-Reforestation Makes Much

The superintendent of public instruction of West Virginia has written W. R. Cates, state game, fish and forestry warden, for information relating to the organization of the Forest Scouts Michigan, a volunteer force of boy work ers who have done much to reduce the forest fire losses. The West Virginia MISS BREITUNG'S ers who have done much to reduce the official has had favorable reports on this body, and desires to organize a similar force of Scouts in the schools of that state. He expects to model it some what on the Michigan organization. Mr. Oats has responded by sending him full Michigan in 1913 shows that the ag- place. Of Max Kleist she had no knowlgregate of damage was much less than edge in most other years, and that it was, in fact, merely nominal. The cost of putting out failed to gain any trace of her the fires is given as $6,645.40.

The enrollment of the Forest Scouts in the year was 3,000, and besides extinguishing some 700 fires, some of them of magnitude, the boys did service as with Mrs. Breiting in the social galeties of magnitude, the boys did service as messengers for the regular wardens and of the city and figuring in many of the supervisors. In May the Secute plant-ed seedling forests of 1,000 trees each, season, and has since been one of the neighboring to many of the principal most popular young women in the towns and villages of the state.

Reports from the Scout forests indicate good stands of seedlings with thrifty growth, excepting the towns of the Huron shore where a six weeks' drouth fellowed planting. The stands show an average live eatch of more than @ 60 per cent. Scotch pine and white pine 🐯 have proved the hardiest stock. Contrary to expectations, western yellow pine leads Norway, lodge-pole pine, and three varieties of spruce in hardiness. These seedlings were furnished the department by the public domain commission and transferred to the Scouts on a frank tariff by the railways of the state. Under the supervision of State Forester Marcus Schnaf the seedlings 🚱 were packed for transportation with exceptional care and reached the Scout companies in perfect condition.

As a result of the educational campaign by the Scoots it is doubtful if 🐯 there is today any English speaking 55 adult in the forest district who does not appreciate the disastrons effects of has not some knowledge of the methods of fighting same and precautionary measures. Inasmuch as it has been 💸 noted that many forest fires were set alien immigrants, an special effort has been made to acquaint this class of, people with preventive knowledge. Among the Finnish, Italian, Roumanian, Servian and Hungarian settlements, particularly in the counties of Marquette, Baraga, Iron, Houghton and Ontonagon Scout companies for the several nationalities have been organized and the Eng- 100 lish text in fire fighting translated by & lecturing interpreters. # Dangerous Conditions Still Exist.

It is said there is no warrant for any feeling of real security in the control of forest fires in the future, for it is evident to all familiar with the situation that without the aid of suppletive agencies the provisions made by the state would prove grossly inadequate. The independent patrol by the lumbermen has no positive guarantee of continuance and the Scout work of the school boys is the result of patriotism which this department can ask for but not command. In the counties of Ontonagon, Marquette, Dickinson, Delta and Luce there are more square miles of fire-trap slashings guarded by a state fire fund of $10,000 than in the entire state of Minnesota where the annual fire fighting fund is more than $100,000.

THE STORE OF QUALITY

Announcement

A number of Marquette merchants have banded together for the direct purpose of rebating to out of town customers on all cash purchases made on Saturdays.

We did not join these dealers because we consider the principle of the purpose radically wrong.

We do not believe in any policy whereby our city customers will be discriminated against.

We believe if a rebate for cash purchases on Saturdays will faciliate buying by out of town customers-city customers should be given the same opportunity—and what's more, we consider them justly entitled to it.

Accordingly - we offer a price reduction of 5% for cash purchases on Saturdaysthroughout our entire stores - Clothing, Furnishings, Men's and Women's Footwear-to our out of town as well as home trade - until further advised, This 5% rebate will be paid back to each cash customer directly the sale is made.
