are closing their account in the mining districts. There is also a marked effect on the railway

-Masts of Iron.-At the Delaware River Iron Shipbuilding and Engine Works, Chester, Pa., the masts of the City of Peking are now bring finished. These, three in number, are of iron, one hundred and thirty-eight feet in length, with a diemeter from eight to thirty-six inches. They are formed of heavy rolled plate iron, and their construction is a work of difficulty, patience and labor. About fifty men are now engaged actively in their completion, some of whom are obliged to work inside. When to come before long. There has been in our city lately a gentleman interested in railroad building, and who has had contracts on the Pembina branch of the St. Paul & Pacific road. THE SISTERS' SCHOOL EXHIBITION. -The exhibition given by the pupils of the Sisters' school, at the convent on Tuesday afternoon last, was attended by a large number of the friends of the scholars and the school, and passed off pleasantly to all concerned, and much to the credit of the participants in the exercises. The school year closed last week, get one is to go to some bath room, take a bath, and tell and this exhibition was gotten up for the double the proprietor to charge it. If that isn't a sponge(d) purpose of entertaining those who had taken an interest in the school, and to assist in paying for improvements which have lately been incorporated. The programme embraced selections of vocal and instrumental music, dialogues, tableaux, &c. The pupils, many of them little girls, all showed careful training and close application to studies, and acquitted themselves creditably. Would space permit, we should be pleased to review the entire programme, but must be content with mentioning some of its more prominent features. Miss Ryan performed several pieces upon the piano, showing careful training and adaptability. Her touch is light and graceful, and she certainly promises well as a planist. The "Maiden's Prayer" was finely executed by Miss Hurley, as was also the "Mocking Bird March," by Miss Wagner. The dialogues were spoken clearly, and in good taste; the selections were such as carried their lessons to participants and auditors. The valedictory, written and delivered by Miss B. Reynolds, was characterized by fine feeling and a sense of gratitude for past blessings and a knowledge of future duties. After the valedictory, Rev. Father Brown rose and addressed the scholars, who were assembled on the stage. He referred to the examination of the pupils at the close of the term, complimenting them highly on the advances made; he reminded them of the debt of gratitude due the teachers for their zeal and perseverance in bringing about such good results. The reverend gentleman than thanked the audience for their courtesy and attention, and resumed his seat. After a few more musical selections the audience dispersed, all highly pleased with the entertainment. We noticed in the school-room a remarkably handsome piece of wax-work, representing a cross, over one end of which is a trailing vine, and on the other a winding sheet. At the foot of the cross is a crown of thorns, while scattered about are representations of spikes. This piece is the work of Miss Anna Hurley, daughter of Alderman Hurley. Another cross, by Miss Caples, is of different design, but equally handsome.

A few words regarding the school of the Sisters may not be out of place here: The convent is situated on an eminence in the southwestern part of the city. The grounds are large and pleasant, commanding a full and fine view of the bay and lake, as well as of the balance of the city. The building is a commodious brick structure, well adapted to the purpose for which it is used. The school is conducted by the order of Sisters of St. Joseph, and pupils receive every care and attention that can be bestowed upon them. It is a pleasure to note that the institution is in a flourishing condition.

THE Argonaut Boat Club was recently made the recipient of a couple of beautiful flags, gitt of C. H. Call, president of the club. One flag is the American emblem, and the other a handsome union-jack. Both are of silk, with an elegant border, and are

> THE THEATRE.-Edwin Clifford's theatrical company opened at Coles' hall on Thursday evening to an appreciating audience, presenting "The Queen of THE POETRY OF LABOR.-The following touching France," and the "Haunted House." The present company is decidedly the best that has ever visited cation, regardless of cost. It is a pleasure to know | Marquette, and much better than is generally found that our sturdy sons of toil find time to cultivate outside the city theatre. The leading piece was presented in good taste, appropriately costumed, and the rendition was such as to call forth repeated applause. We notice in Miss Breslau a decided improvement in the last five years. The rendition of the title role evinces a keen appreciation of its requirements. Mr. Clifford's acting in his difficult part was what it always is-powerful and correct. Tom Coleman is decidedly the best commedian in the west, and always a favorite. For Friday evening, July 3, the play of "Camille" is underlined, with Miss Breslau as Camille, and Clifford in his great conception of Armand Daval. The piece is a powerful one and should draw well.

To-day, July 4th, will be given two grand holiday entertainments, this being the last night of the season. At half-past two o'clock this afternoon the grand matinee will take place, when will be presented the sparkling nautical drama of "Black-Eyed Susan; or, the Life of a Sailor," and the roaring negro farce, "Masquerade Ball." These pieces are both good ones, and will draw out large crowds undoubtedly. The price of admission to all parts of the hall in the afternoon will be but 25 cents. Parents can give their children no greater treat than a ticket to the matinec. In the evening-the last performance-will be presented Tom Taylor's great July five-act drama, "The Ticket-of-Leave-Man," a piece of great power and attraction, and one in which the parts will be ably handled. The "Irish Dragoon" will constitute the afterpiece. The evening performance will not commence until half-past eight, giving those who go to Michigamme an opportunity to wind up the day by visiting the theatre.

We regret that Manager Clifford does not remain longer with us, and hope he will soon return with another company. During an acquaintance extending through some six years, we have found Mr. C. upright and agreeable, both as a manager and as a gentleman. THE new propeller City of Duluth, built at Marine City, for Ward's Lake Superior Line, will take her place in the regular line on the 10th inst. The boat cost $90,000, and is owned entirely by Sol. Gardner, of Detroit The citizens of Duluth have prepared for her an elegant set of colors, in consideration of the name of the boat. DAMAGED BY FIBE. - From our Chicago exchanges we learn that the propeller Norman, of Leopold & Austrian's line, was lately damaged to a considerable extent by fire. The work of making repairs has been commencel, and the vessel will soon be out again.

THE loute via lake from here to Houghton has been discontinued by the withdrawal of the iron steamer E. B. Ward, Jr., from the line. She takes her place on the new route between Traverse City and Escanaba, connecting with the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad for all points east and south. While on the line between this port and Portage Lake, by her regularity, speed good accommodations, and the gentlemanly conduct of her officers (including, of course, manager Van Pelt, the Ward has become very popular. It is regretted that she leaves the line to accept a new route, for she has won an enviable reputation; but a more advantageous and perhaps profitable route has opened, and her managers have accepted it. As she leaves the waters of Lake Superior it is hoped that she may be as prosperous on Lake Michigan, and become as much a favorite with the traveling public as here.

OFFER-ANECDOTES OF THE THIEVES AND THEIR

Between Truckee and Ogden, says the San Francisco Chronicle, there are five regularly organized bands of "three-card monte men." Not one person in a thousand has the slightest idea of the magnitude of their business, the number of passengers they fleece, or the amount of money they win. Their operations are confined exclusively to the smoking car and freight caboose, hence many who travel the road never get a glimpse of them. Those who lose by the game lecl so mortified and chagrined to think they have been guilty of betting that they seldom make any complaint. Hence, though these men have infested the road for over two years, little attention has been paid to their

A GROTESQUE FIGURE.

The monotony of the long ride across the continent is admirably adapted to fit men's minds for the appreciation of anything that is droll or laughable. At Elko, Toano, Winnemucca, or Battle Mountain, just as the passengers begin to find the hours tedious, the most comical figure imaginable steps aboard the stage. An old, threadbare coat with the largest of brass buttons, and the largest of swallow tails, a pair of pantaloons that sport ample patches of divers colors, one leg of which is stuffed into a heavy cowhide boot and the other torn square off at the knee, a flashy red shirt, au old-fashioned velvet vest, and a broad-brimmed hat whose sides are fastened up by means of guys, complete the costume. In his hand is a long black-snake whip, and attached to his boots is a pair of heavy Spanish spurs. His long, black, matted hair and bristling beard, his awkward, stumbling gait, the jingling bells on his spurs-but, above all, the ridiculous, self-satisfied grin which overspreads his countenance-attract the attention of all.

A GOLDEN INTRODUCTION.

He has evidently been running to catch the train and as he pulls a red bandana handkerchief from his pocket to wipe the perspiration from his brow, a dozen twenty dollar pieces roll upon the floor. Picking them up he puts them into a leather bag or purse, full a foot long, that is literally crammed with glittering gold pieces. He giggles and laughs over the mishap, and informs the astonisticd by-standers that "he had lots more money than that when he first sold his cattle. He lost a right smart bettin' agin a game of keerds," but he didn't mind the loss, because the fellows showed him how to do it, and when he got back to Texas he could win all the money he wanted, and he chuckled and grinned over the way he was going to nip those Texas boys. Just by way of illustrating the trick, he takes three greasy cards from his pocket and commences to throw them clumsily backward and forward on the corner of his coat-tail, which he has spread across his lap. His nonsensical talk never ceases for an instant. He explains that the jack of diamonds is the winning card, and that the jack of spades and clubs loses. "Here, now, you jest try it; jest bet in fun," he says to a well-dressed passenger near settle therefor. Prior to eating the wealthed no to him. The man laughingly complies, and turns up the right card. The greenhorn laughs and giggles harder than ever, and protests that it was accidental, or at least a little more practice would enable him to do better. Again they try for fun, and again the passenger wins. Some one else now tries the experiment, and likewise turns up the jack of diamonds. Just then a gentleman steps up who has a "through check" stack in his hat, and offers to bet $10. Oh, no; the greeny couldn't think of it. He had just learned the game, and must practice it some more, but he "reckoned" he would be ready for the boys by the time he got to Texas. The stranger wanted to bet the cigars, and finally the fellow consented, Just then a gentleman steps up who has a "through check" stack in his hat, and offers to bet $10. Oh,

He took out that wonderful purse to pay the boy who brought the cigars, and in looking for a quarter turned out $9,000 in golden eagles, double eagles and gold notes into his lap. Attracted by the magical clinking of the coin every man in the car is standing around. The Tassenger who won the cigars is exceedingly auxious for a bet. He urges that even if the greenhorn loses he will have enough money left. At last $50 a side is put up, and the stranger wins! A bundred dollars and he wins again! The cards are shuffled so awkwardly that no one could possibly make a mistake. The greenhorn refuses to bet any more because he is too lucky. The first passenger now offers to bet, but the greenhorn will not accept a wager of not less than $150, because he wants a chance to win back his money. The money is placed upon the card, and, when the latter is turned, the stranger has won! I wo hundred dollars a side is now wagered, and, while something at the back part of the car attracts the poor greeney's attention, the passenger lifts up the card, shows the crowd that it is the jack of diamonds, and for future reference pinches up one corner. The unsuspecting dealer loses the bet and hands over the money, but bars out this man also, as being, like the former one, too lucky.

PRESTO! CHANGE. Somebody else, lured by the tempting success of his fellow passengers offers to try his luck. No bets will be taken of less than $500. It is such a dead sure thing that the man planks down the coin. Of course he puts it upon the card with the corner turned and. The imposit of the passenger's thumbturned up. The imprint of the passenger's thumb-nail is as plain as day in the corner, and with it thus marked no one could be mistaken. The card is turned, and lo! it is the jack of spades, and the greenhorn pockets the money. No more bets are made. It is too evident that the dealer is not quite so verdant as was supposed. There are some pretty angry words used by the group of friends who are gathered around the victim. With one accord they start toward the dealer's seat! He is missing! The train is under full headway. Her speed is not less than twenty-five miles an bour: yet the greenhorn has disappeared. The strictest search fails to discover his whereabouts. The mystery is told to the brakeman, who instantly explains it by saying:

"O, that was Jack Roach. He is chief among the monte sharps. He just now jumped off the train, and is walking back to the depot.' The two passengers who won were "cappers." Their weil-dressed, genteel appearance, their apparent ignorance of the dealer and his game disarmed suspicion and readily "roped in" the victim. The game is so perfectly sure that men will bet the last cent they have in the world. A few days since a man and his wife were coming to California, and the man, after losing all his money, borrowed his wife's watch and gambled it away. Sometimes, instead of turning up the corner of the winning card, a black spot or pencil mark is made upon its back. A man feels just as if several hundred dollars were offered to him as a gift, and all he has to do to obtain it is to place his money on the marked card.

A professional fare gambler was one day betting at three-card monte, when the conductor came along and broke up the game. The professional was highly incensed, ordered the conductor out of the car, and told him that it he interferred again he would get his brains blown out. "This drunken fool," he said, "is going to lose his money to some one, and I may as well have it as anybody else.' Five minutes afterward the gambler had lost every dollar be possessed, and the "drunken fool" was wearing his gold watch and diamond ring.

FORTY-NINERS GULLED. Old Californians seem to be the most gullible. Their experience, instead of protecting them, is a positive injury. The rules that apply in draw poker, or in "fighting the tiger," have nothing to do with three-card monte. In those games there seems to be about equal chances in favor of the two sides but in this one all the chances are apparently against the poor simpleton who deals. The railway officials do all in their power to prevent passengers from being fleeced The conductors invariably go through the cars and warn everybody against the danger of betting. Frequently their kind admonitions are met with scorn and insult. "Do you think we have lived in California twenty-five years for nothing?" asked one man with a sneer. The conductor passed through the car balf an hour later and the old forty niner was minus his watch and $60.

Deacons, elders, ministers of the gospel, men who would hold up both bands in holy horror at the idea of playing "pedro" for the eigars, find themselves irres stibly tempted. The de der often exhibits $25,000 or $30,000. The foolish, ignorant fellow certainly | ward.)-Chicago Tribune.

THE MONTE GAMBLERS OF THE OVERLAND does not need so much money, and if they had it how many churches could they build, and how many charitable acts they could perform. For the sake of sweet charity they would accept of a few thousands. It is a notorious fact that Canada Bill the officers of the Union Pacific Railway. offered the officers of the Union Pacific Railway

> THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS A YEAR if they would let him ride on their cars and play three-card monte with ministers! He would bind himself not to play with any but priests and clergy-men! One of the saddest cases in the history of the business is that of a young clergyman who was sent from one of the Western States to attend to the affairs of a deceased man. He came to California, fairs of a deceased man. He came to Cantorna, collected the accounts, disposed of the property, and was carrying back the proceeds to the bereaved wife and children. Slim Jim entered the car and commenced to spell out the words of the "warning," which is posted up on all the cars of the Central Pacific Company. In a loud, drawling tone of voice, and with much hesitation, he read: "B-e-w-a-r-e! Beware of t-h-r-e-e-c-a-r-d-them's the very fellows that robbed me," he exclaimed. With wellfeigned indignation he told the story to the preacher, taking particular pains to show that he had plenty of money left. Before he arose from the seat, he had explained so fully that the preacher concluded to take care of Slim Jim's surplus cash, in order to prevent the monte men from robbing him again! He so far failed, however, as to part with every cent of the poor widow's money, and to be compelled to pursue his journey dead broke.

These monte sharps base their chances of success wholly upon the doctrine of total depravity. They act so stupidly, so ignorantly, so utterly unacquainted with their business, that people 'eel certain of winning their money. No man was ever yet beaten of a cent who did not deliberately try to rob the dealer. They look at the card on the sly, put marks on its back, and sometimes even tear off a corner in order to swindle the poor country clown out of his gold. How the dealer manages to substitute another card for the marked one, and how he so com-pletely cludes detection, and defies the closest scru-tiny, is past finding out. He invariably succeeds, but further deponent knoweth not.

AN HONEST MINER Into the smoking car, near Wianemucea, one time stumbled a drunken miner. Any one who has ever seen the blue shirt, slouched hat, muddy boots, unkempt hair, and unshorn beard of the "honest miner" would at once recognize the man as coming direct from the iron region. He makes a swaggering attempt at walking, but, catching his foot against something, stumbles heavily against a German passenger. As he falls, his purse slides from his pocket, and the man is fairly deluged with a shower of gold. The Teuton makes no attempt at resenting the insuit, but helps pick up the coins and assists the miner to a seat beside him. He pays the utmost attention to his new found friend. The miner several times attempted to go out on the platform, but the man quickly restrained him. "Mine Gott!" mine friend!" he would say, "you gose out dere you falls right away off;" and, casting a longing glauce at the pocket containing the purse, he would put his the bar to take a drink. The miner placed a tivedollar gold piece on the counter in payment. The other watched his opportunity, slipped the gold piece into his pocket, and placed a half dollar in its stead. The drunken man took no notice of the

could not sit down without assistance from the ac-commodating Bavarian. After sapper another V was laid on the counter, from which it soon disapby the time he got to Texas. The stranger wanted to bet the cigars, and finally the fellow consented, to sleep. The German made three several attempts and 100.

A schedule of the lots to be sold, with contents of acres in each lot and valuation of the same, will be retained in each lot and valuation of the same, will be retained in The pressure of the man's folded arms accidently prevented. After enjoying a good nap the fellow took out three cards, and in a slow, bungling manner shuffled them about in his lap. A finely dressed stranger, passing by, inquired the name of the game, and the rule by which it was governed. "Three-card ante," was the reply. "Ante (hic) all the time; this card (hic) wins, these two chaps lose." Dealing away to an imaginary opponent he turned up a card and fairly shouted with glee to find that it was the transaction. Indeed, he was so far gone that he right one. The stranger offered to take a hand and try it $20 worth. "Well, no (hic;) got plenty of money (hic;) don't want no more." After considerable parley, however, he relented, and $200 was put up on a side. The stranger won and pocketed the cash. The Teuton was frantic. Evidently the miner was going to lose all his treasure." "Mine Gott! mein friend," he whispered, "you playsh mit dese bad fellars, and dey shust robs you like anydinks; and putting his finger alongside his nose and winking knowingly, he added: "Bimeby we has von leetle game all by ourselfs." Thus urged, the miner declined all further bets.

"OH, MY DUCATS." Twenty minutes later he and the German were sitting flat on the floor at the end of the car, having "von leetle game." The cards were spread, and the latter, to make assurance double sure, picked up the card while the miner's head was turned, saw that it was the right one, and then went down into his pocket for all the money he could raise. The miner gave the cards one more clumsy shuffle. The man watched the winning one and heaped his money upon it. Too greedy to be content with winning the miner's cash little by little, he raked and scraped his pockets for the last dime. Prominent among the coins were the two five-dollar pieces which he had stolen from the counter at the Humboldt House.

The card was turned. It was the wrong one! A sweep of the miner's hand swept in the ducats. "Mine Gott! mine friend, hold on. It wash all a mishtake," he repeated; "you shoost give me back my monish and I say nothing at all apout it." The miner, however, was suddenly sobered, and leaving the other moaning and groaning like a dying mau, he joined the stranger at the further end of the car. They were the famous Brown brothers, two of the most accomplished gamblers on the road.

RIDDLES.—Another literary trifle upon which a vast amount of time and ingenuity has been expended, is the riddle. Riddle making has been popular in all ages and countries, and not only the small wits but the big wits of Greece, Rome, France, Germany and England have amused themselves with it. Schiller, the German poet, was an adept in this art, and some of his riddles are marvels of ingenuity. Here is one by Fox, the great Euglish or-

Formed long ago, yet made to-day,
And most employed when others sleep;
And few would wish to give away,
And none would wish to keep.

The answer is-a bed. Dr. Whewell, the late master of Trinity cotlege, is credited with the following, which was often on his lips. It would baffle a sphynx:
U 0 a 0, but I 0 thee,
O 0 no 0, but O 0 me;
Then let not my 0 a 0 go,
But give 0 0 I 0 thee so.

You sigh for a cipher, but I sigh for thee, O sigh for no cipher, but O sigh for me; Then let not my sigh for a cipher go. But give sigh for sigh, for I sigh for thee so.

Whew! well done! we hear a punning reader ex-

The following is inferior to the sighing riddle so ften repeated to his friends by the author of the "History of Inductive Sciences," but it is not the device of a bungler:

Stand take to takings I you throw my I understand To overthrow My undertakings.

Prof. De Morgan, author of the celebrated work on "The Theory of Probabilities," is the author of a cunning punning riddle: How do you know there is no danger of starving in the desert? Because of the sand which is there. And how do you know you will get sandwiches there? Because Ham went into the desert and his descendants bred and mustard.

To Lease.

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON ORE. SAFETY FUSE. To Lease for a Term of Years

The Washington Iron Co.'s MINES!

AT AND NEAR HUMBOLDT, MARQUETTE COUNTY, MICHIGAN.

This large and valuable property is now offered for lease from and after May 1st next. It is situated in sections 1, 2, 11 and 12, in township 47, range 29, Marquette county, comprising 1,000 acres of land, and extending two miles east and west upon the Iron Range. The property has been long and favorably known as containing large deposits of both Specular and Magnetic Ore of extreme pur ity, which has a high reputation among consumers. It is traversed through nearly its whole length by the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon Railroad, and is provided with sidings at several different points. It is well provided with hoisting, pumping, and drilling machinery, and with houses sufficient for the accommodation of 400 workmen with their families.

The location is also provided with an ample working equipment of mining tools and utensils of every kind, horses, sleighs, wagons and the like, which will be disposed of to the lessee at a fair valuation.

The openings and improvements already made are large and extensive, demonstrating the great extent of the deposits, and the best manner of working them in future. The indications of the magnetic or dip needle, which, when it falls to 90 degrees on this property, has invariably pointed to deposits of ore of standard shipping quality (67 per cent.), show very large bodies of ore which no attempt has yet been made to develop, and upon which mining can profitably be carried on for many years. No other equally well known valuable and extensive Iron property in the Lake Superior Region has ever been offered for lease, and he present will be found an extremely favorable opportunity for ore consumers, who wish to control their own

Every facility will be offered for examination of the property and its improvements by parties desiring to lease. About 15,000 tons of standard ore, which has been mined in person, but any preliminary information which may be wanted will be furnished on application to EDWARD BREITUNG,

Office,

The subscriber has opened an office at Negaunce for the purchase of real estate, and the exploration of mineral, pine and timbered lands on the Upper Peninsula. Parties wishing to have lands examined and reported upon, either in respect to their mineral or timber resources, will be liberally treated with, and correct reports will be given in all cases. Being myself an old explorer, having spent many years in the woods, during which time I have located some of the most valuable iron lands on the Marquette Range, and being assisted by a corps of old and faithful explorers, I confidently offer my services to all who may wish to entrust their explorations to my care.

I have now for sale MINERAL LANDS, on the Marquette Range, to which I invite the attention of iron men seeking investments. Also PINE LANDS in various parts of the Upper Peninsula, selected with the greatest care, and because of their great prospective value.

GREENBACKS,

THE STEVENS MAN-OF-WAR.

From the New York Tribune. The famous iron war vessel, which has been in the The famous iron war vessel, which has been in the course of construction since 1843, and which was designed originally by Messrs. R. L. and E. A. Stevens, and left by the will of the latter to the State of New Jersey, is to be sold at auction on November 2. As she is now the vessel resembles only slightly the original designs of her builder, her dimensions having been changed by General George B. McClellan. Her measurements, etc., now are as follows: Length, 400 feet; beam, 45 feet; depth, 24 feet six inches; boilers, 10 feet; engines, 4 feet; maximum horse-power 6,000 Public Library of Kentucky maximum horse-power 6,000. The armaneut in 1843 was to have been six guns, from 18 to 64 pounds, which was change 1 in 1856 to from 18 to 64 pounds, which was changed in 1856 to five 15, inch guns, weighing 25 tons each, and capable of throwing a round shot of 425 pounds, and two 10-inch rifle guns. Under her present construction she has facilities for carrying two 20-inch smooth-bore guns, throwing a solid shot weighing 1,040 pounds each, or two wrought-iron 12-inch rifle guns, throwing shot weighing 600, pounds, each and two 10-inch rifle guns. Under her present construction she has facilities for carrying two 20-inch smooth-bore guns, throwing a solid shot weighing 1,040 pounds each, or two wrought-iron 12-inch rifle guns, throwing shot weighing 600 pounds each and capable of penetrating 15 inches of solid iron. This vessel, if she could be completed as her specifications now call for, would be, it is said, the most formidable man-of-war affoat. If converted into a merchant vessel, she would be, with some minor alterations, a fast and safe passenger vessel. Having a heavy plating—in most places treble riveted—and water-tight compartments, the danger of founderwater-tight compartments, the danger of foundering would be slight, and her calculated speed as a merchant vessel would be 15 knots per hour. At this rate she would cross to Liverpool within nine days. About $2,500,000 has been expended upon the vessel, and it is calculated that about $300,000 more will be necessary to complete het as a war vessel, or $200,000 for a merchant vessel. One of the remarkable features in her construction is her facility in manaeuvering. She has two screws, which are so arranged that they are under the control of separate engines, thus allowing her to turn on her beel," which is not only a great saving of time, but makes her available for narrow channels, as she can turn in any direction within the space of her own length. The battery was nearly rebuilt by General McClelian, and was greatly strengthened, having added an inner hull of troubne luch in thickness. It is intended that she shall have a side armor 10 inches thick, deck armor 1% inches, and a turret 18 inches thick. It is said that the agents of several foreign powers have been endeavoring to purchase her, but have been deterred by the fact that the sale rests with the State of New Jersey, which has been only recently authorized to offer her at

From a Washington Letter.

The funny man in the House this year is said to be Mr. Nesmith, of Oregon, who tells of himself some very amusing stories. He served one year in ths Senate several years ago, and a few days after he was sworn in he was passing one of the cloak-rooms, and inside were Fessenden, Morrill and several others, whose names we can't tell. They hailed him, invited him in, and after conversing for a few moments they asked him very abruptly "Mr. Nesmith you came from a very wild coun try, where you say the greater portion of your life has been passed. Will you tell us what first struck you on coming to the Senate?" "Well, gentlemen, when I took my seat in this august body, said to be composed of the brains of our great country, I was overwhelmed with the strangeness of the one idea, how I came to be

"Oh! Ah! Ugh! So! And then Mr. Nesmith, what then—what was your next cause for wonder?"
"The next thing, gentlemen," answered Nesmith, slowly gathering up his great length, "that came to me and puzzled me more than the first thought, was how in the deuce all you other fellows got

There was a shout, and from that day these solemn old fellows who had thought to over-awe by their pomposity this crude young Senator, were his sworn friends and never neglected an opportunity to tell this story.

A NOVEL dining table is now in use in one of the palaces of the Emperor of Russia. The table is circular, and is placed on a weighted platform. At the touch of a signal, like a rub of Aladdin's lamp, down goes the table through the floor, and a new table, lbaded with fresh dishes and supplies, rises in its place. But this is not all touch plate areads on a place. But this is not all; each plate stands on a weighted disk, the table cloth being cut with circufor openings, one for each plate. If a guest desires a change of plate, he touches a signal at his side, when, presto, his plate disappears and another rises. These mechanical dining tables render the presence of servants quite superfluous. In this country, at the Oneida Community, they employ dining tables having the central part made to revolve. Here the goblets, spoons, tea and coffee, casters, pitchers and other necessary articles of table furniture are placed. Revolving the center piece, the sitter brings before him whatever article may be desired without the intervention of a special waiter.—Builder.

A "SITUATION" ON BROADWAY .- A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes: "Somewhere lately I read of a young lady who caught her foot in the pavement, and a minister going down upon his knees in the public street to help her made much merriment. That's nothing to the experience of a friend of mine. Mounted on two very slender feet, and going out last winter wearing a brand-new pair of boots, whose soles were ridiculously narrow, she paused in front of a shop window on Broadway, and desiring a nearer view of some articles she stepped upon a grating that covered a cellar entrance to the store. Her right foot must have executed a parrot step, for mash went her foot between the grates, carried by her weight through above her ankle bone. Then she was fast enough. She tugged, but that was of no avail. A hypoted and forty pounds of woman drove it in bundred and forty pounds of woman drove it in, and no amount of back pulling budged it an inch. What was she to do? Other ladies stopped at the window and probably wondered at the transfixed attitude of the unfortunate creature Finally she took heart and implored the aid of a sister female. The new-comer saw at once that with that boot on that foot would never come up. So she went in side and stated the case to the gentlemanly clerk, who promptly went down into the cellar, mounted the stairs, unbuttoned the boot and released the poor prisoner, who skipped into the store in her stocking foot, resumed her boot and hopped away. You may be sure she'll never stand on any gratings again as long as she lives."

RAISING A "Row."—The following is the latest Virginia City yarn: A few evenings since a fellow rushed into Tinker & Shephard's saloon, in a terrible state of excitement. Throwing his hat on the "There'll be the biggest row here in about half minute that you ever saw ! Give me a drink, quick !" Dan set out the bottle, and while the fellow help est himself, began to look to his six shooter and get his club ready. Leaving his hat on the counter, the fellow ran to the door, looked out, then rushed back fellow ran to the door, looked out, then rushed back so the bar and said:

"Yes; in less than half a minute there'll be a h—ll of a row here! Give me another drink, quick!"

And, seizing the bottle, he proceeded to help himself. He then took up his hat, and was coolly marching off, when Dan called out!

"See here, you—you fellow there! What's all this about a row? You come back here and pay for those drinks, or I'll club you half to death!"

"There you go!" cried the fellow. "There you go! Didn't I say there would be a fearful row in a minute? I knew it, and there you go!"

Dan now saw the point.

"Look here!" said he; "you come back and take mother drink; it you want it, but I wish it distinctly understood that this is the last 'row' you ever raise

"Don't care if I do settle it up in that way," said the fellow, grunning amicably, as he returned to the
