MARQUETTE, MICH., AUG. 3.

Entered as second class matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

The question that bothers Senator Burrows most now is whether he can get back or not.

Detroit is going to have an election on the proposition to take over control of her street railway system on the 15th inst.

Senator Burrows doesn't have to consult a map before making a speech.

It is an open secret that the production of copper has for some time been slightly in excess of consumption.

Looked at from a distance, it would seem that the Ohio Republican have hard task before them to carry the state in the pending election.

It is strong evidence of the satisfaction of the people of this county with their county officials that there is no opposition to the re-election of each and every one of them.

erty in the state of which this can be said? If a belief exists among the farmers of the state that the mining properties of the upper peninsula are not being taxed sufficiently it is a mistaken one.

It does not require the election of Mr. Kelley as governor to put the state in a position to place the valuation of all classes of property on an equitable basis for the purpose of making them bear their just share of state taxation.

Copper Country

DANGER TO THE TREES.

Codling Moth Appears in an East Houghton Residence Street.

There is danger of the impairment of the beauty of College avenue, the pride of Houghton, unless something is done to cut short the stay of an unwelcome visitor which has appeared and taken up his home in the trees...

The presence of the moth was made known a few days ago by Dr. Wilson, of the Canadian Bureau of Mines, who was here in conference with Dr. A. C. Lane of the state geological survey...

The cocoons are easily noticeable as they cling to the surfaces of the trees, caterpillars, with long, yellow and black crests, with horns. The caterpillars start up the trunks of the trees and their progress is slow, but eventually they arrive among the leaves and there...

DEATH OF MRS. AGNES BEEHLER.

One of the Oldest Residents of the Copper Country Passes.

Mrs. Agnes Beehler died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herman Guck, Eighth and Pine streets, Red Jacket, Calumet. Mrs. Beehler was eighty years of age, but up to within a few hours of her death had unimpaired faculties and enjoyed excellent health...

Mrs. Beehler was of German birth, but came to the United States with her parents in 1849, when she was three years of age. She was raised at Alton, Ill., was married there and her only son was born there, Otto Beehler, now of Calumet...

The deceased was known to all of the older residents of the copper country and they mourn her death as that of one of the last of the older pioneers. She is survived by one son and five daughters...

LeMoine, who has been at the Huron Mountain club, returned to Chicago last evening. Mrs. Chas. Sehoeh and son Stanley leave this morning to spend a month in Saginaw and Detroit. Mrs. Minnie Hanck has gone to Eau Claire, Wis., to visit relatives. She will spend the coming winter in California. Mrs. A. C. Richards, of Oshkosh, wife of the senior member of the Decorating company, has arrived in the city. The Modern Brotherhood of America will give a social hop at Bureau's Hall this evening. The Peetless orchestra will play. Misses June Ward, of Chicago, and Lorain Baker, of West Chicago, and Miss Ruth Reichelt are guests at George McCombs' home. Mrs. E. P. Reynolds, of Escanaba, who has been visiting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCombs, left last evening to visit in Calumet. Jay Hamilton has given up his berth on the Marquette baseball team and returned to Newberry, where he has a position as baggage man at the South Shore depot. The Decorating company has taken the contract for painting and decorating the new Presbyterian church at Gladstone, which, when completed, will be a handsome edifice. The contract is for both the inside and outside work. A special meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. J. R. McPherson, 134 West Prospect street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. A good attendance is desired, as plans for the district convention to be held here next month must be disposed of. Michael Kelly, formerly a resident of this city, of the Wm. Collier Co., producing "A Lucky Star," is in the city for a few days. The company closed its season in Seattle, and Mr. Kelly took advantage of the opportunity, while on the way east, to visit friends here. Funeral Largely Attended—The funeral of the late Henry B. McLaughlin, held from St. Peter's cathedral yesterday morning, was largely attended. Among those present were the following members of Mineral King lodge, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, of Escanaba, of which the deceased was a member: E. LaPlant, J. Kehoe, R. M. Bryan, N. Wallershem, E. Peppin, E. F. Vager, John O'Brien, C. Morrow, Geo. Cooper, L. Lenhart, J. Drozdowsky, T. Keiter, A. Anderson and George Harvey. The first six mentioned acted as pall bearers. Advised Paddling Walls—The committee on supplies and expenditures of the county board of supervisors met yesterday and heard the report of an expert on how to improve the paddling properties of the court room. He advised paddling the front and back walls with felt and covering with burlap as the most practical way of accomplishing the desired result. He declared that the dome above or the galleries did not cause the reverberations, but that they were due to sounds striking the hard walls. The committee will recommend that these suggestions be carried out. Kaula Exhibition—The exhibition of Kaula paintings at the Guild Hall attracted a good number of interested visitors yesterday afternoon, who thoroughly enjoyed the pictures. The little water color, "Evening Cabin," with its quiet, restful composition, was greatly admired, and many of the cloud studies were especially praised. Lee Laifkin Kaula's lovely "Reflections," and her bright panels, were much spoken of. The Art league has sold two of the and a piling mass of rosy clouds over a peaceful landscape. Many of those present said it was the most delightful exhibition the Art league has given this year. The Guild Hall will be open this afternoon, from 2 to 6, which will be the last chance to see the work of these two highly gifted painters. Substitute for White Pine—James D. Sherman, a timber estimator of this city, is quoted as follows in a newspaper dispatch from Chihuahua, Mex.: "The Madera Lumber company is preparing to bond its three-million-acre timber tract in this state. James D. Sherman of Marquette, Mich., a timber expert, is inspecting the timber holdings in behalf of the bonding syndicate. Mr. Sherman says: 'It is the largest single tract of timber upon the American continent held by an individual company. Within a year, when the lumber mills now under construction are finished, this company can put more lumber on the market than any company in the United States. The mills will have an aggregate capacity of more than one million feet of lumber every twenty-four hours. I inspected about 800,000 acres, and that contains between eight and nine billion feet. Most of the timber is Mexican sugar pine, and will grade up well with the white pine of the United States. I believe that in time it will take the place of American pine. There is between four million and five million acres of commercial timber adjacent to the new town of Madera.'"

Guild Hall Notes The class in swimming, for children under eight, will meet this morning at 10 o'clock. The regular weekly meeting of the B class will be held in the assembly room tonight at 8 o'clock. The Ethelo club will meet at Guild Hall this afternoon at 1:30 sharp. Every member should be present. Special business. The E class baseball team will play the Invincibles on Longway field this afternoon at 2:30. The Invincibles defeated the Ethelo club ball team yesterday afternoon by a score of 13 to 0. The teams this afternoon are evenly matched and the score should be close. The "Has Beens" expect to defeat the regular Guild Hall baseball team a second time in a seven-inning game on Longway field this afternoon at 5 o'clock. As the Guild Hall team has been considerably strengthened since the game with the "Has Beens" two weeks ago, the game this afternoon should be close. Mr. Fox will pitch for the "Has Beens" this afternoon. SIDNAW DEFEATS EWEN. The newly organized baseball team of Sidnaw went to Ewen Sunday and won a double header from the Ewen club. There was much excitement at the games. The morning game opened up with Morty Lamere on the mound for Sidnaw, and he was opposed by Howard Matthews for the Cubs. Handsome Morty laid it on the Cubs from the first. He struck out fourteen men in seven innings in a seven-inning game. Sidnaw was ragged and the Cubs managed to get eight men across the plate, while the Sidnaw's got ten. The afternoon game started with handsome Morty again in the box for Sidnaw, and he was opposed in this game by George Hatfield. Hatfield only stayed in the game three innings, when he told his manager that he couldn't stop the awful slugging of Sidnaw. The old reliable Meagher was then sent in to finish the game but the fusillade of hits couldn't be stopped, and at the end of the ninth inning Sidnaw had gathered ten runs to the Cubs two. Morty finished the afternoon game in splendid form, having fifteen strikeouts in sixteen innings during the day. Tat Goulette and Collins both starred in the batting for Sidnaw, and it was by their good hitting that Sidnaw won the morning game. In the fifth inning the score stood six to one in favor of the Cubs. In this inning Lamere struck out four men and still Ewen scored two runs when Jaynt, the catcher, let the third strike get away from him on three different occasions. ACUTE OR CHRONIC--WHICH? WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, Aug. 2.—Paine, Webber & Co. have this to say of today's stock market: "More favorable crop news, particularly with regard to corn, was the prime factor in causing a better feeling to prevail with regard to the security market today. The liquidation during the early trading was not as pronounced as heretofore and trading on the decline became dull with the result that when short covering started the offerings were relatively light and advances were easily recorded. The absence of a satisfactory explanation with regard to the heavy selling of the Hawley issues yesterday did much towards undermining confidence, but the fact that the issues were well supported today had an assuring effect on the general market. We would not be misled by the present show of strength and would continue to lighten lines on the recoveries and confine purchases to the occasional drives which seem likely to occur with considerable frequency under existing conditions."

Who Made the Constitution The public official who has spoken an oath to support the constitution of the United States must never forget that the press, under the inspiration of Alexander Hamilton, John Jay and James Madison, caused the adoption of the very state paper they obligate themselves to uphold and defend. Washington statesmen who are grieved at the interest taken in national affairs by the newspapers would profitably familiarize themselves with the overprinting part these three men, serving as journalists, had in this work.

Yates and Lansing, delegates to the constitutional convention from New York, contemptuously denounced the form and matter of the document, claiming that it would destroy the "sovereign power of the states." These believers in "states' rights" began printing pamphlets and furnishing letters to the newspapers, signed "Publius" and "Cato," protesting against the adoption of the dangerous constitution.

The impression they were creating professed, when three young men invoked the aid of the press and supplied the immortal series of articles bearing the signature "Publius." Their vehicle was the New York Independent Journal, issued by J. McLean, at 41 Hanover square. Twice a week those brilliant arguments in favor of a union of the states, one and inseparable, were flung broadcast. They were republished, even by editors who did not agree with the articles or who believed they could answer them.

This joint work of Hamilton, Jay and Madison was sufficiently lasting to have saved the southern states from rebellion, had copies of the collected letters of "Publius," under the title of the Federalist, been in the possession of every household before Madison and Dixon's line—Julius Chambers, in the Forum.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 2.—Summarizing today's copper stock market, Paine, Webber & Co. say: "The Boston market was very strong and fairly active during the latter part of the session. Lake Copper was again in very good demand, selling up over two points. We think this rally will continue, as all urgent liquidation seems to be over for the time being. The New York market was very strong, the shorts covering very freely. The cotton report, although not of the

THINK IT OPENS TAFT CAMPAIGN

Senator Crane's Western Trip Considered Significant by Washington Politicians.

He Will, It Is Said, Attempt to Unite the Republicans—The President More Interested in Legislation Than Reelection.

Washington, Aug. 2.—President Taft's decision to send Senator Crane on a long Western tour is regarded here as the most important political movement of the season, or, in fact, made by the Taft administration. Whether rightly or not, Washington is inclined to believe that the Crane journey marks a definite step toward the reformation of the party regarding the Ohio Republican convention has declared expressly for Mr. Taft's renomination and the leaders recognize that unless a harmonious programme is marked out now and arrangements are made long in advance to head off more radical candidates and issues, the party will split which will promise badly for its success at the polls. The party already is sharply divided, with Taft the recognized leader of the conservative forces, and Senator Cummins of Iowa, Beveridge of Indiana, La Follette of Wisconsin and other heirs apparent to the presidential chair, leading the radical or progressive wing. The fight of these men for control of the senate is only preliminary to their activity in the presidential field, in the opinion of careful observers.

The notion that President Taft has deliberately set in motion machinery for his own renomination is, however, inconsistent with his record so far. The president has braved the dangers of defeat rather than yield his position on many legislative measures. He has said repeatedly that the problems of 1912 must be met by new methods at that time, and he impatiently, if not angrily, retorted in this strain to senators who have suggested to him regarding some special situation that his course might endanger his chances of renomination. Washington has become convinced of the president's sincerity respecting his future, and the suggestion that Senator Crane's Western trip has reference to it must be explained with the further suggestion that Senator Crane is a practical politician of the most consummate skill, if President Taft is not. No one knowing Senator Crane could conceive of his roaming over the country, interviewing the strongest politicians on all sides in every state, without realizing that he would throw up to them a graphic picture of what political results might be if certain lines of policy were pursued. These suggestions could not do otherwise than take the form of a more or less definite political programme.

As for President Taft, it will be conceded that his chief interest for the next two years will be in completing his circle of legislative reforms. His ambition is legislative, not political, and already his list of important bills passed is a record breaker. Mr. Taft, while in the moment apparently aligned politically with the conservative wing of the party, is at heart progressive if not radical. Senator Crane is essentially a conservative, but above all a Republican and, owing to his peculiar position in the senate, ardently desirous of keeping peace in the party. This can be done, he believes, only by congress working harmoniously with the White House. He is, therefore, partly because of his loyalty to the party, and partly because he is held personally responsible for much that the senate does or does not do, in a peculiarly fortunate position, to represent both the Taft policies and the congressional view of them. What Senator Crane does is to know the people feeling regarding both. As to Secretary Ballinger, Senator Crane would be the last man who would undertake to ask him to resign, as his sympathies are with the secretary of the interior.

The unpopularity of the legislative programme of President Taft is still large and important. Legislation defining the power of federal courts to issue injunctions, to revive the merchant marine and creating a bureau of public health is promised by the national platform. Federal incorporation of industrial plants is a proposition personal with President Taft who, as a lawyer, recognizes the ever-increasing conflict between competition and government regulation. It was to remedy this inconsistency that the president desired railroads exempted from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust act, on the theory that congress provided equally effective control in the interstate commerce commission. The president may be expected to return to the subject of a federal incorporation when he believes public opinion is ripe for it. This may not be during his first term, but Washington believes such legislation must come in time. Mr. Taft is desirous also of reorganizing the government of Alaska and learning the truth concerning that much-lid-about territory. Of overwhelming importance also is currency reform, which should be accomplished during the president's first term. Both he and Senator Crane not only believe in the ability and sincerity of Senator Aldrich with respect to this subject, but they desire that the forthcoming report of the national monetary commission shall be approved by the people. Senator Crane is not an economist, but he never yet has been found lacking in practical information affecting bills before the senate. President Taft trusts him fully and often is guided by his judgment. An interesting disclosure would be whether or not the president has modified his congressional programme after his talk with Senator Crane. The junior Massachusetts senator does not believe in attempting too much and he has the politician's dislike of failure with any programme definitely marked out.

ACTORS' SUPERSTITIONS.

A Critic Who Has Something to Say About Them.

"The superstition of actors has long been proverbial," says George P. Goodale, the oldest dramatic critic in service in this country. "It is provocative of much patronizing laughter on the part of self-regarded superior persons, and it will probably continue its contributions to the gayety of nations until man shall have become superman. "Undoubtedly one of the greatest kinks on the stage in his generation was Edwin Booth; yet he never ceased to dread the peacock's feather that has always been the actor's special hoodoo. When the tragedian had finished Booth's Theater at Sixth Avenue and Twenty-third street, in New York, a friend whom he would not willingly offend presented to him a beautiful stuffed peacock with a majestic iridescent tail. Mr. Booth felt that he could not decline the well-meant offering; but within an hour after it was established in place on the top of his roll desk, he declared to another intimate that the house was doomed. And when, a few years later, he walked out of the magnificent structure, bankrupt in hope and purse, he recalled to that same friend his early declaration of doom. And all on account of a stuffed peacock!"

Those who have watched Mr. Goodale at baseball games—he is an inveterate "fan"—say that the hat episode can be traced to him.—Dramatic Mirror.

There is something more than idle superstition in the state of mind that moves the so-called superstitious, whether on the stage or not. It is a psychological condition, and often a demonstration of the potential power of thought. There is a certain well-known Detroit, who has had an indirect connection with the theater for half a century and who, therefore, has felt some touch of its influence. He is, likewise, a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan, and whenever the Tigers go wrong for want of a few timely safeties he turns his hat wrong end to. It is a coincidence that this movement generally corresponds to a radical change of fortune in the game. Of course it is no more than coincidence, but our fan cannot be argued out of a few timely safeties he turns his hat wrong end to. Perfume Refinement

Happy choice in perfumes indicates the refinement of the user as nothing else does. Mere scent is perfume no more than mere sound is music. It is the delicacy, the harmony of odor, the faint, elusive quality that only genius can create, that marks the high grade perfume. In selecting our stock we are guided by the verdict of competent judges, choosing those odors which have received the approval of refined people everywhere. All the popular favorites are here, and they are from the laboratories of the best perfumes in the world.

GREAT CHANGES AT COPPER MINES

CIRCUS HERE TODAY.

Campbell Bros' Shows Will Give Afternoon and Evening Performances.

Today will be circus day in Ishpeming. Campbell Bros., whose shows have been in the copper country the past two days, will exhibit on the vacant plat immediately east of the Union park. The circus will arrive in the city at an early hour and it is expected that the tents will be up by 9 o'clock.

The Campbell Bros. are cousins of the Ringling brothers, now the most famous circus men in the world. Their show travels in two trains of something over thirty double deckers. Campbell Bros. have had their circus out for more than a dozen years, having started in Wisconsin with a small wagon show.

Two performances will be given, the first at 2 o'clock and the second at 8 o'clock this evening. Judging from the following mention of the street parade on Monday's issue of the Calumet Evening News, Campbell Bros. have a good turnout:

"The parade of the Campbell Bros. circus, this morning was the largest longest seen here in several years. The open dens of wild animals being more numerous, and there being a fine display of led animals such as elephants, camels, buffaloes and zebras, while the horseback riders presented a fine appearance. The parade went to Houghton as well as traversing Hancock and Quincy streets in Hancock. It was a very creditable street pageant and drew many to the grounds to witness the afternoon performance."

Captain John Waters, who recently returned from a visit to his son, Roy Frank C. Waters, at the Atlantic location, in the copper country, visited many of the old as well as new mining properties in that district. Mr. Waters found many familiar sites at some of the older mines, where he worked in the early '90s. He arrived in the copper country from Devonshire, Eng., in 1862. He was engaged in mining work practically all his life, until he retired some years ago, soon after the American mine, of which he had charge, closed down. During his career as a miner he worked various kinds of mines, including copper, silver, lead and iron.

Captain Waters worked at the old Bohemian mine, located less than a quarter of a mile from the Lake property, forty-six years ago. Many of the sites at the Bohemian location looked familiar to Mr. Waters. He recognized the old shaft that he worked in and he found the place where the old mill stood; he also looked over the site of the boarding house, where he lived, with no little interest. Much of the Bohemian location is now occupied by houses erected by the Lake Mining company.

This was Mr. Waters' first visit to this place since he left there in 1864. He examined with a great deal of interest the copper ore being hoisted at the Lake mine, and he stated that it is identical to the same as the mineral bearing rock that was produced at the Bohemian. He is strongly of the opinion that the Lake and Bohemian are on the same lode and he also believes that the Algomah, a quarter of a mile south-east of the Bohemian, is also on the lode. At the Algomah the vein material has been stripped on surface for a distance of several hundred feet and Mr. Waters stated that it looked very promising to him. The Peacock ore, visible in the exposure, the captain declared, would be regarded by old Lake Superior miners as a positive indication that a much better grade of mineral lies deeper. The Algomah copper rock, he said, is identical to the same as that being taken from the Lake. The first shaft being sunk at the Algomah at the time he was there was only twenty feet in depth.

TOOK FIRST PRIZE.

Ishpeming Finnish Band Carried Off the Honors at Eveleth Contest.

Several members of the Ishpeming Finnish band, which spent last week on the Mesaba range, arrived home yesterday and others are expected this morning. The band took the first cash prize of $100 in the musical contest at Eveleth; the Virginia Glee club was awarded second prize, $75, and the Hibbing Glee club captured third prize, $50. The band participated in several concerts at Eveleth the latter part of the week and it proved to be one of the big attractions at the reunion. It filled an engagement at the picnic on Saturday and its playing was well appreciated.

Mike Skytte, president of the national association of this city, Professor Reima of the Finnish college of Helsingfors, Finland, and John R. Shields of Minnesota, gave several temperance addresses in range towns during the latter part of the week. It is likely that all of them will visit the copper country within the next week or ten days and it is also expected that Professor Reima will spend a few days in Ishpeming, and will probably speak here. Professor Reima plans on making an extensive tour of this country with a view to delivering lectures on temperance work.

NATIONAL TROUBADOURS.

Novel Entertainment Will Be Given Under Epworth League's Auspices.

The Epworth league of the First Methodist Episcopal church has closed a contract with the National Troubadours for an entertainment, to be given next Wednesday evening, the 10th, at the Ishpeming theatre. The entertainment will be something of a novelty and will consist of fifteen different acts, every one here before. Popular prices—twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents—will be charged. The Daily Free Press of Ft. Scott, Kas., said of the entertainment given there:

"When the National Troubadours appeared at Convention last evening under the auspices of the ladies of the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, they twanged a responsive chord in the hearts of the audience and every feature of the entertainment proved one of pleasure to the crowd. The entertainment had been advertised something different from anything that had been given in Fort Scott before, and it proved to be up to the advance notices in every respect. The entire performance went through without a hitch and no small amount of credit is due the performers themselves, as well as the director, Miss Edna Getzenauer of Chicago, whose feat of preparing the production for presentation is more wonderful when it is learned that less than ten days were consumed in the work."

NOTHING STRANGE ABOUT THE CURES

BEING EFFECTED AT THE FREE MEDICINE SHOW.

People All Over the City Telling of the Wonderful Results They Are Receiving.

While a great many people in talking about "Fazakerley" and the cures he has made in this city, seem to think they are miraculous, Fazakerley says they are not so, as the formulas have obtained for more wonderful results in other cities. This may be so, but if all the people who are getting well through his formulas would tell him the results they are getting, how they had regained their health when life seemed hopeless, he might change his mind. Everywhere one goes, the principal topic of conversation seems to be "Fazakerley." Cases of chronic stomach trouble, rheumatism and catarrh have been relieved in such a short time that people say, "it seems too good to be true."

Still there are many skeptics who must be convinced. Many who hesitate to take the step to good health, for fear that after all it might be a "fake." There are those who go down to the grave every day because they are too skeptical to try some simple remedy within their reach.

Mr. Gus Brandt of 120 Canda St., Ishpeming, is one who was not afraid to give the Fazakerley formulas a trial. He had suffered with head noises for 10 years, but was quickly relieved and the noises stopped by Fazakerley.

Mr. Wm. Marshall of 114 First St., Ishpeming, who has been a sufferer with rheumatism for 26 years and for the past 10 years has suffered with a stiff and painful ankle was relieved of all pain in a few minutes time by the Fazakerley remedies.

Fazakerley's office at 607 Third street is drawing crowds of sick and suffering daily. On account of the large crowds who visit the office, the hours have been lengthened and the office will now be kept open from 10 to 12—2 to 4 and 7 to 8 in the evening. Consultation, examination and advice are free to all.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Dr. T. A. Felch has returned from Bay View, where he spent two weeks. A concrete walk is being laid on the Pearl street side of the Anderson block. The regular monthly meeting of the council will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A special meeting of the local tent of the Lady Maccabees will be held this afternoon.

Mesdames J. M. Hayden and F. P. Tilson have gone to Grand Island on a week's visit with Mrs. Barnett.

Charles Gustafson of Lake Angelina underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday at the Ishpeming hospital.

Dr. W. S. Picotte, who has been in Montreal the past ten days or more, will arrive home this morning.

Garfield Skews, son of Thomas Skews, of Excelsior street, fell yesterday and fractured both his forearms.

Mrs. C. T. Hampton and family of Iron Mountain, formerly of Ishpeming, are spending a month at Grand Island.

Drs. H. S. Smith and R. A. Burke will leave today for Sault Ste. Marie to attend the annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Medical association.

Dr. G. G. Barnett has returned from Grand Island, where he accompanied his family Sunday. Mrs. Barnett and her sons plan to remain at the Island until Sept. 1.

F. P. Needham and family have returned from a month's outing at Grand Island. They were accompanied by the Misses Main, who spent the greater part of the month with them.

W. J. Kinsman, who had his leg quite badly injured about two weeks ago, when a suit case fell on it, is improving, and will be able to be out of the house within a few days.

FLAGMAKING IN FRANCE.

That unclean bandages and wound dressings from German hospitals are being used in the manufacture of flags for the French peasantry is the gist of information contained in a report of the commission on industrial hygiene, which has aroused a storm of indignation. "Several romancers," comments the Paris Matin "have prophesied this truly civilized and scientific mode of international war in which the enemy is exterminated by means of the pest germs of typhus and cholera propagated in cities and camps. As France and Germany, however, are at peace, the microbes mobilization seems to be premature and must be stopped." It is generally recognized that used hospital dressings are burned everywhere if the rules are obeyed, and the blame for the dangerous traffic is laid at the door of greedy janitors and charwomen, who pack the infected rags in bales and sell them to second hand dealers. The French customs officers say they are unable to confiscate the rags bought by dealers at the frontier. The stuff is perforce distributed, but not before it has been sorted by women and children—Chicago News.

Mr. Bryan says "he wants to be a Democrat without passing through a saloon." It is a desire hardly to be gratified, curiously enough, outside of the Southern states.—Buffalo Commercial.

HELPED SURVEY NORTH COUNTRY

Elias C. Martin, of Lansing, the Only Survivor of the Surveying Party That Ran the Lines Bounding Counties and Townships of the Upper Peninsula.

Tells How Michigan Lost and Wisconsin Gained Territory Between the East Branch and the Montreal River, Comprising West End of Gogebic Range.

One of the few of the earliest upper peninsula pioneers who is still numbered among the living is Elias C. Martin, who at present makes his home in Lansing. Mr. Martin is the only surviving member of the United States government surveying party that ran the lines for the different counties in the upper peninsula and laid out the townships. The work was started in 1845 and eight years later was completed. Mr. Martin and the other twenty-six members of the party living in the trackless woods, where for months they never saw a white man, their only neighbors being the Indians who at that time lived in their primitive fashion. Mr. Martin is now eighty-four years old. He was one of the assistants of Judge Wm. Burt, one of the familiar names in Marquette early history.

Mr. Martin not only has the distinction of having surveyed and laid out the counties and townships in the upper peninsula, but he also was the first steam ship launched on Lake Superior. That was the Independence, upon which he rode from Detroit to Sault Ste. Marie, where the boat, a propeller, was portaged around to Lake Superior. The Independence brought supplies to the few white people who were then in that section of the country, who were engaged in making lumber.

In 1845 he joined the U. S. government survey party which was headed by Judge Wm. Burt. The party consisted of twenty-six persons. Judge Burt, inventor of the solar compass, had been given the job of setting the upper peninsula off into counties and townships and there was an eight-year task ahead of him.

The party went by the way of Detroit to Copper Harbor on Lake Superior, where there was a small settlement of men engaged in working a copper mine. The provisions needed for the party were "packed" to the camps in the dense woods which had never heard the ring of the lumberman's ax. Their death knell, a few years later, was the work of subdividing the counties into townships was taken up. Posts were set and marks made that denoted the boundaries.

Mosquitoes Cheated Michigan. Mr. Martin declares that mosquitoes beat Michigan out of large tracts of land, although Wisconsin was a gainer through the activity of the pests. Captain Cram, who had been sent out by the government to run the boundary line between Michigan and Wisconsin, is blamed for it.

Mr. Martin, in regard to Michigan's loss, said: "Judge Burt ran the boundary between Michigan and Wisconsin from Lake Vieux direct to Lake Brule, about fifteen miles, while we worked there, and then after a visit to our camp, returned and completed the line between the Montreal river. Captain Cram had been sent over part of the course, and by following a branch instead of the main river, he cut the state of Michigan out of hundreds of acres of valuable land, now the west end of the Gogebic range from a mining range. His orders directed him to proceed to the headwaters of the Montreal but instead he stopped at a point where a branch entered the river. Captain Cram should have set his stone something like eight miles southwest of where he did fix it. The party had reported that they were nearly made distracted by flies and mosquitoes which infested the woods at the time they were running the lines."

Captain Cram also made trouble for Judge Burt by getting scared at the Indians with whom he made a treaty or signed agreement to the effect that all white men that came through that territory later, must pay tribute to the Indian survivors.

The party worked for years miles from any settlement and did not see a white man in months. There were a number of women in the party, wives of the surveyors, who braved the hardships of a life in the wilderness to be with their husbands. All members of the party were greatly surprised when they read in an old Michigan newspaper, months old, that the Mexican war was over. None had known that the United States had at war with that nation until a trapper brought the old paper into camp.

Mr. Martin saw Halley's comet in time. "I was but nine years old at the time," he said, "and when we first noticed it, a number of us school boys were going to a spelling match. Halley's comet was a tame affair this time. The first time I saw it, the head was apparently as large as a barrel and the tail extended across the sky. It was very brilliant and lighted the heavens. No one appeared to think it was anything unusual although the superstitious ones were somewhat awed."

CONTRACT NOT LET.

Water Board May Have to Change Plans for Purification Plant.

At the regular meeting of the water board last evening, the proposed building and sterilization plant for the treatment of the city water with hypochlorite of lime was the principal subject for discussion. Two bids for the construction of this plant were received, but the contract was not let, as members of the board were in doubt whether or not there was room for the building on the proposed site, without getting too close to the property line of the L. S. & I. railway. The board will meet at the water works Thursday morning to determine this matter.

The plans for the building recently drawn up by Hering & Fuller call for an addition onto the east side of the water works station about twenty-seven feet long, and several members of the board were of the opinion that the east end of this addition might come too close to the railroad track. If, after taking measurements on the ground, such should prove to be the case, it may be that the plans for the purification plant will have to be revised.

Fire Chief Maney and Fireman J. J. Donovan attended the meeting and made a request for $100 toward the expenses of the firemen who attend the upper peninsula tournament at Sault Ste. Marie week after next. The amount asked for was appropriated. It was stated that about twelve members of the fire department would attend the tournament. Chief Maney also asked the board to purchase 1,000 feet of new hose, but no action was taken on the request. The fire department was given permission to use some 500 feet of worn out hose on hand to cover the hose house floor. Other fire houses are said to be covered with old hose, which makes the floor warmer and prevents the horses from slipping when they rush out of their stalls to the wagons at the ring of the fire bell.

Miss Blanche Douglas, leading woman for the Pierce Associate Players, is a California girl, and was in the San Francisco earthquake. She wears as a mascot a locket of dull gold which came to her in rather an odd way. "I was staying at a hotel on Market street when the earthquake shock came," she says, "and I can't remember what happened from that time till the moment when I found myself in the street, dressed, my traveling bag in my hand, and hurrying along I scarce knew where I had gone a long way and was passing through a narrow street when a man ran out of a house behind me and shouted to me. I turned back and he rushed up to me.

"Please keep this till I come back," he said, thrusting this locket into my hand. I remember protesting that I didn't want to keep it. It seemed to me that I simply couldn't keep it. I turned back to tell the man so, but he had disappeared. I had no idea in my dazed brain but to find him and tell him that he must take his locket. I couldn't be responsible for it. I remember I rang incessantly at the door of the house I thought he had entered. As I stood on the steps a tall building up the street leaned outward and fell with a roar. If the man with the locket hadn't stopped me, I'd have been under that building when it fell. The escape brought me to my senses.

"No, I never saw the man again, and I have no idea who or what he was, but his locket certainly saved my life and I intend to wear it always."

Miss Douglas at the time this happened was reading a woman of the Valencia Theater Stock company, San Francisco.

THEATRICAL.

Pierce Associate Players. The H. E. Pierce & Co. Associate Players pleased another large audience at the opera house last evening, giving a second presentation of "Strongheart." The audience was delighted with the performance and already the Pierce players have won their way into the hearts and confidence of the Marquette theatricaling public.

Tonight the company will present a talking comedy, adapted from the German, entitled "At the White Horse Tavern." This play was declared to have been a scream by the copper country news, when it was played at Hancock and Calumet. There are some extremely amusing scenes, and the piece is genuinely funny and above the average in the charm of complication.

One of the features of "At the White Horse Tavern" is a rain scene, which, according to the Houghton Gazette, was the most realistic ever seen at the Kerlogge theater. This comedy is said to be particularly well adapted to the Pierce players and is claimed by those who have seen it to be one of the funniest farces put on in this circuit in years.

"At the White Horse Tavern" will be played tonight and tomorrow night, and the bill for Friday and Saturday night will be "The Squaw Man."

WILL HAVE FUR DEPARTMENT.

A. L. Huettner plans to have for New York next Sunday, where he will make his fall and winter purchases, and at the same time arrange for the shipment of his fur stock, which he will have on display here, the latter part of this month. He will announce his fur opening upon his return, which will be in about two weeks. While East Mr. Huettner will complete his purchases and expects to have one of the largest and finest lines of furs ever carried in this country. It will be to the advantage of intending purchasers to see this line of furs, for several reasons. Mr. Huettner is a thoroughly competent fur man, having been connected with one of the leading fur manufacturers of this country. Fittings and alterations may be made at his store, under his personal supervision at any time, all of which is quite essential in the ordering of a fur garment, where fit and quality is expected. The early information that Mr. Huettner will get while in New York will enable him to produce the latest modes far in advance of the season.

FRUITS FOR CANNING ARE VERY SCARCE

Dealers Report That Crop Is Short and That Prices Are Higher Than Usual.

Canned fruit is likely to be a good deal of a luxury the coming winter. Local grocers report that summer and fall fruits are scarcer and higher in price this year than for some time. In northern Michigan, the fruit and berry crop is almost a total failure, due to frosts in the late spring and to the early summer drought. Blueberries and raspberries are not to be found in sufficient quantities to pay pickers to go out into the woods and slashings for them, and the outside buyers who regularly come here about this time have ceased up this territory altogether this season. Even the home grocers cannot get enough berries to anywhere near supply their trade.

Generally speaking, the fruit crop in other parts of the country is poor. Peaches in lower Michigan are expected to be a fair crop, but they are likely to command stiff prices. Peaches now in the market are coming from Georgia and one dealer stated yesterday that he believed people could buy just as cheaply now as next month, when the Michigan crop will be put on the market. The apple crop in Michigan is a total failure and the west will have to be relied upon to supply the demand for this fruit.

Cantaloupes are scarcer than usual and are selling at higher prices than two weeks ago. Melons now in the market are shipped from Arkansas, but within a short time the Colorado crop will be ready for market. Vegetables are also hard to obtain and most of those in the market are of hothouse growth.

In the face of the shortage of the fruit crop the people of the present day are better off than those of former generations, at any rate, as the canneries and preserving companies are putting up all kinds of fruit, which compares very favorably with the home-canned article, and which is sold at prices within the reach of all.

MANY BIG FELLOWS.

Ten Thousand Ton Freighters Now Numerous on the Great Lakes.

There are now something like forty vessels on the Great Lakes, which will carry 10,000 tons gross or more. Four or five years ago, when the Ishpeming, the W. G. Mather and others began running into Marquette, they were wonders. They were the first 600-footers, a length which is pretty near the limit still, although the Thos. F. Cole and others are a little longer than 600 feet. The DeGraff, which was built last year, carries nearly 15,000 tons, and the George Baker has almost exactly the same capacity; in fact, there are a number of vessels that in a pinch can haul 10,000 tons by a couple of thousand. In the following list of about forty big vessels there is not one that does not carry more than 10,000 tons, the limit being about 13,500. The list of big fellows, some of which run into Marquette, is as follows:

Wm. B. Schiller, J. P. Morgan, Jr., Wm. B. Dickson, Wm. J. Olcott, Wm. P. Palmer, Eugene Buffington, DeGraff, Ward Ames, Matthew Andrews, George Baker, Frank C. Hall, Joseph G. Butler, Thomas F. Cole, William E. Corey, Rufus Cuddy, Henry C. Frick, Edith H. Gary, Harvey D. Goulter, A. H. Hawgood, Ishpeming, F. B. Jones, W. B. Kerr, Hugh Kennedy, James Laughlin, Thomas Lynch, Samuel Mather, Wm. G. Mather, Michigan, H. P. McIntosh, D. O. Mills, J. Pierpont Morgan, D. J. Morrill, J. C. Morse, Sheldon Parks, George W. Perkins, Henry Phipps, Norman B. Ream, Henry H. Rogers, Salt Lake City, Joseph Sellwood, J. H. Sheadle, William P. Snyder, Abraham Sterns, J. P. Sullivan, Charles Weston, A. B. Widener, Wilpen and others.
