

GERMANY'S NOTE ON ARABIC INCREASES TENSION

DOLLAR TO LEAD MONEY MARKET, IS BOARD'S HOPE

Federal Reserve Commission, in Revising Regulations Governing Rediscount of Bankers' Acceptances, Asserts Time Has Come to Make U. S. Currency Standard.

America Should Now Do What Europe Has Done for Generations in Carrying Import and Export Transactions, It Is Said—Time Is Called Auspicious.

Washington, Sept. 10.—The time has come, in the opinion of the federal reserve board, when the American dollar should take a dominating place in the financial markets of the world and when American or dollar exchange should become the medium through which the millions of exports and imports of the United States are paid. To open the field for American exchange the board today issued revised regulations governing the re-discount of bankers' acceptances by federal reserve banks, providing, among other things, that under certain conditions such acceptances may be renewed.

WOULD TAKE EUROPE'S PLACE.

In explanation of the new regulation the board issued a statement tonight which said:

"It has been the aim of the board to do everything in its power to create for the American acceptance, that is dollar exchange, a dominating position in the world market. Present conditions offer in this respect a great opportunity. The United States should now do what Europe has done for many generations for the United States, that is to say that the banking facilities of the United States should be used for carrying import and export transactions for foreign countries just as much as Europe up to now carried by its acceptance of the import and export transactions of the United States. In order to do this with the exchange market disorganized it was thought that it would facilitate foreign transfers if liberal conditions should be allowed for the renewal of such drafts so as to enable these foreign countries to have ample time to prepare the necessary cover against the acceptances drawn by them."

ALLIED BOARD NO INFLUENCE.

Members of the board said today that there is no connection between the revision of the acceptance regulations and the visit of the Anglo-French commission to the United States to take up exchange problems with American bankers. It was said that the visit of the commission never has been discussed by the board and the statement points out that the revision of the regulations has been under consideration "quite two months," or long before it was known here that the commission was coming.

ALLIED FINANCIERS ARRIVE.

New York, Sept. 10.—The Anglo-French commission, seeking a way to meet the huge bills of Great Britain and France for American munitions and other supplies, reached New York today, was welcomed by J. P. Morgan and met approximately one hundred prominent bankers, insurance heads and leaders in other lines of finance late this afternoon at a reception in Mr. Morgan's library. Tonight the commissioners were dinner guests of a party of New York financiers. Actual negotiations as to the credit they hope to establish here were not begun and will not be for several days. During this period the commission expects to meet many other bankers and exporters and to become familiar with the situation. With these preliminaries disposed of the commission will start on the actual details of the proposed loan.

WILL BE JOINT CREDIT.

For publication, the commission confirmed its comment to a statement issued upon its arrival here on the steamship Lapland. This statement detailed the personnel of the body and recited its purpose. It was assumed to be significant that in this statement reference was made to the commission as the "joint Anglo-French commission." This was taken as an indication that the credit which it hopes to establish here would be of a joint nature as previously reported unofficially.

GERMANS AGAIN TRY TO PIERCE WESTERN LINES

French Admit the Loss of Some Trenches in the Vosges, but Lay This to Use by Foe of Asphyxiating Gases, Adding That Counter-Attack Drove Invaders Back.

Great Vilna Railway System in East Now Apparently Is Only Object of the Teutons, Autumn Rains Precluding Chance of Forcing a Decisive Struggle.

London, Sept. 10, 10 p. m.—The Germans have repeated in the Vosges mountains the attempts which they made to break through the French lines in the Argonne forest, which seemingly indicates that the long-expected offensive in the west will not be delayed much longer. In these attacks the Germans claim that they occupied some French trenches. The French report issued later admits this, but says the German progress was accomplished by the use of asphyxiating gases and that in counter-attacks the French regained the greater part of their lost ground at Hartmans-Weilerkopf and later repulsed another violent attack against that position.

Hartmans-Weilerkopf, which was taken by the French during their spring and summer operations, probably has been the scene of as much hard fighting as any place on the whole front. It has changed hands a dozen times. Yesterday the Germans, by assault, again got a footing on the summit, but, according to the French report, were driven down again during the night. Outside these events the armies in the west have been engaged in almost continual artillery duels, bomb-throwing and air raids.

RAINS LIKELY TO STOP RUSH.

In the east there is little change in the situation. Most of the great Vilna railway system already is in the possession of the invaders, but they are now aiming particularly at the main trunk line, which, starting at Riga, runs through Dyvinsk, Vilna, Lida and the east Priepet marshes to Rovno and onward to Lemberg, Galicia. Military circles express the opinion that once this line is in the hands of the Austro-German forces they will go into winter quarters, for the more important military purpose of bringing up large part of the Russian forces to a decisive battle under disadvantageous conditions now seems out of the question, as the autumn rains already have set in.

Paris, Aug. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The flag of the Chasseurs a Pied (light infantry) that was carried into Alsace by the 10th battalion in the early rush toward the Rhine, and was decorated with the military medal after the affair of Saint-Blaise, where the Chasseurs captured a German flag, and was afterward carried to the North of France with the 10th battalion, has just made another voyage across the front, after having the war cross pinned upon it by General Joffre. With its special guard it was received at general headquarters and saluted by the general staff, including a convalescent officer of the Chasseurs who lost a leg in the Vosges. The following day it was en route again for the Vosges to be transferred from the 10th to the 11th battalion with impressive solemnity.

Guarding the flag of the Chasseurs is one of the highest honors in the French army. There is only one for the 20 battalions, including the Alpinists. It is the first French flag to be decorated with the military medal and the Cross of the Legion of Honor. It is generally considered a battalion that has distinguished itself. Until 1913 it was held by the 20th battalion at Vincennes. By decision of the general staff and the president of the republic it was conferred to the 10th battalion in reward for the exploit of Sergeant Garnier in capturing an imperial flag in the cemetery at the battle of Solferino. It is given to the 11th in recognition of the valor of the Alpine Chasseur, to whom is due the progress of the French toward the Rhine in the valley of the Fecht and in the valley of the Thur.

There is perhaps more esprit de corps among the Chasseurs than in any other arm of the service. The men are so carefully chosen as to make it an honor to be incorporated in a battalion of Chasseurs, and none but the brave seek it, for everyone knows that his place is in front.

CARRANZA SENDS REFUSAL TO TALK OF MAKING PEACE

Note from the First Chief to Pan-American Conferees, Answering Appeal to Treat With the Opposing Factions, Sets Forth His Claims to Recognition

To Agree to the Request Would Impair the Dignity of Mexico, It Is Declared, and Would Be a Bad Precedent—Offers to Discuss Matter With Diplomats.

Vera Cruz, Sept. 10.—General Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Constitutional party, has declined to acquiesce in the invitation of the diplomatic representatives of the United States and the Latin-American countries that he join the leaders of the various factions in Mexico in an endeavor to bring about peace.

The reply of General Carranza, which was handed to John R. Silliman, President Wilson's representative in Mexico, at noon today, said that General Carranza could not consent that the interior affairs of the republic be handled by mediation or by the initiative of any foreign government inasmuch as all are obliged to respect the inalienable right of the sovereignty of nations and since, upon the acceptance of the invitation of Your Excellencies to attend a conference with the chiefs of the rebel factions, with a view of returning peace to Mexico, he would impair profoundly the independence of the republic and would establish the precedent of foreign interference in the determination of its interior affairs.

NO FOREIGN INTERFERENCE.

"Having informed General Venustiano Carranza, the first chief of the Constitutional army, of your note, I have seen fit to address Your Excellencies to inform you in the name of the first chief that he cannot consent that the interior affairs of the republic be handled by mediation or by any initiative of any foreign government inasmuch as all are obliged to respect the inalienable right of the sovereignty of nations and since, upon the acceptance of the invitation of Your Excellencies to attend a conference with the chiefs of the rebel factions, with a view of returning peace to Mexico, he would impair profoundly the independence of the republic and would establish the precedent of foreign interference in the determination of its interior affairs.

"ALL DEPENDS ON CARRANZA."

"I am sure that Your Excellencies do not doubt that Mexico is at present in the throes of a revolution in which it is proposed to wipe out the last vestige of the colonial epoch as well as all the errors and abuses of past administrations, and realize the noble aspirations for the welfare and the betterment of the Mexican people.

"The first chief bears the immense responsibility of the realization of the national ambitions and he cannot by means of any dealings endanger the fate of the country nor permit the enemies of the cause which he represents to participate directly in the government.

ACQUIESCENCE MEANS FALL.

"The first chief, with an army of one hundred and fifty thousand men, at present controls the greater part of the national domain and in the extensive zone subject to his authority he has re-established all the functions of public administration. From the foregoing I do not doubt that Your Excellencies will have the immediate conviction that upon entering into agreements with the conquered factions the first chief would renounce not alone the victory gained at the cost of so great a sacrifice, but also the great chieftainship of the Constitutional army and the executive power of the nation and break faith with the people and violate the confidence reposed in him by the army and the Mexican people.

WILL MAKE PEACE HIMSELF.

"In view of the foregoing considerations the first chief of the Constitutional army in charge of the executive power of the nation recommends that I say to you that he regrets not being able to accept, upon the conditions, and for the object indicated, your courteous invitation, but that, convinced of the sincerity and noble desires of the governments of our Excellencies to contribute toward the re-establishment of peace in Mexico that this will soon be accomplished by the forces of the Constitutional movement, and in order to reciprocate the courtesies of Your Excellencies and your worthy proposition and as a proof of the harmony and frank friendship which should exist between the North American republics, he, for his part, has the honor to invite you to attend a meeting with him which might be held in one of the frontier towns on the Rio Grande to the end of considering the affairs of Mexico from the international viewpoint.

(Signed) "JESUS ACUNA, Secretary in Charge of Foreign Relations."

CARRANZA WANTS TO TALK.

Washington, Sept. 10.—General Carranza's reply, rejecting the Pan-American appeal for a peace conference in Mexico, was not unexpected by Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American diplomats. For weeks it had been known that Carranza's response would be unfavorable, but intimations have reached Washington of his purpose to ask for a meeting with representatives of the conferees to discuss international phases of the situation and officials have indicated that such a proposal would be favorably received.

A meeting of the Pan-American conferees is to be held within the next few days to consider the responses which have come from all of the prominent leaders in Mexico to whom the appeal was addressed.

LIKELY TO GIVE HIM HEARING.

It was suggested today that Carranza's proposition probably would be accepted and that action upon the replies of Villa and others who have agreed to the peace convention might be delayed pending the outcome of a conference with Carranza.

Such a conference on international phases as Carranza asks, it is pointed out, might result in a general discussion through which some agreement for a settlement of the situation might be reached. The progress which the Carranza military forces have made since the Pan-American conferees made their appeal is expected to have a material bearing on the negotiation.

IS INTERNATIONAL QUESTION.

The suggestion is made here that even the matter of a provisional government in Mexico could be regarded as an international question inasmuch as all the principal governments of the world have interests at stake in that country and are anxious to have turbulent conditions there adjusted.

The matter of claims of foreign governments growing out of the revolution and the ability of the Carranza government to afford protection to lives and property of foreigners would be subjects for discussion.

MEXICANS KILL "TRAITORS."

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 10.—Another Mexican was killed in Texas today, this time by Mexicans near Lyford, just north of Brownsville. This was the second killing of Mexicans about Lyford in the past two days. Five Mexicans were in the band which killed their two countrymen. They first were seen last night, when they skirted through the brush outside of the town. Detachments of the Twenty-sixth United States infantry chased them, but lost them in the brush.

It was believed that the killing of the two Mexicans was an act of vengeance, the dead men having been friendly to Americans. One of the men in the band, apparently the leader, was recognized as a Mexican seen a few days ago among raiders near the Rio Grande river. For bandits to attack their own countrymen is something new in the border situation.

A delegation from San Benito today asked Colonel Robert L. Bullard of the Twenty-sixth infantry at Harlingen for two more companies of infantry to be stationed at San Benito. Forty American settlers, it was said, already have left their farms in the San Benito section because of the Mexican troubles, but the placing of more troops in that vicinity might give the farmers a feeling of security.

VILLA EVACUATES TORREON.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 10.—The evacuation of Torreon, Mex., a Villa stronghold, is announced in a telegram received at the Carranza consulate here today. The retirement of the Villa troops after an occupation of the city extending over a period of several months, it is said, was due to the approach of a strong Carranza force under the command of General Trevino, who has been in charge of the operations near Monterrey.

The consulate message said that the forces of General Urbina have revolted against General Villa and that Generals Fierro and Chao have been sent as peace-makers. It is reported that an exodus from Torreon to the border is in progress.

RELATIONS SO STRAINED SEVERING POINT IS NEAR WASHINGTON BELIEVES

Attitude Taken by Government at Berlin, Coupled with Dumba Incident, Creates a Grave Situation.

MANY TEUTONIC DIPLOMATS INVOLVED BY ACTION OF AUSTRIAN AMBASSADOR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—

President Wilson's request for the recall of the Austrian ambassador, Dr. Constantine Theodor Dumba, has broadened into a situation involving Captain Franz von Papien, the military attache of the German embassy; Alexander Nuber von Perked, the Austrian consul general in New York, and possibly Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. The official view is that the ambassador, although technically involved, is not so seriously concerned as the military attache or the consul general. It is thought likely that both of the latter may be recalled or dismissed from the country.

Coupled with Germany's disappointing and unsatisfactory explanation of the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic, after Count von Bernstorff had given assurances that full satisfaction would be given if it was established that a German submarine sank the ship, official Washington views the friendly relations with the Germanic powers strained more toward the breaking point than ever before.

TALK OF BREAK RESUMED.

Hopes that the submarine crisis had been safely passed and that a break between Germany and the United States had been avoided were displaced today by misgivings. Talk of the possibility of breaking diplomatic relations was heard again, although this time it involved both the central powers on the theory that Austria, after having her ambassador practically dismissed from the country, might stand with her ally in her relations with the United States.

Unofficial reports that a second note had been started from the Berlin foreign office for Washington furnished about the only basis of optimism in official quarters so far as the submarine controversy was concerned. There was no official intimation that another communication was on the way, but the American reply to the note on the Arabic will be delayed until officials can learn whether to expect anything additional from Berlin. It may be stated, however, that if nothing comes in the nature of a modification of Germany's explanation an American note will reach Berlin probably early next week which will set forth the views of the United States in a brief and unmistakable manner.

GERMAN STAND CAUSES GLOOM.

Germany's declaration that while she regrets the loss of Americans she recognizes no liability for indemnity even if the submarine commander was mistaken in believing the Arabic was about to attack him, especially offering to arbitrate the principle, is regarded in official circles as leaving the whole submarine question practically where it was left by the Berlin government's unresponsive attitude toward the Lusitania negotiations and in remarkable contravention of the favorable view which state department officials had been led to take by the statements of the German ambassador.

The president spent most of today going over the German note.

No official comment was made at the White House or the state department, but the disappointment of officials was undisguised. The latest turn in the submarine controversy almost overshadowed the Dumba case.

VON PAPIEN ATTACKED OFFICIALS.

Captain von Papien is involved in the Dumba case because he forwarded by James P. J. Archibald, the American correspondent traveling under an American passport, a personal letter in which he made offensive statements about American officials. Moreover, Ambassador Dumba's letter to the Vienna foreign office, found on Archibald, mentioned von Papien as having approved what the state department in its note to the Austro-Hungarian government characterized as a conspiracy to cripple the legitimate industries of the United States.

Consul General Nuber is drawn into the case because the Dumba letter disclosed that he was connected with this strike plan.

High officials indicated today that the government would take steps of some kind against the editor of a Hungarian newspaper in this country from whom a memorandum was inclosed in the Dumba letter outlining carefully prepared plans for putting into effect the scheme for handicapping munitions plants.

VON BERNSTORFF'S PART TRIVIAL.

Count von Bernstorff is involved technically because Archibald carried a letter for him, but as it was a copy of a statement previously made to the ambassador by Secretary Lansing wholly of an innocuous character, officials do not regard the German ambassador's status in the affair as approaching that of his military attache or the Austrian consul general.

It is quite probable that until the Vienna foreign office replies to the request of the withdrawal of Dr. Dumba nothing further will be done in his case, nor in the cases of von Papien or Nuber. If the receipt of documentary evidence bears out the information now in the hands of the state department, officials would not be surprised to see both men withdrawn by their home government, or, as a final resource, dismissed from the country.

The fact that von Papien's letter was a personal one would not alter the situation. The copy of the German note on the Arabic, as received at the state department, varied from the copy called to the Associated Press from Germany only in that the former said the submarine stopped the English steamer Dumbly about sixty nautical miles south of Kin-sale instead of sixteen. Otherwise the two copies were pronounced by state department officials as identical.

AUSTRIAN SOCIETY HEAD TELLS PRESIDENT MOST OF COUNTRYMEN BACK HIM

Chicago, Sept. 10.—A telegram expressing the belief that "more than half the population of Austria-Hungary condemn the Austrian ambassador's attempts to interfere with American industries" was sent to President Wilson from Chicago today by an organization representing more than twelve thousand of Dr. Dumba's countrymen.

This announcement was made by Emil Tschlar, president of the Slovak Guard, an organization of representatives from various societies whose members come from the northern part of Austria-Hungary. The message to the president, Mr. Tschlar said, characterizes Dr. Dumba's action as a violation of every diplomatic propriety, applauds President Wilson's course in demanding his recall and expresses confidence that the president "will safeguard American interests against any and every foreign nation."

NEWS REPORT SAYS CUNARD LINER SUNK

Paris, Sept. 11, 2:08 a. m.—The steamer Alexandria, owned by the Cunard Steamship company, was torpedoed Thursday, seventy miles from Cape Palos, near Murcia, Spain, according to the Madrid correspondent of the Havas agency. Twenty-eight of the crew have been landed at Alazaron, Spain.

LOWER PENINSULA IS SWEEP BY STORM

Detroit, Sept. 10.—A terrific electrical storm swept over western and southern Michigan this afternoon. Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Jackson, received the brunt of the rain, hail, wind and lightning and damage amounting to probably $75,000 was done. At Jackson the hail destroyed green houses and smashed windows all over the city. Many orchards were wiped out.

PLANS FOR BIG WARSHIPS ARE SIGNED BY DANIELS

Washington, Sept. 10.—Plans for two new battleships, authorized by the last congress, were signed today by Secretary Daniels. They will be the largest and most powerful warships ever designed for the American navy and in addition to formidable main batteries of twelve fourteen-inch rifles each, will be provided with new safeguards against torpedo attack and anti-aircraft guns.

WAR AND RHEUMATISM.

Among the incidental detriments of the European war to which our people on this side of the world are subject, it appears that the price of sodium galliciate, sometimes prescribed for the relief of rheumatism, is today eight times what it was before hostilities began. This is not due to a sudden increase in the number of rheumatic patients over there, states the Boston Post, but to the fact that the source of his medicine is caribolic acid, which all Europe is using in the manufacture of explosives.

This, like other coal-tar derivatives, has been most largely drawn from abroad by the United States. Today, Europe will take all we can give and caribolic acid, which a year ago cost here 7 cents a pound, has soared to $1.50. It is a practical illustration of the interdependence of the peoples of the world through exchange of products. Sufferings due to the deprivations of war are by no means confined to the nations engaged in active conflict.

FUT NONE BUT AMERICANS ON GUARD.

MARQUETTE STUNG, TOO.

The Mining Journal was a little premature the other day when it commented gratefully on Marquette's escape from a visitation by the wily grafters who composed the Acme Suit & Cloak company, reported to have taken $10,000 out of the copper country.

The revelation that the Acme Suit & Cloak company made such a considerable haul in Marquette, with so little made about it by its victims, raises the interesting question how many other upper peninsula towns were worked from the copper country headquarters.

Little sympathy will go out to those who lost money in dealings with the company. Time and time again warnings have been given against the fly by night concerns of which it was a type.

The stinging the Acme company gave Marquette and other upper peninsula communities shows again that the home merchant is the man it is safest to tie to. He stands behind his goods.

FORT BRADY.

In another column The Mining Journal prints a letter from the Hon. Otto Fowle, of the Soo, outlining some of the reasons why he believes Fort Brady should be garrisoned.

It is of little importance, on the other hand, that the Michigan M. C. except Representative James, of Hancock, share the viewpoint of the Soo, and want Fort Brady re-garrisoned.

While, as a matter of fact, few war supplies were going forward from this country a few months ago, even though much noise was being made about this.

No person is favorable to the abandonment of Fort Brady because of any lack of friendship for the Soo. Such sentiment as exists in Michigan for such a step reflects mature opinion that the policy of manning a large number of small posts has been highly extravagant, at the same time it has prevented the development of the army in large units under conditions that could be made to approximate closely those that would obtain in actual service.

There is no question what reception a plan to develop Fort Brady as one of a limited number of posts in which the army could be economically and effectively concentrated would meet in Michigan.

The Mining Journal stands with Representative James in this matter. If the military authorities favor the re-garrisoning of Fort Brady, it is for it; if they favor its permanent abandonment, it is for that.

There was some surprise at the course of the administration in asking for the recall of Ambassador Dumba not because it was not clear that his conduct had made such a request a proper one, but because the country has come to expect of it a more temporizing attitude toward its international responsibilities.

Perhaps it saw an opportunity to convey to the Teutonic allies, and to Great Britain as well, an intimation that it is not incapable of definite and immediate action in the face of circumstances that offer provocation that cannot well be overlooked.

It will not satisfy the pro-Germans, but it should satisfy all Americans. Dumba did much more than propose full publicity for the Austrian law making it a criminal offense for Austrians resident in this country to participate in the manufacture of supplies for the armies of the allies.

can factories to meet their orders, but they are now being tuned up to a heavy production and soon American munitions will be a considerable part of the supplies being used by the allies.

Munising Monday elected George A. Whitteyer, manager of the Munising Veneer company, commissioner to succeed Herman Johnson, who was elected when commission government was made effective in the town last January.

Inasmuch as the commander of the submarine that sank the Arabic did so because he thought he was to be attacked, the German government declines to consider indemnity for the Americans lost.

James F. J. Archibald, who carried Ambassador Dumba's dispatches, says he had no idea of their contents. It's well that Archibald's passports have been cancelled.

The game laws were, it is said, made ineffective by a piece of legislative bungling. In view, however, of the department's purpose to regard them as good and effective, the public may well accept the department's view and keep out of all trouble.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Another Loser Pays the Penalty.

Most wars destroy many reputations, and this one in Europe is not an exception. Grand Duke Nicholas follows in the footsteps of von Moltke of Germany, while Kitchener's fame has been sadly dimmed in England.

The Russian general is removed, for being sent to the unimportant area of the munitions front, not a step back from the campaign which he led so well.

It is the normal course of events in a country at war. The loser pays the penalty, whether his is the fault or not. It was so in our own Civil war, and it is so in every armed test of strength among nations.

It is strange, indeed, that a military movement of such unprecedented skill should have resulted in the dismissal of the man who accomplished it.

Joseph Daniels is regarded by some people who have informed themselves as to his intentions and acts as a capable secretary of the navy—probably the best that could have served under a Democratic administration.

Mr. Daniels knows of the navy he has learned about two years. We do not know about Nicholas's fate is very far from confirming the theories of the war writers and it would seem that the Russian people and the Russian army staff in Petrograd are not by any means as delighted with the recent retreats as are some of our newspapers in London and Paris.—Detroit Free Press.

Congress, Waste and National Defense.

It probably will continue as a habit until the constituents of the congressional members wake up to the fact that congressional habits are based upon popular indifference or wrong thinking.

Senator Kern of Indiana, virtually in a battle with the majority leader in the senate, has said that he will observe with scrupulous and particular care the requests of the military departments.

Anything in moderation, but the senator will be the judge of what moderation is. His announcement is virtually a declaration of war on the army and navy plans.

Senator Kern's constituents are not likely to say anything to him. If Senator Kern gets a few things for Indiana—some mud scooped out of creeks and public buildings placed here and there—the state will think Senator Kern is a forceful statesman.

It already spends enormous sums on the projects dear to the hearts of the communities in which the money is spent.

If the nation is to have the pork barrel waste and the military expenditures, the appropriations will be enormous.

One must be sacrificed, and the congressman sacrifices the national defense. His district, pleased with the expensive getaways he has brought home, never thinks of the damage he has done to the nation.

We spoke of Kern and Indiana because Kern has made his position clear. Illinois is just the same. We have here in Chicago a federal building which is destined for no other purpose than to contain foul air and make it difficult for federal employees to do their work.

If the best secretary of the navy is a man who can roll logs as well as a congressman can, who knows all the political tricks and can use them, then Mr. Daniels may be the best sort of a secretary. But what is the use of putting up with this sort of a system? It would be better to open up an honest fight against the men who insist upon getting a piece of fat for everything they do for the nation, and to make an equally vigorous appeal to the intelligence of the districts and states which support them.

would put this nation well out of the zone of dangerous weakness in three or four years. Will he make any progress with it at the forthcoming session of congress? He will not.

Garrison is the man in the public eye, but the man who has real power where Garrison has none is Congressman Hay of Virginia, who has been and will be again chairman of the house committee on military affairs.

President Wilson has been almost out on the firing line in his controversy with Germany, and all the time he was there he knew he had nothing behind him. That was enough to scare any man into thoughtfulness.

Congress knows that if it is to spend money wastefully it must keep from spending it wisely. The money to waste must be had from somewhere, and the easiest way to get it is not to spend it on things which the nation needs but which do the congressmen no good.

The only way we can get anything rational done for the army and navy in this country is to go directly to the cause of all the trouble—the congressman and the popular sentiment which makes him possible as he is.—Chicago Tribune.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Didn't Work Both Ways.

The timid man was about to pay for his luncheon of ham, when the following conversation took place: "ardon me, sir, but our rules forbid us to receive bent or battered coins from customers."

"But I received that very coin here yesterday by way of change." "Very likely, sir. We have no rule against giving bent or battered coins to customers."

Often the Case.

A teacher had difficulty in getting the children to distinguish between "Miss" and "Mrs." They could insist on saying "Mrs." when they meant the other. Finally, to make the distinction more clear, she said: "John, what is the different between 'Miss' and 'Mrs.'?"

John, one of the slowest children in the room, started her with the answer: "Mister!"

A clergyman had taught an old man in his parish to read, and found him an apt pupil. Calling at the cottage some time after he found only the wife at home.

"How's John?" asked he. "He is well, thank you," said his wife. "How does he get on with his reading?"

"Nicely, sir." "Ah! I suppose he can read his Bible comfortably now. Bless you, he was out of the Bible and into the sporting papers long ago!"—Tit-Bits.

A New Complaint.

A German, whose wife was ill at the Seney hospital, Brooklyn, called the first evening she was there and inquired how she was getting along. He was told that she was improving.

Next day he called again, and was told she was still improving. This went on for some time, each day the report being that his wife was improving.

Finally, one night when he called he was told that his wife was dead. Seeing a doctor, he went up to him and said, with a world of sarcasm in his voice: "Well, doctor, vad did she die of—improvements?"—Medical Pictorial.

Too Much Is Too Much.

Mary Jane's master is a slightly eccentric bachelor. He has one most irritating habit, instead of telling her what he wants done by word of mouth, he leaves on his desk, or on the kitchen table, or anywhere else where she is likely to see it, a note curtly directing her to "Dust the dining room," or "Turn out my cupboard," and so on.

The other day he brought some note paper, with the usual die-sink address imprinted upon it, from the stationer, and ordered it to be sent home.

Mary Jane took it in, and the first thing that caught her eye was a note attached to the package. She read it, open-eyed.

"Well," she said, "he's asked me to do a few things in his blessed notes, but this is the limit. I won't stand it no longer."

Didn't Raise Them.

Here is a little story that was told by Congressman William C. Adamson of Georgia, when the conversation turned to natural misunderstandings: "A young housewife who lives in a suburban town went to the village store to make some purchases."

customer, and then added: "Did you raise them?" "Oh, no, madam!" was the hasty assurance of the misunderstanding store-keeper. "That is the same price I offered to sell them for yesterday!"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Great Kentucky Central.

A railroad president spoke at a dinner in Boston on railway safety.

"Why, the day may come," he declared, "when all roads will be as safe as the Great Kentucky Central, and they will dispose of whatever Garrison suggests."

"Do you use the block system on this line?" "No; we ain't got no use for the block system, stranger."

"Oh, I suppose, then, you use electric or pneumatic signaling?" "No; no use for them, neither."

"Then you have train dispatchers and run your trains by telegraph?" "Nope."

"But when you stop between stations, you at least go back 100 yards and flag the rear?" "Nope, stranger; nope."

"Then," said the passenger, angrily, "I've got to say it, and say it loud, you're a criminally reckless man!"

"The conductor frowned, took out a plug of tobacco and snapped off a chew viciously."

"Stranger," he said, "if you don't like this line, say so, and I'll stop the train and you can get off and walk. I'm president of the line and the way you're talking is the Great Kentucky Central, and stranger, don't you forget it. She's seven miles and a half long. She runs from Paint Rock to Nola Chucky. This is the only train that travels on the Great Kentucky Central, and what you hear snortin' ahead is our only engine. We ain't never had a collision. What's more, we never will. Now, are you satisfied, stranger, or will I pull the string and let you get out and walk?"—Washington Star.

LOWER STATE NOTES

LANSING—Despite the assertion of Archibald Broomfield of Big Rapids that the last legislature repealed the game act of 1887 and thereby annulled all the game laws of the state, the game warden's department will continue to enforce the state game laws until stopped by the supreme court.

LANSING—Commissioner Winslow, in reply to a query as to whether insurance companies may have a minimum premium rate whereby on a small policy, when the premium is less than $2, they can charge $2, ruled that companies cannot have a minimum rate, as it would not only be a violation of the anti-discrimination law, but would also be a violation of an act which prohibits the collection from the insured of any fee or charge in addition to the regular premium charge made for assuming the risk.

POTOSKEY—Edward Locher, the young son of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Locher of Dewitt, Mich., was frightfully chewed and clawed by one of the black bears at the zoo at the Potoskey City park when he went too close to the bars of the bears pens. One huge bear reached through with his paws and drawing the little fellow up tight chewed large pieces of flesh from one hip, a piece from his right arm and from one foot. Keeper Stevenson held the bear away with a club. The lad is in a critical condition at a Potoskey hospital.

ST. JOSEPH—The question of whether a motor boat moored at a dock must display lights at night, taken to Richard I. Lawson, collector of the port of Detroit, as the result of a dispute between local boat owners and John W. Lange of Port Huron, customs inspector stationed at this port during the summer, has been decided. The result is that all motor boats moored at local docks display lights, this coming at the end of a bitter fight made by the owners of the smaller craft, who claimed that the rule was that all boats moored in the streams near the regular channels, but not directly in that line, did not need to display lights.

OWOSSO—Hugh McDonald of this city, filed suit for $25,000 against L. C. Hall, Sr., wealthy elevator man, Louis Hall, W. F. Gallagher, president of the State Savings bank, and Deputy Sheriff E. J. Herrick, charging conspiracy and malicious prosecution. McDonald was arrested some months ago after he had accepted $3,000 to take his daughter out of the state so that she could not give evidence against young Hall, whose arrest on a statutory charge had resulted from the girl's story. McDonald signed the papers and accepted the money in the parlors of the State Savings bank. A moment later the deputy sheriff walked in and arrested him. Young Hall was later acquitted and his father withdrew the complaint against McDonald.

ST. JOSEPH—Because the special detective who gathered the evidence for the recent raids against alleged violators of the local option law, in which men prominent in business and politics in Berrien county were caught, and who was relied upon by Prosecuting Attorney O'Hara to give testimony that would bring conviction, has fled and cannot be located, twelve cases in which "bootlegging" was charged were dismissed in the justice courts of this city and Benton Harbor. The detective, Fred Hoffstad of Kent county, has been missing for more than two weeks and all efforts of Sheriff Franz to locate him have failed. Hoffstad, it is declared, has done considerable work in other dry counties of the state in running down violators of the liquor laws. He was recommended to Berrien authorities by some officials of the anti-saloon organization.

LANSING—Mrs. Cora Jeffers, principal of the high school at Painesdale, and Prof. Carl E. Bray, of the State Normal college at Ypsilanti, have been chosen as representatives of Michigan to contribute to a code of morals to be used in character education in American schools and homes. The appointment was made by Supt. Fred L. Keeler in response to requests from those in charge of the "Morality Codes Competition." The plan is the latest wrinkle in practical educational circles and is made possible by the generosity of a New Yorker, who has offered a prize of $5,000 for the best code of morals obtainable. There are to be seventy "code writers." A board of co-operating educators, consisting of one member of each state, is to make the selection. Mr. Keeler is the Michigan member and President Henry B. Hutchings of the University is the patron from this state. In addition to the code writers it is hoped that nearly all of these

UNUSUAL DISCOVERY MADE AT HOUGHTON

Mass of Copper Aggregating Several Tons Is Found in Excavating for a Cellar.

A remarkable discovery of copper was made this week on property on Seventh street, East Houghton, owned by the Northern Michigan & Detroit Building & Loan association. A mass of red metal aggregating several tons in all is in sight in a small excavation that has been made to enlarge the cellar under the house occupied by James Gilbert, a miner employed at the Isle Royale.

The mineral rights on this property are owned by J. H. Rice and the Chadbourne estate and arrangements have been made with these interests whereby the building loan association will remove the copper as far as it can be removed conveniently. It is understood that if the mass continues much farther below the surface than at present appears the house will be moved in order to facilitate the other mining operations. The top of this large mass of copper was almost flush with the surface, the house having no cellar. Almost with the first shovelful of earth taken up the workmen struck the metal, which is in a thick, flat form, pitching toward the south.

Thomas E. Mitchell, manager for the building and loan association, obtained the services of two experienced mass copper cutters from the Quincy mine to cut the copper. They had yesterday cut away one piece weighing 300 pounds and had uncovered and ready for cutting another mass, weighing at least 2,000 pounds. The entire uncovered mass, which was in connected large pieces, measured thirteen feet in length and eight feet in width and was of an average thickness of three inches. There is no knowing how deep the mass extends, but it is thought to be many times larger than has yet been uncovered.

The veteran miners who are engaged in taking out the mass say that it is from the normal direction of the veins in the district is no indication that it is mere float. They say that a similar condition at the Nonesuch mine in Ontonagon county is what gave them this name.

Mr. Mitchell said yesterday that very probably a somewhat extensive exploration of the find will be made from surface.

ADVICES FROM THE FRONT.

William Husband Hears from Relatives—William Williams Writes.

William Husband of Tamarack is in receipt of as many communications from the English-front in the European war probably as any man in Michigan. He is in frequent receipt of letters from his father and two brothers, an uncle and five cousins, who are all with the colors. The father and brothers are in India. The cousins are at the front in France, and the uncle is in a mine sweeper ship. His husband has just been advised that a cousin of his was killed in France, dying from wounds suffered at the battle of Noymer.

William Williams of Calumet, a bus driver with the Canadian Engineers, tells in his latest letter to William Foster of Calumet of a very interesting episode in the fighting at the front. Much of the action in the western theater is according to the young man's descriptions, the Calumet youth has been on the firing line frequently and is now back from the front, ready to help his comrades at the training department in Michigan. The Shorncliffe, England. He expects that he will be sent to the front again shortly. The young man sent back some souvenirs of the fighting in France and is frequently mentioned in the dispatches from the front, among them was an epaulet bearing the insignia of the Canadian regiment, "Princess Pat's Light Infantry," taken from the uniform of one of Williams' companions, who fell on the field.

LITTLE PIMPLES ON CHILD'S FACE

Itched and Child Scratched. Could Not Leave Them Alone. Something Terrible. Used Cuticura. In a Month Child Was Healed.

Merle Beach, Mich.—"My little daughter was nearly two years old when she had little pimples come on her face. It was just a little red bunch when it first started. I think they must have itched for her, because she would scratch them until they would get to be large sores, nearly as large as a ten-cent piece. It seemed as if the poor girl could not get them alone. If we held her hands she would try her face on something else. It was just terrible.

"I used most everything I could think of and everything anybody told me to use and nothing would help her. I decided to get Cuticura soap and Ointment before I had used one week I could see they were healing. Before a month was up you would never know the child had ever had any sores on her face." (Signed) Mrs. Lewis White, June 22, 1914.

WOMEN SERVE AS INSPECTORS OF JAIL

Official Visit to Houghton Shows Feminist Movement Has Foot-hold in Copper Region.

That the feminist movement has a foothold in the copper country was seen yesterday when the semi-annual inspection of the Houghton county jail was made by the board of inspectors, two-fifths of which is composed of women. The feminine portion of the board consists of Miss Margaret Morrison of Hancock, Miss Van Keuren of Calumet. The other members yesterday were Judge of Probate Bentley, Poor Superintendent Stahl of the Houghton district and Probation Officer McGrath.

The Misses Morrison and Van Keuren are acting poor superintendents and as such are eligible to places on the board. Miss Morrison is acting in this capacity for her father, R. W. Morrison, whose illness prevents his performing the active duties of the office of poor superintendent for the Hancock district. In like manner Miss Van Keuren is acting poor superintendent of the Calumet district, which she has inherited from her father, Miss Van Keuren took over the work as secretary of the Calumet Associated Charities.

The work of jail inspection consists of taking a report of the prisoners held at the jail during the preceding six months, and a visit to the jail to determine whether all of the state regulations regarding such institutions are complied with. Owing to the time necessary to the compilation of the report it will not be made known till today. It was understood there would be no recommendations for improvements or additions to the jail.

Famous Prisoner Paroled.

John Spelch is the most famous prisoner incarcerated in Houghton county in recent years. He made the biggest haul made by a robber in the county in many years, and from the inception of his case he was in the public eye in a sensational manner quite often. Judge O'Brien late Thursday afternoon gave Spelch an opportunity to rehabilitate himself by working in the county for two years. One of the conditions of the probation is that Spelch must pay back to the county as soon as he earns it the cost to the county in arresting and prosecuting him.

TO WRESTLE AT CALUMET?

Said Joe Ziehr and Tim Harrington Will Meet—Doubtful.

Announcement was made in Calumet yesterday that Joe Ziehr of Detroit and Tim Harrington of Butte, former great copper country, are to engage in a wrestling match at the Alhambra Athletic club's second tournament at the Colosseum, Calumet, Oct. 30.

Judging from this Jack Carlock and Jack King may be expected to enter, to say nothing about some youngsters as Jack Rowett, the present heavyweight champion of Harrington in New York. The last time Ziehr and Harrington appeared in an important tournament was in 1903 in Houghton. They may have appeared in tournaments since, but not the two in one tournament. Harrington then was the middleweight champion of the world, and Ziehr his only rival. Harrington then easily won down the other entrants at will. Since then Tim hasn't kept in condition. Ziehr has not wrestled for at least ten years in any important match. He has tried his hand at prize fighting in the interim, but has been unsuccessful. The announcement was made in Calumet yesterday that he can be taken cum grano salis, as they do not say in Cornwell.

URGES DRAS TIC STEP TO END FIRE WASTE

Assess Cost of Fighting Flames on Premises Concerned, Asks Franklin H. Wentworth.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—In a spirited address at the convention of the State Fire Marshals' Association of North America here today, Franklin H. Wentworth, of Boston, Mass., secretary of the National Fire Protection association, remarked that if a threat of war would curtail fire waste then it would not be an unaimed evil. He said in the course of his address:

"There is never a child burned from playing with matches; there is never a tenant suffocated in a jerry-built apartment house; there is never a stock of valuable merchandise scorched, water-soaked and thrown on the dump that some single-minded humanitarian agency of purpose or neglect is not directly responsible. We are not asking the man in the street to become a fire protection engineer; we are asking him simply to observe the commonest habits of decent housekeeping and orderly conduct in the use of fire.

TAFFY DAY AT GOOD WILL.

Unknown Benefactor Promises to Put on a Big Candy Pull.

The telephone at Good Will Farm, Houghton's greatest charitable institution, rang on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Donaldson, the superintendent, answered. The following conversation ensued:

"Is this Good Will Farm?"

"Yes."

"Well I am (mumble) and I'd like to come down to the farm some of these days and make taffy for the kids."

"We'd be delighted to have you, when will it be?"

"Oh, I'll call you up the day I'm coming."

Mrs. Donaldson did not get the man's name, but she is a good natured woman. She promised to furnish all the materials for the taffy, said all he wanted the farm to provide was a fire and a stove.

The superintendent has given the youngsters the news that they are to have a taffy pull some of these days. The taffy puller says he will make candy enough to keep all the thirty or forty children busy pulling it, and they are looking forward to a great party. Mrs. Donaldson says that she is going to let the children get just as greasy and sticky as they want on one great taffy pull.

The unknown benefactor will make his promise good just as quick as he can, since the children are already in a fever of impatient anticipation.

There is an opportunity here for speculation. The old-fashioned taffy pull becomes a thing of the past. In those days before there were automobiles and moving picture shows and freshman dances in the high school the children of most families used to have a lot of fun at taffy pulls, one of the most popular forms of entertainment. The thought of a taffy pull with hands well greased with butter, said hands holding a gob of hot taffy, could have a lot of fun. Today they get the same pleasure out of smearing their hands with gasoline and lubricating oil. Other times, other manners! And what's the use popping corn when you can buy it on the corner?

FOR THE MICHIGAN UNION.

C. H. Lang, Representing the Union, is Interviewing Alumni.

Chester H. Lang, of Erie, Pa., representing the Michigan Union of the University of Michigan, is in Houghton on his second visit to the copper country alumni of the university. Mr. Lang's duties simply are to procure the services of alumni as committee members to help in carrying out the plan that is to open the building in Houghton. John W. Stone is chairman of the committee; in Hancock, John C. and Frank C. Condon, former university baseball stars, are engaged, and in Calumet Presenting Attorney James J. Gallotia and General Manager W. J. MacNaughton of the C. & H. are engaged. Mr. Lang says he has received gratifying assurances from university alumni in the copper country that this district will do its share in the advancement of this ambition of the university.

The Michigan Union hopes by this campaign to open at the university a building that will be a social center for the students, a central meeting place.

BASEBALL DEALS AROUSE PROTEST

Owners of Losing Clubs Up in Arms Over Transfer of Stars During Playing Season.

New York, Sept. 10.—The grand little sport of trying to buy a pennant, so lately instituted in the American league, is in for a drastic bit of legislation when the magnates congregated on the hot stove this coming winter, unless something goes awry.

But Johnson is going to have his work cut out for him in smoothing over some of the deals that have been pulled off in his circuit this season. It is said on excellent authority. Several club owners, particularly in Washington and New York, are going to present some mighty strong arguments against a few magnates with a lot of money being permitted to corner all the stars in the league and make a one, two or three-sided affair of the race.

The first part of September finds three teams in the American league still in the pennant hunt—Boston, Detroit and Chicago. Each of these teams has been reinforced by recognized stars this season, bought from other American league clubs, with the result that they have been away out in front most of the season, and the fans in the cities whose stars have been sold are sore. And they can't be blamed.

According to this theory, John D. Rockefeller could bring a pennant to Cleveland every year.

In justice to Detroit, however, it may be said that President Navin didn't intend the purse strings until he was forced to in self-defense.

Charles Comiskey, of the White Sox, whose sportsmanship has never been questioned, started the merry little war of dollars by buying Eddie Collins from the financially embarrassed Athletics for $50,000. When Collins didn't add the necessary punch to make the Sox a pennant winner the Old Roman went out and paid $100,000 for Eddie's former teammate, Eddie Murphy. Still there was something wrong, and Comiskey took Nemo Leibold from the Cleveland club at the waiver price. To top off this amazing bit of baseball financing, he bought Joe Jackson from the same club for a price said to be approximately $20,000. It's a question whether the Old Roman's ambition to bring a pennant to the South Side hasn't run away with his judgment.

President Lammie of the Red Sox, kicked in with $100,000 for Jack Barry immediately after Collins was sold to Chicago and Detroit bought Bill James from the Browns at a reputed price of $15,000.

There are several cities in the Johnson circuit that needed bolstering up, and one of them is New York. Ruppert and Huston, the new owners, are making a game effort to do it, but they're getting little help from the league. Another is Washington. And another is St. Louis, where Branch Rickey is trying to build up a team in accordance with the time-honored method of Philadelphia. Ruth was baffling, except in the fifth, when Melvin's single, O'Dell's hit and sacrifice, and a wild pitch scored four of Cleveland's runs.

Score: Cleveland, 4; Detroit, 2.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—Ineffective pitching by Kansas and Cleveland allowed Cleveland to defeat Detroit today. Klepper held Detroit's seven hits well scattered, Smith's hits and sacrifice runs accounted for four of Cleveland's runs.

Score: Cleveland, 1; Detroit, 2.

Batteries: Klepper and O'Neill; James, Cavell, Guthrie and Stange; Baker.

St. Louis, 2; New York, 1.

New York, Sept. 10.—New York and St. Louis played off a postponed game here today which was won by the visitors, 2-1. A recruit from St. Joseph, Mo., made his first game for New York and made a good impression, but New York's pitcher, Bill Hamilton, was the star.

Score: New York, 1; St. Louis, 2.

Batteries: Hamilton and Severid; Vance and Kruger.

Boston, 7; Philadelphia, 2.

Boston, Sept. 10.—Boston gained their batting and fielding lead over Philadelphia. Ruth was baffling, except in the fifth, when Melvin's single, O'Dell's hit and sacrifice, and a wild pitch scored four of Cleveland's runs.

Score: Boston, 7; Philadelphia, 2.

Batteries: Wyckoff and McAvoy; Ruth and Thome.

DIAMOND DUST

William Kilifer, star catcher of the Philadelphia Nationals, may be out of the game the rest of the season because of an injury to his right shoulder.

Des Moines will fly the 1915 pennant of the Western league, which closed its season Monday. Denver got second place and Toronto third. Omaha and Lincoln tied for fourth place.

Harry Daubert, a brother of the Dodgers' first baseman, is to be given a try-out by the Pirates. He was recently purchased from the Charlestown (W. Va.) club, and is a shortstop.

Morton, Cleveland pitcher, has a new curve and Steve O'Neill, his catcher, says he doesn't know what it is. That's not odd. O'Neill has been catching Cleveland pitchers three years.

Arthur Nohf, the boy wonder, who was picked up by the Braves, seems to be the sensation of the baseball world this year. He has shown great ability since he joined the Boston crew.

There is considerable objection being made to the Boston Braves using Pete Compton, the outfielder purchased from the Kansas City Blues after he had jumped to the Reds. The rules of organized ball bar a player who has jumped to the outlaws.

Joseph Rodriguez, a first baseman of the Reds of Havana, has been signed by the New York Nationals. Rodriguez has been batting over 400 with semi-professional club in the United States. He is twenty years old and will report to the Giants next spring.

Manager Ezra Minkoff, of the Louisville Colonels, admitted he had received an offer from the Federal league, but said he had not considered it. He said that Players Derrick, Platter and Daniels also had been given handsome offers, and that all three players turned them down.

Barney Dreyfus, president of the Pittsburgh National league baseball club, announces that Fred Clark, manager of the club, has resigned to take effect with the close of the present season. "Clark has been anxious for some time to give his entire attention to his business," said Mr. Dreyfus.

Baseball, like politics, makes strange bed fellows. Rubie Marquard and Larry Cheney, each of whom rose to fame by pitching for Indianapolis of the American Association, are on the Brooklyn club. Marquard went to the Giants for $11,000 after a big season with Indianapolis and Cheney was grabbed by the Cubs after he made a fine record with the same team.

cago and South Bend, Ind.

U. P. Council Meeting—A meeting of Upper Peninsula council, United Commercial Travelers, will be held in the lodge rooms of Fraternity Hall this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. As both supreme and grand council officers will be in attendance, it is urged that every member arrange to be present.

Mayor Returns—Mayor F. H. Begole and party arrived home yesterday from an automobile trip to Chattanooga, Tenn. About 2,500 miles were covered by the car without a puncture or blow-out. The members of the party were
Mr. and Mrs. Begole, Miss Elizabeth
Begole, Miss Lael Hargrave, and F. H.
Begole, Jr.

Lights Go Out—The city was thrown into darkness for about ten minutes shortly after 7 o'clock last night when the electric light system was put out of commission by the blowing out of a fuse on the motor-generator set at the power station at North Marquette. The crowds were just beginning to assemble in the streets, but no excitement resulted.

Former Resident Dies—John Bond, a former resident of Marquette, died at Iron Mountain last Friday. He was a painter during his residence in this city and left about twenty-five years ago for Iron Mountain, where he had a furniture store and painting business. His last visit to Marquette was made during the home-coming, when he was the guest of A. L. Rose of 114 W. Prospect street.

Registers to Meet Here—The second annual meeting of the county registers will be held in Marquette next year.
The first convention was held this week in Bay City and was attended by J. H.
Primeau, Marquette county's register of deeds, the oldest register and the one who has been elected to more consecutive terms than any other in the state.
Mr. Primeau will be in charge of the arrangements for the entertainment of the registers next year.

Case Heard Three Times—The arguments in the case of Albin Laukkari vs.
the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company were completed yesterday afternoon and Judge R. C. Flannigan will charge the jury when court opens at 9 o'clock this morning. It is the third time the case has been tried in circuit court, the jury having disagreed on the two previous occasions. The next case for trial will be that of Amelia Niemi, an infant, by William Niemi, her next friend, vs.
the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company.

Enrollment Good—The figures of the enrollment in the Marquette schools have not yet been announced, but Superintendent Watson says yesterday that he expected the enrollment in the grade schools to equal that of last year and the number of students in the High school probably would exceed the figures for last year. All the students have not yet returned to school, however, because of the court case and for other reasons. The enrollment of the High school last year was 386 and the total enrollment in the schools was about two thousand.

Violators Arrested—Deputy Game
Wardens J. A. Vizona and John T.
Thornton made one of the biggest hauls in the history of the department Monday, September 6, when near Cusino they arrested nine men for having partridges unlawfully in their possession.
The nine might also have been arrested on another charge, viz: Hunting or taking a gun into the woods without a license. The place where the men were caught showed evidence of previous killings. Besides, five birds were found in their possession. The men all pleaded guilty to the charge in Justice Bliz-zel's court, at Shingleton and each paid a fine of $12.50, which included costs.

BARRELS, NOT WHEELS,
BUT YOU WIN A DOLL

Order of Authorities Brings About Change in the Methods
by Carnival.

The carnival company at the Marquette county fair yesterday changed its method of disposing of dolls, candy, and poodle dogs by substituting barrels for the wheels and paddles forbidden on Thursday by order of J. E. Sherman, the acting mayor of the city. The dolls did not go as fast by the barrel method, but the stands attracted groups of persons interested in the efforts of marksmen to toss the balls into the barrels.

Six small kegs with a diameter of about eight inches were placed a child's toss away from the bar. Three throws with a baseball were permitted each person. Two balls in the barrels entitled the contestant to a poodle dog and three successful shots brought a reward of a dollar.

On account of the rain, the regular races were postponed until today. A special race was arranged for the afternoon, which was won by Harvey Wilkes, time 2:29 1/2, against Bert Strathmore and Air Line. The following races will take place today:
2:30 class—Chester Barnes, Little Johnny, Air Line.

2:50 class—Nora D, John C. Dandy R.
Two motorcycle races will take place this afternoon, one for single cylinder machines and the other for twin cylinder machines. Both will be for ten miles with standing start.

Negaunee defeated Marquette in yesterday afternoon's ball game by the score of 9 to 1. Negaunee made three runs in one inning and six in another.
Zyrd pitched only four innings, being forced out of the game in the fourth when hit by a pitched ball between his left eye and his nose. His nose was broken by the blow and he was cared for by Dr. Flynn.

Upper Peninsula

Man and Wife Accident Victims.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tyrell of Brampton, Delta county, met with an accident the other evening, while returning from a neighbor's. They had reached their own home when in ascending the steps
Mr. Tyrell lost his footing and fell, dislocating a shoulder. Mrs. Tyrell ran for help, but fell, spraining an ankle and otherwise injuring herself. Dr.
Gross of Escanaba reduced the fractures. Mr. Tyrell is able to be about with an arm in a sling. Mrs. Tyrell is confined to the house.

Ultimatum to Water Company.

The Menominee Water company will take $200,000 for its plant of the city will build one of its own. This is, in substance, the ultimatum given the company in a resolution adopted unanimously by the common council.
The aldermen in passing this measure, drawn up on lines suggested by Mayor
M. B. Lloyd, turned down the request of the company for two months more time to complete its appraisal. The resolution instructs City Attorney John J. O'Hara to prepare preliminary resolutions looking to the purchase of the present plant for $200,000, a proposition which will then go to the people for approval. Should the electors turn down the proposition to buy at $200, 000 or build a municipal plant, then it will be up to the aldermen to go ahead and make the best franchise with the water company they can and submit this franchise to the people.

Death of Emil Guensburg.

Emil Guensburg, who for seventeen years conducted the Grand department store, Menominee, with his brother, A.
E. Guensburg, until Sept. 1, when the business was taken over by the Wilson-Henes company, died Wednesday after a brief illness caused by a general breakdown of the nervous system and neurialgia of the heart. He was born in Zamosz, Austria, forty-nine years ago.
When a child, he moved to the United States with his parents. In 1881 he embarked in business with his brother at Florence, Wis., and later opened a store at Iron River. In 1898 the firm dissolved, and Emil Guensburg moved to Menominee and succeeded Mr. St.

WOMEN AND GIRLS WORKING FOR ARMY

At Frankfurt Employment Is Given to Over 30,000 in Government Sewing Rooms.

Frankfurt, Germany, August 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The problem of supplying certain clothing needs of the army, and at the same time providing that the profit from the manufacture of these goods shall go, not to individual firms but to soldiers' wives, sisters and mothers, has been efficiently solved in Frankfurt's Naestelube of Sewing Room.

Through it some 30,000 women and girls, 5,000 of whom live in this city, today receive about twice as much money as they would if employed in private concerns, and are enabled to live in self-respecting independence, without having even to draw from their government the sums which as a matter of duty it is prepared to expend to support the dependents of soldiers.

Three organizations—the National Service for Women, The Women's Association of 1813, and The Industrial Association for Home Work—are really the creators of the Frankfurt Sewing Room and its affiliations throughout the province of Hessen-Nassau and the grand duchy of Hessen.

From the so-called Kriegsfuersorge, or very roughly translated, War Assistance, a fund was established for the creation and maintenance of the Sewing Room. The latter started to all intents and purposes as a private business concern would have done, with money, and credit, sufficient in amount to pay salaries, buy supplies and rent quarters.

Women deserving of assistance—particularly those who perhaps would have had to leave financial support from the government or some organization under other circumstances—then were encouraged to seek employment. Five thousand have done so in Frankfurt, which is the headquarters for the province of Hessen-Nassau, and 25,000 more are given work. Darmstadt is the headquarters for the grand duchy of Hessen.

For a time the Sewing Room received its largest commissions from the Red Cross, but gradually the government orders, direct from the military authorities, have superseded all others, until today the plant is working almost exclusively for the empire. In the city it is possible of course for the women to leave their homes and work during the day time in the plants. In the country district home work is provided.

The capacity of the Frankfurt establishment alone has increased so far that it is able each week to send two full freight car loads of supplies to Mayence, the distributing center for the section. No less than 48 kinds of supplies are made, the majority for soldiers at the front, but some for their relatives at home, the latter being distributed through the Red Cross and kindred organizations.

The Sewing Room began to turn out supplies about the middle of August, 1914. Up to August 1, 1915, there had been made and delivered, among other things, 2,570,574 zwieback sacks, 181,425 shirts, 171,255 pairs of socks, 137,724 neck bands worn by the soldiers instead of collars, 111,868 pairs of trousers, 98,807 helmet coverings, 71,687 suits of underwear (in 79 different sizes and varieties) 38,310 salt sacks, 23,254 arm bands, and 16,865 sacks for shipping gifts. In addition there have been made thousands upon thousands of such useful articles as shoulder straps, hospital suits, pillows, gloves, flags, working suits, aprons, head and chest protectors, knee and wrist warmers, nurses' uniforms, towels and the like.

NEW ARMY GIVEN MANY INSPECTIONS

Great Britain Carefully Preparing Troops Soon to Bear Brunt of Fighting in the West.

British Headquarters, France, Aug. 23.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The only man of the hundreds of thousands at the British front who wears the crossed batons of a field marshal on his shoulders appeared in an opening in the shrubbery which bordered the field where a machine-gun battery of the "New" army was waiting for orders to move.

None of the men in the battery had any idea the field marshal was coming. They were lounging and chaffing as they waited. In a glance every one identified that sturdy figure with its square chin and the white drooping moustache with the pictures which they had seen in the papers. There was no need for a call to attention. The effect was like an electric shock which sent every man to his place and made his backbone a steel rod.

"Does Sir John French often slip up on you that way?" gasped one of the battery lieutenants, who was all of nineteen years of age. Nineteen is the limit of youth for officers in the "New" army; and there are scores no older. From the one chocolate drop on that boy lieutenant's sleeve to the crossed batons represented a dizzy altitude.

The battery had just come out from England. It took the commander-in-chief about five minutes to form his judgment of the results of their nine months' preparatory drill. He asked a few questions as he looked over each gun and its crew.

"Very good!" he said, and returned to the car which was to take him on to inspect some other formation.

"Any idea that the commander-in-chief spends all his time over a map with a telephone at his elbow," as the staff officer explained, "is quite erroneous. He is always on the go."

Covers Much Ground Daily. The automobile enables General French to get over a lot of ground in a day. Sometimes the inspections are quite formal. Different battalions of a brigade drawn up in fields await his coming. Commanding officers know of his approach when they see the flag of his car fluttering along the road. On these occasions he usually makes a little speech. Once when a platform had been arranged for him to address a battalion he passed it by and went closer to the men standing in the field with their rigid columns around him. After that platform went out of fashion.

"One might think that he could learn very little by a brief inspection or watching troops march past on parade," said the staff officer, "but a soldier's eye takes in more than a civilian can guess. He not only sees that uniform and equipment are in good condition, but he is able to judge both the spirit and the physical condition of the men. If they have been having a hard time of it in the trenches he can tell how much fight is left in them. He may judge the character of the reserves who have filled the vacant places. And the men see him. He is no longer a distant figure.

MAN WHO SWORE LINER HAD GUNS ADMITS PERJURY.

New York, Sept. 10.—Gustave Stahl, the German reservist indicted in connection with an affidavit made by him setting forth that he saw four guns mounted on the decks of the Lusitania just before the steamer's ill-fated voyage, today pleaded guilty to the charge of perjury before Judge Hough in the United States district court.

He was remanded to the Tombs until tomorrow, when sentence will be imposed.

The indictment against Stahl was found by the federal grand jury on June 10 and was based on a repetition of the Lusitania gun story given by him under oath before that body when it investigated the matter. Since his indictment, Stahl has been in the Tombs in default of $10,000 bail. He entered the plea of guilty by advice of his counsel, Harold Deming, through a German interpreter.

Stahl's affidavit for a time figured in the diplomatic exchanges between this country and Germany, as it was presented to the state department by the German embassy, in support of the contention that the torpedoed vessel was armed.

Hans, or Heinz Handerburg, a chum of Stahl's who was taken into custody in Cincinnati as a material witness in the case and who escaped when on his way here, but was later recaptured, will undoubtedly be let go, it was stated today.

SITUATIONS FOR YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN IN DETROIT.

The rapid growth of Detroit manufacturing industries has created a large number of office positions for capable young men and women. The business colleges are unable to supply the many calls for positions. The Business Institute alone has had nearly a thousand calls during the past six months for stenographers, bookkeepers and bank positions, which gives one an idea as to the opportunities offered young men and young women who are qualified to fill positions. The Business Institute enjoys an enviable reputation for educating young men and women for positions in offices, banks, mercantile houses, etc. Fathers and mothers who wish to give their children a thorough business education should write for full particulars regarding the educational training of this school. Illustrated catalogue will be mailed free to any person sending their address to Mr. A. P. Tull, President The Business Institute, Cor. Cass and Michigan Avenues, Detroit.

They feel the effect of his personality. The "New" army contingents as they arrive receive particular attention. "Every general in the army seems to be taking his turn at inspecting us," said one of the "New" army officers. "We had plenty of inspections at home. We came out here to fight."

When this was repeated to a staff officer who belongs to "G-H-Q," as they call general headquarters, he said: "They need not worry about that. They will be getting fighting enough when the time comes. But they have the right spirit. All the armies in this war have found that the men who have been in the trenches know from experience how to hold the trenches. They can dig and they can stick no matter how heavy the shell fire. But fresh troops when properly drilled are the best for the offensive. England has a far larger army which has never heard the crack of a bullet than has ever been under fire. The 'New' army men learned a good deal in England; they are to be taught more at the front."

Every Detail Given Scrutiny. A battalion of "New" army men drawn up on the pavement of a French village in front of their billets with their transport and their packs on their backs waiting for a general to inspect them is a common sight. The subordinate inspectors have more time to spare for the task than the commander-in-chief. Down the front of the line of each company and then along the rear they move slowly as they take in every detail. They say that when an army of millions has to be made by a country that had only a small regular army to start with and there is a year's experience of warfare, revolutionary in its methods, to inculcate along with the old principles too much pains can not be taken in any direction. "New" army men may be digging reserve trenches when at morning muster an automobile stops and here is another officer with a red cap which shows that he belongs to the staff or another general to inspect them. Everybody at the British front not in the trenches seems either occupied in making inspections or looking out for an inspection. "If it isn't somebody bent on inspection," said one of the "New" army men, "it is some army medical corps sharp engaged in disinfection."

RECORD ATTENDANCE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Twenty-Three Hundred and Ninety-Three Pupils Are Enrolled in the Various Classes.

All of the Ishpeming public schools started on the fall term with a large attendance of pupils. The attendance in the high school is the largest in the school's history there being 529 pupils already occupying desks in the auditorium. The total enrollment last year was 322.

The various grade schools are packed to their capacity, with the Grammar leading with a total enrollment of 543. The Central school is second, with 308; the Ridge street school has 311, and the High street building 292. In the outlying districts, the Cleveland school ranks first in enrollment with a total of 164, while there are 150 pupils at the Salisbury and forty-four at the Junction. All of the pupils will have their books and other equipment by Monday when all will settle down for the fall and winter term.

The senior class this year numbers sixty, a slight decrease under that of several preceding years. The junior numbers ninety-three, and all of the sophomores continue their school work until they reach the senior year they will constitute much the largest class in the history of the schools. The sophomores number 138. There are 216 freshmen. There is also a post-graduate student in attendance this year.

Football Prospect Excellent.

The Ishpeming schools will be represented by a fast aggregation of football players this season, it is indicated. There are many candidates for the team. Two of the prospective members, Dewey Urquart and Thomas Dundon, were members of last year's eleven. All of the other players will be new men. A meeting of the boys was held yesterday afternoon at the high school, when plans were discussed for the season's work. Practice games will be held several evenings a week.

The football coaches of the Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette and Escanaba schools will meet in Negaunee this afternoon to prepare a schedule of games and to discuss other matters in connection with the playing season.

DISPUTE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Members of the National Mine baseball team dispute the claim of the Excelsior team to the championship of the city. While the Excelsiors won from the Nationals Sunday afternoon, each team has lost a game to the other. The manager of the Nationals addresses the following to the Excelsiors: "To the Excelsiors: We, the Nationals, beg to differ as regards your statement concerning the baseball championship of Ishpeming, published in Tuesday's issue of the Mining Journal. We would like to know how you claim the championship, as we have crossed bats only twice, each taking a victory. We were not aware that we were to play for the city championship, but being informed as to your views on the subject we are ready for the final game. You being willing, we would like to arrange for this third game to decide the city championship. If you are not willing to play we cannot see how you can claim the title."

EIGHT-REEL MATINEE TODAY.

The usual eight-reel matinee will be given this afternoon at Ishpeming theater, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. Besides the eighth episode of the "Romance of Elaine," the picture program will include "The Greater Courage," a three-reel feature drama; "Mr. Jarr and Gertrude's Beau," a Vitagraph comedy, and "A Pair of Queens," a Vitagraph two-reel comedy. The McGreeveys, who present a comedy sketch entitled "Back to the Farm," will be seen this afternoon, as well as this evening. The pictures for the evening program will be "The Greater Courage," a three-reel Essanay feature drama, and "Mr. Jarr and Gertrude's Beau."

A CLOGGED SYSTEM NEEDS ATTENTION.

Are you bilious, dizzy and listless? Dr. King's new Life Pills taken at once cleanse upon consumption and start the bowels moving naturally and easily. Moreover they act without griping. Neglect of a clogged system often leads to most serious complications. If you wish to wake up tomorrow morning happy in mind and entirely satisfied, start your treatment tonight. 25c a bottle.

LAST DAY OF COUNTY FAIR.

Today is the last day of the 1915 county fair at Marquette. An excellent program has been arranged. Horse-racing, motorcycle speed contests and baseball will constitute the sport features. The carnival will be in full blast, both afternoon and evening, and all the exhibits in all departments will be on view as on all the other days of the fair. With good weather promised and with excursion rates in effect on the railroads, it is expected that many Ishpeming people will help swell the throngs on the grounds today. A flea circus is a novel attraction in the carnival department.

SNAPPY PRODUCTION.

J. C. Richardson, city editor of the Daily Star of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., sent the following message to the management of Ishpeming theater relative to the production of "September Morn," following its engagement there on Tuesday: "September Morn presented here tonight is a bright, snappy production with no objectionable features. The music is new and catchy and the costumes are far above the average. The house was packed, and the company would doubtless play to a capacity business in case of a return engagement."

CONDITION IMPROVING.

The Escanaba Press says of Dudley Thompson, a former Ishpeming boy, who was accidentally shot by a friend last Saturday: "The condition of Dudley Thompson, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson, who by a narrow margin escaped instant death Saturday when a rifle in the hands of Howard Moore was discharged, was yesterday reported as satisfactory. The wound, which extends through the left side of the lad's body, is being closely watched and should no infection develop within the next twenty-four hours danger from that source will be considered practically eliminated."

SUNDAY AT METHODIST CHURCH.

The men's classes of the First Methodist Episcopal church will meet tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. At the 10:30 service, Rev. N. C. Karr, the pastor, will preach on "Encouragement to Laborers." The Sunday school classes will meet at 2 o'clock. The regular weekly meeting of the Epworth league will be held at 6. The topic at this service will be "My Favorite Bible Chapter and Why." Miss Esther Karr will lead. The topic of Mr. Karr's sermon at the evening service, commencing at 7 o'clock, will be "Christ the Center of Religion."

KNIGHTS ELECT OFFICERS.

At the regular meeting of Ishpeming council, Knights of Columbus, held Thursday evening in St. John's hall, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Grand Knight—Maurice Laughlin. Deputy Knight—Thomas J. Malloney. Treasurer—Elo Miskour. Financial Secretary—W. H. Norman. Recording Secretary—Joseph Kenney. Chancellor—Thomas Clancy. Warden—John Harrington. Advocate—Thomas J. Flynn. Inside Guard—Arnold Saladin. Outside Guard—John Gleason. Trustees—Jas. P. Mullins, Leo Schilling and P. J. O'Brien. Following the meeting the members enjoyed a smoker.

GLEE CLUB COMING.

The Royal Glee Club Welsh Glee singers, who are giving engagements in all of the larger cities, will be heard at the Ishpeming high school Friday evening, the 17th. The chorus is made up of perfectly trained male voices of remarkable melody and sweetness. The admission prices will be fifty cents for reserved seats for the public and a special price of twenty-five cents will be given students. The tickets are now on sale at the high school office, and they may also be purchased from members of the senior class.

ACT IS EXTRAORDINARY.

The Berlo girls, expert swimmers and fancy divers, give what is said to be one of the most extraordinary acts in vaudeville. The act comes here Monday night from Hancock for a three-days engagement. It is necessary to transport the equipment by special car. The weight of the tank alone is nearly 5,000 pounds. The sisters have won many medals in swimming and diving contests. This is the first season that the act has played in vaudeville, the girls heretofore having given exhibitions exclusively in the large city parks.

GOLF CONTEST TODAY.

The last match in the contest for the president's trophy and the vice president's cup will be played at the golf grounds this afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock. The winners of this match will play the winners of the previous matches for formal possession of the prizes. The names of the players have been drawn by lot and are posted in the clubhouse. Any members not listed will be matched against each other at the tee. Handicaps are posted.

Upper Peninsula

Freak Growth of Elm Trees.

On the farm of John Kias, on the Piggin River, near Houghton, there is an arboreal freak that has attracted much attention this summer. It consists of two elm trees, about thirty feet apart. From one root three large trunks have grown, and from the other seven separate trunks, some of considerable thickness, tower forty or fifty feet in the air. From one trunk twenty-nine inches in thickness there extends at a height of about thirty feet a branch that reaches over and joins one of the three trunks of the other elm. It forms a connecting link between the two trees and it is impossible to discern from which tree it originally sprouted.

To Get Time by Wireless.

Blomstrom & Peterson, jewelers, of Escanaba, have completed negotiations for the erection of a wireless station, through which they will receive federal time signals at stated intervals each day. The receiving wires will extend from the summit of the Delit block smokestack to a high pole erected in the alley. The receiving instrument will be in the store. The signals will be received from the federal wireless station at Arlington, Va., twice each day. To receive time signals by wireless is an innovation that has been adopted in a number of the larger cities, but it remained for this jewelry firm to establish such a station in a city of the moderate size of Escanaba.

Menominee City Engineer Out.

Albert Hass, for twenty-one years and four months city engineer of Menominee, tendered his resignation from that position to the city council this week. The resignation was accepted by a vote of nine to two. The stepping out of office of the engineer came as a sequel of the Ingalls street paving controversy and resulted from criticism thrown in his direction with the charge that the paving was not up to specifications. Mayor Lloyd told the aldermen that they would have the same experience with Ingalls as with Kirby street, which was paved last year and which is already "cupping" in spots. City Engineer Hass took issue with the mayor on the claim that the street had not been rolled according to specifications, and also shouldered the responsibility for the placing of extra large stone at the bottom of the paving. He charged that statements resulting from aldermanic discussions "practically made him out a grafter and a crook," and he said that consideration for his family was one of his prime reasons for leaving the office of city engineer.

NEWSPAPER MAN RECOMMENDS IT

R. B. Wentworth, of the St. James (Mo.) News, writes: "A severe cold settled in my lungs. I feared pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar straightened me up immediately. I recommend this genuine cough and lung medicine." Right now thousands of hay fever and asthma sufferers are thankful for this wonderful healing and soothing remedy. Sold everywhere.

WORKERS INJURED BY FORD'S SYSTEM, SAYS UNION LEADER.

Milwaukee, Sept. 10.—Henry Ford has made many people believe he is a great man because of his wage system and that he is a true friend of labor, but such is not the case, said William P. Mavell, of Buffalo, secretary of the Carriage, Wagon and Automobile Workers' International union at the third biennial convention here today.

"The system introduced in the Ford plant has injured the worker's cause," Mr. Mavell continued. "Many are under the impression that all employees in this Detroit plant receive a $8-a-day wage. Not 50 per cent of them are getting it."

Secretary Mavell told his fellow workers one must work at the rate of thirty-five cents an hour six months before getting the $5 wage and before he became eligible to the $8 wage he was more than likely to be discharged.

It was also brought out in the secretary's address that organized labor takes violent exception to the investigating system inaugurated at the Ford plants. He said the officials go too far in inquiring into the private affairs of employees. The "speed-up" system at the Ford plants also came in for a bitter arraignment.

With about 1,000 less men working than formerly, and with shortened hours, a great many more cars are turned out, increasing profits of the company at the expense of the men in the shops, Mr. Mavell declared.

Peace work and all kindred premium systems were scored at today's meeting and it is predicted resolutions will be passed favoring their abolishment and the establishment of the eight-hour day.

SUBMARINES WILL CARRY WAR SUPPLIES TO ALLIES; TO DODGE TORPEDOES.

Boston, Sept. 10.—Two sets of plans expected to revolutionize methods of submarine warfare are being worked out by engineers of the Fore River Ship Building corporation at its yards at Quincy. One set of plans calls for submarines to carry cargoes for the allies, the other for submarine cruisers with heavy armor plate and capable of carrying heavy guns for offensive warfare.

Some of these revolutionary submarines are to be of 14,000 tons displacement. The plans for the submarine cargo carriers have reached the stage where construction of the first vessels may be begun within a few months.

With the construction of such vessels the allies will be able largely to offset the efforts of the German submarine. The vessels will be designed especially for the carrying of those cargoes the loss of which would work most serious harm to the allies, such as ammunition.

BOY BLAMES THEFTS TO "QUEER FEELING."

New York, Sept. 10.—When arraigned before Magistrate Levy in the Yorkville police court today, Joseph Amoretta, eighteen, charged with committing more than twenty small larcenies along Third avenue during the past month, told the court that he was unable to stop stealing and asked the court if there was something that could be done for him.

WORKING IN A RUT

We all are prone to do it. We become accustomed to the daily routine, the commonplace way of doing things, the familiar conditions of our work.

A little money—a few hundreds or thousands—has enabled many a man to step out of his rut straight into the opportunity of his lifetime. And, what is more, you can get this money. A savings account at the First National Bank, and a few years of careful living, will put it into your hand. Isn't it worth the effort?

WAR SHARES, INVESTMENTS ALL SHOW ILL EFFECTS OF FOREIGN SITUATION

New York, Sept. 10.—Latest aspects of the international situation, as suggested by Germany's attitude in relation to the sinking of the Arabic and Washington's demand for the recall of the Austrian ambassador, acted as the main deterrents to speculative sentiment today. Stocks opened at moderate levels but recovered almost immediately only to fall back again at midday. There they languished listlessly until the final hour when bearish activities and renewal of foreign selling became effective to the extent of causing net losses of one to two points in investment issues with greater losses in the volatile specialties.

An unusual, but spasmodic, feature was a revival of moderate interest in tobacco and express shares, the latter's strength being attributed to reports that the commerce commission may withdraw its recent order for an all-round reduction of carrying charges.

Foreign exchange was again stimulated by the arrival of the Anglo-French financial delegation, demand sterling rising to 4.69.

Bonds were irregular with reduced European offerings. Total sales, par values aggregated $3,150,000. United States coupon and registered 3's declined 1/4 to 2 on call.

BOSTON COPPERS.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 10.—Scattered liquidation in Butte & Superior today caused a decline in the stock to below 86. An advance in New Cornelia and Calumet & Arizona was associated with plans for financing the properties. Altonex was also strong, and it is believed the time is near when shareholders can look for another dividend, which it is reported will be larger than the last dividend of $1. Mother Lode rose to 50 on rumors the property was being taken over by Kennecott-Fitzgerald, Hubbard & Co.

Laurium, Mich., Sept. 10.—The tendency of the market today was downward. There were exceptions, as in the case of Bethlehem Steel, Alaska Gold and New Cornelia. Bethlehem Steel made a new high, selling at 335, or ten points up from yesterday's close. Alaska Gold advanced to 34. New Cornelia was a feature, selling up to $10. There has been steady accumulation of this issue. We understand English and French banking interests are now in conference with New York bankers. There is every reason to believe this conference will result satisfactorily, and if so we should see renewed buying of copper metal.—J. A. Minnear & Co.

Mining News

WINONA.

August production of the Winona Coal company was between 175,000 and 200,000 tons of refined copper. The largest monthly output since operations were resumed early in May. The run is running better than for several years, the August figures showing about six pounds refined copper to the ton of rock, which compares with 10.06 pounds in the 1914 calendar year. The company has about $100,000 cash and net 250,000 tons of copper on hand.

KENNECOTT.

Spken Birch, president of the Kennecott Alaska company, has returned from Alaska, where he has been making inspection of the Kennecott property. Birch, who accompanied the company, returned from Salt Lake City. Reports to the directors on the Kennecott development will be made in due time by Messrs. Krumb and Birch. It is understood recent developments have in no way been exaggerated. The mine is described as a "warmer." One statement says that "it is hard to believe that such an ore body exists." There are claims to be a number of stopes over fifty feet wide, in which all the material broken down is spread direct to the smelter, and the return average over 70 per cent copper. The Kennecott company has been hampered somewhat by the lack of capacity of the Tacoma smelter. It has been compelled to ship a large amount of its current year's production to some copper producers. This applies to raw material necessities against orders actually in hand or finished products. Should new war orders be signed it would, of course, result in a new demand for the metal. Owing to the methods adopted by leading producers last June in allowing copper to be carried up to twenty cents a pound, and the resultant business into next year at that price level, the larger brass mills have determined to buy copper only against orders for finished material. It is understood that such important consumers of copper as the American Brass company, Seville Manufacturing company, Keelburg Works, Bridgeport Brass company and others will play a comparatively small part in any laying movement for delivery in the last quarter. Should they enter the market for large tonnages it would probably be for shipment in 1916. Large amounts of electrolytic copper, bought last June, will be delivered during 1916 on the basis of twenty cents a pound. The contract whereby the Anaconda sales department disposed of 10 per cent of its tonnage at twenty cents a pound will be shipped.

COPPER SITUATION.

American manufacturers have made arrangements for the bulk of their copper requirements up to the end of the current year, according to some copper producers. This applies to raw material necessities against orders actually in hand or finished products. Should new war orders be signed it would, of course, result in a new demand for the metal. Owing to the methods adopted by leading producers last June in allowing copper to be carried up to twenty cents a pound, and the resultant business into next year at that price level, the larger brass mills have determined to buy copper only against orders for finished material. It is understood that such important consumers of copper as the American Brass company, Seville Manufacturing company, Keelburg Works, Bridgeport Brass company and others will play a comparatively small part in any laying movement for delivery in the last quarter. Large amounts of electrolytic copper, bought last June, will be delivered during 1916 on the basis of twenty cents a pound. The contract whereby the Anaconda sales department disposed of 10 per cent of its tonnage at twenty cents a pound will be shipped.

NEGAUNEE TEAM GOES TO ESCANABA

Will Play Two-Game Series There, With U. P. Championship as the Stake.

The Negaunee baseball team, accompanied by a band of rooters, will leave this morning for Escanaba, where it will play a two-game series with the Escanaba team for the championship of the upper peninsula. The Escanaba team has made a fine record this season, and is considered to be the strongest independent team in the northwest.

The Negaunee team is now playing better ball than at any previous time during the season and I think that the Escanaba bunch will have a job on their hands to defeat us," said Hilmer Leaf, the team's star pitcher, yesterday.

"With the class of ball our boys are playing I feel confident that, if we hit either Krause or Gandy, we will have a good chance to win as any team that Escanaba has played this season. The Escanaba players are hard hitters and have two good pitchers. If our boys can get to them in the first few innings we will have a fine opportunity of carrying off the upper peninsula championship."

Leaf will pitch in Sunday's contest and either Ford or Earl Rule will be on the mound today. Should either of the latter two hurlers be hit hard, it is possible that Einar Swanson, of Ishpeping, who is now playing with Escanaba, will be used to fill in for him. Swanson will play at first base and Adolph Fredrickson, the regular first sacker, will be used in right field. Fredrickson is a first class outfielder and played the position for several seasons prior to this year. In addition to Swanson, Negaunee will have the services of Henry Pantala, of Ishpeping, who will play shortstop. He is considered to be one of the best infielders in the upper peninsula, and has been playing this year with the last Newberry team.

The lineup of the Negaunee team will be: Leaf, catcher; Leaf, Ford and Rule, pitchers; Swanson, second base; Heinonen, second base; Holman, third base; Emblom and Davey, shortstop; Tall, left field; Wilman, center field; and Fredrickson, right field.

COUNTY FAIR'S LAST DAY.

As this will be the last day of this year's county fair at Marquette, it is expected that many Negaunee people will attend the exposition. None of the exhibits in any of the departments will be removed tonight, and the carnival shows will be open until late in the evening. The sports this afternoon will consist of motorcycle and horse racing and a baseball game. This is the first year that the fair has been conducted through Saturday. Opportunity is thus given to Negaunee and Ishpeping school children to attend. Excursion rates are in effect on the railroads.

WILL ORGANIZE TOMORROW.

Joseph Morrow, of Escanaba, state organizer for the Loyal Order of Moose, who has been in the city for the past few days, has completed arrangements for the organization of a branch of the order in Negaunee. The first meeting of candidates will be held tomorrow afternoon, and it is expected that a class of seventy-five charter members will be instructed in the ritual of the order. Mr. Morrow recently organized a lodge at Ishpeping, and next Wednesday he will put through a large class at Marquette.

The work of remodeling the residence of Patrick Redy on the corner of Peck street and McKenzie avenue was started yesterday. Gust Danielson has started excavating for a basement. The funeral of the late Andrew Erick, who hanged himself Monday morning, was held yesterday from Oliver Johnson's undertaking rooms. The deceased had been a boarder at King's Inn, and not at Frank Anderson's, as had been previously reported. Mrs. Anderson was instrumental in raising funds for the funeral expenses.

Negaunee men who have received invitations to attend the college men's reunion at Lake Michigan on the 18th are requested to return without further delay the postal cards sent out with the invitations, so that the committee may know how many will be present from this city. John Larson, the police officer, departed last evening for Rochester, Minn., where he will submit to an operation at the Mayo Brothers hospital. The operation is being made to save the life of his brother, Gunnar, who has been in a serious condition for several months. Frank Larson, who accompanied Gunnar to the hospital, gave a quantity of his blood a few days ago, and the operation was successful, but more blood is required.

CHIGGERS.

The insect or parasite sometimes referred to as a jigger is not called jigger by the folks down south, but chigger. It is a very small red spider, and fastens itself to the skin of human beings and remains there for several hours, after which time it eats its way through the skin, or rather the skin swells up all around the chigger until it hives the small insect so that one cannot possibly see it.

The only way to get relief from the terrible itching which they cause is to kill them, and I know by personal experience the best and most simple way to kill them is just to rub the spot where the chiggers are with a piece of fat salt pork. One application, rubbed well into the skin where the chiggers are will kill them, after which the skin should be well bathed and dried with a soft towel and then dusted over well with talcum powder. Don't forget when using the salt pork that it should be rubbed on for at least ten minutes, so that it penetrates.

Build Barbed Wire Entanglements, Then Blow Bank.

Jefferson, Okla., Sept. 10.—Tactics borrowed from the trench warfare in Europe enabled three robbers to loot the Farmers' State bank here early today. Before entering the bank the men broke into a hardware store and stole several coils of barbed wire with which they erected entanglements about the bank.

The first explosion aroused the townspeople, but before the citizens could devise a way of overcoming the wire barrier the robbers had taken $2,000 and escaped in a motor car.

Blames Doctors

FOR 'DOPE' FIENDS.

Ray City, Mich., Sept. 10.—"A great majority of dope cases are caused by practicing physicians," asserted Internal Revenue Collector James J. Brady of Detroit, at the annual convention of police chiefs, sheriffs and prosecutors here.

"Watch the physician and you will reach the root of all dope fiends," asserted Mr. Brady. "We may not be able to stop these doctors, but we can give them an awful hypodermic."

Before explaining the Harrison law to the convention, Mr. Brady referred to Detroit as one of the most wicked "dope" cities in the country and indulged in a bitter tirade against illegitimate use of opiates.

"I believe it would be the height of folly for the state of Michigan to be lenient with a man who has broken his parole," said James Russell, warden of Marquette prison, in discussing "The Parole System." He made a strong plea for the board of pardons and the indeterminate sentence law.

"Seventy-two per cent of parole convicts from Marquette prison make good. Those who are returned should be forced to serve out their full sentence. Only three cases have been punished since May. I hold it a duty of the state to hold the indeterminate sentence law in effect."

That criminal law and procedure should be harmonized and revised was the keynote of an address by Circuit Judge Chester A. Collins. He discussed the advisability of certain changes in the state statutes. He also advocated that the circuit judge be given the power to appoint the foreman and stenographer of a grand jury.

WITHDRAWAL OF WAR MINISTER SURPRISES THE CHINESE.

Peking, Aug. 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Great surprise has been caused in China by the announcement that General Yuan Shi-kai, the minister of war, is soon to leave. President Yuan Shi-kai's cabinet. He has been one of President Yuan's closest friends and it is generally believed that the chief executive once placed the general's name in the golden box containing the names of the three men from whom a successor to Yuan Shi-kai will be selected.

Remor has it that General Yuan and President Yuan disagreed over matters relating to the recent demands Japan made upon China, but there have been no official explanations or statements. The retirement of the general to a provincial position also means that his name will come out of the golden box. It is President Yuan's policy never to dismiss a high official, but to transfer him. By thus holding influential men in the public service he disarms them.

The two other men whose names are popularly believed to have been put into the golden box by President Yuan are General Li Yuan-heng, vice president (who has resigned from the vice presidency according to a cable dispatch Sept. 1) and Li Chang-hsiang, minister for foreign affairs. This system of designating a successor is a relic of the Manchou dynasty. It was adopted by President Yuan Shi-kai in the new presidential election law promulgated last year.

Under this law the president writes the three names of approved successors upon a golden plate, after having canvassed the will of the public carefully and decided which men are most in favor. The plate bearing the names is placed in a golden box in a stone house at the residence of the president. He has the only key to the golden box, while the vice president, the secretary of state and the president all have keys to the stone house.

Presidential elections are to take place once in ten years. Fifty members of the senate and a similar number from the house, all to be elected by members of the two respective bodies, compose the electoral college. To this college the president submits the names of the three men of his choice and the first candidate who gets a two-thirds vote is declared elected.

The electoral college may also vote for the re-election of the incumbent president, as well as for the three candidates he submits, if it so desires. If the president should resign or die in office, the vice president becomes acting president and assumes charge of the golden box.

D. M. & N. IS PREPARING TO FACILITATE TRAFFIC

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 10.—To facilitate the handling of its general business, but especially with a view to giving proper attention to the shipping of products from the steel plant and the receipts of iron ore, coal and supplies for the furnaces of the Minnesota Steel company, the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway today closed long-term leases on three additional railroad lines and as a result has the most complete terminal equipment of any road entering Duluth. The three lines are the Spirit Lake Transfer railway line, the Inland Transfer railway and the Duluth Terminal railway.

MUNICH WRITHES AS BEER LESSENS.

Munich, Germany, Aug. 22.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The shortage of beer in Munich, the home of many famous brews of the dark Muenchen beer, is now very real. The decreased production has not only caused a jump in prices, but has produced here a semi-drought that apparently has not been felt so keenly in any other part of Germany.

The recent proposal to cope with the problem by closing cafes as early as 9 o'clock instead of midnight provided all Germany with a laugh at Munich's expense, but it was no laughing matter for Munich. Few, if any, of the cafes had sufficient allowances of the beer supply to keep things running after 9 o'clock.

The authorities have grappled with the really serious beer situation with characteristic thoroughness. With an exact knowledge of the production of the Munich breweries and the proportion that must go to the army, they have simply stepped in and regulated the disposition of the balance.

A certain so-called "wine restaurant" in the heart of the city, for instance, a restaurant patronized principally by people who customarily drink wine, is granted an allowance of seventy liters of beer a day. The restaurant has permission to stay open until midnight and does so, but the beer drinkers leave when the seventy liters are gone. And it might be remarked parenthetically that a relatively small crowd of "beer gardeners" as the Germans expressively call them will consume seventy liters in an astonishingly short time.

INDETERMINATE TERMS UPHELD

Warden James Russell of Branch Prison Tells State Convention of Association of Sheriffs and Prosecuting Attorneys at Bay City That Law Is an Excellent One.

Judiciously Administered, He Says. It Will Become an Effective Factor in Taking Reclaimable Element Out of Prisons—Points Out Discrepancies in Sentences.

In an address before the state convention of the Association of Sheriffs and Prosecuting Attorneys at Bay City this week, Warden Russell, of the Marquette prison, upheld the indeterminate sentence law as a useful statute. The results under it have been, he said, satisfactory both at the Marquette prison and at the other prisons of the state. The public sometimes gets a faulty idea of the practical operation of the law, because while it hears much about the men who fail to live up to their paroles it hears little about the men who make good. Warden Russell urged severe treatment for parole violators who are returned to prison. He believes they should be held for most of their maximum sentence. He commented on the startling discrepancy between sentences imposed for the same offense by judges in different parts of the state. He spoke, in part, as follows:

Four-Fifths Make Good.

"Let us see how the law works in practical application, as shown by the records. Since it went into effect in 1903, there have been 571 men paroled under its provisions from the penitentiary at Marquette. Of this number 347 observed the conditions of their paroles. There are now out on parole and reporting regularly each month sixty-two men. This makes a total of 409 out of the 571 paroled who have either made good or are still on parole and faithfully complying with the conditions of their paroles. Of the whole number, 162 violated their paroles, and 109 of these have been returned to the prison, leaving sixty-two who were not recaptured and are still at large. Those not recaptured have doubtless left the state, and it is a safe presumption that most of them are now doing time in the prisons of other states and will not again trouble the people of Michigan.

"I am strongly of the opinion that the applicant for parole should be given to understand that if he violates his parole he will have to serve a good part of his maximum term before an application for a re-parole will be considered. In fact, I am convinced that it would materially diminish the percentage of violations if the law should be amended so as to require the convict who breaks his parole to serve out his full term, less good time earned, after his return to prison. Furthermore, I sincerely believe that a prisoner who has been given his freedom on parole, with no restraint imposed on him beyond the requirement that he shall make good use of his time and live decently during a stated period, has nothing to complain of should he be held for the full term of his maximum sentence if he fails to justify the trust placed in his promise.

Parole Law Valuable.

"The primary purpose of this law is to enable the deserving convict to win his release from prison before the expiration of the term to which he is sentenced. It shall have left its impress on him indelibly, weakening his manhood and impairing his capacity for usefulness as a citizen. Judiciously administered, the law will become more and more an effective factor in taking out of our prisons the reclaimable element, leaving those who are hopelessly incorrigible to serve out the full time for which they can be held.

"Speaking from my own experience as warden, I can say that I regard the law as of incalculable value for the promotion of good conduct, consequently for better discipline in the prison. It provides a powerful incentive to good behavior in the reward it offers the prisoner for a clean record, for obedience to the rules of the institution and industry as a worker.

"Very many first offenders and part of those sent up under second convictions have been led into criminality through bad companionship and lack of early good training. They are not criminals by disposition. This class of offenders, as a rule, drifted into evil courses.

Reformation Possible.

"Now, if a prisoner of this type is led to believe that he is regarded as an outcast his attitude in the prison is certain to be of sullen defiance; of studied evasions of the regulations and contempt for official authority. This brings

LOVERS QUARREL; GIRL DRINKS ACID

Sixteen-Year-Old Musing Girl Takes Her Own Life—Dies in Excruciating Agony.

Delina Rivard, who lived with her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Rabitoy, retired to her room as usual Thursday evening and shortly after she was heard to scream in agony, say Musing advises to The Mining Journal. Upon investigation, Mr. and Mrs. Rabitoy found the girl in the throes of death, an empty carbolic acid bottle near by bearing mute evidence of the young woman's rash act. Medical aid was hastily summoned and antidotes were administered, but the girl died in excruciating pain. The bottle contained one and one-half ounces of the fluid. A note on the table read:

"On account of a quarrel with my sweetheart, Walter Hood, to whom I have been engaged, I have nothing more to live for and will end it all with death. I cannot live without him. No one is to blame. Good-by. (Signed) Delina Rivard."

Coroner Scholtes investigated the case and is satisfied that the direct cause of the suicide was melancholy. No inquest was held. The girl was well thought of in Musing and the news of her suicide came a shock to her friends. The parents of Miss Rivard arrived in Musing from their home at Daggett yesterday.

"Colonel Carter of Cartersville," with Burr McIntosh, will be presented as a photoplay at the opera house this afternoon and evening. The production is in five reels and is an offering of the World Film corporation. The Klitties, presenting their novel bounding rope act, will give the vaudeville. "Colonel Carter of Cartersville" portrays an interesting story. Before the Civil war, two young people contract a secret marriage. They are Nancy Carter and Robert Gill. Years later, Nancy Gill and her daughter Laura, sixteen, are living at the home of Colonel Carter, in Virginia, at a time when the war is in its final stages. Colonel Carter is in command of a Confederate regiment. He leaves his command and goes home to protect the house against a raiding party, commanded by Lieutenant Tom Klutcheim. Klutcheim is wounded and Laura nurses him. At the end of the war, Carter endeavors to persuade Klutcheim, Sr., to finance a railroad scheme. Laura and Tom Klutcheim are married, and Carter is made happy by a gift of real hands by Aunt Nancy. Furthermore, Klutcheim, Sr., agrees to finance the railroad.
