

MRS. HOWARD GOULD A LAVISH SPENDER

Bills That She Has Run Up Make the Courtroom Spectators Gasp and Stare When the Accounts Are Introduced in Evidence.

Such Things as $500 Worth of Stockings at a Time, or $1,528 for Shoes, as Well as $1,160 Tailor-Made Suits, Create Interest, but They Are Trivial in Comparison With Diadems at $24,000, Chains at $22,000 and Rings at $6,000 Each.

New York, June 11.—This was bill day in the Gould divorce case, and bills almost without end, and for small fortunes, were presented in court, some disputed, others admitted.

The amounts of various of the bills, such as those of the jeweler, the tailor and hatter—seven old Uncle Sam, himself, through his customs house—made the spectators in the courtroom gasp and stare.

In striking contrast to the glitter of luxurious articles was Mrs. Gould's testimony that at times at Castle Gould she was actually without provisions—

When court adjourned for the day, Mrs. Gould was still on the witness stand, and probably will continue her testimony all day tomorrow.

INCOME TAX MEN MEET A REVERSE

Discussion of the Proposition Which They Advocate Is Postponed by the Senate Until the 18th. Inst.—Vote Is 45 to 34.

Bailey and La Follette Get After Aldrich, Assailing Him Vigorously, but He Scores Decisively When a Motion to Recommit the Wool Schedule Is Defeated, 8 to 59, and This Action Closes the Consideration of That Part of the Tariff Bill.

Washington, June 11.—The income tax shared with the wool schedule the attention of the senate during today's sitting of that body, and after a discussion of an hour or more its further consideration was postponed until June 18.

This action was the result of a motion made by Senator Aldrich, which followed a charge by Senator Bailey that undue influence was being brought to bear against the proposed income tax amendment to the tariff bill.

LaFollette Loses Determined Fight. Openly declaring his opinion that Mr. Aldrich had lost the confidence of other Republican senators which a leader should have, Mr. LaFollette of Wisconsin made a determined fight to compel the adoption of the amendments as the wool schedule of the tariff bill which was yesterday presented by himself.

These amendments were before the senate for two or three hours, and were the subject of favoring speeches by their author and by Mr. Cummins, but notwithstanding the earnest advocacy of these senators they went down by the majority which right along has stood for the finance committee's work.

GALLINGER REBUKES THE BADGER SOLON.

The Rhode Island senator made no reply to this angry denunciation by his Wisconsin colleague, but the latter was called to order by Senator Gallinger, who complained that Mr. LaFollette had transcended the senatorial rule regulating personal allusions in the senate.

Senator Cummins was also severe on Mr. Aldrich, and in the course of his remarks declared that the senatorial leaders were courting the destruction of the Republican party by their course with reference to the duties on wool and wools.

WOOD PULP AND PAPER DUTIES.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, tonight announced, in reply to a question from Mr. Brown, of Nebraska, that the rates the committee would recommend on wood pulp and print paper would be lower than those in the house bill.

Senator La Follette expresses a belief that there will be more of his kind in the U. S. senate before there are less; and we are inclined to believe that he is right.

We wish Negunee only the best good fortune in the world; still it would add appreciably to the interest in the situation if its opponent of tomorrow would mark up one defeat against its ball team.

The senate "insurgents" are "stand-patters," in a sense. They are sticking to their guns and courageously voting for "revision downward," as they see it, though it has been abundantly demonstrated that the Aldrich machine is able to override them on every point. They have one thing to feel satisfied with, i. e., that their course will not lose them any favor with the home folks.

Senator-elect Lorimer is going to remain in the house until after the vote on the tariff bill is completed. The Republican margin in the house is smaller than in the senate, where Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island has the situation nicely in hand, with a good reserve of Democrat-Republicans to fall back on if things ever come to a pinch. If Senator Aldrich needed him, Senator-elect Lorimer would swear in without delay; there's little doubt of that.

The campaign for a "sane" Fourth is surely bearing fruit. All over the country city councils are passing ordinances putting the ban on the sale of giant fire-crackers, bombs and other high power explosives, and taboing the use of revolvers and other dangerous weapons on the national holiday. Each year these noise making devices are being prohibited in a larger number of cities, and there is a growing disposition to insist on a literal observance of the ordinances and laws. The old time Fourth, when the air resounded with the crash of explosions from dawn until late at night, will soon survive only in isolated places, and there will be observed, in consequence, a much decreased toll of maimed and killed as a result of the annual observance of the country's birthday.

The Grand Rapids Press prints a cartoon that is not without a certain timeliness. It carries the warning, "Look out, governors," and pictures the various men who have been mentioned as possible candidates next year in a shoot-the-clutchers car, which is just about to collide with an obstruction bearing the words "long campaign." A long campaign is a tricky thing, and it will be over a year before the primaries for the next state ticket will be held. In view of this fact, we have already heard a surprising amount of talk about candidates. Much of it has been without the consent or approval of the men discussed, and represents newspaper initiative. Yet the Press' warning to tentative candidates to keep down the tempo for some months, at least, is a good one; they will doubtless find it to their profit to heed it. By doing so they will have more force in reserve for the final spurt.

The selection of John D. Ryan to succeed the late H. H. Rogers in the presidency of the Amalgamated company was anticipated, and was a logical development, following naturally on the great services that Mr. Ryan has rendered the Amalgamated and his peculiar qualifications for the executive office. Mr. Ryan's greatest accomplishment for the Amalgamated was his success in changing Butte from a camp of warring factions to one where mining is conducted without discord and with regard by all interests for the rights of others. The Amalgamated-Heinz feud, which was largely instrumental in settling, was not only ruinous for the participants in a business way, but brought about conditions in the courts and in politics that made Montana a veritable stench in the great family of states. Mr. Ryan is not only a great pacifier, but a mining man of pre-eminent ability and a financier of capacity. The Amalgamated is an industrial concern of the greatest magnitude; it requires a large-sized man to preside successfully over its manifold interests; but Mr. Ryan's business career has abundantly proved that he is such a man, and under his guidance we have no doubt that the Amalgamated has yet to attain the highest pinnacle of its industrial success.

"The Democratic party," sadly confesses the New York World, "cannot ask to be restored to power on the strength of its own record now made and making in congress, but it may properly ask to be restored to power on the record the Republican party has made and is making." As a rule, a political party does not win victories merely because of its opponent's delinquencies; in order to succeed it must have, or seem to have, positive virtues of its own to commend it to public favor—and in these the Democratic party, as evidenced in congress, is sorely lacking. Besides, that party has no reasonable hope of winning on the Republican record in congress. The only objection the World can raise to this record is that it is revising the tariff in accordance with protection principles, the principles to which the party has been pledged for half a century—and the principles, too, which a majority of the Democrats in congress, in both houses, have over and over again endorsed by their votes on numerous tariff schedules. The difference between the Republican and Democratic records in congress is this: The Republicans have not steadily stood by their protection principles and the declarations of their previous platforms, including the last, while the Democrats in congress, the great majority of them, have not only flatly repudiated both general and specific tariff platform declarations, but have voted with the Republican majority in favor of those protection policies that the World denounces. What reason then, is there for Democratic hope?

The "lakes to the gulf" waterway project has received the hardest blow it has yet had to stand up under in the report of the board of army engineers, commenting unfavorably on it. The gist of the report is that the cost of construction of the proposed waterway, and its maintenance, would be all out of proportion to the possible benefits. The cost of a fourteen foot channel from St. Louis to the gulf is estimated at $128,000,000, and the annual cost of maintenance at $6,000,000, which would be largely expended for dredging. The board argues that the completed channel would prove to be too expensive to construct for the traffic they would be offered, and also that a tortuous and shifting river channel is not one that can be used with the best results by comparatively deep draft boats. The engineers, it must be assumed, took up their inquiry into the project with open minds, ready to endorse or disapprove, according to the evidence. That their report is unfavorable will be a disappointment to those who have regarded the project favorably. It has the effect, however, of putting the balance of expert testimony against the deep waterway, for the time at least, and unless its findings can be disproved should be given great weight by congress in determining its position in regard to the proposed waterway. Much as the country favors improving avenues of water communication it will have no desire to pour money into a project that is not practicable, all things considered. There are too many other places where the same money could be used to unquestioned advantage.

The San Francisco Democratic club, one faction of the Democratic organization, has endorsed Francis J. Heney for the office of district attorney, and Mr. Heney has said that he would accept a Democratic nomination, though in politics he is a Roosevelt Republican. It is reported that the Municipal League of Independent Republican clubs will also likely endorse Heney. Heney's long and, as a whole, successful fight on graft in San Francisco has been carried on while he has been acting as an assistant to District Attorney Langdon, who shares with him the credit for the large measure of good that has been accomplished. The fight against Heney, Langdon, Spreckles and Burns has been pushed with great bitterness of late weeks. The "men higher up," on whose trail the prosecutors are now camping, are leaving nothing undone in their endeavors to discredit the prosecution in the eyes of the people. They have powerful newspaper organs that are assisting in this work, with an enthusiasm worthy of a better cause. Copies of these papers, containing articles attacking Heney, Spreckles and Burns, have been spread broadcast throughout the country. It is a vain effort, however, for the people at large believe that whatever mistakes may be charged to the prosecution—and it has doubtless made mistakes—the fact still remains that it has been engaged in a commendable work and has been making substantial progress with it against heavy odds. Langdon, Heney, Burns, Spreckles and their associates have the public's sympathy and support, and the elevation of Heney to the district attorney's office would be regarded with much pleasure, for it would be looked upon as a victory of righteousness over the forces of graft.

WEEKLY COPPER REVIEW

Gossip of Interest Concerning the Market Situation and Various Mining Properties.

(Paine, Webber & Co.)

The market has maintained its strength during the week when all the professional traders predicted the much talked of reaction and during the week there have been pronounced advances in the copper shares notwithstanding the fact that the New York market did not continue with its buoyancy. In fact there are many signs which simply go to bear on the expectation of a better copper metal market and a better copper share market and to justify the improvement in general business conditions. In the copper shares the activities shown were in cases where action was least expected. Such stocks as Calumet & Arizona and North Butte showed an inclination to advance upon the slightest provocation and without any real live news of value coming in. Small buying orders put up such issues with a buoyant demand for the metal as put in as possible the strength, the inherent merit, of the stronger copper shares in the present market. Copper Range likewise showed a strength and stability which is not entirely unexpected of that issue. It advanced in a very steady and substantial manner toward the end of the week when a fairly good steady investment demand made its appearance for the stock.

We continue to maintain a position of frank enthusiasm over the general situation and relative to the copper metal in particular. We have never seen such a buying demand for the metal as put in an appearance in the past month or so. Mines which have not cleaned out their stocks of metal for two years are now sold ahead and at fair prices for the product. Some of the Lake mines have sold their products for two months in advance and their agents are now trying to avoid making further commitments until they are satisfied with the figures secured. At the present ruling prices it is comparatively easy for any sales agent to contract for large outputs for four months in advance but none of the mines desire to do so. We are satisfied that there will be none of the usual summer dullness in the copper shares and that with the improvement in business and the general betterment in trade conditions the world over we shall see continued demand for copper and higher prices for the shares. The tariff measure will be out of the way by some weeks more and then we shall have an illustration of the real business strength of this reflected in the market prices for good issues. We do not anticipate any sensational reaction for some time and do believe that the copper shares are at a purchase if there is any decline worth noticing.

ARCADIAN REORGANIZATION.

The efforts of the president and the directors of the Arcadian to bring about a system of business order and hope for the future out of the chaos under which the company has been working for some time past ought to meet with the commendation of shareholders. We have investigated the plans of President and directors of the Arcadian and are sure that it is for the very best interests of the Arcadian shareholders to send in their certificates to the trust company and have them exchanged for stock in the New Arcadian company, prepare to pay an amount, of either one dollar or two dollars, and to have the money thus spent will result in successfully opening a formation which might be operated with profit by the Arcadian. That is the only business, like thing to do under the circumstances. And in arranging this plan of action the directors are simply carrying out the one step which will prevent the sale of the valuable mineral lands of the corporation, under a receiver's hammer for or taxes by the state. In fact they simply did the one thing that could save the company from bankruptcy.

But the American company had placed in the hands of the Pennsylvania company interests a legal weapon that, as it turns out, was probably much more effective than any other form of redress that might have been discovered. Last December the United States circuit court of appeals, in an opinion written by Judge Noyes, held that a restraint of interstate commerce was involved, and that the Pennsylvania company was warranted in suing the American company—the "Sugar Trust," as it is more familiarly known—under the Sherman anti-trust law, which permits action to damages to three times the amount of those actually sustained. Following this decision the case has been pursued in the lower federal court until this week, when it was settled between the two parties, the American company agreeing to make restitution to the Pennsylvania company interests in the sum of over $10,000,000.

If for no other reason, so long as oppression and trickery of this kind are possible we are bound to have an anti-trust law. Ordinarily these abuses will not be so sensational in character, but the little injury done to the man of little property will be just as embittering as the big one done to the big fellows. A general economic and legal policy may supply the bone and muscles of the anti-trust law, but it is the raw justice and dishonesty of men not otherwise restrained which give it its nerves.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of persons need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this season and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak or anemic, and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S.S.S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off disease germs, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S.S.S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a composition of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted for a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S.S.S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and strength to every part of the body. WIRELESS FOR ALL SHIPS.

Bureau Chief Moore Plans to Get Weather Reports from the Sea. Washington, June 11—Professor Willis L. Moore, head of the United States weather bureau, has departed for Europe to tell the foreigners what he knows about the science of forecasting. Moore has left with President Taft's thoughts on the subject of compelling seagoing vessels to equip themselves with a wireless telegraph system so that they can make regular weather reports to the bureau. By this method the bureau can keep track of storms as far east of the Atlantic coast as west; and the service thus can be infinitely improved. Professor Moore favors the adoption of a uniform signal system whereby weather bulletins can be read and transmitted by commanders of all nationalities.

MASS CONSOLIDATED.

Following the sensations of the previous week Mass has been attracting a comparatively small amount of attention in the market during the past few days. The work at the mine continues quietly and with fairly good results. The openings are going forward, more of the ground is being blocked out and the showing of copper is gradually bettering. The management now plans to make thorough and complete test of this lode by a long time mill run, carrying rock which will be selected with the same judiciousness that is used in selecting rock that comes out of any amygdaloid mine in the Lake district. We believe that the company has hastily concluded the Mass new lode on the returns from the last mill run were not justified in their conclusions and would advise awaiting further facts and figures. We understand that there is quite a substantial short issue still outstanding in Mass stock having made no effort to cover at present prices.

SUPERIOR & PITTSBURG.

The Junction property of the Superior & Pittsburgh mine shows a better bodies within the past month and the grade of ore which is going to the Douglas smelters from the Superior & Pittsburgh is better of late than it has been in the history of the big properties. The treasury of the company is in good condition now and regular monthly payments are being made to the shareholders. Of course the very extravagant capitalization of the Superior & Pittsburgh is a factor which must always be taken into consideration when figuring earnings for this company. In the market the shares have shown a greater strength than in many months.

Metal Shipments Large.

Our correspondent at the Lake writes us as follows regarding the metal situation there: "Some idea of the shipments of metal from this port may be gained by the figures given in the government report of tonnage passing through the canal in May. The total of copper shipped through the canal, which means everything out of the Michigan district by water route, was 32,864,000 pounds. This is practically the largest May shipments made by water in some years. In addition to the water shipments the shipments by rail must be considered, which will make the total amount of copper shipped out in May nearly double the amount of copper produced in this district. The shipments from the Copper Range lode have been the largest. It seems that they fill that immense dock up with copper and one large boat comes along and cleans it off. Yet I understand that the Michigan is having a hard time getting boats enough to handle their orders already booked."

Hancock Consolidated.

The winze from the thirteenth level in No. 1 shaft is now sinking below the Hemeny level and is a good looking rock. The rise, also, in the formation. The drift from the thirteenth is at present in rich ground after going through a stretch of poor stuff. The south drift from the fourteenth is showing rock which carries better mineralization than any of the levels above. Improvements to facilitate the work in the winze are being made underground.

Shaft No. 2 is now almost to a depth of 1,700 feet and progress is being made in a very satisfactory way, although there is a great deal of difficulty now because of a very heavy flow of water and generally broken ground in the conditions, which require careful attention to the shaft timbering.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

ASK THAT CASE BE TAKEN FROM THE JURY

DEFENSE WOULD HAVE COURT INSTRUCT THAT A VERDICT OF "NOT GUILTY" BE RETURNED IN THE SPEAR TRIAL.

The case of the federal government against John W. Spear, dragged on in the United States court yesterday, and will not be concluded until some time today. Witnesses for the defense were on the stand yesterday. Nearly all of them had been customers of Mr. Spear, and they testified that they had always received a square deal from him.

Mr. Spear himself took the stand and explained in detail his methods of doing business, making liberal use of his books to that end. As to his method of conducting his wheat pool, he stated that he guaranteed every new customer who sent $20 to him that the original investment would be doubled within two weeks, and that he had always fulfilled that guarantee. The new customer simply sent this money to Mr. Spear, who invested it as he saw fit, and the customer received credit for the guaranteed profit at the end of two weeks, no matter what the market quotations might be. After this first deal, Mr. Spear stated, the customers made their investments on their own account and at their own risk, and he assumed no responsibility.

Both the government and the defense called witnesses in rebuttal, but nothing of any special importance was brought out.

At the conclusion of the testimony Attorney W. S. Hill asked that he be allowed to state his reasons for believing that the case of the government had not been proven and that the jury should be directed to return a verdict of "not guilty." Accordingly, the jury was excused from the court room and Mr. Hill spoke at some length. He declared that no evidence of fraud or intended fraud had been adduced in the trial, and that it had been shown that Mr. Spear had always treated his customers fairly and had fulfilled every agreement made with them. Numerous court decisions were cited, bearing on the case.

Assistant District Attorney Clute then spoke in behalf of the government, showing, however, in his opinion, the guilt of Mr. Spear had been shown, and he, too, cited several court decisions in support of his point. It was particularly argued by Mr. Clute that the published advertisements were so couched as to intentionally mislead the unsophisticated and ignorant, and that this in itself was sufficient to prove the government's case.

After hearing all that the attorneys had to say, Judge Knapp asked for some of the letters and papers introduced as evidence in the case, and adjourned court until this morning, when, he stated, he would give his decision as to whether he would instruct the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty." If the court orders the trial of the case to proceed, the arguments of the attorneys will be heard this morning, and following the court's charge, the jury will return to their room to deliberate upon their verdict.

Other Business. Entries were made in other cases during the day, as follows: United States vs. Ludlow Seaman; Willful trespass on government lands; settled upon payment of $100 by the defendant, and defendant discharged.

United States vs. Fred LaPointe; Willful trespass on government lands; settled upon payment of $100 by the defendant, and defendant discharged.

United States vs. Charles McGurn; smuggling; arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

United States vs. Alex. G. Persons; criminal conspiracy. Arraigned and pleaded not guilty; recognizance fixed at $1,000.

Northern Normal Notes.

Examinations for the quarter will close at noon on Friday next.

Owing to the hurry of examinations next week there will be no more assembly exercises this quarter.

Mrs. L. F. Pearce of Negaunee visited the school on Thursday, the guest of her daughter, Miss Alice, a member of the graduating class.

Miss Asgard of Ishpeming was a guest on Tuesday of the Misses Klara Kjesboe and Hilma Paulsma, both members of the junior class.

Negotiations are being made whereby the senior class of many of the schools of Ishpeming and presented there on Saturday evening, the 19th.

Miss Belle K. Middlekauff left last evening for Beaver Dam, Wis., where she will visit over Sunday with Miss Laura McDonald of that place.

President James H. Kaye delivered the commencement address last evening at the high school in Menominee. The subject was "Present Trends in Education."

John F. Maloney of Sault Ste. Marie visited the school on Tuesday and Wednesday, the guest of his daughter, Miss Margaret Maloney, a member of the junior class.

Very attractive posters advertising the class play have been made by members of the drawing classes and will be placed on exhibition in the stores of Marquette and Ishpeming.

The Misses Coralee Wells, Alice Pearce and Esther Helmsdorfer went up to Negaunee to be present at the commencement dedication of the new high school building on Thursday evening.

On Wednesday afternoon the members of Ostris Literary society entertained those of Ygdrasil and the faculty at a most delightful picnic at Presque Isle. About ninety persons sat down to a bountiful repast. The evening was so pleasant that many lingered till late and a delightful time was enjoyed by every one present.

Dr. E. R. Downing has taken his classes on several interesting trips recently. Last week he went with the young men of his zoology class into the Huron Mountain country, starting Friday evening and remaining over till Monday. They took tents and other necessary camping outfit and had a most interesting and profitable outing.

The Normal school desires to express thanks to Dr. Markham, of this city, for a useful gift in the shape of an electrostatic machine. It will be of use to the department of physics in generating X-rays, performing experiments with static electricity, illustrating the phenomena of lightning, etc. The machine has a capacity of about a million volts.

On Thursday evening ten members of the faculty made the trip to Negaunee in one of the new cars belonging to the Pioneer Automobile company for the sake of being present at the dedication of the new high school in that city. The party consisted of President and Mrs. James H. Kaye, Mrs. Rushmore, Dr. Faught, Misses Alma and Lydia Olson, Margaret Gable, Kathryn Libby, Belle K. Middlekauff and F. E. Hill.

During the week, Dr. John B. Faught received an invitation to act upon a committee under direction of the international commission on the teaching of mathematics. The chief officers of the commission are: F. Klein, Göttingen, Germany, president; Sir George Greenhill, F. R. S., London, vice president; H. Fehr, Geneva, general secretary. The committee on which Dr. Faught is asked to work is that on state normal schools in this country.

Assembly on Tuesday was in charge of the juniors, who gave the following program:

- Piano solo, The Berceuse from Jocelyn Godard
- Miss Helen Withey.
- Reading, The One-Legged Goose.
- Grace Mackey.
- Vocal solo, "Love Me and the World Is Mine" — Mauney
- Miss Agnes Withey.
- Original story, A Narrow Escape.
- Ruth Brotherton.
- Music, Voices of the Wood. — Rubenstein
- Normal Glee Club.

The senior class had charge of assembly on Thursday morning and gave an excellent program. The president, Simon Anderson, presided. The exercises were opened by the singing of two songs by former classes—'01 by Elizabeth McKnight (Clark); '02 by Sattie Thompson. Miss Mary Tompkins gave a humorous reading "Sally Ann's Experience." Miss Anna Macklin read an original story, "Gertrude's Temptation." Ernest Roberts sang "Abide With Me," to the music by S. Liddell; Miss Grace Mackey read from Scott's "Marmion" the celebrated passage between the hostile lords "Margaret and Douglas." The exercises closed with a repetition of the song first on the program.

The commencement program has been completed with several variations from the usual order. On Tuesday evening of next week, instead of Friday evening, as is usual, occurs the president's reception by President and Mrs. James H. Kaye, to the graduating class and the members of the faculty. On Sunday, June 20, at 3 o'clock, at the Normal school, the Reverend Bates G. Bart, rector of St. Paul's, will deliver the baccalaureate address. The class play, Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," will be given at the opera house on Monday evening the 21st. Commencement proper will be held on Tuesday evening, the 22nd, at the opera house. The address will be delivered by the Right Rev. Charles D. Williams, bishop of the diocese of Eastern Michigan. After the commencement exercises at the opera house, the alumni banquet will be held at the Hotel Marquette. Heretofore, the commencement exercises have been held in the morning and the change to evening will doubtless meet the approval of all those who found it impossible to give time in the morning. Everyone is most cordially invited to be present at that time.

Ostris held the last meeting for the year at which a program of great merit in every detail was given. Simon Anderson played on the theodist a solo, "Wandering." Miss Rhoda Gill told a humorous story, "The Deceased Robert." Alexander Findlay, a guest for the evening, played a violin solo, "2nd Air Varietie," and was compelled twice to respond to encores. Miss Grace Mackey read in a charming manner, "Pomona's Wedding Trip." Miss Gill and Miss Mackey were both called back for encores. The central feature of the program, however, was a debate on the subject of the income tax. The affirmative was supported by Miss Sophie Berryman and William Mulhally, the negative by Simon Anderson and Rex Stewart. The judges, Miss Maxwell, Dr. Faught and Miss Alma Olson, decided in favor of the negative. This was Miss Berryman's first trial at debating and she made a very notable speech on one of no previous experience. As part of the business of the evening the society voted to award pennants of the society to the Misses Elma Nelson and Olga Grund, the two members who represented them in the Kaufman oratorical contest.

BUST OF GEN. ALGER.

Munising High School Receives Treasured Gift from the Family.

Mr. Carlo Romanelli arrived in Munising yesterday to place in position on the campus of the Munising High school the bust of the late Gen. R. A. Alger. This bust is a gift from the family of Mr. Alger, and as a mark of their appreciation to the people of the county for the name it bears. To Mr. Romanelli, supervisor of music and teacher of English in the Munising schools, is due the entire credit of securing this fine work of art, which will stand as a memorial of the class of 1909.

Under date of May 13, "Detroit Saturday Night" pays the following tribute for the bust and sculptor:

"On Wednesday of this week, there was placed on exhibition at the Detroit Museum of Art, a work that will attract wider local attention, and be of more personal interest to the citizens of our city and state than anything of late shown in that place. It relates with interesting exhibits. We refer to a life size bust of the late General Russell A. Alger.

"When the family decided to have something of this nature done they concluded to follow a precedent their General had long marked out for himself, viz., that of aiding and patronizing local talent. Instead of going to Boston or New York to look for a sculptor, they gave the commission to Carlo Romanelli of Detroit. The result has amply vindicated not only their sense of civic pride but also the wisdom of their selection. We can assert without fear of successful contradiction, that nowhere in the United States, at least, could it have been placed in abler or more competent hands, and a better or more satisfactory result obtained. There are no uncertain touches, no feeble attempt at effect, but the modeling is admirable, the lines strong and convincing, the general result one of virility and power.

"The subject was a man of marked individuality and distinguished appearance, and the sculptor seems to have gotten behind the man and perpetuated in the enduring bronze those illustrious qualities that might have escaped a less able and less sympathetic worker.

"One of the greatest painters of the day, seeing a specimen of this artist's work, asked, 'What is he doing in Detroit?' An answer has been given."

Mrs. Edna Yeoman of the Goetz block, at the Soo, has finally located her brother, whom she has not seen in thirty-five years nor heard from in a quarter of a century. Mrs. Yeoman was but a little girl when her brother, Ezra Smith, left home, but she believes she will be able to recognize the family resemblance the instant she sees him. The search for the brother has been a strange one as a large number of people who knew he was being sought, had met and talked with him, yet did not tell him of the presence of his sister in the American Soo. Recently a Scotchman, who had talked to Mrs. Yeoman about her brother, went to Fort William, At Dryden in a lumber camp, he found Smith and told him of his sister. A telegram was sent to Chief of Police Swart, who communicated it to Mrs. Yeoman. Since then letters have been exchanged and other brothers have gone to Dryden from St. Francis, where they were in business. In his wanderings, Smith has been somewhat crippled and it will be necessary for the Scotchman who located him to accompany him to the Soo. On his arrival there Mrs. Yeoman will leave with her brother for Southampton, where an eager and aged father awaits the return of a long lost son.

ALL BOARD WALKS ARE CONDEMNED

COUNCIL ADOPTS RECOMMENDATION OF STREET COMMITTEE AND BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS THAT BOARD WALKS BE REPLACED WITH CONCRETE.

It took Alderman Harry T. Hulst, of the street and alleys committee, nearly three quarters of an hour at the council session Thursday evening to read the list of sidewalk condemnations by the committee and board of public works. Included in the list is every board walk in the entire city, regardless of when it was constructed. Many of the walks condemned, the committee reported, should be replaced by concrete walks without delay, to insure safety to pedestrians. The members of the committee do not expect that all of the walks will be replaced this year, as it would be impossible for the contractors to cover such a great amount of territory. The list contains some 500 or more descriptions.

Alderman Burke, chairman of the street committee, explained to the council that the committee and members of the board of public works have reached the conclusion that it will be in the interest of all concerned to have the board walks replaced by concrete as soon as possible. He said that the lumber put into most of the walks the past few years is not good; that in many instances walks that were in use but a short time were unsafe. Many drivers, he said, are careless and run their teams over walks rather than go a few feet out of their way. Sidewalks are frequently damaged in this way, and a new board walk is as likely to suffer as an old one.

If 50 per cent of all the walks condemned are replaced this summer a greater amount of concrete will be put in than was laid during any two previous years since the work was started here. The expense to a number of property owners, who own two or more lots, will be large.

Another substantial improvement that the committee and board recommended to the council, is the construction of concrete gutters on all streets rebuilt in the future. Heretofore the greater part of the gutters have been built of pebble stones, considerably larger than the coarsest gravel used in the street building. The taxpayers will pay three-fifths of the cost of the curbs, as usual, but all gutters will be constructed at the city's expense. There are several thoroughfares to be repaired this summer, at a cost of approximately $10,000, exclusive of the cost of the gutters.

In addition to the streets recommended for repairs by the committee and board North Second street, between Empire and Michigan, is to receive attention. The resolution instructing the board to do this work was offered by Alderman Bergstrom, and was adopted by a unanimous vote.

The advisability of building cross walks on the principal business streets has many times been suggested to members of the council, and the city engineer and Alderman Burke what the committee and board intended to do about the cross walks, and he replied that they cannot be put in to advantage on account of the difference in the height of the sidewalks and the streets. If it were possible to construct the cross walks to would conform with the sidewalk grades and still not be an obstruction in the street they would be put in.

Special today at Leffler's—steak, 12½c per pound; rib roast, 12½c; chuck roast, 10c; neck boil, 8c; rib boil, 6c. Send in orders early and avoid the rush. (6-12-14)

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"Copper shares opened firm, with the volume of trading somewhat lighter, but the market broadened out as the day progressed. North Butte sold ex-dividend $1 per share, and recovered the greater part of it in the first few minutes. Later the price receded the amount of the dividend. Superior Copper was strong and gained a point. Trading on the curb was devoid of special features, but was active throughout. Davis-Daly sold at 6, and Ohio Copper at 5, both up small fractions. Cactus and Chief Consolidated were a trifle weaker, but there was no pressure to sell. San Antonio was unchanged and in very good demand. Copper shares are gradually seeking a higher level, and we believe that the market will broaden and develop into a great bull affair. Stocks are in the hands of strong interests, and are being steadily accumulated. We would like them on all declines."

At the regular services tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Salisbury Methodist church, Rev. C. L. Finch, the pastor, will preach on the subject: "Consecrated Hands." In the evening there will be no preaching and the service will be conducted by the children in honor of "Children's day." A special program of music and literary numbers has been arranged.

John P. Mager and Miss Lillie Johnson, both of Negaunee, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the First Methodist Episcopal church parsonage, Rev. C. L. Adams, the pastor performing the ceremony. The bridal party drove to Negaunee immediately after the marriage and a reception was tendered the bride and groom at the home of his parents on Ann street.

MARKED AN EPOCH IN CITY'S HISTORY

HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATION AND COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES THURSDAY EVENING.

OVER 1,200 PERSONS PRESENT

Prominent Features Were the Addresses of Hon. Wm. G. Mather, Hon. L. L. Wright and Superintendent Orr Schurtz.

Over 1,200 people attended the dedication of Negaunee's new high building and the commencement exercises in the auditorium Thursday evening.

The entertainment was one that will long be remembered by those present. The auditorium presented a most inviting appearance, and the audience was a fashionable one.

The members of the graduating class are: Mildred Andrus, Sabina Barabe, Celia Crisp, Philip Combs, Genevieve Devle, Ruth Holsted, Edwin Lindquist, Winifred McCull, Lucille Reddy, Martia Wiggins, Amelia Ammonio, Hulda Arvidson, Lydia Mitchell, Estier Tulberg, Carrie Sterling, Mildred Yates, Marion Bedford, Olive Giddie, Samuel Lowenstein, Ruth Miller, Irene Manning, Ella Beth Milroy, Lily Christensen, Yaimo Heimonen, Rachel Lehman, John McNabb, Arthur Sawbridge, Robert Schneider, Sarah Schwartzburg, James McAuliff and Alex Fredrickson.

Prior to and following the program the various departments of the school were inspected and many expressions of approval were heard, especially from those who were paying it their first visit. An informal reception was held in honor of the speakers and others before and after the exercises, and refreshments were served in the kitchen of the domestic science department.

The program was greatly enjoyed. In addition to the addresses by W. G. Mather, L. L. Wright and Superintendent Orr Schurtz, several musical numbers were given by the high school chorus, glee and mandolin clubs.

Superintendent Schurtz spoke in part as follows: "In connection with the exercises of this evening, one thought stands uppermost in my mind, and if I may be allowed to give it even faint expression I shall have contributed to a measure, something of value, if not of interest, to this auspicious occasion."

"Others, who have already spoken, have voiced gracefully and forcibly our common pride and joy in this exceptional beautiful and practical temple of learning. For years to come it will stand a persuasive witness to the progressive spirit of this community. It is true, the architect whose creation it is, must have dreamed dreams and seen visions before his hand was able to conceive and his hand to erect this structure, which, I venture to predict, will mark a most important era in the growth and life of our city."

"But while all this is pleasant thinking and we would not exclude it or detract from its importance, I am impelled to say that immeasurably as this building surpasses in beauty, utility and adaptability to its purpose the old building, in the same measure does the ideal for which this new structure stands surpass that for which the old stood, when it was dedicated to the cause of education more than thirty years ago."

"In common with the general notion in those days, the training of the head, mental development, was the great aim and object of education, and the old building stood for that. This new building will also stand for mind training, but it will stand for more; it will stand for a training that has to do with the whole man, it will stand for the training that will enable the boy, grown to manhood, not only to use his mind to the best possible advantage, but his hands and his eyes as well, nor will it neglect his physical and moral welfare."

"And above all, it will stand for equal opportunity for every boy and girl. Individuals differ as much in mental as in physical equipment. One boy's talents lean in one direction, another's in another; one likes literature and the languages, another history and mathematics. One is impressed with the studies that have to do with business and commercial life, and another is all shop and bench and machine. It is the business of the schools to take the individual boy and girl just as it finds them and through the avenues that appear strong to their minds and inclination develop in them the highest type of manhood and womanhood of which each is capable.

"Does anyone before me question the expenditure necessary to add to our equipment work rooms for our boys and girls? Let us reason together for a moment. "That the child must be made an active factor in the educational work is becoming more and more a vital principle in our scheme of education. We no longer regard the child as a passive factor, on the other hand, he is to be dealt with as a very active observer. This activity is to be utilized and made to contribute to his highest development. In other words, the child's activity is now treated as a sort of by-product in the scheme of education, leads to cooperation on the part of the learner, both in instruction and control."

"Another recognized fact is that a child's physical make-up is not to be separated from his mental in the matter of education; that the one supplements the other and that the most efficient training mentally comes through physical approach. So the little child is taught to give himself physical expression through game and with the hands, in what we call manual training. Later this activity finds expression in industrial training, the shop, the bench, the forge for the boy, sewing, cooking, household economy and management for the girl. Then, too, we are beginning to understand that all this is preparatory to the real business of life and goes a long way toward practical preparation for it."

"But the school cannot do this work unless it has the equipment with which to do it; such costs money. It must be up-to-date, adapted to its purpose, be a best a community can afford. As the average home in the advantages afforded its members, in its comforts and refinements must be superior in every way to the old time home, so the school, if it is to do its legitimate work, must be better housed, better equipped, better taught, more attractive to draw to itself the boys and girls that must be better fitted to play their part in the business and professional household world than were their fathers and mothers before them. If they are to be successful and happy in their future careers, a credit to themselves and a valuable asset to the state and the nation in their active citizenship."

"The higher the average standard of manhood and womanhood a nation can boast, the higher does it rank in the world; and the greater its influence for peace, prosperity and a high standard of civilization. "We hear much nowadays of monster battleships and war balloons and other death dealing inventions. But the great battles of the future will not be fought on battlefields, they will be fought in the shop and on the farm, in the mine and in the laboratory. Supremacy will be won, not on the smoking, reeking field of carnage, but in the marts of trade and commerce, and it will come to those countries and those nations that in the unending struggle for supremacy, develop to the highest possible efficiency, not their fighting power, but their school power. In the words of an investigator and close observer: "The history of the world in the last fifty years yields ample evidence that command of markets is to be won by the nation that brings knowledge and training to bear upon the operations of producing and marketing commodities, which the world wants, and it is impossible to dissociate industrial progress and true educational power."

"Mr. Mather's Address. The address of W. G. Mather, president of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, was as follows: "Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:—It is a noteworthy fact that in the towns and villages of the upper peninsula, and particularly of Marquette county, the most prominent building is always the school house. It would seem as if, happily, when the question of school facilities comes up for decision, no serious diversities of opinion existed in the community, and but little tendency to grudging in expenditure. On the other hand, we all know the difficulty of raising money to erect churches worthy in appearance of the lofty purposes to which they are dedicated, or hospitals adequate in all ways to their noble as well as necessary every-day use, or structures devoted to such recreation and education as is afforded under the direction of the Young Men's Christian association, and the necessity of which is increasingly understood in our most enlightened communities. From the beginnings of our towns the schools have easily taken the first place, and each new one has surpassed its predecessor until we have come in Negaunee to celebrate today the completion of the last—a notable example in its size, completeness of detail for its use, its sightliness and its costliness, for most of the school houses even in Cleveland, although thoroughly adequate and presentable, are built, I think, with a more careful scrutiny as to costs. I say this without intention to criticize, but to emphasize my point that it is a remarkable and most creditable fact that no serious grudging of expenditures has ever been manifested by the taxpayers, in regard to school expenses."

"In Detroit and Cleveland and other large and wealthy cities, you will find that the most costly buildings are those erected for profit or private use, such as hotels, business blocks, residences, club houses, as well as those devoted to public and religious use, but here in a country remote, partially developed, sparsely populated (the whole upper peninsula is less populous than Detroit), the school stands first and is almost always the most prominent structure in every community. Let us compare in round figures the expenditures for schools per capita in Negaunee for 1908 and 1890 and also with Cleveland for 1908:

Table with columns for Year, Total, Per Capita, and Population for Negaunee and Cleveland.

These figures make a very satisfactory exhibit for our little town, as against the great city of Cleveland, and also as compared with our own record of eighteen years ago. This splendid building I see offers most liberal opportunities to the young people of the community. Its spacious gymnasium, in combination with the encouragement of outdoor sports, will provide the healthy body, vigorous muscles and steady nerves to cooperate with the trained mind. The rooms for manual training will furnish facilities for educating the eye and hand for the practical and every day demands of life, and the halls for domestic science will enable our girls to help their parents in household work and to make home more attractive to husbands and sons than the clubs and saloons. The attractiveness of the whole building, inside and outside, will stimulate our superintendent and faithful teachers in the cheerful performance of their most honorable and responsible duty of training the young in body and mind, and in character. Character teaching: teaching them by precept and example that manliness means to be honest, to tell the truth, to be fair, to stand and play, to be courteous. Would that we could all try to follow Emerson's noble counsel: "Scorn trifles and embrace a better aim; "Hunt knowledge as the lover wooes the maid; "And ever in the strife of our own thoughts, "Obey the nobler impulse."

I congratulate Negaunee on possessing this fine school; I congratulate my young friends on being their first graduating class from the school, and the school board, Messrs. J. H. Andrus, Cyrille Houle, Nicholas Laughlin, J. W. Elliott and R. G. Jackson, with the superintendent, Mr. Orr Schurtz, for planning and bringing it to successful completion, aided by the architect, Mr. J. D. Chubb, and Mr. L. E. Chausse, the contractor. But while congratulating ourselves on possessing this fine edifice, and on our educational system, let us seize this opportunity to emphasize other features of its character, which our school children, as well as adults, should know and can speak of with satisfaction, as well as of the evidences of a public spirit and civic pride which at present we do not possess, but should try to secure.

"Negaunee's Industrial History. Let us glance for a moment at your interesting history. Here was the very beginning of the enormous growth of this country's iron and steel industry, for, without Lake Superior iron ores, production would have progressed slowly and the industrial development of the whole country in consequence thereof would have been much less marked than it has been. The first iron ore in the Lake Superior district was found here in 1844, and the first ore mined was from the Jackson mine; a few hundred feet from where we stand; the first blooms from Lake Superior ore were made within the present limits of the town, at the historic forge on Carp river, in 1847; the first pig iron in the upper peninsula, and with only a few exceptions the first in the state and United States, from ores of the Lake Superior district, the most wonderful iron ore in the world, was made here in the Pioneer furnace. I had the greatest satisfaction in collaboration with your late lamented and prominent citizen, Mr. Samuel Mitchell, in erecting monuments and affixing suitable inscriptions at all three of these historic spots, so that the knowledge of them would not become extinct among the younger generation after the departure of their sires, those sturdy pioneers who found and mined the ore, the future development of which gave such an addition to the industrial wealth of the world. It is right that you should be proud of those things for which your city is distinguished, and that the school children should be made familiar with them. We cannot be interested in matters of which we are ignorant. We want the children to grow up to be good citizens, interested in the city, more than that, proud of it."

"A Historic Text Book. To further this end I wish that a text book might be prepared for school use, containing an account of the interesting details of the discovery of the iron ore, the production of which is the source of the city's prosperity and engages the labor of more than 1700 hardy citizens, brought here, as it were, by this magnetic attraction from the great nations of the world—Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Sweden, Denmark, Canada and the other states of our own great country. This handbook could further set forth the steps in Negaunee's growth, the kind and quantity of ore shipped from this city and county, the most interesting of all the iron ore countries, from the standpoint of history, geology, botany and natural history. It would seem, if it should also tell of the form and manner of city and county government. Knowledge of these things would create greater interest in the home city and make better citizens. Let us go further and strive to make Negaunee, not only as the best town of the upper peninsula, where the money raised by taxes is spent to the best advantage, without waste or graft, as carefully as in a business operation; where our young people are affected by as many good sights and influences as possible, and by the least number of bad and vicious ones; where good taste is evident in every improvement, private or public, structure and grounds, as in this building. It costs but little to often make things ugly and carelessness; and what is more attractive to the citizens and more profitable as an advertisement to visitors than neat and pretty homes, an absence of hideous and useless wall and fence posters, well kept grounds, adorned with trees and flowers, clean and well constructed streets and sidewalks, a handsome railroad station (prolonged appeal) similar to those in Ishpeming and Marquette—these are evidences of prosperity and order and attract people, whereas the reverse repels them. You already have examples before you in many beautiful homes and grounds which always give much pleasure, not only to the occupants, but to the whole community. It is not difficult to secure all these simple but most desirable advantages; improvement societies of men and women—often of women alone—have transformed almost numberless towns and villages and there is an immense volume of literature in books and pamphlets describing the method and results."

"Appeals for a Better Negaunee. There are many well-to-do citizens and corporations in Negaunee who have prospered here whose sympathy has been for many years, whose children are growing up here, and whose duty and pleasure it will be to cooperate in using some of their money and time in making a better Negaunee for their children and grandchildren to grow up in. There are many ways had influences everywhere, but it is our duty on behalf of the growing generation and the weak to minimize them and keep them in check and, at the same time, to magnify the influences for good, e. g., schools, churches, healthful recreation in and out of doors. Although my close connection with this city began when I became associated with the Iron Cliffs company in 1890, yet before that I had the pleasure of having most agreeable business relations with one of your most prominent and honorable citizens, the late Jno. E. Maas, and was connected with the management of the old Macomber and Pendall mines, located in the city limits. Perhaps some of you think I have been preaching a little tonight, and have not been sufficiently mindful of my own shortcomings. It is very probable that the corporations doing business here, one of which I have the honor to represent, may not have done their full share in aid of the improvements I mention, and possible the same criticism might be applied to their recreation in aid of Negaunee, but I have not had behind me the officers of the corporations, and they must and will do their part; let us all, as individuals, do our share. The officers of the corporations, and all other citizens, men, women and children, especially those enjoying a comfortable home and great wealth, in this city, building and their successors, strive hard or rather ever singly and together to make Negaunee not only the pioneer in mining and smelting, but also in the furtherance of the welfare of her people."

"Mr. Wright Gave Good Talk. The address of L. L. Wright, superintendent of public instruction, contained many practical points and was in part as follows: "The public school is the last resort of democracy; in it there can be no such thing as pride of birth, for all are equal. Children too carefully nurtured and cared for by fond, indulgent parents, but here get their first taste of the struggles of the outside world. The ladylike boy has his soul tortured and the Little Lord Funtleroy, with their sashes and curls, from Prospective avenue or Main street, have to sit side by side with gradings of grain, of coal, of steel and iron, and it is in question which one of the two makes the better boy or man. The new boy coming to Negaunee has to fight his way to recognition and place with his sires. Pride of birth or any other distinction does not count here. The boy in the game that follows that can make the best run or make the most spectacular play, is the one that gets the first place. "Some one has said that the public school is the vast bin into which we dump our Swedish, Italian, English, German, Polish, and all other foreign born children coming to this country are put in and come out flour, whose brain is essentially American. And this Americanizing process cannot stand and grow as long as we have a compulsory law. There is no danger from the swarms of foreigners so long as the public schools can have their children. The common school is worth to us all it costs if it is for no other purpose than to give the children of our country a common school. I would like the public school to do more than it has, not only in the training in reading, writing and arithmetic, but also in these sciences which will aid a boy in making a living. "Twenty-five per cent of the boys who quit school at the end of the sixth grade have to go to work, and nearly all of them have to earn such a living in some form of manual labor. The public schools do enough for the bright boy, but not for the dull boy, who is easily and gradually, but the schools have not done very much for the slow boy, for the boy who is not a bright and natural student, who wants to get to work; that boy may have within him the foundation of a great and noble living, as Mr. Fulton or Watts. I say the public school has not done anything for that boy and I do not blame the boy for leaving school as soon as the compulsory age has passed, as the school has nothing in it for him. "Give the Boy a Fair Show. "I make a plea here for the boy who is not a natural student; we are not giving him a fair show. He has as much right to it as the boy who goes on as if of sound timber as the stouthead and that he is likely to out just as wide a swat as the boy who is high in his class. We should educate the boy so that he will be able to make a living as a farmer or a bricklayer, or a cooper. An unusual chance to visit unusually attractive places. "This is the bread and butter argument. Now, how far does a public school help in making a living? Hundreds of young boys go out from school every year to engage in manual labor and for that manual labor they have no training from the high school. It is no benefit to his employer than is the boy who goes out in the sixth grade. I do not know that the schools can ever teach successfully all of the trades. There are more than 1000 trades in America, and a suitably no contagion possible, and a clean line Havana smoke. We recommend the straight 10-size, owing to its fine smoking quality. EXHIBIT AT COUNTY FAIR. Schools May Display Manual Training and Domestic Science Work.

A. E. Roswell, of The Mining Journal, was in the city yesterday, conferring with Superintendent Orr Schurtz, of the Negaunee public schools, relative to an exhibit of manual training and domestic science work for the county fair next September. The officials of the other public schools of the county will be seen, and it is likely that all will be favorably impressed with the idea. Mr. Schurtz said he would assist in every way possible in arranging an exhibit, but the Negaunee schools cannot make a manual training display this year, as the department is to be first introduced here next fall. Mr. Schurtz offered to send some work from the domestic science department, but the display cannot be as complete as he would like to have it. At the time small work was discovered among the children of the Jackson and Case street schools a few weeks ago, it was necessary to destroy much excellent work. In spite of this fact the display in the new building this week was creditable. One of the rooms on the first floor was filled with samples of various work from the different grades, from the kindergarten up.

Both the Ishpeming and Marquette public schools will have large displays of manual training work this year, and good showings of domestic science work. While most of the articles made in the manual training schools are the property of the students, it would not be a difficult matter to collect part of them for the county fair exhibit. Included among the things turned out this year at the Ishpeming school are a large mission clock, a gasoline engine and permanent cabinets for the building. It is a noticeable fact that the quality of the work of the manual training departments is improving each year. Walk Over shoes for men, Queen Quality shoes for women. (6-11-31) F. BRAASTAD & CO. Ladies' shoes, very best quality but a little off style, some choice $1. (6-11-31) F. BRAASTAD & CO. TROUT FRY FOR LAKES. Fifteen cans of lake trout fry, each containing 1,500, were received here yesterday morning, consigned to A. C. Seass, who took them down the Northwestern line to Bass, Mea and Little Lakes, all in the vicinity of homesteads, owned by Mr. Seass, Joseph Richardson, Charles Muck and others. Men were waiting at the station in vigs to take the fry to the lakes, and they were planted before 11 o'clock. Mr. Seass expects another consignment within a few weeks. We are offering this week a lot of dress goods at half price. (6-11-31) F. BRAASTAD & CO. A lot of men's high grade shoes to close at 35c, choice $1.50. (6-11-31) F. BRAASTAD & CO. LOCAL LACONICS. J. L. Wagner of Ontonagon attended to business in Negaunee yesterday. John D. Chubb and wife of Chicago came up to attend the dedication of the new high school building Thursday evening. The Ishpeming band of twenty-five members will give a concert at Cleveland Park tomorrow afternoon, between the hours of 2:30 and 6 o'clock. Mrs. Frank O. Rockwell and son, Seass, of Fargo, N. D., are here on a ten days visit to her father, A. C. Seass, and brother, Lavene, of the Breitung house. Miss Ella Ethier was tendered a shower by a number of her friends at her home one evening this week. Miss Ethier is to be married next Monday to Henry Cornish, engineer at the Marquette County Gas & Electric company's plant. The "Negauneean," the publication of the senior class of the high school, has been issued. The book is somewhat larger than the one published by last year's class and contains a number of very interesting articles and illustrations. A raft of baby shoes, choice 50 cents (6-11-31) F. BRAASTAD & CO.

NEW METHODS OF TRAINING. Conditions have changed and it is time to recognize the change and we must plan our high schools with the purpose of training the children who never enter college in the art of making a living.

"The time is coming when we shall have three divisions in our schools, the primary schools of six grades, teaching the elements of writing, reading, arithmetic and history; seventh, eighth and ninth grades in which will be taught trades for the boys. Among those trades should be carpentry, blacksmithing, machinery and chemistry, while every grade should be taught the elements of home keeping. The tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades for those who are to go to college. "Nog the upper peninsula stands foremost in all educational matters and all this credit belongs to the people of this community and even these iron-clad hills reflect the character of the people. In a few years more than $2,000,000 have been expended for buildings in the upper peninsula. The first one was started ten years ago in Ironwood and every one in the upper peninsula has gone to the summit here. No section has so many or such fine school buildings as the upper peninsula. The Lake Superior district has a different air; its people are proud, want free life, bigger and stronger. The upper peninsula also has in Menominee the first county agricultural school in Michigan. There was never a time when there was such a demand for training in industrial lines as there is now—the demand for training in the practical ends of life to help a boy and girl to earn a living. "We hear a great deal about book learning, but take some of the great statesmen and politicians, also men in the industrial world, take Thomas Cole; he was not hindered because of the fact that he did not have a high school education. Those who have built up great business interests are not products of the school; many of them were farmers boys. These men were educated in the old school of adversity. They need to think; they had real problems to face. "I bring my congratulations to this people on the completion of this building. It is an unusual thing where a community will tax itself to build a structure like this, for the people who do not merely own and operate properties and pay 70 per cent of the taxes will stand for it. So far as I know there is not a more beautiful school building in Michigan than this, but I know of no place where people have voluntarily taxed themselves to do such a thing as this. The person who conceived this magnificent building had the instincts of an artist. This school building is bound to be a source of pride to the people. This building is bound to be a source of inspiration to the teachers, superintendent and pupils and others attending it. It will encourage the teachers to train the minds of the pupils so that they will be finished in the art of making a living."

BASEBALL TOMORROW. The fans here are showing much interest in the league baseball game to be played tomorrow at the union park grounds between the Negaunee and Marquette teams.

The Mining Journal's articles on the suspension of rowdism at the park have been generally approved of, and the managements will insist on a better order. The addition to the grand stand will be completed today. A roof has been placed on all three sections of the stand. Two additional gates, one of them for wagons and automobiles have been put in, on the north side of the fence, and tickets are to be sold in advance in both cities. Jewel Hat Pins, Prices 50c to $2. (6-12-21) JOS. SELLWOOD & CO. Children's straw hats, regular 50 cents values, at 25 cents. (6-11-31) F. BRAASTAD & CO. Douglas shoes for men, at reduced prices. (6-11-31) F. BRAASTAD & CO. DAVID S. JORDAN HERE YESTERDAY

FAMOUS SCIENTIST AND EDUCATOR VISITED FISH HOUSES IN GOVERNMENT EMPLOY.

FEDERAL REGULATION COMING

Laws Governing Fishermen in International Waters Will Be Uniform After Jan. 1 Next.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University and member of the international fisheries commission, and Herbert R. Stolz, his private secretary, were in this city a few hours yesterday morning. Dr. Jordan came here for the purpose of visiting the local fish houses, to learn whether or not the proposed international regulations were satisfactory to Marquette fishermen.

He asked many questions regarding the fishing industry in this locality and made copious notes of the replies received. He was also greatly interested in specimens of trout, whitefish and bluefish examined at the fish houses. Dr. Jordan inspected the fisheries on Lake Superior about a year ago, before the international regulations were drawn up, and is now making a second visit to make sure that no mistakes have been made in the regulations, which will place the commercial fishermen operating on international waters under federal, instead of state control.

Edward E. Prince, the British member of the commission, and Mr. Jordan drew up the rules and regulations, which will probably be placed in effect next January.

Heretofore the regulation of the fishing in international waters has been left to the various states. The placing of the fishing in the hands of the international fisheries commission will result, according to Mr. Jordan, in a uniform and fair system of regulations.

In some parts of the country the new rules will change the present methods of fishing in international waters, but in the Lake Superior region there will be no change from the present regulations governing fishing.

Mr. Jordan and Mr. Prince made a deep and exhaustive study of the international waters before drawing up the treaty. The treaty will be signed by President Taft and Premier Laurier upon the same day.

Japanese in California. Mr. Jordan stated while here that there was nothing new in the Japanese question in California. He stated that the point of the whole agitation is that no state can legislate against aliens, and that California is simply making trouble by agitating laws that it would be unconstitutional for the legislature of the state to pass.

During the course of the last legislature in California, Mr. Jordan says a bill was presented to debar all aliens from holding land. Although Mr. Jordan says the bill stood no chance of passage, there was a protest that traveled far and wide. Much land in California is owned by English capitalists, and they protested vigorously against the passage of the bill.

Mr. Jordan expressed the opinion that there were too many Japanese in California at the present time, but also stated that agitation along some of the lines that has been adopted in California would not help the matter any.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Marquette Young Man Falls to Death Between Moving Ore Cars.

William McDonnell, a South Shore brakeman, residing in this city, was instantly killed at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, while working on his train at the Imperial mine, near Michigan Lake. The victim of the fatality was working near the rear of a string of empties, and was releasing a brake, using a club for that purpose, when the wheel broke and he fell between the cars, face downward across the rail. The trucks of one car and the front wheel of a second ran across the small of his back before the progress of the train could be stopped, and by the time his fellow brakeman reached him, life was extinct. No marks were found on the body, except several cuts and bruises on the head.

The deceased is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McDonnell, 407 Hampton street, and was twenty-three years of age. He had left Marquette early Thursday morning on a special, which was to get a train of ore cars, leased from the Wisconsin Central. The train left Thomson early yesterday morning and was running some of the cars in at the Imperial mine to be loaded, when the accident happened. The remains were brought to this city at 7:45 last evening.

He had been in the employ for the railroad for about two years and was very popular among his associates, and the officials of the road. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and the order will have charge of the funeral, the arrangements for which have not been made.

He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Miss Nellie McDonnell, and Mrs. William Earl, of this city, and two brothers, Robert and Patrick, of Superior. The news of his sudden and tragic death, and as a great shock to his many friends in this city, where he was well known and universally well-liked.

The regular Saturday night hop will be held at Fraternity Hall tonight. Music by the Peerless orchestra. (6-11-24)

"TWELFTH NIGHT" BY NORMAL STUDENTS

FOURTH IN SERIES OF SHAKESPEAREAN PLAYS WILL BE GIVEN THE EVENING OF THE 21ST BY THE SENIOR CLASS.

The senior class play given by the Northern Normal students this year will be a production of "Twelfth Night," the fourth of a series of productions of Shakespeare's plays given under the direction of Mrs. Follie Gay Rushmore with such fine artistic results, and, judging from the progress that has been made with the rehearsals, it is likely to prove the most successful of all. The Marquette date is the 21st, and the Marquette performance will be preceded by one at Ishpeming on the evening of the 19th. The Ishpeming performance will mark the first occasion on which a Normal class play has been given outside the city, and the exception is made this year largely because there are a number of Ishpeming young people in the cast.

The principal characters are in capable hands, Mrs. Rushmore fortunately having a number of young men to work with this year. The training is already well advanced, and it is said that the members of the cast have caught the spirit of the rollicking comedy with which "Twelfth Night" abounds in an admirable manner, and that the scenes go off promisingly. The Johnson is cast as Sir Andrew Aguecheek, Ernest Roberts as Feste and Simon, Anderson as Sir Toby, Miss June McCall will play Olivia, Miss Mary Templeton, Viola, and Miss Carrie Bacon, Maria.

The production will be participated in by a large number of minor characters, and one of the features introduced will be a court dance, in which twelve persons will take part. Miss Ottman, who is directing the music work at the Normal, has written the melodies for two of the Shakespearean songs that will be sung in the production. The costumes will be secured from Chicago.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors for their sympathy and aid during our bereavement. So numerous were those who came to our assistance that it would be impossible to thank all personally, much as we would like to do, but we desire to assure them that we most sincerely appreciate their kindness. We feel under particular obligations to neighbors who rendered aid at our home, also to friends for floral offerings.
