

HOUSE SETS A RECORD FOR LEGISLATION

Passing Two of the Big Annual Appropriation Measures in First Week of the Session Is an Achievement Never Before Registered in Congress.

It Takes Only Three Hours to Put Through the Rivers and Harbors Bill, and This Without the "Pork" Heretofore Deemed Essential to Success.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The single week of congressional legislation has set a record for the session.

The passage through the house of two of the big appropriation measures—the Indian and rivers and harbors bills—by the first week of the session is an unheard-of thing in the history of congress.

Chairman Tamm has promised Speaker Cannon and Republican Whip Dwight that he can report others of the big supply bills as rapidly as the house can handle them.

In record time and spending money at the rate of $7,000,000 an hour, the house yesterday in about three hours passed the rivers and harbors bill, making appropriations amounting to $21,894,861 for river and harbor work during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912.

Representative Alexander of New York, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, said that the session will prove barren of results so far as general legislation is concerned.

In addition, the sundry civil bill will include $7,368,977 for river and harbor improvement in 1912, bringing the total up to $29,262,938.

FINDING "BOMBS" IN MR. TAFT'S MESSAGE

Hint Regarding Removal of Lumber Duties May Cause an Explosion.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Bombs are being plucked from President Taft's annual message, as that remarkable document is studied more at leisure.

One that will explode loudest is the very clear threat of the president to remove the tariff on lumber duties.

These significant lines have alarmed the lumber interests as represented in congress and have correspondingly encouraged statements of one kind or another who are looking for an opportunity to bring some glory to the Republican party by achieving a little tariff revision at this session.

Secretary Ballinger Overruled. An even more sensational paragraph in the message is that in which the president admits himself to be in sharp disagreement with Secretary Ballinger over the question of leasing public coal lands, a policy which the president ap-

JUSTICE WHITE IS PRESIDENT'S CHOICE

His Nomination as Head of the Supreme Court Will Be Sent in Today.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Associate Justice Edward Douglas White, of the United States supreme court, is to be elevated to the chief justiceship of that tribunal. President Taft will send the nomination to the senate tomorrow morning.

It is reported tonight, though neither confirmation nor denial is obtainable at the White House, that Mr. Taft will name as associate justice Judge Willis Van Devanter, of Cheyenne, Wyo., now federal judge of the Eighth United States circuit, and Joseph Butler Lamar, of Georgia, a Democrat and former justice of the Georgia supreme court.

It also is reported tonight, likewise without confirmation, that the new court of commerce will be named by the president tomorrow and will consist of the following: Martin A. Knapp, New York, now chairman of the interstate commerce commission; Robert Warchild, now United States district judge of the middle district of Pennsylvania; William H. Hunt, Montana, now judge of the court of customs appeals; Arthur C. Benson, of Michigan, at present judge for the western district of that state; Julian W. Mack, Chicago, now judge of the appellate circuit court for the First Illinois district. Mr. Mack is a Democrat.

To fill the vacancies on the interstate commerce commission in place of Chairman Knapp and ex-Senator F. M. Cockrell, of Missouri, who retires the 31st inst., it is reported that the president will name B. H. Meyer, of Wisconsin, and C. C. McChord, of Kentucky.

White's Selection a Surprise. The announcement that Justice White will be the new chief justice undoubtedly will cause surprise, because it has been pretty generally understood that Justice Charles E. Hughes was slated for the honor.

DEFEAT SCOUTED BY LODGE

Senator Expects to Be Re-elected, but Will Make Hard Fight.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Senator Lodge's reelection campaign is being prosecuted vigorously from Washington and the assembling of congress. He and his friends are keeping in the closest possible touch with the situation.

Republican members of the delegation in the house are helping to bring recalcitrant members of the legislature in their own districts into line.

It is known that the situation is so close that the senator's friends feel uncertain about the outcome. They hear some news that encourages them and some that does not.

Representative Butler Ames is giving it out that there are absolutely twenty-seven Republicans in the legislature who will not vote for Senator Lodge.

"The girls are not four robust young women among the whole thousand who would tempt the places of the absent cooks? Does no Vassar student know how to roast a joint, boil potatoes and dress a plain salad?"

"The idea," said a member of a basket ball team, "Why, lots of us know soup and oyster fraiches in my chafing dish for forty persons, and we often get our whole breakfast in our rooms."

"I hear you're starved," he said. "Oh, no," she laughed. "This hall wasn't affected. But I met one of the girls from Richmond who said she was so hungry she'd spent all her Christmas allowance for sandwiches."

HITCHCOCK WIPING OUT THE LOSSES

Without Any Curtailment of the Facilities, the Deficit of the Postoffice Department Has Been Cut Eleven and a Half Millions the Past Twelve Months.

Washington, Dec. 11.—In the space of twelve months a reduction was made in the deficit of the postoffice department of $11,500,000, according to the annual report of Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, made public today.

NO CURTAILMENT OF FACILITIES.

While a year ago the fiscal records of the postal service disclosed a deficit of $17,000,000—the largest in the history of the country—the excess of expenditures over receipts for the year ended June 30, last, amounted to only $5,848,566.

"It is most gratifying to report that this unprecedented reduction has been made without any curtailment of postal facilities. On the contrary, the service has been largely extended.

The policy of the present administration has been to wipe out losses by increasing the postal business along profitable lines, and while thus enlarging the department's income to reduce as far as possible the rate of expenditure by cutting out wasteful processes, by simplifying and rendering more effective the methods of handling postal business, and by raising to the highest possible standard the efficiency of officers and employees.

"The more quickly mail matter can be handled the less expensive is the process. The department accordingly has devoted itself with great earnestness to the work of increasing the efficiency of the mail service, considering the most surest method of making the postal establishment self-supporting."

Increased Postage Not Recommended. "Under present conditions an increase in the postage on reading matter is not recommended. Such an increase would place a special burden upon a large number of second-class publications, including educational and religious periodicals, that derive little or no profit from advertising.

Postal Savings Banks. Mr. Hitchcock reviews the work already accomplished looking to the establishment of postal savings banks.

Rio Janeiro, Dec. 11.—Government troops are again in control of Corba Island, and the second mutiny of the naval forces has ended with a heavy casualty list.

CRUSADE AGAINST CROOKS.

It is indicated in the report that the crusade by the postoffice department against the fraudulent use of the mails has been pushed with great vigor.

"It is estimated," the report says, "that the eighty important cases recently brought to a head represent swindling operations that have resulted from the American people in less than a decade fully $100,000,000."

Mr. Hitchcock strongly urges that the entire postal service be taken out of politics. He says: "The recent order of the president classifying, on the recommendation of the department, assistant postmasters was an important step in the right direction.

A general extension of the civil service rules to fourth-class postmasters is recommended, although some disadvantages have developed in the application of the civil service rules to postmasters of that class.

In conclusion, Postmaster General Hitchcock expresses the hope that congress will see its way clear to grant an annual leave of absence of thirty days to postoffice clerks, city letter carriers and to railway postal clerks who are required to work six days or more a week throughout the year.

 THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).

 class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.
 MARQUETTE, MICH., DEC. 12.

PLAN IS A GOOD ONE.
 If the report of the prison labor commission follows the lines indicated by Warden Russell, and if the legislature accepts the recommendations of the commission and gives them expression in a statute passed to replace the one enacted against contract labor in 1909, Michigan will be in a fair way to solve the convict labor problem more satisfactorily, perhaps, than it has been dealt with in any other state in the union.

The abolition of the contract system is proposed. But instead of substituting for it any form of the "state use" system, which the commission believes has been demonstrated to be a failure, or any empirical scheme for employing the convicts on the roads, the boards of control will be empowered to introduce those productive industries that, in their opinion, will be best calculated to give the convicts valuable industrial training and at the same time permit of earnings that will contribute materially to their support, if not show a net profit to the state.

The acquiescence of manufacturers employing free labor in this plan, and the acceptance of it by the labor organizations, it is proposed to obtain by adopting the policy of not underselling the manufacturers on any of the lines produced in the prisons. The objection of these interests to the employment of convict labor on productive industry has not been due to the volume of manufactures outputted, which has been a mere fraction of 1 per cent of the total production in any industry, but to the unsettling effect of the selling of prison made goods at prices lower than those charged for the product of free labor. Eliminate the underselling, said a representative of the Michigan Manufacturers' association, and the manufacturers will not object to the employment, in productive industry, on state account, of the convict labor.

The proposed new system would secure practically all the advantages of the contract system, do away with many of its disadvantages, and, at the same time, if the convict industries were well managed, make the prisons self-supporting.

The advantages of the contract system are pronounced, and a brief consideration of them will make it easy to understand why the officers engaged in the actual administration of prisons look with favor on it. The most material advantage is that the system means, or should mean, the constant employment of all the convicts. This assures that the convict body is readily amenable to discipline, and gives comparatively little trouble. A prison where all inmates are steadily employed is a much easier proposition to handle than one where idleness is the rule. Overtime payments to the men under the contract system—which at Marquette prison now run about $800 a month—are another factor that makes for order and good discipline among the convict body. These two points, alone, would be enough to account for the predilection of the prison administrators for the contract system. In addition, it takes all responsibility of business administration of prison industries off their shoulders, permitting them to concentrate their attention on the problem of maintaining discipline and the upkeep and business conduct of the prison plant. The resultant conditions are those under which reformatory work can be essayed with the greatest promise of a reasonable measure of success.

The state use system is, as investigations wherever it is in vogue have shown, destructive to all these things, nor is the policy of working convicts on the public highways conducive of good results. Much has been said of the honor system employed in Colorado, where some 200 convicts are at large, practically without surveillance, road building. Less is said about the 400, or more, convicts who are kept sitting around the yard of the Colorado prison all day, breaking rock with hammers, so that they may have something to keep them busy, while the state pays practically the entire expense of the upkeep of the prison establishment.

The employment of the convicts in Michigan prisons on state account would retain the two principal advantages of the contract system. It would, under proper management, mean the introduction of industries at which the entire convict body could be kept steadily employed, thus meeting the primary requirement looking toward good discipline, and it would be possible for the state to make some arrangement by which the convicts might share modestly in the profits of their work, thus giving them the equivalent of their present overtime earnings. The system would increase the responsibility and the burden resting on the prison officials and the boards of control, but would offer greater opportunities for development and usefulness. Under the conditions it is proposed to surround it with, it is a system that is vastly to be preferred to any empirical venture into experiment with convict labor on roads, or into any further trial of the discredited "state use" system.

From what we have read and heard of the prison labor commission's report, it will be one whose conclusions will recommend themselves to the good sense both of the legislature and the people of the state.

An article in the Lansing State Republican announces positively that one of the first official acts of Governor-elect Osborn will be a recommendation to the legislature that the office of state mineral statistician be abolished. He believes that the need for the office has been outgrown, and the upper peninsula editors, who ought to know something about the matter, generally agree with him, as do several of the men who have served in the position. Some former mineral statisticians published admirable reports, on which they spent a goodly share of their salaries for the office. Other former commissioners allowed some of the years of their service to pass without publishing any report at all. How superfluous the office has become is indicated by the fact that nobody missed the reports that were not published, and their failure to appear was evidently viewed with the idea that the mineral statistician might as well, when all was said and done, grab all the money as not. It seems unlikely that the present mineral statistician, Mr. Andrews, will shed any tear over the wiping out of the office, as he has in mind a removal from the Lake Superior region. While Mr. Andrews has not made announcement of his plans, a story in the Lansing State Republican says that he plans to go to Los Angeles, Cal., there to make his future home, and with that end in view is now arranging to dispose of his interests at Menominee. There is said to be some question about where to redistribute the mineral statistician's duties. Inasmuch as they consist solely of the publication and distribution of a superfluous report it can well be considered whether they cannot profitably be given up altogether.

Our Michigan grangers are shown by the federal census to be working 200, 376 farms, of which the value, including the buildings, is estimated at the modest sum of $897,057,000. Exact figures on what these Michigan farms are on the assessment rolls for are not available, but it is probably somewhere between a third and a half of this amount, though possibly even less than a third. When it is reflected that the entire assessed valuation for the state is not much more than twice the figure which the federal census bureau announces as the value of farm property in Michigan it is evident that this class of property cannot be very severely dealt with by the tax assessors. And yet our grangers are among the most vociferous clamorers for tax reform—for the other fellow—in the state. They were the originators of the tonnage tax agitation, and have been led to forego it less by being persuaded of its fallacy and unsoundness than because of the insistence on all sides that when tax problems are looked into, it will be well to give searching examination to the conditions surrounding the taxation of the farmers. This suggestion speedily had the effect of cooling their ardor for tax reform.

Score a credit mark for Senator Burrows. He has come out as an unhesitating supporter of the plan to make the tariff board a permanent commission, of increased membership, with the full recognition of the principle of piecemeal revision that this will imply, and proposes to support President Taft in any recommendations to that end that he may submit to congress. He is quoted as saying: "The tariff board in my opinion is all right, and I am in favor of its continuance. All that is necessary is that the scope of its work should be clearly defined and its duties made perfectly plain, in order that the business interests of the country may not be compelled to suffer from want of knowledge regarding the character of the work to be performed by the body. It must be made perfectly plain that industrial conditions will not be disturbed by anything which the members will do."

Lengthen the season for hunting deer, says State Game Warden Pierce; shorten it, say other experts; do away with the closed season entirely, is the opinion of still others; and there are many additional proposals advanced. No wonder the legislature gets confused over the question of game protection; no wonder it enacts a lot of hit and miss laws on the subject.

If, in the course of human events, and with the passing of time, it should fall out that Mr. Musselman, of Grand Rapids, should succeed to the gubernatorial chair when Mr. Osborn gets through warming it, even Mr. Osborn himself would be able to see one marked disadvantage in this one term business.

PRISON REFORM IN SIGHT.

Such a solution of the prison labor problem as will benefit both the state and the state's charges, the inmates of the penitentiaries and reformatories, is promised by things that were said and the attitudes that were taken in the meeting in Lansing last Wednesday afternoon of the commission entrusted with recommending to the legislature a plan for employment of the prisoners. The commission appears to be going about its work very thoroughly and efficiently, and to be actuated in what it does by motives which consider the welfare of the state and of the convicts.

It was noticeable that the commission, or a large majority of it, favors, first of all, the abolition of the present contract system by which the profits of the prisoners' labors are taken by private individuals. With that in view, the commissioners seek the best means of employing the convicts on state account. It is also apparent that the commission is looking for such a plan of employing prisoners as will, first of all, prove beneficial to the prisoners, and be truly reformatory in its character. After that interest is subserved, the plan should be such that plenty of work will be provided for every convict during his term in prison, and that it will return the state or to the prisoner's families a financial profit. Thus the commission seems to be considering the phases of the prison labor problem in the order of their real importance.

There was such optimism on the feasibility of working the convicts on state account. Warden Russell, of Marquette prison, said: "I think the state can get as much work out of prisoners as the contractors can, providing the work is there to do." Judge Adams, of Kalamazoo, showed himself inclined to believe that if the contractors found work enough to keep the prisoners employed at a profit, the state would be able to do the same. Mr. McBirney, who is associated with Gen. Fred Green in the fiber furniture contract at Jackson prison, testified that many of the convicts became so adept at furniture making that they found no difficulty in getting work at good pay once their sentences were served. In fact, Mr. McBirney said, he had several large industrial companies in Michigan that sent assurances of jobs for all men recommended by the prison contractors at the expiration of sentence. Wardens Russell and Fuller said they found it practicable and profitable to work prisoners on farms, and only wished they had more land on which to put the men.

The idea uppermost in the minds of the commissioners evidently is that the prisoners should not be put at work which will not eventually fit them for some steady employment which demands experience and a degree of skill. That is one of the very best signs of good work on the part of the commission. Merely perfunctory tasks, such as stone crushing, permit of no opportunity to work reforms on the prisoner, and in no way fit him to return to society a more valued economic factor than when he was taken out of society and immured. The work on state account need not necessarily be of a character that will convert the prisoner, into skilled workman. If it provides him with experience and compatibility for some one definite line of labor, it will surely do both the man and society good.

Another point that the commissioners appear to have in mind is that there is no strong desire on the part of the state to realize great financial profit on the labor of the prisoners. In that, they undoubtedly have estimated the true sentiment of the state. If the prisons and the prison industries can be made self-sustaining through the work of convicts, enough will have been done. Then let the surplus be divided for the relief of the families of the convicts. It would be well, too, to let the prisoners themselves have a share of the profits,

FOUR-YEAR TERM FOR GOVERNOR

W. D. Calverley of Houghton Agrees With the Views of Chase S. Osborn.

Because of his having been a member of the last constitutional convention and his interest in constitutional discussions, W. D. Calverley of Houghton was interviewed Saturday on Governor-elect Osborn's desire for an amendment to make the term of the governor of Michigan four years instead of two.

Mr. Calverley says that he does not see much difference between two terms of two years each, which seems to be the unwritten law in Michigan, and one term of four years, excepting that an earnest and forceful governor might succeed in working reforms the better were he sure at his election that he would have four years in which to work for them. He cites Mr. Osborn's case as one which might typify the condition.

Mr. Osborn is entering upon what he declares will be one term of two years, with no intention of seeking re-election. He enters his high office with high aims, with a pretty well defined plan of campaign for reforms. He wants a number of boards and appointive offices abolished; he would have the members of the retained boards working members, who will stay at Lansing and work. He wants many things which will probably appeal to the members of the legislature as radical, and it is upon the legislature that he must depend for these reforms. He will have only one legislative term in which to work.

Mr. Osborn can point out the reforms which he desires and if his legislature does not manufacture the raw material of his ideas into the practical machinery of laws, he can only say at the end of one term that he tried to bring these things about. He must bring these reforms to a new legislature, because the coming legislature of Michigan will have a lot of nutted members, men new at the business of moving their pieces through the intricate mazes of the legislative chessboard. It is hardly time enough that he has given himself.

SAMPSON SHOWS UP WELL.

In Bout With Orloff He Wins Two Falls and Opponent Quits.

Mr. Sampson is confident that conditions will be bettered after the first of the year. He is satisfied with present conditions, at that, because of the depressed condition of the stock market, which always is bad for the show business in these parts.

OLD RESIDENT OF HANCOCK. John Trompeter Had Lived There for Over Fifty Years.

John Trompeter, one of Hancock's oldest residents, died Saturday morning after a short illness, at the home of his son-in-law, Joseph Schneider. He was eighty years of age. For more than half a century he had been a resident of Hancock. He came to this country from Germany in 1827 and four years later went to Hancock. The greater part of his life he spent in the employ of the Quincy Mining company, being an engineer at one of the hoists. He is survived by four children, Mrs. Joseph Schneider of Hancock, John of Hancock, Joseph of California and August of Detroit. He is also survived by his wife, who is dangerously ill at the Schneider home. The deceased was a member of St. Joseph's society and the German Aid society.

WINTER'S FIRST BLIZZARD. Copper Country Has the First Big Snowstorm of the Season.

The copper country "enjoyed" the first big snowstorm of the season yesterday, a genuine blizzard having raged from about 6 o'clock Saturday evening till Sunday noon. About a foot of snow on the level was the amount of the fall, but the high wind, especially yesterday morning, drifted the snow badly and choked up streets, railroads and the street railway lines.

TRAFFIC GENERALLY WAS IMPEDED Saturday night and yesterday. All incoming trains were late and it was only by using the entire snowplow equipment that the Houghton Traction company was enabled to keep its cars in operation, though the schedule was interfered with badly.

PLAY HOUSES ARE DARK THESE DAYS

This Theatrical Season the Poor-est the Copper Country Has Known in Years.

The Rinehart-Hopwood farce, "Seven Days," comes to the Kerredge theater next Friday night and to the Calumet theater the following night. It is the first booking for these theaters in a period of sixteen days, and the last attraction, "My Cinderella Girl," which might just as well not be counted as far as its quality was concerned, followed a hiatus of ten days. There have been eleven "shows" of various qualities, including those presented by one stock company and the Frank E. Long troupe, since the season opened Aug. 23.

Manager Ray Kerredge of the Kerredge theater was asked about this by The Mining Journal Saturday night, in an effort to learn why such a generous territory as the copper country should be neglected by theatrical attractions in mid-season and why such valuable properties as the Kerredge and Calumet theaters should be permitted to lie idle for such long stretches of time.

Mr. Kerredge explains that it has been a bad season for the theatrical business in that the companies are disbanding or laying off daily and that managers are content to play city time rather than to take their chances with one-night stand territory. Managers Kerredge and Cuddihy had a splendid list of bookings at the opening of the season, but many of them have cancelled, probably by the opening of the season in mid-season and why such valuable properties as the Kerredge and Calumet theaters should be permitted to lie idle for such long stretches of time.

Mr. Kerredge is confident that conditions will be bettered after the first of the year. He is satisfied with present conditions, at that, because of the depressed condition of the stock market, which always is bad for the show business in these parts.

LIGHTHOUSE KEEPERS LEAVE.

All of the lighthouses about Keweenaw point have been closed for the winter and will not reopen until the first of April. The keepers have left for home. T. J. Herbert Crittenden of the Gull Island light has returned to Detroit and Assistant Arthur DeChamplain has gone to Bay City. Charles Jonas, first assistant at the Huron Island light, has returned to Calumet.

HOUGHTON GIRL WEDS IN WEST.

Word was received in Houghton Saturday of the marriage at Helena, Mont., of Miss Lillian Treloar, daughter of R. C. Treloar of Houghton, to Philip R. Engles, formerly of Lake Linden, who is employed as an engineer on construction work being done at Houser Lake, near Helena, by the Stone & Webster company. Mr. and Mrs. Engles will make their home at Houser Lake.

TWO DEATHS FROM DIPHTHERIA.

Two more deaths in the Calumet district from the dreaded diphtheria have been reported. The fifteen-year-old son of Ben Hirsch of Centennial died Friday evening and the seven-year-old daughter of Charles Raappanen of Alhambra died Saturday morning. Little diphtheria is reported in the district at present.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL RESIGNS.

E. B. Heiney, principal of the Washington school, Calumet district No. 1, has resigned his position, to take effect the first of February or at the end of the present school semester. Mr. Heiney will go to Chicago to take a more lucrative position. His successor has not been named.

Cupid Hits a Home Run—

Courtney Brazel, the one arm pitching wonder of the past season's Gladstone baseball team, has at last met his conqueror. After the twirler had puzzled the sluggers of the Delta county league for two seasons Dan Cupid stepped to the plate and slammed out a home run hit. After that Brazel capitulated and this week went to Escanaba, appearing at the office of the county clerk, where he applied for a license to marry Miss Mathilda Schneider of Gladstone. The wedding ceremony took place yesterday. Brazel first appeared as a pitcher for the Rapid River team and for several years was one of the star twirlers of that organization. The past season he signed up with the Gladstone team.

Fishing Season Prosperous—

Fishing in that vicinity is just about over for the season and it is announced that 48,000 packages of fish have been taken from the Menominee county shore. The fishermen have received $5.00 per package on the shore and $5.50 per package in Menominee. The season has been the most satisfactory experienced in years and the fishermen are pulling their nets, well contented with the results. The weather has been favorable. In previous years heavy losses have been sustained by nets being carried away by heavy storms; but this year the fishermen have been more fortunate. Their catches have been heavy and there have been few losses to offset their gains.

Soo Men's Mission Important—

W. F. Knox and Engineer L. H. Davis of the Soo have left for Washington, the former as a special representative of the Business Men's association, where they will endeavor to prevail upon the secretary of war to at least temporarily suspend that section of the law providing for the shutting down of the plant of the Michigan Lake Superior Power company's canal when the stage of water in Lake Superior reaches 900. It is said that this proviso was put in the act authorizing the company the use of the water with which to operate its canal by Mr. Clergue and was not at the instance of the government.

This obnoxious clause in the act has caused large losses to the business interests of the city every year since the operation of the canal, inasmuch as the flow of water through the channel has been shut off for several months each year, necessitating the closing down of the Union Carbide company's plant and throwing a large number of workmen out of employment at a season of the year when they are in greatest need of their wages. The company has done everything within its power to protect its employees by giving them work at its Niagara Falls plant and at its quarry, but there was not enough extra work for all with a consequence that many had to seek their bread elsewhere. When the time came for re-opening operations there was considerable difficulty in getting together again a force of experienced workmen.

Just why the government should insist on a strict compliance with the section of the act in reference to the water supply is not very generally understood, as it is recognized that the water flowing during the closed season of navigation might as well be utilized for operating the canal as to go to waste over the rapids and it is not believed it would materially affect lake levels during the navigation season. The construction of the canal the flow of water over the rapids has been materially lessened by the construction of the Chandler-Dunbar plant and by the dumping of material taken from the excavation of the new lock and canal, sufficient in fact, to offset the water that would be used to operate the canal. Mr. Knox will have the best wishes of every resident of the town for his success with the secretary of war, as a repeal of that section of the act would mean that the carbide plant would remain in continuous operation.

Before leaving for the Grand Trunk telephone service. After several hours' discussion, the common council passed an ordinance incorporating the proposition of the Michigan State Telephone company relative to service and rates. A resolution was adopted annulling the franchise of the Grand Trunk Telephone company. This action is conditional on the acquisition by the Michigan State company of the physical property of the Oakland company. No hitch is expected in the carrying out of the plan in the future. Under the new ordinance there will be no change in the present rates for either residential or business phones until the subscribers reach 3,000, when the company may raise the rate for business phones $6 a year.

LAKE CITY.—The board of supervisors of Missaukee county removed Supervisor of the Poor James Cavanaugh from office, having found him guilty of wilful neglect and refusal to do his duty, at the same time exonerating Superintendent Owen McMahon. It was shown that McMahon was unfamiliar with the case and acted wholly on Cavanaugh's advice. The board also charged that the superintendent refused to permit Angus Cameron to be cared for at the poor house. Cavanaugh insisted that Cameron was insane, even though a commission of physicians declared that he is not. Since being prevented from staying at the county home, Cameron has been looked after by his sheriff. He will now be returned to the poor house.

MONROE.—In the convent chapel of St. Mary's solemn high mass was celebrated in honor of the golden jubilee of Sisters Aloysia and Catherine, each of whom has completed 50 years in the order of the Sister Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Fr. Catherine MacLellan, celebrant and Bishop Foley the guest of honor. Sister Aloysia has served thirty years as treasurer of the convent, academy and college and Sister Catherine has been in charge of the college museum for the same length of time. Both are still active in their chosen work.

PONTIAC.—Dr. Harvey S. Chapman, division surgeon for the Grand Trunk railway, claims the record in the matter of rapid vaccinations. Recently a general order was sent out that all G. T. employees be vaccinated. Surgeons started out in all directions and in each instance word was telegraphed ahead to the employees at each station to meet certain train with their arms washed and sleeves rolled up. The instructions said further that employees should enter the baggage car as soon as the train stopped. Successful vaccinations were performed at the rate of 10 a minute and better.

PONTIAC.—But one more step remains to be taken to give Ontario single telephone service. After several hours' discussion, the common council passed an ordinance incorporating the proposition of the Michigan State Telephone company relative to service and rates. Chicago Wheat.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—The feature in the wheat trade early was the appearance of rearing orders in the hands of brokers for the big wire houses at 95 1/2 for May, the same as noted at 96 the same hour yesterday. The local trade took the hint and bought wheat on a quarter of a cent rally. This advance was lost later in the session, and a group of commission houses became active sellers, while some of the pit leaders let go of some long wheat again. This weakness was partly due to the decline in Minneapolis and Duluth. As this is the fourth day down on wheat we would hesitate about selling short just at present.

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, Dec. 10.—The market opened steady and later gained strength, with Steel, Union Pacific and Reading the leaders, they making good advances. Short covering helped and the traders bid them up. This advance is unquestionably due to the decisions in the hard masses. At the time they came out the market was in an oversold condition. The bank statement was really better than expected. We cannot expect to see any continued advance at present, and on sharp rallies the market looks like a share. Today's closing prices were as follows:

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

The Red Metals Mining company's only asset consists of 500,000 shares of Anaconda, which were received in exchange for all its mining property. It is not at all probable that the company will be dissolved during the coming year, and its holdings of Anaconda either placed in the treasury of the Butte Coalition or distributed to stockholders of the latter on a pro rata basis. Ever since its organization, in 1906, the Red Metals company, capitalized for $11,000,000, has been an operating company. Its entire capital in turn is held by the Butte Coalition company. Red Metals took title to the mining properties and operated them in behalf of the Butte Coalition stockholders. Now that these firms form an integral part of the Anaconda company, there is no need to maintain the corporate existence of the Red Metals company and its assets will probably be turned into the Butte Coalition treasury.

The Granby Consolidated dividend of $1 a share is payable Dec. 30 to stock of record Dec. 14. The last dividend on Granby shares was in December, 1909, when 1 per cent was paid. Since that time, however, the outlook has been very uncertain owing to the discovery by Dr. Susman, a metallurgist, who examined the property in behalf of Jacob Langloth, formerly president of the company, that there were only about 6,000,000 tons of ore in reserve. Granby's dividend record has by no means been regular, for disbursements have always been guided entirely by metal market and property conditions. Dividends paid to date have been as follows: 1909, 2 per cent; 1908, 4; 1907, 9; 1906, 12; 1905, 1.

ARIZONA COMMERCIAL. The No. 7 drill of the Arizona Commercial sinking from the crosscut on the seventh level has encountered the so-called No. 2 vein at a depth of slightly more than 900 feet. This is considered a very important development, as it is the second time that the vein has been drilled into the formation nearly 700 feet lower than it was encountered by the No. 4 drill, thereby indicating that the vein extends to depth. It will be remembered that the No. 4 drill passed through sixty feet of mineralized ground commencing at 771 feet, six feet of which was very rich. The new hole has not yet been identified, but it is certain that it is not the Black Hawk lode. The Black Hawk lode has a different dip and it is expected that the two veins will meet somewhere near the 1000-foot point. This new vein is of great importance to Arizona Commercial and if developments thereon prove to be as favorable as indicated by the drilling, it will add an asset to the property which has never been known. The Eureka shaft is down 965 feet and should be at the 1,000 foot depth in the next three weeks, a station will be put out and the crosscut run to open the new vein. This crosscut will be finished so that the vein can be opened by the end of January.

The advertised offering of Calumet & Hecla 5 per cent ten-year gold notes by Curtis & Sanger and Lee, Higginson & Co. has created the impression that Calumet & Hecla was making an issue of notes in addition to the $8,519,000 issued in the spring of 1909. The Calumet & Hecla has made no further note issue beyond the $8,519,000 at present outstanding, and the recent offering by the banking houses above mentioned represents a portion of the $1,988,000 notes which were sold by the Calumet & Hecla to Millet, Roe & Hagen in the early part of 1909. The present offering price is 100 1/2, yielding about 4.90 per cent which compares with 10 1/2, the price at which these notes were offered by the original purchasers. In the purchase of the 125,000 shares of Bigelow stocks by Calumet & Hecla, there was paid $2,700,000 in cash and $5,819,000 in notes. A portion of the cash was raised by the issue of $1,950,000 five per cent notes, which were sold by the company direct to Lee, Higginson & Co., which firm in turn sold the entire issue to the public in February, 1909. Of the $5,819,000 notes delivered to the Bigelow interest, $1,685,000 were sold in March, 1909, to Millet, Roe & Hagen. The difference between the two sets of 5 per cent notes is that the $1,950,000 sold direct by the Calumet & Hecla are callable at par, while the $1,685,000 Bigelow notes are callable at 102 and accrued interest. The other notes delivered to the Bigelow people bear 4 per cent interest. The details of the company's notes outstanding as of April 30 last were as follows:

Calumet & Hecla has no mortgage debt. The present market value of its capital stock is about $4,500,000 or over six times the funded debt. The company has paid dividends continuously since 1871 and for past fourteen years its dividend rate has averaged 190 per cent annum, part of shares being $25.

The East Butte company is holding about 300 tons a day, the greater part of which is first-class ore averaging 8 per cent copper. Just as soon as the market conditions improve and the consumption demands it, the third furnace of the smelter will be started up and it is stated that even with the smelter running at its full capacity the ore now being hoisted out will last for several months working to its capacity for several years to come. The strike on the 800 foot level runs from wall to wall to a width of thirty-eight feet and twenty-eight feet averages better than 10 per cent copper. According to the reports the strike is undoubtedly one of the most important ever made in this district.

 Snow Covers Large Area—According to bulletins published by the department of agriculture, nearly one-half of the area of the United States is now covered with snow. From the Atlantic seaboard to the Rocky Mountains as far west as Little Rock to the Canadian boundary, with the exception of a part of Colorado, is under snow. There is fifteen inches of snow, on an average, in the Lake Superior district.
 Bijou Theatre This Week—A good program is announced for the Bijou theatre the first half of this week. An act of grace and skill above the usual run has been secured by the manager, who is paying more for the act than has been paid in any theatre outside of Detroit. The Clayton trio, who furnish this attraction, are known as Samsonian athletes and Roman Ring Artists, introducing hand balancing and phenomenal feats of strength. Their wardrobe and paraphernalia is very elaborate. The picture plays for the first two days are "The Fur Coat" and "Little Mother" and the "Manufacture of Cheese at Roquefort."

Ask for New Trial—In the case of Henry McKenney vs the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, Engineer Abbott and Captain Mooney, of the steamer Andaste, which was heard in circuit court Friday, the plaintiff will ask for a new trial. His exact position is, aside from minor considerations, that even if there was not enough evidence to hold all the defendants to a joint wrong or to a joint contribution to the permanent injury of the plaintiff, no matter whether in immediate concert or not, still the chief engineer's liability should be submitted to the jury on offer to discontinue as to the other defendants, the action being in tort. The evidence would show the extent of his offending and he would be liable to damages, no matter what the others did. The plaintiff also claims that the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company is responsible for the acts of its superior officers, claimed to have been done in the performance of their duty.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.
ACCIDENT TO ETHEL J.
 Fishing Tug Ran Into Dead Head in Grand Marais Harbor.
 The tug Ethel J., which has been stationed at Marquette during the herring season, and left Friday for Manistique, was wrecked at Grand Marais Friday night, where she put in because of rough weather. In drawing up to Anderson's dock, her bow ran into a dead head lying just below the surface of the water which rammed a hole in the hull about two inches in diameter. The crew did not know that any damage had been done for some time afterward. The tug was moored to the dock and the men went to supper. On their return they found the tug water-logged in four feet of water.
 As the hole was not large the floating of the tug was not a difficult task and unless the unexpected happened, the boat was above water last evening. The boat was loaded below the water line with fishing paraphernalia and the dead head struck just above the steel plates protecting the bow.
 Captain Lobb, of Houghton, the owner of the Ethel J., expected to take the tug to Manistique to fish during the winter, but the accident has made it necessary to change his plans, as the locks at the Soo were closed Saturday. The tug will now go back to Houghton and he expects to use her fishing about for-tage Entry and Keweenaw point all winter.

ODD FELLOWS AT BIG BAY
Party Went There by Special Train to Attend Enjoyable Session.***
 Marquette Odd Fellows who attended the meeting at Big Bay Saturday evening report one of the most profitable and enjoyable sessions they have ever had a part in. The Marquette delegation traveled on a special train, leaving here at 7:45 and arriving at Big Bay at 9:15. There were about forty Marquette Odd Fellows in the party and ten from Birch. They were met at the Big Bay depot by Theo.
 Schneider, superintendent of the Lake Independence Lumber company, and a committee of leading citizens, who escorted the visitors to the hall immediately east of the company's office, which had been fitted up as a lodge room.
 During the evening the highest degree of the order was exemplified, and four candidates were instructed. These were Theo. Schneider, Ed. Peterson, John Ellsworth and L. S. Lindsey. The degree team of Marquette lodge interpreted the ritual, with Fred Williams acting as noble grand.
 Following the work, George Tucker, of Ahnsek lodge, delivered an address on the subject "Getting the Most Out of It." The speaker was in a happy mood and those who heard him were greatly pleased by the nature and substance of his remarks. At the conclusion of the address the audience gave
 Mr. Tucker enthusiastic applause.
 Following the speaking the party, responding to an invitation by Charles Guest, proceeded to the dining room and sat down to a fine luncheon. Following the luncheon toasts were responded to,
 George Tucker acting as toastmaster.
 Among those who responded were Theo.
 Schneider, Wm. Clendenning, John Blom,
 John Guest, Fred Williams, James
 Wright, John Breitenstein and John Williams. Other members also enjoyed the proceedings. As midnight approached the Odd Fellows passed a vote of thanks to Theo. Schneider and John Guest for the splendid entertainment received, and this was followed by three cheers and a tiger. The party then left for Marquette.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO ORGANIZE BRANCH

Enthusiastic Meeting of Ishpeming and Negaunee Members Held Here Yesterday.

Some sixty members of the Knights of Columbus of Ishpeming and Negaunee met yesterday afternoon in the convent hall, and the preliminary steps were taken for the organization of a branch to be known as "Ishpeming Council." George F. Ruez presided over the meeting and B. J. Goodman, Jr., acted as secretary.

A report was submitted to the effect that the Marquette council, to which more than ninety per cent of the members of Ishpeming and Negaunee belong, had given its consent to the organization of a branch here, and its officers and members have volunteered to aid the proposed new council in any way possible. Steward Byrnes, T. F. Carey were present from Marquette, as representatives of the Marquette council, and they offered a number of valuable suggestions. They assured the Knights that the Marquette members stand ready to assist not only in perfecting the permanent organization, but also in the adoption of a class toward the close of the winter.

A temporary organization was perfected, and instructions given to make formal application to the national secretary for the institution of the council. The temporary officers are: George F. Ruez, chairman; B. J. Goodman, secretary; Cleo Meilluer, treasurer; Gerald Small, lecturer; Dr. W. S. Picotte, physician, and William McGee, warden.

The branch will start out with from twenty-five to thirty insurance members and some seventy or eighty associate members. Before a council can be organized at least twenty-five members must apply for insurance. Twenty-three of those present yesterday signed the insurance application, and three others, who were unable to attend, sent word that they would also take out insurance.

The temporary officers were empowered to call another meeting, when the preliminaries necessary for the organization of the council are completed. It is likely that the first class initiation will take place on Decoration Day. An effort will be made to secure sixty or more applications.

LIVELY BALL GAME.

Negaunee Buffaloes Defeated Y. M. C. A. Team Saturday Evening.

In a bat-fest at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Saturday night the Negaunee Buffaloes defeated the Y. M. C. A. indoor-base ball team by the score of 14 to 13.

The game was one of the best and most closely contested that has been played this season. Arvid Henriksson, in the box for the "Y" team struck out twenty-two men and Sam Foad, for the Buffaloes, fanned nineteen. Hendrickson was touched for sixteen hits and he walked two. Ten hits and three bases on balls were scored off Foad. The features were the batting of Heinonen and Butler and the catching of James McCulliffe.

The score by innings was as follows:

TO REST CHRISTMAS WEEK.
Brady's "Baby Mine" Co. Will Not Fill Engagements in This Region.

The managers of the theatres in the iron and copper districts were Saturday advised that William A. Brady's "Baby Mine" company will lay off Christmas week, cancelling its engagements in this section. It is not likely that the company will be seen here later on, as it is booked in another territory.

Wagenhals & Kemper's "Seven Days" company, which will be at Ishpeming theatre next Thursday evening, is now the only attraction booked here prior to the first of the year, with the exception of Dr. Andrew Gillies' lecture on Friday evening.

"Seven Days" has become a synonym for records. Wherever this comedy is played it makes a high water mark. San Francisco is the most recent illustration. "Seven Days" opened at the Columbia Theatre there on Monday night, Aug. 15, to $1400 and jumped the next night to $1600.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. ## Regarding Piano Sale

The public is no doubt attracted by the different "Sales" that are being offered by the dealers in pianos. The majority of these so-called "sales" should be called "Sails" or "Flyers." There is really only one real "Special Sale" on pianos being offered in the country, and that is the "Closing Out Sale" of the Kimball Piano Co. on Cleveland Ave., Ishpeming. The public well knows what our "Special Sales" mean in buying pianos and they fully as well know, what our "Closing Out" sales mean. It means the absolute slaughtering of prices. Each special sale we hold, we do more business than the previous one. There must be something in it. Don't you think so? Furthermore we are "Manufacturers." We know what our goods are and that they are the finest pianos made.

The majority of retailers only know about their goods, what the salesmen from whom they buy tell them, which is not always good authority. We are not philanthropists by any means. We are Piano Manufacturers. We sell direct to the people. We know how to sell our instruments. That is the extent of our "generosity." We do not believe in sitting around wearing out our pants and getting rusty, and then when an occasional customer comes in make him pay for it. We sell more pianos and organs than all the other dealers put together and we don't have to charge you two prices in order to break even. If you have any doubt about this attend this "Closing Out Sale" then you will see, and know, and appreciate where our "generosity" comes in. Call it what you will—you have a chance right now to save a lot of money on the finest Pianos in the land at this "Closing Out Sale" of the Kimball Piano Co. on Cleveland Ave., opposite Braastad's store, Ishpeming, Mich.

The employees of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's Lake and Hard Ore mines will be paid today, and the company's Cliffs shafts and Salisbury workmen will receive their checks tomorrow.

FAKE IRRIGATION SCHEMES HIT HARD

Blow at Wildcatting in New Regulations Promulgated by the U. S. Government.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 9.—New regulations issued by the secretary of the interior in regard to annual and final proofs on desert land entries promise to deal a serious blow to wild-cat irrigation projects. Among the changes the power of the interior department to pass upon the reliability of irrigation companies under certain conditions.

The step is one which is expected to go a long way toward placing the financing of schemes to reclaim arid land upon a more substantial basis and bring about reforms of a number of evil practices.

Showings made in the Denver land district are partially responsible for the more strict interpretation of the law by the secretary of the interior. The records of the land office in that district show there have been 487 original desert entries since March 3, 1891, while there have been but 684 final entries.

This is construed as indicating that under the desert land law there has been much more speculation in public lands and relinquishments than there has been in reclaiming of desert land by putting it under irrigation.

The construction placed upon the desert land laws in the new regulations by the secretary of the interior require a much more strict compliance with the law than formerly existed. The most important feature of the new regulations is in relation to annual expenditures.

Heretofore it has been the custom to a large extent for desert land entrymen to purchase stock in some irrigation company, which company did not possess any definite available water supply, give their notes for the stock and thus claim this promissory note as an annual expenditure upon the desert land entries.

Entrymen Must Pay Cash.
The secretary of the interior now holds that such a corporation must show to the field officers of the land department that they have a definite and available supply of water, and the desert land entryman must pay cash for such a water right, at least to the extent of the annual expenditure required.

The new regulations say that no expenditure for stock by interest in any project through which water is to be secured will be accepted as satisfactory until a special agent, or some other authorized officer, has submitted a report as to the resources and reliability of the company, including its actual water right, and such report has been favorably acted upon by the department.

The requirements are such that the federal government actually takes to itself the right to pass upon the financial standing and reliability of state irrigation companies whenever entries upon public desert lands are concerned.

It is considered a radical departure from past practices and is going to make a long stride towards eradicating wildcatting among Western irrigation schemes.

The new regulations also require that desert land entrymen must hereafter comply with the law by filing with the land office at the end of the third year after entry a map, or plan, showing the character and extent of the improvements placed on the claim.

The secretary also holds in regard to final proofs that:
"The final proof must also show that the claimant has made the preliminary filings and taken such other steps as are required by the laws of the state or territory in which the land is located, for the purpose of securing a right to the use of a sufficient supply of water to irrigate successfully all the irrigable land embraced in his entry."

The secretary also holds that the assignment of a desert land entry on the day of entry, or shortly thereafter, will be treated as suggesting fraud, and such cases will be carefully scrutinized.

EFFECTS OF SMOKING.

The degree of mentality attained by the non-smoking student is greater than that of the smoker, while in physique the balance is in favor of the smoker. A compilation made of the members of one college class shows that during the period of undergraduate life, which is essentially 3½ years, the first group shows in weight 10.4 per cent. more than the second and 11 per cent. more than the third; in girth of chest the first group grows 26.7 per cent. more than the second and 22 per cent. more than the third; in capacity of lungs the first group gains 77 per cent. more than the second and 49.5 per cent. more than the third. As a rule, the non-smoker is mentally superior to both the occasional and the habitual smoker. As a rule the non-smoker is equal, and probably slightly superior physically, to all members of the smoking classes except the athletes. It may well be queried as to whether the smoking athlete does not make his gain at too high a mental cost to make it pay.

Result of Engineers' Vote on Strike Question To Be Made Known.

According to the announcement made several weeks ago, which is generally believed to be authoritative by local railroad men, the result of the strike polled among the engineers of sixty-one railroads operating, south, west and north of Chicago, included among which is the South Shore, will be made public in Chicago today.

users are asking for an increase in wages amounting on the average to 7 per cent and changes in the terms of employment, which, on Sept. 26, the companies refused to grant.

Local railroad men do not talk much about the strike, though all who belong to the Brotherhood have sent in their votes. Each man sent in his ballot sealed to the head offices of the brotherhood so that no one knows how the South Shore men voted, not even the engineers themselves.

After the vote has been counted, in case the majority favor a strike, a last opportunity will be given the railroads to meet the demands of the engineers. If the companies ignore the opportunity, says Warren Stone, chief of the Brotherhood every engine on all of the lines affected will be stilled, the fires drawn and the engineers will step out of their cabs, within five hours after the strike order goes out.

MAKING GOOD HEADWAY.

Corrigan-McKinney Co. Will Soon Have Water Removed from Barasa Mine.

Good headway is being made with the pumping of the water from the Barasa mine, which was recently taken under option by the Corrigan-McKinney company. It has been necessary to add a second boiler, as the first one installed did not have sufficient capacity to furnish the steam required for the successful operation of the pumps. Many mining men believe that the Corrigan-McKinney company will find ore in paying quantities in the Barasa property. The mine has had a checked career, a considerable expenditure of money having been made without the expected results, but it is believed by many mining men who understand the nature of the formation in that vicinity that the property has never been given a fair chance. The Barasa lies just northwest of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's big Negaunee mine, where extensive bodies of ore are now being mined. The property is owned by a company of Marquette county men, who for years stuck to the task of opening a mine in the face of great discouragement. The first work at the Barasa was done in 1893. An ore body had been located by diamond drilling and an attempt was made to open it. An overburden of wet sand finally defeated this attempt and operations were transferred to a slate formation. The shaft sinking was successful at this point, and then followed a long underground search. It was not until six years later that what was supposed to be the main ore body, was encountered, but the deposit proved to be much smaller than expected. The owners, none of whom were wealthy men, had expended about all the money they could conveniently furnish, and operations were finally suspended. Some work has been done since that time, but the big ore body which the Barasa interests believe exists somewhere in the tract is still to be found.

EXPLORATORY WORK HAS BEEN SUSPENDED

Diamond Drilling and Test Pitting Work at an End in Dead River District.

The Duluth parties who have been conducting exploratory work north of here, near the "hoist," for eleven months past have suspended both drilling and test pit operations. The St. Clair Exploration company had the drilling contract. The last drill in use sunk test holes, one to a depth of over 1,800 feet and the other 925 feet. The result of the drilling has not been made known, but it is understood that it was fairly satisfactory to the men who were exploring the land, and it is announced that the work will be resumed in the spring.

Both drill holes were put down about two miles north of the "hoist," and the test pits were sunk near the drill holes. For some two weeks past the men have been working at a great disadvantage, because of the large quantity of snow in the woods. One of the men employed on the job, who was in the city Saturday, said that the snow was two and one-half feet deep on the level. The snow was so soft that the men were obliged to use snow shoes in going to and from the "hoist."

The parties conducting the work figured that it would be a difficult, as well as expensive, task to continue operations during the winter months, for it would cost considerable money to keep the roads open, as there are no logging operations in that vicinity this winter. The explorers have stored part of their outfit in Negaunee and the remainder of the equipment has been left at the camps.

One of the workmen Saturday said that the indications in some of the test pits, as well as in the drill holes, looked favorable for the finding of ore bodies. The formations are similar in many respects to the formations on the Marquette range. It is thought that by putting down a few more drill holes the explorers will be able to determine whether or not it will pay to continue the work.

Operations in the Dead River district were conducted under the superintendency of Captain J. J. Darcey, who expects to spend the winter in Duluth. The members of the drill crew will also go to Duluth, but they do not expect to remain there long, as the company has drilling contracts in the Mesabi district and on the Marquette range. The St. Clair company has a number of drills at work in the Iron River district, on the Menominee range. The company's affairs are managed by George H. St. Clair, son of George A. St. Clair, formerly of Ishpeming.

OLD LADY INJURED.

Mrs. St. Cyr, living on Lincoln street, fell last evening between 5 and 6 o'clock while crossing Iron street, between Winter & Suss's block and the First National Bank building, sustaining painful injuries. She was picked up and carried into J. M. Perkins' drug store, and was later removed to her home.

where she was attended by Dr. G. M. Belhumeur, of the Negaunee hospital staff. Mrs. St. Cyr is about seventy years of age.

TO LOCATE HERE.

William H. Yates, son of Cashier T. C. Yates of the First National bank, and wife, are to take up their residence in Negaunee. Mr. Yates, who has been in the employ of the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee for some two years past, has been placed in charge of the company's business in the upper peninsula. For the past two years he has been the company's representative in Texas and Oklahoma. The transfer is an advancement for Mr. Yates, as this is one of the company's most important territories. For some years past the Allis-Chalmers company has been supplying many of the mining corporations of the iron and copper districts with the greater part of their machinery.

SPORTSMEN'S MEETING IN MARQUETTE, DEC. 20.

President Wyman Urges Large Attendance to Discuss New Game Law Legislation.

Thomas B. Wyman, of Munising, president of the Upper Peninsula Sportsmen's association, has called a meeting of the clubs forming the association, to be held at Marquette, on Tuesday, Dec. 20. He feels the importance of the sportsmen of the upper peninsula getting together and working in harmony for favorable game legislation, and believes that much can be accomplished in this manner than by individual effort. He has written the various gun clubs of the upper peninsula, urging them to send one or more representatives to the meeting. It is hoped that strong, representative men be chosen to represent each of the clubs at Marquette.

Portions of Mr. Wyman's letter follow:

"The legislature of our state will convene next month and it is important that the sportsmen of the upper peninsula get together upon game legislation to be urged at the coming session. Past experience has proven that nothing can be gained by individual club recommendations. Strength lies in unity. We must agree upon a course of action, upon needed changes, upon new laws, and upon harmonious action to be taken through the legislature. There must be no hanging back or making counter recommendations. To bring this about a meeting of the Upper Peninsula Sportsmen's association is called for 10 o'clock a. m., Dec. 20, at the Marquette court house, supervisors' room, and we urge your club to appoint one or more official representatives to attend this meeting and place your club upon record as to your ideas, but please give them the power to compromise, for without the privilege nothing will come of the meeting."

President W. B. Mershon, of the Michigan Sportsmen's association, Friday appointed a committee to push legislation for more favorable statutes regarding bird, fish and game hunting. The committee is James Swan, Detroit; Thornton Dixon, Monroe; Albert Stickle, Grand Rapids; C. V. E. Townsend, Negaunee; George Pardee, Owosso. The proceedings of the association meeting held at Owosso some time ago have been sent out in pamphlet form all over the state and many responses have been received favoring more effective game laws.

E. C. HUNGERFORD DIED RECENTLY IN EAST

Was One of the Industrial Leaders in Marquette County in the Early Days.

The death of Edward C. Hungerford, of Chester, Conn., early this month, at the age of eighty-three, removes one of the pioneers of former industries of the Lake Superior region. He heard "the call of the wild" and was attracted to northern shores in the early 50's. He was associated with Charles T. Harvey in the construction of the first Soo canal and had charge of the lands granted for the promotion of that enterprise. In that connection he underwent some actually perilous experience on land and water.

In 1857 he became local manager of the Pioneer Iron company, when the furnace at Negaunee was built and operated by L. D. Harvey, of this vicinity, and Stephen R. Gay, who died a comparatively short time afterwards, after building and running the Collinsville furnace on the site of the present light and power station. At this time the Negaunee furnace was operated by a company, among the stockholders in which were Ezra Corning of New York, Governor Fairbanks of Vermont and Horatio Seymour of New York.

In 1862 Mr. Hungerford returned to his home in Connecticut and in 1867 he organized the Deer Lake Iron company, personally superintending the construction of an iron furnace at Deer Lake, near Ishpeming, and for a time its operation, leaving it in charge of the late C. H. Hall for a time, afterward superintendent of the Lake Superior Iron company. Among Mr. Hungerford's other associates were H. H. Stafford, now of Newton, Mass., and B. W. Wright and Geo. P. Cummings of this city.
