Renewed Interest in Old-Fashioned Plants Noticed. Florists report an extraordinary revival of interest in old-fashioned flowers. Country estates have sent them orders W. O. Carpenter. too large to be filled for verbenas, pansies, marigolds, phlox and such quaint old favorites. The aster is nearly as popular this year as the chrysanthemun n its palmiest days ever was.

The most remarkable revival is that of the waxy white camellia, which reigned supreme in the early seventies. The demand for this flower as a man's buttonhole decoration threatens to send the gardenia into obscurity. The two flowers bear a strong family resemblance to each other, the gardenia being the less stiff and waxy, but is also less perfect in symmetry and whiteness. The

But the strongest claim the camellia has to become the flower of fashion is easy to obtain at any price. Unlike the gardenia the camellia has no ster It is necessary to cut the plant itself with the flower. As four or five buds have often to be sacrificed to get one perfect flower, and as each bud is worth at least fifty cents, even a boutonniere becomes a thing of price.

The camellia is a sentimental flower aggestive of crinolines and hair worn ow on the neck, but it is undeniably an elegant flower as well, with something o the distinction of the orchid about it. I is dignified. Nobody would ever think of calling it a blossom, or including it in a "nosegay." It cannot be massed for decorative purposes, unless in funeral wreaths, with its own deep green foliage. It is best worn singly, a perfect thing by itself, on a man's evening coat or in the dark braids of a woman's hair. One associates it with dark, rather than fair, hair. But women are not likely to take much interest in its new vogue. It is not suited to modern feminine dress As a greenhouse plant it is really wor thy of esteem. It does not demand great heat nor much sunshine, and is therefore, well suited to the ordinary city conservatory. It requires more water than other plants. A greenhouse full of camellias in bloom is uncommonly showy and effective.

We are accustomed to speak of the camellia as white, and the double white variety is admired above all others, but the plant is grown in many colors in Japan and China, where it is native. The pink and red flowers never reach the symmetrically imbricated form, and the virgin purity of tone of the white, and have seldom been worn as a decoration. -New York Evening Post.

KIDNEY DISEASE.

Its Insidious Progress and Sudden Termination.

Not long ago a man who had made a success in business bought a country place and retired from active commercial life. By all outward appearances he was a healthy man. He entered upon the life of his country home with great zest, engaging himself in the culture and care of flowers and enjoying the pleasures of out door life to the full. One day they found him unconscious on the lawn. The family believed he must have been the victim of tramps. The doctor came but could not rouse him from his stupor. When the autopsy was made it showed that death was the result of kidney disease long neglected.

This is a true story. The facts are story that in one way or another is being repeated every day, the victims being men and women who suffer from "kidney trouble" and neglect it.

fild In 25c.

SLOW POISONING. It is the office of kidneys to filter the blood and remove from it those foreign matters which if retained in the blood corrupt and poison it. The principles so eliminated by the kidneys are constantly being produced in the tissues of the body. The kidneys are therefore ceaselessly active and care for an enormous quantity of blood. When by reason of disease the activity of the kidneys is impaired, or when they are overtaxed by being required to eliminate from the blood an undue quantity of corrupting substances, into the blood as a result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition; then it is that the poisonous deposits first begin to col-lect in the blood, and breed deadly consequences. The accumulation of the poison is slow, and the physical changes which accompany the poisoning of the system are slow also, and this makes the great danger of the disease. Many times the victim of kidney disease does not awaken to danger before the entire sys-tem is poisoned, and the struggle for life is desperate and doubtful.

ACT AT ONCE. Prompt action cannot be too strongly urged upon those who have even the slightest symptoms of "kidney trouble." The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will save both suffering and expense

For a long time I was suffering and was hardly able to get about," writes Mr. Andrew J. Jennings, of Thomas, Tucker Co., W. Va., Box 194. "Was bothered with kidney trouble and my whole system was out of order; had no appetite. A friend of mine told me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so and the first bottle restored my appetite. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and some of the 'Pleasant Pellets' and feel like a new person. Think there is no better medicine and I heartily recommend these medicines to every one whose suffering is of the nature that mine was."

The symptoms of kidney disease are many and so variable that it is almost sible to describe them all. In general the indications of kidney disease are pain in the back and loins, change in the urinary excretion, a depressed feeling with lassitude or weakness; irregular heart beat; hot and dry skin, deranged digestion, variable appetite, unbary incontinence, puffiness about the eyes, swelling of the ankles or in different parts of the body. These symptoms will not be present in any one case,
