GOLFERS TO END SERIES HERE TODAY

R. J. Harny and W. B. Boyce Will Settle Matter of City Championship—Great Deal of Interest.

SPECIAL BUS SERVICE

The men's city golf championship will be settled today when C. J. Harny and W. B. Boyce are scheduled to meet on the local club links. Both men have been working earnestly and are in the best of form.

The interest is intense and there will be a large gallery. Because of the gasless Sunday request of the city administration, arrangements have been made for special service by Harny's bus, which will leave the Ludington hotel at 9, 10, 11, 2 and 3 o'clock, taking Ludington street to Charlotte Avenue to Third and to the Country Club home. Passengers will be picked up enroute.

Germany Wants Colonies Back

The following notice has been issued by Herman O'Connor, United States Marshal for the Western District of Michigan: "A German alien man or woman changing his or her place of residence to another place within the same registration district shall immediately report such change to the registration officer of the registration district and present to such registration officer his or her registration card for the purpose of having endorsed thereon by such registration officer the change of residence."

A German alien male or female who desire to change his or her place of residence to a place of residence within another registration district must obtain a permit. Such German alien male or female must present themselves to the registration officer of the district in which she then resides or he then resides and make application for the permit on a form supplied by the registration officer, and present his or her registration card to the registration officer for the purpose of having the permit of change of residence, if granted, endorsed upon his or her registration card. If the registration officer denies the application here may be an appeal under certain circumstances set forth in Article XIII, paragraph 3, of the General Regulations to the United States Marshal of the judicial district for final action.

A change of residence in violation of the regulations subjects an alien enemy, among other penalties, to arrest and detention for the period of the war. The registration officers who acted in the registration of German aliens will continue to act as registration officers for the purpose stated in respect to permits for change of residence.

To Place Coke On 50-50 Basis

State-wide orders placing gas coke on a par with anthracite coal are soon to come from State Fuel Administrator William K. Prudden. Coke from gas plants has been so designated in Detroit and Lansing, but the principle is to be carried to all parts of the state. In Lansing the new order has caused a howl which has for the first time seriously endangered the work of the fuel administration. Coke last winter was the salvation of the people of that city, and up until two or three days ago was being bought by all who used hot-air furnaces.

Administrator Prudden says that conditions in Detroit and Lansing were such that he felt that coke should be dealt with as anthracite. He also says that as rapidly as other counties reported on conditions he might make a ruling that all would have to follow. The new order created consternation in Lansing because heretofore the fuel administration had not touched coke even in the bitter days last winter.

RATIONING SYSTEM IS NOT URGED

Federal Fuel Administrator Says Time Not Offered for a Card Rationing System to Gasoline.

CONSCIENCE IS JUDGE

Delta county auto owners who have suggested that a gasoline rationing system should be inaugurated in preference to the Sundayless gasoline order, will be interested in the following telegram received by State Fuel Administrator Prudden from Federal Administrator Garfield:

"The United States fuel administration finds many have understood the plan of not driving automobiles on Sundays as a gasoline conserving measure was an order, instead of the request. It has been suggested that the result sought might better be gained by a card system or some other method of rationing gasoline. The answer is that in the time it would take to inaugurate a card system of rationing, the shortage should be overcome, particularly if there is heed to the call of conservation with regard to waste, leaks and the running of motors when not actually in operation."

Rationing Not Feasible. "There is further answer found in the European experience that the machinery of administering a rationing system to three millions or four million automobile users, is so large and so extremely expensive that it should not be undertaken until the need is extremely great."

"The request for no Sunday driving was limited to the territory east of the Mississippi because the great bulk of the country's gasoline is obtained in the mid-continent fields, in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, while all oil and gasoline sent to the war zone is shipped from our Atlantic seaboard, and transportation is saved by conservation in the east."

There are many tales of heroism in the fighting in France. One conan artillery group, which as a result of constant fire found itself short of ammunition. The lads had volun-

the road, every inch of which was shell-swept, in order to bring back a

Before the return was completed the horses attached to their caisson wagon were all killed. That circumstance,

(From the New York Times, July 17, 1918)

You have read in the daily news the story of what one detachment of American artillerymen did on the Marne when their ammunition was running low.

Every shell in that caisson meant a speedier winning of the war—all the horses were killed—but the shells got there just the same. And they got there in time.

Where shall we draw the limit when we read what they are doing over there? Now is the time to put our full strength into it. Our strength, coupled with the power of our Allies, will win. Let us not delay even a few months.

Let us get there in time to hasten the victory—to save the lives of our sons.

How can any one of us, back here at home, set any limit to the help we ought to give—for victory? And we must get it there in time!

Meets Brother In France As Battle Begins

Among the many interesting things contained in a letter from Clarence F. Holzgrebe of the 168th Infantry...

There was sure one thing that has happened to me over here that was as good a treat as the Lord could have sent me...

This meeting happened on a hillside and he and I exchanged our watches merely for curiosity...

They had quite a battle but soon the Huns were on the run, but many didn't get far...

I still have another brother who is on this side somewhere whom I have hot soon since he came across and I am sure anxious to meet him on my travels over here...

Dove Was Lost In Chimney Of Local Residence

A dove with the habits of a chimney swallow, is the newest curio in Escanaba. It was discovered at 619 South Jeanie street when the work of cleaning the chimney in obedience to the request of the fire department, took place. Adolph Hemes went to the roof and Mrs. Hemes to the basement, where she opened the door in the foot of the chimney. As the door swung back the bird flew out, bringing with it a cloud of soot and dust. Mrs. Hemes was considerably startled, so much so that she called for aid before she found that the occupant of the chimney was a bird, noted during the ages for its peace-loving qualities. The bird was captured, removed from the basement and liberated. How long it had been in the chimney is not known.

Says Drive Of Allies Gives Hope In France

That the success of the allied drive in France believes that the war will end in the spring, is the message of Miss Agnes Fleming, former Escanaba girl now at the front in the Red Cross service. The letter was received by Mrs. Joseph Ryan, 308 Hale street, and contains much of interest.

The French people regard the Americans as curiously as the Americans regard the French she says. She also comments upon the regular church-going habits of the French people. The ward where she works in the hospital is filled with "gassed" patients, many of them badly burned the results that are produced by comparatively crude methods of surgery are wonderful, she says.

Every minute, she says, calls for surgical dressings and the other articles that the woman of the United States are making for the Red Cross in such large quantities. The nurses at the hospital now have a large shower bath and other conveniences. Candy is always in demand there. The meals are excellent, including plenty of white bread, she states.

Universities Prepare For Drilling Men

Washington, Sept. 14.—With President R. C. McLaughlin, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, serving as educational head of the Students' Army Training Corps, and a staff of well-known civilians to help in the task, the War Department's plan to have every important college in the country a military post for the training of men for the army and navy is making rapid headway.

On July 18 three large training camps at Plattsburg, N. Y.; San Francisco, Ca., and Fort Sheridan, Ill., with attendance of 7,000 members of college faculties and selected students began a sixty-day course designed to prepare men to assist in the work of military instruction in the college this year.

The plan is an attempt to mobilize and develop the brain power of the young men of the country for these services which demand special training, says the War Department.

"It's object is to prevent the premature enlistment for active service of these men who could be extending the period of their college training multiply manifold their value to the country."

In its announcement the department points out the needs for highly trained men as officers, engineers, doctors, chemists and administrators, of every kind. "The importance of this need cannot be too strongly emphasized," says the War Department. "This is a war in which soldiers are not only marksmen, but also engineers, chemists, physicists, geologists, doctors and specialists in many other lines. Scientific training is indispensable."

"First shipments of the season's pick are expected to be on the rails the latter part of September.
