Detroit, Sept. 29.—No outward manifestation developed in the state Republican convention held at the Detroit Waldorf-Astoria hotel last night between Governor Warner and Dr. Bradley for the Republican nomination for governor at the recent primary election. The three-cornered race for the nomination for auditor general between O. B. Fuller, of Delta county, N. F. Simpson, of Van Buren county, and C. A. Palmer, of Manistee, was the feature and was so hotly contested that the nomination was not decided until the third ballot, when Mr. Fuller was successful. The complete list of nominations is as given above.

State Is Pledged to Taft. The resolutions approve the national platform and commend the state administration and legislature. The platform says, in part: "We are pleased to assure the Republicans who are elsewhere contending for our common cause that Michigan will again in this year of 1908 elect a Republican president."

Chairman Murfin's Address. Temporary Chairman Murfin prefaced his address with a brief discussion of the workings of the new primary law in Michigan, and declared that in all probability the next legislature would enact a primary law which will insure that a Republican primary is a Republican primary, and a Democratic primary is a Democratic primary.

TARIFF REVISION IS TAFT'S TOPIC

Winding Up His Campaign in South Dakota, He Addresses a Great Concourse of People at Sioux City, Iowa, at Night.

He Delivers Ten Speeches During the Day, Talking to Enthusiastic Crowds at Various Points, and in None of Them Does He Overlook the Occasion to "Go After" His Democratic Opponent—Says Bryan Is Trying to Dodge His Record.

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 29.—Tariff revision mostly downward, but in some instances upward, notably on pottery, was the keynote of Wm. H. Taft's ten speeches today. In none of them did he forget to "go after" his Nebraska opponent. The Ohioan's campaign through South Dakota terminated tonight in this city, where he addressed a tremendous audience from Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota. All factions of the party were represented and approved the national ticket. Senator Kittredge was especially strong in his assurance of support of the ticket.

Reviews Bryan's Record. "The difficulty about Mr. Bryan is that he is engaged in trying to avoid his record, and the Republican party and its candidate are trying to stand by its record," Mr. Bryan, I believe, invited my consideration to a number of issues, but I don't think he dwelt with that intense emphasis of which he is capable on the condition the farmers were in at the time he spoke, at the height of the wheat, under the influence of that great tariff measure, went down below fifty cents.

NEBRASKAN TOURS THE HAWKEYE STATE

Traveling Through Iowa, Bryan Concludes His Work for the Day With a Speech at Rock Island, Ill., in the Evening.

He Gives Encouragement to the Democrats Among His Auditors by Telling Them He Has Satisfactory Reports Concerning the Political Outlook, and in an Open Letter to Roosevelt He Replies to the President's Most Recent Communication.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 29.—Having traveled all day through Iowa, W. J. Bryan arrived here tonight and spoke to a big assemblage at the baseball park. Enroute through Iowa, large crowds had gathered at several points, and the Democratic candidate was called on for speeches. He made ten-minute talks at Carroll, Boone, Dewitt and Clinton and gave encouragement to the Democrats by telling them that he had good reports regarding the political situation in their state. Trusts, the tariff and the publicity of campaign contributions were briefly discussed, and both Taft and Roosevelt were scored in connection with their views on those subjects.

His Reply to the President. "I have lived in vain, if your accusations have lost me a single friend," said W. J. Bryan in a letter addressed today to President Roosevelt, replying to that of the president written Sunday. Mr. Bryan points to his record and declares that it is a sufficient answer to the insinuations of the chief executive that he is in sympathy with or is controlled by the trust.

Reverting to the charges against Governor Haskell, Mr. Bryan says that the president, in response to his request, did not deign to suggest a tribunal which could determine those charges, but instead proceeded to pass judgment upon them, and he informs the president that the occupant of that high office cannot do so without the citizen's right to protect his reputation and vindicate his name in the courts.

Taking up the president's assertion that certain trust magnates, fearing prosecution under Taft, are supporting the Democratic candidate, Mr. Bryan charges that the president is endeavoring to protect his reputation and vindicate his name in the courts.

to whom he appeals that they have not sense enough to form a just and correct opinion as to the purpose which leads parties interested in special legislation to make big contributions. "You fear we would misrepresent the motives of those who are contributing to the Republican campaign fund and cast unjust suspicion upon the Republican candidates if the names and amounts were made known before election. Your argument, if sound, would prevent the publication after election, for why should after election any more than before? Does not secrecy before election increase this suspicion?"

"We are going to give you the opportunity to misrepresent the motives of those who give to our campaign fund, and to arouse all the suspicion you can; we are going to prove to the people that we are making a fight for the whole people and not for those who have been enjoying privileges and favors at the hands of the government, and we expect that the honest sentiment of the country will rebuke the party whose convention refused to endorse any kind of publicity and whose candidates are not willing that the people should know until after the polls are closed what predatory interests have been active in support of the Republican party."

PRESIDENT'S LETTER AROUSES ENTHUSIASM.

Tells the Irrigation Congress He Hopes to Sign Bills Confering Statehood on Both Arizona and New Mexico.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 29.—Features of the opening session of the National Irrigation congress today were two letters and a telegram from President Roosevelt. The first conveyed the president's greeting, his approval of the congress and reference to the importance of reclamation and the conservation of the natural resources of the West. The second was a letter of regret at his inability to be present. A postscript at the bottom of this letter aroused wild enthusiasm among the delegates and spectators. It expressed the president's hope that this winter he will have a chance to sign bills confering statehood on both New Mexico and Arizona.

Mr. Archbold says that three years ago it was reported that certain of his letters, avowedly stolen, had been offered for sale to the newspapers. These letters could have been taken up by some highly trusted person. The one suspected stoutly denied his guilt, but later a go-between offered to return some of the letters for a consideration. It was said by this person that his brother had induced a trusted employe, already suspected, to steal them, and that some had been sold to a representative of Hearst's paper. Copybooks were also stolen, according to Mr. Archbold, and some of the pages were removed and others were photographed. Some of the correspondence was returned at that time, and the other letters have been produced by Hearst.

STOCK MARKET VERY DULL.

Trading in Meagre Proportions, With the Price Changes Insignificant.

New York, Sept. 29.—The tendency of prices to settle to a dead level was still further manifested in the stock market today. The professionals confined themselves to what they call in-and-out operations. The trading became exceedingly desultory as the swing of prices diminished and offered lessening attraction for these in-and-out dealings. There were intervals of several minutes during the afternoon when no transaction was reported from the floor of the stock exchange, a condition of dullness rarely seen.

The stagnant condition convinced the doubtful ones that the wealthy capitalists who were credited with the responsibility for the activity of the summer dealings were abstaining from dealing in stocks for the present. Nothing else received much attention, nor was there anything, in fact, which seemed to merit it. Some repressive influence on speculation was ascribable to the preparations for the quarterly disbursements of the first of October, which are estimated to require about $150,000,000. Money rates were a shade firmer on this account, but no actual pressure on the stock market resulted. The surplus reserve of the banks remains of such really unwieldy proportions as to leave no present room for actual money market disturbance.

The cool wave was still ignored in the grain markets and so was without effect on stocks. The net price changes as shown at the end of the day are almost negligible.

REPORTED DEAL DENIED.

Canadian Pacific Not Negotiating for the Great Western Road.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—"If I had been going to negotiate for the purchase of the Great Western, which I am not, I would not have gone to Minneapolis, but to London. The line is in the hands of receivers and is owned by English shareholders. We have no intention of acquiring it, and we are not negotiating for its purchase. This definite statement was made by President Shaughnessy, of the Canadian Pacific, on his return from Minneapolis today.

PERSIAN RULER YIELDS.

Imperial Troops Defeated, Shah Orders Meeting of the Parliament.

Berlin, Sept. 29.—A dispatch from Teheran says that the imperial troops have suffered a defeat at Tabriz, and as a consequence a cabinet has been formed by the members of his cabinet. The shah has decreed that parliament be opened Oct. 30, hoping thus to secure tranquility. Considerable nervousness exists in court circles. The troops stationed around the palace have refused to obey an order to march on Tabriz.

JUSTICE BREWER OPTIMISTIC.

Washington, Sept. 29.—At tonight's session of the international tuberculosis congress, Justice Brewer, of the United States supreme court, delivered an address in which he took issue with the gloomy views held by some speakers before the present congress. Addresses were also delivered by Dr. Detre and Dr. Williams of Philadelphia. Tonight, at Assembly Hall, Dr. Arthur Newsholme, of London, delivered a lecture on tuberculosis.

TELLS HOW HEARST GOT THE LETTERS

John D. Archbold Issues a Statement, Giving the Details of the Alleged Theft and Sale of His Correspondence.

Former Senator McLaurin, Democrat, of South Carolina, Also Enters the Field With a Signed Communication, Admitting He Sought Standard Oil Assistance in His Political Canvass and Saying He Has No Apologies to Make Because of It.

New York, Sept. 29.—A new phase of the discussion of the so-called "Standard Oil correspondence" made public recently by William H. Hearst was entered upon late today when John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard Oil company, made a statement to the Associated Press, setting forth the details of the alleged theft of correspondence from his files.

Former United States Senator John Lowndes McLaurin, of South Carolina, also entered the field with a signed statement, declaring his attitude in the matter of the correspondence between himself and the Standard Oil magnate.

Archbold's Statement.

Mr. Archbold says that three years ago it was reported that certain of his letters, avowedly stolen, had been offered for sale to the newspapers. These letters could have been taken up by some highly trusted person. The one suspected stoutly denied his guilt, but later a go-between offered to return some of the letters for a consideration. It was said by this person that his brother had induced a trusted employe, already suspected, to steal them, and that some had been sold to a representative of Hearst's paper. Copybooks were also stolen, according to Mr. Archbold, and some of the pages were removed and others were photographed. Some of the correspondence was returned at that time, and the other letters have been produced by Hearst.

Senator McLaurin's Attitude.

Senator McLaurin says that he has no apologies to make for his correspondences with Mr. Archbold. He says that he was then engaged in a bitter struggle which covered his own political future and the principles for which he stood, and he saw no impropriety in enlisting the assistance of "the most progressively administered and the most intelligently officered corporation that human intelligence has yet produced."

Until the running of political campaigns without money can be achieved, the senator sees no reason why he should refuse to seek and accept the support he needed.

Senator Bailey Will Not Resign.

New York, Sept. 29.—Senator Bailey, of Texas, today emphatically denied that he intended to resign from the senate or ending his career therein.

ALL THE PASSENGERS SAFE.

Two Steamers Wrecked in British Columbia and English Waters.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 29.—The steamer Humboldt went hard and fast on the rocks at Active Pass early today. The passengers were taken aboard a fishing steamer and are on their way to Seattle.

DIVORCED PERSONS HIT.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—By a decision of the supreme court today, divorced persons in Wisconsin are prohibited from marrying again within one year, and that any such marriage during such period after divorce is null and void. The decision was in connection with divorced people who went to Michigan before the expiration of one year, married again and returned to Wisconsin. The court rules that such marriages will not be recognized by the courts of Wisconsin.

TRAINS CRASH TOGETHER.

Kearney, Neb., Sept. 29.—A fruit train crashed into the Grand Island accommodation train 1 mile Union Pacific yards in this city late this afternoon. Three persons were seriously injured: Mrs. R. St. John of Gibbon, Neb., Mrs. T. Reynolds of Minneapolis, Mrs. E. Bowker of Kearney, Neb., and Raymond Fern, Irakeman.

It is greatly to be hoped that Mr. Hill's report will now be called off and the Republican party allowed to settle down to the fall campaign.

Governor Hughes opened the campaign in Detroit yesterday, but it was the supreme court in Lansing Monday that gave the party its hope of being able to put up a campaign.

There is now every prospect that the Republicans' family difficulties will be ironed out in plenty of time to allow them to give the case of Mr. Hemans full and adequate attention.

A Milwaukee clergyman scores "The Devil," one of the most talked of dramas of the season. This particular clergyman is not associated with the management's publicity bureau, but he will doubtless prove one of the best advertisements for the attraction.

Herman Ridder, the new treasurer of the Democratic committee, is now under fire as a foe to union labor, one of the counts raised against Governor Haskell.

In refusing to find in the primary law reasons why the law should be manipulated to defeat its own provisions the state supreme court rendered a decision that coincided with the expectations of nearly all the people who had looked into the matter.

This season is furnishing the very cream of major league baseball. The public is accustomed to watching driving finishes in the American league, but this fall the National organization, the parent of all baseball, is putting up a race which will in every way bear comparison with the one in the rival league.

The fact that Bryan could be deceived by such a man as Haskell—the fact that he parted with him reluctantly—the fact that he defends him after everybody else sees through him and recognizes him as a double-dyed betrayer of the people—demonstrates Bryan's want of good judgment.

The criticism was made previous to the convention that William Alden Smith was not a bit neighborly in allowing the Kent county delegation to be thrown away from Senator Fuller.

The decision of the supreme court that the election commissioners have not the power to go behind the returns in the recent primary, to take up questions relating to the validity of the enrollment of voters who cast ballots for the candidates for governor, greatly clears up a situation that seriously threatened the Republican party in Michigan and, in effect, assures that there will be a Republican candidate on the ticket.

The election commissioners are limited by the ruling of the court to a recount of the ballots in the precincts specified by Dr. Bradley and Governor Warner. By showing the proper degree of zeal and by declining to be a party to delays with the work, the commissioners should be able to dispose of the recount in ample time to have a candidate certified, even if Dr. Bradley should persist in his demand that the count shall be reviewed.

The prediction is made that the petitions asking for a recount will be withdrawn. The great mass of Republicans in Michigan will sincerely hope that this will be the case. It is an open secret that the recount was pre-tainly the senator appeared to be absolutely neutral in the gubernatorial fight, and it was only logical after that that he should not interfere in any way with the make-up of the Kent county delegation. In a way this attitude of aloofness has doubtless benefitted the senator, by permitting him to keep out of entangling alliances. But it is conceivable that in some degree it has injured him. There are many people who, rightly or wrongly, believe it was incumbent on the senator to put in an ear for the men who helped him. This point of view may not give sufficient heed to the demands of the senatorial office, but it reflects the old-fashioned view that a friend who helps in a pinch is himself entitled to a helping hand when a little assistance promises to be timely and valuable.

The dear old Detroit F. P. never says die. Monday morning it was out bright and early with a repetition of its oft-repeated suggestion that Dr. Bradley and Mr. Warner should withdraw and pave the way for the nomination of some third man for governor. It presented an entire column of editorial comment on this subject, which, presumably, someone had a lot of fun in writing and certainly everybody enjoyed reading.

It should not require a recount of many boxes to demonstrate whether there was any considerable percentage of error in the returns. If after a brief interval it should appear that the apparent results are substantially correct it will seem that there will be no sufficient reason for prolonging the agony, and that the situation will demand that Dr. Bradley and his friends withdraw their petitions and allow the candidates on the Republican ticket to frame up an energetic and effective campaign.

Mr. Hemans has been canvassing the state vigorously, and no further time should be lost in setting about check-mating him. In any event he will be the beneficiary of a considerable Republican defection; unless the Republican candidates are soon left free to push their campaigns there will be a probability of the Democrats, with the aid of these disgruntled Republicans, electing him. On the other hand if the Republicans drop their family quarrel without any delay the entire Republican ticket will go through, for while there will be some boobying by Dr. Bradley's friends the great mass of his supporters are, and have been, satisfied that they lost fairly in a fair fight, and will vote the ticket straight.

Two results of the recent primaries that have attracted wide attention are the renomination of State Senator Colby of New Jersey and the nomination for congress of Senator Folkner of New York. Senator Colby has been the leading machine buster in his state. He entered politics as a protege of the machine and traveled along with it some distance. Finally there arose a cause for difference and Colby, being a man of independent fortune, could afford to indulge his penchant for independent action. It being then a question of busting the machine or getting busted, Colby entered into the contest with his whole soul and vigor. He has had his victories and his reverses, but on the whole has been successful. He was the biggest single factor in retiring Senator Dryden, president of the Prudential Insurance company, from public life, and in the last session of the legislature secured the passage of the direct nominations law under which he has just been renominated in the face of the bitterest sort of a fight from the interests he has antagonized. Colby is in the full prime of his public life and will doubtless be an influential factor in New Jersey affairs for some years to come. Senator Folkner of New York is the member who answered duty's call and went to Albany to vote for Governor Hughes' race track bills when the physicians told him that like as not he would pay the penalty of his life if he left his sick bed. But Folkner wouldn't hear of failure, and went. He voted, and his vote passed Governor Hughes' bill. Folkner lived and in due time became a candidate for congress. The people showed their appreciation of his devoted service by renominating him in the face of the most determined opposition. Here are two bits of evidence that the people don't forget and that the man who builds a public career on the foundation of devotion to duty and right as he sees it builds both wisely and well.

The decision of the supreme court that the election commissioners have not the power to go behind the returns in the recent primary, to take up questions relating to the validity of the enrollment of voters who cast ballots for the candidates for governor, greatly clears up a situation that seriously threatened the Republican party in Michigan and, in effect, assures that there will be a Republican candidate on the ticket.

The election commissioners are limited by the ruling of the court to a recount of the ballots in the precincts specified by Dr. Bradley and Governor Warner. By showing the proper degree of zeal and by declining to be a party to delays with the work, the commissioners should be able to dispose of the recount in ample time to have a candidate certified, even if Dr. Bradley should persist in his demand that the count shall be reviewed.

The prediction is made that the petitions asking for a recount will be withdrawn. The great mass of Republicans in Michigan will sincerely hope that this will be the case. It is an open secret that the recount was precapitated not so much with the idea that the apparent returns would be reversed by checking over the ballot boxes asked for as in the hope that legal complications would follow that might vitiate the entire primary and throw the choice of a candidate for governor into a convention, and, indeed, Dr. Bradley's attorneys, when they appeared before the supreme court, laid greatest stress on the alleged unconstitutionality of the new law, a point on which the court held decisively against them.

It should not require a recount of many boxes to demonstrate whether there was any considerable percentage of error in the returns. If after a brief interval it should appear that the apparent results are substantially correct it will seem that there will be no sufficient reason for prolonging the agony, and that the situation will demand that Dr. Bradley and his friends withdraw their petitions and allow the candidates on the Republican ticket to frame up an energetic and effective campaign.

Mr. Hemans has been canvassing the state vigorously, and no further time should be lost in setting about check-mating him. In any event he will be the beneficiary of a considerable Republican defection; unless the Republican candidates are soon left free to push their campaigns there will be a probability of the Democrats, with the aid of these disgruntled Republicans, electing him. On the other hand if the Republicans drop their family quarrel without any delay the entire Republican ticket will go through, for while there will be some boobying by Dr. Bradley's friends the great mass of his supporters are, and have been, satisfied that they lost fairly in a fair fight, and will vote the ticket straight.

O. B. FULLER LANDS THE NOMINATION State Convention Held at Detroit Chooses the Delta County Man as the Republican Party's Candidate for Auditor General.

(Continued From Page One.) activity should not be in Washington upon the lecture platform. "The issue this year is not a question of platform or party principles so much as it is a question of individual and personal character. The primary issue, in my judgment, is simply: Shall the inordinate and unusual ambition of one citizen in Nebraska be gratified? If that were not the issue, the gentleman would not be so strangely silent on the bogies he has raised during previous campaigns. No longer do we hear this silver voice crying out 'Imperialism' and 'militarism.' How suddenly he was hushed after he trod upon the dangerous ground of governmental ownership of railroads. How strangely quiet he has been on the money question. How peculiar that he did not seek to nullify the currency bill or the pure food bill, or the Panama legislation, or any one of the dozen other recent splendid performances of the Republican party at Washington.

Compares the Candidates. "What is left of the Twentieth Century Democracy has presented for the consideration of the voters a man whom they have twice rejected, a farmer who named a narrow, lawyer who never wrote a brief, a soldier who never fought a fight, and a statesman who never enacted a law. Compare this personality with that of our candidate; history records no instance where a man so able, so well equipped, and so thoroughly experienced has been presented as a candidate by any party." Mr. Marlin then detailed the decisions of Wm. H. Taft in relation to labor disputes, claiming that not only were they just as matters of law, but that they failed to show in the slightest degree any hostility toward organized labor as has been claimed by Democratic speakers. In closing his address, the speaker said: "The Republican party has just cause to be proud of its record. It is sound in principle, it is filled with splendid performers, and it is a party of the people. The issue before you this year is a simple one: do you want the man who so recently preached 'to be or not to be' in the Philippine islands possible? Do you want a man who has never succeeded in any public undertaking, or a man who has never filtered or failed? Do you want a man who is a promoter in seeking to make political capital out of judicial decisions, or do you want a man who through his conspicuous ability played a great part in placing the American judiciary on a plane recognized the world over as second to none? Do you want a man who preaches and promises in glittering generalities, or a man who has concrete views on all subjects of public interest? Shall the people rule? They have ruled; they are ruling; and on election day in November they will for the third time rule upon the ambition of the man from Nebraska in a simple and positive way: do you want to see in the mind of anyone that the leader of the nation for the next four years shall be that splendid successor to a distinguished line of Republican presidents—William Howard Taft?"

AS TO OBEYING. That is the "Last Straw" According to Autumn Bride.

Just one thing the average October bride wishes to know is this: Why should she promise to obey when neither the brides of the Roman nor Greek conjurers, Jewish brides and Quaker brides are compelled to make this old-fashioned promise? And the worst part of it is the untruth of it. Women are no longer conscienceless creatures who must be commanded to be good and laden with other instructions whenever their other halves depart. Away back in the past, when they were uneducated, burdened and bearers and never held converse with guests, this was doubtlessly a wise clause. This question of the pledge of obedience which is extracted from brides who profess certain forms of religion is continually coming under discussion in these days, when the equality of the sexes is well founded, and when many clergy as well as laymen admit that it should be recognized, it seems inconsistent that the vow should be demanded of women.

Life-Savers Who Saved—In the news reports which followed the recent foundering of the old steamer Huribut near Vermillion point, one appeared in a Detroit paper to the effect that the United States revenue cutter Tuscarora did not arrive on the scene of the wreck until thirty-six hours after the steamer Huribut went down.

FIRM WHICH FAILS MAY LIQUIDATE

ASSIGNED BUSINESS OF ANDERSON & LINDSTROM TO BE SOLD AT RETAIL BY RECEIVER.

Dissensions have caused a dissolution of the partnership in the firm of Anderson & Lindstrom of this city, and only by legal proceedings by one against the other in the circuit court for this county has an agreement been reached which may enable them to continue business as heretofore, under the direction of the receiver appointed by the court at the time of their recent assignment, and authorized to conduct the business so long as there is hope of liquidating the firm's debts.

Beginning modestly, with a small frame building for a place of business, the firm speedily outgrew it, and at the time of their assignment occupied a fine store building, with expensive fixtures and furnishings. They conducted a credit business, and it is said that they now have upon their books many worthless accounts.

The accounts of the firm will probably yield, net, in the neighborhood of $2,000, and their equity in the store building, possibly $1,000. They have a stock of from $1,500 to $2,000 on hand, and they owe forty-four firms an aggregate of $2,935.

If sufficient monies can be realized from the account and stock of the firm to reduce their liabilities to a moderate point, it is likely they will continue to extend a limit of time for the continuation of the business. Heretofore the business has been carried on in two departments, Mr. Anderson having charge of the meat business, and Mr. Lindstrom conducting the grocery business in the adjoining store. Heretofore, if the present embarrassment can be removed, the partners will probably continue the separate businesses under their individual names. In the meantime, the receiver will collect accounts, buy on a cash basis, and report from time to time, the condition of affairs to the firm and its creditors.

WARMER WINDS WILL COME IN VAN OF FREEZING STORM—LOCAL DATA FOR OCTOBER.

Snowfall in this city yesterday morning, but the supply was limited to a few scattering flakes, and a rising temperature is due today, according to the weather man. Warmer winds will follow in the van of a freezing storm now prevailing in eastern Canada, drawn from the deserts of Arizona and New Mexico, and the mild heat emanating from the Japan stream. Idaho and Washington will have July weather today, and the moderate temperature is working this way.

PARTRIDGE SEASON OCT. 1.

The partridge season in the upper peninsula opens Oct. 1 and there are a great number of hunters preparing to go after this game delicacy. Early in the summer the reports were that this was to be the banner partridge season in many years as the season had been favorable for their propagation. These statements would have undoubtedly proved true had it not been for the disastrous forest fires that have prevailed all over northern Michigan for the past month. But even these fires have not been able to wipe out the birds entirely and in those portions of the woodlands in which the fires have not penetrated there are a sufficient number of partridge. It may be well to state that no single hunter is permitted by the game laws to kill more than twelve birds in a single day's shooting. More than that number in one's possession will make him liable to arrest and prosecution for a violation of the state law.

Statistics show that the Englishman is the heaviest eater.

FERGUSON BUSINESS COLLEGE

MARQUETTE, MICHIGAN.

Why Not Enter Monday, Sept. 28th?

This is the school for ambitious men and women.

Does it pay a young man to attend the Ferguson Business College?

The best equipment for a young man today, is a thorough business training, such as we give at our school. Hundreds of the most successful men in the world got their start in life by attending a business school, like the FERGUSON BUSINESS COLLEGE. Ask the president of any bank, or the man at the head of any great industry, if it pays a young man to study stenography, typewriting and bookkeeping. He will tell you that it pays better than anything else. The chances are that he began life as a stenographer or bookkeeper.

Does it pay a young lady to attend the Ferguson Business College?

A young lady whose home is in this city, after completing the eighth grade took a course in this school. Her elder sister graduated from both the high school and Normal. The young lady who attended the FERGUSON BUSINESS COLLEGE receives a much larger salary in a position she holds in this city, where she can be at home, than her sister who teaches at a distance from the city. The young woman in the business office has more opportunity for advancement and her work is more pleasant.

Think of the above, and then remember this:

The more general education young men and women have, the more in demand will be their services, and the higher will be their salaries, when they have mastered stenography and typewriting. High grade stenographers are in demand, are hard to find, and need never be out of employment.

We want young men and young women who are well prepared to take up this work, and we will make it pay them. We are getting our name before business men all over upper Michigan, as the most progressive and thorough business school that has ever been in this part of the country, and this means something to our students.

Wake Up!

Don't be caught "asleep at the switch" when the train for "Prosperity" passes your way.

Men who know say that we are on the eve of the greatest revival of prosperity this country has ever known.

You can hasten the day by putting your money in this strong bank, where it will help to put the wheels of trade and commerce in motion.

Remember, always, you benefit yourself directly and indirectly when you open a bank account. Your money not only earns more money for you, but it increases the prosperity of the whole community.

PRIMARY STATUTE STRONGLY UPHELD

GOVERNOR WARNER'S ATTORNEYS WQN ON EVERY POINT IN PROCEEDINGS BROUGHT BEFORE SUPREME COURT.

The decision of the supreme court, in favor of the contentions of Governor Warner's attorneys, reported in yesterday's issue, was a sweeping one, the court holding with them on practically every point. The decision also strongly upheld the validity of the present primary statute and cut the ground from under the contentions of Dr. Bradley's attorneys that the law is unconstitutional. On this point the court went so far as to give the opinion that even if the primary law was entirely lacking in a provision for a recount it would still be a constitutional measure.

The justices hold that the general election law applies to those having official connection with the primary election, the casting of ballots, and the return of votes. The state board has no more power in counting votes, the court says, than does the inspector of an election. Referring to the character of the board, the court holds that while it is a constitutional body, it performs statutory duties conferred upon it by the legislature, and its authority is derived from the legislature.

The board, the court holds, is a political body, but its duties must be performed, and neither applicant for a writ occupies the position of a public officer, but must be considered as a candidate, therefore quo warranto proceedings could not follow.

The interpretation given by the court of the recount of ballots is that it is a recount, nothing more. In referring to the recount provision of the primary act, the decision points out that it is not ambiguous and gives protection to those who might be aggrieved. No rights would have been infringed upon, says the court, even if no recount provision had been incorporated in the law.

Referring to the action of the board in drawing out votes cast in Oliver township, Huron county, the court holds that the board had no right to take such action, as ballots can be drawn out only when they exceed the number cast. The inspector cannot go beyond the poll lists and the ballots, the court says, and the board has no right to revise the enrollment books, as the enrollment is to the primary election as the registration is at the election. In his dissenting opinion Justice McAlvay contends that the party enrollment is the basis for determining the vote cast.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE REPLIES TO BRYAN

Speaking at Terre Haute, Ind., He Recounts Republican Legislation in the Interests of the Working Classes.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 29.—Explaining the policy of the Republican party in reference to capital and labor, and recounting the legislation in the interests of the working classes, Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, tonight delivered the second of his replies to W. J. Bryan. In the course of his address, he said:

This is a nation of workmen. Its founders were laborers. The Pilgrims were tailors. It was the "unbattered farmers" who at Lexington "fired the shot heard round the world." The bleeding feet that stained the snows of Valley Forge had followed the furrow. Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown to men who ate their bread in the sweat of their faces. Lincoln's call was answered from the farm and mill and shop. And so this nation, founded and saved by workmen, belongs to workmen. The stars and stripes is the flag of industry; every idler beneath its folds disgraces the banner which protects him. The life of case is not the American life.

This is the age of co-operation. That is what civilization means. We are so closely woven together; the needs of our millions are so vast and so many, that industry must be organized to serve them. The Pennsylvania railroad is necessary, but one man's money could not build it. So the money of hundreds of thousands of men is organized to build that common highway. The same method builds telegraph lines, operates factories, opens mines. This principle explains every combination of capital that serves humanity; and the same principle applies to labor.

A scale of wages is necessary to the best results from labor and to justice for the laborer himself; but one man can not get this equal scale of wages. So thousands of laborers unite to get it. High wages could not be secured by each man, separately, where thousands were employed; so these thousands combine to demand it. Steady employment was not certain when each workman looked out for himself; so thousands of workmen form unions to secure it.

Labor Legislation. Organized labor asked that congress pass a law making interstate railroads liable for injuries to their employes. It asked justice; and it got it. Organized labor demanded a law forbidding railroads from making their employes work beyond their strength. Never was a demand more righteous. So we passed a law forbidding this practice, and today such exhaustion dims no engineer's sight, makes nerveless no brakeman's hand, confuses no despatcher's brain. Organized labor demanded that every railroad should be compelled to adopt safety appliances. This demand was reasonable and right. So we passed the safety appliance act, and today only a fraction of the railroad men are killed or maimed who yesterday were crushed and murdered, and the safety of the traveling public is increased.

Organized labor asked that a department of commerce and labor be established. Today that department is one of the most important in our government, and is doing more for labor's welfare than any other single agency in the nation. It is labor's friend in the cabinet; it is labor's advocate before congress; it has urged upon the nation's legislature sound laws for labor's benefit; it is a most notable advance toward securing the rights of the toiler. But once more, this law was drawn by a Republican senator; a Republican president insisted on it; a Republican congress passed it.

Organized labor demanded the eight-hour day for government employes—they have it—a Republican congress and president gave it to them; an eight-hour day for the men employed by government contractors; they have it—a Republican president and congress gave it to them. They demanded a law forbidding railroads to discriminate against union laboring men; they have it—a Republican president and congress passed it, and today no national railroad dares blacklist any laborer because he is a union man. Each one of these laws is a Republican law; each one was drawn by a Republican statesman; each one urged upon congress by a Republican president; each one had Republican and Democratic support; each one had Republican and Democratic enemies.

Bryanism Hurting Business. Labor has asked and received much righteous legislation; it is asking and will receive more. But always it must save employment. Work and wages, not speeches and laws, clothe the working man and his family. I argue not but state merely the fact that under Republican administrations labor has had more work and gotten better pay than ever before in our own or any other country's history.

We have had a little panic, but we are recovering from it more rapidly than our own or any other people ever recovered from any panic. Brief as it was, that panic would have been short-lived if the agitation for an abstract political program, which if successful would ruin all business, were not now being carried on with increasing violence. When Mr. Taft is elected president, the skies of business will clear once more. Thousands of men, for a short time, have been thrown out of employment; but already they are going back to work every day—and when Mr. Taft has been made chief magistrate every one of them will be at work again in six months.

But suppose Mr. Bryan should be elected president. Does any laborer think that would help the rapidly recovering business of the nation, on which the employment of labor depends? How many mills would Mr. Bryan's election open? How many idle workmen would it send back to factory and mine? Let the workman discuss with his family this practical question of their daily bread, and then vote as the interests of his own bread tell him to vote. Let him compare the panic of 1893 with that of 1908 and remember that whereas this last panic began to blow over almost as soon as it arose, the great panic got worse, year after year, until the people once more put a Republican administration in charge of the country.

Writ of Injunction. Before President Taft's administration is one year old we shall end the abuse of the injunction in labor disputes. On this great question there are extremists on both sides—both wrong, as extremists always are. There are those who declare that the power to enjoin has never been abused—but the American bench and bar know that it has been abused; workmen know it, the whole people know it. Injunctions have been issued without notice, hearings not given until the trouble had passed; men punished for disobedience without their day in court. These abuses are not many; but there have been enough of them to prove the evil, to arouse a sense of injustice in the breast of labor, to create unrest throughout the nation. The possibility of these abuses must be stopped. Every man should have his day in court—this is the first great maxim of law-made liberty and liberty-made law. This is the foundation of the people's respect for an obedience to the courts. When the meagrest man beneath his ceases to be free. As a general rule, no injunction should issue without notice; and once issued it should speedily be heard.

Gompers Honest But Wrong.

I do not think that the men who are demanding this law fully understand its consequences; I do not believe they realize the Frankenstein they are creating. No man means better by his fellowman than Mr. Bryan, but he has not taken the time to think this subject out. Mr. Gompers is an honest enthusiast, devoted to the uplift of the toiler; but he has not explored the path on which he would set our feet. The statesman must study history to its foundation on every subject with which he deals; he must weigh every factor of business, the scientist in his laboratory tests the unknown and mysterious properties of matter. The organizer of the great hosts of labor cannot be a statesman—he has no time; the great general of business cannot be a statesman—they have no time; the politician cannot be a statesman—he has not the temperament, patience or learning, and besides, he is always busy with his little plots and his absurd machines.

The labor problem will be solved because it is everybody's problem; the real rights of labor will be established because they are humanity's rights. This nation of toilers will prevail because in the end their heart is sound, their brain is clear. One by one we are ending the ancient abuses; step by step we ascend the heights of our salvation. We struggle ever and often err; for struggle and error are humanity's schooling toward the ultimate "true and beautiful and good"—but always we advance.

Upper Peninsula

Fair Grounds Scorched—

A fire at the new grounds of the Chippewa County Agricultural society at the Soo destroyed about 200 feet of fence surrounding the park on the east side. The fire came in from that side and burned over several acres before it reached the fence. But for the prompt action of Mayor Sullivan the entire fence as well as the buildings would no doubt have been burned. When he learned of the existing conditions the mayor ordered the fire team and one of the city tanks to the scene and with these aids the flames were checked.

Father Killed Long Ago—

Miss Alice Mullen, of Chicago, was at Norway a few days ago, seeking information as to the death and burial place of her father, Patrick Mullen, who was killed near Hamilton Lakes by a railway train thirty-odd years ago, the body being interred on the Wisconsin side of the Menominee river, opposite the New York farm, on land owned by the deceased, which had been used as an Indian burying ground. At the time of the accident the railway was being constructed from Powers, and had not yet reached Valaun. Mr. Mullen at one time owned the New York farm and sold it to the M. R. L. company. No record is available as to the exact date of death, it being in the hands of the railway company, the latter having furnished the coffin and sent the body from Valaun to the place of interment.

STEAM SHOVELS AT LEAD AND ZINC MINES

OPERATORS IN PLATTEVILLE, WIS., DISTRICT WILL REMOVE THE OVERBURDEN FROM THE ORE BODY BY MEANS OF THEM.

The operators of some of the lead and zinc properties in the Platteville district, in Southern Wisconsin, are soon to introduce steam shovels for the removal of the overburden from the ore deposits.

Some of the Wisconsin ore deposits there are only a short distance from surface and the soil is of a character that makes digging comparatively easy.

It is understood that the introduction of the shovel in the Platteville district will be made by the American Zinc, Lead & Smelting company, which, during the past year or more, has acquired important interests in that field.

It is reported from Wisconsin that the recovery of sulphur ores in that field has received some stimulus and increased production is now apparent.

There has recently been a slump in the demand for lead, but the price for the better quality has not fallen off much.

In spite of the low prices being received for mineral, some of the Wisconsin properties still continue to pay dividends.

The management of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company has ordered the accumulation of passenger coaches at Omaha in anticipation of extra heavy traffic by homeseekers going to the Rosebud Indian reservation.

ACCUMULATING COACHES. Northwestern Company Expects Large Traffic to Rosebud District.

The management of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company has ordered the accumulation of passenger coaches at Omaha in anticipation of extra heavy traffic by homeseekers going to the Rosebud Indian reservation.

Inasmuch as Dallas and Gregory, S. D., are some miles nearer the lands to be thrown open to homesteaders than either O'Neill or Valentine, Neb., where registrations are also to be made, it is expected that most of the homeseekers will head for the two former places.

Under the present provisions of the United States homestead laws any man or unmarried woman, twenty-one years of age, who is a citizen of the United States or who has declared an intention of becoming such, may take a homestead.

The applicant is required to file an application on a form furnished by the United States land office, describing the land it is proposed to preempt. This is called filing the homestead entry.

Having fulfilled the requirements of the law regarding residence for five years, the applicant presents evidence to that effect and pays certain fees, which, on 160 acres, amount to from $8 to $12. This is called "proving up" or making final proof, and if the applicant has complied with all the requirements of the law the government gives him title to the land, this title being known as a government "patent."

SMITH BUYS INTEREST.

Dr. H. S. Smith of Negaunee has purchased Dr. J. Vandeventer's interest in the Ishpeming hospital, and he will probably locate here within the next week, as his partnership with Drs. T. A. Felch, G. G. Barnett and V. H. Vandeventer begins tomorrow. Dr. Smith intends to move his family to Ishpeming as soon as he can procure a dwelling. He has been a member of the Negaunee hospital staff ever since the institution was established and for a few years prior to the erection of the hospital was in the employ of Dr. H. W. Shelton, having spent ten years in Negaunee. Dr. Smith has an excellent reputation in Negaunee, and he has had an unusually large practice there.

Since the retirement of Dr. J. Vandeventer a few months ago the physicians at the Ishpeming hospital have been unusually busy, as all of the work has been attended to by four of them, including the three partners, and Dr. R. A. Burke. Much of the time during the past several years six physicians have been on the staff.

MAY MEET HERE.

Effort Being Made to Bring Three Fast Balls Teams Together.

Manager W. J. McCorkindale of the Marquette County Gas & Electric company, is endeavoring to induce the Escanaba, Houghton-Houghton and Ironwood baseball teams to meet in a series of games in this city next Saturday and Sunday. An effort was made some time ago to bring the Houghton-Houghton and Escanaba teams together, but negotiations fell through.

Mr. McCorkindale was advised indirectly yesterday that the Escanaba team will accept his offer, and he expects to have them here tomorrow afternoon and a double-header of seven innings for each game Sunday afternoon.

The market for copper shares today was dull and uninteresting, presenting no feature of note or any decided tendency. The best construction that can be put on it might perhaps be termed a waiting market. While the balance of trade up to the last hour was on the selling side, until some news of important change other way. A sagging market, such as we have had recently is likely to become overbold, with the consequent result. We would rather buy them on declines. Utah Copper has proved up 70 acres of ore deposit averaging 1.90 per cent, and 350 feet in depth. It is believed that in a few months they will be in position to pay $4 on 13-cent copper, and that eventually the stock will likely sell at $75. Anaconda declared the usual quarterly dividend of 50 cents, payable Oct. 15 to stock of record Oct. 3.

A STRONG PLAY.

Mack-Leone Company Will Present "The Devil" Next Monday Evening.

The most sensational comedy drama on the stage will be produced at Ishpeming theater next Monday evening, when the Mack-Leone players present "The Devil."

"The Devil" suggests in its general treatment such efforts as George Bernard Shaw's witty comedy "Man and Superman." An important thought concerning men and women, even a bit of deep human philosophy, is expressed in terms of wit and humor worthy of Shaw in his best.

The author has sought to show that within us is a tendency towards evil that can only be repressed by constant effort of will, by the unceasing struggle of our better selves. This evil is personified in the play by the figure of a creature that is half man and half devil, and wholly devilish in its real qualities. There is a wide divergence from the Goethean idea of "Mephisto" and still a wider one from Stevenson's "Mr. Hyde," yet if one can imagine such a thing there is much of the two in combination. "The Devil" is a play that expressly declares: "I come from nowhere, and I go nowhere; I am here, touching, as he speaks, the forehead of the man and the woman who are being drawn together in a net which is so skillfully cast and so adroitly wrapped about them."

The author has expressly declared that his principal character shall not be portrayed by a character actor, but rather by a comedian. In so doing he has clearly had in mind the difficulty of interesting the public in sober and serious matter on the stage, and the important truth that the theater may teach effectively, if they will do so by means of humor and entertainment.

It is apparent, too, that the author has been won over to the school of which Ibsen was the founder, that elects to teach a moral not by illustrating the joys of goodness, but the sorrows and the disasters of evil conduct.

The production to be shown here by the Mack-Leone company will be an exact duplicate of the one now winning favor in New York.

BIG DEMAND FOR FUEL.

The cold spell, which set in Sunday, has created a big demand for fuel and the Ishpeming dealers have been rushed the past few days. The Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company had extra teams at work yesterday delivering wood and coal. Both the Consolidated and Superior Lumber companies have large stocks of wood on hand and the rush orders are being filled promptly. Two or three inches of snow fell here Monday night and it snowed at frequent intervals yesterday. The temperature nearly all yesterday was around thirty degrees, but during the previous night it dropped to twenty-five. The cold snap caught many without their heating stoves in condition for use.

ROBS MILK OF DISEASE.

Nathan Straus Shows How Pasteurization Prevents Tuberculosis. Washington, Sept. 29.—Nathan Straus' demonstration of how to prevent consumption, has proven the real sensation of the exhibition in connection with the international congress on tuberculosis held in the new National museum. Surgeon General Walter Wyman, of the public health service, made a careful study of the exhibit today and declared: "This is the real focus of the exhibition. This plant tells how to prevent disease by robbing the milk of the power to transmit tuberculosis from the cow to the human being. Pasteurization makes possible the elimination of the disease, just as smallpox and yellow fever have been eliminated from civilized communities."

TAKE OFF HATS!

Some tailors right here in Ishpeming tell you that they don't take off their hats to the best New York or Chicago tailors. What nonsense. I am more modest than that. But I will say, that I don't take off my hat to any Marquette county tailor. I will say also, that I can give you as good a suit for $20 as you can get from others, who claim to be tailors, for $30. Just come in and see for yourself. Shop crowded to the limit with suits for repairs, pressing and cleaning. Proof enough that "we are the goods."

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked.

Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

Patrick Stone, miner, employed at the Lake Angeline mine, at Salsbury, Ishpeming, Mich., and living at 722 Angeline street, says: "I suffered for months with pains through the back sometimes a dull heavy aching and changing frequently to sharp shooting twinges. I tried all kinds of liniments and hot applications as well, but none of them did me any real good for the pain would return and usually in a more severe form than before. The first real relief I found was from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I felt better after taking the first dose, and continued their use with confidence until so thoroughly cured that I have never had any return of the back-ache and not an attack of those shooting pains since."

Mining News

BIG TONNAGE BLOCKED OUT.

Copper Companies With Mines at Ely, Nev., Will Be Large Producers.

The large four-compartment shaft of the Veteran property of the Cumberland Ely has been completed, reports the Boston Financial News. The pushing of this shaft, necessary for a large production of ore, has retarded exploration work for the past four or five months. Now that it is finished the policy of the company will be to again rush development. The Veteran has so far proved to be the highest grade ore body in the Ely district. A large tonnage has been blocked out averaging 3.68 per cent copper. The Cumberland Ely Copper company and the Nevada Consolidated Copper company are both controlled by the same interests and own jointly the stock of the Steppe Valley Smelting & Mining company and the Nevada Railroad company.

The Nevada Consolidated Copper company has been developing its ore bodies for the last seven years and has a very large tonnage blocked out, averaging 2.3 per cent copper, with ore assured for several years averaging 2.5 per cent. This ore concentrates from ten to twelve tons into one with a 70 per cent saving. The Cumberland Ely Copper company has only been developing for the past two years, and consequently has not as much ore blocked out, although the tonnage is large. The ore concentrates from four to six tons into one. A 70 per cent saving is being made from the ore at present taken from top of crebe. The management, however, expects to get a larger saving when the ore of an average mine grade is extracted. While the Cumberland Ely has a less degree of concentration, the concentrates contain a large excess of iron for which it will be paid. The Nevada Consolidated concentrates contain a large amount of iron, but the two together form an ideal smelting mixture.

As stated, the Nevada Consolidated Copper company started developing its ore bodies about seven years ago and three years ago had completed the shafts to justify the building of a railroad, which is now completed, having over 200 miles of track connecting the mines and smelters with the Union Pacific. About this time the Cumberland Ely Copper company was formed and acquired in addition to its mining property the only available water supply in the district ample for a huge concentrating plant such as the ore bodies of Ely justified. The result was a deal by which the Cumberland Ely acquired one-half ownership in the railroad and the Nevada Consolidated acquired an interest in the water rights, through there being decided to the Steppe Valley Smelting & Mining company. This company has expended over $6,000,000 to date in a modern reduction plant, the money being contributed to date equally by the two mining companies.

The concentrator has been built in three units, each with two sections, one for the Cumberland Ely's use and the other for the use of the Nevada Consolidated. The first unit of the concentrator has been in operation since the latter part of June and the second unit is completed and is now being placed in operation. The third unit should be in operation within sixty days. The Steppe Valley Smelting & Mining company has now decided to erect a fourth unit, which will bring the capacity up to 6,000 tons per day. This fourth unit will, however, be used for the Nevada Consolidated ore, and it is expected will be put into commission the first half of next year. Those best posted believe that this is but a starter and that these two companies will ultimately mine and treat not less than 25,000 tons of ore per day. Both the concentrator and smelter have been designed so that they can be extended to this ultimate capacity without rebuilding of treating down.

By Jan. 1st, it is said, the Cumberland Ely will be producing at about the rate of 30,000,000 pounds of copper per annum and with the completion of the fourth unit the Nevada Consolidated 55,000,000 pounds of copper. It is figured that both companies will be able to land copper in New York at a cost of eight cents per pound, placing the profits from the railroad and smelting companies against the cost, or in other words deducting them from the gross cost to arrive at the cost of the copper. To all intents and purposes the copper industry can figure on nearly 100,000,000 pounds from the Ely camp next year.

The capitalization of the Nevada Consolidated is 1,000,000 shares, of which 1,300,000 shares have been issued and the remaining 300,000 shares will be needed to provide for the conversion of its own bonds and those of the Nevada Northern Railway company. The Cumberland Ely is in a somewhat stronger position, having 1,300,000 shares of stock outstanding, with no bonds. The two companies became heavily interested in both of the mining companies over two years ago and at that time they, with their engineers, took full management of the property. It will not be surprising under the circumstances if the two companies are some day consolidated.

Many believe they are sanctified because they feel so self-satisfied.

ISLE ROYALE.

The plans for the future of the Isle Royale depend very largely on extending the openings of the new shafts which are in such good looking copper rock as far as they have been opened. The two shafts farthest to the south are continuing to show good stamp rock which is making fairly good copper in the mill runs and the shaft No. 4 is sending down some of the best rock ever taken out of the Isle Royale at any time. What the Isle Royale needs more than anything else is the further opening of these new shafts. No. 4 has over two miles of good opening ground now and Nos. 5 and 6 are opened to a proportionately greater depth with drifts and stopes in such shape that a proper underground section of rock can be made. There is little doubt that the Isle Royale will eventually show its friends that their confidence is not misplaced. It is generally understood that the Bigelow management counts more on the future of the Isle Royale property than on any other of its properties, excepting of course the Almeck and the Osceola Consolidated. The work so far done on the Baltic lode on the Section 12 property of the Isle Royale has been very encouraging, notwithstanding the fact that the purchase of this Hussey-Howe tract by the Isle Royale was touted as opening a new era of productive richness for this mine. The first shaft on Section 12 went down about 750 feet and while it worked through and across a formation which at many times seemed to bear evidence of great richness in copper, the ultimate results were unsatisfactory. Even at this depth attained the formation was badly broken and showed no healthy evidences of merit. The company has installed another exploration pit or shaft immediately east of the Hussey-Howe tract where the diamond drills have shown the lode in apparently good commercial values.

QUINCY.

Good progress is being made in sinking the Pontiac shaft of the Quincy. The first work in the Pontiac shaft started this spring and was attended with considerable difficulty. However the sinking will now go forward with greater rapidity, the steam hoist is being installed and the ancient shaft has been completely cleaned out and retimbered. This shaft of the Quincy is eventually to become one of the main producers of this "Old Reliable." Its location is such that it can tap a mineralized section that will yield a goodly return to the company. It will also command much of the territory purchased from the Arcadian two years ago. The work of the Quincy company in this territory to the northwest is very interesting in view of the one time opinion quite generally held here that the lode at the Pontiac did not carry copper enough to warrant development. This new shaft is over a mile from the original Franklin workings in territory that the Quincy at one time considered worthless from a mineral standpoint. The Quincy company today is in first class condition in every way. The new steel shaft house at the old shaft on the hill will be ready for use within a few months but the work there has not interfered at all with the production record of the mine. Quincy has long since developed into a position which requires exceptional managerial ability. At greater depth higher costs are certain unless economies in operation can be introduced in the future as they have been lately and a visit to the mine shows many points where advantageous improvements have been introduced with the purpose and effect of cheapening costs.

ANACONDA FIRE.

A fire has been burning in the Anaconda and St. Lawrence mines since 1880 and all efforts to extinguish it have been futile, as the fire feeds itself on sulphide ores. The portions of the mines where the fire prevails has been flooded, and here holes have been put down from the surface through which streams of water have been run; but it has had no effect on the fire. The only effective measure was to wall the fire in with cement, and in that way it has been kept in control, but often it breaks through somewhere in a crack in the rock permits the gas to escape. It is often impossible or difficult to locate the leak and the only way the gas can be driven out of the mine is by air currents, but it breaks out or appears in unexpected places and the miners are driven out of the mine. A very little of the gas is sufficient to prevent men from working. The latest outbreak was chiefly in the shaft, and during the shut down some mining was done through the St. Lawrence and Never-cast shafts, both of these mines being connected with the Anaconda. The latter employs about 500 men and hoists about 550 tons of ore per day.

CENTENNIAL.

Much interest is being manifested in the success of the Centennial's operation on the Kearsarge lode under the South Kearsarge branch of the Osceola Consolidated. This drift is now in nearly 1,100 feet from No. 2 shaft and is about up to the South Kearsarge boundary. The advantage which Osceola ownership and control would give to the Calumet & Hecla people in their operation of this important work of the Centennial is now apparent although up to date the work has progressed with economy and success as far as it has gone. In shaft No. 1 of the Centennial a depth of 3,550 feet has been reached. This is the deepest shaft of the property. Drifting northward from this level the Centennial will reach the Wolverine boundary in the course of three or four years and in doing this is likely to be in fairly well mineralized ground all the way, passing under the South Kearsarge shafts. This drift will probably get in touch with the same copper shoots that the Wolverine operates.

BUTTE COALITION.

The resumption of operations in the Pennsylvania mine adds considerable to the production of the Butte Coalition company, says the Butte correspondent of the Boston Commercial, as the Boston & Montana, under a mutual agreement, mines some jointly owned ore bodies in what is known as the Red Penn, in which the Butte Coalition has a 40 per cent interest. The ore is of a very high grade. The Butte Coalition company is mining about 900 tons of ore daily and is carrying on a lot of development work, principally from the new Tramway shaft, though the Rarus mine is also being opened on lower levels. The Tramway is being sunk below the 1,500 foot level and crosscuts are being run north into the Mimie Healey ground from the 1,500, 1,300 and 1,200 stations. The Rarus shaft is also to be sunk deeper. There has been much wonder and disappointment among Butte Coalition stockholders over the failure to resume dividends. The last dividend was paid last December, and after a resumption of mining, following the long shut down, there was about $4,000,000 in the company's treasury.

NORTH BUTTE.

It is reported that the North Butte company is making plans to sink a second shaft and that its location has been decided on, but work on it will not start at once. No information is obtainable in Butte, but it would seem that the most likely plan would be to sink the Berlin shaft, which the company contemplated doing a year or so ago, but postponed the work. Levels are being opened from the Speculator shaft into the Berlin ground, and it has always been the intention of the company to connect them with the shaft to be sunk on the Berlin claim. The Berlin shaft is 900 feet deep, and it will be sunk to the 1,500 foot point, and possibly to 2,000 feet. It is not likely that any great amount of exploration work will be done above the 1,500, although there is a lot of ore in the veins all the way from the surface down to the 400 foot level, and it seems certain that the ore will be found to increase gradually with depth. The bottom of the shaft is in a fine body of ore, containing much copper glaze. Several sets of leases are working on the upper levels, but the company will give no further leases. The East Butte is well financed and is in very capable hands.

EAST BUTTE.

As already reported, orders have been received to prepare for a resumption of work in the East Butte company mines, and Superintendent Vail is engaged in engineering the work. There isn't much water in the East Butte mines, as the ground is pretty well drained by the deeper workings of the Amalgamated and Coalition mines adjoining. The main shaft of the East Butte is 900 feet deep, and it will be sunk to the 1,500 foot point, and possibly to 2,000 feet. It is not likely that any great amount of exploration work will be done above the 1,500, although there is a lot of ore in the veins all the way from the surface down to the 400 foot level, and it seems certain that the ore will be found to increase gradually with depth. The bottom of the shaft is in a fine body of ore, containing much copper glaze. Several sets of leases are working on the upper levels, but the company will give no further leases. The East Butte is well financed and is in very capable hands.

SUPERIOR.

The showing at the Superior underground continues to be of uniform quality, and while the dump shows a large amount of rock that will probably make a fair showing in the mill return, the test will be more satisfactory than any opinion as to its value that might be expressed by the miners of the district. They have not as yet started shipping rock to the Atlantic stamp mill but this work will be undertaken within a few weeks. There is no advance prediction that the Superior rock will run 2 per cent or better, but it will show a rock that will yield copper enough to make its mining a profitable enterprise even at the present price of the metal. There will be no selection of the rock to be sent down for the test and the result will be a true and conclusive evidence of the actual average of the mineralized formation so far exposed.

FIRES DID NOT AFFECT HARDWOOD

PRICES WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED, AS BOTH DRY AND GREEN WOOD IS PLENTIFUL—DAMAGE TO PINE LANDS IN MANY INSTANCES OVERESTIMATED.

"There will be no advance in the price of wood this fall or winter on account of the forest fires," said a Negaunee dealer yesterday. Forest fires, do not, as a rule, run in hardwood or hemlock lands and practically all of the districts in this region from which the dealers procure their supply escaped the flames. The pine lands have been burned over and the estimated loss of pine runs well into millions of feet, but in many instances the reports have been greatly exaggerated. Many wood dealers who had a considerable quantity of hardwood cut and proval among them keep the flames away from it, so that dry as well as green wood will be plentiful.

It was reported in some of the papers a few days ago that Hebbard & Co. sold $5,000,000 feet of timber, principally pine, on the Kearsarge tract. The lumber is Superior, between Huron Bay and Kearsarge Bay, but according to a Negaunee lumberman the actual loss will not exceed 400,000 feet. He further said that the smaller timber owners suffered heavier losses proportionately than the big lumber concerns, as the latter did considerable work in the way of fighting the fires.

As a result of the fires there will be increased activity in the lumber districts of Northern Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin this coming season. A large area of timber lands has been burned over and the stumpage owners will have to cut the scorched pine this year if they want to save it. Any of the burnt timber left standing until next summer will be of little use, but if cut this winter it can be sold.

The lumber dealers throughout the country expect a slump in the prices before the season is very far advanced, as a result of the forced activity in the woods, but it is a question whether there will be much of a reduction, as the lumber business is in very strong hands.

STEEL MILLS RESUME.

Reported that 100,000 Additional Hands Will Begin Work Tomorrow.

According to advices from the east orders have been issued at the large iron and steel plants of the country to prepare for resumption by Oct. 1. It is said that the mills of the West, Ohio, and Pennsylvania are being run at full capacity and that the mills of the East are being run at full capacity. The steel mills are now working with a full force, several thousand additional men having been taken on Monday. They will work up stocks of steel so that the finishing mills will have material to work on to advantage later in the year.

POTATO EXPENSIVE.

Negaunee farmers are receiving good prices for their potatoes this fall. Only a few of the farmers have harvested their crops, but all are preparing to dig them in the next week or so. The wholesale prices at present are from sixty-five to seventy cents per bushel. This price is also obtained for stock coming from other states. It is reported that the Wisconsin crop is much below normal. A Negaunee merchant said yesterday that many of the farmers are holding their potatoes back, expecting the prices to advance still higher, but he believes they are making a mistake, as it will likely be found within the next two or three weeks that there will not be a shortage anywhere in the country. Last year at this time potatoes sold at from forty-five to fifty cents per bushel.

TO BUILD LAUNDER.

The Oliver Iron Mining company is preparing to build a launder near the Regent mines for the purpose of carrying away the water from Partridge creek, which at present endangers the workings. Excavating for the launder has been started in the low ground and the carpenters will probably begin work this week. The launder will be from 1,200 to 1,500 feet in length and of sufficient size to take care of the creek and sewer water during all seasons. It will take from two to three weeks to complete the job.

ADELPHI RINK TO OPEN.

J. M. Wilson, who has managed the Adelphi roller rink, the past two seasons, has secured a lease of it for this year, and will open it on either the 8th or 10th of next month. He has already started overhauling his skates and getting the place in readiness for the opening. There will be skating only three evenings a week, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, also Saturday afternoon. Mr. Wilson opened the rink last season Oct. 17 and closed it April 4. A band will be in attendance the opening night.

NEGAUNEE TEAM LOST.

Calumet & Hecla Cricketers Too Much for Iron Country Players.

The North of England Cricket team of this city was defeated by the Calumet & Hecla club at the latter's grounds last Saturday afternoon. The men from the Iron country did not expect to carry off the honors, as it was generally conceded that the Calumet & Hecla team was the stronger of the two. Copper country papers report that the Negaunee bowlers did good work, but the Calumet & Hecla men had it on them throughout the entire contest.

In view of the fact that the Negaunee team tied with the Kearsarge club in the contest here on Labor Day, this copper country papers concede the championship of the Northwest to the Kearsarge team. Kearsarge had won from other teams of the copper country and inasmuch as Negaunee was defeated by the Calumet & Hecla club the iron country aggregation has no claim on the championship. PETER F. BARASA & CO.

NEGAUNEE, MICHIGAN.

Blaine's defeat, but his remark, when requested to speak for Blaine, that he was "not engaged in criminal practices," was whispered about, and his friends knifed Blaine unmercifully. Grover Cleveland's personal quarrel with David B. Hill undoubtedly was responsible for Cleveland's defeat in 1888. Hill was a candidate that year for governor of New York and was elected, but it was charged and never seriously denied that Hill's followers had knifed Cleveland from one end of the state to the other.

Grant-Summer Feud. One of the most noted feuds between great men, though it did not affect the results of a presidential election, was that between Grant and Charles Sumner. Memory of it rankled in Grant's heart as long as he lived, and its bitterness probably brought on the attack of heart disease which resulted in Sumner's death.

Even if the feud did not determine the result of a presidential election, it certainly left a great and lasting impression in the history of the United States. Had it not been for Sumner's enmity toward Grant the latter's project for the annexation of Santo Domingo would have been accomplished and the American republic would have entered a generation earlier than it did in its career as a colonial power. It was the bitterest hour of Grant's life when the senator under the leadership of Sumner, reacted the annexation of Santo Domingo. Grant's fame as a military hero was secure for all time and he believed the annexation of Santo Domingo would give him lasting fame as a statesman. No matter what or we may believe today that the annexation of Santo Domingo would have been wise, there is no doubt that its failure contributed largely to Grant's disappointment with his experience as president.

Ancient Enmities. At the very beginning of the republic there were bitter personal enmities between men in high station and Washington's cabinet, made up as it was of men holding antagonistic views, was in a perpetual stew. Jefferson could not agree with those who were later to become federalists, and even those with federalist tendencies quarreled among themselves. Indeed, the acrimony between Alexander Hamilton and John Adams was very largely responsible for the downfall of the federal party, besides depriving Adams' administration of the services of Hamilton, who undoubtedly had the brightest mind of them all.

Another historic feud was that between Andrew Jackson and John C. Calhoun, which probably did more than any other thing to keep Calhoun out of the presidency. Jackson is famed in history for his firm stand against the South Carolina secession movement but it would be difficult today to determine what measure of Jackson's stand was prompted by his stern sense of duty and what measure by his hatred of Calhoun.

Caused Garfield's Death. Of all the political feuds, however, that between Blaine and Conkling probably was the most calamitous, for historians generally agree that it was responsible for the assassination of President Garfield. The feud was directly responsible for the war over New York patronage, and the patronage war put into the diseased mind of a patry office-seeker the desire to remove Garfield.

There is no good excuse for attempting to find a reason for this lessened bitterness of party politics, but that American politics is less bitter than formerly is generally recognized.

BOWLING ALLEYS SOON TO REOPEN

BALLS WILL ROLL AND PINS WILL DROP IN BACON BLOCK OCT. 5, SAYS MANAGEMENT.

SOME NOVEL INNOVATIONS

New Device for Righting Pins Installed, and Two More Alleys In—Three Men and Five-Men Teams May Play at Opening.

The fall and winter season of the bowling alleys in the Bacon building will open about Oct. 5th. It was planned to open the season on the first of October, but the two additional alleys now being installed will not be finished until a later date, and it was thought best not to open the alleys until everything was complete. The two additional alleys were purchased from the owners of the Hotel Superior, and are being moved to their new location and put in place by Lipsett & Sinclair, and although they had been idle for a number of years, were found to be in good condition. When these are installed, there will be six alleys that will fully occupy the floor space in the large hall, and provision will be made along the north side of the hall for spectators.

The experience of last season showed that additional alleys were badly needed, and from present indications all of the alleys will be in constant use during the busy hours of the day and evening. Interest among the local bowlers was very strong last season, but promises to be much greater during the coming season. A feature in connection with the additional alleys will be the use of a new and improved pin spotter, known as the "Backus." This device is both a pin-setter and spotter. It does not do away with the use of pin boys, but enables them to set pins much faster than can be done with the spotters in use on the other alleys.

The alleys will be in charge of H. O. Bell, whose management last season was so successful. The annual meeting of the Bowling company is to be held on Oct. 9th. The affairs of the company are in charge of a board of managers, consisting of A. E. Miller, chairman; M. H. Ford, vice chairman; W. H. Van Iderstine, secretary; J. H. Godwin, treasurer, and E. W. Allen, and F. G. Jenks.

A feature on the opening night will probably be a match between five-men teams representing Negaunee and Marquette. It is planned, also, to organize a special three-men or five-men contest, to begin promptly after the opening of the season, and to continue until the hunting season, after which the regular league contests will be organized to continue during the winter months.

TELEPHONE SYSTEM INSPECTED.

Michigan Company's Equipment Foreman and Crew Visit Marquette.

That the Marquette office of the Michigan State Telephone company, was found to be in better condition in the matter of equipment and service conditions than any other visited by his men, who have been working under his direction on a tour of general inspection throughout the state, is the declaration of H. P. Storkerson, equipment foreman, who has been inspecting the exchanges of the company since Feb. 1.

"This inspection tour is an innovation with us," said Mr. Storkerson yesterday, "but it is likely that an annual inspection will be had hereafter. I find fewer changes to be made here than we expected, as the equipment has been well cared for, and the service is exceptionally good. This is the nearest kept office we have yet looked over."

The inspection entails the trying out of all wires, and terminal connections, batteries, switchboards, grounds, heating coils, relays possibilities of induction, in fact, all the several parts of the inside and field construction, the general neatness of the office and the quality of service.

In the battery rooms the inspection crew have coated the walls with asphaltum, to prevent corrosion from the fumes of sulphuric acid, a relay battery has been installed, and a duplex system of keys, by means of which both conversation and the dots and dashes of the Morse alphabet can travel at the same time. While Annie is telling George that she "didn't mean to be mean" last evening, a local merchant may be ordering "three more sides of beef" from a Chicago packing house.

SCHOOL ENROLLS MORE THAN 200

REGISTRATION OF STUDENTS AT NORMAL BREAKS RECORD—SPECIAL COURSES TO BE GIVEN.

Already more than two hundred students have been enrolled on the state Normal school list for the ensuing term, and many more are expected to arrive today and tomorrow. It is evident now that the attendance this term will surpass in numbers that of the fall term last year. Principal Kaye, in charge, says that most of the students are taking up the life certificate course, which necessitates high school graduation, and two years work in the Normal.

Some Special Courses. In a special announcement by Dr. Downing, head of the department of biology, he says: "Those who are interested in travel and art study, will find the course in history of architecture given at the Normal this term, a particularly helpful one. The course covers the developments of architectural styles, from the Egyptian and Greek temples, to the European cathedrals." Illustrations will be given using both diagram and lantern slides. The reference library is constantly increasing. The class meets at 10:25 o'clock.

Physiology of Childhood. There is also being given this term at the Normal school, a course in the special physiology of childhood, which is particularly valuable to parents as well as to teachers. This term the work is on the nervous system, and organ of sense; next term, the nutrition of the child will be the main topic. The course discusses briefly the organs, and their activity in the adult, then takes the same organs and activity in the child and makes emphatic the marked differences. The physical development is considered; the methods of combating abnormal conditions, means of detecting irregularities and defects, accidents and diseases of the organs in children. Feeding for specific purposes and other subjects that meet the difficulties of parents and teachers, are included in the course. It is given by Dr. Downing, at 3 a. m., and is open to townspeople, as well as regular students.

Heretofore the grocery and meat business of Anderson & Lindstrom will be conducted on a strictly cash basis, both as to purchases and sales. Patrons will be given the benefit of the consequent lower prices. Anderson & Lindstrom, corner Third and Ohio streets. (9-30-21)

FLYNN, MURDERED, IS STILL ALIVE

MISSING MAN, SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN KILLED BY ROOMMATE HERE, RETURNS.

Because Mike McCarty, a section hand on the L. S. & L., walked his room at Crossman's restaurant, wringing his hands, brandishing a knife, and muttering repeatedly, "I wish I hadn't done it," and "the blood won't wash away," he was arrested by Officer Curran Monday night for the alleged murder of James Flynn who had chummed with him, and who had disappeared following a quarrel with McCarty which took place on Sunday night.

Both Flynn and McCarty worked on the road for Section Boss Burnham, and had rooms above the Crossman restaurant. Knowing of the quarrel that had occurred between the men, Mrs. Crossman had her attention attracted by McCarty pacing the floor, listening to his mutterings, and heard enough to cause a suspicion in her mind that he had committed some crime, and the incident of the recent quarrel led her to believe that he had murdered his chum. This suspicion was apparently confirmed by the continued absence of Flynn. Instigating a search for the missing man, without avail, the matter was reported to the police, with the result that McCarty was taken into custody, and at a preliminary examination before Justice Byrne yesterday morning was ordered held to await developments.

"All day long Chief of Police Manning and his men searched for the missing Flynn without success, following up reports of his whereabouts, by telephoning to Birch, and several other points to which Flynn was rumored to have gone. Things began to look very bad for the suspected McCarty, who had drawn his pay from the railroad company, and was about to leave the city when arrested, when Flynn walked into the Crossman place last night announcing that he had been taking a trip up the line.

Upon the return of the man supposed to have been murdered, Chief of Police Manning immediately released the accused section hand, who had maintained his innocence throughout, and whose peculiar actions, and suspicious mutterings, his associates attribute to the fact that he had been drinking.

AUTOMOBILES THROW STONES.

Speeding of Heavy Cars on Marquette-Negaunee Road Works Havoc.

That automobiles, by speeding over the new highway connecting Negaunee with this city, and now nearing completion, are working great damage to the road bed is the statement of one of the foremen in charge of the work, who says that round pieces of the broken rock, of which the bed of the driveway is composed, are often lifted by the suction of the rubber tired machines and thrown yards away from the grading. Most of the damage is done on the straight away stretches, where unlimited speed is developed, and a perfect shower of the lesser stones, and macadam dust, attend the cars. Those portions of the road that are curved, are said to be immune, as the machines are compelled to run slow at the turns, but that something special must be done if the main portion of the road is to maintain its present form is the assertion of those who have driven over it. It has been suggested that the bed of the highway be pitched.
