

NEW YORK BANDITS CONTINUE MENACE

INSURGENTS IN G. O. P. RANKS MAKE TROUBLE

TEST OF STRENGTH MEANS MUCH TO NATION.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Continued from Page 1.) Washington, Dec. 3.—Thirteen months ago the American people elected a new Congress. Next week the new membership takes office. If the mood and desire of the electorate is today the same as it was thirteen months ago, the mandate may be one thing. If conditions have changed it must be another.

Insurgency has broken out in the majority party. The insurgents have laid down a series of demands which they think represents the will of the people. The regulars are wondering whether the country would approve of a deadlock in the organization of Congress and an obstruction at the very start of the session.

Such a coalition is unlikely however for the reason that the Democratic party itself cannot afford to subscribe to the insurgent program, one plank of which is being interpreted by the regulars as meaning a frustration of tax reduction. In the announcement made by the insurgents, there is a plan for tax reduction on smaller incomes but no provision for raising the revenue which would be taken off the lower incomes.

The insurgents also want to upset the seniority rule by which members who have been in service before in Congress are promoted to the regular committee places. Unquestionably the insurgents will get some concessions and their maneuvers of the moment are calculated to get them something, but if their program is carried to the extremity of holding up the organization of the House and delaying the delivery of the president's first message, they will find a determined group of Republican leaders ready to carry the fight on if it takes all the month of December.

While leaders of both the Republican organization and the insurgents declared immediately after the close of today's session that even the senate would be unable to transact any business other than that of receiving and acting upon nominations and treaties, which is solely a senate function.

Break May Come Today. While leaders of both the Republican organization and the insurgents declared immediately after the close of today's session that even the senate would be unable to transact any business other than that of receiving and acting upon nominations and treaties, which is solely a senate function.

FOUR STRONG BOXES CRACKED IN BUSY SPOT

STREET SHOOTING, DAYLIGHT HOLDUP, AND LYCHING.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 3.—New York's crime wave, which has ebbed and flowed for a month, today assumed more menacing proportions, soon after the police announced that criminal activities had subsided to such an extent that there was no longer need of extraordinary precautions.

Today's activities included four safe robberies, an attempted lynching, a daylight holdup and a street shooting. Also three gangsters were arrested charged with the theft of $1,000 worth of whiskey. Seizure of 8,000 cases of Canadian beer, consigned to a Broadway hotel, was another event.

Seek Busy Spots. Two of four safe robberies which paid the yeggmen something over $24,000, were particularly daring. One of the city's busiest spots, the Pennsylvania railroad terminal, was the scene of one. Thieves ripped off a safe door in the offices of the Union News Company and made off with $3,200.

Equally daring was a safe robbery on a busy Bronx corner. Three unmasked armed men walked into the apartment of Max Kraysler, a jeweler, bound and gagged a maid, drilled the safe and made off with $6,000 in currency and several hundred dollars in gold.

Jewelry worth more than $10,000 was taken in a raid on the safe of R. R. Fogel, a Lower Broadway jeweler. The safe crackers entered the place by cutting a hole in the floor above.

Early today cracksmen opened the safe of the William Hausman Department Store in the Bronx and took $5,000.

A mob of 200 attempted to lynch Edward Edmond, a Negro street cleaner, when a policeman captured him on a Brooklyn street after he had struck down a fellow street cleaner, Philip Gorman, who later died. The policeman kept the menacing crowd from his prisoner with a drawn pistol. A police squad effected the rescue. Thomas A. Conners was shot in the jaw as he walked down Broadway in Long Island City. He did not know his mysterious assailant, who fired from across the street.
