

WELLMAN AND HIS FIVE MEN ARE RESCUED

Man's First Attempt to Cross the Sea in an Airship Ends in Failure, but the Leader of the Expedition and His Crew Are Safe and Sound.

Blown Far Out of Its Course, and Disabled, the America Is Sighted by a Steamship—Its Occupants Are Taken Off and It Is Abandoned to Its Fate.

On Board the Steamship Trent, at Sea, 12 O'clock, Midnight, Oct. 18.—The airship America, at five a. m. today, sighted us by the Morse code, and wireless played a wonderful part in requesting me to stand by her till daylight.

"We kept the boat close by her until dawn broke, when she signalled that she could not launch her lifeboat and asked me to keep close in order that a line might be attached. We made several futile attempts to attach a line, and then the America wireless that she would come down to the water as soon as possible and drop her boat, if I could stand by and pick the boat up."

"Meanwhile our lifeboats had kept close to the airship as possible, and finally she got all of her men in her boat and cut adrift at a height of about five feet from the water. This proved successful. The America immediately rose in the air and shortly afterward, at 8 o'clock, I had the pleasure of welcoming on board Mr. Wellman and his five lieutenants and the cat, which seemed little the worse for its aerial excursion. I then picked up the boat and proceeded.

"Wellman and his crew are honored guests on board. After a wash and a brush-up, they ate a hearty breakfast. The America was abandoned in latitude 35.18 north, longitude 68.13 west, 480 miles from Sandy Hook, and the craft is now having a great time among the clouds. The America is making a speed of about eight knots when abandoned and when released drifted to the westward. Her motor had been broken, and Wellman was out of his course. All hands are mighty glad at being rescued.

"CAPTAIN DOWN."

Airship a Battered Derelict. New York, Oct. 18.—Man's first attempt to cross the ocean in an airship has failed, but Walter Wellman, his five companions and the kitten are safe. The airship—the giant America—is a battered wreck, abandoned in the Atlantic, still in the air, perhaps sunk beneath the waves with its costly equipment. When deserted she had been in the air probably seventy-two hours—a new world's record for dirigibles—and, driven by the wind, had traveled doubtless eight hundred miles. Whether the distance record for dirigibles—870 miles—was broken remains to be computed.

Picked up by the steamship Trent early this morning, off the North Carolina coast, Wellman and his fellow air navigators are due in New York at noon tomorrow. They left the craft only because she was in distress, and perhaps blown so far from the lane of trans-Atlantic steamship travel that a continuation of the voyage with the British isles as the objective point was hopeless. So summing up aid by wireless, the difficult and dramatic transfer to the Trent was accomplished, and the America was left to the fate of the winds.

For an incident without a parallel in history—the transfer of passengers from an airship to a steamship—only meagre details were obtainable by wireless during the day, and accounts of the storm sweeping north from the tropics. It was learned, however, that Wellman had found it necessary to rid the airship of the burden of most of its gasoline, retaining only enough to reach land in the event that the Trent had not come to the rescue. When the steamship reached the site of distress, and drove near, Wellman shouted his predicament through a megaphone and decided that he would lower his lifeboat, which swung from the dirigible's bottom. As a precaution the Trent lowered her own lifeboats, which stood by until the transfer was effected and Wellman and his crew were safe aboard the liner.

Far Out of Its Course. Having been spoken by wireless presumably in the vicinity of Santsucket Sunday night, it was surprising, then, when the news came that the America had encountered the Trent, homeward bound from Bermuda, in a longitude and a latitude nearly four hundred miles southwest and only twenty-five miles northwest of the permanent. Thrilling when all the gasoline that could be spared was cast into the sea. It is probable also that the craft had suffered severely from the jerking of its rat-like tail or equilibrator, which served the triple purpose of an elongated gasoline tank, a balance and a wireless "ground." Wellman had flashed to Santsucket that this immense appendage, battered by the waves, had caused trouble and anxiety, necessitating the shutting off of the motors at times.

Relief Expedition Was Planned. Washington, Oct. 18.—News of the rescue of the crew of the balloon America reached Washington about the time that the navy department and the revenue cutter service, at the instance of President Taft, were preparing to despatch vessels to search for Walter Wellman and his party.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 18.—"My greatest sorrow lies in the terrible disappointment that it will be to my husband and the men of the America over their failure to reach Europe." This was one of the declarations of Mrs. Walter Wellman, wife of the head of the American expedition, this afternoon in discussing the rescue of her husband. "We are safe and well—Wellman." This was the message received by Mrs. Wellman here.

Will Make Another Try. Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 18.—Another attempt will be made to cross the Atlantic in a dirigible balloon within the next year, according to a wireless message received by President Joseph Salus, of the Wellman syndicate, tonight. The message was from Chief Engineer Melvin Vanniman, of the America, and was in answer to a query sent by Salus as to whether arrangements should be started for a new balloon trans-Atlantic trip.

Mr. Salus tonight flashed the following message by wireless to Mr. Wellman: "Thank God you and your crew are safe. Have greater confidence in you than I ever. Will expect you to return to Atlantic City to arrange for a future attempt to cross the Atlantic in a dirigible."

DAMAGE RUNS UP IN THE MILLIONS

Entire Florida Peninsula Swept by Fearful Tempest—Loss of Life Thought Heavy.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 18.—What will prove one of the most destructive storms in years last night and today swept the entire Florida peninsula, doing damage estimated at several millions. Forty thousand square miles of territory south of Jacksonville has been without communication with the outside world for more than twenty-four hours. The last reports from this region, embracing all the territory south of a line from Tampa to St. Augustine, told of hurricane winds hourly increasing and of rapidly falling barometers.

The orange crop in that territory and the vast trucking industry probably are ruined. Along the eastern coast many lives are believed to be lost. The maximum velocity—seventy miles an hour—was the record here tonight when the center of the disturbance appeared to have passed up the Atlantic coast toward Savannah. A heavy downpour accompanied the high winds everywhere. At St. Augustine houses in the business section are flooding tonight. The city is in darkness, and swelling seas are rolling over the sea wall. Not a word has come from Tampa since early this morning.

Key West, Fla., via Havana, Oct. 18.—A tropical hurricane took Key West in its grasp yesterday and tore away the roofs of houses, shook a number of buildings from their foundations, blew vessels from their moorings and did other damage, the amount of which cannot be estimated. Only three lives are known to have been lost. Shipping suffered severely. The wind reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 18.—At midnight Savannah appeared well within the influence of the West Indian hurricane. The wind is blowing sixty miles an hour. Only slight damage has been done so far. The cyclone is expected to break over the city tomorrow forenoon. The storm centers over northern Florida and is moving northwest along the coast.

Havana, Oct. 18.—After a continuous deluge of five days, the sun shone on Havana for a few hours this morning, only to disappear about noon behind dense clouds from which fell torrents of rain until midnight.

DRINKING BOUT HAS TRAGIC SEQUEL

Deaths of Four Switchmen at Chicago Are Attributed to Wood Alcohol.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Daniel J. Brennan of Columbus, O., Arthur Lowrey of Milwaukee and Clem O'Neill of Savannah, Ills., died here today from drinking wood alcohol. Brennan, Lowrey and O'Neill were seen with a fourth man, a number of friends indulged in a drinking bout Monday afternoon. All became ill Monday night. The police have arrested four men who were in the party Monday, pending an investigation. The police say that wood alcohol was mixed in the beer and whiskey. A pot of wood alcohol was found in the barn where the men were drinking.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Daniel Daley, of Chicago, one of the men held as witnesses, died tonight.

MRS. STELLA BARCLAY IS NOT TO BE PROSECUTED. Holton, Kas., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Stella Barclay will never be tried on the charge of kidnapping Marion Bleakley, "the incubator baby," about whom there was so much publicity a year ago. The two cases were tried together, and the charge of kidnapping and the other for assault, have been dismissed in the district court. Joseph Gentry and Joseph Tillotson, under the employ of Mrs. Barclay, took the baby from the home of C. H. Belknap of Topeka, after knocking down Belknap. They were convicted. Mrs. Barclay obtained the baby in St. Louis where it was being exhibited in an incubator. Later Mrs. Bleakley claimed it, and the Kansas court decided that it belonged to her. She has the child now. According to the ruling of an Illinois court, the child belongs to Mrs. Barclay.

GERMAN PILOT IS BELIEVED TO BE IN THE LEAD

Seven of the Ten Big Balloons Competing in the Contest for the James Gordon Bennett Trophy Are Still in the Air, According to the Latest Information.

Two of the Racers Land in Wisconsin, and a Third One in Michigan—The Others Supposed Either to Have Entered Canada or to Be Nearing the Line.

St. Louis, Oct. 18.—Heading straight across the Great Lakes, Captain Von Abern, the German pilot with the balloon Germania, is believed to be leading the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup which started from here yesterday afternoon. Somewhere within a radius of a hundred miles, over Lake Huron, the dispatches indicate that the America II, the Swiss Helvetia and Azura, the French Isle De France and the German Harburg III and Dusseldorf II are keeping close company with the leader.

H. E. Honeywell, in the balloon St. Louis, has landed in Michigan. Nothing definite has been heard at a late hour tonight from Colonel Theodore Schenk, in the Helvetia, or Lieutenant Messner, in the Azura. Jacques Faure, in the Conard, landed four miles north of Two Rivers, Wis., after sailing over the lake from Sheboygan.

Seven of the ten balloons are still sailing Michigan and some are thought to be either flying across Lake Huron or to have passed into Canada. St. Louis Von Plun, in the Million Population Club balloon, was forced to descend north of Racine, Wis., this morning at 7:25 o'clock, because of lack of ballast.

Leaving Milwaukee and flying at a high altitude, the aeronauts traversed a perilous stretch of more than one hundred miles of water. The America II, passed over Manistee, Mich., during the afternoon and others were reported over Muskegon, Shelby and Pentwater, Mich.

Sail Over Many Michigan Towns. Detroit, Oct. 18.—Most of the ten big balloons which started yesterday from St. Louis are reported as having passed over Michigan towns today. The course was reported to have passed over about 7 a. m. and back on the Lake Michigan shore at Manistee at 2:30.

Tonight two balloons that had crossed Lake Michigan appeared over Ludington. One was reported to be flying back over the lake toward the west, and the other was reported to be flying high toward the northeast. It was impossible to identify either. Altogether five balloons were sighted at Ludington today.

The Azura passed over Reed City at 10 o'clock p. m. and the Hamburg II two hours later. Succeeded by three unidentified balloons, they were sighted at Reed City. All were sailing northeast. At Hart, four balloons were seen during the day, one being taken for the Germania and another for the Conard, which later recrossed Lake Michigan and landed. An unidentified balloon was reported to have passed over over Lake Huron at Alpena late today.

Five balloons passed over West Branch, Ogemaw county, this afternoon. Only one—the Germania—was identified. North of West Branch the Germania passed so close to the ground that the pilot exchanged greetings with the children having recess at school.

Detroit, Oct. 18.—The balloon St. Louis, H. E. Honeywell, pilot, landed tonight near Hillman, Montmorency county, Mich. Honeywell said that he would have attempted to cross Lake Huron, but had run out of ballast.

WOMAN ARRESTED IN LOS ANGELES EXPLOSION CASE. San Francisco, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Belle Lavin, a lodging house keeper, in Mission street, was taken into custody this afternoon in connection with the Los Angeles Times explosion. She was arrested on a warrant from Los Angeles. She will be taken there tonight. The charge is withheld by the police.

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—It developed tonight that Mrs. Lavin was arrested on a Jane Doe warrant charging murder. She was booked as a fugitive from justice. The woman left for Los Angeles tonight. Mrs. Lavin figured in the investigation a few days ago when it was learned that the man known as "Percy" or "Smithy," one of the trio sought in the case, had lived at her house several weeks.

LENDERS OF MONEY DRAWING THE STRINGS

Operations of the Bulls in the Stock Market Are Less Aggressive Than Recently.

New York, Oct. 18.—The speculative movement in stocks showed signs today of an entry upon a new stage. Besides a normal speculative movement, it was evident that the course of the London money market was exerting more influence on the operations in the New York stock market than heretofore. International banking houses in New York, having occasion to negotiate in London, found a degree of discrimination against American borrowing that afforded sharp contrast with the recently ruling conditions. It was reported that private banking agencies gave as one explanation for the expected advance in the official discount rate of the Bank of England, Thursday, the determined disapproval by the authorities of that institution of the demand for credits in London for use in New York speculation. Whether on account of the changed attitude on the part of the foreign money lenders, or from other causes, the measures are being taken to prevent the speculative advance of the price of stocks were less aggressive today. United States Steel maintained its prominence, but sufficient offerings to beat down the price when attempts were made to lift it.

Reading and Union Pacific shared in the heavy tone of steel until the last fifteen minutes of the session, when the three stocks were pushed forward to the highest prices of the day in concert.

Grain Prices Little Changed. Chicago, Oct. 18.—Reports that the market was nearing an export basis had little to do with the fact that the final prices of wheat today were unchanged to 1/4 higher. This attitude, however, was not taken until after a period of extreme depression, during which the short selling was overdone and much liquidation took place on stop-loss orders. Ocean freight engagements for 500,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat were reported as a special shipment of Kansas wheat to Central America. The world's available supply showed no increase except in the United States and Canada. The primary receipts in this country were less than half of those of a year ago, and some instances of a decline for Europe exhibited an actual falling off. Early in the day, however, the attention was largely occupied by dispatches telling of continued rains in Argentina. The bearish effect of such reports was heavily emphasized by cablegrams asserting that the downpour had been reported for Fe and Cordova the precipitation, contrary to the first information, was light. By this time the selling flurry had exhausted itself, and there was a rapid reaction, with a firm finish. The December contract advanced to 94 and closed at the same figures.

Corn closed firm, 3/4 to 1/2 higher. The offerings were absorbed by the large, short and new investors. The country was selling less and the trade expected a lighter run next week. The December contract advanced to 45 1/2 to 46 1/2 and closed at 46 1/2. In the oats pit the buying was of an important sort, largely purchases for short shorts. The close was 3/4 to 1/2 higher, the December at 30 1/2.

STEEL TRUST HEAD REFUSES TO TALK OF RUMORED BREAK. Chicago, Oct. 18.—Elliott H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, when questioned tonight regarding a reported break between the Steel corporation and the jobbers, refused to say whether or not he had declined to comment upon press dispatches from Cleveland and Pittsburgh which said that the Steel corporation was establishing warehouses and had given up selling through jobbers. Judge Gary, as president of the American Iron and Steel institute, attended a banquet here tonight to the visiting steel men. Governor Deven was among the speakers. Judge Gary made a defense of men of great wealth, together with a warning against calamity bowlers. He asserted that love of country burns just as fiercely in the breasts of men of big wealth and affairs as in the breast of any politician.

COLUMBUS TRACTION MEN CALL OFF THE STRIKE. Columbus, O., Oct. 18.—The street car men's union, by a vote of nearly three to one, tonight called off the strike which had been in progress since June 24. The men have received no concessions from the company.

Walkout Averted at Winnipeg. Winnipeg, Oct. 18.—With a strike of all the employes on the Winnipeg Electric railway, called for four o'clock afternoon, the officials of the company and the labor leaders agreed to arbitrate just as the clocks were about to strike the hour.

INTERSTATE CONFERENCE ON THE FOREST FIRE PROBLEM. St. Paul, Oct. 18.—At a meeting of the Minnesota forestry board today tentative plans were outlined for a conference between the officials of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan to discuss the protection of the forests from fire. The conference will be held here Dec. 6 and 7, inasmuch as Governor Elmerhart last week issued invitations to the governors of Wisconsin and Michigan to attend. The invitations were accepted. Railroad men, settlers and lumbermen will be present.

PHILADELPHIA TAKES SECOND CONTEST, ALSO

Chicago Nationals Are Vanquished Again by the Champions of the American League, and the Defeat Is a Crushing One—Nine to Three Is the Score.

Coombs Pitches Erratically, Giving Many Bases on Balls, but Is Brilliantly Supported, Particularly by Collins—Brown Easy for "The White Elephants."

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—The American league champions this afternoon administered a crushing defeat to the National league champions. The score was Philadelphia, 9; Chicago, 3. Almost everything that goes into exciting baseball was in evidence. The hero of the game was "Ed" Collins, second basemen of the home team. Five times at the plate, he reached first every time, making three hits, two of them doubles, receiving a base on balls and making a force play. He scored two runs, and sent two home; accepted ten chances without an error; figured in two sensational plays that stopped Chicago from running bases, and stole twice on a King.

Work Behind Coombs Brilliant. Coombs pitched a most erratic game, giving nine bases on balls. He got in trouble in the first by giving two of the first three men up bases on balls. He got away with the inning with but one run against his team. At several other stages of the contest he was in trouble, but the brilliant work of the man behind him pulled him out of the difficulty. He managed to show better form when the bases were occupied. This is shown by the fact that Chicago had fourteen men left on bases.

Chicago's inside play did not seem to be in working order, for with men on bases and Coombs steadily some sharp pieces of holding work broke up the inning after there was every prospect of scoring.

Brown, for the Cubs, pitched fairly good in the early stages. The Philadelphia batters began to touch him up in the third, and in the seventh went to bat in this inning, and they scored six runs, making them on three doubles, two singles, a base on balls, an error and a sacrifice. After this inning he was taken out. He was succeeded by Richie. In the seven innings that he pitched, all corners of the field were hit thirteen times for a total of seventeen bases.

How the Runs Were Scored. Chicago scored the first run at the beginning of the game. After Sheekard had received a base on balls, he was forced out by Schulte. Hoffman was given four balls. A single lifted the bases. Schulte scored on Zimmerman's long sacrifice fly.

Fast double plays ended the chances of either team to score in the second. With two on bases in the third, and no one out, Chicago was unable to score, but the Athletics, in their half, forged to the front. Steinfield fumbled Thomas' grounder. Coombs struck out. Strunk singled. Lord forced Strunk at second, and Collins hit into left field for two bases, sending home both Thomas and Lord.

There was no more scoring until the fifth, when Philadelphia added another run. After Strunk had struck out, Lord singled and was forced by Collins. The latter made his second steal. He came home on Davis' single to left. The National leaguers scored their second run in the seventh. Brown struck out, and Sheekard sent a line drive into the crowd for two bases. Schulte lifted a fly to Strunk. Hoffman worked Coombs for his third base on balls. Coombs sent a single to center, and Sheekard crossed the plate. Coombs was forced out by Zimmerman.

Brown Batted Out. Then came the seventh. Collins led off with a base on balls and drew up at third on Baker's single. Davis hit to left field for two bases. Collins walked home, and Baker went to third. Hard-hitting Murphy sent a terrific drive into left for a double. Baker and Davis raced home. Barry sacrificed, sending Murphy to third, and the latter came home with the fourth run of the inning on Thomas' single. Coombs was an easy out. Strunk lined a two-base hit to right, scoring Thomas. Lord should have been an easy out, but Sheekard dropped his fly, and Strunk scored the sixth run. Lord went out in an attempt to steal second.

Chicago made one run in the ninth on Hoffman's single, an out and a two-base hit by Zimmerman. Score by innings: R. H. E. Philadelphia . . . 0 2 1 0 6 0 5 2 4 Chicago . . . 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 3 3 Batteries: Coombs and Thomas; Brown, Richie and Kling. Two-base hits—Tinker, Sheekard, Steinfield, Zimmerman, Davis, Murphy, Strunk, Collins. Hits—Off Brown, thirteen in seven innings; off Richie, one in one inning; off Coombs, eight. Sacrifices—Sheekard, Schulte (2), Barry. Sacrifice fly—Zimmerman. Stolen bases—Collins (2). Double plays—Collins to Davis (2); Murphy to Thomas; Tinker to Chance. Left on bases—Chicago, 14; Philadelphia, 9. Bases on balls—Off Brown, four; Murphy, Baker, Thomas, Collins, off Coombs, nine (Sheekard (3), Hoffman (3), Zimmerman, Kling, Tinker). First on errors—Chicago, four; Philadelphia, two. Struck out—By Brown, six (Strunk (3), Coombs (2), Barry); by Coombs, five (Steinfeld, Chance, Kling, Brown, Beaumont). Time of game—2:25. Umpire—At-the plate, Rigler; on the bases, Sheridan; left field, Connolly; right field, O'Day. The total paid attendance was 24,957, and the total receipts $35,137. The total receipts for the two days are $72,561.50; the share of the players is $39,183.21. The teams left here over the Pennsylvania railroad at 8:55 o'clock tonight for Chicago. They are traveling in two specials. The third game will be played Thursday.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Here tonight even money is offered, with takers, that the Chicago team will win Thursday's game, the first on its home grounds. Wagers of three to five that the National league champions will win the series also find takers here. Tickets for Thursday's game were disposed of today at hotel news stands at from $15 to $25 each.

Cincinnati Wins Ohio Championship. Cincinnati, Oct. 18.—Cincinnati, by defeating Cleveland today, won the state baseball championship. Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati . . . 8 8 1 Cleveland . . . 5 12 1 Batteries: Suggs, Gaspar and McLean; Falkenberg, Mitchell and Adams.

Giants Beat Highlanders. New York, Oct. 18.—The National league team today won the fifth game of the post-season series. Score: R. H. E. Nationals . . . 5 6 2 Americans . . . 1 6 0 Batteries: Mathewson and Myers; Fisher and Mitchell.

DIETZ AND FAMILY HALED INTO COURT

They Are Arraigned at Hayward, Charged With the Killing of Deputy Sheriff Harp.

Hayward, Wis., Oct. 18.—John E. Dietz, wife and son Leslie were arraigned here today, charged with killing Deputy Sheriff Oscar Harp. The court room was crowded. Twenty deputies who took part in the capture were ready to testify.

Sheriff Madden was the first witness. Attorney Rubin, representing the Dietz family, asked him why he did not serve the warrants on Dietz. "Because I was afraid of him," said the sheriff. Sheriff Madden declared that the reason the warrants for the last two days had not been served was because Dietz was a "dangerous man."

The sheriff, speaking of the shooting of Myra Dietz, admitted that he did not see a gun in the hand of any of the Dietz children. Walter Burke, who was with Deputy Harp on the day he was killed, said he thought the shot which killed Harp came from the Dietz barn, but he was not sure. The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow.

Ashtand, Wis., Oct. 18.—Myra Dietz left Ashtand for Hayward late this afternoon. Her attorney promised that she would not sleep in jail tonight. "Miss Dietz said: 'I am not strong yet, but I am feeling well. I have been treated kindly since I arrived in Ashtand. The treatment I received for the two days in Winter, after being shot, was vile.'"

EPISCOPALIANS REFUSE PLEA OF NEGROES

Colored People Not to Have a Bishop of Their Own—Divorce Canon Strengthened.

Cincinnati, Oct. 18.—An amendment to the constitution of the Protestant Episcopal church calling for the establishment of missionary districts along racial lines was voted down by the house of deputies at the triennial convention today. The negroes have long wanted a bishop of their own, but the vote today quies this suggestion. In the house of bishops the provision in the canon regarding marriage and divorce that gives the clergyman latitude in marrying the innocent party to any divorce was repealed. The canon now holds that divorced members of the church cannot marry.

DR. CRIPPEN ON TRIAL AT LONDON FOR HIS LIFE. London, Oct. 18.—Dr. Crippen's trial began today. He is charged with the deliberate murder of his wife. The jury, a typical body of middle-class tradesmen and clerks, was secured with but little trouble. Dr. Crippen pleaded not guilty. The prosecution made the opening statement. At the conclusion of the prosecutor's address the taking of testimony was begun.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED GRAPTERS OPENS AT SPRINGFIELD TODAY. Springfield, Ills., Oct. 18.—State Senator Stanton C. Pemberton of Oakland and Representative Joseph S. Clark of Vandalia will face a jury trial in the Sangamon circuit court tomorrow morning. They are charged with conspiracy to accept bribes in connection with the letting of the contract for the new statehouse furniture.

POSTOFFICE DEFICIT IS LESS THAN SIX MILLION DOLLARS. Washington, Oct. 18.—An indicating the postoffice department's best approaching state of self-support, Postmaster General Hitchcock today announced that the deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, amounted to only $5,868,482, as compared with $17,479,770 the preceding year.

MR. TAFT PAYS A VISIT TO ELLIS ISLAND

President Has His First View of the Famous Station Where Multitudes of Aliens Undergo Their Initial Gruelling on the Road to American Citizenship.

It Is a Happy Occasion for Nearly a Score of New Comers, for the Nation's Chief Reviews a Number of Appealed Cases and Proves a Lenient Judge.

New York, Oct. 18.—President Taft had his first view today of Ellis island, where the aliens of many countries undergo their first grueling on the road to American citizenship. The human interest side of the work at the station appealed to the president keenly as he saw the process of handling the aliens from the moment of landing up to the moment of their final discharge, when with tear-streaming eyes, they rushed into the arms of waiting friends and relatives.

Nation's Chief a Lenient Judge. The president sat with Immigration Commissioner Williamson during a number of appealed cases. Mr. Taft proved a lenient judge and it was a happy fate which brought nearly a score of rejected immigrants to the bar for final decision on the day of the president's visit. The president took a hand in the examination of practically all the immigrants who came up on appeal.

There were Slavs, Poles, Greeks and Italians; but the most interesting case was that of a Welsh miner and his family of seven motherless children. The president personally directed that the family be admitted and declared that if he were a judge of human nature the seven children would go into the best type of citizens. When the president asked him what funds he had, the man—named Thornton—replied: "One hundred and sixty-five dollars and two hands."

While Mr. Taft was examining Thornton, he asked the immigrant if he knew who the president of the United States was. The man promptly replied: "Yes, president Taft," and he did not seem a bit excited when the commissioner informed him that the gentleman with whom he was talking was the president himself. Thornton bowed politely.

Mr. Taft Reaches Three Conclusions. As a result of his observations Mr. Taft had reached a conclusion on three points: First, he believes a strong effort should be made to distribute the influx of foreigners and do away with the present congestion in New York.

Second, he believes heavier penalties should be exacted of steamship companies for infractions of the immigration rules, so as to make them more strict in the examination of emigrants before shipping them.

Third, he believes that all male emigrants should be put through an examination as to the condition of the families left behind in Europe.

Finds G. O. P. Leaders Worried. Mr. Taft devoted several hours this afternoon to political questions regarding the situation in New York state. He saw the Republican state leaders, who made no attempt to disguise the fact that they are considerably worried over the outlook. One quite distinguished leader put it in this way: "We could not win without the colonel. It looks, if we are defeated, it may be because of the attacks on the colonel. The president was not inclined to take a pessimistic view."

OSBORN AND CODD TALK TO BIG CROWD AT STURGIS; ASSAIL MR. HEMANS AGAIN. Sturgis, Mich., Oct. 18.—Repeating his charge that Lawton T. Hemans was purposely juggling the campaign issues in a frantic attempt to make votes for himself, Chase S. Osborn yesterday addressed one of the largest crowds ever assembled here. The speaker pointed to what he called the drowsy and disinterested legislative record of Mr. Hemans and added that the Democratic candidate was unjustly branding himself as a reformer. It was also said that Mr. Hemans was taking a step backward, and he sought to arouse sectional strife and class hatred by his differing taxation arguments.

Ex-Mayor Codd of Detroit also attacked the policies, utterances and general campaigning methods of the Democratic gubernatorial candidate. He wound up his address with a strong plea for more complete organization in behalf of the Republican party throughout the state.

GAYNOR TO BE MR. TAFT'S GUEST AT THE WHITEHOUSE. New York, Oct. 18.—Mayor Gaynor will be the guest of President Taft at the White House Saturday and Sunday, next. The announcement was made tonight that the president had extended an invitation, and the mayor had accepted. During his stay at the executive mansion Mr. Gaynor will attend a dinner to be given Saturday in honor of Yukio Ozaki, mayor of Tokio.

SENATOR PAGE REELECTED BY UNANIMOUS VOTE. Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 18.—Both branches of the legislature today unanimously voted for the reelection of United States Senator Carroll S. Page. Mr. Page is a Republican, but his name was presented by a Democrat. Tomorrow the two houses will meet in joint session to complete the election.

Those Athletics must have been playing possum with the All Stars.

Chief Bender was certainly bending 'em in a most deceptive manner at Shibe park Monday p. m.

It still remains the great American game. There is more interest in the pending championship series than there was in the last big prize fight.

With both candidates for mayor emphatic in their stand against traction franchises, it would appear that Detroit is not far from M. O.

A short time ago there was much talk of a third party, to be formed for the accommodation of the progressive. Now it appears that if we have a third party it will be framed up to take care of disgruntled regulars.

Roosevelt in 1912 isn't an issue in New York. Candidate Stimson says so, and Mr. Bannard, speaking for President Taft, backs him up. Honesty and decency in government in 1910 is the thing really at stake.

A party of Isbepmen plan to complete a motor car trip to Milwaukee in one day. And they ought to be able to do it, thanks to the progress Marquette and Dickinson counties have made with the good roads movement the past two years.

There isn't a single one of those Republicans—fortunately they are not many—who say they are going to vote for Mr. Hemans who can give a reason for his prospective course that will stand the rigid scrutiny of plain, everyday common sense.

There is some disposition to protest because Colonel Roosevelt has been invited to speak on the campus at Cornell University. If the students at Cornell, in a leisure hour, are to have the opportunity to hear the colonel they are fortunate. The Democrats, instead of protesting, should hurry on their candidate, Mr. Dix, for a similar appearance, and Mr. Stimson should be secured, too. The education of college men in political matters is a thing that, as a rule, does not receive all the attention it should. Nothing could do the undergraduates at Cornell more good than a series of stirring talks on the live issues being fought out in New York. Anything that will encourage the class of men in our colleges to take an active interest in politics and other questions of general public concern is to be heartily encouraged.

A detailed examination of the Dietz premises at Cameron dam has uncovered seven rifles, three revolvers, three shot guns, set to wing intruding deputies, three large bear traps, planted to get "invaders" and not bears, and several thousand rounds of ammunition. Homesteader Dietz had evidently been preparing for war for many months. But the battle he put up was hardly in keeping with the formidable character of his arsenal. If he had been as bad a man as he thought he was he would have sent the women in his party through the lines of besiegers and given his assailants a fight to a finish. But Homesteader Dietz seems to be not a bad sort of fellow who has been given an exaggerated sense of his importance by the failure of the peace officers to bring him to time several years ago, and is a man with a feeling for theatrical situations and values rare in a real backwoodsman. Henceforth, in jail or out, he will doubtless be a more normal man. His bubble has been pricked.

The Wisconsin supreme court has ruled on the rather unusual case presented by the fact that Frank T. Tucker, the La Follette candidate for attorney general in the recent primaries, who killed himself before the election, but whose names could not be removed from the ballot because of lack of time, was nominated for that office by an overwhelming majority. The state central committee put on the ticket, to fill the vacancy, C. H. Crownhart, a prominent La Follette leader. Now the supreme court has held that Judge Levi H. Bancroft, who was the candidate in the primaries of the anti-La Follette faction, and who polled many thousand fewer votes than the deceased Tucker, and not Crownhart, is entitled to the place on the ticket. As the court has the last word Bancroft will be the candidate whose name will appear under the Republican vignette. There is some talk that Crownhart will be induced to run as an independent. The La Follette leaders are loath to see as important an office as attorney general get away from them, when they had the votes in the primary to name whomever they might have wanted for the place on the ticket.

The state board of health is giving its assistance to Secretary Murray, of the board of corrections and charities, in his efforts to secure improvement of the conditions prevailing in many county jails and infirmaries. Dr. F. W. Shumway, the health board's secretary, has ordered the jails in Lake and Manistec counties closed before October 24. If there are any prisoners in the jails on that date they must be taken to other quarters, the order reads. Inspection of these jails showed their condition to be unsanitary. The Grand Traverse county officials were ordered to close their poor house, and those of Cheboygan county to clean up their jail and do away with overcrowding. The board of health is to be commended for the effectual manner in which it is co-operating with Secretary Murray.

It is said that not only will Governor Carroll not immediately appoint a successor to Senator Dolliver, but that he will probably announce that he will allow the vacancy to continue until the legislature fills it, after the first of the year. Governor Carroll is being given a hard race for re-election by his Democratic opponent. There is much Republican disaffection in Iowa. If the governor should appoint a senator, it would be accentuated, for he would be certain to displease either one or the other faction. Unless he specifically states that it is his intention to allow the vacancy to exist until it is filled by the legislature, his probable attitude after election will furnish grounds for discussion and suspicion. It is said that the complexion of the Republican majority in the next legislature, if the Republicans have a majority, will be progressive. But many of the candidates for the legislature are "regular" in their sympathies, and the "regulars" will have a goodly representation. The death of Senator Dolliver opens a political problem in Iowa that all the leaders are reluctant to see forced on the state's attention, as they were hopeful that, following the November election, there would be a period of comparative inaction in politics, during which factional feeling would have an opportunity to subside. But now, if there is a strenuous fought battle for the senate, it will be revived again, and doubtless be kept alive for an indefinite period.

The best good fortune that anyone has had any right to hope for Walter Wellman has come to pass. His expedition is wrecked. The America is lost, abandoned and adrift somewhere in the Atlantic. But these things were foreseen. Wellman and his companions on his venturesome voyage are safe and well, picked up by a steamer, after their airship had gotten into serious distress. There will be great relief at this knowledge. There is nobody but would have sincerely sorrowed if they had been vicarious sacrifices to their daring ambition to travel across the Atlantic by the air route. The fiasco of their expedition indicates how truly fortunate it was that Mr. Wellman and his fellow adventurers failed to get fairly away from their aerial voyage to the north pole during either of the two summers they spent at Spitzbergen. The attempt to cross the Atlantic by air route was much less hazardous than the proposed voyage to the north pole, with all its unforeseen contingencies and dangers. If the former so quickly came to grief, it will be accepted that the latter, if it had been carried through to a real dash for the polar prize, would have resulted in the swallowing up of Wellman and his party in some mysterious disaster, even as Andre was swallowed up. People who have had much pleasure in their acquaintance with Mr. Wellman through the columns of the newspapers will now hope to see him return to his old profession, and forego further experimentation with air flights. These must wrack the nerves of his family, as they have those of the public. It seems, also, to be ordained clearly that he will never do anything worth while with dirigibles. And he was, when he was on the job, a cracking good newspaper correspondent.

TINY BABY HAD DREADFUL ECZEMA

On Hands, Face, Nose and Mouth. Hard Crust Formed and Cracked Open. Blood Ran. Itched Frightfully. Mitts on Hands. No Rest.

Got Cuticura. In 3 Days Relief. In a Week Cured Without a Mark.

"I have a little baby almost a year old. When it was two months old it got eczema on top of both her hands, on her face and inside her nose and mouth. She refused to drink and one of her eyes almost closed up. A hard crust formed and would crack open and the blood ran out. It itched so frightfully that the poor little girl could not rest. We had to keep mitts on her hands to keep her from scratching at her face and her mother was forced to sit in a rocking chair with the baby day and night. We had a very good doctor and he did all that he possibly could to relieve the baby's tortures but the results were not what we had looked for.

"We had read of the Cuticura remedy so we went to the drug store and got some Cuticura soap and Cuticura ointment. We used them just as directed and in three days the crust began to come off. In a week there was no more scab and now the baby is cured without a mark. Sleeps soundly in her cradle and her parents in their bed, with no more sleepless nights because of the baby's suffering. Cuticura seems a wonderful remedy for this disease and any one having eczema should not fail in getting it. Henry M. Fogel, R. F. D. 1, Barb, Pa., Dec. 9, 1909."

NOTICE.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Lake Shore Engine Works is called by the Board of Directors to be held at the office of the undersigned, in the Nestor block, in the City of Marquette, on Wednesday, the 26th day of October, at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of ratifying the resolution of the Board of Directors adopted October 12th, 1910, and to consider such other business as may come before said meeting.

Dated October 18th, 1910.

"IT BEATS ALL"

This is quoted from a letter of M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo: "I recently used Foley's Honey and Tar for the first time. To say I am pleased does not half express my feelings. It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and was threatened with pneumonia. The first doses gave great relief and one bottle completely cured me." Contains no opiates. POLITICAL SHIPYARDS.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer, speaking at a banquet of the business men of San Francisco, adverted again to one source of extravagant, and largely useless, expenditure of public funds—the political shipyards. He congratulated the people of the Pacific coast upon having only two government shipyards, and said that they must be brought to a greater degree of efficiency and made adequate to accommodate modern warships.

Referring to conditions on the Atlantic coast, the secretary said: "I have inspected all the navy yards on the Atlantic coast, from Maine to South Carolina, and I must say that we have too many yards on that side of the country. Half of them should be abolished and will be, if Washington will support me."

This abuse has been a fruitful subject of discussion, both on the public platform and in the newspapers and magazines. It is one of the subjects that has furnished a theme for the muck rakers. They have raked it very thoroughly, and have proved the points they have set out to make in a manner that must have been incontrovertible, for they have never been effectively contradicted.

The political shipyards have the same excuse for existence that hundreds of the federal buildings found all over the country have. They were originally, and their continued maintenance is, part of the "pork" that senators and representatives divide among themselves to insure that their constituents will be impressed with their superior ability and their great usefulness in the halls of congress. That these shipyards and these buildings constitute a gross extravagance and cause a wholly unwarranted expenditure of the public funds is the least of the troubles of the gentlemen responsible for them. As long as their constituents are impressed they rack nothing of the cost.

The political shipyards are greatly increasing the cost of maintenance of the navy, which would be burdensome enough with all the useless frills cut out. Secretary Meyer sees this clearly. If Washington supports him he will lessen this useless drain on the federal treasury, he says. But if Washington is left to itself it won't support him. There isn't a case on record where congress has been willing to cut out any of these near-grafts of its members, except under pressure from outside. If Secretary Meyer wants action he will have to go over the heads of the congressmen, to the people. Let him appeal to them with a plain and direct presentation of the iniquity of the political navy yard system that has flourished as part of the comprehensive "logrolling" game by which congressmen aim to help keep themselves in the good graces of their constituents by raiding the treasury. Public sentiment will get action for him, once it is sufficiently aroused.

A LAUGH OR TWO.

His Conclusion.

Claude Grahams-White, the English aviator, praised, at a dinner in New York, the American stage.

"Your plays are livelier than ours," he said. "Our plays are very dull and stupid. A novelist said to me one night at the Automobile club in London: 'I have written several plays and they have all been rejected. So I devoted last month to a study of the London theater. I took in every play in town. I was resolved to get a lot of points on the English stage.' 'And did you learn much?' said I. 'Well,' said the novelist moodily, 'I came to the conclusion that I'm the only man alive who can't get a poor play put on!'"

Roughing It.

James J. Hill, at one of the conservation congress banquets in St. Paul, told a railway story.

"When sleeping cars first came in," he said, "the bedclothes in the berths were very scanty. On one of these early cars, one night after everybody had turned in and the lights were low, a lady who sat in an upper berth: 'Porter, get a corkscrew.' 'The porter came hurrying down the aisle. 'Boss,' he said, in a scandalized tone, 'we don't allow no drinkin' in the berths. It's against the rules.' 'Oh, it ain't that, porter,' the voice answered. 'I just want to dig out a pillow that's sort of worked its way into my ear.'"

It Rested With Him.

Upton Sinclair, discussing the fasting cure that he has done so much to advance, said in New York:

"Fasting has become as popular as appendicitis. I hope, though, it won't fall into the same disrepute. 'It's currently believed, you know, that a leading surgeon said to his wife one day: 'I operated on Mrs. Godsa Golde for appendicitis last night.' 'Goodness,' said the lady. 'I wonder who'll have it next?' 'I don't know,' the surgeon answered absently. 'I haven't decided yet.'"

The Foolish Virgin.

"We should always be prepared," said H. K. Adair, the San Francisco detective, in an interview in New York, "and then we will miss nothing."

"You've heard, perhaps, of the young lady who said, as she slipped her tea: 'I've just had such a dreadful experience.' 'A dreadful experience?' asked an older young lady. 'Yes,' was the reply. 'I saw a splendid bargain in my stocking.'"

Still Unreformed.

A Mrs. Elizabeth B. Gramis, at one of the dinners following the conservation congress in St. Paul, said of marriage: "It is true that some girls, marrying men to reform them, succeed. Some girls, too, fail."

"The hostess at a tea once said to a beautiful, sad-eyed woman: 'Are you fond of sports, Mrs. Blank?' 'Mrs. Blank smiled. Her sad eyes twinkled a moment. Then she sighed and answered: 'Well, I suppose I ought to be. I married one.'"

A GENEROUS AND CHARITABLE WISH.

"I wish all might know of the benefit I received from your Foley's Kidney Remedy," says I. N. Rogan, Farmer, Mo. His kidney and bladder gave him so much pain, misery and annoyance, he could not work, nor sleep. He says Foley's Kidney Remedy completely cured him. The People's Drug Store.

THE FRIENDLY SAFETY.

A historian of invention tells us that to the walls of a long-suffering infant we owe the boon of the safety pin. It is the story of a little boy named Harrison, an English blacksmith's son, had to look after his baby brother. The baby often cried, and its tears were usually traced to pin punctures. The boy nurse tried a long time to bend the pins in such a form that they could be used with safety to his brother's flesh. In this he failed; but his father, the blacksmith, perceiving the utility of the idea that the lad had been at work on, took it up on his own account and eventually turned out the safety pin that is in use today all over the world. Whether the safety pin would have still remained in oblivion but for the tormenting of one little English baby no one knows, of course.

The funeral of Mrs. John Burke, who died Sunday night, will be held at 8:30 this morning from St. Peter's cathedral, with interment in Holy Cross cemetery.
A large number of people enjoyed the summer weather yesterday at Presque Isle. For the first time since mid-summer, mosquitoes were reported to be much in evidence.
The funeral of Mrs. M. H. Maynard, who died in Cleveland Monday, will be held from the residence, East Ridge street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. M. Rogers.
The young ladies of St. Peter's cathedral are arranging for a "Funny Dress Party" to be given in Baraga Hall on Friday evening, Oct. 21, to raise funds to furnish the new guild house. All ladies of the parish are invited. There will be music and refreshments. Tickets, thirty-five cents.
Charles Schoch, "Hap" Scholtus, Wm. Layne, N. D. Forgostein and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Willesen left last evening for Chicago to take in the baseball games between Chicago and Philadelphia Thursday and Friday. Mr. Schoch will spend several weeks in the East before his return.
Church Bazaar Thursday—The ladies of the Swedish M. E. church will hold a bazaar Thursday afternoon and evening at Siegel's hall on Third street. Many fancy and useful articles will be sold, and refreshments will be served. The public is invited. There will be no fee for admission.
Has Returned from Synod—Rev. J. M. Rogers returned yesterday from Flint where he attended the annual synod of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Rogers states that the meeting was one of the best and most profitable that he has ever attended. E. W. Allen also attended the synod as a delegate from the Marquette church. The delegates bring back reports of the city of Flint, declaring that it is one of the most bustling cities to be found anywhere in the country. One of the enjoyable features of the meeting was a visit to the immense Buick automobile plant.
Forest Fires Breaking Out—With unusually dry weather and the ground covered with fallen leaves, forest fires are being caused considerable anxiety. At present there are no serious fires in this locality, but leaves are burning in many places and a high wind at any time might result disastrously. A Marquette and Soudan engine was sent to Silver creek yesterday afternoon to put out an incipient blaze, and the Big Bay train was delayed at Buckroe Monday for the same reason. Smoke could be seen rising from what appeared to be a big fire along the lake shore near Sand River yesterday afternoon. The only fires of any consequence on the South Shore are between Nestoria and the copper country and west of Saxon.
Visited Local Inspectors—George Uhler, of Washington, D. C., head of the United States steamboat inspection service, was in Marquette Monday talking over official matters with Local Inspectors Gooding and York. Mr. Uhler was accompanied by C. H. Westcott, of Detroit, supervisor of this district. It was Mr. Uhler's first visit to Marquette and he expressed himself as well pleased with Messrs. Gooding and York's administration of the affairs of the local office.
Reception for New Pastor—The Methodist congregation is to hold a reception in the church parlors this evening for their new pastor, Rev. Joseph Dutton, and his family. The entire membership is, of course, expected to be present and a cordial invitation is extended to friends of the church and members of the other churches in the city. Mr. Dutton arrived here last week and he preached Sunday at both morning and evening services. He is very well spoken of by those who have met him and the reception will give others a splendid opportunity of meeting him and forming his acquaintance.
Byrns Visits Office—C. J. Byrns, of Ishpeming, the new collector of customs, visited the collector's office in the federal building yesterday for the first time since his appointment was announced and talked things over with Deputy Osband. While in the city he also looked after some business in connection with his official bond. Mr. Byrns says he will take charge of the office when he has secured his bond and it has been approved, which will be some days hence.
Second Team vs. Munising—Conceded in action by the defeats administered the Marquette High school football this fall at the hands of Ishpeming and Negaunee, a second team has been organized among the high school boys, which in a practice game recently, defeated the first team, 28 to 5. This second team has arranged to play against the Munising High school football team at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon, and the players declare there will be no 38 to 0 score run up against Marquette. The first team will play against Negaunee at Union Park and the players hope to reverse the defeat of three weeks ago in this city. The High school has not turned out a second team for a number of years, and the game with Munising Saturday should be largely attended.

THEATRICAL.
"The Cow Puncher."
"The Cow Puncher" is to be presented at the opera house tonight. Hal Reid has written a stirring and adventurous tale, though differing widely in atmosphere from any of his previous plays, the scene being laid in southwest Arizona, at the time of wealthy cattle kings. Geraldine Graham is a young romantic girl, who has taken up the study of medicine as a profession, but through the death of her brother, one of the cattle kings, is called West to take entire charge of thousands of head of cattle and a band of rough during cowboys. A hilarious and enthusiastic welcome is perpetrated upon this supposedly tenderfoot in true Western style by the cowboys belonging to the ranch. The cool and deliberate manner in which Geraldine meets these rough fellows and their antics, is both interesting and amusing. Tom Lawton, the foreman of the ranch, is ring leader in all exhibitions of rough riding and lariat throwing, but he is finally captivated and tamed by Miss Graham.

DIVORCES HELP TO FILL REFORM SCHOOLS.
Superintendents of reform schools and orphanages practically all agree that an increasing number of children are coming to them on account of desertion and divorce. Out of 7,375 children in thirty-four reform schools, "twenty-nine and six-tenths per cent," writes Charles A. Ellwood in The Survey, "came from families in which there had been divorce or desertion. Out of the same number of children thirty-five and three-hundredths per cent came from families in which either father or mother or both were dead."
The records of four juvenile courts and of seventy-six institutions for dependent children show almost as surprising results. "The significant thing seems to be that desertion and divorce are a large enough force in the community to bring pressure to bear upon orphan asylums to break even their rules and receive children from families broken by desertion and divorce as well as from families mutilated by death. It is surprising that the number of children who become socially maladjusted from desertion and divorce, is almost as great as the number who become so from the death of one or both parents."

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does. It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

NORTH LAKE MINERS BECAME EXCITED

Absence of Cross Head Above the Bucket Responsible for Monday Night's Accident.

John Lepisto was the fourth victim of the accident that occurred in the Cleveland-Hills iron company's North Lake No. 1 shaft Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Lepisto, as stated in yesterday's issue of The Mining Journal, was a resident of Michigan, and has a wife and five children living there.

John Luoma, who had such a marvelous escape from death when he was thrown from the bucket, landing across the divider in the shaft, yesterday morning gave his explanation of the cause of the accident. He said that he and the others were standing on the edge of the bucket. When they came to a point in the shaft where the cross head should have been located he noticed that it was not there. He called to the other men to look out, telling them that the cross head was not in position. The men became excited, thinking that perhaps the cross head would strike them and knock them into the shaft. Luoma estimated the distance between the point where the cross head ought to have been and where it had become fastened at about seventy-five feet. If the men who fell away had dropped into the bucket they would have been all right, as the cross head fell back into its usual place about six feet above the top of the bucket.

Luoma said that the jar the men received when the cross head fell into position caused the accident, though all would probably have been able to save heads. Luoma was thrown from the bucket when it was four or five feet above the divider. After realizing what had happened he crawled along the divider to the ladder compartment and climbed up to the pump, located a short distance above him, about 160 feet from surface.

Frank Honkala, brother of Ed. Honkala, one of the four men who were killed, had been working in the shaft with the men and he came up in the bucket a few minutes before the accident, to look after the pump, which the men thought was not working well as the water was rising. He says that the cross head was in its proper place when he lowered the bucket from the pump station, but it was dislodged when the bucket was lowered again.

Both Ed. Honkala and Herman Hupala were well-known to the Finnish people here. In fact, Honkala was one of the best known Finns in the county, as a result of his having served on the Ishpeming police force for several years.

Hupala had been a resident of the city for about six years. His wife came out from Finland over a year ago and the family has since been living at the Barnum location. Besides the widow there is an infant surviving.

The inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon. The funeral of the three Ishpeming victims will also be held tomorrow afternoon.

WOMEN'S SANITARIUM.

Miss Walz and Ishpeming People Interested in the Project.

Sunday last a meeting was held at the Finnish Methodist church for the purpose of furthering the temperance cause and explaining fully the plan for the proposed women's sanitarium, home and school, to be established in Marquette. Another meeting was held last evening in the lecture room of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Sunday's meeting was led by Mrs. Carrie Clarke and opened with singing. Rev. Nurmi, the Ishpeming pastor, offered prayer, after which he spoke in the Finnish language. Mrs. Beacock, superintendent of evangelistic work for the Women's Christian Temperance union, gave an address explaining the objects of the sanitarium. Miss Mimmie Partala, in behalf of the Finnish women, endorsed the Marquette project. Mrs. R. H. Shaver made a few remarks. Miss Walz talked in the Finnish language, explaining many things relative to the proposed institution, and she also gave a recitation in Finnish on the uplifting of women.

Last night those who spoke were Mrs. Beacock, of DeTour, evangelist of the Women's Christian Temperance union; Mrs. Carrie Clarke, district president of the W. C. T. U.; Miss Maggie Walz, state superintendent over foreign speaking people; Mrs. Riley, president of the Ishpeming branch of the W. C. T. U., and Mrs. R. H. Shaver.

Owners of Lots in Old Cemetery Will Be Given New Lots in Exchange.

At both services last Sunday morning Rev. Charles Langner, pastor of St. Paul's church, announced that those who own lots in the old cemetery will be given lots in the new burial grounds, which are soon to be consecrated, in exchange for them. He read a list of those owning lots. He said that the records are incomplete, particularly from the time the grounds were opened until about thirty years ago, when Bishop Eis was made pastor. During all of the time Bishop Eis was pastor, also during the years Father Langner has been in charge, complete records have been kept.

NEGAUNEE NATIONAL HAS GOOD RECORD

Local New Bank Has Turned First Year With Resources in Excess of $400,000.

The Negaunee National bank, which opened its doors for business on the 11th of October, 1909, made a remarkable showing during its first year. The bank's resources Oct. 11, 1910 were $402,292.87. The bank began business under favorable conditions, as its resources at the close of the first year were $73,794.42. At the end of the third month the resources were $230,538.09; at the end of the sixth month $330,340.26 and at the end of the third quarter $341,229.80.

Besides conducting an active campaign for business, the management has devoted much time to matters pertaining to the block being erected on East Iron street. The officials had hoped to be in the new building on the first anniversary, but the transfer will hardly be made before Dec. 1.

The affairs of the institution are in the hands of experienced banking men. E. N. Breitung, who was born and reared in Negaunee, and who has been one of the county's most prominent and successful business men for years, is president. Mr. Breitung is also president of the new People's State bank of Marquette and vice president of the Marquette County Savings bank. Benjamin Neely, one of Negaunee's oldest business men, is vice president; Geo. Mellieur is second vice president and manager, and Herman Wagner is cashier. The directors, who have served the bank since its organization, and whose terms do not expire until early in January are: E. N. Breitung, Benjamin Neely, Geo. Mellieur, A. E. Boswell, Phil Levine, J. P. Miller, J. H. Sawbridge, Joseph Hodgson and James F. Foley.

Mellieur's First Job Here. Mr. Mellieur has had a successful career as a banker. He was a resident of Negaunee some thirty years ago, coming here as a boy. His first work was porter at the Breitung house, which was then being completed. After leaving here he engaged in the grocery business in Ishpeming, where he remained until some fifteen years ago, when he established a private bank at Ontonagon. By hard work and careful management he made his enterprise pay from the start. Twelve years ago, when Ontonagon was wiped out by fire, Mr. Mellieur was one of the first to re-establish his business. He resumed banking in a shed erected on the bank site and made the remarkable record of resuming in less than twenty-four hours after the fire had wiped out the town. After he had conducted the private bank a few years, it was chartered as the Negaunee National. Although Mr. Mellieur is still interested in the Ontonagon institution, his family is now located in Negaunee and from this time on he will give the Negaunee bank the greater part of his attention.

Mr. Wagner has been thoroughly trained in the banking business, having engaged in that line fifteen years ago as stenographer in the Marquette County Savings bank. He remained with that institution continuously until he resigned the position of assistant cashier to accept the position of cashier of the Negaunee National. He is an obliging official and is popular with the bank's patrons.

Attractive Bank Building. The new bank building will be one of the most complete and attractive in the entire upper peninsula. It was designed by J. D. Chubb, and the interior arrangements will be convenient for the bank employes and patrons alike. The building, which will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, is fire proof, and the vault is both fire and burglar proof. The latter has already been equipped. The Victor Safe & Lock company of Cincinnati, O., had the contract for the vault and the Nachtigall Manufacturing company of Grand Rapids is to furnish the bank fixtures, which will be mahogany. L. E. Chausse, the contractor, let a number of sub-contracts to different firms, the most important of which was the brick work, which was done by Paul Schwartz of this city. E. J. Sink of Marquette, who has had men employed at the building for several weeks, is just finishing the roof work.

CEMETERY PLAT ACCEPTED.

Lots in New Cemetery Will Be Offered for Sale Oct. 26.

The plat of the new Negaunee city cemetery submitted by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company to the council at a special meeting held a week ago last night was accepted at the adjourned meeting Monday evening. The council decided to hold a three days' sale of the lots commencing Monday, Oct. 26, at 9 a. m. The plat will be at the cemetery from 9 until 4:30 o'clock on Wednesday and Thursday, the 26th and 27th, also on the 28th, if necessary. The plat will be returned to the city recorder's office each evening between 7:30 and 9 o'clock for the accommodation of those who may be unable to visit the cemetery during the day.

Buses will run between the city and the cemetery on both days. The scale of prices to be charged for the lots will be from $10 to $40, according to their location.

Parties living outside of the city and having bodies of relatives buried in the present cemetery are requested to correspond with the city recorder relative to the purchase of lots and the removal of the remains to the new grounds.

The city recorder requests the publication of this announcement by outside newspapers.

FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Menominee Range Man Accused of Murder Acquitted Monday Afternoon.

Bernard P. Barasa, the Chicago attorney, who assisted in the defense of G. Spigarelli, the Iron Mountain man, who was on Monday tried on the charge of murder, spent yesterday with relatives here and left last evening for home. Spigarelli, who was charged with killing a man named Johnson with a candlestick at the Peawick mine last August, was found not guilty.

The Iron Mountain Tribune Gazette of Monday evening gave the following account of the trial:

"Yesterday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock the jury in the Spigarelli case entered the court room and returned a verdict of 'not guilty,' whereupon the prisoner was immediately discharged by Judge R. C. Flannigan. The liberated man, accompanied by Attorney J. E. Calvi, of this city, and B. P. Barasa, of Chicago, went to his home in the location. His other attorneys in the case were Brackett and Turner, of Norway.

"The case went to the jury at 5:30 o'clock Saturday evening, and until yesterday afternoon could a verdict be reached. It is understood that from the very beginning ten or eleven of the jurors were for acquittal, but that one or two held out for conviction of the murder charge.

"The case occupied the attention of the court all week and the trial was hard fought by both Prosecuting Attorney R. C. Henderson and the attorneys for the respondent. An especially large number of witnesses appeared for examination, all of whom were carefully examined and cross examined. Every inch of ground was disputed by both sides, and the hearing attracted widespread attention. Every day of the procedure saw the court room well filled with spectators.

"The affair for which Spigarelli was tried occurred at the Peawick Saturday, August 29, near the supper hour, at a time when the men were waiting to be lowered into the mine for the night shift. A candlestick penetrated the abdomen and liver of Johnson. He was removed to St. George's hospital, and fifty-one hours afterward was removed to Augustana hospital, Chicago, where he passed away shortly after his arrival."

LOCAL LAONICS.

ENTERPRISE OF PICTURE SHOWS

Steadily Increasing Extent and Popularity of Motion Picture Business Wonder of Theatrical World—Vaudeville and Stock Companies Have Suffered.

In No Field of Endeavor Is Competition More Keen—Successful Manager or Manufacturer Must Ever Be Alert to His Opportunity—How Failures Are Made.

Nothing has so much surprised the theatrical world in recent years as the rapid and ever increasing popularity of moving picture shows, which have forced a large percentage of the once numerous "ten, twenty, thirty" stock companies out of existence. The newest name for moving pictures, by the way, is "photoplay," which was the name selected by the judges in a contest conducted by the Essanay Film company, which has just closed.

So-called "legitimate" theatrical men have had their hammers out for moving pictures ever since the first houses were opened and even now they protest that their popularity is just a fad. Nevertheless, the crowds still go in increasing numbers to the picture houses, more of which are opening up every week, while the once popular melodramatic stock companies are playing to empty seats. That the moving picture houses have hurt the theatrical business, especially the medium and low-priced shows, is now generally recognized, and second rate actors and vaudeville performers of average ability, out of an engagement, through the large cities.

Is the era of moving pictures "for better or for worse?" This is a question to which the press is now devoting no little discussion. A number of newspapers, notably the New York World, have started a crusade against moving pictures, on the ground that they are immoral in their tendency. The objection to the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures has perhaps been the origin of this movement. The warfare, however, is not seriously regarded by the general public, who usually know what they want and get it, and moving pictures are not waning in popularity.

An Entertaining Business.

Certain it is that those connected with the moving picture business are an enterprising lot of men. Competition is keen and the race for the latest films and features between rival houses, like that between competing newspapers, is never won for more than a day. Eternal vigilance is the price of success in the moving picture business, both among the manufacturers and the show men.

Many people living outside the large cities do not realize the vast expenditure of capital and energy necessary in order to bring moving pictures of the world's greatest happenings into every city and village in the country. At every big sporting event, such as a prize fight, an airplane flight, a world's championship baseball game, or any else of country wide interest, moving picture photographers are among the first on the scene.

To produce romances, plays, historic events, etc., theatres are maintained in the larger cities, where high salaried actors pose before the moving picture camera. The improvement in the general quality of moving pictures within the past year has been largely due to a higher class of talent being employed in these moving picture theatres. Many of those who formerly took part in theatrical companies have now found employment in the moving picture theatres. The requirements are satisfactorily posed before a moving picture camera are even more exacting than before a personal audience. In the first instance, the actor must depend entirely upon movement, while in the other case, he has his voice and personality with which to appeal to his audience. Pictures of races, chases, and out of door scenes are frequently taken in the suburbs of a city, the participants being employed for that particular purpose.

Local Scenes Would Be Popular.

"Why don't the moving picture people take up some of the scenes right here in Marquette and the upper peninsula?" grumbled a man who had just emerged from one of the local moving picture theatres. "I've been a fairly regular attendant at the moving pictures here and I think they are getting better right along, but it seems to me that somebody is overlooking a good opportunity in this locality.

"I have seen pictures of the industries of many European, African and Asiatic cities and some American cities, but none were of any more interest, in my opinion, than some we have right here. Some few were of course strange and unusual but we have strange and unusual things in the upper peninsula, and I venture to say that many people in Marquette have never seen the ore or coal docks in operation or know much about the mining of ore.

"Now I can suggest a picture. Take a subject like 'The Production of Steel.' Start with pictures of the mines and the mining cities of the Lake Superior district. Next comes the arrival of the ore at the docks and its loading on the big freighters, and then the picture of them going out into the harbor. It might be supplemented with views of Presque Isle and the other nearby beauty spots, or unloading the boats at the coal docks. Then would follow the trip down the lake, the unloading of the vessels and finally the great steel plant itself."

HOLIDAY DISPLAY

Cimbel Bros. of Milwaukee will be pleased to have you call upon their representatives, Miss Nellie E. Powers, who will have on display at the Hotel Marquette, on Oct. 19-20-21 and 22 a very complete and attractive line of Holiday and Staple goods. (10-19-22.)

HALLOWEEN NEXT IN ORDER

Marquette Boys and Girls Will Celebrate With Parties, Franks, etc.

Marquette boys and girls are patiently awaiting the coming of Monday, Oct. 31, which is Halloween. Nov. 1 is All Hallow day or the festival of the saints and the vigil of the day is kept the evening before. In England the evening is spent in cracking nuts, ducking in a tub of water for apples or other harmless fireside reveries. In America as a rule the amusement of the evening is of a far different character. The boys and girls prowl around under the cover of darkness and perform mischievous pranks.

Those who have doorsteps, horse-blocks, gates fences, barber poles and other movable objects, had better prepare to save them now. Halloween is less than three weeks off. Even now the boys are conspiring and planning their methods of performing various tricks and transformations. Tick-tacks are being manufactured and many mothers are saving spoons for the boys and girls. Beans are being "hooked" from the household cupboards and bean blowers are being stowed away in safe places for use on that eventful night. Marquette youths are usually orderly on Halloween, but they must remember that the police will be especially vigilant on that night. Pranks indulged in before that date are likely to land those involved in serious trouble.

Not all of the Halloween amusements will be derived from pranks. There will be parties and dances. Ghosts and goblins will prowl about the dark corners of the houses, and figures in gowns and sheets will flit through the dimly lighted rooms and corridors. Cob web parties and other methods of entertaining are being planned and it is safe to say that the evening will be one of great enjoyment to Marquette boys and girls.

TWO LEGAL WAYS TO CHANGE ONE'S NAME

Nothing in Law, However, Prohibiting It Being Done Arbitrarily, the Usual Course.

It may surprise many to learn that there is nothing in the state law which forbids an adult person from changing his name by the simple act of abandoning the use of the one which he bore from birth and then substituting for it one which happens to suit him or her a bit better for any reason whatsoever. It is one of the statutes which describe two methods by which a change of name can be accomplished along lines which ensure its receiving legal sanction, but there is no provision of the law prohibiting the other and more simple method being adopted.

The law of this state provides that any person of adult age who desires to change his name must follow either one of two courses—apply to the probate court of the county in which he has resided for a year or more past or else secure the passage of a special act of the legislature. While there have undoubtedly been many who have taken advantage of the latter method, but four during the past three years have employed the procedure outlined by statute for the probate court. The record shows that there were one in 1908, two in 1909 and one thus far this year.

The forms devised in conformity with the statutory provisions for use in the probate court require that the applicant must first publish motion for three successive weeks in some paper published in the county of which he is a resident, the last publication being six weeks prior to the making of formal application to the court. At the expiration of that period, a petition is filed with the court which sets forth the applicant's name and the name which he desires to acquire, and further recites that the application is made without intent to defraud. In addition the application is also detailed for the scrutiny of the court.

Upon the filing of a receipt showing that a fee of $3 has been paid to the county treasurer and the affidavit of the publisher of the newspaper in which the notice was published the notice of the applicant's intention to seek a legal sanction to his change of name, in case it is deemed satisfactory by the court, an order is made authorizing the desired change which thereupon becomes immediately effective. Upon application and with the payment of a fee to the probate court, the applicant may receive a certified copy of the court's order for purposes of exhibiting to those of relatives or acquaintances who may be inclined to be skeptical as to the legality of his assumption of another surname. While the circuit courts of the state have authority to review the proceedings of the probate courts upon appeal and the circuit judges frequently occupy the probate bench in the temporary absence of the probate judge, the statute does not give to the circuit courts the authority which it vests in the probate. The only way in which a circuit judge may authorize a change of name is in the case of a woman who is either the complainant or the defendant in an action.

PRISON CONVICT COMMITS SUICIDE

Thomas Hall, Colored, Hanged Himself With a Bed Sheet in His Cell Monday Night.

Thomas Hall, colored, aged thirty-five, who had been an inmate of the branch prison since March, 1908, hanged himself in his cell at that institution some time Monday night and was found dead by the guard who brought him his breakfast yesterday morning. He accomplished his self destruction by tearing up his bed sheet, a part of which he wound about his neck and tied the end to a hook in the back of his cell, placed there to hang a picture on. When found, his toes were touching the floor. Slight knife cuts were found on his wrists.

Hall was sent up from Wayne county under a sentence of not less than five years, having been convicted of assault with intent to kill his companion with a dangerous weapon. His prison record had not been a good one, and he was regarded as a quarrelsome, though not an especially dangerous man. For a week or more, he has been despondent and has made strange remarks to his companions, which, though not understood at the time, now indicate that he had been planning to take his life for some time. Monday he told another negro prisoner to be sure to write to his mother, but would give no explanation of his remark, making such a request. On the fly leaf of his Bible a note was found yesterday, in which he expressed his intention to kill himself. All of his clothing was torn and slashed, evidently with deliberate intent to destroy it.

The suicide is known to have relatives in Florida, who were notified yesterday of his death, but no reply had been received from them up to last evening. Under a law passed at the last session of the legislature, bodies of convicts dying in prison must be held at the prison for twenty-four hours, and if not claimed by relatives at the expiration of that time, shall be shipped to the University of Michigan to be used for the advancement of anatomical science. Coroner Cray will hold an inquest today, and if relatives do not claim the body, it will be sent to Ann Arbor. Heretofore, bodies of convicts have been buried in the city where the death occurred.

SECESSION AMONG MACCABEES

Grand Rapids Tent Leaves Parent Organization and Forms New Order.

The dissatisfaction which has existed in the ranks of the Modern Maccabees has reached a crisis. Thursday night at a meeting held in Grand Rapids a body of Class I men numbering fifty withdrew from this organization and began the formation of an independent lodge. They will call themselves the Knights and Ladies of Michigan Maccabees, admitting the live members, and at a meeting to be held this week will elect officers and committees for the formation of constitution and by-laws.

The trouble in the Maccabee ranks has been brewing for about four years. It began when the great camp organized Class 2, and has been aggravated by this body's steady refusal to make the interests of Class 1. The attitude of the great hive at the convention in Kalamazoo last June in refusing to make any provision for Class 1 was the last stroke and revolt ensued.

This detachment from the old order involves some 125 tents in the state. With their co-operation the Grand Rapids tents have taken the initiative in establishing a new order, and as soon as the organization is perfected will include the outside tents.

The Knights and Ladies of Michigan Maccabees will be a fraternal beneficiary order, open to men and women. The rates for insurance will be on a monthly basis, and the laws will include initiative, referendum and recall. Self-government will be undertaken, the spirit of freedom being the animating cause of the order.
