INCOME TAX MEN CHECKING UP DEALERS IN ILLICIT LIQUOR

PROHIBITION PAYS ITS OWN WAY IN LAST YEAR.

(This is the fourth of a series of several dispatches written by Mr. Lawrence on the prohibition question.)

Washington, Feb. 22.—Is prohibition expensive? And how has the Treasury overcome the $500,000,000 loss in taxes which used to be collected on beverages?

These questions go to the root of the problem and while it is true that from a moral standpoint a negative answer to each would still fail to deter the crusader who believes the greatest good to the greatest number cannot be measured in dollars and cents, there is a widespread interest in these material phases.

Prohibition profitable? First of all prohibition enforcement itself is not expensive but really profitable financially to Uncle Sam. Nine million dollars were appropriated by Congress to enforce the Volstead law. The Treasury balance sheet on prohibition for the fiscal year ending last June was as follows:

Federal fines collected during the year, not including collections in the District of Columbia and Alaska $2,791,305.21

Amounts paid in compromise suits 1,739,622.90

Amounts collected in taxes and penalties not including taxes on local manufacture and legal sale of intoxicating liquors for medicinal, etc. 239,964.14

Amount of bonds on which action has been taken toward forfeiture 3,000,000.00

On top of this are accumulated items of approximately $80,000,000 in penalties for violation of the internal revenue laws, which means double the amount of the tax rate that used to be imposed on liquor sales when the traffic was legal.

Take the case of Ohio, for example, which spent $216,000 in enforcement of prohibition and collected $2,400,000 in fines. This item was divided between the state and the county treasuries so that the communities which did the prosecuting received about $1,350,000 last year out of prohibition cases.

There is no way of telling exactly the sums that have been recovered by the Treasury in income tax cases. One case is being in which a "bootlegger" made out an income tax return for $6,000 when he had in reality an income of $3,000,000.

Three Missing as Result of Blast in Powder Plant

CRAPTON, Ill., Feb. 22.—Three workmen missing and believed to be dead, and a dozen slightly injured, was the toll tonight of the five explosions which destroyed six buildings of the Illinois Powder Company's plant here this afternoon.

Five broke out after the explosions and threatened more serious blasts, but it was brought under control this evening.

The property damage was estimated at $50,000 by company officials.

ATTACK TEXAS SOLON'S SEAT

Mayfield-Ku Klux Issue Put Up to United States Senate.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The controversy over the Ku Klux Klan was brought into the United States senate today with the filing of proceedings contesting the right of Earle B. Mayfield to become a senator from Texas.

The contest was brought by George E. B. Paddy, Republican, and "Independent Democratic" candidate for senator in the election last November, who declared himself elected despite the majority credited by election officials to Mayfield, the regular democratic nominee.

Klan officers were charged with "illegal and fraudulent" acts in the petition, which also alleged fraud in counting the ballots. Illegal expenditures of more than $150,000, in Mayfield's behalf and numerous other irregularities.

Naval Scrapping to Cost $55,000,000

Washington, Feb. 22.—The naval scrapping program under the Washington treaty will entail a direct cost to the government of about $55,000,000, according to a report today by the house appropriations committee, explaining an item of $20,950,000 in the deficiency appropriation, bill to reimburse contractors and ordinance manufacturers who suffered when ship building was stopped by the arms conference treaty.

House Accepts Half Alien Property Law

Washington, Feb. 22.—The house today began consideration of the administration bill which would authorize return of the smaller trusts held by alien property custodian, and a fight to amend the measure so as to effect the relinquishment of all the property seized during the war from enemy aliens was launched immediately by members who asserted its further retention was in violation of international law.

Webster Davis Dies in Missouri Home

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 22.—Webster Davis, 61, former mayor of Kansas City and assistant secretary of the interior under the McKinley administration died at a hospital of inflammation of the heart. Mr. Davis nominated William Jennings Bryan as candidate for the presidential nomination at the Democratic national convention here in 1906.

Big Crowd Greet New Street Lights

LEGISLATORS HEAR ADDRESS ON WASHINGTON

House Has Busy Day, Senate Has Another Rest Session.

Lansing, Feb. 22.—A patriotic address by Charles McKenny, president of the Michigan state normal school, marked the observation of Washington's Birthday in the lower house of the legislature today. The house put in a full session on the holiday to make up for the time lost yesterday when most of the members attended the republican convention at Flint. The senate, however, had no business up for action and it was agreed to put everything over until Monday night's session.

Five Bills Advanced The house voted down an amendment to the bill by Rep. Dykstra of Grand Rapids, permitting issuance of teachers certificates, good for two years, to graduates of junior colleges, and advanced the bill to third reading. Five other bills were passed in committee of the whole to third reading. They included the House measure prohibiting fingerprinting of employees by employers, the Henze bill calling for notices of public utilities commission hearings, the Culver bill for uniform warehouse receipts and regulating the business of landering, and a minor bill by Rep. Dykstra.

Two new bills were introduced. One by Rep. Look of Lowell, would give the public utilities commission power to grant rehearing and to amend or modify findings. The other, by Rep. Culver, would regulate the sale of soft drinks prohibiting mislabeling or the replacing of contents in a bottle to represent it as a foreign product.

Farm Credit Bill Delayed in House

Washington, Feb. 22.—Plans for house consideration of farm credits legislation on Saturday were abandoned tonight when Chairman McFadden notified Rep. Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican floor leader, that the banking committee would be unable to complete its work before late tomorrow. It was announced that a bill would be reported in time for consideration on Monday or Tuesday.

Paderewski Given Doctor's Degree

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 22.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, statesman and world famous pianist today received the degree of Doctor of Laws from the University of Southern California. The degree was conferred in recognition of his services to Poland, his native land, and of his achievements in music.

Three Workmen Die in Kansas Blow-up

Columbus, Kan., Feb. 22.—Three workmen at the Hercules Powder company at Turck, four miles north of here, were injured, one probably fatally and a small girl was cut by flying glass a half a mile from the scene, when a large quantity of black powder in the glass room was ignited, causing two terrific explosions a minute apart this afternoon.

PROponents OF SHIPPING BILL LOSING HOPE

FILIBUSTER SEEMS TO HAVE BEATEN SUBSIDY.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Buffeted by another day of filibuster in the senate, the administration shipping bill tonight appeared headed toward its doom. The end seemed likely not later than Saturday on a motion to recommit the legislation or to displace it with another bill. The filibuster, which began Monday night, continued unabated through today and into the night.

Many Conferences. During its progress there were a number of private conferences between Republican senators, and later between Republican and Democratic leaders in which negotiations were conducted for definite action by Saturday night as that the final week of the session might be open for the consideration of other pressing legislation.

Opponents of the ship bill, after canvassing the strength of their forces, openly said for the first time that they had enough votes to get the measure out of the way unless its supporters could obtain some action upon it within the next two days. The prospect of its supporters to be able to do this appeared dark.

Support Weakening. Several Senators who have been mildly favorable to the bill privately admitted during the day that they will not continue their support of the measure much further, if it continued to block other legislation. Senator Willis, Republican of Ohio, stated on the floor that he desired to develop if the bill was to be killed by filibustering for it, so he said, there were many other bills which should be taken up. Senator McKeller, Democrat of Tennessee, later plainly told the senate that it was the intention of those opposed to the legislation to kill it by any legitimate means, and that he considered filibustering legitimate.

BONUS HOPES FLARE, EXPIRE

Fordney Says Mellon Had No Objection to Plan; Then Retracts.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Soldiers' bonus advocates in the house were given a glimmer of hope today by Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, author of the measure vetoed by President Harding, but it proved short lived.

Mr. Fordney, addressing the house on the British debt settlement, said Secretary Mellon had told him that he had no objection to the use of the money received from the foreign debt, principal and interest, in financing a bonus for former service men after the money had been obtained.

Mellon "Forgets". Mr. Mellon, when his attention was called to Mr. Fordney's remarks, said he had no recollection of having made the statement and it was reiterated at the treasury that he adhered to his position that the government was obligated to apply at least the interest from the debt to the retirement of liberty bonds.

The treasury secretary communicated with Mr. Fordney by telephone and the Michigan representative stated later that evidently he had misunderstood Mr. Mellon and would strike his remarks from the record of the house proceedings. He added that at the first opportunity he would make an explanation of the matter to the house.

Remarks Stricken. The opportunity was afforded at the night session, Mr. Fordney taking the floor and explaining that the secretary had told him he had not intended to convey any such impression as given by the Michigan representative. Mr. Fordney saying he wished "to stand corrected" obtained unanimous consent for his remarks to be stricken from the record.

Oil Well Explosion Kills Three Workers

Ardmore, Okla., Feb. 22.—Three men were killed and two others injured this afternoon in an explosion on the Carter Oil company lease near Dillard, 18 miles west of here.

"White Way" System Blazes for First Time on Ludington Street as Citizens Applaud

Leaping from a semi-darkness relieved only by scores of auto headlights darting to and fro, Ludington street last night was lighted as never before, save by the sun. At the throwing of a switch in the substation, 72,000 candlepower blazed forth from the 120 fixtures of the new White Way.

Escanaba's White Way! Scarcely six months ago it seemed a dream whose fulfillment appeared distant indeed. Last night, it was a reality. Preparations for the evening were evident throughout the day. In practically every establishment along the street show windows were screened white window dressers worked and planned to arrange best possible exhibits in honor of the occasion. Other than mercantile establishments also observed the celebration with patriotic displays in the front of their places of business. Everyone seemed to want to take part.

Program on the Dot. The evening program moved like clockwork. Scarcely had 6 o'clock sounded when all electric signs, ornamental and show window lights were extinguished, and the sole illumination of the street was furnished by the corner fixtures. Then, at 7:15, points of red light appeared here and there at the foot of the light poles, as the special committee members touched off their fuses. A moment later, the corner lights winked out, and only the red glow of the fuses and the moving myriads of auto lights remained, casting fantastic shadows of the massed onlookers against the walls of the buildings.

As the hands of the clock crept slowly toward the half-hour, the red lights sputtered out. Painfully against the wind, rose the long-drawn-out shriek of the fire siren, the signal to extinguish all remaining fuses. Followed a breathless pause of perhaps three or four minutes, while all ears were strained to catch the first note of the fire signal. From the direction of the point came the first glow of the siren—

And then light! Brilliant, scintillating, enveloping light! Light such as Escanabans had never seen before; light that far exceeded the expectations of those who had not been fortunate enough to witness the tests of the new fixtures. The auto headlights, which had appeared so brilliant a moment before, paled into dimness by comparison.

Like Christmas Eve. Scarcely had the show windows begun to wink into brilliance in rapid succession, displaying new and beautiful displays. Electric signs and ornamental lights quickly followed, and within five minutes delighted window-shoppers were walking from store to store along the new white way in a style that resembled a Christmas eve rush.

Patriotic colors formed the keynote of most of the displays, flags, streamers and bunting being combined with the wares of the establishment into a tasteful and attractive whole. Dry goods and ready-to-wear stores displayed bewitching styles for spring under the glow of soft lights, some combining cloths of red, white and blue in novel effects. Flags, hatchets, cherry trees, and pictures of the "Father of His Country" were everywhere in evidence.

Novelty displays also were conspicuous. Among them may be mentioned the motion picture show conducted in the upper front windows of The Fair Store, depicting the raisin industry of California; the "Escanaba Has It" window of the Boston Store; the "Kodak Service Station" of the Photo Art Shop, and the mysterious revolving typewriter in the window of the Office Service Company.

Many Radio Concerts. Crowds thronged the shops of the Economy Light Co., the Needham Electric Co., the Mead Drug Co., and the Italo Electric Shop to hear the radio concerts which were being received from several of the large broadcasting stations.

Despite the piercing cold, hundreds of pedestrians lined the streets even before the fuses were lighted, and waited for twenty minutes or more to get their first glimpse of the new lights. Everyone who could do so made it a point to be on Ludington street at 7:30, many coming in from surrounding communities to witness the illumination. Automobiles moved up one side of the street and down the other in a continuous stream, both before and after the turning on of the lights.

Praises were heard everywhere for those whose energy and foresight were responsible for the achievement, and opinion was unanimous that Ludington street at night now presents a vista that cannot be equalled outside the larger cities. That this work was done in the face of difficulties, and yet at less than the estimated cost is cause for additional credit to those who made the project possible.

Only Forerunner. But, in its larger sense, the Ludington street White Way is only a forerunner of what is to come. Plans are already before the council for the purchase of similar fixtures for installation on Stephenson and Hartnett avenues from Ludington street to the ore docks, and for boulevard standards on Fourteenth street from Ludington street to Tenth avenue south. These installations are proposed for the coming year, and other streets will follow in time. If all goes well it will be but a few years before Escanaba will have risen from among the poorest to perhaps the best lighted city of its size in the northwest.

ONE CIVILIAN WHO JEERED AT TROOPS SLAIN

AMERICAN CROWDS PROTEST RUHR INVASION.

Bochum, Feb. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Two French soldiers this afternoon fired point-blank into a crowd of Germans in front of the Law courts, killing one man and severely wounding two others.

The trouble occurred when French troops with tanks were engaged in occupying the Law courts building and the neighboring prison on suspicion that certain Frenchmen had been incarcerated as spies. During this operation one German official was arrested and placed under a guard of five French soldiers. Some of the bystanders hooked the soldiers, two of whom then fired into the crowd. The crowd had made no attempt to molest the soldiers. The populace was greatly angered and one body of the townspeople finding a French civilian interpreter alone in the street, mobbed him. The Frenchman was rescued and removed, badly battered, to the police station.

BOTH CLAIM VICTORY. Dusseldorf, Feb. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Both the Germans and the French and Belgians claim they are winning the struggle in the Ruhr. The system of passive resistance inaugurated by the Germans when the French and Belgians entered the Ruhr is declared by the newspapers of Essen and other towns in the newly occupied area to be entirely satisfactory. The newspaper still take the stand that the French have "cut off more than they can chew." Some of them continue to hold out the hope that the French and Belgian operations sooner or later will be liquidated; but there is no suggestion offered as to just how this may be brought about.

On the other hand, while the passive resistance of the Germans continues in full effect, the French are going ahead calmly with their plans, which apparently call for a long stay. They are moving up additional artillery daily and making themselves as comfortable as possible. The French now have in full effect their customs rink for the collection of taxes. It has been welded around the district in which is concentrated Germany's wealth. Also the occupation forces are installing telephone and telegraph lines and making necessary arrangements to extend water and railroad transportation. They are using thousands of trained civilian workmen brought from France.

DEMOS PREPARE FOR CONVENTION

Senator Owen of Oklahoma Principal Speaker At Banquet.

Detroit, Feb. 22.—An appeal for America to become the moral and spiritual leader of the world, "just as this country today is the financial and commercial leader," was sounded here tonight by United States Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, speaking at a jollification banquet of Michigan Democrats assembled to celebrate the election last autumn of Woodbridge W. Ferris as United States senator from Michigan. Former Governor Ferris is the first democrat to be sent to the senate from Michigan in 70 years.

Convention Today. The banquet was a preliminary to the democratic state convention here tomorrow, at which candidates for minor state offices will be named. Speculation on the eve of the convention centered on the question of whether a resolution would be presented to the assembly endorsing Henry Ford as the democratic candidate for president in 1924. Such a resolution was introduced at the party's state convention last fall, but was killed in the resolutions committee, members of the committee expressing fear it would create an issue that might overshadow the Ferris candidacy.

Ford May Attend. The democratic delegation also expressed eagerness to learn whether Mr. Ford would put in an appearance at the convention tomorrow. He was chosen to head the Wayne county delegation. The manufacturer has given no intimation as to whether or not he would attend.

BARBER SKIPS WITH $500,000

Chicago, Feb. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—An immigrant from Italy of a dozen years ago who later became a west side barber in Chicago, is being sought tonight along the Mexican border, while bankers and state officials in the east and middle west trace his career in frenzied finance, a career which has already cost investors from a half million to a million dollars or more.

Stolen Securities. The missing barber banker, or Joseph M. Marcano, or Joseph B. Biata, 27 years old. While detectives are searching for Marcano who disappeared from Buffalo, New York, last Friday after he is alleged to have peddled over $200,000 worth of stolen securities, Frank Taylor, ex-railroad fireman who rose to the position of $50 a week president of the First National Bank of Warren, Mass., when Marcano obtained control of that institution, is awaiting arraignment tomorrow on a charge of embezzling national bank funds.

Losses $591,000. Burns agents here figured the known losses from Marcano's operation at $591,000, and say that they expect much more to appear before the investigation is completed. All the world is a stage and it is a fine show if you play fair.

Herrin Court Pays Tribute to Memory of Mrs. John Logan

MARION, Ill., Feb. 22.—Aged residents tonight recalled that Mrs. Mary Cunningham Logan, widow of Gen. John A. Logan, whose death in Washington today caused adjournment of court in the second Herrin mine riot trial, was one of the best beloved persons in this district, where she made her home during her youth. During the Civil War, Mrs. Logan accompanied her husband and aided him in swaying the forces of Southern Illinois to the ranks of the union army.

Gen. Logan delivered a speech, which is said to have swung this section, a swathing mass of indecision to the Union cause from the steps of the same courthouse where the Herrin trial is in progress.

sons of the Versailles treaty as a mission to the peace and prosperity of the world" were adopted at a mass meeting at the Coliseum attended by several thousand persons tonight. The resolution called upon President Harding to "redeem the pledges made by President Wilson upon which the central powers ended the war" and asked that the United States exert pressure on France to cause withdrawal of the invading troops.

YELLOW PERIL DOESN'T EXIST WARREN SAYS

Retiring Envoy to Japan Tells Why He Quit.

San Francisco—The Far Eastern (or Japanese) problem, debated, discussed, be-noveled, be-acted, be-cinemaed — there isn't any such problem. So says Charles B. Warren, retiring ambassador to Japan, who recently arrived here after "finishing his job" in Japan. Undoubtedly Warren ranks pre-eminent as an authority on Far Eastern questions.

"There is no Far Eastern question today," Warren declared. "That's why I'm quitting. I don't want to be an ambassador with nothing to do."

"When I was sent to Japan in 1921 there were grave questions to be settled. The relations of this country and Japan constituted a potential danger. But now the air is cleared."

Keeping Promises. "Japan is keeping her promises. She is following the policies of the new regime."

"By recent agreements, China is made free to settle her own international difficulties without fear of foreign intervention. Japan has withdrawn troops from Shantung and Hankow. She hasn't a soldier in China. She has gone as far in reducing armaments as anybody else has."

"It remains only for France to sign the five-power agreement for the provisions to become effective. Japan will start junking as soon as the others do."

"Commercial relations between China and Japan, once threatened, have been resumed. I believe the Japanese nation as a whole recognizes the policy as being to their advantage. The Chinese have gained new confidence."

Leave China Alone. "I have always felt that foreign interference hampered China's progress. It appears to me that a long time will be needed before China returns to stability, but I feel also that she should be left alone except for such assistance as may be rendered by other nations without prejudice."

Best confirmation of Warren's statements is his retirement from the ambassadorship, declares those who know him.

"For years he has been known as a man who loves to 'pinch his' for Uncle Sam, but who refuses to hold a sinecure. When things are settled, Warren quits. And, vice versa, when Warren quits, to return to private life in Detroit, things are settled."

WORDFISHING GOOD SPORT.

The barkentine Monitor recently arrived at Seattle from a cruise in the South Seas, bringing the report that a swordfish, evidently mistaking the boat for a whale, attacked from underneath. It came up with such momentum that its sword was driven through a six-inch plank in the hull. When investigation was made to discover the cause of a leak, the fish's sword was found, minus the teeth, in the thick plank.

What is regarded as a prime summer sport is swordfishing along the northern sea coast of the United States. The swordfish is harpooned, the harpoon standing behind an iron protection as high as his waist. The swordfish preys on schools of spawning fishes. While frequently seen in the Pacific waters, it is a native of the North Atlantic, the Mediterranean Sea and the vicinity of the Antilles. It becomes as large as a shark, and has a mackerel-shaped body.

COUNTERFEITERS NABBED ABROAD

New York, Feb. 22.—With the international counterfeiting system wrecked by secret service agents who laid bare its workings yesterday and with between 500 and 600 persons connected with the ring in a dozen countries, arrested, federal authorities today prepared for a court fight to send the counterfeiters to jail for the maximum term of 45 years. While court evidence was being set in order, the dragnet of the secret service was extended to most of the large cities of the United States to catch hundreds of passers of counterfeit money, implicated by clues captured in Tuesday's raids here.

Dr. Stuart Sherman Named to Academy

New York, Feb. 22.—Professor Stuart Sherman, of the University of Illinois, was elected a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters to succeed the late Thomas Nelson Page, former ambassador to Italy, at the academy's annual meeting today, on the occasion of the formal opening of its new building.

Large Crowd Will See Wells Comedy

Indications last night were that large crowds would see the farce comedy, "A Poor Married Man," when it is presented tonight and tomorrow night by Wells artists, in the Community House at that place. The play was given a short time ago to a packed house, and a large number of requests were received for another chance to see it. J. G. Jenkins of Wells directed the production.

Blames Harding for European Chaos

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 22.—Declaring that the American farmers are the principal victims of the "European chaos," Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee assailed the administration of President Harding in a Washington's birthday speech today.

WINS RENOWN

International recognition has come to Leroy Washington Wyatt, 21, student, earning his way through Mississippi Normal College at Hattiesburg, Miss., by door-to-door selling and other odd jobs. He's just been pronounced winner of the annual world essay contest of the American School Citizenship League, in which hundreds of students from 50 nations submitted essays.

EMPLOYERS SAY GOOD WORD FOR KNICKER GIRL

Prefer Employes who Wear Them in Offices.

BY MARIAN HALE. "When all women wear knickers," says Vice President Harry Sellner of the Retail Clothiers' Association, proprietor of stores in New York, Philadelphia, Newark and Trenton, "there'll be fewer accidents."

"Girls will save time getting to work in the morning. 'Because of their greater bodily freedom they'll be more efficient. 'Legs will cease to be any novelty to men."

At the clothiers' recent convention Sellner announced that he was going to put all his stenographers into knickerbockers. He has done so, and the girls say they're pleased with the change.

Save Lots of Time. "They're a great time saver," reports Margaret Schmelz, stenographer in the Sellner Newark office. "I wear them at work, and would like to wear them on the street, too, but I'm waiting until they're little more generally adopted."

"As a student of the history of costume, and knowing the grotesque, inconvenient abominations that designers, in search of the bizarre, have forced upon women," declares Victor Perard, the New York artist, "I'm glad someone has had the courage to encourage improvement in their attire."

"A woman in a natty knicker suit has more freedom of movement, and so is more graceful and enjoys better health than her sister who's hampered by skirts. She'll make a better wife and companion."

Speaks for Men. "I hope," indorses Charles Keller, the big Brooklyn merchant, "that the knicker plan succeeds and spreads over the country. I'd like to see men dress the same way."

But Mrs. George W. Reid of Nyack, N. Y., prominent in feminist circles, dissents. "The knicker," she insists, "tells women to dress. Instead of compelling modern girls to attire themselves wrongly, we should try to get them back to right ideas, so that they may lead normal lives and be worthy to become real men's wives."

Masons and bricklayers are among the longest-lived men, being exceeded only by blacksmiths and farmers, according to figures furnished by the U. S. Department of Labor.

The greatest retail stores in the world are to be found in Chicago, Philadelphia, and Toronto, according to one English expert who has made an exhaustive investigation of the subject.

Large quantities of apple wood are used in the manufacture of rules, canes, tobacco pipes, mallets, and saw handles.

"KING DAVID" SUES CRITICS

Detroit, Feb. 22.—Suit for $200,000 alleging conspiracy to defame has been filed in the Berrien county circuit court by the House of David against all persons connected with three suits pending against the organization and Benjamin F. Purnell, its head. It was learned here today.

Notice of the suit was received by Walter M. Nelson, attorney for the plaintiffs in the suits brought against Purnell.

The defendants in the counter action include Mrs. Gladys Banford Rubel and her sister, Mrs. Ruth Banford Reed, who are suing Purnell for $100,000 each, alleging he forced them to marry men of his choice, while they were members of the House of David colony; John W. Hansel and his wife and their two sons, and two relatives, Bert Johnson and Ben Rubel who have brought suit for $85,000 against Purnell and the colony alleging fraud; and Walter M. Nelson.

Smokers Will Fight All Utah Blue Laws

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 22.—There were no arrests in Salt Lake City today for violation of the state anti-cigarette law as it pertains to smoking in public places.

The only development in the campaign to repeal the cigarette law was a meeting of prominent citizens at which the Freeman's League of Utah was organized for the expressed purpose of repealing all so-called Utah blue laws. Tomorrow morning those arrested for violation of the statute are scheduled to appear in city court.

Would Admit Alien Labor to Hawaii

Washington, Feb. 22.—Authorization of the secretary of labor to admit to Hawaii, after proclamation by the president setting forth than an emergency exists by reason of a shortage of labor in the territory, aliens otherwise inadmissible, is provided in a resolution ordered favorably reported by senate immigration committee. Members of the committee said today, however, that the measure was not expected to receive congressional approval before adjournment.

Rosin, Turpentine, Destroyed by Fire

Pensacola, Fla., Feb. 22.—Twenty thousand barrels of rosin and several hundred barrels of turpentine were burned in the yards and sheds of the naval Stores and Warehouse company here tonight. The loss was estimated at $300,000, covered by insurance.

The storage tanks, with 3,500 barrels of turpentine were saved by the hard work of volunteers who rolled the burning barrels away from the vicinity of the tanks.

Several engines of the Louisville and Nashville railroad and all Pensacola's fire fighting apparatus were used in checking the flames. The origin of the fire, which was not gotten under control until late tonight, has not been determined.

SQUATTER'S RIGHTS

A light sentence on a Volstead law violation but an income tax fraud is a much more serious matter. Many "bootleggers" fear that if they deposit their money in the banks, the government will detect the size of their incomes. Some keep their cash in safety deposit vaults but what they do not realize is that the government has many ways of keeping track of purchases. Most states require registration of ownership of automobiles. This information is accessible to the federal government.

One clue leads to another. A suspect who returns an income tax statement showing he is engaged in some small retail business for instance, but who was bought or sold large quantities of securities or who has engaged in large real estate transactions can often be caught as the government has no difficulty in getting the necessary information, from business houses because it has the right to inspect books under a variety of existing statutes. Bureau Coordinate.

The "bootlegger" who hoards his cash gets little joy out of life. Many a violator of the law who has made huge profits has put government agents on the scent without knowing it simply by extravagant purchases in a city or town where he is well known. There are many who are escaping detection but as the government departments coordinate their activities and one bureau helps out the other the chances of getting at the incomes of the "bootleggers" will improve daily.

Every man must state his business and sources of income in his income tax return and swear to it. Many "bootleggers" have an ostensible business and make regular returns to the government but they conceal their true source of income. There is no way to detect fraud simply by examining the income tax return itself. Suspicion develops as a rule out of some circumstances which starts the investigator on his trail and one of the first things he checks up is the type of business in which the suspect is engaged.

It's a long and tedious process but the government is practicing patience and getting results.

There's Loss in Taxes. Yet if the amount expended to enforce prohibition is offset by the total of fines imposed and even if the government does recover a good bit of money from "bootleggers" through the income tax investigations, the fact still remains that on the liquor actually bought and sold through illicit channels, no internal revenue taxes are collected, and the $500,000,000 loss in taxes has not been wiped out by any taxes on soft drinks.

Prohibition might have had a hard time if the European war had not come and gotten the American people used to paying three and four million dollars annually in taxes. Indeed, the income tax laws came opportunely for the prohibitionist. An item of $500,000,000 can be swallowed up in the budget by a manipulation of other items and a change in tax rates. And when the present system of taxation on specific items gets too burdensome there is always the sales tax idea whereby the experiment in taxation can be continued until some other substitute is offered.

Savings On Increase. To the outcry that the drink bill of the nation has not decreased, the prohibitionists point to the increases in saving bank deposits and the large volume of transactions in the retail stores of the nation. But to the complaint that a large amount of taxes which used to be collected on wines, whiskeys, beer and other alcoholic beverages is not forthcoming, there is no answer. It is lost. And therein lies one of the factors which ultimately may have a good deal to do with the movement for legalizing the sale of a beverage which is not intoxicating but which contains more than the one half per cent of alcohol specified by the Volstead law as the upper limit.

Practically all the suggestions for modification which have been introduced in Congress in the last two years have had coupled with them some plan for raising revenue. The idea that the soldier bonus could be paid by a tax on some light beverage has many more friends in Washington than might appear on the surface. Opinions differ as to what chance any legislation raising the alcoholic content above one half per cent would have but there are certain basic facts which underlie the whole controversy, and these will be outlined in tomorrow's dispatch.

NEW RADIO AND ELECTRIC SHOP HOLDS OPENING

Enterprise Located at 604 Ludington Street

Last night's celebration was taken as the occasion for the formal opening of the Radio Electric Shop, at 604 Ludington street, under the management of E. F. Lucas and E. A. Hubbard. A radio concert from Davenport, Iowa, and Kansas City, Mo., was received through a set with five stages of amplification, thru radio and two audio, and was heard by a crowd that filled the store. The new concern will carry a general line of electrical and radio goods and auto accessories, and will do general electrical contracting. Active management will be in the hands of Mr. Lucas, who for some months past has been installing electric lighting plants for the Kohler Co., of Kohler, Wis. Before that he was head of the toothpick department of the Escanaba Manufacturing Co.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANNA O'CONNELL. The body of Mrs. Anna O'Connell, widow of the late Michael O'Connell, was removed from the Allo Funeral Home to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. O'Leary, 409 South 12th street, where it will remain until the hour of the funeral which has been set for Saturday morning at 9 at St. Patrick's church. Rev. Fr. Wilhelm will be the celebrant at the Requiem High Mass.

Members of the Holy Family Order of Foresters will meet at St. Patrick's hall at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning to form ranks to attend the services in a body.

Many telegrams of sympathy were received at the home from the many friends of the family. T. H. Kane, of Milwaukee, will arrive in the city to attend the funeral. A brother, P. J. Glavin, of Milwaukee, is also expected to arrive today.

Besides the four sons and one daughter and four brothers which survive there are also eight grandchildren.

Mrs. James Hansen and Mrs. Walter Connor, both of Marinette, arrived here last night to attend the services.

ANTON RUOHONEN. Anton Ruohonen, 48, of Lathrop, died at 6 o'clock Monday morning, after a week's illness with pneumonia.

He is survived by six children, ranging in age from 11 to 23 years.

Mr. Ruohonen came to America 20 years ago from Finland. The first eight years of his residence in this country was spent in Negaunee, and 12 years on a farm in Delta county.

The funeral was held from the Finnish church in the above mentioned village.

Novel Display Exhibited by Manning-Peterson Co.

"The thousand-dollar slipper" was the central feature of the window display shown by the Manning-Peterson Shoe Co., last evening, and attracted much attention. Under the rays of a spotlight, the sparkling mass of rhinestones and sapphires was very striking. This slipper is the property of the William Reynolds, Jr., Co., of Providence, R. I., manufacturer of buckles and metal ornaments. It consists of rhinestones and sapphires set in sterling silver, the toe and upper appearing to be a solid encrusted mass of rhinestones, while the heel is studded with sapphires. It has been exhibited at numerous conventions, and has won first prize wherever shown. It was sent here from Wheeling, West Virginia. The manufacturers and owners constantly carry insurance of $1,000 on the slipper, which is a remarkable example of the silversmith's and jeweler's art.

All eight grades of the Franklin school, as well as the kindergarten, held programs in honor of Washington's birthday yesterday. All the pupils took their parts well, and entered into the spirit of the holiday in fine style.

Copies of Charter Wanted By Lansing

While in Lansing last week, C. W. Ham received from E. D. Rich, state sanitary engineer, a request for a few copies of Escanaba's charter. Mr. Rich explained that Lansing contemplated charter revision, and that the revision commission desired the local charter for reference. The copies were dispatched upon Mr. Ham's return here.

While it is a known fact that Escanaba's charter is regarded in many places as one of the best for a city of this size ever written, the fact that it is desired as a model by the state capital is regarded as a marked tribute to its excellence.

VETERAN OF 86 AWAITS TRIAL, KILLING A SON

No Other Evidence Than His Confession of Guilt.

Cape May Courthouse, N. J.—Pacing up and down as if he were doing sentry duty again, Israel W. Gifford, 86-year-old Civil War veteran, is calmly awaiting trial here for killing his son.

Although neighbors and even county authorities believe him innocent, he is being held on his own story. There is no other evidence.

A few miles away in a simple, little farmhouse sits nine-year-old Raehael Gifford looking wistfully at her dolls, but not playing with them. It isn't the death of her father, she says, that worries her, but the trouble her granddad is in.

Between these two Giffords—one at the end of life and the other at its beginning—is a bond of love that even death can't break. And behind it all is the tragedy of an old-fashioned family which prized honor more highly even than life.

Prisoner's Story. It was revealed to me by the old man himself, as he kept on pacing, up and down, down and up, in his cell. He sat down only for an instant, while his photo was being taken, and then resumed his march. Even when his own tale overpowered him, and there came a catch in his voice, he wouldn't stop.

"This isn't the first time I've been in jail," he said. "I did six months in Libbey Prison when the Confederates captured me. "But that was a long time ago. Lots has happened since then. "When I got back from the war I settled down in this county. My wife and I were happy. We raised a family—one boy and a girl. I became superintendent of a cranberry bog and everything was fine. "Then the children grew up. My wife died and the first break came. Willie, my boy, left home. "About nine years ago his child was born. Cinderella, my daughter, and I raised her. She grew up to be one of the sweetest things ever created—our little Raehael."

The old veteran's voice broke. "Willie, our boy, took to drink. He was living in Woodbine, only a couple of miles from our home. I used to go over and try to reason with him. But it did little good with him. "He became worse. A couple of weeks back—it was Saturday, Feb. 2—he became threatening. "I took a gun away from his room. That night I came back to see how he was. I heard him swearing up stairs. He was yelling that he would wipe out the whole family. And I think he would have done it. I went up. Just to frighten him I fired into the room. "The next morning they found him dead. "I said nothing then. But it preyed on my mind. I couldn't sleep at night. I thought I'd go crazy unless I told someone. So I came over and told George Redding and Jimmy Hoffman. They're the sheriffs. "Don't know why he shot. "Don't ask me why I shot. I don't know. Only I didn't want anything to happen to little Raehael. "Let them hang me, or execute me. I don't care. As long as Raehael doesn't know. "But the girl does know. "I want my granddaddy," she sobs in the Gifford home. "I want him back more'n anything else in the world. He never did any wrong."

The neighbors and most of the officials also believe Gifford innocent. Dr. Eugene Way, county physician, says it is unreasonable to believe that the old man shot his son in the manner he describes. Dr. Randolph Marshall of Tuckahoe, N. J., for whose family Gifford has been working for 40 years, says the old veteran is suffering from hallucinations.

"The whole thing is a dream," he says. "Gifford was home the night the crime was committed, and Cinderella, his daughter, can prove it. Unnerved by the tragedy, and overwrought by the investigation, the old man imagined the whole thing."

County officials tell you the same story. Other folks say that Gifford is shielding someone else. So he is awaiting grand jury action and a possible trial for life—even though the case might be dropped now if he would only retract his confession.

NATIVE NEW YORKER EASY MAN TO SPOT Thinks Indians Own Everything West of Hudson.

New York.—Prof. T. Calculus Figgers, the celebrated statistician, announces that out of 100,000 visitors arriving in New York daily, at least 97,989 ask somebody these questions: "How can you tell what a typical New Yorker is?" "Are there any native New Yorkers?"

Prof. Figgers, after exhaustive research, says that it is easier to find a typical New Yorker than a native New Yorker. "This is his system: try it out the next time you hit Broadway and Forty-Second street with a few idle hours on your hands: "A native New Yorker is a person who has never been up in the Statue of Liberty; who has never visited the Aquarium; who doesn't know how tall the Woolworth building is and has never been up in its tower; who never heard of France's Tavern; who can't find Chinatown; who gets lost in Brooklyn; who doesn't know where Fort Hamilton is; who never set foot in the Metropolitan Museum; who can't tell you the location of Manhattan Square. Cleopatra's Needle or the Mall—and doesn't know whether Pearl street intersects Broadway and, if so, how often."

Prof. Figgers says 11 out of every 16 visitors he interviewed either had done, or knew, at least 10 out of these 13 things. "A typical New Yorker," says he, "is any kind of a person from any where who can jam himself into subway too crowded to admit him; who talks in millions and eats doughnuts and coffee for lunch; who thinks Kansas is either a foreign country or the name of a puglist; whose idea of the open spaces is Columbus Circle; who thinks it's a shame Central Park isn't cut up into swell building lots; who will buy a necktie and, thumbbobs from street barkers and then comes back to be stung again; who believes Indians have control of everything west of the Palisades; who thinks the Grand Canyon is an implement of warfare; and who cannot imagine how the 100,000,000 people living outside of New York can possibly drag out their weary existence."

Preacher Resigns; Says Church Fails

Oakland, Calif.—Charles L. Kloss, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church here, declaring that "the church has been outstripped by other agencies in serving mankind and therefore is a failure," has tendered his resignation to the trustees.

Dr. Kloss will not abandon the ministry, but expects to devote himself to "the great army of men who are good, but who profess no creed," he said. "The church has limited its opportunity to serve humanity," he said, "because of its many internal difficulties. The majority of thinking people can not be reached by the church, as the magazines, the motion pictures and the philanthropic business man have taken the place of preachers to a great extent."

"These may accomplish such remarkable works that they might be put in the same class with the churches. "Laying on hands in the church rites of consecration may be confirmatory and helpful, but they are not essential. In other words, the church people have emphasized the narrow matter of creed, overlooking the bigger opportunity to serve mankind."

"In every walk of life, the crying need of people is co-operation, so why shouldn't the churches combine to give co-operation? What difference does it make how man was created?"

WIG WAG. Bilkens showed up with a set of hand-carved features that resembled the field after Chateaubriery.

"Pete's sake!" gasped a friend. "What's happened to your face?" Been in an accident.

"None," returned Bilkens sadly. "A deaf and dumb barber shaved me and he was feeling chatty."—American Legion Weekly.

SOCIAL

Girl Scout Troop 13 Entertained. The Girl Scouts of Troop 13 were entertained at a patriotic Washington party, in the form of a pot luck supper, by Mr. and Mrs. William Auerbach at their home, 304 South 14th street. After the supper the girls went to see the formal lighting of Escanaba's White Way.

Wells Social News. Mrs. August Bloomstrom entertained the members of her club at her home Monday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Winchester was the winner of the first prize. Dainty refreshments were served.

Thursday afternoon a number of Wells ladies came to the home of Mrs. Cecil Fisher at 5514 South 10th street and spent a social afternoon.

All reported having had a very fine time. Mrs. Fisher was presented with a gift from her visitors.

Party Yesterday. Miss Anita Jean Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Jacobson, was hostess to 20 little guests at a party yesterday afternoon. Each was given an American flag, and each gave a short talk about George Washington. Refreshments and games completed the afternoon. The hostess, according to her day, "is a year old, and has never told a lie."

Troop 12 Meeting. The weekly meeting of Troop 12, Girl Scouts, was held at the E. G. Royce home yesterday. The girls worked on nature study for their second class tests, and played Scout games.

EASILY EXPLAINED. Whenever the Rev. Tobias Sikler called on Aunt Sally it was her custom to place a large plate of gingerbread before him and then ply him with what she called "religions' spoundings."

"Whaffo do de Lawd send epidemics unto de land?" she asked him one day.

"Sometimes folkses gits so bad dey mus' be removed, wh'upon de comin' of an epidemic am permitted," replied the parson.

"But," objected Aunt Sally, "den huccum de good folkses gits removed alongside of de bad ones?"

"Not a trace of embarrassment was evinced by the rev'ern."

"De good ones is summoned to witness," he explained. "De Lawd aims to give every man a fair trial."—American Legion Weekly.

EQUIPMENT A.

"Chuff!" snorted the ex-doughboy to a comrade who was kicking about the way he had been roused of his souvenirs and excess baggage at the port of embarkation. "In our outfit every man took fifty-four pieces of baggage home with him."

"For the luvva Pete! How'd they get that way?" "I mean it. A deck of cards and a pair of dice."—American Legion Weekly.

WHAT DOES WOMAN'S INTUITION WHISPER? It must be woman's intuition that whispers the coquettish tilt of her hat; stands at her elbow when she selects the shade of fabric that best complements her coloring.

But no "sixth sense" need prompt her in idealizing those lovely lines of hers. Good judgment will tell her to be fitted with a Modart Corset.

There are nearly a million women who wear just one kind of corset—the Modart—and not one will give you the usual woman's answer, "because," if questioned about the matter of corsetry.

They have very definite reasons for wearing the Modart, for it does just what a corset should do and does nothing it shouldn't. That's the skill of Modart design. The Modart wearer has none of that corseted look or feeling.

Every type of figure will find a Modart—just the proper Modart—to bring out the ideal lines. And it fits splendidly—just smooth and perfect curves that follow the figure and the fashion as well.

Women might choose the Modart because it is so dainty and feminine and perfectly tailored. But they go on wearing the Modart because it gives so much better lines and so much more comfort than they ever believed a corset could. That is because there is no other corset like the Modart.

Your travels may take you from New York to Palm Beach, from Bar Harbor to the Golden Gate. Wherever you go among the gay throngs on the promenade, women more sedate in limousine, or colorful figures about the golfing grounds, you are sure to find Modart Corsets worn. Purchasing the background of quiet good taste is the characteristic of delicate frocks or gorgeous gowns, there always is Modart—the choice of fastidious women

Can't Dodge Fate, Moral of Legend

A well-known Mohammedan legend is about King Solomon and a magic carpet. The legend is to the effect that Solomon, in his intense pride in his horses and chariots, which were a dubious and half-forbidden innovation among the adjuncts of Jewish royalty, had once been surprised in the midst of a review by the voice of the muezin (Eastern legends are indifferent about anachronisms) and the summons to the evening prayer. Not knowing how to attend in time to this religious duty, Solomon magnificently consecrated all his 40,000 horses to Allah and his service. In reward for this sacrifice, Allah presented Solomon with a magic carpet, which would at a word transport to any distance the person who sat upon it.

Once, as Solomon was consulting with his grand vizier, Azrael, the Angel of Death, passed by and gazed curiously at the vizier, who in alarm, entreated the king to lend him the magic carpet, and made it transport him to the center of the Desert of Arabia. No sooner had he gone than Azrael said to the king, "I looked at that man so closely because, having been bidden to summon his soul from the center of the Great Desert, I saw him, to my surprise standing here with you."

The legend is supposed to illustrate two truths—that no man can ever escape his destiny, and that often he fulfills it the more certainly by the very endeavor to escape it.

GREAT SCULPTURE. The most important of the famous "Elgin Marbles" are the sculptures of the Parthenon, or temple of Athene Parthenos (the Virgin), the patron goddess of Athens, which stood on the Acropolis. In 1801-3, Thomas Bruce, seventh Earl of Elgin, British ambassador to the Porte, collected numerous sculptures at Athens, which he saw being daily destroyed, and in 1816 sold them to the British government. They are now in the "Elgin Room" in the British Museum. The collection includes sculptures, not only from the Parthenon, but from the Erechtheion and elsewhere, and casts from marbles which were left in situ. These casts, compared with later casts, show that damage to the originals went on after Lord Elgin's time. The sculptures of the Parthenon are both traditionally and generally held to be the greatest sculptures ever executed.

STOCK COMPANY WILL OPEN AT DELFT MONDAY

Obrecht Sisters Will Be in City All Next Week.

The Obrecht Sisters Stock company will present drama, comedy, farce and musical program at each performance, and the entertainment for the opening on Monday night, February 26th will be William Chiller's very recent New York success, "The Hottentot," a race horse comedy in three acts, with special scenery, and vaudeville will be offered between acts, which will avoid long and tiresome waits. The Obrecht Sisters announce a former Escanaba favorite, John Sullivan, a brother-in-law of the former Frank Long. Many of the theatre patrons will recall the visits of the Frank Long Stock company to this city, and will remember Nan Sullivan, a member of the Long Stock company. John Sullivan is a brother of Nan Sullivan.

The cast of players with the Obrecht Sisters contain several celebrities, as follows: Peggy Watts, Dorothy Van, P. J. Butler, Hule Mack, Robert Nelson, Hursel Soubier, John Sullivan, W. U. Ketchum, Walter Johnson and the Obrecht Sisters, Nell, Sarah, Julie and Mae.

The reserved seat sale will open Saturday. Popular prices will govern for the week, 35c and 50 cents, plus tax. The performance will start promptly at 8:15 p. m. each night.

EATS HEARTY AND NOW FEELS FINE

Tanlac Lost No Time Overcoming Stomach Trouble, Declares Cleveland Switchman.

"Tanlac has bolstered up my appetite so that I'm always keen for a good meal and I don't have to limit myself now for every thing I eat," is the statement made a few days ago by John M. Burke, 216 W. 25th St., Cleveland, O., switchman for the N. Y. Central.

"My appetite had simmered down to almost nothing and indigestion caused such a burning, biting feeling in my stomach that I almost dreaded to sit down to a meal. I had severe headaches and dizzy spells and my back ached terribly. I was so nervous I couldn't half sleep and it was certainly hard for me to keep going."

"But Tanlac has switched me back on the track to good health and I feel so grateful towards the medicine it's about all I want to talk about these days. Why, I have gained ten pounds in weight and can throw switches with any of the boys now. I can't say enough for Tanlac and my wife is also very enthusiastic over what it has done for me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 75 million bottles sold. Adv.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
"Clarence" Delightful Comedy. Genuine mirth was constantly in evidence at the Delft theater yesterday during the presentation of a Paramount comedy classic, "Clarence." The picture was directed by William Do Mille—usually given to producing serious drama—and it contained all of the humor and whimsicality of Booth Tarkington, author of the play on which it is based.

"Clarence" is the story of an absent-minded soldier whom fate selects to be the cementing influence in the lives of a squabbling family. His sincerity wins the confidence of the disputants and he tactfully arranges matters so that everybody is happy and contented. In the name role the late Wallace Reid proved himself one of the most humorous players on the screen. His "Clarence" is a role that will linger long in one's memory. As Violet Plinney, the governess who appears to be the family's storm center, Agnes Ayres is charming and convincing. Considerable amusement is provided by May McAvoy, who believes that the entire world should stop and with bated breath watch the progress of her first love.

Mr. de Mille has directed the picture with deftness and understanding and has given the screen a human comedy which will be regarded as one of the comedy classics of the year. The supporting players were excellent in their respective portrayals.

AT THE STRAND
"Forbidden Valley," a comedy-drama of Kentucky, in which May McAvoy and Bruce Gordon are starred, will open a two-day stay at the Strand theatre today. The story is said to contain a liberal quantity of thrills and tense dramatic moments which are well mixed with lighter incidents and it has met with exceptional success everywhere. Miss McAvoy especially has won much praise for her work in "Forbidden Valley."

BEWARE OF THOSE "GRIP" COLDS

Did you ever catch a "grip" cold in the winter and have it hang on all through the summer?

Don't go through that experience again. Enrich your blood and build up your strength with Gude's Pepto-Mangan and the grip germs will pass you harmlessly.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a splendid protection against winter ailments for the whole family. Your druggist has it, in both liquid and tablet form.

Things are about equal. The tall men can see better, while the short men dance cheek to cheek better.

RUSSIAN TELLS OF SOVIET RULE

Moses Osser Served 11 Years in Armies of His Country.

Eleven years' service in the Russian army is long enough according to Moses W. Osser, brother of Saul Osser, Lakeland, Groveland man, who returned to Manistique Friday night after a 20-day trip from Russia. He will make his home in this city and will be employed at his brother's store.

Mr. Osser served almost continuously with entering the service in 1911 when the enforced service was put into effect. Released in 1914 he was again drafted in preparation for the invasion of Austria. During the first drive in Austria, Osser was in one of the advance regiments and upon the latter offensive of the Austro-German forces his regiment was given back with a terrible loss of men.

After a period of inactivity preceding the treaty between Russia and Germany, Osser was again assigned to the colors under the Soviets and took part in many battles including those which led to the defeat of General Wrangle. After being released from the army he was permitted to return to his home in Urechka, but was still subject to military call.

He states that all classes of military age are in constant military training at the present time and subject to the call of the government at any time.

His own family consisting of his parents, two brothers and two sisters are doing well financially but dread the future under the Soviet regime.

Trotsky is misunderstood, Osser declared and the popular conception of him in this country is largely a mistake. He says the minister of war is devoted to the present system of government for which he is largely responsible and that he discourages graft on every possible occasion.

When armies are on campaign he accompanies them and shares food and quarters of the common soldier and is in the forefront in each battle.

To the Voters of Schoolcraft County
In announcing myself as a candidate for reelection to the office of commissioner of schools, I wish to express my grateful appreciation of the splendid treatment and cooperation given me always by the people of this county. It is true that I have held the office a long time, but as it is an office whose varied duties require much experience and study, I feel that I am better fitted for the work now than ever before. My record in the past is an open book. I have done my best to serve the people faithfully and well. My only promise now is to continue to do my best with the constant aim of improving the schools of the county. I shall appreciate a continuance of your good will and support.

Signed,
W. P. S. CORNELL.

THE MODERN INDIAN NAME.
A great many tourists ask about Indian nomenclature. The ascent on a reservation was trying to explain.

"It used to work this way," he stated. "If a girl saw a timid fawn, she was called fawn afraid. If a young buck happened to spy a crazy buffalo, he might be called crazy bull. That's the way the Indians got their names."

ON TRIAL SOON

Kolla Spaulding, above, is to go on trial in Topeka, Ill., charged with complicity in the murder of Constable Arthur Smith, June 12. He also faces Farmer's jury charges for the death by torture of John Schorr, who is believed to have left a "death diary" telling of the events immediately preceding his death. It is said Schorr's mother found the diary through the aid of a spiritualist, who told her where to look. Contents of this book have been kept secret.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS GIVE G. W. PROGRAM

Surprise Novelties Are Features of the Affair

Someone is always taking the out of life!
Here is how a student at Manistique high school characterizes the interesting Washington's birthday program as given at the assembly Thursday afternoon. His comment was written as follows:

A program was given at the High school auditorium Thursday afternoon in honor of Washington's Birthday. The program was followed by the disorderly list.

However, the program was greatly enjoyed by the students and the new parents present. A surprise novelty number was introduced when a strain of an accordion was heard from behind the curtains. The music ceased and the curtains were drawn open only to reveal an accordion placed on a row of chairs. The curtains closed and the music was resumed. Later the player was revealed. He was Walter Johnson, a member of the class having charge of the special program.

Another number greatly enjoyed was a clog dance by Roy (Red) Stewart, music furnished by the accordion. With the piano, Carl Sheehan and James Cox sang the popular ditty "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheehan." Red Stewart also sang a song entitled "Saucerkent." A patriotic reading telling the story of the cutting of the cherry tree was rendered as a Washington Birthday reference. Several boys joined in a song. They were accompanied by Miss Kitty Albin on the piano.

"Annual" Pictures
Shown in Window
On display at Brault's Photo studio are three attractive group pictures of Manistique high school students. The photos prepared for reproduction in the coming high school annual.

One of the photos is the present high school basketball team, another of the girls basketball team and the third a picture of the high school annual editorial staff.

The staff are aware of the fact that a large number of illustrations helps to make an attractive annual and in addition to these pictures they have prepared a large number of snapshots showing high school people in unconventional poses. Most of the material is ready for editing to the printer.

HOW IT EXCELLED
When the punitive expedition was in Mexico in 1916 and 1917, one of the newspaper correspondents asked a Negro trooper of the Tenth cavalry what he thought of Mexico. The trooper studied a minute, and then answered: "Well, boss, there is more cows and less milk, more rivers and less water, and you can see farther and see less than any country in the world."—Judge.

ESCANABA TAX PLAN ENDORSED

Bohn and Morrison Asked to Support Measure at Lansing.

Escanaba's primary school money apportionment plan is endorsed in Schoolcraft county's legislation are urged to work for its adoption in a communication sent today to Senator Bohn and Rep. Morrison. The resolution reads:

Whereas, there is an effort being made to divert primary school funds for the purpose of using money to defray the running expenses of the state, therefore,

Be it resolved that we the members of the Manistique Civic Club are opposed to and vigorously protest against any legislation which has for its object the diversion of the primary school fund from its present purpose, and

Further, that we are in favor of and urge the senator and representative from this district to vote and work for the passage of the so-called "Escanaba plan" for the more equitable apportionment of the primary school interest fund, and

Be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Honorable Frank P. Bohn, and the Honorable David F. Morrison at Lansing.

This resolution was signed by a committee of three from the Manistique Civic club.

Miller Is Elected U. P. Fair Officer

C. R. Miller, prominent Schoolcraft county farmer was honored at Marquette Wednesday, when he was elected President of the Upper Peninsula Fair association, and Manistique was similarly honored when U. P. fair officials chose this city as their next meeting place.

The meeting which had been planned by E. G. Amos, well known here as an agricultural worker was attended by fair officials from 11 associations in the Upper Peninsula, in all the there are 15 fairs to be represented and those not present at the meeting will undoubtedly be included in the association later.

Those attending from here were C. R. Miller, president of the Schoolcraft county fair association; O. A. Haffer, vice-president, and J. H. McLellan, secretary.

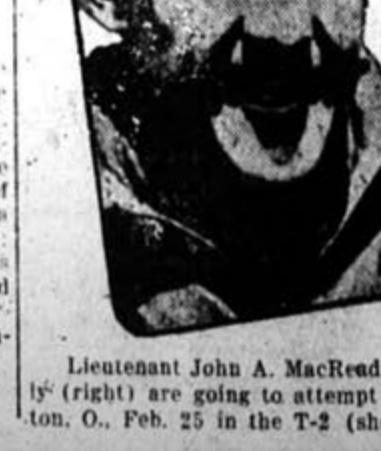

PLAYING IT SAFE
"My town," says an Iowa man, "once elected a mayor who was very fond of show. The result was that he took every step to the end that his induction into office should occur in favorable weather and in appropriate circumstances. At his suggestion the following notice was inserted in the local papers some days before his inauguration:

"On the occasion of the inauguration of the new mayor, the fire brigade will be reviewed in the afternoon should it rain in the morning, and in the morning should it rain in the afternoon."

COUNTRY GENTLEMEN

MARQUETTE TO PLAY LEGION AT MANISTIQUE

Two Fast Teams Will Clash Here Tonight

Two rattling good basketball teams will clash here tonight when the locals meet up with the ex-college players from Marquette, playing on the Marquette Legion team.

Both teams play much the same kind of a game, depending largely on fast foot rushes to the baskets to win. So far the locals have been able to bewilder their opponents by such tactics, but whether or not they will be able to do so with the wily Marquettians, remains to be seen, as it is known that the visitors will show some stellar guarding. Fans have been promised a mighty interesting game for tonight.

Those available for the Manistique lineup are: Lundin, who has recovered from his recent illness, Hall, Reed, Quick, Williams, and Brynes and Milechuk and Gorsche.

The crippled junior class champions will meet the sophomores in the 7:15 preliminary preceding the main game which is to be called at 8:15.

CITY BRIEFS
Carl Krause, Range street, expected to leave today for an extended visit with relatives in Milwaukee, from where he will proceed to Wauwata and Chicago. He plans to return to this city in about a month.

Communications received indicate that Lou Mallette, proprietor of the Ossawinamakee hotel, is having a pleasant time during his vacation spot at Hot Springs, Ark.

Mr. Mallette does not expect to return until late in March. His address is the Majestic Hotel, Hot Springs.

Bert Scaman, of Hunt Spur, was brought here for hospital attention last night following an injury to his leg received at the camp where he is employed. Though suffering intense pain, Scaman moved about on one foot and alighted from the train almost unassisted. He was taken to the Rutledge hospital here for examination.

Another special caterpillar attachment for a Fordson tractor was sent to the John Stealy camp at Rexton yesterday by the People's Auto and Tractor company of Manistique. This is the second caterpillar outfit to be put in use at the Steele logging camp. The first is reported to be giving excellent satisfaction and saves the services of several horses.

KNEW WHERE HE LIVED.
Two postoffice inspectors from the St. Louis office a few days ago were investigating a postoffice theft in northern Arkansas. A Negro, one Tobe Jackson, was designated as a witness. They drove out to find Tobe.

A Negro was working near the roadside. "Boys," one of them called to him, "do you know where Tobe Jackson lives?" "I sh'nd does," replied the patriot. "You'll see dat house on the hill? Dat wa he lives."

"Well, suppose you run up there and tell him we want to see him," said the inspector. The Negro started off. The inspectors waited.

After a time the messenger returned alone. "Heah Tobe Jackson," he announced.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

RAFFIA HATS.
Raffia is used for entire hats, worked in a latticed pattern for the crown and brim, and flat roses applied on the underbrim for color.

PRIMARY FUND MEASURE WILL PASS, JONES

Board Member Returns from Meet at Lansing; Study Problems.

James T. Jones, member of the board of education returned Wednesday morning from Lansing where he attended a meeting of a conference on the proposed changes in the distribution of the Primary School money.

Mr. Jones stated that the indorsement of the proposal by Thomas E. Johnson, superintendent of instruction, and other state educational leaders, will make it probable that the legislation will be put through at this session of the legislature.

There has been a woeful lack of proper understanding of the proposal but it was this that caused some signs of opposition to spring up in some places. The boosters from Delta county were able to present the matter in its correct aspects at the Lansing meeting and it is this that resulted in the indorsement by the state's educational leaders, who have promised to recommend its passage to the state legislature.

Mr. Jones, C. A. Clark and Attorney Glenn W. Jackson, three of the Gladstone men who have taken an active interest in the matter and have given a study to it much of their time, have been attending committee meetings at Escanaba where every detail is being explained thoroughly to prepare the delegates who will go to Lansing when the measure is brought before the legislature in the form of a bill.

Measure Necessary
This it is expected will be within two weeks, as there is a desire to bring it up as early as possible.

That it is important to many school districts that favorable action be taken, can readily be seen in districts where a low property valuation, where a heavy tax is now being levied for school purposes, and where, as in Gladstone and Escanaba, the school would be benefited through the collection of almost double through the Primary school fund, in that way relieving taxes on property.

TEACH PUPILS LIBRARY USE

A library instruction course for junior and senior high school students in connection with their English work will be given at the public-school library by Miss Hildegard Dietz, librarian. The course has been arranged with a view to acquainting pupils with the outward routine of a library so that they may be independent in the use of any library in which they may be. Among the subjects on which they will be instructed will be classification, use of dictionary, use of card catalog, and reference books, readers' guide, making bibliography, evaluation of books.

Tickets for Big Game Are On Sale

Tickets for the big Appleton-Gladstone game Saturday evening have been placed on sale at the Dehlin and Erickson drug stores by the school authorities for the convenience of the large following of high school athletes outside the student body. Reserved seats may be obtained at both places.

Girl Scouts Hold Regular Meeting

Girl Scouts of Troop Three held their regular meeting last evening in the basement of All Saints' church. In the absence of Miss Gertrude Schusterich, captain, who is ill at her home, the meeting was in charge of the lieutenants, Misses Flora Laroche, Ethel Bennett and Hazel Doyle.

Feb. 25 Is Last Sunday for Skating

Sunday, February 25 will be the last Sunday on which Gladstone lovers of winter sports may enjoy skating at the municipal ice rink, Manager Albert Gagnon announced Thursday. It is probable that a skating party will be arranged during the week, the manager said, but this will be the last Sunday of the skating season.

Attend Dedication Of Light System

A large number of Gladstone people went to Escanaba last night to be present at the dedication of the new lighting system which the neighboring city has erected on its main thoroughfare, Ludington street. The new system was placed in use for the first time last night with appropriate exercises and is declared to be a big improvement.

CRETONNE BATHING SUITS.

Cretonne bathing suits are a novelty at Palm Beach. There are large and small hats and nifty parasols to accompany them. Large floral patterns, birds and futuristic designs are noticed in the assortment.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Miller and daughter, Marjol, who have been visiting at Minneapolis and various places throughout the west, returned yesterday to their home here.

Mrs. Otto Beaton, who has been the guest of Escanaba and Gladstone friends and relatives since she was called to Escanaba by the illness of her father, Mansueto Boyle, left Thursday afternoon for her home in Menasha, Wis.

Miss Alida Dupont, secretary in the office of Attorney G. Raymond Empson, is ill at her home in Escanaba.

Misses Mildred Boyle and Germaine Legault visited friends at Escanaba Thursday.

Gold Star Mothers Rally to PREVENT WAR

MRS. BEN S. BOYD.

By NEA Service.
Knoxville, Tenn.—Gold Star Mothers of America, who lost their sons in the World War, are rallying behind a movement to prevent another world conflict.

It is a plan for an international peace convention to be called by the United States.

Mrs. Ben S. Boyd of this city, mother of five World War veterans, one of whom died in the Argentine, is the organizer of this movement in Tennessee. She has already received the endorsement of her plan from the Gold Star mothers of eastern Tennessee, and has begun to stir up interest toward the same end in all the other states.

"Enough hearts and homes have been broken," says Mrs. Boyd in her invitation to the country's Gold Star mothers, "We felt it was a privilege to give our sons for a great cause. But if the peace they won is not lasting then we feel that our sacrifice was in vain.

"Our country should take the lead in removing the causes of war through a conference on reparations, war debts and disarmament."

Mrs. Boyd has a Distinguished Service Cross given her for the heroism of her son, Richard, who died in the Argonne. Another son, Logan, holds the same honor, besides a British Military Cross.

EARLY RESIDENT OF GLADSTONE TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Albert Brabazon Dies at Family Home in Oshkosh, Wis.

A death which brought sorrow into the hearts of many Gladstone people occurred Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock at Oshkosh, Wis., when Mrs. Albert Brabazon, 54 years old, one of the earliest Gladstone settlers and the only sister of Mrs. Josephine Cole of this city, passed away at the family home.

Her death, the fifth to occur in the family during the last two months, came after a lingering illness, covering over a year. While it was known to members of the family and close friends that the end was not far away, nevertheless the news of Mrs. Brabazon's death has come as a shock and brought forth expressions of most sincere sympathy from the people who knew her.

Mrs. Brabazon was one of the earliest of the Gladstone residents and made her home here until twelve years ago when the family went to Oshkosh. She was a prominent member of a number of Oshkosh organizations and was also a gold star mother, having given a son to the cause of the late world war.

Funeral at Oshkosh
In addition to her husband she is survived by eight children, one sister and one brother. Gladstone relatives in addition to Mrs. Josephine Cole, the sister, are Frank, George, Henry, Nels and Fred Cole, all nephews, and Mrs. Olaf Aronson, a niece, Mrs. Louis Dudy of Flat Rock, and Mrs. Fred Perry of Marquette, are also nieces.

Funeral services for Mrs. Brabazon will be held this afternoon at Oshkosh with interment in the cemetery there.

PASTOR GIVES PATRIOTIC TALK TO ASSEMBLY

Washington's birthday anniversary as well as that of Lincoln, Feb. 12, was observed by students of the Gladstone high school at an assembly held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the high school auditorium. An address, "Washington and Lincoln," by the Rev. J. M. Bolton, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was the feature of the program.

The Rev. Mr. Bolton's address was instructive as well as inspirational, dealing with the high points in the lives of both great statesmen and applying the principles of their characters to the life of the high school student.

Other numbers on the program were: opening chorus, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "America," by the high school assembly; "Does Education Pay?" an address by Violet Struble; "Peace is Our Passion," address by Yva Swensen; and a piano solo by Aileen Hufford.

"Star Spangled Banner," by the assembly closed the entertainment.

REV. COLENSO BOOKS CONCERT

Rev. H. W. Colenso left yesterday for Marquette where he will attend the district meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church. An address by Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, D. D., L. L. D., of Detroit, featured the opening session of the meeting which opened last night.

Bishop Henderson's address was to follow the banquet served by the Ladies Aid society of the church. Sixty-two reports by pastors and a vocal solo by Rev. William Prisk, of Iron Mountain, were also a part of the opening session.

The meeting this morning will be opened at 8:30 with a prayer and praise service, conducted by Rev. H. J. Lord, of Newberry. A dinner will be served in the church dining parlors at 12:15 noon after which will follow the afternoon session. This evening a devotional service will be held, followed by an address by Bishop Henderson and "ministers' retreat."

President Lead of Albion college will also be present and will present the institution's campaign for a $2,000,000 for a building fund. Rev. Colenso is a member of the Michigan institute, council which will also hold a meeting at Marquette.

ARE YOU THE WOMAN YOU WERE MEANT TO BE?

Every woman was meant to be healthy, happy, and fill her sphere in life to the best of her ability; but, alas, how few have the health or physical endurance to live up to their ideals! Over ambitious, many of them develop nervousness, irritability, headaches, backaches, irregularities and often more serious ailments which retard their progress in life. Women in this condition should turn to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a root and herb medicine which has been proven to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who try it. Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound make you well and strong, and the woman you were meant to be. Adv.

GLADSTONE TO ENTER CLASS B TOURNAMENT

Contests at Marquette to Decide U. P. Champions.

Official entry blanks which will place Gladstone's high school basketball team as a contender in class B of the Upper Peninsula high school basketball tournament, at Marquette, March 9 and 10, have been received and filed by Principal C. C. Strickland.

The tournament will have teams from practically every high school in the peninsula, and Gladstone with an unbeaten record is expected by sporting experts as a dangerous contender for the championship.

The teams will be divided into two classes, according to the number of students in the school which they represent. Gladstone, having less than 250 pupils is in Class B. The tournament will close with a game between the winner in Class A, playing at Houghton, Mich., and the victor of Class B teams at Marquette, deciding the upper peninsula championship.

A letter received by Principal Strickland from W. B. McClintock director, says in part: "I would like to find out as near as possible the number of teams that will attend the upper peninsula class B basketball tournament to be held at the Normal school March 9 and 10. We are planning entertainment for the boys and desire to know the approximate number for which we will have to provide. Entertainment will be furnished for seven men."

"PRINCE CHAP" MATINEE TODAY, SHOW MONDAY

The first performance of "The Prince Chap," the popular drama which will be presented Monday evening by high school students under the direction of Supt. C. H. Teague, will be given this afternoon at a special matinee showing for children of the grade buildings.

The play, starring Sterling Pralas as "The Prince Chap," is the comedy drama woven about a young American artist in London, who through circumstances over which he has no control is forced to adopt a little girl, and is one of the best plays in many seasons.

The cast, each member of which is particularly adapted to the parts assigned, includes Sorren Johnson, Jr., Clouse Clark, Isabel McMillen, Jean Teague, Ruth Noreus, Meryle Moore, Edwin Wolfe, George Empson, Edwin Greenlund, Merwin Kircher, Michael Kinsella.

Tickets for the big performance which will be given at the Junior high school auditorium Monday evening are now on sale and indications are that a capacity audience will be present.

ENTERTAINS CLUB MEMBERS

Mrs. Arthur Stevens, Buckeye addition, was hostess to the girls of the G. S. Club Wednesday evening. The young people enjoyed social amusements followed by delicious refreshments.

SULPHUR SOOTHES UGLY, ITCHING SKIN

The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable.
If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowies Mentho-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist. Adv.

HOW AMERICANS LOST ONE GAME

Waite Hoyt Presents Barnstormers' Alibi Case to Fans.

Only one game did the American team of selected big leaguers lose while "baseballing in Japan" on their recent international expedition.

BY WAITE HOYT. We lost only one game on our trip, being beaten, 9 to 2, by a team composed of the very cream of the Japanese players.

I understand this game was much commented on in the States. We got a report in Japan that because of the defeat the trip was to be called off, and we were to be ordered back home immediately.

Since I pitched the game in which we were defeated I am in a position to discuss that game, and I want to say there was no burlesque to it.

Since six of the players on the trip were members of the Yankees and Giants, who participated in the world series, Judge Landruid that only three of the six could appear in the lineup at the same time.

The weather had been a trifle cold for about a week. I had been doing some coaching for one of the college teams and had been pitching daily in batting practice for the collegians.

In the very first inning my arm troubled me slightly. I had been pitching a great many curve balls in batting practice, as the Japs are not very familiar with that style of pitching.

Not caring to take any chances I pitched the entire game, using nothing but fast balls, and because of the soreness I had developed in my arm, my fast ball was just ordinary.

We lost the game, 9 to 2, due to one bad inning, the second, I believe, in which the Japs made six runs. In that inning I allowed only two hits, but an error by each member of the infield enabled the Japs to secure a commanding lead.

The affair was anything but a burlesque. The Japs won and deserved to. Our team simply had one of those off days that happen to every club, in addition my pitching was nothing to brag about.

MERKLE ONE OF BRAINEST BOYS IN THE GAME

Back in 1908 Fred Merkle failed to touch second base in a game between the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs.

Players often fail to touch bases and the slip is soon forgotten. Merkle's failure to touch second, cost New York the pennant in the National League that year.

The following day Merkle drew the headlines in papers all over the country. The gist of every story was that he was the champion "bonehead" of all time.

A less game player would have stopped dead under the fire that was directed at Merkle. He was the target of abuse from baseball fans for years because of that one costly slip.

"Fred Merkle is one of the smartest baseball men I ever came into contact with. He has a keen and able mind in baseball and out of it. I am very fortunate in having him as my lieutenant."

OUT OUR WAY

IT'S A WISE KID WHO KNOWS HIS OWN DAD.

BY WILLIAMS

BILL EVANS SAYS

In major league circles Kid Gleason of the Chicago White Sox has a great reputation among the players.

If a player who appears to have the ability fails to make good with some major league club you will immediately hear the remark: "I'll bet Kid Gleason could make a star out of him."

As a rule, any player who is in a rut and who feels that he has no chance to succeed with a certain club, always expresses a preference that he be sent to Chicago if possible.

There is a reason of course. Kid Gleason fairly exudes personality. He makes a pal of every player. Makes him believe that he is a great ball player and rarely does he fail in his efforts.

Kid Gleason has a convincing style. He can spread salve as smoothly as any manager in the game, when convinced that salve is needed to get results from a certain player.

The Kid is a convincing character from any angle you view him. He likes to scribble. And by fight don't get the impression that the Kid likes the player who picks on the umpire.

Of all things, Gleason admires courage most in a ball player. He will forgive errors, mental or physical, but lack of courage never. Gleason very frankly says that many players who are regarded as yellow are unjustly branded. He insists lack of proper handling often brings about such a reputation.

Gleason always practiced as a player what he now preaches as a manager. Joe Yeager, former big leaguer, who now lives in Detroit, once told me a story that proves beyond a doubt such a statement.

"Years ago when George Stallings managed Detroit I was on the squad and Gleason was the regular second sacker," said Yeager. "Gleason was a bit late getting into his uniform one day and Stallings sent me out to play second."

"When Gleason finally came on the field Stallings informed me that I was playing second."

"He won't be playing second very long," replied Gleason. "He will stay there as long as I want him to," answered Stallings. "We will see about that," said Gleason.

"Gleason trotted out to second, and what he said to me and the way he looked, soon convinced me that he was the regular second baseman. I walked into the bench."

"I put you on second," barked Stallings as I returned, "why didn't you stay there?" "Yeah, and you had Gleason on the bench," I answered. "Why didn't you keep him there?"

Yes sir! Kid Gleason has a most convincing manner. Timothy Healy, Ireland's first Governor-General, was a railway clerk before he began his political career.

CHANCE COULD WIN PENNANTS WITH DISCARDS

Great Team Set Adrift by Red Sox Club.

The Boston Red Sox haven't cut much of a swath in beating other clubs out of pennants in the last few years, but they can at least lay claim to being one of the greatest "selling and trading" outfits in the game's history.

For the Beantown management has no doubt pulled off more sales and exchanges of recent seasons than have any two clubs combined. In fact they have got "rid" of a small army of players, and for the most part have received the short end of the stick.

If Frank Chance had only part of the men who have been sent to other clubs on his roster for the coming campaign, he would have a most formidable aggregation. For he could muster a lineup which could doubtless hold its own with any in the circuit.

Prinstance, there would be Schang, catcher; Bush, Jones, Mays, Hoyt, Penock, Scott, McNally, Pratt, second base; Scott, shortstop; McNally third base; Wood, right field; Speaker, center field, and Ruth, left field. Eddie Foster and "Chick" Shorten could be used in utility roles.

Glancing over the list, Chance would have a top-notch receiver, a great staff of pitchers, three first-class infielders, and two of the outstanding stars of the game in the outfield. What more could a manager ask?

But Schang, Bush, Jones, Mays, Hoyt, Penock, Scott, McNally and Ruth are now with the Yankees; Pratt and Collins, Detroit; McNally, Wood and Speaker, Cleveland, and Foster and Shorten with the St. Louis Browns.

And about all the Red Sox have left as a result of all their sales and trades are men who are either old-timers in the game or are young and untried recruits.

COACH ROCKNE IS SIGNED TO LONG CONTRACT

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 21.—Any time some big college releases its football coach, the name of Knute Rockne, famous football mentor at Notre Dame, is prominently mentioned as his successor.

The remarkable success of Rockne at Notre Dame has made him a much sought after coach. Since the close of the football season he has had a dozen offers, most of them involving a salary far in excess of what he will receive at Notre Dame.

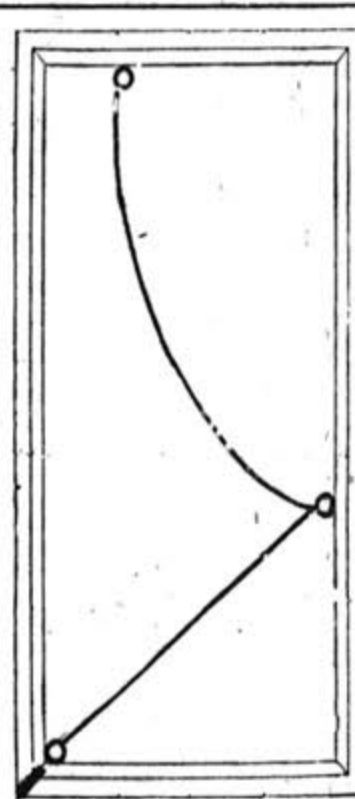

However, all the reports about Rockne leaving Notre Dame are mere piffle. Rockne gained football fame as a Notre Dame player and the love of his Alma Mater is strong. These words by Rockne should put to rest all rumors that he is to quit Notre Dame:

"I am under contract to Notre Dame, and intend to live up to it. My contract does not expire until 1925. I have had many offers but there is no chance to accept."

Marquette Defeats Creighton, 25-16

Milwaukee, Feb. 22.—In a fast game of basketball here tonight, Marquette University defeated Creighton University of Omaha 25 to 16.

Yale Goes to Tie With Cornell Team

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 22.—Yale went into a tie with Cornell for the lead in the intercollegiate basketball league today by defeating Princeton 22 to 21.

Michigan Trounces Ohio State Quint

Columbus, O., Feb. 22.—Michigan, displaying powerful defense, defeated Ohio State, 39 to 14, in a western conference basketball game here tonight. Ohio State made but three baskets, the other eight points being accounted for by four shots. Captain Ely, Michigan center, was the offensive star of the game.

When he was practicing at the bar Lord Birkenhead, the present Lord Chancellor, was accustomed to work from five o'clock in the morning until past midnight.

Notice!

American Legion Ice Rink will heretofore be opened only on the following nights: Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday. Street cars will only run on these nights.

LOUCKS LOOKS FOR HARD GAME

Manistique Shows Big Improvement Recently.

The Manistique basketball team will come to Escanaba tonight, to play its second game of the year with Coach Loucks' Orange and Black terrors.

Escanaba defeated Manistique decisively, earlier in the season, but since that time Manistique has changed coaches, and with the change apparently has taken on a great amount of added efficiency and pep.

The last two or three games the Schoolcrafters have played have shown their work to be far superior to that when Escanaba invaded the Manistique gymnasium early in the year.

All of Loucks' regulars will be in the lineup except "Speed" Tolian, who is ill. No announcement was made as to who might take his place, the coach following his usual practice of withholding his decision until he sees the preliminary workout showing made.

It is believed by followers of upstate prep sport that a fast, well-played battle is in prospect for fans who attend.

The Manistique-Escanaba game will be preceded by a contest between the Emco quintet and the High School Reserves. They have met previously several times and are sure to start the evening off with a bang.

Bob Hills will referee the wind-up, which will be started at 8:45 o'clock.

"KID" GLEASON MIRACLE MAN OF MAJOR LEAGUES

Chicago.—When it comes to miracle men in baseball, don't overlook Kid Gleason of the Chicago Americans.

The manager of the White Sox at the close of the 1920 season was left a remnant of his once great team because of the 1919 world series scandal.

No one will deny but that Chicago made it interesting for any club it played last season.

Gleason developed three great young pitchers last year in Leverette, Robertson and Ted Blankenship. Pitching is most essential. Gleason is already enthusing over his chances for the coming season. He is well satisfied with his pitching. It is in other departments that he feels the club should be much stronger.

The Sox manager is positive that in Taylor, a recruit shortstop he has a fine understudy for Ernie Johnson, and that in Woodworth he has a certain successor for Eddie Collins when the veteran passes out.

Two new outfielders, Pennington and Elish, will be hard to keep out of the regular lineup. Gleason feels that it will be a difficult matter to keep Elish from breaking into the lineup right off the reel.

At third he will have the much-touted Willie Kamm. All of which explains why Gleason is so enthusiastic over his team's chances for 1923.

Boston Takes Two from New Yorkers

Boston, Feb. 22.—Boston's hockey team defeated New York's team in a United States Amateur Hockey league double header tonight. Boston Athletic association won from the Canadian club of New York 3 to 1 and the Boston hockey club defeated St. Nicholas 5 to 2.

Notre Dame Hockey Six Beats Michigan

Ann Arbor, Feb. 22.—Notre Dame's unbeaten hockey team defeated Michigan here tonight 5 to 1.

SIXTEEN DRIVERS ENTER DOGS IN LIONS CLUB RACE SATURDAY

More Are Expected to List "Purps" with Committee Today.

Sixteen entries had been received last night for the Lions Club dog races, to be staged on Wells avenue, between Tenth and Eighth streets Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Two of the drivers will be girls—Miss Mildred Swanson, 1213 First avenue north, and Miss Rose Anderson, of Woodlawn. Both will drive collies.

The premium list, the committee explained last night, is made up almost altogether of articles for boys, but if a girl wins a prize, the merchants who have given the premiums will permit her to take articles of equal value which will be more useful to her. First prizes in all of the events average about $18 worth of merchandise, and there will be added cash awards.

One of the novel features of the afternoon, it was stated, would be a team of four fox terriers, driven by a local youngster.

Because of the comparatively short time which has been given the lads to prepare for the races, it has been decided to hold the entry privilege open until 9 o'clock tonight. Entries will be received by E. M. Williams at the Office Service Company or by Jack Perrin at the Athletic Shop.

The complete list of contestants at present, with indications, that half a dozen or more will be added before night, follows: Mildred Swanson.

Rose Anderson. Kenneth Geniesse. Ted Geniesse. Duke McKee. John Hengesh. Walter Flath. Lawrence O'Doss. Curtis Johnson. Fred Weisner. Robert Treiber. Floris Fredericksen. Joseph Cretns. Melvin Magnuson. Robert Hughes. John Byrne.

The course, between Eighth street and Tenth street, on Wells avenue, will be prepared as early as possible this afternoon, it was announced last night, so that drivers who desire to familiarize their purps with the speedway may be given an opportunity to do so today. Entrants will be expected to be at the corner of Tenth street and Wells avenue promptly at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Here the dogs will be measured, the larger ones going in Class A and the smaller ones in Class B.

Boy Scouts, working under the direction of the police, will patrol the course. Chief of Police Toian, and Acting City Manager Ham, are cooperating with the committee in charge of the arrangements.

There will be five events—Class A for single dogs, Class A for teams, Class B for single dogs, Class B for teams, and a free for all event. Each event carries about $25 to $30 in merchandise prizes for winners of first and second places.

One official had been designated last night. Frank Scanlon will be official timer.

"Buck" Jackson to Box Soo Soldier

Manistique, Feb. 22.—(Special)—Under the auspices of the Soo American legion a fight card will be staged next week, having as its headline number a bout between "Buck" Clifford Jackson of Manistique and Frankie Platt of Port Brady. Jackson is popular here and the outcome of the fight will be awaited with interest by local ring fans. Both of the boxers are known to employ fast aggressive tactics and the bout promises to be an interesting one.

Iowa Retains Lead Beating Indiana

Iowa City, Iowa, Feb. 22.—University of Iowa retained its lead in the big ten conference basketball race tonight by defeating Indiana University by a score of 19 to 13.

Kansas Takes 14th Straight Contest

Lawrence, Kan., Feb. 22.—Kansas University defeated Oklahoma 42 to 18 here tonight, winning its fourteenth straight game in the Missouri Valley basketball league.

Goozeman Stops St. Louis Boxer

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 22.—Ernie Goozeman, of Los Angeles, stopped Frankie Frisco of St. Louis, Mo., in the third round of a ten-round bout here tonight. They are featherweights.

Faculty Will Play Literary Society

Unanimous decision to accept the challenge of the Orange and Black literary society boys for a game of indoor ball was reached by the men of the high school faculty yesterday. It was announced last evening. "After our 18 to 7 defeat at the hands of the K. C. team, the boys think they're going to have an easy time," said one of the pedagogues last evening. "But they're due for a big surprise."

Meanwhile, the literary society boys, who issued the challenge at their Monday night meeting, are confident that they can show the teachers a thing or two about baseball.

The game will take place in the high school gymnasium at 8 o'clock Monday evening.

Sad Rites Held Thurs. for Splendid Woman

One of the largest funerals ever held in this city was that of Thursday morning when many mourning friends and relatives gathered at St. Joseph's church to attend the last sad rites which were performed over the body of Miss Margaret Kessler, one of this city's most splendid women.

Miss Kessler had the distinction of having the largest number of acquaintances of any woman in this city, and this was shown by the thousands of friends who called at the home while the body lay in state. The room in the home where the body lay in state resembled a large flower garden. The beautiful floral tributes from the many friends were a proof of the esteem in which she was held. There were also many mass cards received at the home.

Miss Kessler's untiring efforts in church or civic work, her general disposition, her broad knowledge of city affairs, her business ability, her broad-mindedness in all, made her the most beloved of Escanaba's women. Her passing has caused a great void in the community and her memory will ever remain with her large circle of friends.

When pins were invented in the fourteenth century, the maker was allowed only to sell them on the first two days of January, and upon these days women flocked to buy them. They were so expensive then that it was the custom to give as a present a certain sum of money to be used as pin-money. Hence the term.

Say It With Biscuits And Keep Your Hubby At His Own Fireside

MRS. ERICSSON HAMMOND.

By Marian Hale. The American girl's clever at refurbishing her gowns and making herself picturesque, but not quite so good when it comes to trimming up the food she puts on the dinner table. This is the observation of Mrs. Ericsson Hammond, who's been running a Swedish, French and American cookery school in New York for 23 years, besides writing several books on the subject.

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE BY FIRE ON NORTH SIDE

New Pumper Helps to Fight Blaze at John Strom Home.

Damage in excess of $1,000 was done yesterday afternoon by fire on the roof of the two-family house at 415 North Sixteenth street, owned by John Strom. The entire south side of the roof was burned away, and considerable damage was caused by water. The loss on the house is covered by insurance, but there is no coverage on the furniture.

While the origin is uncertain, the fire is believed to have started from a spark from the chimney. It had a considerable start before the arrival of the department, and proved a stubborn blaze to fight. Both departments participated, and the new pumper was used in actual service for the first time.

As the house is only about a block away from No. 2 station, the truck from there was the first to reach the scene, and the pressure on the water was raised at the pumping station to permit the early use of hose. The pumper was connected later. Both trucks from No. 1 station responded, but the old truck was later sent back to the house to answer possible other calls. The firemen fought the blaze for two hours or more.

Fine Sermon Was Given Wed. Night At St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's church was packed to the doors Wednesday evening when Rev. Fr. Daniel, O. F. M., delivered an oration from the pulpit which kept the audience spell bound from the start to the finish. Every seat in the edifice was filled and more than one hundred persons stood in the rear of the church, so large was the crowd. The services began with the recitation of the Rosary which was led by two altar boys. The sermon was next, then followed the Benediction.

WATT HAD NO KETTLE.

The story of how James Watt invented the steam engine after seeing the lid of his mother's tea kettle bobbing up and down, has been knocked into a cocked hat by historians. They point out that steam engines existed before Watt's time, and that it was as a full fledged mechanical engineer that he began to improve them.
