MAY AVOID BATTLE.

Russians in Northern Korea Reported Retiring Across the Tumen.

Tokio, Monday, Aug. 14.—It is reported here that the Russians are retiring across the Tumen river and will avoid battle in northern Korea.

London, Monday, Aug. 14.—The Telegraph's Japanese correspondent at Moji, Japan, cables that General Linewitch is constantly changing his dispositions in Manchuria in order to deceive Field Marshal Oyama.

"Prisoners say," the correspondent adds, "that General Linewitch is constantly telegraphing for additional troops, as he is unable, without reinforcements, to hold the line to Vladivostok, considerable forces having been withdrawn from the right and sent to the left wing. The new arrivals are disinclined to fight and say they will surrender at the first opportunity.

"The Japanese who recently occupied Kamehatka are now constantly patrolling that point, and the sea is thick with Japanese flags as soon as the Japanese flag is seen flying in any corner of Siberia it will affect M. Witte's attitude at the peace conference."

TWELVE PERISH IN TRAIN WRECK

DEATH REAPS A HARVEST ON THE RAILS OF THE NICKEL PLATE.

MORE VICTIMS ARE DOOMED

OF TWENTY-FIVE MEN INJURED, EIGHT WILL PROBABLY SUCCUMB.

Misunderstanding or Failure to Obey Orders Results in a Disastrous Collision—Not a Passenger in the Smoking Car Who Escapes Casualty.

Cleveland, Aug. 13.—A fast eastbound passenger on the Nickel Plate road collided with a westbound freight train early today at Kishman, O., near Vermilion, resulting in the death of twelve persons, while at least twenty-five others were injured, eight of whom will probably die.

The wreck, according to officials of the company, was caused by misunderstanding of orders or neglect to obey them on the part of the crew of the freight train. The dead were: Charles W. Poole (engineer of the passenger train), aged sixty, of Conneaut, O.; Joseph Alexander, Newark, N. J.; Frank Weaver, Findlay, O.; and Antonio Grillo, Domenico Podomoro, Joseph Paraci, Frank Rusconi, Francisco Scilla, Natale Dirmora, Antonio Achille, Galagous Travola and Catogio Gagliardi, Italian laborers.

Richard A. Long, of Cleveland, had his right leg amputated, hip cut and head and body contused; he probably will die.

Engineer Dies at His Post.

Aside from the engineer, the men killed in the passenger train were all riding in the smoking car at the head of the train, and were mostly foreigners in the employ of the Standard Oil company on the way from Fort Seneca, O., to Brookfield, O. Engineer Poole was killed at his post, while trying to reach for the brake, after seeing the headlight of the freight train. Fireman Haefner saved himself by jumping.

The high speed of the passenger train, three times the locomotive and first three coaches over on the engine of the freight train, telescoping the smoking car, and the car following. The forward cars of the freight train were splintered to fragments.

Of the passengers in the smoker, none escaped injury. Fortunately, there was no fire. As soon as possible after the wreck occurred, doctors were sent on a special train to the scene of the wreck from Lorain.

NORWEGIANS UNITED.

Vote in Favor of Break With Sweden With Remarkable Unanimity.

Christiania, Aug. 13.—The Norwegian people, in the referendum taken today, pronounced in favor of dissolution of the union with Sweden with remarkable, though not unexpected, unanimity. Of 450,000 voters, 320,000 cast ballots.

While the full results will not be known for some hours, up to midnight the returns showed that about one person in three thousand voted against dissolution. The weather was favorable and there were scenes of the greatest enthusiasm everywhere. Thousands of women who did not have the right of franchise signed petitions in the streets endorsing dissolution.

In Christiania and other cities, the total population turned out, every one wearing long streamers of the national colors and pictures of Premier Michelson.

At midnight, reports from 176 places showed a vote of 95,935 for and thirty-seven against dissolution.

BREAK OFF NEGOTIATIONS.

Boss Bakers in New York Will Give Strikers a Finnish Fight.

New York, Aug. 13.—Although a tentative agreement was reached yesterday between the striking bakers and employers, which promised speedily to end the strike, the boss bakers met today and decided to break off all negotiations and resist the demands of the strikers to the uttermost. All Hebrew bakeries on the East side were closed today, and there was no disorder.

VILLAGE WIPED OUT.

Winnipeg, Aug. 13.—At 3:30 o'clock p. m. today a tremendous landslide came down about half a mile west of Spence's bridge, near Ashcroft, British Columbia, and swept the waters of Thompson river over an entire Indian village, leaving nothing but wreck in their path. The landslide caused a wave of from ten to fifteen feet high up the river. Fifteen Indians are reported missing, and twelve injured.

HOPE AT PORTSMOUTH IS BRIGHTER

Peace Prospects Called Better Despite Gloomy Predictions a Rupture is Inevitable—Strong Outside Influences are at Work on Both Sides.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 13.—No progress has been made with the peace negotiations over Sunday. The session of the plenipotentiaries which was to have been held this afternoon was postponed by mutual agreement out of reverence for the Sabbath, which is universally observed in Russia as a day of rest. The Russians have not been anxious for a session today and this morning the Japanese took the initiative and through the intermediation of Assistant Secretary of State Peirce it was decided to postpone the sitting until Monday. The situation therefore remains the same.

Feeling More Hopeful.

It would perhaps not be too much to say that the general feeling is more hopeful in spite of the gloomy predictions made by persons connected with both sides of the negotiations that before next Sunday the plenipotentiaries will reach a point where a rupture will be inevitable. An intimation comes from a high source that very strong outside influences are at work on both sides, and for the moment the effort is to gain time.

The plan of having Russia practically satisfy Japan's claim for reimbursement of the cost of the war by the purchase of the Japanese military evacuation of Sakhalin continues to be advanced. Such a solution would permit Russia to say that she paid nothing, indemnity not needed a foot of territory.

Yellow Spectre Raised.

The debate of yesterday's conference over the first condition—recognition of Japan's "preponderant influence" over Korea, involving her right to control the administration of the hermit kingdom, the use of the littoral for strategic purposes, etc.—was of remarkable character. Indeed, the position taken by M. Witte was sensational in the extreme. His attitude reveals plainly the Russian tactics. They purpose to raise before the world the spectre of the "yellow peril."

Russia claims that Japan's present purpose is to get a foothold on the Asiatic continent from which to extend its influence and domination. M. Witte made no objection, but declared that the words "preponderant influence" did not adequately describe what Japan proposed to do and insisted that the language used should show Japan's true purpose, which he contended, was to make a province of Korea.

Japs Show Elation.

With reference to the main conditions, no evidence in the change of the unbecoming Russian attitude on the part of the plenipotentiaries regarding the main points is observable. Nevertheless the Japanese plainly manifest elation, and some of them privately admitted that M. Witte would never have consented to discussion of the terms had he not been prepared to yield on the question of Sakhalin. All this appears yet to be largely surmise and conjecture, but certainly the curtain of mystery which has now been rung down might easily conceal important maneuvering from the public gaze.

The Russian reply, with its non-acceptance as to the indemnity and Sakhalin, had been presented in the morning. Yet in spite of this fact, at 2 o'clock the plenipotentiaries met, and after agreeing to discuss the conditions proposed, entered upon a consideration of the first of the Japanese terms. The proposition to discuss conditions in this way is believed to have emanated from the Japanese side.

Russians Want Publicity.

M. Witte makes no concealment of the fact that the rigid secrecy which the Japanese insist upon, imposing upon the proceedings is distasteful to him. Denying positively that he had pleaded for an armistice, he said to the Associated Press that he did not understand the Japanese desire to conceal what was taking place. "Russia is ready to be judged by the whole world. We have nothing to conceal and nothing to fear. Before the conference began all sorts of reports and misstatements emanated from the other side. Now that the world needs enlightenment, now that the moment has come to face the supreme tribunal of public opinion, we are not permitted to place before the world the evidence of our possession, from which a just verdict could be returned as to the issue between the belligerents."

"The Russian plenipotentiaries stand ready to publish the text of the Japanese conditions, the full reply of Russia, the diplomatic notes that have been exchanged and the minutes of the sittings. The issue now being tried at Portsmouth is not only the question of peace or war between Russia and Japan, but one which might produce a general conflict involving the shedding of blood in many countries."

Both Missions Attend Church.

Both the Russian and Japanese missions attended the services at Christ Episcopal church today, the Russians in the morning and the Japanese in the evening.

The relief from the heat of the past two days and the decision to abandon the Sunday session of the peace conference made relaxations possible. The day was ideal from every point of view. After luncheon M. Witte, Baron Rosen and General Yermoleff toured the resort road in an automobile, returning to the hotel in the afternoon. Baron Komura and Minister Takahira took a morning ride.

RUSSIA MORE HOPEFUL.

Witte's Reply Held Not Altogether Unacceptable to the Japs.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 13.—The Russian capital is in the dark regarding the meaning of the prolonged conference at Portsmouth Saturday. The purport of M. Witte's messages received here has been imparted to only a few officials. Nevertheless in high quarters today there is a certain feeling of hopefulness, noticeable which is not altogether accounted for on the ground that thus far there has been no rupture. The only comment vouchsafed officially was that M. Witte's answer seemed not altogether unacceptable to the Japanese, else the conference would have ended then and there.

Count Lambsdorff, who is keeping in close touch with the emperor, went again to the Peterhof today, bearing the latest messages, but apparently there are no important developments here affecting the negotiations. The emperor has seen other ministers also during the last two days, but has found no occasion to summon the council of ministers, and M. Witte's course seems meeting with full approval. All official dispatches received from Portsmouth, after being deciphered, are forwarded to the emperor, whose comments and suggestions thereon are sometimes expressed in marginal annotations.

Proclamation Held Up.

There is reason to believe that no manifesto on the subject of a national assembly will be issued until definite news is received from Portsmouth, so that if the peace negotiations fail the promise of an assembly and the publication of the rejected Japanese terms, made simultaneously, will combine to stir up the patriotism of the country.

CALLS IT A BLUFF.

A Tokio Paper's Comment on the Stand of the Russians.

Tokio, Aug. 13.—The Nippon this morning, in reference to the peace negotiations, prints the following: "Reports from abroad, purporting to come from Russian authority, to the effect that the Russian emperor instructed M. Witte to refuse cession of territory and payment of indemnity are nothing but mere bluff. "Russian diplomacy has shown itself to be full of bluffing and intimidation, particularly so during the period preceding the present hostilities. "Whatever measures Russia takes, the facts stand out as clear as daylight that Sakhalin is under occupation and the fate of Kamehatka within easy command of the Japanese. Other portions of Russia's maritime possessions are within easy access of Japanese assaults. "A shrewd diplomat and statesman like M. Witte cannot be blind to the fact. A man of his financial experience ought to be aware of the fact that the expenditures required for the continuation of hostilities ought to be utilized in a channel productive of greater benefit to Russia. "However blind the Russian statesman may be, it is impossible to believe that they fail to appreciate the logic of events. "Whatever differences may exist between the plenipotentiaries, they can only be in point and the degree of the cession and indemnity, not in the principle of cession and indemnity. "The Hoolie takes a pessimistic view of the negotiations, in view of the reported refusal of Russia to cede territory. It declares that Japan ought to pay more attention to Manchuria than Portsmouth."

Anti-American Boycott Assuming Political Character.

Shanghai, Aug. 13.—Soo Chow reports the anti-American boycott assuming a political character. An anti-foreign outbreak is feared. Only the northern Chinese authorities are sternly repressing the movement. The victory of Nanking is apparently undecided what step to take.

BOSTON GIVEN A BAD SCORE

COPPER RANGE DEAL THE SENSATION OF THE WEEK AT THE HUB.

COSTLY PANIC IS AVERTED

STATE STREET IN A FRENZY OVER REFUSAL TO TRANSFER POOLED STOCK.

Decision of the Governing Board of the Exchange Breaks Threaded Corner and Restores the Equilibrium, but Big Suits Are in Sight.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 13.—The sensation of the past week in State street has been Copper Range. A mystery which for a fortnight had enveloped transactions in Copper Range was exploded when the American Loan & Trust company, by refusing to transfer certain shares of Copper Range, made public the fact that a corner in that stock, based on pledges to hold 70,000 shares of the market, existed, and the claim was made that the agreement had been broken by the members of the pool holding the stock.

That pool was made up of A. C. Burroughs of the Standard Oil group and the bitter enemy of Standard Oil, Thomas W. Lawson. Mr. Lawson admitted that those pledges had been broken. He denied, however, that he had broken them, and strange as it may seem to those who have read his strictures upon Standard Oil folk, he defended Mr. Burroughs, too, placing the blame for the apparent breach of faith upon bankers and brokers who sold Mr. Burroughs's stock as collateral and as margin, those interests exercising their right "to loan the stock as every broker does every day."

State Street Excited.

There are those who differ with Mr. Lawson—as a matter of fact the "street" accused the author of Frenzied Finance of treachery, but that as it may, the culmination of the Copper Range deal found State street very much excited with the prospect of a panic, because of certain houses having sold their shares and more shares than that could deliver without the Lawson-Burroughs stock. Failures were imminent if the Lawson-Burroughs stock could not be legally transferred. Hurriedly the governing committee of the stock exchange was called together to summon and hear both sides of the case and decide. Its decision was that the sellers of the stock were within their rights and the corner and the charges of panic were baseless.

In the meantime, on the exchange, fluctuations upon the stock had played a merry jig, and even after the session had closed there was an active cash market for Copper Range. In the mind of the well-versed student of finance the "street" narrowly escaped a scourge, in which practically every house was, to a greater or less extent, involved. The situation was repeatedly likened to the Northern Pacific corner, which created havoc in the spring of 1904, when the stock of that railroad rose rapidly to $1,000 per share, and a dozen of the largest houses in New York city were compelled to ask terms from very humble eminences.

Sum of $7,500,000 Involved.

In round figures, $7,500,000 was involved in the deal, depending solely upon the action of the governing board of the stock exchange. For over 100,000 shares of stock had been sold and were as yet undelivered.

The situation dated from the sale of the Trimountain copper property to the Copper Range, when the majority owners of the former property, T. W. Lawson and A. C. Burroughs, made an agreement with President Paine of Copper Range that the 70,000 shares of Copper Range stock paid to complete the sale should be pooled for a period of over three years, terminating on Sept. 8, 1906. This Copper Range stock was placed in escrow, and for the first time last week it was ascertained that it had been circulated to a great extent through large sales.

The stock tendered to the American Loan & Trust company was in the name of Paine, Webber & Co., of which William A. Paine is president of the Copper Range Consolidated company, and was recognized as a part of the holdings under the pool agreement. President Paine had notified the American Loan & Trust company not to transfer such stock and the situation at once became very tense.

Mr. Paine overruled. The governing board, after rehearing (Continued on Page Four)

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED.)

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Observers of men and things should now keep their eyes on Milwaukee's trade with the upper peninsula.

The day when the football hero will claim his own in the pages of the sporting supplements is now drawing on apace.

It would be interesting to know just which member of the Iron Trade Review's staff was left out of something at the Soo.

Cablegrams show that if the Philippines could have their way the presidential election of 1908 would be settled in about fifteen minutes, and that at once.

A Detroit man proposes a municipal abattoir as a step in a municipal fight against the beef trust. Here is another first-class opportunity to take up the discussion of municipal ownership, pro and con.

About the worst thing that can be said of Warden Vincent of Jackson is that he temporized too long with a number of disloyal subordinates, or insubordinates.

The blue tinge to the peace situation suggests the thought that every cloud has a silver lining. Sunlight may break through the murky atmosphere of the peace parley when it is least expected.

Memoranda cannot be expected to pay any attention to the senatorial situation, or to much of anything else, until the overruling question of the disposal of the state tax list is finally settled.

The consensus of conservative opinion in New York seems to be that while Mr. Jerome's independent run for district attorney may be very picturesque it will be woefully ineffectual of the results desired by the best citizens of the metropolis.

Portsmouth, N. H., critics who find fault with the Japanese peace plenipotentiaries because they are unobscure to the point of eschewing pink ties should endeavor to remember the primary reason why these same diplomats crossed so many thousand miles of ocean and land.

Associated Press scoops have been as common as Jap victories since the outbreak of the Russian-Japanese war, but there can be no doubt that the achievement in exclusively announcing the Japanese peace terms marks the most noteworthy accomplishment of the past year and a half for this great news gathering agency.

Secretary Root did not resign only his large and lucrative practice to enter the president's official family. He has also given up his official connection with numerous financial institutions with which he has been associated, so that his hands might be entirely free. His sacrifices redound to his honor and credit, and are an example that will in time doubtless work much good.

In view of the criticisms of another trade paper published at Cleveland, it is perhaps well to note that the Marine Review had no particular fault to find with the management of the Soo canal semi-centennial. This publication has, in the current number, an extensive article on the celebration, illustrated with cuts of the principal events. As the Marine Review usually reflects the sentiment of the marine interests very well, it is fair to assume that they were pretty well satisfied with the way the Soo program was arranged and carried out.

The news that the Hoch reprieve is useless because friends of the Chicago "Bluebeard" are failing to come forward with the money necessary for the presentation of his case before the supreme court will occasion a renewal of the repugnance felt at the thought that a matter of $400, or thereabouts, should stand between the prisoner and a review of his case. He claims that he is unjustly sentenced. There is little belief that this is true, as Hoch is generally felt to have been properly convicted. Yet the fact remains that had he a few petty dollars he could have had his case heard by a higher tribunal, and failing to raise the money must be executed under the sentence of a lower court. The criminal with means stands under certain circumstances a better chance before the law, even in criminal cases, than does the poor man; the thought is naturally very distasteful, but the remedy is hard to find. Should the state defray the costs of appeals in cases of the nature of the one against Hoch, the annual outlay incurred would reach large proportions and the higher tribunals would be weighed down with reviews of criminal trials. Yet even this might be better than the spectacle of an execution with the knowledge that the criminal would, if he had $200, $300 or $400 more than he is able to raise, have been able to secure a review of his case, with even a long chance at life.

Canadian comment shows that the Dominion is disappointed with her foreign trade for the past year. Its total volume was double the total volume of the trade in 1898, and showed a gain of a quarter of a million dollars. This looks fair enough, on a casual survey, but the gain was in imports, and the exports show a falling off from the previous year. Domestic exports for the year ending June 30, 1905, were $190,854,950, compared with $198,414,439 in the fiscal year 1904; foreign exports were $10,617,115, compared with $12,641,239. The total falling off was about $10,000,000, but by way of consolation it is noted that the exports of domestic manufactures, which amounted to $21,191,333, showed a gain of $1,250,000 over the previous year. The imports were $261,911,435 for 1905 and $251,400,737 in 1904. The dutiable imports had an aggregate value of $130,914,668; free, $106,688,332, and the customs revenue for the Dominion in 1905 $42,021,386. It might be more gratifying to the Canadians to have their exports show an increase, rather than their imports, but it should be possible for them to find some gratification in the knowledge that the combined trades showed a gain. A country that is absorbing a constantly increasing amount of imports must, on the face of things, be prosperous. With the development of Canadian resources the exports from the Dominion will gradually attain a more important place, particularly as our tariff policy is one best adapted to bring about the expansion of this trade.

AN UNFORTUNATE AFTERMATH. The Cleveland Iron Trade Review furnishes an unfortunate aftermath to the canal semi-centennial at the Soo, in an editorial leader alleging that the event was given over to political machinations and was a failure as far as the participation of the lake marine and allied interests was concerned. Here in Michigan the semi-centennial was generally commented on as being an unqualified success, and it comes as a painful surprise to learn that an Ohio trade publication was so disappointed with it. The Iron Trade Review's article is lengthy, a detailed criticism of the affair, and is so earnestly written that the conclusion is forced that the writer must have been left out of some semi-centennial function and thus went home in a bad mood. The Iron Trade Review asserts that by actual count but six persons representative of the industries for which the canal was built were present at the celebration. As the Review has evidently given careful attention to the preparation of its article in criticism, its count is doubtless correct, but it is likewise a fact that every man in the lake states connected with the marine, iron and allied industries in a prominent capacity was invited to participate in the ceremonies. If they would not attend voluntarily, they couldn't well be dragged to the Soo, and unfortunately the commission had no power to compel their presence.

Governor Warner is singled out for the blame for what the Iron Trade Review chooses to consider the mismanagement of the Soo semi-centennial, it saying: "The fault lay wholly with the governor of Michigan in not giving to the president of the commission associates that were representative of the industries of the great lakes." Here in Michigan, too, it has been thought that Mr. White, through his general acquaintance with marine and iron men and his official connection with the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, was esteemed a good representative of the interests that the Review asserts were overlooked. Mr. Owen rendered invaluable assistance at the Soo in completing local arrangements, and Mr. Moore's work was important in arousing a general interest in the event.

The Iron Trade Review's plaint is principally based on the fact that the semi-centennial saw a great gathering of state politicians at the Soo. "It follows with the money necessary for the presentation of his case before the supreme court will occasion a renewal of the repugnance felt at the thought that a matter of $400, or thereabouts, should stand between the prisoner and a review of his case. He claims that he is unjustly sentenced. There is little belief that this is true, as Hoch is generally felt to have been properly convicted. Yet the fact remains that had he a few petty dollars he could have had his case heard by a higher tribunal, and failing to raise the money must be executed under the sentence of a lower court. The criminal with means stands under certain circumstances a better chance before the law, even in criminal cases, than does the poor man; the thought is naturally very distasteful, but the remedy is hard to find. Should the state defray the costs of appeals in cases of the nature of the one against Hoch, the Warden Vincent has been vindicated by the board of control of the Jackson prison, and will be continued as executive officer of the state's leading penal institution. The vindication, it is true, was accompanied by virtual admission of the truth of several of the charges preferred by former Deputy Foote. Warden Vincent did charge cigars as butter and eggs, and he also took the interest on the prisoners' money, but with some sort of authorization, it appears. The discipline of the prison has apparently been very lax. Yet the board considers Warden Vincent an unimpeachably honest man, and a penologist of advanced ideas. There has been, it appears from the investigation, much to criticize at Jackon, but the open question is whether many of the bad conditions revealed were not due to the disloyalty and incapacity of former Deputy Foote and his friends among the other officers of the institution. It is asserted by some that it is the business of an executive officer to surround himself with loyal and efficient subordinates, and that if Warden Vincent failed to put Foote out when Foote played him double even in this he demonstrated his incapacity for the office he fills. There may be something in this view of the case, yet in state institutions circumstances can easily arise where the hands of an executive officer are in some degree tied. Perhaps Warden Vincent was the victim of some such circumstances. However this may be, Vincent stays and Foote goes and now the former is going to have an opportunity to conform his critics by restoring Jackson prison to the front rank of well managed penal institutions.

In the hubbub raised over the Foote charges perhaps not enough attention has been paid to the good things that could be said for the Vincent regime. Warden Vincent is an honest man. Kindly in disposition, he has many traits that particularly fit him for making a prison a place of reform, and not merely one of punishment and expiation. His ideas of penology are in keeping with the advanced thought on the subject. If he has erred on the side of kindness, it is perhaps better to err there than on the side of cruel repression. He has labored under peculiar disadvantages that have made his path a particularly stony one. The charges on which he was investigated were not serious enough, of themselves, were not sufficiently proved to justify the board in the extreme step of turning him out. He is entitled under the circumstances to his chance to redeem his administration from whatever odium now attaches to it. From now on his management of the prison will be closely scanned to see whether it justifies the action of the board. His friends expect that it will stand up under this scrutiny, and that whatever may be said of the administration of the institution during the past few years his management when he is given unimpeded sway will prove, as he alleges, that former Deputy Foote has been the source of much of the friction and trouble that has been aired in his attempt to undo the warden.

Among the bequests of the Archduke Joseph of Austria-Hungary to his son is a gold rimmed tortoise shell frame above my desk at Budapest. The archduke earned it by showing a French engineer from Creutz over the garden at the castle of his place there. This person had rung at a private gate, which the archduke opened, and thinking the latter a steward or his assistant or a gardener, asked him to take him around, he understanding the language that he asked to see the grounds. Archduke Joseph rather enjoyed the mistake and said he would be very pleased. He talked in a plain, blunt manner and seemed so little the man of consequence that the visitor on leaving presented him with a tortoise for the trouble he had been at.

J. M. Barrie is as shy as a school girl, says a writer. Let a pretty girl look at him, and Barrie for five minutes or so if she can catch his eye he will exhibit about the same symptoms of distress as a man who has swallowed a fish bone. Constant activity and contact with the world seems to be powerless to drive away the shyness which is developed the moment he talks with a good looking woman. Only the other day a young actress who had been rehearsing in one of his plays and directly under his eye pleased him so much that he asked her to luncheon. She couldn't go that day and the refusal embarrassed him, but he plucked up courage and asked her again the next day. Another engagement intervened, but on the third trial the girl went, and she has since been a frequent intellectual entertainment. Barrie ordered the luncheon and as the dishes were brought on he looked up and looked into the girl's eyes. From that moment he was absolutely speechless. He did not utter one word during the meal and after it was over he was just able to gasp out: "Shall we return to the theater?" and offered his arm. Then, as a sort of relief, he handed up the stage manager and talked to him at the rate of ninety words a minute for half an hour.

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE. Line to Mackinac. Away with the suggestion that you can't afford a vacation! There could not be a greater mistake. As a matter of fact you can get more real value out of it, more of the capital that will help you in your business, to say nothing of the increased happiness from your physical improvement, than you can get out of the same amount of time spent in any other way. PERSONAL POINTS

For the first time the Vitet prize, most coveted of all literary awards made by the Academie Francaise, has just been given to a woman, Mme. Henri Lapanze, who writes under the name of "Daniel Lesueur." Her latest novel, "La Force du Passé," which has had a success even greater than that of her previous works, doubtless contributed to winning for her this honor. Though still a young woman, "Daniel Lesueur" has written twenty novels.

An curious collector has the following curious letter of Whistler, the painter: "I wish girls had the most beautiful hands with long slender fingers and delightful articulations. American girls' hands come next; they are a little narrow and thin. The hands of English girls are red and coarse. The German hand is broad and flat. The Spanish hand is full of big veins. I always use Irish models for the hands, and I think that Irish eyes are also the most beautiful."

It is reported that on a recent occasion when Arthur Balfour, Joseph Chamberlain, Lord Charles Bessford and the Japanese minister were dining together, Mr. Balfour, who was standing next to Mr. Chamberlain, asked him what he would have. "Thanks, I'll take Scotch," Arthur, was the response. "And what will you take, Lord Charles?" "I'll take Irish, Arthur." "And what will you take, addressing the Japanese minister?" "I'll take Port Arthur, thanks," was the answer.

William Pinkney Whyte, formerly governor of Maryland, is now eighty-one years of age, and is in excellent mental and physical condition. His figure is erect, his step elastic and his capacity for work apparently unlimited. There is no indication of his giving up his fine law practice. Mr. Whyte is long and thin, and is dressed in a simple, but elegant, manner. He has been controller of the treasury, governor, United States senator, mayor of Baltimore and attorney general.

Empress Haruko of Japan is fifty-six years old and is two years senior to her husband. She is one of the most beautiful women in Japan. As she is older than the mikado, she has been called the mikado during all these years of Meiji. The couple love each other dearly, although they do not usually go together when they go out. It is publicly denied that she is jealous of her rival, although Prince Harunomiya is not her majesty's son, but his majesty's.

RULES OF HEALTH.

Temperance, Absence of Worry, a Youthful Mind, Plenty of Sleep.

A famous New York physician, now hale and handsome at seventy-five, sums up his half a century of medical practice and observation in these simple rules of health:

1. Be temperate in all things, in matters of amusement or study as well as in regard to foods and drinks. To be temperate in all things, however, does not imply that one must be a prohibitionist about anything.

2. Don't be afraid to go to sleep, for sleep is the best restorative of health. Sleep a certain number of hours every night, and then remember that a short nap during the day is a safer rejuvenator than a cocktail.

3. Don't worry about the past or the future. To waste a single hour in regret for the past is as senseless as to spend good money after that which has been irrevocably lost. To fret

South Shores Lost—The baseball game Saturday afternoon between the D. S. & A. and L. S. & I. general office teams, ended in favor of the latter by a score of 17 to 7. A large number of friends of both teams witnessed the contest.

Excursionists to Grand Island—The Marquette & Southeastern railway took a large excursion from Marquette yesterday to Grand Island and Munising. The morning train carried 300 passengers from this city, Ishpeming and Negaunee.

Going to Canada—Robert Blomhauer expects to leave next week for the Canadian northwest, where he will spend a month on his homestead in the province of Saskatchewan. Mr. Blomhauer will prepare fifty acres of ground this fall for planting to potatoes next spring.

Special Services Tomorrow—Special services will be held at St. Peter's cathedral tomorrow, the occasion being a holy day of obligation and the feast of the Assumption. First mass will be at 5:30 a. m.; second mass, 7 a. m.; high mass, 9 a. m. Vespers and benediction in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Hadden-Rodee Assets—A large amount of mining and coal stocks, once the property of the Hadden-Rodee company, were sold at auction by the referee in bankruptcy in the United States court at Milwaukee, Friday. As many as 1,000 shares of stock was sold for $150, and little will be realized for the creditors by the sale.

Good Fishing at Chocoley—The trout fishing at the Chocoley river is very good, the fish having started to leave the house.

HARD TASK FOR MR. ROOT

Reforms Needed in Office of Secretary of State.

In taking up the work laid down by John Hay, Elihu Root has doubtless a clearer perception than almost any other man whom President Roosevelt could have called to the office of Secretary of State not only of the present magnitude of his task but of its prospective difficulties. There was a time, not so long ago, when the position might be regarded as more or less a sinecure—a kind of snug harbor for an indolent or superannuated statesman.

That is was occasionally so regarded by the incumbent is a fact that finds a somewhat amusing illustration in an anecdote related by an ex-Secretary of State to which he was entitled by virtue of his long service in public life and his position as a party leader. There have been many able and energetic secretaries of state and the place has sometimes been used as a convenient means of shelving presidential aspirants or others whom it was politically desirable to get out of somebody's way.

Richard Olney and John Hay demonstrated to the country not merely the value but the necessity of special ability and force in guiding our foreign intercourse. Each in his own way set a standard that all presidents hereafter will probably accept, and it is doubtful that there will ever again be a Secretary of state who will find the office a pleasant place, with not much to do.

Mr. Root, as secretary of war, was occasionally called upon, in the absence of Mr. Hay, to advise the president in diplomatic matters, and thus obtained a practical familiarity with the functions of the state department.

There is another task ahead of Mr. Root. The department of state is in much the same condition as was the war department when Mr. Root took charge. What Mr. Root did in reforming war department matters is an old story. The task of reforming the state department is, in the opinion of those familiar with conditions there, fully as hard a task.

Mr. Hay's brilliant exploits as secretary of state, these men say, were won by the hand of the great diplomat, and it is not to be expected that his assistance in the state department will be the sheer force of his intellect and personal charm. It is more than likely that his life would have been prolonged had he not been harassed and overworked by the necessity of working with inadequate tools and in an atmosphere thick with the dust of a generation or more of red tape. It often happened that in the midst of some highly

LORD ROSEBERRY'S VISION.

The Thirtieth Century and Some Speculations About It.

Lord Roseberry the other day opened a laud exhibition of relics and treasures in the town hall, Aylesbury, organized for the purpose of celebrating the jubilee of the Buck Architectural and Archaeological Society, of which he is president. The exhibits include mementoes of Louis XVIII, Lord Beaconsfield, Burke Cooper, Oliver Cromwell, Hampden, Milton, Shakespeare and John Wilkes.

In the course of an interesting address, Lord Roseberry said that there were more political combinations hatched in Bucks during the eighteenth century than in all the rest of England, except London and Bath. Why was this? The reason seemed to lie in the Palace of Stowe and its inhabitants, Lord Cobham and the great House of Grenville.

Finishing with the past, Lord Roseberry turned to speak of the future. In another century, he said, we who are here shall be objects of interest, in two centuries subjects of curiosity, and what shall we be in the thirtieth? Should our Archaeological Society assemble then what would be the position? That is a problem we cannot solve. No doubt our successors will examine with something between a smile and a tear some unique specimen of those portentous hats which ensnare the brain-power of respectability, of our bankers, our legislators and our divines.

They will gather round the glass case which contains the naked mechanism of an umbrella, the tireless wheel of a bicycle and the unmelodious horn of a motor car. (Laughter.) Most thickly of all will they surround the surviving but crumbling skeleton of the last horse.

Our newspapers will be a part of the air they breathe, as metaphorically they are now. What a vista of speculation is opened! What will be their opinion of us? What a pity it is, as Mr. Balfour would say, that the operation cannot be mutual, and that we cannot form or express our opinions of them.

And they themselves, what and where will they be? My success in the chair by the bye, will he occupy a chair? May he not, for example, be standing on his head—(laughter)—which the newer medicine may then have discovered to be the only hereditary position? (More laughter.) And his address?

START WORK TODAY.

Force of Ishpeming Men Will Be Placed on New Road This Morning.

A large crew of men will commence work this morning on the piece of road to be built from the Dead River logging road to the highway constructed by Hebard of Marquette.

The expense of the work will be paid by the business men of the city. Hebard has about three years logging, and will employ large forces of men. The road will pass through a strip of pine, about ten million feet, which was left standing several years ago by the old Dead River Lumber company.

WON IN TENTH INNING.

Marquette and City Team Played Good Ball Game at Union Park Yesterday.

Marquette defeated the City team yesterday afternoon at the Union Park grounds in a ten-inning game, score 6 to 5. The Marquette players did not begin to score until the eighth inning, when two runs were made.

Kaiser at second played a star game for the City team, and assisted in two doubles. Both pitchers were hit freely, but few men got to first on balls.

C. Lafave brought in the winning run for the visitors, clinching the game.

Dr. Ben Miller officiated as umpire. The attendance was three hundred. The line-up of the teams is as follows: City team—J. Thomas, pitcher; G. Smith, catcher; Len Olson, first base; W. Kaiser, second base; J. O'Neill, shortstop; Al Dyer, third base; G. Chubb, right field; G. Simpson, center field; A. Larson, left field. Marquette—H. Scholties, pitcher; J. Lafave, catcher; Cote, first base; F. Williams, second base; W. Messier, shortstop; C. LeFave, third base; G. Reikholm, right field; A. Riopelle, center field; Jennison, left field.

VISITED COPPER COUNTRY.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hooper, 321 South Main street, have returned from a two weeks' visit in the copper country. They went to the copper country forty-two years ago and made their home there until their removal to this city in 1885. Mr. Hooper worked in the copper mines and helped to sink the first 1000 feet of the Franklin shaft, and remembers when the first shaft of the now famous Calumet & Hecla mine was started.

AMUSED GOOD CROWD.

Local Lightweights Wrestle Before Large Audience Saturday Evening.

Billings' wrestling arena was opened Saturday evening with an interesting exhibition. A good-sized audience was in attendance and judging from the enthusiasm manifested wrestling will again become popular here.

Harry Trevithick and John Tremethick, who are about equally matched in skill and weight, put up a good exhibition. Trevithick had the advantage of his opponent by about five pounds, winning the first fall, and his adversary secured the next two.

The match was fast at times, and better than the ordinary Cornish wrestling. The sticklers were Pete Carlow, "Uncle John" Berryman and Joseph Gill.

The sight of these men in the ring reminded a number of the older followers of the sport of the early matches. Peter Carlow and John Berryman were both in their prime, and the exhibition will not be any delay between battles, a new pair of men taking the place of the retiring wrestlers.

HOPKINS' CURB LETTER.

The following is from Saturday's letter issued by the Wallace Hopkins company.

The week ending today has given enough variety to suit anyone. It opened with good buying and some rapid advances. Late in the week bids were withdrawn on the theory that the advance was too rapid and bids were not getting enough stock.

Calumet & Arizona sales ranged between 100 and 101 with a good class of investment buying. North Butte has been active and a wide range of prices was covered.

Initial sales were at 34. The stock then advanced easily on enormous buying to 36 1/2, broke back to 34 and closes the week 35 bid, 35 1/2 asked. Recent advices from the property are very favorable. The earnings are now $6 per share and will show a gradual increase.

Calumet & Pittsburgh sold up from 27 to 29 and reacted to 27. The trade was heavy and the offerings are light. The Lake Superior & Pittsburgh sold up to 33 1/2, but on bids being withdrawn it reacted to 34. The trade was heavy during the early part of the week, but rather flat later. Trade in Pittsburgh & Duluth was very heavy. The prices ranged between 22 1/2 and 29. Junction was a big feature between 2 1/4 and 86, later reacting to 80.

Recent Visit Here of Merchants & Manufacturers' Association As Viewed by Staff Correspondents.

The Milwaukee newspapers had nothing but words of praise for the manner in which the visiting merchants stay in Marquette.

Marquette Is Beautiful.

Marquette, the center of activity on the part of the Milwaukee party during the afternoon and evening, captured the visitors by its splendid situation, environment, its handsome homes and well paved streets.

One of the largest and most unique parks in Michigan belongs to the municipality of Marquette and was presented by the government through the efforts of Peter White, the father of the city, and its benefactor in numerous ways.

The public buildings of the city are costly and imposing, including a custom house and city hall, costing $100,000, the northern normal school, the Marquette county court house and the Peter White library.

The change from a fixed location for the train to the making of several stations during the day was welcomed by the party, as the inconvenience of chasing after ferry boats and two car specials has been strenuous for some of the more elderly and corpulent members.

One of the interesting bits of information gained by members during the trip was the extensive part the upper peninsula is taking in the development of the Arizona copper industry.

Marquette Is All Right. From the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin: "Marquette is all right."

That is the verdict of every member of the Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers' association who participated in the visit to Marquette. Hearty welcomes have been extended all along the line, but in no city has the greeting of Marquette been surpassed in warmth and cordiality.

The feeling was manifested when the special train pulled into the handsome depot at 1:30 o'clock. It looked as if every business man in the city had dropped his other affairs and hastened to extend the hand grasp of welcome to the Milwaukee travelers.

Every business man on the platform, perhaps taking the cue from the placards with which the Milwaukee business men were decorated, wore a large card-board badge, with his name and business inscribed so that all might read. They spent but little time in formal greetings.

beautiful park presented by the government to the city of Marquette, located on a headland jutting into Lake Superior. That the visitors might see every point of interest they were given carriage rides or launch rides on Lake Superior, as suited their individual preference, and at 7 o'clock in the evening an elaborate luncheon was served.

Staid as Long as Possible.

Of course, after the luncheon there was speech-making. The Marquette men told the Milwaukee men all about why Milwaukee was entitled to the business of northern Michigan instead of Detroit, and the Milwaukee men referred in feeling terms to the crime perpetrated when the peninsula was sliced off the state of Wisconsin.

The hospitality of the citizens of Marquette was so cordial that the Milwaukee men did not leave Presque and seek their train until it was nearly time for the special to leave for the Soo at midnight. When they did leave, it was the unanimous resolve that Marquette is a beautiful and hospitable city, peopled by warm-hearted and generally desirable acquaintances.

At Ishpeming the party suffered its first parting. President Alonzo Burt of the Wisconsin Telephone company, who had been a member of the party but far, was obliged to return to Milwaukee to fill an important business engagement.

BURNED TO CRISP

SOUTH MARQUETTE CHILD MET DEATH SATURDAY IN A HORRIBLE MANNER.

Played too Closely to Bonfire—Victim of Accident Was Victoria Quinnell, Dean, Daughter of Michael Dean, Teamster.

Victoria Quinnell, nine years old, received burns while playing near a bonfire in South Marquette, Saturday afternoon, from the result of which she died six hours later. The accident occurred near the corner of Hampton and Brooks streets, where a fire had been set to burn up combustible rubbish, and around which children of the neighborhood had congregated.

A workman returning from the Carp furnace who witnessed the accident from a distance, rushed to the scene and extinguished the fire by wrapping the child in a carpet, and she was removed to her home, being later taken to St. Luke's hospital, where she died six hours later from the shock. Her body was horribly charred, and when removed from her home to the hospital, particles of flesh dropped from her body, leaving two great holes in her back near the shoulder blades. The features were distorted, and the hair was burned close to her head in places.

The child is the daughter of Michael Dean, a teamster, residing 613 Hogan street, near the corner of Hampton.

GRADING ALTAMONT STREET.

Question Likely to Provoke Further Discussion Before Final Disposition.

The contemplated grading of Altamont street from the south line of McMillan street to Garden, and from Garden street to the south line of Fisher street, which was the subject of considerable discussion at the last meeting of the common council, will probably be presented to the council in a different form than the roll recently made by the city controller at present contemplates.

The assessment roll for the improvement will be presented at the next meeting of the common council for final confirmation, having been approved at the last meeting, at the end of a protracted struggle. It is probable that additional protests will be lodged before the matter is finally settled.

CONDEMN PROPERTY

MARQUETTE & SOUTHEASTERN RAILWAY SEEKS TITLE TO RIGHT-OF-WAY.

Filed Petition in Probate Court Asking Commission to Appraise Value of Certain Land on Lake Independence Extension.

Condemnation proceedings were begun Saturday in the probate court of Marquette county by the Marquette & Southeastern railway against the owners of certain lands on the line of survey of the Lake Independence extension. The persons to whom the petition is directed are nearly all residents of this city, the list being as follows: John Stewart, Edwin J. Sink, James E. Trethewey, Andrew Hartwig, Thomas Dwyer, Jennie D. Dwyer, May Swift, Isabel Campbell.

The railway company alleges in their petition that they have made frequent and reasonable offers to the owners of the lands for right-of-way, but have been unable to secure satisfactory or reasonable settlement, and ask the probate court to appoint a commissioner, consisting of three persons to fix the amount of compensation for a right-of-way 100 feet wide across the lands of the defendants, and also to determine the necessity of appropriating the said right-of-way for the purpose of building a railroad track thereon. The time fixed for hearing the petition is Aug. 23, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. It is said that the railway company have secured the right to the entire distance of twenty-four miles from this city to Lake Independence except across the lands of the defendants named in the petition.

Much Rock Encountered.

The railway construction crew have the track laid on the branch line for a distance of three and one-quarter miles from Marquette, and will probably reach the rock out at Sugar Loaf mountain as soon as the contractor's crew will be able to complete the grading at that point. The cut is through solid rock, and blasting is necessary for a distance of nearly 400 feet, and at a depth of ten feet, in order to conform to the grade stakes. The railway construction crew is not as large as it will be next month, when it is estimated that a considerable force of men will be added. The contractor's grading crew consists of nearly three hundred men, scattered at points along the survey from this city to Lake Independence.

Dr. M. W. Anderson will be absent from the city until Saturday, August 19. (8-14-14)

COOKING SCHOOL FOR MARQUETTE.

First-Class Course to Be Given by Well-Known Instructor.

Marquette women are to be given a further insight into the art of cooking in a series of eighteen lessons which will be given under the auspices of the Methodist church, beginning this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, by Mrs. Elizabeth O. Hiller.

Mrs. Hiller, who is a graduate of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, and of the Boston school of Domestic Science, is recognized as the leading lecturer and demonstrator in America in her special field of work. She has trained hundreds of young women to become teachers of domestic science. The following are her comments on her work speak for themselves:

A Great Newspaper's Opinion.

Elizabeth O. Hiller, Principal of the Chicago Domestic Science Training School, is one of the foremost authorities on all subjects pertaining to domestic science, and no other woman is better qualified to write on them, and no woman in Boston, New York or Chicago has a more correct idea of how to build, furnish or decorate and conduct a home.—CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD. "BUYING A PIG IN A POKE." There is great difficulty confronting one who buys anything where all sides of his purchase cannot be seen. This applies in this instance to Garden Hose. Now, the inside of a Hose is hidden and one cannot see it. Therefore a buyer has to take the word of a dealer that there's rubber in that particular Hose. Our Garden Hose is reliable, for we have taken great pains to get only good stock. You can safely use our Hose, knowing it will give good service. Pure rubber and cotton grades from 9 cents per foot up to 18 cents. If asked, we can furnish Hose Menders, Lawn Sprinklers and Sprayers. All we need is to be asked.

Those looking for good pure wines will find them in our large stock. We handle leading brands of Imported and California goods. Eckel Bros' Wachenheimer (Rhine) and Jules Merman & Cie's St. Julien are both fine types of mild choice wines. These wines are very light and will be just what some want. THE F.
