

HONORS ARE PAID AFTER MANY YEARS

President Taft and a Distinguished Company Participate in Impressive Ceremonies Conducted at the National Capital.

After Having Remained Unnoticed for Nearly a Century Beneath the Soil of an Obscure Farm in Maryland, the Body of Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, Who Planned the City of Washington, Is Removed to Arlington Cemetery.

Washington, April 28.—After remaining unnoticed for nearly a century beneath the soil of an obscure Maryland farm, the body of Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, the French engineer who remodeled the city hall in New York and who designed the national capital, was today removed to Arlington National cemetery, after an impressive ceremony at the Capitol.

The body was taken under military escort to the Capitol, where it lay in state until the hour of the exercises. President Taft, accompanied by Mrs. Taft, was present. Vice President Sherman and Ambassador Jusserand, of France, paid tribute to the memory of Major L'Enfant and spoke of the work of the French officer, particularly as it affected the building up of the city of Washington. Gathered about the bier were the representatives of many patriotic and civic organizations.

Ambassador Jusserand's Address. At the outset of his address Ambassador Jusserand called attention to the primitive condition of the land upon which the future capital of the nation was to be erected and to the great transformation which had taken place in a little more than a century. He said that "the will of congress, the choice made by the great man whose name the city was to bear, the talents of a French officer, the one whose memory was being commemorated today, had caused the change."

Washington, he said, quickly made up his mind as to the location of the federal city, but the question arose as to what sort of a city would it be—a residential one for statesmen and officers, a city of commerce, or a city of the splendid possibilities afforded by the Potomac river, or a mixture of both? Would it be planned in view of the present or the future, and of what sort of future?

Major Pierre L'Enfant, said the ambassador, had been selected by Washington because in thirteen years of association he had many occasions to appreciate his qualities of character and his abilities. The French officer, however, he said, although gifted, pious and energetic, was difficult to handle. L'Enfant had been one of the earliest enthusiasts of the American cause, served throughout the war of independence and had been left on the battlefield severely wounded at Savannah, where he had led the vanguard of one of the columns of the attack and lost two-thirds of his men. Later he was taken prisoner and afterwards exchanged for Captain Von Heyden, a Hessian.

His Work of Love. For Major L'Enfant, said the ambassador, the planning of the city of Washington was a work of love. "A mere glance at that work," he said, "showed that the officer had decided not to work for a nation of thirteen states, but for one of fifty; the streets were unexamined anywhere; gardens, parks, fountains, statues to famous men—all were devised in view of a great and powerful nation, the nation of today."

L'Enfant, the speaker declared, had foreseen the present greatness in all its aspects, "even the last acquired one, the one of which the American nation is so justly proud, her navy." The ambassador declared that the plan fitted so well future times and so badly present ones that for many years criticisms were ceaseless and that as late as 1851 Jean Jacques Ampere heard jokes on "that strange city made of houses without streets and streets without houses."

The intention L'Enfant had of the future of his adopted country was nothing extraordinary, the ambassador continued. "All French people had the same. From the first, France thought that the United States would be and should be a great nation. The first diplomat ever sent here came from France."

In conclusion the ambassador said: "And now, Pierre Charles L'Enfant will sleep his last sleep in that Arlington cemetery, where so many are buried who fought as he did and fell as he did for the nation; he will rest on slopes from which can be seen the growth of the 'federal city,' now called Washington, 'a revered name,' wrote another Frenchman, Chastellux, when visiting in 1782 another and earlier town of the same name in Connecticut. 'A revered name' whose memory will undoubtedly last longer than the very city called upon to perpetuate it. May the fame of both continue increasing forever."

CHICAGO CIVIL SERVICE BOARD DISCHARGES A POLICE OFFICIAL. Chicago, April 28.—Lieutenant Robert J. Schlauf, of the police department, was discharged by the civil service commission today. Schlauf was found guilty on charges of neglect of duty in ordering the release of Joseph A. Joyce, a paroled convict and relative of Chief of Police Shippy, after Joyce had been identified as a robber.

Buffalo, April 28.—The elevator of the Husted Milling & Elevator company burned today. The loss is $300,000.

ABDUL HAMID'S LIFE IS SPARED TO HIM

Considered Above the Law, the Ottoman Empire's Former Sovereign Will Not Be Tried, as Has Been Widely Rumored.

He Will, However, Be Kept a Prisoner in a Large House With Walled Grounds on a Height Overlooking Saloniki, and With a Portion of His Harem and a Large Retinue of Servants He Is Conveyed to That Place by Special Train.

Constantinople, April 28.—The former ruler of the empire, Abdul Hamid II, is to be kept a prisoner in a large house with walled grounds on a height overlooking Saloniki. He is not to be put on trial, as has been widely rumored in Constantinople, for he is considered to be above the law. It was thought best, however, to keep the deposed sultan in European Turkey and at a point remote from the capital. His household will be administered for him on a generous scale, and his life will be safeguarded, as he earnestly besought when notified of his detourment.

Abdul Hamid, with four wives, five daughters and two of his younger sons, two eunuchs and a comparatively large number of female servants, was taken from the Yildiz palace last night and started under an escort to Saloniki. The party proceeded by steam launch to the landing near the railway, and the special train on which they were placed left at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Young Turks Want His Fortune. The constitutionalists would like to get back part of the great sums of money the former sultan is supposed to have abroad, not only because the government is in need of the money, but because it is desirable that he should be deprived of resources for another coup d'etat. Speculation places Hamid's and women's amounting to $25,000,000 and $200,000,000.

It was mentioned with pleasure today at the palace of Mehmed V that the American ambassador was the first of the foreign representatives to communicate his good wishes to the new sultan. The sultan sent his compliments and thanks to Mr. Leishman, expressing pleasure that the representative of the United States was the first to congratulate him. The city is illuminated tonight and the general rejoicing continues.

Mutineers Shot to Death. Although this was a holiday, court-martials were held and several principals in the mutiny of the troops were condemned to death. Later they were taken outside the walls of the city and shot. Prince Sabah Edine, a nephew of the sultan, who was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the rising, has been liberated and his release has caused a good impression.

Caracassa Effendi, a member of the deputation from the national assembly, a member of the Fetva to the Yildiz palace, tells a graphic story of the dramatic scene which closed the six centuries' dominion of the boundless empire of the padishahs. When the deputation arrived at the palace, they were met by a band of soldiers, who, investing armor had cut off the water, gas and electric supplies and had stopped the ingress of food, so that all the palace officials already were suffering from hunger and panic. While waiting to be introduced to the sultan, the members of the deputation earnestly examined their holsters and pistols, and, according to Caracassa, had Abdul Hamid shown an armed hand he would have been shot on the spot.

Prince Burst Into Tears. After much delay the unwelcome visitors, surrounded by twenty black eunuchs, were ushered into the sultan's apartment, where stood the sultan's son, Prince Abdur Rahim. Presently the sultan entered in a bewildered manner. After a silent salute, Essad Pasha pronounced the decree of deposition, at which the sultan shuddered. Thereupon the sultan burst into tears, and with equal painful cologne lasting a quarter of an hour. Hamid appealed for his life and for the lives of his family. He protested his devotion to the people and his innocence in the recent events. The youthful prince burst into tears, and after vain efforts to restrain his feelings, retired behind a screen, where he broke into bitter sobs. For a moment tears trembled in the sultan's eyes. Then he supplanted the soldiers in attendance to swear that they would not take his life. The deputation brought the interview to a close, and Hamid humbly saluted them as they departed.

WASHINGTON TAKES ACTION. Mehmed V. Officially Recognized as Turkey's New Monarch.

Washington, April 28.—Mehmed V, the new sultan of Turkey, was today officially recognized as reigning ruler of that empire by the Washington government. This action followed the communication of the fact of the accession to the throne of the new sultan to the state department by Kiazim Bey, the Turkish ambassador, and similar information from American Ambassador Leishman, at Constantinople. A dispatch according recognition, signed by President Taft, was forwarded to Constantinople tonight for presentation by the ambassador there. The state department's dispatch contained the following congratulation from President Taft: "I offer to your imperial majesty my congratulations on your accession to the throne with the people's acclamation, voiced by the sultan's subjects, and at a time so propitious to the highest aspirations of the great nation over which you rule as the head of a constitutional government. I assure you of the friendship of the government and people of the United States, who earnestly wish for your majesty's happiness and for that of the people with your dominions, and I add my own wishes for your majesty's health and welfare."

New Era for the Empire. A favorable impression has been created in Washington by the remarks attributed to the sultan in his public utterances, and the confident hope was expressed that Turkey is about to enter upon a new era of successful constitutional government. This was the answer of Kiazim Bey in his talk with the state department today. He was very optimistic upon the troubles which beset Turkey in the provinces, where the fanaticism and fanatic portions of the Turkish people have, ascribing these conditions as having rather a fictitious basis with rather a weak following among the people as a class.

From the American standpoint a permanent improvement in the conditions in Asia Minor and other portions of Turkey where massacres of Armenians occur is the most important duty that confronts the new government. In its dealing with this question the faith and capacity of the Young Turks' party will be put to a severe test. Meantime, to meet the national emergency, the state department is arranging to put to the best use the American war vessels now approaching Gibraltar. In a measure the disposition of these ships will be left to the American embassy at Constantinople.

TURKISH SOLDIERS JOIN IN THE KILLING. Thousands of Armenians Meet Death in the Renewed Massacres at Adana, the Torch Is Applied Again and the Destruction of the City Is Complete.

London, April 28.—A despatch from Mersina, dated Monday night, says: "Two Turkish regiments which landed here Saturday proceeded to Adana, where they resumed their Sunday night, the wholesale murdering of the Armenians and the burning of their property. Thousands were burned to death, while those who attempted to escape were shot down by the troops. The destruction of Adana is complete. The loss of life in the whole province of Adana is estimated at thirty thousand. The losses of Europeans in property are enormous. The British and foreign warships here are inactive. Four Germans previously reported as having been killed at Bakelich have arrived safely at Mersina. All the Armenian population at Bakelich has been massacred."

RELIEF OF TABRIZ DELAYED.

Troops of the Shah Offer Resistance to the Russian Column. St. Petersburg, April 28.—The relief of Tabriz has been delayed considerably by the unexpected resistance of the Shah's troops. Late advices state that the Russian column under General Spassky has been held up in mountain passes not far from the beleaguered city, in which passes small parties of natives would find it easy to hamstring the advance. The Persian detachments are reassuring with respect to the conditions at Tabriz, and state that the Europeans and Americans are not exposed to any particular danger.

The city of Chillicothe gave a wet majority of approximately 1,500, and the county outside was carried by a small majority by the same forces. Mayor Yapple and the city administration led the wet forces, while the campaign of the dry was conducted by many persons prominent in the anti-liquor cause, aided by local ministers and others.

WHITLA TO TESTIFY FOR KIDNAPPER BOYLE?

Father of the Abducted Boy Will Take the Stand for the Defense, It Is Said at Mercer, Pa.—Charged With Attempting to Extort $10,000 from Him, Two Men Are Jailed at Boston.

Boston, April 28.—Charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from James Whitla, of Sharon, Pa., under threat that they would again kidnap his son, Willie Whitla, two men who gave the names of John W. Wright and Ernest H. Martin were arrested here today. Strange Stories Afloat at Mercer. Mercer, Pa., April 28.—Additional information was obtained tonight concerning the probable defense of James F. Boyle, the Whitla kidnaper, when he is called for trial Friday. It is asserted that James P. Whitla, father of Willie, will be the principal witness for Boyle. It is alleged that Boyle knew that Boyle was connected with the abduction at noon of March 25 and that he talked with Boyle on a street corner near the store where a few moments before he had left the package containing the $10,000 ransom money. It is also stated that Boyle was the safe return of the boy, and that he would not interest himself in any prosecution. Willie is said to have informed Boyle that he could remain in Cleveland or go where he pleased, but in any event he "would be as tight as a clam" if the boy was returned unharmed. Following this conversation, Willie was safely restored to his father on the evening of that day. It is also said that Boyle will endeavor to prove an alibi. Another story is that Boyle was merely a tool for others. It is said that after the money was secured from Whitla, attempts were made to get Boyle intoxicated, and these are of minor importance.

WALSH'S NAME DRAWN INTO THE SCANDAL.

Intimation Is Made That the Chicago Financier Was Cognizant With the Operations of Forger Peter Van Vliessing; but the Latter Denies It. Chicago, April 28.—The names of John R. Walsh, former president of the Chicago National bank, who is under a five-year sentence for misapplying the funds of that institution, and Fred M. Blount, Walsh's business and political associate, were drawn into the Peter Van Vliessing forgery scandal here today. Van Vliessing, who was brought up from Joliet prison to explain his assets before Referee in Bankruptcy Wean and who had testified that Bernard Rosenberg and Maurice Rosenfeld, Chicago capitalists, had knowledge of his practices as early as 1904 and had compelled him to carry out more forgeries in order to pay them, was asked by Attorney Lessing Rosenthal, representing the two accused financiers, what information he had before or subsequent to the day that Van Vliessing confessed his crimes that John R. Walsh and Fred M. Blount knew of his illegal practices. He denied that he had such knowledge. Later he again denied that either John R. Walsh or Fred M. Blount knew his secret.

NO TONNAGE TAX ON IRON OR COPPER.

Upper Michigan Needn't Worry Much About Such Legislation Being Put Through at Lansing During the Present Session.

Lansing, Mich., April 28.—[Special.]—The upper peninsula need not worry much about a tonnage tax at this session of the legislature. It developed today that Senator Small's bill to tax iron and copper was mostly a joke. Representative Farmer's house bill may be drawn in a more serious vein, but its chance of passage at this session is very slight.

SENATORS SIMMONS AND BACON, DEMOCRATS, DECLARE THEIR OPPOSITION TO FREE LUMBER, DESPITE THE PARTY PLATFORM DEMANDS IT.

Washington, April 28.—An exhaustive treatment of the lumber schedule of the tariff bill by Mr. Simmons, of North Carolina, was the feature of the session of the senate today. Mr. Simmons spoke for three and one-half hours in support of the retention of the present tariff, which, he maintained, was but a revenue rate. Several times the national Democratic platform of 1908, which declared for free lumber, was injected into the discussion by Republican senators, and Mr. Bacon, of Georgia, remarked that he was not bound by declarations written into the platform at midnight by a few interested men. Mr. Burckett, of Nebraska, whose home city is Lincoln, sought to state when and where the Democratic platform actually was drawn, but Mr. Simmons refused to yield time to prolong that discussion.

FINANCE COMMITTEE IN A QUANDRY.

Washington, April 28.—The senate finance committee is understood to have practically decided to place a duty of $5 per ton on printing paper and $1.25 per ton on wood pulp, which is a slight reduction from the Dingley rate in both cases. A caucus of the senate has, however, almost convinced the committee that it will be very difficult if not impossible to get any duty through, and as a consequence the committee is in a quandary as to how to proceed further.

Washington, April 28.—The secretary of agriculture today sent to the senate the information regarding the beet sugar industry for which he was asked in a resolution recently adopted by the senate. The price of sugar in foreign markets and other information regarding the industry is included in the report. Detailed information as to the effect of the establishment of beet sugar factories on the value of surrounding farm land and as to various factories that have been established throughout the country is given by the secretary.

HE APPRECIATES THEIR SERVICE.

Spanish-American War Veterans Have a Friend in President Taft. Washington, April 28.—Any possible doubt as to President Taft's attitude towards the veterans of the Spanish-American war was removed today when in a letter written to Commander Rausch, of the department of the District of Columbia, United States War Veterans, he expresses the utmost good will and highest appreciation of the work performed by that body of men in the late conflict with Spain. Commander Rausch had requested from the president an expression of good will for the soldiers of 1898 which could be conveyed to the membership throughout the country.

WAS A FRIEND OF LINCOLN.

Ex-Governor Holbrook of Vermont Dies at the Age of Ninety-Six. Brattleboro, Vt., April 28.—Frederick Holbrook, governor of Vermont in 1861-63, is dead, aged ninety-six. He was one of the closest of President Lincoln's friends among the state governors, and his advice at a personal interview was followed by a final call for troops which brought the end to the war. While a member of the Vermont state senate, Mr. Holbrook pressed and urged the passage of a memorial to congress setting forth the usefulness of a national bureau of agriculture, and this received the endorsement and commendation of President Fillmore in his annual message to congress.

REPUDIATE PLANK DICTATED BY BRYAN

That the Word Which Comes from the State Capital—Senate Bill Was Mostly a Joke, It Develops, and Is Already Buried in Committee and Has a Decidedly Slim Chance—Home Rule Propositions Carry.

Lansing, Mich., April 28.—The state senate passed a "home rule" bill today, and the house in committee of the whole agreed to a similar measure. The bills aim to secure a greater degree of "home rule" and uniformity in city charters, without revoking any powers at present enjoyed by the municipalities. "Puff" efforts were made in the house to eliminate the provision enabling cities to own street railways and heating plants.

Willie is said to have informed Boyle that he could remain in Cleveland or go where he pleased, but in any event he "would be as tight as a clam" if the boy was returned unharmed. Following this conversation, Willie was safely restored to his father on the evening of that day. It is also said that Boyle will endeavor to prove an alibi. Another story is that Boyle was merely a tool for others. It is said that after the money was secured from Whitla, attempts were made to get Boyle intoxicated, and these are of minor importance.

WALSH'S NAME DRAWN INTO THE SCANDAL.

Intimation Is Made That the Chicago Financier Was Cognizant With the Operations of Forger Peter Van Vliessing; but the Latter Denies It. Chicago, April 28.—The names of John R. Walsh, former president of the Chicago National bank, who is under a five-year sentence for misapplying the funds of that institution, and Fred M. Blount, Walsh's business and political associate, were drawn into the Peter Van Vliessing forgery scandal here today. Van Vliessing, who was brought up from Joliet prison to explain his assets before Referee in Bankruptcy Wean and who had testified that Bernard Rosenberg and Maurice Rosenfeld, Chicago capitalists, had knowledge of his practices as early as 1904 and had compelled him to carry out more forgeries in order to pay them, was asked by Attorney Lessing Ros

Rah for the Young Turks and the new Sultan!

No doubt Taft, the great pacifier, will prove wholly equal to the task of adjusting that little difficulty between Secretary Nagel and Director of the Census North.

Senator Bailey remains an ardent Free Trader. Wonder why the senator doesn't take up missionary work among the ranks of the protectionists in his own party?

Senator Depew of New York is again chirping in his old blithesome way. He is beginning, in his own estimation at least, to get out of the shadow of the Armstrong insurance investigation.

With Spooner retired from public life and Babcock across the great bourse the most distinguished of the one time Stallworts have passed from the stage of public events in the Badger state.

If the tonnage tax bill by any mischance got before him for a signature, his upper peninsula friends are confident that Governor Warner would take a leaf out of Governor Johnson's note book.

The Illinois legislator who introduced the bill regulating the size of women's hats probably had in mind the protection of the men's pocketbooks rather than any desire to unduly harass the fair sex.

Colonel Roosevelt remains adamant in his refusal to allow reporters to track him into the African wilderness. The prospect of getting away from reporters was one of the attractions of the trip, and he does not propose to have it negated at the last minute.

The movement of ore from the mines has begun, in a modest way, much earlier than last season. Barring a general marine strike it will continue without intermission. The way the season for shipments has started off would appear to indicate that the total movement will be considerably in excess of that of last year.

It is said that nobody is taking the biennial anti-cigarette bill seriously at Lansing this year, and it is predicted that it will die without being given any consideration, along with dozens of other measures. The anti-cigarette bill was formerly, it will be remembered, one of ex-representative Gordon's specialties.

The weight of opinion in the Twenty-fifth judicial circuit appears to be heavily against the proposed readjustment of circuits, insofar as it affects the counties now in the Twenty-fifth. Let the legislators from the counties in this circuit note this condition, and do all in their power to have the bill amended to meet the desires of their constituents.

There are two home rule bills being considered by the legislature, one in the house, the other in the senate, and the members of both houses show a wide diversity of opinion in regard to them. One of the biggest tasks that the legislature must dispose of in the short time intervening before adjournment is to reach an agreement on this important subject.

Major J. C. Hollister, of Pontiac, who appears to be a candidate for the office of warden of the Jackson prison, says that Governor Warner knew nothing about his candidacy for the place when he started after it. Here's a flat contradiction of the yarn that Major Hollister is the governor's pet candidate. The finding of a man to succeed Armstrong at Jackson is no small problem, as the members of the board of control long since learned.

Judge Hart, in the criminal court at Nashville, Tenn., has denied the motion of the attorneys for the Coopers, slayers of Senator Carmack, for a new trial, and an appeal has been taken to the supreme court. Meanwhile both the Coopers, who are under sentence to twenty years imprisonment in the penitentiary, are going on an extended trip, for rest and pleasure, and it is even reported that the younger Cooper is contemplating marriage. The Coopers are evidently going to get all the fun out of life they can, against the contingency of being stowed away in a prison where the regime includes principally hard work and plain living.

The gyrations of North Butte the past week would do credit to Mr. Lawson's sky rocket, the chaise Trinity. The underlying cause of the erratic action of the stock appears to have been bearish reports on the physical condition of the property, some of its critics asserting that it is highly unsatisfactory, and presages an early cutting down of dividends. On the other hand Mr. Cole, who had a large part in giving North Butte to the world, has, following a careful examination of the workings, expressed every confidence that the condition of the property furnishes no reason for the sharp drive in the stock, and the issue will doubtless prove that those persons who sacrificed their shares at the low prices made recently erred in judgment.

The death of former Representative Babcock of Wisconsin removes a man who for many years was a big figure in the politics of his state and a considerable power in the house of the national congress. Babcock was in the epoch-making fight in the Badger state a consistent stalwart, and fought Senator La Follette in and out of season through many years. It was largely LaFollette's influence that brought about his ultimate retirement from congress. Representative Babcock was an able man, a good friend and a tireless enemy. As chairman of the congressional committee he gave his party valuable political service. In the shadow of his death his political friends and foes will bury their differences and join to mourn the passing of one of Wisconsin's leading citizens.

The Ishpeming baseball management apparently intends to persist in its purpose of protesting Tate Seibenthal, one time Ishpeming pitcher, who has closed a deal to play with Negaunee the coming season. The Negaunee management is credited with a desire to play Seibenthal and is said to resent the course Ishpeming proposes to adopt. The matter will be threshed over at the league meeting Friday, and we have no doubt that it will be adjusted to the satisfaction of everyone concerned. The respective managements should approach this, and other disputed questions, in a spirit of harmony, for the public wishes to see the league season started off auspiciously. The managers should agree on a code of regulations regarding players that all will be willing to abide by, and then no exceptions should be made in enforcing it. This is the only way the occurrence of periodical disputes between the teams can be avoided.

A Lansing dispatch says: "The liquor situation has taken a unique turn in the house. The agents of the liquor interests are very much in earnest when they say they want the general liquor law of the state amended so that the lid will surely be tightened in all counties that have not yet voted themselves dry. They reason that unless the restrictions on saloons are made more rigid and sweeping, so as to eliminate the feature of the business most open to criticism, that another 25 per cent or so of the counties may go over to the dries at the next election. The temperance leaders agree with them. That's why the wets eagerly favor some lid closing amendments to the law as it now stands." At the same time neither the wets or dries are a unit on what changes should be made in the existing law, and while it now appears to be pretty certain that the legislature will amend the statute in some particulars no one is qualified to predict just what will be done.

A RULE TO BE REMEMBERED. The address made by Secretary Root at the meeting of the American Society of International Law in Washington last week is one that should have been available and in the vest pocket of every man who gave any thought to the Venezuelan controversy during the years when it was most acute. With it he would have had a ready answer to what was often regarded as an embarrassing contention in Venezuela's behalf—the contention that her courts, having finally passed upon certain of the questions at issue, it would be unpermissible, a derogation from Venezuela's sovereignty, for her to entertain any objections to their finding.

Mr. Root's address was entitled "The Relations Between International Tribunals of Arbitration and the Jurisdiction of National Courts." He declared that the rule is undisputed that where there has been a denial of justice in national courts their decisions are not to be held conclusive, and arbitration or other further action may be called for. He did not mean to say that the rule had not been disputed by many politicians of the Castro calibre, or by some men of competence and responsibility. He meant to say that as a rule of international law it was well established. In the nature of the case it must exist. The more drastic sanctions of international law—reprisal, pacific blockade, and war itself—pre-suppose its existence.

But while this rule cannot be successfully disputed, Mr. Root believes in safeguarding a state's honour proper, and preventing that strain upon a nation's patience which is so common when it is urged that there has been a denial of justice by her highest and supposedly most competent tribunals. He would prevent this "by submitting in the first instance to an impartial arbitral tribunal all such cases as are liable to be affected by the considerations I have mentioned." This rule or practice, however, would not make less imperative the principle that when the question has been decided by the national courts their decision may be drawn in question by the injured states in case of a denial of justice. So far from doing this, it should import the contrary. For, continuing, Mr. Root says:

And the reason of such a rule (calling for submission in the first instance to an impartial arbitral tribunal rather than to a national court) would require that when such cases have been decided already by national courts and the impartial justice of the decision is seriously questioned upon substantial grounds they should be resubmitted to an arbitral tribunal, not for proof that justice had been denied, but for rehearing on the merits, because self-interest and intelligent self-interest forbid a nation to shelter itself behind decisions of its own courts that rest under the imputation of partiality, or to be content with any but the best means and the most sincere effort to learn what is just in order that the nation may do what is just.

Mr. Root has made a most important utterance. No one will underestimate it when he realizes how greatly these principles, once thoroughly absorbed, would facilitate the settlement of such exasperating and obnoxious disputes as we have come to know so well. The occurrence of similar disputes is not unlikely. It is to be hoped that Mr. Root's address will reach far and be posted high, particularly in those states which, coming to understand it, might thus be defended from future international embarrassments.

Animals Are Not Difficult to Handle and the Business Is Not Hazardous. The most productive if not the largest skunk farm in Maine is on the old Tom Cummings place, two miles from the ancient British earthworks at Fort Point, which were put up to repel the French and Indian invasion from Canada in 1729 and dedicated about two weeks before General Wolfe sealed the Heights of Abraham and captured Quebec.

There are less than 200 skunks in the enclosure, but they are all nearly pure black, and Arno Cummings, their owner and manager, declares that every animal is worth $25 to him. Cummings inherited the farm and skunkery from his brother Howard, who spent more than ten years in buying and selling skunk skins, extracting oil from the animals he had slaughtered and studying the ways of skunks so far as they related to the production of black fur and oil.

"A man who knows the business the way I do," said Arno Cummings, "can make a larger profit on his investment and make it steadily every year by raising skunks in Maine than he can at any other calling. There are more secrets in the skunk business than there are in mixing fancy drinks."

"There's feeding, for one thing. Nobody ever made anything at rearing skunks in confinement until the wets and lung trouble. She is now traveling with a show in Mexico in charge of a cage of trained skunks and receiving $20 a week and expenses for giving two performances a day. She writes me she is drawing a bigger crowd than any bull fight in the country. "There is a good, easy living, with a few dollars to the good every year, in keeping skunks as a commercial venture. The pelts are much lower now than they were ten years ago, when skunk suits were in fashion, but a good, solid black skin with only a few white hairs in the tail is worth $4 at any time. Others with more white in them sell at from $1.50 to $3, according to how close they are to the standard. From four to six young skunks are produced every year, which, commercially speaking, means $20 two years later. Strictly pure skunk oil, bearing my seal and label, is worth $1 a pint, or about $2 for every animal killed. "As for the cost of feed and care, that can never amount to more than $2 a year for any animal. And when a man can receive a cash return of $22 for every $2 he invests in skunks the question here comes a very simple one to figure out, the profits depending upon how many skunks he keeps."

A LAUGH OR TWO.

Power of the Senate. Speaker Cannon, at the recent Grid Iron club dinner in Washington, stood up for the senate.

"You'd think the way the senate is blamed for everything," he said, "that it would be supernatural powers."

"A crowd of senators were knocking the senate over market day last month, when an old fellow of only one-horsepower brain busted into their midst."

"Well, byes," said he, "what's the senate up to now?"

"Why, ain't ye heard, Zachary?" said a young farmer, winking at the others. "The senate's went and passed a bill addin' two extra months to the winter."

"Zachary struck his forehead with his red-mittled fist.

"Do tell!" he groaned. "Gosh darn the luck! An' here am I clean out o' fodder!"—Philadelphia Record.

The Captain Was Right. During the recent financial depression in England, Pat and Mike enlisted in the British army. After their first drill the captain, thinking the circumstances opportune for a little lecture on patriotism, demanded eloquently: "Soldiers, why should a man die for his King and country?"

"This struck Pat as a proper question. Turning to Mike he said: "Faith, Moike, the captain is right! Who?"—Everybody's Magazine.

Difficult Advice. Charles G. Gates, the well known financier, was discussing at the Calumet club in Chicago the $8,500 building that he had recently bought.

"Can one make money by breeding such valuable dogs?" a Chicago man inquired.

"Perhaps one can," said Mr. Gates. He laughed. "To do so, though, would be as difficult as to follow Mrs. Rayce's advice."

"Mrs. Rayce, you know, was talking to another young woman at a tea. "How much better off a man would be," said the other young woman, "if he would only take his wife's advice!"

"Quite true, my dear," said Mrs. Rayce. "I've advised my George time and time again not to bet on a horse that don't win, but he will do it."—Washington Star.

Hard on English Society. When General Schenck, whose great fame rests upon his having introduced the game of poker into England, first arrived in London as American minister to the court of St. James, he took a little of his spare time to visit the sights of the British capital. Among other places he visited Mme. Tussaud's wax-works.

"And what do you think of our great waxwork exhibition?" asked a friend. "Well," answered the general, "it struck me as being very like the ordinary English evening party."—New York Sun.

Had a Treat in Store. A very recent secretary of state one day looked up from his desk and suddenly asked: "Do you speak Spanish, Mr. Jones?"

"No, sir, I am sorry to say I do not," the clerk replied regretfully.

"Too bad, too bad," the secretary commented, and turned again to his papers.

The clerk had visions of an offered appointment as secretary of legation at Madrid, and that very night sat diligently to work to acquire the language of the Dona, and with unusual success. Two months later he ventured to suggest:

"Mr. Secretary, a short time ago you asked me if I was familiar with Spanish. At that time I was not, but I have since mastered it."

"Indeed? Very good," the secretary said. "I have you, I presume, really proficient in the language in this short time?"

"It seemed to come easy—I suppose that accounts for it, sir," the clerk modestly admitted.

"Excellent!" the secretary said. "You have a treat in store for yourself. Now you can read 'Don Quixote' in the original!"

Everybody believed because skunks stole chickens and ate eggs before they were cooked that skunks would not live without a flesh diet of some kind. We paid out hundreds of dollars every year for tomcods caught in the smelt nets and for sculpins and flounders from the salmon weir and bought beef scrap in Boston and porky chum from the oil pressers, and the more we pawpered them the more the mothers turned cannibals and ate their young until the pups were all gobbled up and then they turned upon their abused husbands and served them up raw at the family table.

No Smallpox in Marquette—It has been rumored about town that there were several cases of smallpox in this city. Health Officer Vadnais stated yesterday that there was not a single case in town at the present time, the home of Frank Mahan, on West Bluff street, having been released from quarantine more than a week ago.

Keepers Taken to Lights—The United States lightkeepers "Marquette" which arrived in port Sunday night, cleaned yesterday morning to take the keepers to the Huron Island, Granite rock and Stannard rock lights. The departure of the boat was delayed a day, owing to the heavy sea on Tuesday, which would have made it impossible to land the keepers.

Libby Had Majority—Supervisor Libby, of West Branch township, who was in the city yesterday, said that it was erroneously stated recently that in the election a year ago Shaw, his opponent, had a majority over him. Judge Stone, in deciding the case, noted that the vote was forty to thirty-four in his favor and with three ballots in regard to which there was some question thrown out that Libby had a majority.

Drilling in Duluth—Nels Flodin has been operating a diamond drill, made by the Lake Shore Engine Works, in the basement of the Hotel Spaulding at Duluth this week. His companion, Joseph Stanley, was generally bruised up, but his injuries, though painful, are comparatively slight. Both men were taken to St. Mary's hospital where their injuries were dressed. Exactly how or why the mishap occurred is not known.

Ball Player Gets Offer—

Glenn Cole, the speedy catcher of the Rapid River team, has received a flattering offer from the Green Bay team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league to play with that club this season. It is not considered likely, however, that he will accept the offer, as this year Rapid River is to have one of the fastest teams in the history of the Delta county town, and Cole will be one of the mainstays of the nine. Rapid River is out for the Upper Michigan championship this season.

Many Dogs Not Licensed—

City Recorder Eaton of the Soo is not investing so heavily in dog tags this year as last. He has received 500 instead of 1,000, the amount of last year's purchase. "If the dog tax is not paid better than it was last year we will have more than enough tags," said the recorder. "We only used about 260 last year, notwithstanding reports believed to be reliable that 2,000 or more canines run the streets of the Soo continually. If all the dog tax was paid it would help a good deal." The dog catchers will probably be notified that they must get busy this year. The new tax will be due the first of next month.

Curson Found Guilty—

Tried in circuit court at Manistique on the charge of mingling poison with drink with intent to kill, Richard Curson was found guilty. The jury was out sixteen hours. Curson was alleged to have attempted to kill James Loucks, a farmer at Germiaski, by whom he was employed. It was said he had put poison in a bottle of whisky from which he believed the farmer would drink. The alleged crime occurred last December. Curson disappeared at that time, and with Mrs. Loucks was said to have gone to southern Michigan. The pair were traced and were arrested by Sheriff Smith some weeks ago, the woman subsequently being released when the preliminary hearing was held in justice court.

Ball of Fire Traveled Over Wire—

A few evenings ago, residents of North Escanaba were treated to one of the most peculiar electrical displays ever witnessed in that suburb. Crossed electric wires at some point along the power line having caused a ground in front of the store of W. D. Mooney, pedestrians on the street saw a great ball of fire, traveling at almost lightning speed, some from the north and, reaching a point directly opposite the Mooney store, explode with a crash that was deafening. The windows in the store could be heard to rattle a block away, but not any of the glass was broken. On arriving at the point of the explosion pieces of power wire ranging from one foot to ten feet in length were found scattered over the street.

Chase Osborn in Constantinople—

A letter received by members of his family from Chase S. Osborn contains the rather startling information that Mr. and Mrs. Osborn were in the midst of the first outbreak of hostilities at Constantinople. The Sault Ste. Marie tourists arrived in the Turkish capital the evening of April 11. The next morning they were awakened by firing in the streets and the sound of soldiers rushing in every direction. The hotel shutters were closed and the guests imprisoned within until the hostilities ceased. The letter was written April 12, the day of the disorders above referred to, and does not explain when or how the travelers left the city. It is supposed, however, they were safely out of Constantinople by April 24, when the constitutional forces attacked and captured the city and hundreds of soldiers were killed or wounded.

An Escanaba Wedding—

In the presence only of a few close friends and relatives Miss Amay Rosenberry, instructor in Latin at the High school, and Stanley M. Matthews, one of the leading young attorneys of the city, were married at the home of Superintendent and Mrs. F. D. Davis, at Escanaba. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. P. B. Ferris, assisted by the Rev. Frederick Spence. The happy couple left the city in the evening and after a short stay at the home of the parents of the bride at Wausau will enjoy a short wedding trip before returning to Escanaba. They were accompanied to Wausau by Dr. H. L. Rosenberg, father of the bride, who went to Escanaba to attend the nuptial ceremony. The marriage had been planned for June, but the plans were changed and arrangements for an immediate wedding were made. The bride has been engaged as instructor in Latin at the Escanaba High school for the past two years and is considered one of the most efficient members of the corps of teachers. The groom is one of the rising young members of the Delta county bar.

WOMAN RULES IN SWAZILAND.

As Chief Native Regent She Gives the British Much Trouble.

London, April 28.—The report of the resident commissioner of Swaziland for the year 1907-08 contains several items of interest as exhibiting the relations of the British administration and the natives. The chief native regent, Labotsi-sint (who, by the way, is generally known as Nkhlovkazi, the "cow" elephant), is described as a woman of extraordinary diplomatic ability, and strength of character, who signified her policy, after the proclamation of 1904, which established British control, by a profound distrust of the new order of things. Matters have gradually improved since that time, but even during the past year, to quote the assistant commissioner commanding the Swaziland police, the policy of the regent was one of "passive resistance to everything which did not, or does not contribute directly to her own benefit."

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows: "Stocks closed strong and active. There was no news to influence prices either way today, but after the decline of the last few days a natural reaction was in order. This market is narrow and mostly professional. On the breaks there seems to be good buying, and we advise the long side of the market for scalping profits at least."

Table of stock prices including Amal., Amc., Am. Loco., etc.

Boston Stock Quotations. Wiring from Boston yesterday, Paine, Webber & Co. had the following to say of the stock market: "Heavy buying orders in North Butte caused a strong and wild opening in that specialty and it sold at sixty immediately after the opening, 3 1/2 points up from last night's close. We hear that there are orders in the market to buy several thousand shares between 60 and 62 1/2. The strength in North company are still silent with respect to underground conditions, efforts have been made to secure from other sources some line on the situation at the 2,000 and 2,200-foot levels. Private information received this morning from a party who was underground within the last month who says that while the vein on the 2,000-foot level is not as large or rich as on the 1,800-foot level, had never seen the phenomenal ore body on the 1,800-foot level he would have been most enthusiastic regarding the showing on the 2,000-foot level. In other words, such disappointments as exist regarding the lower openings are a result of a comparison with the more notable exhibit on the 1,800-foot level. Another telegram was received from Butte this morning to the effect that conditions are good in the lower levels. On the 2,000-foot level they have drifted into a ten-foot vein of 8 per cent ore.

WALL STREET MARKET IS ACTIVE AND STRONG.

Demand for Stocks Is Large and Widely Distributed, and With U. S. Steel a Conspicuous Leader Values Go Up All Around—Wheat Higher Also.

New York, April 28.—There was a striking change in the tone of the stock market today from that of yesterday. The prices moved upward, in many instances rapidly. The demand was broad and widely distributed, and the upward movement embraced the list quite generally. The buying was congested, however, in some stocks that are the greatest favorites with the traders and are most influential in their sympathetic effect on the market.

Reading, the Harriman stocks and United States Steel were the leaders of the movement, and no more effective leaders are to be found in the list. The advance apparently puzzled the professional trading element. The general sentiment was suspicious and expressed its suspicion in putting out short lines of stocks on all advances. At the same time the bears who had been selling short for several days past in the expectation that the rise in money rates would depress prices were driven to cover and helped on the advance. The origin of the buying movement was not discernible, the day's news offering nothing to change strikingly the position of affairs. The board room element explained the movement as being due to the scarcity in the floating supply of stocks, which is only another way of saying that the owners were holding for higher prices. The United States Steel statement of earnings for the past quarter was of a favorable nature, and the stock was conspicuous in the day's advance. The advance in Steel seemed to appeal to sentiment as highly significant of the improvement in trade conditions.

There seemed to be less apprehension of a flurry in money rates incident to the May 1st elements. The near approach of the period and the tranquility of the call money market helped to this feeling. Reading was more responsive than yesterday to the prospect of an agreement between the anthracite operators and miners over the wages. The Rock Island group was helped by the favorable showing of earnings for March. United States Steel sold within a small fraction of the high price of the present year. Time money was called, but not in large amounts, acceptors' bids in contrast to their insistence on their asking rates yesterday. The gains of the day were scarcely impaired by a late profit-taking movement.

Gains Scored in the Wheat Pit. Chicago, April 28.—Popular sentiment as to what favored the bulls in the Chicago pit today, and a strong tone prevailed in the market the greater part of the session. The principal factor was the improved demand for flour and cash wheat. A despatch from Minneapolis stated that the sales of flour there yesterday were the largest in some time. At the same time cash grain was said to be in active demand by millers at all the leading grain centers in this country. Other influences were an advance in prices at Liverpool and continued cold in the Northwest. The market opened 3/4 to 1 1/2 cents higher, weakened late in the day on selling of the September and December, then rallied and closed at 1/4 to 1 cent higher. The May opened at 122 1/2 to 123, sold up to 123, ran off to 121 1/2 and closed at 122.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS. Chicago, April 28.—New high record marks for the season were established for all deliveries in the corn market today. The May advanced to 72 1/2 and the July to 69 1/2. The advance was followed by a sharp break, due to liberal realizing, prompted to a large extent by reports of impending offerings from the country, and the close was weak with the May 1/2 lower. The May opened at 72 1/2 to 73 1/2; highest, 73 1/2; lowest, 70 1/2; closing, 70 1/2 @ 71.

Copper Metal Prices. New York, April 28.—Copper was lower in London today, with spot quoted at £57, 38 and futures at £57, 18, 8d. The local market was dull and unchanged, with Lake metal at 12.87 1/2 @ 13, electrolytic at 12.50 @ 12.62 1/2 and casting at 12.37 1/2 @ 12.50.

Big Copper Deal Rumored. Boston, April 28.—There is a "street" rumor about today to the effect that some sort of a copper deal has been concluded within the past twenty-four hours which in some way involves the Cole-Ryan interests. The rumor has it that a Devonshire street banking house has concluded the above transaction through the National Shawmut bank and that the sum of $11,000,000 is involved. Interested parties declare they are not in position to discuss the matter. The mystery attaching to the transaction may have had a bearing on the rather buoyant tone of the Boston coppers today.

North Butte. Boston, April 28.—The News Bureau of this city this evening says: A Boston broker who has received definite information from Butte today as the result of an underground visit by his representative says: "About four weeks ago the underground situation at North Butte was the subject of considerable comment to the management, and there was inside selling of the stock in consequence. My information now is, however, that there has been a great improvement in the underground situation in the last two weeks, especially on the 2,000-foot level, and it is anticipated that the improvement will continue."

CROWDS BESIEGE PALACE. Arrival of the Stork Anxiously Awaited by the People of Holland. The Hague, April 28.—At a late hour tonight an enormous crowd was waiting anxiously outside the palace for news of the arrival of an heir to the throne of Holland. The ministers are in attendance at the palace, and every preparation has been made for the event. The physicians report Queen Wilhelmina's condition completely satisfactory.

WELL RECEIVED AT BERLIN. French Statesman Advocates a Better Understanding With Germany. Berlin, April 28.—Baron D'Estournelles DeConstant, president of the French parliamentary group, was given an enthusiastic reception on the occasion of a lecture which he delivered tonight, advocating a better understanding between France and Germany. The audience included many members of the Reichstag, public officials and men prominent in commerce and industry.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR SPEAKS AT COLUMBUS (OHIO) BANQUET. Columbus, O., April 28.—Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, delivered the principal address at the banquet of the Board of Trade tonight. He was warmly greeted when he arose to speak. His address was taken up with a discussion of the German empire's position toward the United States.

AMERICAN GIRL WEDS COUNT; KING'S SON TAKES A WIFE. Paris, April 28.—Miss Muriel White, daughter of the American ambassador to France, was married today to Count Hermann Scherr-Tross, an officer of the Royal Prussian cuirassiers.

BRITAIN FACES BIG DEFICIT. London, April 28.—David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, tonight issued an explanatory memorandum on the revenue and expenditures for the year. He estimated the revenue for 1908-10 at $741,950,000 and the expenditures at $820,700,000, a deficit of $78,750,000.

AS HORRIBLE EXAMPLE. Uncle Sam Holds Up Ward Estate to Show Forest Waste. According to Report Just Issued Millions of Dollars Have Been Wasted Through Neglect.

Lansing, Mich., April 28.—While the six children of David Ward, Michigan's noted lumber millionaire of a decade ago, have been litigating among themselves over the father's will for the past seven years a United States government report just issued holds up the estate as one of the most flagrant examples of wasteful and unscientific lumbering in the country.

PLANNING FLOATING SALOONS. Thirsty Parlors Will Navigate the Mississippi River After July 1.

Memphis, Tenn., April 28.—If plans of wholesale and retail liquor men do not fail, floating saloons for thirty people will be furnished on the Mississippi River after July 1, the date set by action of the Tennessee general assembly for this state to line up with Mississippi and other Southern states in the "dry" column.

REFUGEES LIVE LIKE CATTLE. Civilized Life in Messina at the Present Time Is Impossible.

Messina April 28.—Civilized life in Messina is non-existent and impossible. There is no accommodation and no possibility of erecting decent dwellings. The refugees here are herding together in the manner of cattle. Their huts are stacked with belongings, leaving them barely room to move. Water is only obtainable from a few far-distant standpipes, food is cooked mostly outside the huts, and great fears of epidemics that fire may break out. These wooden huts are built haphazard, one against the other. Many for lack of huts are forced to live in old houses fit standing thousands of dead still surrounding them.

TO SOLVE TRAFFIC PROBLEM. Inventor Convinces Government Official of the Monorail's Value.

Washington, April 28.—An American inventor has so far perfected the monorail system of transportation that he has succeeded in convincing ordinarily conservative government authorities that a revolution in carrying methods is impending which will hardly be less significant than that which was caused when the steam railroad took the place long held by the stage coach and the canal boat.

Timber Left to Rot. In other instances cork pine and cedar were cut down and partially made into railroad ties, only to be abandoned. The value of abandoned timber on one section alone is placed at $5,930. Reference is made to waste of timber from breakage, and instances are noted where 20 per cent of the value of hardwood timber was wasted in cutting off by being allowed to lie on the ground and rot.

PRESBYTERIAN OFFICERS. Milwaukee, April 28.—The Presbyterian board of missions today elected the following officers: President, emeritus, Mrs. Henry H. Forsyth; president, Mrs. Lincoln M. Cox; Chicago recording secretary, Mrs. A. W. McClure; Chicago treasurer, Mrs. Thomas E. D. Bradley; Chicago field secretary, Miss Katherine Myers; office secretary, Mrs.

timber were left upon the ground, which resulted in the loss of immense quantities of timber standing to the leeward of the slashings when the forest fires ran through the tract. The absence of precautionary measures against fire is noted, such as cleaning up the brush, building fire balks or resorting to back-firing. Bradfield and Wynne declare that had the precautionary measures been taken not one-tenth of the tract would have been damaged by fire.

The moral of the report from the government standpoint is that Michigan should establish forestry laws which would minimize the destructive effects of the forest fires and build up the vast unproductive territory of Michigan which was formerly covered with rich virgin forests.

POLICEMAN AND PICKPOCKET KILLED IN INDIANA BATTLE. Logansport, Ind., April 28.—In a revolver fight, which pickpockets late last night, Patrolman Joseph Groeger and an unknown pickpocket were killed.

TORNADO KILLS KANSAS MAN. Wichita, Kas., April 28.—Lavis Ayres, seventy years old, was killed and ten others were injured by a tornado which wrecked a large portion of Douglas, Kas., this morning. The storm spread over a wide area, doing much damage to farm property.

Des Moines, April 28.—A terrific wind storm approaching a tornado in violence wrecked the Bank of Chisholm at Chisholm tonight. The wind reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour and tore down telegraph and telephone poles for miles south of here. Lightning and hail did much damage to property in Perry, Ottumwa and Creston.

Human Evergreens. Famous Examples of Women Whose Charms Have Defied the Years.

"Evergreens" are women who have retained their charms as long as the period of life when most of their sisters have slumped into middle or old age. An Englishwoman, the Hon. Mrs. Fitzroy Stuart, writing in the Strand, says that American women make good evergreens.

"They play the game of youth," she says, "with splendid success. Anglo-American marriages became the mode in the 70s, and several ladies who crossed the pond in those far off days have kept their young and remained social queens for two generations."

"Among these are Consuelo, Duchess of Manchester; the Hon. Lady Carrington, Lady Molesworth, Lady Paget and Mrs. Cornwallis-West.

"Queen Alexandra is the best instance of a lady long past her prime who has kept much of her beauty, grace and youthful fascination. Age is an open secret with royal personages, and most people know that Britain's queen will reach sixty-four on the 1st of next December.

"Yet her features remain perfect; she is still slender in figure, is bright and alert and keeps as ever on many interests and amusements. She is still a good walker, can drive her own motor, is a regular opera-goer, attends balls and parties, and is always dressed to perfection."

Among famous evergreens of other days were Cleopatra, who was forty when Anthony fell in love with her; Mrs. Recamier, who was seventy when Horace Walpole declared himself among her warmest admirers, and the French actress Dejazet, who was gay and graceful at the same age. But the most extraordinary example of a woman keeping her charms against the advance of time is afforded by Ninon de Lenclos, who kept her radiant beauty after reaching the age of ninety.

It is easy to be a gentleman if you begin by having yourself born for it. Water power is used to supply the electricity for the new Italian railway from Castle Raymond to Camerino.

Upper Peninsula Temperance Society Growing—One of the most effective organizations in Escanaba for the advancement of temperance reform is the Swedish-Finnish Temperance Society. The organization has been having a rapid growth the past year. The year ago the membership was only forty-seven; now it is 104. The society owns a large new hall on Hartnett avenue.

New Business Block for Noway—John E. Anderson has started the construction of a brick block between the postoffice and Ramsdell's store at Noway. The building will be 112 feet front and seventy feet deep, one story high with full basement, and will be divided into four stores. Arrangements are being made for the dedication of the Masonic Temple. It has been practically decided to hold the event June 24. The dedication will be in the afternoon and a reception and dance in the evening. The Masons will make this the crowning social event in the history of Noway.

Gladstone's Schools—The school board at Gladstone has re-engaged Superintendent E. J. Willman for the ensuing year. The listing of two new teachers was authorized. Gladstone has twenty-one teachers (last year eighteen) to 1,025 of school enrollment—the smallest teaching force in Michigan for schools of the size. The next is Dowagiac, with one hundred more pupils and eight more teachers. (Gladstone has a school census of 1,422 and an enrollment today within 100 as many.) Escanaba has a school census of 4,200 on which she draws state money and a little over half of them are in school. Gladstone has fifty pupils to the teacher; Escanaba, thirty-eight; Manistiquette, thirty-two; Rososon, twenty-seven. Next year the Gladstone high school will have a membership of about 200. If no more children should enter school this fall, the twenty-three teachers could handle the situation; but the total enrollment in the high school is more than 100 and require two more rooms and two teachers, at least. The average salary of the teachers is $51.74 per month—$49.43 for the grade and $49.67 for the high school.

Says Schoolcraft Will Go "Dry"—President G. W. Morrow of the Anti-Saloon league, and Superintendent Robert G. Schaeffer of the county have been canvassing several counties of the upper peninsula recently, with a view of ascertaining the sentiment relative to local option. As a result of their inquiries and canvass they have decided to carry the vote into Schoolcraft, Chippewa, Lapeer, Marquette, Mackinac and Dickinson counties next spring. Stirling trusts may be expected during the campaign, says the Manistiquette Pioneer-Tribune. "The aggressiveness of the liquor dealers in politics and their brazen violation of the laws governing the liquor business have caused a great change of sentiment among the people in recent years, and strange things than a victory for the 'drys' in Schoolcraft Co. have happened. Indeed, if the county was to vote on the proposition today it would carry. The local option idea will receive a majority in the outlying townships. It will not carry in all of them, but as a whole the 'drys' will come to Manistiquette with a majority. The city will decide the question in this county, and it is believed that the 'drys' will carry it by a safe majority. The growth of the sentiment against the liquor traffic is not sporadic or transitory. It is deep-seated and when the opportunity presents itself will assert itself in no uncertain manner.

Council Can't Limit Saloons—Owing to the provisions of the liquor laws it will be impossible for the Sault Ste. Marie common council to reduce the number of saloons this year, as was suggested, except where the matter was not sufficient. Discussing the matter City Attorney Handy said: "The number of saloons bonds approved by the council and finance committee now numbers sixty. The bonds have been very closely scrutinized. Some people have the impression that the council should reduce the number of saloons licensed. There is a misunderstanding of the law relative to the business. Under our present law the council is concerned in only one thing, viz., the sufficiency of the sureties. The council cannot reject a bond, unless in its opinion the sureties cannot legally justify for the penal sum fixed in the bond of four thousand dollars. The law as originally passed provided that the council might reject an application for a license if in its opinion the applicant was an unfit person to conduct the business, but the supreme court has held that provision unconstitutional. Consequently any person may engage in the saloon business in the city of Sault Ste. Marie, who produces a bond with two sureties, who can legally justify in the sum of four thousand dollars each. The finance committee has in several cases required sureties to come before the committee to be examined as to their financial standing and some bonds have been rejected as a consequence thereof."

May Limit Saloon Districts—Sentiment in favor of limiting the saloon districts in the Soo is growing and before next spring some action along this line will be taken, says the Sault Ste. Marie News. It is probable that some districts that now support saloons will be eliminated. One of the localities which seems destined to come under the eyes of the city fathers is Water street. On account of the government plans to provide a park on the north side of the street a sentiment is growing in favor of making the locality dry. It is also suggested that all outlying districts be made dry, confining the business to the downtown section. This would make it easier for the police to cover the city. It has been also suggested that if the license were increased to $1,000 most of the saloons in the outlying districts would go out of business, as it would be impossible for them to exist under the additional expense. Under present conditions very few of the liquor dealers are making any money.

Inspecting Upper Peninsula Dairies—E. A. Haven, inspector of the state, dairy and food department, has been in various upper peninsula towns lately, inspecting dairy cows and investigating the conditions of barn and dairy buildings. "The principal trouble with some of the dairymen," said he, "is an apparent fear that sunlight and fresh air will injure the cows. As a rule, the cows are in good feed and fairly clean, but some of the stalls are very small, dark and poorly ventilated. The cold winter here requires warm stables, but where a number of cows are kept in a small barn some system of ventilation is needed to keep them from becoming foul and unhealthy. In many of the stables, any opening that might admit pure air, or let the impure air escape, is carefully stopped up, and the windows are either boarded up or never put in, from an erroneous idea that light and air cannot be supplied without making the barn cold. The state law says that when it is determined by the dairy and food commissioner, his deputy or inspector, that unsanitary conditions exist, the owner shall be notified and warned to place such dairy in a suitable condition within a reasonable length of time. Failure to comply with said notice may be followed by fine or imprisonment. Unsanitary conditions mean unclean cows, stable milk dishes or handling milk in an unclean manner. Stables which have no windows, no opening through foul and impure air can escape, where no bedding is used, and where the stable is not whitewashed at least once each year, are considered to be unsanitary."

HUMAN EVERGREENS. Famous Examples of Women Whose Charms Have Defied the Years.

"Evergreens" are women who have retained their charms as long as the period of life when most of their sisters have slumped into middle or old age. An Englishwoman, the Hon. Mrs. Fitzroy Stuart, writing in the Strand, says that American women make good evergreens.

"They play the game of youth," she says, "with splendid success. Anglo-American marriages became the mode in the 70s, and several ladies who crossed the pond in those far off days have kept their young and remained social queens for two generations."

"Among these are Consuelo, Duchess of Manchester; the Hon. Lady Carrington, Lady Molesworth, Lady Paget and Mrs. Cornwallis-West.

"Queen Alexandra is the best instance of a lady long past her prime who has kept much of her beauty, grace and youthful fascination. Age is an open secret with royal personages, and most people know that Britain's queen will reach sixty-four on the 1st of next December.

"Yet her features remain perfect; she is still slender in figure, is bright and alert and keeps as ever on many interests and amusements. She is still a good walker, can drive her own motor, is a regular opera-goer, attends balls and parties, and is always dressed to perfection."

Among famous evergreens of other days were Cleopatra, who was forty when Anthony fell in love with her; Mrs. Recamier, who was seventy when Horace Walpole declared himself among her warmest admirers, and the French actress Dejazet, who was gay and graceful at the same age. But the most extraordinary example of a woman keeping her charms against the advance of time is afforded by Ninon de Lenclos, who kept her radiant beauty after reaching the age of ninety.

It is easy to be a gentleman if you begin by having yourself born for it. Water power is used to supply the electricity for the new Italian railway from Castle Raymond to Camerino.

GRIZZLED WARRIOR WILL RAISE ONIONS

Gen. A. C. Markley, Retired, Quits City for Texas Ranch.

BOUGHT IN MINING BOOM.

House and Fence Built Twenty Years Ago Have Both Disappeared.

Laredo, Tex., April 28.—Lured by the rising fame of the Laredo onion belt, Brigadier General A. C. Markley, who has just retired from the army after a career extending over half a century, has announced his intention of raising onions for the rest of his life.

This grizzled old warrior has had considerable experience in fighting, but his experience in the agricultural pursuits has not been so extensive. His regular military experience had its beginning forty-four years ago, near Laredo, on almost the exact spot where he is now to launch his new career as a farmer.

The house and fence which had been built on the spot where the onions are to be raised, were both destroyed by fire some twenty years ago. The general, who had been a scout in the Mexican army, had been ordered to build a house and fence on the spot where the onions are to be raised, but the house and fence had both disappeared.

Bought Tract of Land.

The general appearance of the country, he says, did not particularly strike him at that time, but nevertheless this did not deter him from investing in a tract of the richest soil near Laredo, where the mining boom came along, twenty years later. It was his intention at that time to go into the mining business, and with that in view he erected a home on his land, improved it with a fence and fixed it up for living purposes.

When the Spanish-American war broke out General Markley was sent to Cuba, and in the heat of that campaign he forgot he owned any land at all. After buying his son on Cuban soil, the general with his command, sailed to the Philippines and was fighting on the island when the war came to a close. Afterward he was one of the most active in pursuit of Aguinaldo, the insurgent Philippine chief, and it was one of the men of his command who first suggested the land plan which, executed by General Fred Funston, resulted in the capture of the famous insurgent leader. After his capture Aguinaldo was the prisoner

2 1/2 POUNDS OF FOOD

OF ANY KIND, ARE FULLY DIGESTED BY ONE TEASPOONFUL OF KODOL.

Any kind of food, understand—not just some certain kinds, Kodol is rightly termed the "Perfect Digestant"—because it does digest any and all classes of food. Kodol does this because it contains, in liquid form, every one of Nature's digestive elements—therefore cannot help but digest food the way it does. Kodol, as stated, digests all food—promptly and completely—and assures good health to the stomach. Consider to think of it—Kodol does accomplish a great deal—if one gives it a chance. Some of the commonest and surest indications of more or less developed digestive trouble are these:

Bad breath, bad taste in the mouth, rising of sour, bitter fluid, and undigested particles of food into the mouth, tenderness and pain at "pit" of the stomach (sometimes relieved by eating), sensation of faintness, dizziness, and being "all gone," bloating of stomach and bowels, nervousness and uncertain appetite, flabby coating tongue, uncomfortable "full" sensation after eating, "heartburn," lingering headaches, heart "fluttering" or palpitation, dull, sleepy, "lozy" feeling, irregular action of the bowels, melancholia, gloomy forebodings, etc. Our guarantee: Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited—the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty-cent bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratory of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

INJUSTICE OF THE TONNAGE TAX BILL

NEGAUNEE MINING MAN SAYS IT WOULD BE AS REASONABLE TO PLACE A TAX ON THE GRAIN AND VEGETABLES PRODUCED, AS ON THE MINERAL.

"I consider the bill proposing a tonnage tax on the iron ore and copper produced in the state as unjust and ridiculous as a bill compelling farmers to pay a tax on each pound of vegetables or each bushel of grain they produce would be," said a prominent Negaunee mining man yesterday. "Personally, I do not believe that the bill will pass the house, as the average representative of the mining industry in the state, in my experience in the mining business in the upper peninsula I have found that many of the mines cannot stand a special tax of any kind, as the margin of profit in many cases is nighty small. In any event it would be fair to tax an ore that will bring $3 or $4 per ton at the furnace the same as better grades that would bring much higher prices. If this bill should be enacted into law it would result in great injury to both the copper and iron industries of the state. It may be a hard matter to defeat the measure, especially if it is true that it was framed and is backed by the state Grange, and the mining and business men of the upper peninsula should lose no time in organizing their forces to oppose it. I am sure that the bill will not pass both houses and be signed by Governor Warner, as the latter, at least, will surely be able to see the injustice of it."

These criticisms are not disturbing the president's friends, who say that his administration will be the best answer. As he travels west, even to the Pacific coast, he will penetrate those states that are the strongholds of the progressive Republican ideas. By that time he will be prepared to outline in some detail the corporation reform legislation that he contemplates asking of congress at its next session. The president likes to travel. He likes to meet people, he has already made many friends during his numerous trips through the West and he will be in a position in all probability to entrench himself in their regard when his train starts west from his summer home at Beverly. By the same token the president wants to hold the confidence of southern people, which he won during his sojourn among them last winter. He does not have to worry about the East. Evidence of the approval of his administration in that section multiply daily.

It has come to be almost a necessity that the country have traveling presidents, and the attitude which Mr. Taft has taken in that matter is likely to establish the practice so firmly that it will be adopted by his successors in office. When President Harrison swung around the circle it was something of a novelty to the country. But President McKinley recognized the value of keeping well acquainted with the people by frequent trips to considerable distances from Washington, and the politicians saw quickly that these trips helped in winning support for him and the measures he advocated. President Roosevelt went even further than his immediate Republican predecessors in going into many states. The popularity of his administration in the first years of his incumbency was immensely strengthened by these public appearances and was subsequently sustained by the same means.

Now President Taft intends following these precedents. Men familiar with the plans around the White House offices say that Mr. Taft may devote into a greater traveling president than was Mr. Roosevelt, and they predict that he will come back to the White House next October or November with ideas clearly defined as to the latest developments of public sentiment and with an increased popular support.

In recent years the members of the cabinet have figured less and less as public speakers, voicing the views of the administration. President Roosevelt sent members of his cabinet out frequently, but all the same, preferred to voice his views in person. According to all indications President Taft will not only speak frequently in his own behalf, but will also utilize the efforts of the members of his cabinet in the same direction. There are a number of good public speakers among the members of his cabinet, men who have been accustomed to presenting a cause forcefully and to holding the attention of large audiences on important occasions.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN MONDAY.

In view of the fact that no new cases of small-pox have been discovered in the city this week, the public schools will be reopened Monday morning. Every room in all of the buildings will be fumigated before Saturday night and it is not thought that there will be many, if any, new cases in the city. The children who are suffering with the disease are getting along very satisfactorily and from present indications they will all be around again within a short time.

THE GOSPEL OF MANANA.

The state of Oaxaca on the Pacific coast of Mexico is suffering from an insurrection of money-grubbers. They are used to popular uprisings down there, but it remains to be seen whether an uprising which is intrinsically unpopular can succeed. The insurgents call themselves "business men," and are attacking the ruling tendency to fiestas in Oaxaca. At present there are 168 festal days generally observed in the capital of that name, and the "business men" miserable money-grubbers, declare that they cannot get their work done. In Mexico City there are now only 123 holidays, the result of an earlier attack upon the liberties of the gentle peopocops by American, British, French and German merchants, and the so-called business men would reduce once happy Oaxaca to a condition as bad or worse.

LOCAL LACONICS.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT.

A special meeting of the council will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of considering the bonds of liquor dealers, druggists, police constables, etc. It is expected that the anti-spitting ordinance will also be presented at tonight's meeting. At the regular meeting next month Alderman C. B. Driscoll, chairman of the fire department committee, will, in all likelihood, submit a report on new fire hall matters. Mr. Driscoll recently inspected fire halls in Chicago, Milwaukee and other cities, and now having plans prepared for the building here.
The ladies of the Presbyterian church at Isleppening who are managing the production of the comic opera "Mikado," on Friday evening, desire their Negaunee friends to know that they will have special street car service, returning after the performance.

One day this week Mr. Shea called on Bernard Barasa, formerly of this city, who is practicing law in Chicago, and qualified as assessor of this city. The notary's statement was received yesterday and will be presented to the council at tonight's meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Shea expect to arrive in Negaunee Sunday morning.

D. W. POWELL AGAIN ELECTED CHAIRMAN

ORGANIZATION OF NEW COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS Elected Yesterday.

ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL VISITED

Inspection of Institution at Special Invitation of the Mother Superior Greatly Enjoyed.

Daniel W. Powell was re-elected chairman of the county board of supervisors at the meeting yesterday without opposition. As this was the first meeting of the recently elected board, an organization was held. Mr. Powell in a brief well-worded speech thanked the members for the honor they had again bestowed upon him and declared that his purpose would be to treat all fairly on all occasions.

The chairman did not name his committees yesterday but announced at the close of the session that a list of his appointments would be mailed to each member before the next meeting, which will be held June 2.

In order that the regular bills might be paid, last year's auditing committee was made a special auditing committee, and a meeting was held immediately after dinner at which the claims against the county were gone over and those approved by the committee were ordered paid by the treasurer.

When the roll was called it developed that the Nequame election officers had made a mistake in the Fifth ward poll book, and that Charles Johnson was the duly elected supervisor from that ward.

The resignation of the resignation of John Mandley as game warden. The resignation was accepted without comment, but afterwards one supervisor stated that an effort would be made to get him to continue in the office.

SEASON OPENS TOO EARLY.

It is an injustice to the Anglers of the Upper Peninsula.

That the opening of the trout fishing season on April 15, instead of May 1 is an injustice to the anglers of the upper peninsula is believed to have been plainly demonstrated this year.

The opening of the trout fishing season on April 15, or nearly two weeks ago, and practically speaking, no trout has been caught in the region so far.

Local fishermen who have gone into the woods to try their luck have returned home disgusted. The woods are still filled with snow, while the streams and lakes are so high that fishing is out of the question.

It will be remembered that local anglers worked hard for months before the opening of the trout season in an endeavor to have the opening of the season, at least for the upper peninsula, set back two weeks, making it May 1, as it originally was.

The argument is made in the lower peninsula that when the season opens May 1 it does not give the anglers enough fishing, as the spawning season sets in with the advent of warm weather.

It is argued, is early for trout fishing but that date would be a heap more satisfactory than April 15.

HOT WATER HEATER.

Will Be Installed on South Shore Locomotive.

Edward F. Kennedy, of the Marquette Street Iron & Boiler works, has taken the contract to build and install a hot water heater on South Shore locomotive No. 408, and has already started work on the device at his West Washington street shops.

Hot water heaters for locomotives are a departure, and No. 408 will be the first locomotive on the South Shore to be equipped in this manner.

The Currie heater to be installed on locomotive No. 408 will be extended above the running board on one side of the boiler. Its greatest diameter will be twenty-two inches, and its length thirteen feet.

If the device accomplishes what is promised, it is said there will probably be more installations on South Shore locomotives.

SCORE CARD SYSTEM FAVORED BY GOV'T.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE RECOMMENDS PLAN BY WHICH AMERICAN CITIES MAY SECURE PURE MILK.

Modern investigations in dairy sanitation have shown the importance of producing and handling milk under clean conditions, and a significant factor in attaining that result is the score-card system of dairy inspection.

For the past two years the Bureau of Animal Industry through its dairy division has been making a study of dairy inspection with a view to developing a system that would be practical and comprehensive.

The Danish government proposes land and sea fortifications, the construction of twenty torpedo boats and six submarines, improvements in mines, etc.
