

WOMEN ARE RELEASED

SERIOUS CHARGES ARE LODGED AGAINST LOCAL COUPLE AS RESULT OF ARRESTS.

The three women and two men arrested on Friday night by officers of the police department, in the raid on the alleged resort of ill-fame at 509 Market street, yesterday morning became county charges and yesterday afternoon were arraigned before Justice C. D. McEwen. The two men paid fines and were released, and the women were released and one pleaded guilty to the charge, and paying a fine, was released.

The women who pleaded not guilty were, Miss Florence Koniski, alias Mrs. James McKenzie and Miss Lotti Burtrun. Yesterday there were startling developments in the case of Miss Koniski in that it was alleged that she had never been lawfully married to James McKenzie whose name she has used for a score of years. In consequence of the developments a warrant was sworn out for both Miss Koniski and James McKenzie, charging them with cohabitation. They demanded an examination which was set for July 7. Miss Koneski was also arrested, together with Miss Burtrun on the separate charges of common prostitutes. Their examinations under this count was also set for July 7. McKenzie and the Koniski woman were released when they furnished bail amounting to approximately $1500 and the Burtrun woman was released by furnishing bonds to the amount of $300.

One of the men who was arrested in the house with the women yesterday made a startling confession to Prosecuting Attorney Rushton, which, if true, will seriously implicate one of the women who has demanded an examination.

KAISER PLANS NEW ATTACK

(Special to The Press.)

Paris, July 3.—German attacks preceded by fierce bombardment will be delivered at four distinct points from the Yser to the Vosges, in the next two days. The attacks undoubtedly constitute the beginning of a new general offensive movement. Apparently the German phalanx drives which proved so effective in the large attack on the Russian army at Lemborg are to be repeated on a larger scale in the western front. French commanders are letting the Germans expend their fury in fruitless and costly attacks.

Enormous losses were inflicted last night on the army of the German Crown Prince which made obstinate attacks on the front from Binarville, to Four de Paris in Argonne. Shells fired on Arras caused few fires that were readily checked. The German railway stations at Challerange Zaren and Langemarck have been bombarded by French.

(Special to The Press.)

London, July 3.—Sweeping forward with undiminished vigor the Teutonic hosts of Gen. von Mackensen have reached the Bug river at a number of points in their northern drive, while the armies of General Von Lin singen in Eastern Galicia are chasing the Russian armies which were defeated along the Gnila Lipa. The tremendous bottling-in movement of the Teutons in Poland continues.

BRYAN MEETS "FROST" IN HIS OWN STATE.

Omaha—When William J. Bryan arrived in Nebraska, after an absence of many months, he met the coolest reception of his career.

At the station in Omaha, instead of the usual crowd of Democrats to greet him, there was not a single caller at his train, which remained half an hour. Upon his arrival in Lincoln less than 100 were at the station, and not a single cheer was heard. Not even all the members of the committee appointed by his brother, Mayor Charles Bryan, were there. In both cities the homecoming was a "front".

MICHIGAN MAY HAVE AIRSHIP FOR SCOUTING.

Lansing, July 3.—Public domain commission is investigating advisability of buying aeroplane for use in patrolling lands in the forest fire districts of state. It's pointed out aviation could cover several hundreds of

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, the people favoring the prohibition of the liquor traffic in this state are desirous of having said matter voted upon at an election to be held therein in the Fall of 1916, and

Whereas, the people opposed to the prohibition of the liquor traffic are willing that said matter should be finally settled one way or the other at such election, and

Whereas, there has been filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Michigan a proposed Constitutional Amendment, to the Constitution of this State, providing for State Wide prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors to be voted upon at the Fall Election in 1916 and if approved by the people, to take effect and be in force from and after the 1st day of May, 1918, and

Whereas, many citizens of various belief upon this question are desirous of taking a vote upon the same in the Fall of 1916, strongly protest against a local option contest applicable only to this county.

Whereas, the taxpayers of this city and county, in the event of the state prohibiting the liquor traffic will be compelled to make up by direct tax the sum of $47,880.00, now raised by liquor licenses; would in the event of the state going dry in the Fall of 1916 be given ample time in which to adjust the finances of the cities, towns and villages in the county.

Whereas, a local option election at this time would unnecessarily stir up a continued, unpleasant and unneighborly strife until the Fall of 1916, which would only mean a waste of time, energy and money and the sacrifice of good feeling only to accomplish the same end that would be brought about by a vote on such constitutional amendment in the Fall of 1916, and

Whereas, the building up of the economic interests of adjoining counties at the expense of our own is bad business policy.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the Directors of the Escanaba Business Men's Association, individually, hereby disapprove of any campaign or other movement being instituted at this time for a local option election to be held in the spring of 1916, and we urge those citizens who are now circulating petitions with that end in view to suspend their work at this time and postpone their activities until the voting upon such constitutional amendment in the Fall of 1916.

BOOM SLATON AS DEM. VICE PRES.

Detroit, July 3.—A boom of country-wide proportions for the nomination of John M. Slaton of Georgia as the Democratic candidate for vice president next year will be under way within a few months, John Temple Graves of Georgia and New York declared in Detroit Tuesday morning.

"There isn't a hamlet in the land but where the Leo Franly case has been discussed, together with the action of Gov. Slaton in commuting his death sentence in defiance of mob hostility," said Mr. Graves. "Nine-tenths of the people outside Georgia regard Slaton as a martyr to his duty. He will have enormous support all over the country and I predict that within three or four months there will be a tremendous boom for him as running mate of President Wilson next year."

BRITISH COUNCIL DENIES CHARGES

New York, July 3.—The British consulate general here disclaimed today any knowledge of inducements having been made United States soldiers and sailors to desert the American service for the British army and navy, as charged by a federal agent in San Francisco who has been investigating recruiting activities in California.

"The first question we ask an applicant is whether he is an American citizen," said a representative of the British consul general today. "If he is an American citizen his services are invariably refused."

The Captain, Roche or Roach, referred to by witness in San Francisco, it was stated, is George Roach, one of the secretaries at the consulate, who usually attends to the application of British subjects who want to go home to fight.

NO PRESS TUESDAY

Monday will be generally observed as a holiday by the people of Escanaba in commemoration of the nation's natal day. ## TO INSTALL BIG PLANT

Emil Lied, owner of the Pine Ridge Dairy is to construct a $5,000 sanitary milk plant in this city. Mr. Lied has just returned from Chicago where he purchased a complete Davis plant equipment. He visited reading milk plants in Milwaukee, Chicago, Racine and Kenosha and after viewing all of the most prominent milk dispensaries purchased the equipment that will be installed here.

Machinery will be installed from the aeration, pasteurization, clarification and for the entire handling of milk. From the time that the fluid enters the plant in cans until it leaves in tightly capped bottles, it is under constant cover and is at no time touched by the hands of the operators.

The plant is to be the last work in milk distributing stations in the northwest and will be installed by Mr. Lied to supply the ever increasing demand in this city for a certified milk supply.

PLANNING A BIG OUTING

More elaborate than ever before are the plans that are being made for the second annual outing of the employees of the Fair Savings Bank Store, to be held at Fayette late in the present month. Herman Salinsky, proprietor of the store, recently announced that the outing arranged for all employees of the firm, inaugurated last summer, will be duplicated this season on an even greater scale than a year ago. Committees from the Fair Efficiency club are now making active plans for the big picnic and no effort is being spared to make the event a success in its every feature. Mr. Salinsky was the first local businessman to inaugurate the practice of arranging an annual outing for his employees. Last year's event set a new mark for similar outings in this city and every indication now points to an even greater success being scored this year.

EXCURSION TO ATTRACT MANY

Carl Wickert, of Boulder, Colo., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wickert, formerly of this city, last week discovered the body of a woman while in the mountains near Boulder. The woman had been missing since March 20, when it is believed she walked into the mountains from Boulder and committed suicide.

DEDICATE NEW PARK

LOCAL LODGE LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE PLAN BIG PICNIC TO MARK PARK OPENING.

Elaborate plans are being made by members of the Escanaba lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose for the formal dedication of Moose park, on the bay shore between Escanaba and Gladstone, Sunday, July 18. The park is located on the interurban line and will be easy of access both from this city and Gladstone, making possible the breaking of all attendance records for a similar event in this city.

To commemorate the formal dedication of the new park the lodge members have formulated a program that will make the day a busy one for its every moment.

The Escanaba Military band will furnish a musical program at the park and dancing, sports and games will be included in the plans for the event. Among the sporting events to feature the picnic will be a tug of war, candle race, sack race and a spectacular land yacht race. For each of the events a handsome prize will be hung up.

A formal dedication program will be carried out with address by Mayor B. J. MacKillican and other prominent citizens of the city.

Meals will be served on the grounds, making it possible for those who attend to spend the entire day on the grounds. A thirty minute street car service will be provided for the picnic by the Escanaba Traction Company and a special round trip rate of 15 cents has been fixed.

NOTICE.

ESCANABA IS DOWNED

FAST MARINETTE AGGREGATION DEVEALS LOCALS 2 TO 1. HOFF

MAN CATCHES BEAUTY IN CENTERFIELD.

Escanaba's lineup for today: Olmsted, 2nd base; Hoffman, r. f.; Nolden, 1st b.; Aronson, 3rd. b., Lantz, ss., Flath, cf., Bourke, lf., Boyle or Murray, c. and Lief, p.

After a runner was caught who tried to steal home in the ninth, Escanaba lost her opportunity to tie the score and lost the game to Marquette at South Park yesterday afternoon to the fast Marquette team by the score of 2 to 1. The game was one of the fastest and hardest contested to be played on the local diamond this season.

Marquette led off in the first when Gander scored, but after that she did not come near a run until the fifth, when John Dory came across with their second and final run of the day.

Escanaba secured her lone score in the third, Freddie Olmsted being credited with that honor.

"Butch" Garland yesterday probably pitched the fastest and tightest game of his career, while Krasnicky, the ex-Twin City pitcher, held the locals at his will, striking out a total of 13 men during the session.

Both pitchers threw bang-up ball for the entire distance, but four teams being secured off either. Each team was credited with three errors by the scorer.

Freddie Olmsted secured one hit and one run during the contest. Ernie Bourke was up four times and secured two hits while Red Murray secured one clean blow out of four trips to the pan.

Tiehler, short stop for Marquette, secured a total of three hits out of four times up while Gander, center fielder, got a run and a hit out of two trips.

PEOPLE TO ATTEND GARDEN EXCURSION

A large number of local people will take in the excursion to Garden Bay on Monday aboard the Steamer Saugatuck. A real live celebration has been planned for the Bay port and many local people should take delight in the trip.

Taxpayers In Danger

A movement has been inaugurated here to require the people of Delta county twice settle the "wet" and "dry" question in a single year.

Under the terms of an amendment filed with the secretary of state at Lansing the people of the whole state of Michigan will vote on the "wet" and "dry" question in the fall of 1916, when it will be definitely decided whether or not Michigan shall be dry.

In addition a local movement has been launched to bring about a local option election in Delta county in the spring of 1916. If the latter movement is successful the people of this county twice in a single year will be called upon to settle the same question.

Supporters of the dry propaganda are the proponents of the amendment to a state wide election in the fall of 1916 and supporters of the contentions of the wets have agreed that the matter should be finally settled in Michigan one way or another. If the dry win the election in the fall of 1916, it will be provided that the state shall go dry in 1918, giving to the different counties and municipalities of the state an opportunity to revise their methods of financing, a condition that will be made necessary by the cutting off of funds now derived from the sale of liquor licenses. The provision is a safeguard against financial chaos that would result from the sudden cutting off, without preparation to meet the emergency of funds that are now being depended upon to conduct county, municipal, village and township governments.

The proposal to bring on a local option election in Delta county in the spring of 1916, independent of the state election in the fall of that year, forces the taxpayers of Delta county to face a situation that is fraught with financial danger. It will not only earlier throw this county into the turmoil of a "wet" and "dry" fight, but if successful will cut off immediately, without any provision made for meeting the emergency, nearly $48,000 now received in this county from liquor licenses in addition to making valueless property worth thousands of dollars and throwing upon the renting market a great number of buildings now used in the liquor traffic.

It would be impossible to assess property of the county to make up the deficiency of $48,000 in 1916, it would be necessary for the city, village and township governments to float loans until the following year, when the necessity would be presented of levying a tax to cover the loans in addition to the amount short for 1917, thus placing on the taxpayers of the county in a single year a total burden of over $90,000 over and above their present taxes.

The proposal to force Delta county into an independent local option election in the spring of 1916, when the whole state of Michigan will settle the "wet" and "dry" question in the fall of that year, is unfair to the taxpayers of this county and is unworthy of the support or countenance of any citizen of the county no matter what may be his convictions on the local option matter.

In the lexicon of the small boy there's no such word as "sane" when coupled with the Fourth of July.

The new blue book issued by Germany proves that Russia started the war. Somewhere, it seems, we heard once it was England that was at the bottom of the whole trouble.

I've done the kindest act today. Said little Raymond Rabbit, We had one dose of castor oil. So I let little sister have it.

Escanaba's Independence Day eagle, that in former years was wont to scream and cut up all sorts of didoes on the Fourth of July, has either lost his voice or his vocal organs, along with his old time "pep," have been extracted by the anti-venom society. But while the old daddy bird is silent here, a lot of his eaglets will be screaming their heads off on Monday in Gladstone, Bark River, Perkins, Schaffer, Perronville, Flat Rock and other surrounding communities too numerous to enumerate.

Escanaba's new full time health officer has already given notice that he intends to do something besides draw his breath and his salary. He's given notice that he is going after the violators of the city's health laws rough shod and a lot of people are going to wake up some morning to find just how much of a nuisance they and their ways are to the community. There are a lot of things that need 'fixin' and a lot of people that need to be told a lot of things they pretend not to know now and when Mayor McKillican was picking the man for this big job he made no mistake in naming the man that he picked.

The annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau at Houghton last week was not as largely attended as it should have been. But there was a sufficient number of the faithful on hand to insure the bureau being carried over the critical period in its history. No great or beneficial movement was ever launched that did not have to face and surmount unusual difficulties at some time in its history. No matter how generally beneficial a movement may be there will be some of those selfish visioned individuals around who can see someone else getting more benefit from the institution than themselves and their communities. It is thus that knockers are developed. But the far sighted men; the men on whom this district must depend to work out its salvation, will not be greatly troubled and will not diminish their efforts toward the end that is aimed at by the work. The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau is too great an institution and its success means as much to Cloverland, to allow a small coterie of individuals in the different counties to lessen its effectiveness. It is indeed fortunate that the bureau has interested in its success some of the leading men of the peninsula for they, with the support of the Cleveland press and that of the people who can see a wonderful future for this district will continue the great work that has been inaugurated.

WHAT IT MEANS TO US.

What has become of the old fashioned Fourth, when the whole community turned out in genial spirit to celebrate the birthday of our country? Hurrahing for "Old Glory" is not all there is of patriotism. Patriotism is love of home extended. We love our homes; it is there we receive protection, peace, comfort, freedom, to live our own lives and kindly care. It is the government of the country that secures these things to us. Our country is our home on a larger scale. In a family every member must be considerate of the wishes, the convenience, the prosperity of the rest. In our country we should be the same. We are all one family. There should be no room for jealousy, envy, covetousness or sectional prejudice. What is best for the general good is best for each of us. The good of the country should stand before the effort to gain or, retain power for any group or interest. Noble sentiments, honesty of purpose, pure patriotism may be found in all parties. Let us all unite in celebrating our national birthday in a manner fitting its importance.

Does neglect of a proper regard for the Fourth have a baneful influence on the people? Do we forget patriotism? Does indifference to the day mean a lessened appreciation of the land of our birth or adoption? Does it tend to raise up in our land, fewer statesmen and more "politicians"? Should we not attain a broader humanity, higher ideals, and truer patriotism by celebrating the day in hearty appreciation of what our country has been what it now is and what it may be in the future?

GOVERNOR WON'T COMMUTE SENTENCE

Albany, N. Y., July 2.—Governor Whitman today declined to commute the death sentence of Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Simultaneously Martin B. Manton, Becker's counsel, announced that he would take no further legal steps in behalf of his client.

In order that other counsel for Becker may have an opportunity to appeal to the federal courts, however, if desired, the governor granted the convicted man a reprieve of two weeks from the week beginning July 12 to the week beginning July 26. Mr. Manton said he did not know if the case would be taken to a higher court, or what attorney if any, would appeal for the convicted man.

At the last minute it developed tonight Becker offered to make revelations to the governor in connection with graft in New York police circles. The governor, however, refused to consider this phase of the case. Save for the statement that Becker had not confessed the killing of Rosenthal or offered to implicate others, the governor would say nothing regarding offers of revelations by the condemned man.

MORE SUBS ARE ADVOCATED

Indianapolis, July 2.—In addressing the Indiana Spanish War Veterans here today Vice President Thomas R. Marshall asked if the lessons of the European war were not of sufficient value to the United States for this country to adopt a different naval policy. He said if the great European conflict was demonstrating that a $700,000 submarine could destroy a $7,500,000 super-dreadnaught, should the peoples' money be expended for super-dreadnaughts?

Mr. Marshall said the navy of the United States at the present time is in the highest degree of efficiency in the history of the country.

The vice president advocated arbitrary measures as a means of adjusting differences between the nations of the world. Unsuited national honor, unsuited courts and a deeper interest in political affairs, would result in a bettering of our own national existence, he said.

The war veterans sent a telegram to President Wilson at Cornish, N. H. pledging their support of his policies "to maintain peace, and if necessary, to uphold our national honor and dignity."

NEED FOR CITY PLANNING

Many Intelligent Men Do Not Seem to Understand What is Meant by the Term.

Mr. J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, took as the subject of his annual address at the convention of the association in Washington, "Wanted—American City Planning for American Cities." By way of introduction, he said: "It may truthfully be said that to the average intelligent American, be he mechanic or business man, doctor or professor, preacher or politician, the words 'city planning' at once refer themselves as part of a vague propaganda for 'the city beautiful,' having to do with permanent or temporary courts of honor, extra illuminations, and other forms of municipal frillery. It is a serious fact that this complete misunderstanding exists to such large extent among the many excellent people who call themselves 'practical,' and who really try to be good citizens. This fundamental error of conception prevents these good people, most essentially necessary to the efficient progress of orderly city making, from realizing that city planning which is at all worth while, is concerned, first, with means of intercommunication, with transportation, with markets and house sites and factory locations, with water and sewerage, with parks and playgrounds, and all the other factors of prosperity, efficiency and convenience, rather than with appearance or ornament as essentials. When we shall have established in the minds of these unknowing citizens the plain fundamentals of that larger use of architectural and economic principles which have to do with the community efficient, there will be far less trouble in bringing about the use of common sense in those municipal operations concerned in the framework and structural details of our towns and cities."

REAL TRUTH IN THESE LINES

One Might Criticize Them as Poetry, But They Contain a Lesson Worth Heeding.

A Quincy traveling salesman, who keeps open a most observant eye in his travels around the country, noticing the influences which affect a city's prosperity, sends to the Herald what he terms a "good piece of poetry." The poetry may be open to question, but the sentiment is one which every Quincy should have deeply impressed upon his mind, and hence it is worth repeating. It is as follows: "If you want to live in the kind of a town like the kind of a town you like, you needn't slip your clothes in a grip and start on a long, long hike. You'll only find what you left behind; for there's nothing that's really new. It's a knock at yourself, when you knock your town. It isn't the town—it's you. Real towns are not made by men afraid lest somebody else gets ahead. When everyone works and nobody shirks, you can raise a town from the dead. And if while you make your personal stake, your neighbors can make one, too, your town will be what you want to see. It isn't the town—it's you." The Quincy man further says in his letter: "It will be a good thing to put in the paper for Quincy people who go to Chicago and St. Louis to buy their goods." For these very persons it is here reprinted.—Quincy Herald.

Making Gardens.

A Chicago man has given $1,000 to buy seed for gardens to be made in the vacant lots of the city. There is help to a noble municipal enterprise. There is nothing that will so enhance the beauty of a city as well-made gardens. A garden is the workshop of the soul. It not only awakens the better natures of men, but it crowns the table with vegetable delights that make good blood where greater spirits dwell. There is nothing that reflects more joy than a well-made garden. It conduces to good citizenship. It drives away selfishness, meanness, grief, disappointment and fills the heart with beautiful impulses. Every vacant lot given over to waste is wasted opportunity, and indicates a lack of true enterprise in the citizenship. There ought to be an organization in every city to make the vacant spots blossom as the rose. Talk about education—here is a chance for the best that can be had.

Plant Snapdragons.

Have a bed of snapdragons for the garden. These old-fashioned weeds as they are sometimes called, have become very popular. As a table flower they surpass most any other. Sow the seed inside in pots, or out side when weather permits, broadcast. When the plants are five inches tall set them in rows two inches apart each way. Good growth gives the best effect and bloom. All colors and both tall and dwarf are consistent bloomers.

City Gardens.

A movement has been started to make Chicago a city of gardens. That is an example which ought to spread to every city and town in the country.

MISUSE OF FLAG MAY BE PROTEST

Washington, July 2.—Searching investigation is being conducted by the United States into several cases in which it has been officially reported that British ships flew the American flag apparently to avoid attacks by German submarines.

Reports have been received not only from Ambassador Gerard, in Berlin, but through American consular sources in Great Britain with affidavits and other evidence tending to show misuse of the stars and stripes.

The issue is regarded as of such importance to the safety of ships really entitled to fly the American flag that a note may soon be sent by the United States to Great Britain renewing the representations previously made concerning any general use of the American emblem by British vessels.

Berlin, via London, July 2.—As the result of this week's conference drafts of the German reply to the American note are now in the hands of Emperor William. The emperor's decision is expected in time so that the note can be presented to the American ambassador probably on July 5 or 6. High officials are endeavoring to bring about a friendly settlement of the question with America and there is every reason to believe that they are anxious to make the proposals as acceptable as possible.

JIM CORBETT BRINGS BACK FIGHT

New York, July 3.—James J. Corbett, former heavy weight champion, has arrived in San Francisco from a trip to Australia and has brought back with him a heavy weight whom he thinks so well of that he intends to try and match him for a battle with Jess Willard for the heavy weight title. The big fellow whom Corbett has taken such a fancy to is Tom Cowler of Vancouver, British Columbia, who won three fights in Australia with quick knockouts. His victims were Lee O'Donnell in three rounds, Gordon Gouhill in three rounds and Ben Doyle in two rounds. Cowler weighs 210 pounds and is fast and clever. Corbett says that Cowler is the best looking heavy weight that he has seen in action in a long time.

ONE BULLET IN THOUSAND KILLS

France, July 2.—Shells and shells and then more shells—shells by the cord, by the motor truckload, by train load and shipload. Shells of all sizes, from one you can carry under your arm to giants which are rolled off the car onto the motor truck.

At a certain railroad head, near the front, one hears the direct call of the hungry guns. Not many miles away more trains were on the way from another base, while a still bigger base was behind that.

"Think of the pile they would make if all were put together in one lot!" said an officer. "It puzzles us how they are all fired; what becomes of them all and how the factories can make so many."

The transfer business went on as methodically as any freight business. The quiet railway yard seemed to have nothing to do with war.

"Sometimes," an officer in charge said, "the gunner's eyes are bigger than their appetites."

He indicated a set of figures in the tabulator. They were the numbers of shells of different sorts returned from the front after an action.

Every shell is accounted for. If there is waste without results it can be traced. The transfer station feels the demands of the trade, as it were, from the front and passes back its report. There can be no mistaken between types for each type is painted a distinctive color or with distinctive bands.

Not only shells, but everything else wanted at the front in the way of explosives was represented. War is business these days and the business of the ordinance is to furnish the weapons that do the killing—the very important and grimly refined part of the business.

"Bullets also," remarked the officer, "are passed out for the machine guns and rifles at the front. Millions! Enough in a single action along one section of the line to kill all the soldiers from Switzerland to the North sea if every one found its mark. One in a thousand does, perhaps, whether fired by British or Germans. The factories can keep on feeding the armies with bullets and if 1,000 bullets take the life of one enemy and save one of your own men, which factories can not replace, that is good business in war as fought along the siege line in France."

CUNARD SURVIVORS ARE ILL TREATED

London, July 2.—Prof. Marichal, Queen's university, Kingston, Ont., who said he was a retired officer of the French army, caused a diversion in the Lusitania inquiry by complaining of treatment accorded rescued passengers by the Cunard Co. He alleged the survivors had the greatest difficulty in obtaining dry clothes or transportation. Prof. Marichal said the second explosion resembled the sound which would be caused by ammunition "like a Maxim gun." He charged the company with indifference to the interests of passengers in carrying a dangerous cargo and criticized the manner of conducting rescue work.

Counsel for the line read a letter by Prof. Marichal written to the company after the disaster, in which the writer asked that cash be advanced on his lost baggage or he would give evidence "not to the credit of the company or the admiralty."

"Doesn't that imply you wanted money to keep your mouth closed?" asked Baron Mersey. The witness expressed indignation at such an interpretation.

STATE NEEDS $10,000,000

Lansing, Mich., July 3.—"The fiscal years for the state of Michigan has ended and the legislative appropriations of the last season are supposed to be available."

The sum total of these appropriations, figuring only those for the year 1915, is in round numbers $10,000,000 which the state should have right now.

When Deputy Treasurer Frank German struck his balance after 3 o'clock it showed approximately $2,000,000 in the general fund. In other words the state is about $8,000,000 shy.

"But it is not 'broke,'" The new appropriations will be distributed in such a way that there will be no general drain although it is expected that about October 1, there will be little money in the strong box. The heavier special appropriations will be held over until January 1, when the taxes will begin to roll in. In the meantime, current expenses only will be paid.

In round number the whole state balance is $9,575,000. Most of this, aside from the $2,000,000 above, is primary school fund money, which will be doled out in large chunks after July 15, when the apportionment is made. The receipts of the last day of the fiscal year broke a record. They amounted to about $184,000, of which $156,000 was taxes.

LAWS SOON TO BE EFFECTIVE

Lansing, Mich., July 3.—It is apparent from a review of the work of the last legislature that the farmers club was not lacking in influence, as a large number of laws were enacted for the express benefit of the agricultural communities.

One of the important measures of interest to the farmers, provides for the establishment of the office of director of markets, under the supervision of the state board of agriculture. The director will investigate the marketing of farm products, assist in the organization of co-operative associations for improving the relations among producers, distributors, and consumers and render such service as relates to the standardization of grading, packing, storage and sale of farm products. He will also supply information as to market conditions in various localities. He will co-operate with the agencies of the United States department of agriculture, and may establish auction markets. The director of markets is also authorized to report to the state railroad commission delays in transmission of shipments and report to the attorney general any violations of the laws in restraint of trade.

The last legislature repealed the law providing for state inspection of sugar beet testing, weighing and taring, as it was claimed that there was no necessity for the law. The money remaining from fees collected under the old act was turned into the general fund of the state treasury.

Another law of interest to agricultural communities exempts fresh fruit and vegetables from the act governing the sale of fruit by standard dry quart measure.

Provision was also made that commission merchants who fail or refuse to take out the required state license may be punished for such neglect or refusal, as an amendment adding a penalty clause to the statute was passed during the last session.

The state sanitary live stock law was greatly strengthened in the matter of suppression of epidemics of hog cholera. Boards of supervisors in each county are authorized to appoint upon the recommendation of the live stock sanitary commission a person to be known as the live stock sanitary agent, who is the district representative of the commission. In case of an epidemic of hog cholera the county agent of the state commission will take charge of the situation. The agents are granted extensive powers

ARE YOU A VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS?

Governor Ferris has issued the following proclamation:

"The people have been subject to the ravages of tuberculosis, a wholly preventable disease. This disease is the common enemy of mankind, and is rightly called the White Plague. The manifestations of tuberculosis are frequently overlooked. The patient discovers his danger when it is too late. The medical fraternity of Michigan have it in their power to render the state an invaluable service. Their functions are to relieve suffering, cure disease and prevent disease, and the greatest of these three is to prevent disease. Michigan physicians are ready to encourage and practice this form of patriotism—the patriotism of saving their fellowmen from this awful scourge. I suggest that on Friday, August 20, any person in Michigan desiring a medical examination whereby he may ascertain whether he has any of the symptoms of tuberculosis, may have examination and advice by asking a physician for it.

"Therefore, I Woodbridge N. Ferris, governor of the state of Michigan, do hereby designate Friday, August 20, A. D. 1915, as Tuberculosis Day at which time all physicians engaged in the practice of medicine are requested to render this service without charge."

A WOMAN'S REASON

By HAROLD CARTER.

(Copyright, 1915, by W. O. Chapman.) Jean Rae was still thinking over the proposition that Tom Varcoe had put to her on her way down to Cannon's in the subway.

She had two dozen girls under her. She was considered an eminently respectable young woman. She had been in Cannon's department store for nine years.

She had known Tom Varcoe for two years. He had a position at $35 in the buyers' department, and looked forward with confidence to getting the assistant buyer's position, soon to be vacant, an almost hopeless imbecile. And Tom, who was Jean's best friend, whose loyalty to her had never faltered, had asked her to accept his protection through life without the impossible ceremony.

"You see, Jean, dear," he had said the night before, "it is the law of the state that is to blame. You will be just the same as my wife to me forever. And I'll take you to Europe when I get the position, and we can live elegantly. You know me well enough to trust me, Jean."

She had promised to think it over and give him his answer later.

Tom was, indeed, the sort of man of whom any woman might be proud. Not all men in Cannon's were like that. There was Dodsleigh, for instance, the floorwalker of the perfume department, whom Jean had warned away often enough when she saw him ogling some of her newcomers. Dodsleigh was a married man, and the type known as a "good fellow." He was the type that would appeal, in its cheap flashiness, to a girl like little Maggie Pryce, for instance. Maggie had been in the department store four weeks, and her little empty head was swimming with romance. Her knowledge of life was at the zero point.

It was only the day before that Jean had seen Maggie talking eagerly to Dodsleigh during her luncheon time. She had taken the opportunity to speak a few words to her seriously afterward.

"I guess I know what I'm about," answered Maggie pertly, with a toss of the head.

She passed the day at the store as though in a dream. When closing time arrived she had still failed to come to any conclusion. She loved Tom. All her impulses were to go to him. And yet--

She walked homeward, considering. "Why not?" she asked herself defiantly.

And suddenly she saw, reflected in a mirror at the entrance to one of the flashier, but less fashionable restaurants, the faces of Dodsleigh and little Maggie Pryce.

The girl's face was flushed, there was wine upon the table, and Maggie was leaning with both elbows on the table and listening to Dodsleigh's words.

Suddenly she walked straight into the restaurant and up to the little table at which they sat. She hardly knew that she was going there; some power seemed to have taken possession of her and to be leading her against her will.

She saw Maggie start violently, and Dodsleigh look up with an ugly sneer. "Sit down, Miss Rae. The more the merrier, you know," he said with a grin.

"Maggie, I want you to come with me," said Jean.

"Jealous, eh, Miss Rae?" asked Dodsleigh. "Say! Some day I'll take you out, if you're real nice to me, maybe."

"Maggie, do you know that this man has a wife and children?" asked Jean.

Maggie was looking up at her undecidedly. Her weak little will was easily overcome; just now she was more in terror at having been discovered than at anything else.

"Come, Maggie, dear," said Jean.

She took the girl by the arm. Maggie began crying convulsively.

"See here!" began Dodsleigh.

"I'll see you tomorrow, Mr. Dodsleigh," answered Jean. "Maggie, dear!"

She led her through the restaurant, among the staring faces. Dodsleigh followed them, and then, at the entrance, seeing that he had failed, turned away with a curse.

Jean called a taxicab and put Maggie inside. She followed. "I'm going to take you home, dear," she said.

"And that man won't trouble you again, after I've spoken to Mr. Cannon. I don't think he'll show up at the store any more."

Maggie was crying when the cab reached her door. "Oh, Miss Jean," she sobbed, "I know why you did this for me. But I ain't worth it. You see, if I'd ever had a real home, if I'd had you to take care of me--"

"You're going to in future, Maggie," answered Jean, kissing her good-night.

"But why did you do this for me, Miss Jean?"

"I don't know," answered Jean thoughtfully.

And she did not know. That was what she wrote to Tom that night.

"Tom, dear, I'll wait until you are free, and maybe, if what the doctor said is true, it won't be many years. But I can't come to you now--and don't ask me why, because I don't know myself."

Optimistic Thought.

One should always pull gently at a rope.

DAILY LETTER

Ishpeiming, Mich. Everything seems to be in good shape for a good market next Tuesday, especially if the German note is out the way and it is expected. There was some clearing up of weak accounts today but all liquidations was well taken, especially in the coppers. The attempt on Mr. Morgans life and the report that the selling of late in some of the rails for English Royalty only caused a slight decline. Another idea of the enormous earning of the copper company was brought to the attention of investors with the statement that the Chino is earning $12.00 per share. It is stated that inquiries for large amount of metal are in the market and that bids of 20 cents per pound have accompanied many of these inquiries. This is for electrolytic. There will be no market Monday.

BOSTON MARKETS

Boston, Mass., There was some selling of copper shares at the opening, but offerings were well taken demonstrating a strong undertone. Market only needs a strong initiative to stimulate public interest and we feel that improvement of the prices will be seen next week.

WORKMAN IS ASSAULTED

Glasgow, July 2.—The first case of a Glasgow workman charged with interfering with the output of munitions was dealt with severely by the local court. The workman, James Marshall was charged with assaulting another workman because he was turning out too many shells. The court's sentence of three months at hard labor was accompanied by the following statement:

"Although you are making 22 cents an hour and have constant work, you are finding fault with a fellow-workman because he is doing his duty to his country in its hour of agony. This assault was committed by you to intimidate him from doing his work like a man. If this happened in Germany—although I think that is hardly possible—you would have been taken out and put up against a wall and shot. The same things would have happened in France. I am sorry it cannot be done to you here."

FINDING A NEW LIFE

By EGBERT WARRING.

(Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman.)
 Within the space of a brief fitting minute, Doctor Abernathy spoke half a dozen words that pronounced the seeming doom of Walter Thorne. Within an hour the young man in question had analyzed the situation and was philosophically resigned to it.

Within the week Thorne saw a new name on the glittering plate glass windows, paid up all his debts, sent to his uncle in another city the capital he had supplied to start him in business, and gave up his elegant club.

Walter was sorry, but resigned. He counted up his resources, all liquid, and amounting to some twenty thousand dollars.

He had donated half of that to a school for indigent juveniles. Five thousand dollars he had sent to a poor, remote relative. He calculated that $1,000 would be abundant to die on, and the other four went in indiscriminate charity.

Walter finally settled on the Ozark mountain region as a final destination. He approached it by slow stages. The last 100 miles he made on foot. He felt weary at times. The lack of hope and ambition gave him a motiveless sensation. One thing he noticed, however: He was eating with an appetite now, a rarity for ten years past.

One evening he was belated by a storm between towns. He remained within the shelter of a mountain cave till the rain had passed on. It was after midnight when he reached a railroad junction. It was to view a novel and unaccustomed spectacle.

Local freight trains were standing on different tracks, headed in various directions. Lanterns were flashing everywhere, and the scene was one of extraordinary activity. All kinds of vehicles were standing beside the cars, unloading their contents, long, low boxes, nailed tightly and handled with care.

"What is in those boxes?" Walter ventured to ask.

"Strawberries," was the explanation. "Within eighteen hours they will be on the home tables of every big city in the middle West!"

Then Walter knew that he was at the main shipping point of the greatest berry producing section in the country.

One old woman with only two cases carried them to the cars with the aid of her aged husband. Two boys had carried their boxes in a little wagon to which was attached two dogs. Walter experienced renewed interest as he saw a common hand cart appear. A girl navigated it, a strap running harnesslike from the propelling handles across her shapely shoulders.

In the weird, flickering light about her she was a rare picture of earnest, healthful industry. There was a cheery token of duty and vitality in her beautiful face that enchanted Walter. He asked a man who she was.

"That's Netta Oliver," was the reply; "the sweetest lassie on Beaver creek. Her father and mother are both ill, and she has buckled down to keeping the flour barrel full, like the jewel she is."

Walter stopped at a hotel that night. He could not get the face and name of the girl he had seen out of his mind. The next day he made some further inquiries about the Oliver family. He found that they were too poor to afford a horse and wagon. He pitied the girl, who night after night dragged the rickety handcart over the uneven country roads. He made a whimsical resolve. Two mornings later, seated in a stout, light wagon with a sturdy horse attached, he drove into the yard of the little 20-acre farm where Netta Oliver lived.

She was among the vines, wearing a neat, cover-all apron. Her radiant eyes somewhat abashed him as he asked for her father. He found the latter and his wife seated comfortably on the porch of the little cottage, convalescing from an attack of chills and fever.

"I've heard of you, Mr. Thorne," spoke Walter. "I am an invalid in quest of health. I like this spot. Could you board me for a few weeks?"

And then Walter went on to tell that he had a little money, but that he would give the rig he had bought for a month's board.

For 30 golden days Walter Thorne found a new interest in life. He became a real worker—and a lover. Day by day the gentle, lovable Netta grew more and more precious to him. Her parents were up and about now, and the one desire of the father was to secure an additional 80 acres of land.

It would mean a fortune in time, he claimed, and then Walter was sorry he had given away his fortune.

One day Walter went to town. He proceeded to the office of the leading physician. He left it with an eager, hopeful face.

"You are a perfectly healthy man," the doctor had said. "Whatever threatened you two months ago, your new life has neutralized. Only—keep away from the wear and tear and turmoil of office life."

That evening Walter asked Netta to marry him, and she consented. He had written to his uncle, telling him of his resolve to stay close to nature. And upon the wedding eve there came a glowing response from his relative, in the shape of a generous gift that enabled Walter Thorne to begin his new life with the coveted 80 acres in the Oliver farm.

BLUE BERRY CROP WILL BE SHORT

According to a report from the blue berry fields of the surrounding district, the berry crop this season is to be the shortest in history. The late frosts worked havoc with the blossoming bushes at that time and pickers this year expect to reap less than half a usual crop.

Last year, because of the scarcity of berries, pickers received over $2 a bushel, near the highest price ever paid in Negaunee. Almost all of the crop was shipped to Chicago and Milwaukee this year is expected to send the prices soaring to $3. The crops the last three years have been unsatisfactory, but an improvement was looked for this season by experienced pickers. The frosts have killed most of the bushes on the hills in the Sands and Forsyth districts. The only surviving plants were sheltered by jackpines and other small trees.

Berry picking in the upper peninsula has developed into an industry for women and children during the summer. In cases where families go to the fields they earn as much as $10 a day. The berry buyers usually establish their headquarters near the pickers and the berries are shipped as they are picked. Every evening between 6 and 8 o'clock there is an interesting scene at each camp. Buyers are sorting, measuring and packing the berries for shipment; pickers, clad in clothes of varied hues and styles, are either selling or aiding in the measuring. Everyone seems busy.

Some buyers travel more than twenty miles each day in rigs, buying berries from pickers, who sometimes are scattered over several townships.

DAIRY TO NAME CHIEF OF LABORATORY

MANAGING THE DAIRY BULL

Allowing Animal to Run With Cows Is Not Good Practice—Plenty of Exercise is Urged.

(By G. W. BARNES, Arizona Experiment Station.)

The practice of permitting a bull to run with the dairy cows cannot possibly be recommended. Especially is this true during the breeding season, and with the dairyman who is milking a large number of cows and has a constant demand for milk, it means practically the entire time. A bull kept in a small paddock where he gets plenty of exercise, pure water and food rich in bone and muscle-forming material such as alfalfa, oats and wheat bran, will be more vigorous and give better service than a bull permitted to run with the cows. It is very essential that the bull should have plenty of exercise, which he cannot get if confined in a stall. Where it is impossible for the owner to fence securely about one acre for the bull, he can very easily provide the necessary exercise, by stretching a strong wire between two substantial posts and fastening the bull by chain from the ring in his nose to a ring which slips loosely over the wire. This makes a secure fastening and one which experience has proved practicable.

When kept in this way the bull is also more easily managed. A dairy bull makes a dangerous pet, and should never be so far trusted as to be in a position where he can get the advantage of his attendant. Those unfortunate accidents which have sometimes occurred have usually been due to overconfidence on the part of the attendant.

CONVENIENCE OF MILK CANS

"Shotgun" Can is Easily Covered, Set in Water and Not Difficult to Handle.

Milk and cream from even a few cows can be much more conveniently handled in regular milk cans than in the shallow pans and wide-mouthed buckets commonly used.

These cans may be bought in various sizes. For handling cream and skim milk where separators are used, or even where cream is set to sour for butter making, the "shotgun can," is very convenient. It can be easily covered and set in water and is convenient to handle.

Where even a few cows are kept, a separate room for handling the milk should be provided to relieve the oftentimes overcrowded kitchen. Well houses frequently have a room which, with the addition of a concrete floor, shelves and windows, makes a very convenient milk room.

EFFICIENT RATIONS FOR COW

Where Silage is Not Obtainable Mixture of Alfalfa, Corn and Gluten Meal is Good.

A ration of 12 pounds alfalfa, 35 pounds corn silage, four pounds ground corn and three pounds bran proved most efficient for a 1,200-pound cow producing 30 pounds milk daily at the Nebraska station.

Where silage is not available, the next best combination is 15 pounds alfalfa, six pounds ground corn, eight pounds corn stover and two pounds gluten meal.

Where neither silage nor alfalfa are at hand, feed 12 pounds millet hay, 12 pounds sorghum hay, two pounds ground corn and three pounds oil meal.

KEEPING DAIRY COWS CLEAN

Place of Plank, Arranged in Sloping Manner, Will Cure Animal of Stepping into Gutter.

Some cows have a disagreeable habit of backing into the gutter and getting their feet full of manure. A piece of plank set about an inch below the top of the gutter next to the cow and sloped to the bottom of the gutter in the rear will remedy this trouble. On stepping on this sloping plank, the cow will slip backwards, causing her to step up. She will forget the habit in a few days, and then the device is no longer necessary.

The plank should not be longer than the length of one stall so it can be removed for cleaning the gutter.

HUERTA KEPT FROM MEXICO

Washington, D. C., July 3.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta, former dictator and president of Mexico, whose defiance of President Wilson led to the seizure of Vera Cruz by American marines and blue jackets, will not be permitted to enter Mexico from the United States at a time when his presence would be a further menace to the plans of this government to restore peace, if the federal government can prevent it.

Determination to keep Huerta from crossing the southern border of the United States and thus complicating the revolution reached the point where four different ways of detaining the former Mexican chieftain were under consideration by various departments of the United States.

The American Red Cross relief expedition for Mexico City has safely passed Pachuca within the Carranza lines and has gone on towards Mexico City. Whether it has continued on through the Zapata defenses and into the capital does not appear in today's reports from Consul Stillman.

A special train of twelve carloads of corn which left Vera Cruz for Pachuca, destined for Mexico City, was accompanied by a heavy guard furnished by Gen. Carranza. The latter expedition is thought here to be the one Gen. Carranza expects to take into the capital if his troops enter. The state departments announcement today said:

The train was provided with an armed escort and was accompanied by W. P. Glavin, an American citizen. Mr. Stillman states that the secretary of war and the railroad officials at Vera Cruz gave special attention to loading and transportation of this shipment, giving a preference over their own needs.

"Consul Stillman also advises that Consul General Shanklin and C. J. O'Connor, representative of the American Red Cross, went to Mexico City on June 30 from Pachuca, taking with them light freight, but leaving heavier articles behind."

YOUNG SLAYER DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR.

Auburn, N. Y., July 3.—David Dunn, 20, died in the electric chair today for the murder of Harry T. Edward, express agent in Corning, in February, 1914. An eleventh-hour effort to obtain a respite because of belief in Dunn's insanity failed.

Dunn met death without flinching. While in prison he contributed considerable knitting work to a collection for Polish war sufferers.

The crime was unusually brutal. Dunn's arrest came as the result of knocking down a telephone receiver. He had gained access to the express office, and after shooting Edwards in an effort to get money he knocked down the receiver. The telephone girl in her effort to learn why the receiver was down, discovered the murder and notified the police, who arrested Dunn in bed.

SINKING OF SHIP GERMANS' RIGHT

Washington, July 3.—Official information on which to base an accurate judgment of circumstances under which the British steamer Armenian was destroyed with the loss of a number of American lives was lacking tonight and until all details are available Secretary Lansing stated that the position of the American government could not be determined.

Consul Armstrong at Bristol reported to Ambassador Page today that twenty-one of the twenty-nine men lost with the Armenian were Americans. He gave no additional names.

From news dispatches officials were inclined to the view that inasmuch as the Armenian apparently refused to submit to the warning command of the German submarine to halt and made repeated attempts to escape, according to international law the sinking of the vessel was justified, even though non-combatants were on board.

It was admitted that if official reports bore out the press dispatches, there was no likelihood that any new cause of complaint would be added to the issues pending between the United States and Germany. The only fact of importance received today came in a report from Ambassador Page, who said the British admiralty had informed him the Armenian was "engaged in admiralty business."

When it was suggested to officials that if the Armenian were a public ship of war she could not have sailed from the United States without violating neutrality, it was pointed out that there had been cases before the federal courts in which this point arose and it had been ruled that the chartering of a vessel by a foreign consul for his government to transport munitions of war or supplies did not constitute a violation of federal statutes. In the case of vessels which are loaded to supply a belligerent at sea, however, the American government has ruled that such ships must be treated as ships of war.

London, July 2.—Captain Trickey, of the Armenian, in an interview today said that he surrendered to the German submarine only when the freighter was afire in three places and after the ships engines had been put out of action and a dozen members of the crew had been killed by shrapnel fire.

"The submarine, as a signal for us to stop," said Captain Trickey, "first put a couple of shots over our bows when we were four miles off. I put my stern to him and ran for it."

"The submarine then began to shell us in earnest, the shrapnel bursting all around us, killing several of the crew and knocking other overboard. I soon realized that the enemy was gaining on us, but I did not propose to surrender without a struggle. But my steering gear was soon hit and put out of commission. Then a shell fell into the engine room and another carried the Marconi house away. Still another cut down the funnel and disabled the stokers, preventing them from keeping up steam.

"By this time the ship was on fire in three places and I decided to surrender. We had resisted the enemy for an hour and twelve or thirteen men lay dead on the deck. The submarine commander then forced me to clear the ship and seven minutes past eight the Armenian went down, shattered by two torpedoes.

"I must say that the business commander showed us every fairness after we had given up, picking up many of the crew, who, because of a damaged boat, had fallen into the water. Most of those who perished were Americans."

Traveling Man's Experience.

"In the summer of 1888 I had a very severe attack of cholera morbus. Two physicians worked over me from four a. m. to six p. m. without giving me any relief and then told me they did not expect me to live; that I had best telegraph for my family. Instead of doing so, I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and take no substitute. I took a double dose according to the directions and went to sleep after the second dose. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping point, a well man but feeling rather shaky from the severity of the attack," writes H. W. The Michigan state board of health, at its regular meeting in Lansing July 9, will appoint a bacteriologist to take charge of the state laboratory at the College of Mines. The position was tendered to Dr. Spoor of Omaha, a bacteriologist of wide reputation, but he has not yet accepted and it is probable he will reject the offer. The board is determined to open the laboratory as soon as possible and the equipment may arrive here before the end of the month.

A special order of business at the meeting will be a discussion of the plan to conduct the campaign against tuberculosis, recently authorized by the Legislature. In an effort to systematize the campaign the board has appointed a committee consisting of Drs. E. T. Abrams, aughan, Kellogg and Burkhardt, who will engage an expert to direct the work. It is proposed to secure an expert from the University of Michigan, according to Dr. Abrams, who will be in charge of a sanitary survey and who will appoint a group of assistants. The director will be responsible to the committee, which in turn, will report his progress to the state board.

SAYS CANADIANS ENLIST TOO FAST

New York, July 3.—Sir Robert Borden, the Canadian premier, who is here awaiting a ship to take him to England, expects to discuss with the members of the British cabinet "certain important questions" which can be settled best by personal interview.

"During the war there has been very close co-operation between the British and the Canadian governments in respect to all matters relating to the war and touching the common interests of the empire. This co-operation has involved incessant correspondence both by cable and by letter with the colonial secretary and with Sir George Pearley, the acting high commissioner for Canada in London.

LOMB IN CAPITAL WRECKS WING

Washington, July 3.—A tremendous explosion, believed to have been caused by some kind of bomb or infernal machine, wrecked the public reception room on the east side of the capitol building, the senate wing, shortly before midnight tonight. No one was injured. Part of the ceiling and walls of the room were shaken down, a huge mirror and crystal chandelier shattered and the doors blown open.

Officials believed that the explosive was placed by a crank who desired to create a sensation. Visitors were allowed in the room during the day and a timed machine might have been left without attracting attention.

At the time of the explosion the capitol had been closed since dark and no one was in building except the few watchmen on duty and telephone operators. The watchman in the hall directly below the reception room said he was salmost blown from his chair by the force of the blast. He declared that no one could have been near the room for hours.

First reports of the effects of the explosion said the windows of the reception room had been blown out, that an immense plate glass mirror was demolished and that part of the ceiling and walls were torn down. The explosion was heard for several blocks.

RUSSIAN PERMIT LEPERS TO MARRY

Petrograd, July 3.—The Russian Medical Council has informed the Holy Synod that there is no objection to lepers marrying lepers, altho the union of a leper to a healthy mate should not be allowed. This is the council's answer to the question raised by the Russian church.

FAILED IN ROLE OF PEACEMAKER

London, July 2.—County Albert Appony, in an interview with the Vienna correspondent of the Budapest Journal, Pesti-Naplo, after an audience he had with the emperor, referred to his experiences in the United States, saying: "It was a most painful disappointment for me, to see the majority of the American people, among them treasured friends of mine and people I came into contact with at the time of my former visits to the states, taking up an attitude so opposed to us.

TREASURY REPORT SHOWS A DEFICIT OF $35,864,381

Washington, July 2.—The second business year of the present administration, which closed yesterday, showed a deficit of $35,864,381 compared with a surplus for the year ending June 30, 1914, of $34,418,677.

Official explanations will not be issued until the figures for the year are analyzed by Secretary McAdoo, but on the face of the records it is apparent that receipts were much smaller on enormous reductions in customs revenues resulting from the war while disbursements were much greater.

With the end of the war apparently remote, it is well known that many treasury officials are convinced that it will be necessary for congress to restore the old duty on sugar at the next session. Sugar becomes free next year, whereas in the days when it paid duty it brought in about $60,000,000 a year.

MAKES A CONFESSION

Glen Cove, Long Island, July 3.—Physicians attending J. Pierpont Morgan, tonight issued a bulletin declaring that the patient continues "excellent" and that bullets did not involve any vital organ. Both of the shots were fired by Frank Holt, a Cornell university instructor in German and took effect in the body of J. Pierpont Morgan. The bullets lodged in the region of his hip. Morgan's personal bravery and the promptness of Henry Physick, Morgans Butler, probably saved the banker's life.

Holt made the fullest confession, declaring also that the bomb explosion at the Washington capitol on Friday night, was his work. The would be assassin said he planned to blow up the capitol as a protest against the United States failure to maintain neutrality and then kill Morgan.

The confession is not published as yet, but it is intimated that the plot also included the assassination of a distinguished man, whose death would startle the world. Seated at the Morgan breakfast table was Sir Cecil Spring, the British Ambassador to the United States who was an over night guest at the Morgan residence.

Glen Cove, Long Island, July 3.—Frank Holt, who shot Pierpont Morgan today, confessed to Police captain Tunney that he had attempted to blow up the senate wing of the capitol in Washington last night. Holt said after wrecking the public reception room he took midnight train for New York and went immediately to Morgan's house.

Official reports tonight had it that Morgan's condition is serious. It is said that it will not be known until tomorrow whether infection has set in. These discouraging rumors have given a firmer standing by the fact that virtually all members of Morgan's family were summoned to the house. Late tonight they had been called to his bedside. The injured man's mother, Mrs. J. P. Morgan, Sr., collapsed in her son's room.

(Special to The Press.) Dallas, Texas, July 2.—Frank Holt, who today attempted to assassinate J. P. Morgan, is a son-in-law of Rev. O. F. Sensabaugh, a well-known Texas Methodist preacher. He is a graduate of Vanderbilt university. He was to have occupied the chair of Romance languages at the Southern Methodist university next fall. He has been a student teacher at Cornell university this summer.

POLISH EDITOR ACCUSED OF ANNOYING PRESIDENT New York, July 2.—Alphonso Chras-towski, a Polish editor, was arrested at his home tonight on a charge of sending annoying and abusive letters to President Wilson at Washington. The arrest was made on a warrant sworn out by secret service agents.

Peter Blanchette and Miss Carrie Cousineau left yesterday for Schafer to spend the Fourth with relatives.

GREAT SERMON IN EVERY WOMAN

The production of "Everywoman" presented at the Delft theater without the slightest shadow of a doubt far outclassed any similar or in fact, any production of any kind ever presented at an Escanaba opera house.

The show of last evening was a sermon preached by superb acting and by the admixture of seriousness and gaiety, a deep-rooted impression was most certainly made upon the audience present.

The production of last night did not draw a capacity house and for the effort which he put forth for the returns which he received, Manager Jacobus is to be congratulated. It is to be deeply regretted that a show of the calibre of that of last night could not have been witnessed by more people, as the lesson which is taught was indeed far reaching in every sense.

BENNY KAUF SAYS HE'S DONE

New York, July 2.—Benny Kauff, the crack outfielder of the Brooklyn Federals, who refused to play in today's doubleheader with Kansas City because of a disagreement regarding his salary, declared tonight that he is through with the Federal league and that he intends to jump to the New York Nationals. Kauff said he will report to the New York club tomorrow.

John Foster, secretary of the New York Nationals tonight declared that Kauff would better not report to the Giants tomorrow.

"Kauff may just as well stay as he will not be welcome," Foster said. "The national commission has acted on Kauff's case and has declared him ineligible to participate in organized baseball for the next three years. Early in the season Kauff jumped to the Federal league from the Giants. Manager McGraw of the Giants said tonight that he would be glad to see Kauff reinstated by the commission because he would like to have him on his team.

YOUNG MAN TAKES LIFE

Despondent over continued ill health Henry Lindquist, 22 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lindquist of Bark River township, committed suicide late on Friday night at the home of his parents, one and a half miles north of Bark River. Placing the muzzle of a double barreled shotgun against his forehead and the young man pushed both triggers with a forked stick. The double charge of shot tore away the entire upper portion of the unfortunate young man's head causing instant death.

Dr. L. P. Treiber was summoned from Bark River, but could do nothing as death had been instantaneous. The unfortunate young man had not enjoyed good health for some time, but he had given no hint to members of his family that he intended to take his life. He spent Friday evening in Bark River and returned to his home shortly after 10 o'clock. He went into the house, where other members of the family were sleeping, and secured the gun. He walked into the yard and a few minutes later sent the charge crashing into his brain.

The young man held a high place in the estimation of a wide circle of friends and his tragic death has come as a terrible shock to members of his family and host of acquaintances.

and fast from the opening to the closing and at no juncture did the contest lag. Frank Hess did noble duty as umpire yesterday and his decisions met with general satisfaction. He will probably maintain that job for the remainder of the season, with his good work of yesterday.

Today will be a contest royal. Marinette now has taken two games from the locals, while Escanaba has secured but one, and that by a very narrow margin. Today the wits of the players of each team will be pitted against those of the other. All are in ship shape for the contest and it is expected that a monster crowd will be attracted to South park to witness the athletes in action.

The box score for the game of yesterday is: Lief is slated for the mound duty this afternoon while Henry Olmsted will work in the come-back role in the Monday game. Henry is in top notch form and hundreds of his local admirers will be at the park to see him in his first workout here in several years.
