The copper share market is surely proving a great disappointment to those who have been predicting that it would not have any future.

Considering the vigorous attempt that has been made to get it afloat, the tonnage tax issue certainly has not met with the cordial reception its lower Michigan sponsors expected for it.

The talk of the copper merger is increasing in both volume and intensity. We must soon have a showdown that will reveal whether there is anything behind it or whether it is, after all, just talk.

The idea that Colonel Roosevelt will again be a candidate for president in 1912 won't down with the country. It knows the colonel would not throw his old friend Bill Taft, even if all the fifty states and territories got up on their feet and besought him to do it.

It is insinuated that former President Roosevelt failed to do everything in his power to forward the inquiry into sugar trust methods for defrauding the government. With the colonel far away in Africa, the insinuation is a perfectly safe one to make.

The Houghton high school football team disposed of the Ishpeming team in a somewhat decisive manner Saturday. The Ishpeming team was badly out-weighted and the conditions under which the game was played favored the heavier players.

Speaker Cannon says that Editor Ridder led him up onto the mount and tempted him with the support of all the great papers for his boom for president, if he would only agree to use his influence for free wood pulp.

The death of Raymond A. Patterson, familiar to readers of the Chicago Tribune as "Raymond," removes one of the most brilliant of the Washington press correspondents and a newspaper man who has had much to do with framing public sentiment in the leading matters of congressional action through a long period of years.

Mari T. Murray, the new secretary of the board of corrections and charities, is showing what an excellent opportunity is offered for public service in that office. This board has supervision over the jails and county houses of the state, as well as other important duties.

ate compliance with its terms. Mr. Murray will make an admirable record in the office, and will demonstrate to the people of the state the wisdom of his selection to fill it.

Senator Burrows can be the swiftest and most non-committal gentleman in Michigan, when he wants to be, as those who endeavored to smoke him out about the office of collector of customs for the District of Superior ascertained last week.

He avoided being pinned down definitely to any proposition with a grace and skill that could not fail to evoke admiration. He would indicate neither that he was against any one of the candidates, nor for any one of their number, and those who hoped to get some inkling of his purpose were quite disappointed. The senators do not appear to have had any conference about the collectorship, or about any other matter in which they are both concerned.

As to what will be done about the collectorship, many politicians who usually have decisive opinions on these questions confess themselves at sea. By some of the improbability of the senators getting into any contest over the office is urged. They point out that what Senator Burrows is most solicitous about, when he has run in the primaries next year, is harmony, and suggest that with some dozen or so good offices to be disposed of by the senators within a few months there ought to be no great difficulty in dividing the spoils in a manner satisfactory to both.

The situation is an interesting one, and will attract more and more attention until it is settled.

The defeat of Pennsylvania by Michigan Saturday came as a balm to the feelings of the Wolverine reversers injured by the Notre Dame rout and the three successive victories chalked up to the credit of the easterners, Michigan, an in and out team, was traveling at its best gait Saturday, and its perfect team play, supplemented by brilliant individual performances, was irresistible.

Yost has demonstrated that he knows the new game and can impart it successfully, when his material is up to standard, because it was clever plays along modern football lines that largely contributed to Michigan's rapid scoring of its twelve points. The Michigan players came out of the Pennsylvania game in good condition, and will be in every way fit when they meet Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday next.

Wasmund, the quarterback, will not be able to play, because of the conference rules, to which Minnesota has subscribed, but otherwise the Michigan machine will be the same one that defeated Pennsylvania. It will need to put forth its best Saturday to play the Gophers even, for they are one of the strongest eleven that has ever been developed at Minnesota, as their decisive defeat of Chicago and their routing of Wisconsin has shown.

Michigan's position, if victory can be attained, will, however, be a proud one, for it will be the leading eleven in the west and will have decisively won its only game with an eastern team. With Minnesota's measure taken Michigan will be able to point to the most successful season it has had for some four or five years past.

The acquittal of Mme. Steinheil was something for which the public had been prepared by the progress of the trial. Two things, apparently, figured in bringing it about. The case submitted by the prosecution was largely circumstantial, and not a particularly good one, and that, again, the prosecution awakened sympathy for the accused in the minds of both jury and public, and led to a minimizing of the state's case and the making of the most of the defense.

The verdict will far from satisfy the public that the ends of justice have been exactly served, for there is, apparently, a widely held conviction that Mme. Steinheil was in some degree a party to the murder of her husband and her stepmother. The trial has resulted in drastic criticism of the French methods of criminal procedure and there has been much comment that it will be followed by comprehensive changes. To American eyes the identity of the judge and chief prosecutor is a bewildering condition, and the Steinheil trial has shown that the French criminal court is a disorderly and tumultuous tribunal, in which all the judicial proprieties, as we see them, are violated.

Whether there will be any sweeping changes, however, is perhaps to be doubted. At the moment, when the Steinheil trial is fresh in the minds of the people, there is apparently a sincere demand for them, but it will be strange if it does not lose intensity as this trial is forgotten. We have seen agitations of the same general character quickly die out in this country as the conditions that gave rise to them have gradually faded out of the public's mind.

THE HUMAN EQUATION.

It's the human equation in the operation of large industries—mines, mills and railroads—that occasions the managements much of their worry, and it's the human equation that is responsible for many terrible disasters. If the first reports are correct, it was the human equation that was responsible for the terrible loss of life in the explosion and fire in the St. Paul mine at Cherry, Ill.

The St. Paul mine, it is said, one of the safest coal mines in the world. Whether this is a true statement subsequent discussion will determine, but it is apparent that no mine could be secured against the criminal carelessness that caused the enormous loss of life reported from that property.

Statements of men rescued from the mine are to the effect that the fire was started by the act of one of the miners, who threw a lighted torch on a pile of hay that was used to feed the mules. The burning mass was placed on a tram car and an effort made to hurry it to the shaft, but 150 feet away, where it was believed it could burn out without causing an explosion.

But the dangerous gases always present in the best ventilated coal mines were ignited. Explosions followed. The workings took fire and there were other explosions. Gas, smoke and heat drove the greater part of the men back from the shaft and of those who reached it not all escaped, so rapid was the sweep of the flames.

If this story is proved to be true by subsequent investigation it will be shown that not the mine owners but the terrible carelessness of one of the men employed in the mines was responsible for the great disaster. It is hard to understand, except on the theory of mental aberration, a man throwing a torch on a pile of hay in a coal mine. The traditional spark in a powder magazine could be no more sure invitation to disaster. An additional point to be cleared up is why an open torch was burned in a coal mine, where safety lamps are considered an indispensable aid to safe operation.

The most distressing feature of the St. Paul mine disaster is the needless loss of life. It was one which no care of the management in providing safety devices or safe working conditions could have obviated. It is only one of many catastrophes where the human equation is entirely at fault.

FOR PUBLICITY.

The arrest of Bendernagle, former superintendent of the Big Williamsburg sugar plant, is another long step in the direction of getting the "man higher up" in this prodigious sugar trust scandal. Bendernagle's career with the company runs back some thirty years and to the presidency of the late H. O. Havemeyer, whose confidant he was.

There seems to be no end to the ramifications of this colossal and continuous sugar trust conspiracy of organized thievery, which the government has through a score of years, systematically riddled for millions—$30,000,000, by the New York Sun's computation.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Mind That Exalts. Colonel George Harvey, brilliant young publisher and writer, in a recent address in New York praised the country mind.

"Even in wrong and ignoble things," said Colonel Harvey, "even in driving hard bargains, the country mind excels that of the city. I recall a dialogue that I once heard in the general store of my native Peacham. What Wall street sharp could have driven such a bargain as the old Vermont ruralist achieved in this dialogue."

And Colonel Harvey, with really excellent mimicry, repeated: "Ye say ye wants a dollar fur the boots. Take seventy cents?" "Yes." "Ye mout throw in one of them woolen throat warmers, too, hey?" "All right." "Hold on thar. Them boots ain't got no strings."

"I'll give ye a pair of strings." "Better make it two pair. One won't last no time." "Can't ye chuck in one of them paper collars fur good measure?" "Oh, I guess so, rather than miss a trade."

"Look-a-here, when a feller buys a big 'ol goods off'n ye, don't ye set 'em up?" "Yes. What'll you take?" "Gimme two plugs of chewing to backer an' a pound of scrapple."

Natural Error. At a banquet in New York, Canon Hensley Henson, describing the odd dress of English bishops, said that he was visiting Scarborough. On the way to the train, he lost his reckoning and stopped a boy.

"I say, my lad, how far is it to the station?" he asked. "About a mile straight ahead," said the boy. Then, staring at the bishop's knee-breeches and silk stockings, he added: "What's up? Somebody swipe yer bike?"

A Good Manager.

Homer S. Taylor, president of the National Archery association, said at an archers' dinner in Chicago: "An archer must be very skillful and calm and cool to succeed. He must handle his bow as Mr. Poarek of Michigan avenue handles her husband."

"Mr. Poarek came home very late the other night from a political meeting, and in the hall he kicked up rather a row, growling and swearing to himself till his wife called to him from upstairs: "What's the matter, my dear?" "Matter—hic—hic," Mr. Poarek shouted, "that there is a solution was to be drawn; I don't know which one to hang my hat on."

"But you've got two hats, haven't you?" said Mrs. Poarek soothingly: "Hang one on each rack and come up to bed. You're tired."

Cool and Correct.

Professor Robert Herrick, of the University of Chicago, desired to point out to a young sonneteer the difference between the words "astonish" and "surprise." "Noah Webster," Professor Herrick said, "was once caught by his wife in the act of pressing the hand of the pretty cook."

"The cook, blushing like a rose, fled at once to her kitchen," Mrs. Webster said in a sad, trembling voice. "I'm surprised." "But the philologist, trowing over his glasses at his wife, answered reprovingly: "Madam, you have not studied our glorious language as you should. It's I who am surprised. You are astonished."

WHY IS IT.

That the man who thinks himself a martyr when he wears a necktie of his wife's selecting, considers himself entirely competent to choose her clothes? That the husband who never is at a loss for time to go through the Sunday paper, but on the last budget from his wife's family? That John so quickly loses his taste for wife's attempts at cooking, which he thought "so delicious" before the wedding bells rang?

That the man who has most to say about how a house should be run gives the least allowance for that running of the household?

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT EVERYTHING.

Pictures of Presidents. In every department, and, in fact, in every bureau, are to be found the pictures of the former heads of those departments or bureaus. Pictures of all of the presidents are to be found in the White House, but many are to be found elsewhere.

Neither are the pictures of the wives of all the presidents, those who occupied the position of "first lady of the land," to be found in the White House, though a goodly number have been preserved. It is rather a notable fact that the pictures of nearly all the women who have graced the position of mistress of the White House are placed in the lower rooms and corridors. This region might be termed the basement, though it scarcely merits that position in architecture.

All of these corridors lack after all. Again the master ranged up some of the hold to prevent another fox going back into a certain covert. In vain whips were rattled against saddle flaps; the fox went right through the watchers and made his point. It is a thing I have often noticed both with stag and fox, that the quarry seems to distinguish between real and false dangers.—London Globe.

Read What Your Druggist Says About Oil of Wintergreen Compound. Druggist Stafford submits the following to the readers of The Mining Journal: For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema. A simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compound with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right in this town who have eczema, and still have never tried this remedy. We have therefore, in conjunction with the D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle at 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly.

Mrs. E. A. Johnson has returned to Marquette, after spending three weeks in Chicago and Detroit.

Fifteen deer that had been shot in the vicinity of Big Bay and Birch arrived on the M. & S. E. train yesterday afternoon.

A marriage license was issued by the county clerk yesterday to Morris Vadnais and Katherine Yabinski, both of Marquette.

Miss Helen Fessenden, daughter of William Fessenden, underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Mary's hospital yesterday.

The first of a series of eight Masonic parties will be given in Masonic hall Thanksgiving night, Nov. 27. All Masons and their families are invited to attend.

A. S. Cameron, local agent of the Singer Sewing Machine company, who was laid up at the hospital with typhoid fever during the past three months, has recovered sufficiently to attend to his business again.

A special meeting of the Methodist Ladies' Aid society will be held in the church parlors this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, for the purpose of sewing on the sashes for the children of the choir. All ladies of the society are requested to be present, also the mothers of the children.

Foot Was Amputated—J. C. Besfoot of Cusino was brought to St. Mary's hospital yesterday, suffering from a gunshot wound in his right foot, received while out hunting. He states that he was accidentally shot by a companion. The member was terribly mangled and it was necessary to amputate the limb just below the knee.

Asked for Examination—Charles Canby who is accused of having committed a statutory offense upon his thirteen-year-old sister-in-law, demanded an examination when arraigned before Justice Byrns yesterday. His case will probably be taken up Wednesday, and meantime, he has been placed under the strictest guard of which he is confined in the county jail.

Lectured on LaFayette—J. H. Prineau lectured on the Marquis de LaFayette at a meeting of St. Jean Baptiste society, held last evening. Mr. Prineau spoke especially of LaFayette's part in the American revolution and, having a thorough acquaintance with his subject, he threw much new and interesting light on the noble Frenchman who played so prominent a part in the winning of American independence.

Colonial Relics Wanted—The committee in charge of the loan exhibition to be held in the Opera House block this week, ask that all having Revolutionary or colonial relics bring them to the Opera House block not later than this afternoon, properly labeled if possible. If for any reason it is desired, such articles will be called for and returned to the owners. In such case, Mrs. S. W. Shaull or any other member of the D. A. R. chapter should be notified.

Fair Next Week—The ladies of St. Peter's congregation are pushing to a conclusion their preparations for the fair to be held next week in the auditorium of the Bangs school building for the benefit of the church. The preparations have been on an unusually large scale and it is expected that the fair will be one of the most successful that has been held in recent years. There will be several booths erected and the stalls and they will contain attractive displays of the ladies' handiwork. During the week there will be many special features to entertain the crowds that will be in attendance.

Give Firemen the Road—Members of the fire department state that their efforts to get to fires promptly are being hampered by persons who leave horses untied on the streets and by others who do not promptly get out of the way of the fire teams, when they hear them coming down the street. In making the run to the fire at the Normal last week, they say that several runaways were narrowly averted and that in one instance they had to cross to the opposite side of the street to avoid a collision with another rig. It is said that the fire teams have absolute right of way and can run right over other rigs in their path, if they care to do so.

Church Parsonage Assessed—Members of the Swedish Methodist church have asked relief from the tax assessment which has been levied against the property on Oak street, now used as a church parsonage. It appears that until a few years ago, the property was rented by the church, and that the board of relief were of the opinion that it was well rented, when they placed it on the assessment roll last spring. The city attorney is now wrestling with the problem of getting the assessment off the roll, and is not certain that the council has any right to rebate it, though it is unquestionably illegal. The church people, however, undoubtedly may get relief from the courts, but it is hoped that it will not be necessary for them to go to that trouble.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

Upper Peninsula

Possessed Overcoat Mania—

Charles Appleton of Trout Lake has begun a thirty day sentence in the Chippewa county jail. He was taken to the Soo by Deputy Sheriff Rainey on the charge of larceny and when arraigned before Judge Steere was convicted of the charge, with the above result. Appleton apparently had a mania for stealing coats. He had three belonging to other persons in his possession when arrested.

Factory to be Enlarged—

The announcement is made that the Newberry shoe factory is soon to be started up again, and that the plant is to be enlarged and a handle department added. Messrs. Mahan and Phelps, two of the head officers of the concern, are expected in a few days to make the arrangements. It is the intention to enlarge the capacity of plant by installing a number of machines for the manufacture of handles with the idea of keeping the mill in operation the year around.

Lumber Company is Sued—

The Menominee River Boom company has filed suit against the A. Spies Lumber company of Menominee, in which it asks judgment of $6,217.91, which it alleges is due for work in driving logs. According to the complaint, the boom company, each year is in the habit of filing a list of their rates for driving on logs and poles. They claim that they have for several years been driving logs for the Spies company and that in 1902 they sent down a lot of deadheads for which the Spies company refuse to pay. They ask judgment for the amount and six per cent interest from Nov. 30, 1907.

A Soo Hunting Expedition—

Wesley Clarke, cashier of the Central Savings bank, and Attorney Roberts P. Hudson, left yesterday to join the advance guard in camp near Salt Point, Lake Superior, says the Soo News. A couple of heavily loaded drays were necessary to take their traps, etc., to the docks, where they were loaded onto the boat for transportation to the point. Considerable wonder was expressed at the large amount of supplies the boys were taking along, but they explained the situation by saying that they were unfamiliar with the route from the point to the camp and that it was their intention to make caches of food at frequent intervals so that if they were compelled to spend the winter in the woods they would not starve to death in making their dash for the shore. They were each armed with a $2.98 army rifle, such as were recently sold by the government, and otherwise equally prepared for their hazardous journey into the wilds of the north country.

Dr. Moore's Fatal Accident—

The Ironwood News-Record gives these details of the hunting accident which recently befell Dr. John R. Moore of Ironwood, head surgeon for the U. States Steel corporation on the Gogebic range, and which caused his death Sunday last. Dr. Moore, one of the best known physicians in this section, and a resident of Ironwood for more than twenty years, was fatally shot near his summer cottage at Sans Souci, in the eastern end of Gogebic county, last Sunday. As he was alone at the time, it is not known how the accident occurred, but when he was either sitting or standing to rest at the top of a steep hill he had climbed, the rifle that he was carrying went off. The ball struck the outer edge of the joint of the right wrist, deflected and hit the left side of his face near the chin, followed along the jaw bone and lodged against the mastoid behind the left ear. The arm and jaw were fractured, as was the skull at its base where the bullet lodged against it. The wounds seemed to indicate that the bullet had passed out, but an operation performed on Thursday by Dr. Orriat of Oshtosh revealed that the bullet had split into several parts.

Dr. Moore went to his cottage at Tamarack lake to outline some work to be done by his caretaker before the winter set in, and to plan for the entertainment of a party of friends who expected to spend a few weeks at the lake during the deer hunting season. Sunday morning a reconnoiter was proposed in the Paint river country, five miles south of Dr. Moore's camp. The doctor left the other members of the party at the top of the hill. It was necessary for him to climb a steep "hugs-back" and in so doing it was apparent that he had become "winded" and had sat down on a log at the top of the big hill. In his rational moments since the accident he says that the last thing he remembers he was sitting on the log near which he was found. In some manner that will probably never be known the rifle went off. It was a heavy 40-82 Winchester. The shot was heard by the other members of the party, but no attention was paid to it.

An hour later L. L. Wright, D. E. Sutherland and Dr. George E. Moore, when walking through the country nearly half a mile from the wounded man, heard someone cry out, and following the direction from which the sound came they found Dr. Moore lying against the log at the top of the hill. The discovery was made about 10:15 in the forenoon, and it is agreed that he had been there more than an hour before found. Captain Sutherland immediately started for the camp to get assistance, while Dr. George Moore and Mr. Wright made the wounded man as comfortable as possible. A stretcher was improvised from poles and twigs, and after laboring for more than five hours, it being necessary to cut the second growth brush before they could get through, the men succeeded in carrying their wounded companion a little more than a mile. At this time the team arrived from Sans Souci, together with half a dozen persons. In the mean time word had been sent to Watersmeet, and a special train was ordered to bring the wounded man to Ironwood, reaching here shortly after ten o'clock Sunday night. It seems unaccountable that such an accident should occur to Dr. J. R. Moore, who was always the most careful of men when carrying firearms in the woods.

TO RESUME WORK AT ARMENIA MINE

PROPERTY OF WHICH FORMER ISHPEMING MAN IS SUPERINTENDENT TO BE OPERATED AGAIN, AFTER A SHUT-DOWN OF TWO YEARS.

Price McKinney, of the Corrigan-McKinney company, decided while on the Menominee range last week to resume operations at the Armenia mine, of which Captain S. J. Goodney, formerly of this city, is captain. The Armenia was closed down in December, 1907, and has therefore been idle practically two years.

Men have been put to work erecting a coal trestle at the property, and it is announced that mining operations will be resumed as soon as the water is removed from the workings. The volume of water that will be handled at the Armenia will not be as heavy as it was formerly, as the recent expansion of operations at the North Ardena has developed a big flow of water, much of which is coming from the old workings. The McDonald, another property adjoining, is also handling considerable water, and as a result the surface of the water in the Armenia has been lowered fifty feet.

The Armenia mine was the first on the Menominee range to close down during the panic of 1907, and it is the last to resume. Exploratory work conducted in the vicinity of the property the past year has given very satisfactory results and it is now thought that the Armenia will, within a few years, be among the biggest shippers on the range. A force of 150 men will be employed at the start. The Corrigan-McKinney company's houses at the location are occupied by the families of men employed by the McDonald company, but they have been notified to vacate as soon as possible. In order to properly take care of their workmen the McDonald people will now be obliged to erect houses of their own.

Captain Goodney has been in charge of underground work at the Corrigan-McKinney Armenia properties ever since shortly after ground was broken for the first shaft put down. He has made a fine record in spite of the fact that he has had a difficult problem to handle.

It is reported that the range there has been a heavy dropping off in the ore movement the past week or so, and a number of the mines are now being stocked. Among the mines that have to stock are the Dunn, Homick and Mansfield. The latter is operated by the Oliver Iron Mining company and considerably over 100,000 tons were shipped from this property this season.

HUNTERS IN LUCK.
Men Who Hunted Near Buckhorn Camp Shot Several Fine Deer.

Captain John A. Flack of Gwinn, together with his brother, Jacob Flack, and John Jempton, Arnt Lund and Frank Emanuelson, of the Winthrop, came in yesterday with the finest bunch of deer that have been brought from the district to the south of the city in several seasons. Captain Flack had the honor of shooting the largest one, a buck that dressed 210 pounds. He also shot a doe. His brother Jacob got two bucks. Mr. Jempton also shot two bucks, while Messrs. Jempton and Lund each got one. Five of the deer were shot Sunday. The party hunted twelve miles from the city in the vicinity of Buckhorn camp. There is a big tract of hardwood in that district and it is an excellent place for game. Most of the members of the party have hunted there every season for the past twelve years or more. Captain Flack yesterday stated that there are not very many hunters in that neighborhood, but they are plentiful some miles west, in the vicinity of Birch Lake and Camp Niles. He said that as far as he could learn the hunters are not meeting with as good success as in former years. Captain Flack left last night for his home at Gwinn, taking his deer carcasses with him.

J. G. Johnson and Eric Carlson returned Sunday night from Camp Bryant, where they had good success. Mr. Johnson shot a buck that weighed 225 pounds. Mr. Carlson got a doe weighing 120 pounds. They report that deer are scarce in that district, while there are a great many hunters.

Victor Wallenstine has the honor of shooting the largest deer that has been brought to the city this season. He came in yesterday with a buck that dressed 278 pounds. He shot it near West camp, south of the city.

HAVE LEASED PLANT.
Michigan Quartz Silica Co. Will Operate a Mill in Milwaukee.

Edward Capps, Otto Egger and Joseph Gingsass of this city and W. N. Noon, Morgan Jopling and Albert F. Koepeke of Marquette will attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Michigan Quartz Silica company, to be held Thursday in Milwaukee. The company recently leased a mill in Milwaukee, and the plant is now being equipped for the treatment of silica. It is expected that it will be ready for operation by the first of the year. Quartz will be shipped direct from the mine, west of Ishpeming, and the output will be considerably increased. The company is operating its silica and gold mills at the mine and up to this time about 100 tons of silica have been shipped. Both plants will be continued in operation, and after the Milwaukee plant goes into commission the working force at the mine will be increased in order to get out the required tonnage necessary to keep the mills working steadily.

If your piano needs tuning, William Leininger will take your order, and M. J. Olson will do the work. (6-28-1f)

CONCRETE CURB ASSESSMENT.
City Recorder J. D. West yesterday mailed notices to all of the taxpayers at whose properties concrete curbs were built this year. The city treasurer has been provided with a list showing the amounts assessed against each property and all taxpayers are expected to settle their accounts within sixty days. Eighty-six different taxpayers are on the list, and the amounts to be paid run from $5 up to $30 and over.

NO SCARCITY OF TURKEYS.
Approach of Thanksgiving Has Caused No Advance in Price of Poultry.

So far as the Ishpeming representatives of the wholesale meat concerns and the commission men handling poultry are able to ascertain, turkeys will be plentiful the coming Thanksgiving, but it is not expected that they will be much cheaper than they were last year. The wholesale price of turkeys is at present from sixteen to seventeen cents. Turkeys have not been in the usual demand this season, due largely to the fact that the weather has not been as cold as usual. The principal buyers of turkeys up to this time have been the hotels and restaurants. The market for chickens, ducks and geese is also steady, with no particular advance in the price in prospect.

Last Thanksgiving turkeys retailed here at from nineteen to twenty-two cents per pound; chickens retailed at from fourteen to eighteen cents. An Ishpeming dealer Saturday said that he had received very favorable quotations on Thanksgiving poultry, and he was satisfied that he will be able to sell both chickens and turkeys at a little under the prices he obtained last year.

A LITTLE BELOW RECORD.
1909 Ore Shipments Are Now Nearly Equal to Those of 1907.

Both the railway and lake trade for the entire Lake Superior region from which ore is being shipped is enjoying a period of old time prosperity. Not for several years has the closing month of the shipping season been marked with the scramble for tonnage that now exists. For the first time in two years the vessel owner does not have to leave his office to place his ships as the shippers are quite willing to do the calling. Orates have been restored to the basis of 1907, which is seventy-five cents from the head of the lakes, seventy cents from Marquette and sixty cents from Escanaba. The advance, however, has not made tonnage more plentiful as nearly all available tonnage is tied up on contracts. It is expected that the present rate will be continued throughout 1910, when it is generally predicted all ore records will be broken.

The ore movement last month was hampered somewhat on account of storms, which embraced the whole chain of lakes tying up scores of the largest carriers for some days. Notwithstanding the delay, 6,225,801 tons of ore were moved and the 7,000,000-ton mark would easily have been passed had weather conditions been favorable. The total shipments from the several ports in October last year were 5,099,110 tons, while in 1907 the total was 6,482,651 tons, or less than 200,000 below that in October this year. The total shipment up to Nov. 1 for the various ports in 1907 were 37,611,861 tons, while last year at a corresponding date the total was 21,760,072. The total tonnage moved up to Nov. 1 this year, was 35,295,341 tons.

IS ESTIMATED THAT NEARLY THREE THOUSAND HUNTERS FROM THERE ARE OUT AFTER DEER IN THIS PART OF STATE.

Officials of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company estimate that there are between 2,500 and 3,000 lower peninsula men hunting deer north of the Straits of Mackinac. This is, perhaps, the largest number that ever came from the lower peninsula, but it is doubtful if the number of deer killed will be as large as in former years. Only a small percentage of the lower peninsula men are hunting at points west of Negaunee, but there are quite a number in camps between here and Escanaba, along the line of the Northwestern system. There are a large number on the Menominee branch, and on the Marquette line leading to Watersmeet. The district east of Marquette is said to have a larger percentage of lower peninsula hunters than any other part of the upper peninsula.

Less than twenty deer in transit to lower peninsula points have so far passed through Negaunee. Sunday eight came from points along the Northwestern road between here and Escanaba, and on the Menominee branch, and on Saturday five passed through.

It is reported from Wisconsin that there are several thousand and many resident hunters in that state. In some parts of Wisconsin many deer are being killed. Practically every hunter's shack, as well as every abandoned lumber camp in the districts where deer are to be found in Wisconsin, are said to be occupied. In many places the owners of resorts had to refuse accommodations to late comers. Hunters have come from as far south as Kentucky and as far east as New York, and Illinois and Iowa are very largely represented.

The weather in Wisconsin has been about the same as it has been here since the opening of the season. A Negaunee man who returned from the woods yesterday said that there will be no good hunting until the ground is covered with snow.

Ban Johnson, president of the American baseball league, is among the hunters at Elmwood, on the Menominee range. He wired Clerk Wall, of Iron county, to issue a license for him and to deliver it to him at the Stager station.

INSTALLING PUMPING EQUIPMENT. Important Improvements Being Made at Street Railway Power Station.

The Marquette, County Gas & Electric company has begun the erection of a concrete pump house on the east side of its power station. William Treilcock, the Ishpeming contractor, is doing the work. A concrete fire wall, twelve inches in thickness, also being put in extending between the engine room and the boiler plant, and protruding about three feet above the roof.

The pump building will be seventeen feet in length, ten feet wide and fifteen feet high. One of the Worthington pumps used in Ishpeming's pumping station will be used for the erection of the new plant last year was recently purchased, and is to be installed. The pump has a capacity of 100,000 gallons in twenty-four hours. The company is at present using about 50,000 gallons a day for its boiler and engine water.

The question of extending the water main a distance of 1,700 feet to the power station was considered by the council at the September meeting. It is figured that it would cost over $500 the cost, but he advised the council that he would not take the water for his boiler plant, at least at the start. The work is to be done in the winter. In the event the council decides to extend the main the work will not be done until next year.

All of the lumber, Mr. Kepper had on hand at his mill at Turin was consumed by the blaze, the origin of which has not yet been determined. The lumber piles were about 600 feet distant from the mill, and the mill was not damaged. The lumber destroyed was valued at $5,000 and it was insured for $4,000.

Mrs. Martin was the recipient of a number of presents. Mr. and Mrs. Martin have been married forty-six years, and they are both enjoying excellent health.

A GREAT RECORD.

Dr. Leonard's Internal Pile Remedy Makes 98 Per Cent of Cures.

Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid has been tested in several thousand cases, and was successful in all but 2 per cent.

Hem-Roid's wonderful record is due to the fact that it is an internal remedy. The cause of piles is internal, and it is too much to expect to cure piles with ointments, suppositories or operations. Hem-Roid cures the internal cause.

ISHPEMING

FROM MORGAN'S CURE LETTER.

A higher range of prices was shown at the opening in New York, and while trading was light advances were the rule. The copper and smelting stocks were decided features. Wall street is very bullish on coppers and expects great things from the copper combination.

The Boston market today was sufficiently active to please the most enthusiastic bull, the Cole-Ryan stocks leading in the trading, closely followed by the Gutzenheim issues. Boston predicts higher prices for all the coppers, such as 20 for Greene, 100 for Amalgamated, 40 for Butte Coalition, etc. These figures may be extravagant, but all seem agreed that a higher level than the present will be reached on this movement. The market is broad and nearly every stock on the list is participating in the trading.

The cubs were but slightly affected by the activity in the listed stocks, but any trading resulted in higher prices. New York sends the following: Dow, Jones & Co. are out with an article saying that the new copper combination will have a capitalization of $1,000,000,000, that the financing is being arranged by Morgan, National City and First National bank interests, and that the combination will include the Amalgamated, Gutzenheim, Phelps-Dodge, and Cole-Ryan properties. They say that some official announcement can be expected in the very near future. The latest from one of the more important news agencies is to the effect that the proposed copper combination will include the following properties: Amalgamated, Anaconda, Boston & Montana, Parrot, Butte & Boston, Washoe, Calumet & Arizona, Superior & Pittsburg, Utah Consolidated, Utah Copper, North Butte, Butte Coalition, Nevada Consolidated, Cumberland Ely, Greene Cananea, Giroux, United Metals Selling company and International Smelting & Refining company.
