

SENATORS ANNEX FIRST WORLD'S TITLE

FRENZIED MOB CELEBRATES SOLON VICTORY; OFFICERS CAN'T MAKE TRAFFIC MOVE

NOISE EQUALS THAT ANNOUNCING END OF BIG WAR.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The national capital tonight celebrated the winning its first baseball championship with as much noise and racket as it greeted the news of the end of the world war.

From every street in the city rose the din of thousands cheering the arrival of the Senators in baseball's promised land.

The firing of small cannon, the crack of pistols, the bang of fire crackers, the honk of automobiles and the overworked lungs of half-crazed baseball fans were blended into a deafening roar.

Noise Is Deafening.

Drums and sirens were coupled with racket makers and all of Washington was out to promote the noise. From the capitol up Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House, a cheering, howling mob surged. King Baseball had conquered the enemy, and in turbulent fashion led his followers in endless parade. Like a college town wild over a football victory, Washington behaved, but on a larger scale.

Traffic cops were lost in the melee as thousands of automobiles became twisted in a honking jam in the downtown streets of the city, while machines almost ceased to move as occupants climbed out on running boards to yell.

Washington had lived to see its first world pennant. For a while many thought it would not live through it.

Dignity "Blows."

All the years of cultivated dignity that the city had stored up exploded with a bang. The city that for nearly two centuries has been celebrated as a nation, tonight went wild over the first celebration that it could really call its own.

Thronging the streets in groups that ranged from three and four to long "lock step" processions, people, seemingly in countless numbers, paraded and cheered.

Every person was equipped with some kind of noise maker. Dinner bells had been snatched from the sidewalk to clang for attention beside big bass drums. Whistles and horns and roaring people strove for supremacy from all sides.

Washington had wanted its ball team to win as it had never wanted anything before and the strain of several days of breath-holding baseball culminated in a Main Street hullabaloo that would rival the combined efforts of all the sandlots in America.

Fans Flood Field.

At the ball park when the winning run shot across, a terrific roar went up from the stands. Then a momentary silence settled down—it seemed too good to be true. Then, as if at the beck of a leader, the roar began again and tumbling over each other fans rushed on the diamond to the Washington dugout.

In the way that college freshmen yell and yell, those fans at the park cheered their team—then gathered around the entrance of the clubhouse to cheer the players as they left the park. So thick were the fans packed around the clubhouse that the players had to leave by a side door with a squad of police cutting a hole in the crowd.

At downtown scoreboards people were packed in jams that reached out of the side streets across Pennsylvania Avenue and tied up traffic. Play after play on the boards met the deafening cheers or gasping groans as the tide ebbed and flowed, culminating in a frantic outburst.

Avenue Is Blocked.

Men leaped about in a frenzy, women danced and boys threw each other high in the air while automobile horns let loose in a continuous shriek. Pennsylvania Avenue became pandemonium, which if possible grew in intensity as the hours wore along with no sign of abating until some time in the early hours of tomorrow.

Washington had lived to see its night of nights and Washington made the most of its first night in baseball's promised land.

At tonight, while the city's 500,000 people were on the streets, the district commissioners announced that a meeting would be held tomorrow to plan for an official celebration. Tentative plans mapped out so far call for starting the official "turn out" after 4:30 p. m. of the day it is to be held so that government clerks will be able to participate. It being pointed out that a government holiday could not be declared as existing laws

LABOR'S ORGAN MAKES ATTACK ON MACDONALD

Says He'll Be Missed at Foreign Office, However.

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.—At the opening of the campaign for what universally is described as an "unwanted" election, perhaps the most striking incident is the extraordinary attack published on Premier MacDonald published in the Intellectual Laborite Review, the New Statesman, organ of the labor party. If the attack faithfully reports the feeling of a large section of the party and is not the outgrowth of some personal feud, it is considered as implying a serious crisis within the ranks of the party.

Paying tribute to Mr. MacDonald's remarkable gifts as a parliamentarian and foreign secretary, the article says some of the highest officials in the foreign office consider he has been the best foreign secretary Great Britain has had in a quarter of a century, and that if he is not mourned effectively he certainly will be mourned at the foreign office.

Premier Blamed. Yet the article proceeds to say that Mr. MacDonald alone is responsible for having brought the country into the present "absurd political predicament," that, while he has been an immense success as foreign secretary, as prime minister, he has been an utter failure.

The writer then trounces Mr. MacDonald because "he missed no opportunity of insulting or deriding those who placed him in power." This reference is in regard to the statement that Mr. MacDonald consistently refused "to eat out of Mr. Asquith's hand."

Complaining of Mr. MacDonald's intense personal feeling against Mr. Asquith and his fouting of 4,000,000 liberal votes, the article continues: "But Mr. MacDonald lacks generosity. He is jealous of those whose personal competition he fears."

As prime minister, he seems too thin-skinned to live." The article on the whole seems to lament Mr. MacDonald's refusal to co-operate with the liberals. On this point, however, the New Statesman is not considered in political circles to represent the general view of the laborites.

County Attorney Threatened; Men Guard His Home

(By The Associated Press.)

Princeton, Ky., Oct. 10.—Ten national guardsmen arrived here tonight at the request of County Judge Smith to guard the home of S. B. Hodge, county attorney, from threatened violence.

An anonymous letter, received by Mrs. Hodge last Saturday, declared that her husband had been warned to resign as county attorney. Penalty for failure to do so, the letter stated, would be death. Mr. Hodge and his children were directed to leave the house to escape being blown up.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 10.—Ten national guardsmen with a heavy supply of ammunition, side arms and two machine guns, were directed to proceed at once to Princeton late today upon orders from Frankfort. National guard officers here declined to comment on the order.

The order was received shortly before 4 o'clock. It was understood, and the guardsmen were equipped immediately. A train leaving for Princeton at 4 p. m., was held until 4:15 under military orders to permit the embarking militiamen to make a hurried departure.

RECEIPTS FOR SERIES EXCEED THOSE OF 1923

Last Year Retains Attendance Record

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Oct. 10.—A new record for world series receipts was established by the Giants and Senators. Figures for the seven games, $1,093,104, exceeded by $38,289 those of the only other million dollar series, the six-contest battle between the Giants and Yankees in New York last year.

Attendance figures were not shattered, however. The mark of 283,695 set in this series fell 17,735 short of the 301,430 who saw the classic last season. Washington players will divide $148,991.63 of the total fund and New York will split up $99,327.75. The remaining 25 per cent of the total players' share will be divided among the second and third place clubs in each league.

Get $5,730 Each. The Washingtonmelon will be split into 28 shares of $5,730 each, Manager Harris announced. Miller and Taylor, substitute infielders, and Al Schacht, coach, will each receive two-thirds of a share and the 24 remaining portions will be equally divided among the other players, Coach Nick Altrock and Trainer Mike Martin. Lump sums will be donated by the players to Wadsworth, outfielder, who was ineligible for the series, to clubhouse boy, Frankie Baxter, and to the Senator bat boy.

The Giants left hurriedly after the contest to catch a train and did not announce a division of their cut. The approximate figure for each of the 26 men on the Giant eligible list, including Coach Jennings, would be $3,820.

Refusal of Judge To Issue Warrant To Higher Court

(By The Associated Press.)

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 10.—An order directing Judge Christopher E. Stehn, of the recorder's court in Detroit, to show cause why he should not be compelled to issue a warrant for the arrest of two men charged with violation of the Bahorski anti-gambling law, was issued by the state supreme court today. The order was requested by Paul W. Voorhes, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, on behalf of Frank McClellan, a patrolman. Judge Stehn must file a return to the court by October 21, and the case probably will be argued October 28.

The court's order is the outgrowth of action instigated by the Wayne prosecutor to secure a ruling from the high court on the constitutionality of the gambling law. McClellan told John Kmak and Raymond Ledford into custody a few days ago. He appeared before Judge Stehn with what he claimed was sufficient evidence, but the judge, he declared, refused to issue a warrant. The judge was quoted as saying that the reason for his refusal was because the gambling law is unconstitutional.

The bandits wrecked the train by taking a rail from the tracks. A special train left Juarez late today for the scene of the holdup.

RADIO CONFAB COMES TO END

Set of Recommendations Drawn Up Relative to Regulation.

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Oct. 10.—The third national radio conference called by Secretary Hoover last Monday adjourned late today after having unanimously agreed upon a set of recommendations to the secretary of commerce in its regulation of the radio industry.

The recommendations call for establishment of super-power broadcasting stations upon an experimental basis and under strict regulations of the commerce department to prevent interference with smaller stations.

It was also recommended that general increase in the amount of power permitted to broadcasting stations be made during the summer time and during the daytime in winter, in order to overcome interference from static and other outside influences.

Another recommendation adopted urges the government to take no measures towards regulating the matter which is to be broadcast on the air, characterizing any such regulation as government censorship.

The recommendations were submitted to the conference after its co-ordination committee had worked almost the entire day in drafting a summary of all the recommendations made by the seven sub-committees, which, during the conference, made intensive investigations into the technical questions involved in the many radio problems.

In accepting the recommendations, Secretary Hoover told the delegates that their conclusions would become the background for the department in working out its regulations for the radio industry.

YOUTH DROWNED IN RIVER NEAR WELLS FRIDAY

Body Is Recovered Shortly; Resuscitation Fails

(By The Associated Press.)

Andrew Hatfield, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Hatfield, 1407 Washington Avenue, was drowned at about 4:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Escanaba river near the "dinky" bridge across from the Chemical Plant, at Wells.

The boy, with two companions, Henry LaCrosse, 1113 Washington Avenue, and James Nicols, 1409 North 20th Street, had constructed a raft and were poling it around the river, which is about five feet deep at this place. It is thought that Hatfield slipped from the raft and being weighed down by a hammer which he wore at his belt, was unable to get back on the raft. The other two boys, becoming frightened, rushed off seeking for help.

They came to where Fred Carr, 1402 Hartnett Avenue, of this city, was working and asked his assistance. He returned with the boys to the river, and the body was recovered. Attempts at life saving, however, failed. James Redmond, deputy sheriff of Wells, was summoned and took charge of the body, which last night was brought to the Alto Funeral Home in this city.

The two boys who were with Hatfield at the time that he was drowned have been summoned to appear at the sheriff's office Saturday morning and it is expected that details that are not entirely clear, will then be explained.

Transcontinental Voyage Completed By Huge Dirigible

(By The Associated Press.)

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 10.—The Shenandoah completed its transcontinental voyage at 10:48 p. m., coast time, when it appeared over this city, headed for the mooring mast at North Island. The last 100 miles of the journey were made at a speed of more than 60 miles an hour.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 10.—The naval dirigible Shenandoah was sighted at 4:10 half way across Salton Sea on her way to San Diego, according to telegraphic advices received here by the Southern Pacific.

Aboard the U. S. Shenandoah, Enroute from Fort Worth to San Diego, Oct. 10.—Battling her way across the Rockies in the teeth of steady head winds throughout the entire day, the navy dirigible Shenandoah skirted the last cordillera of that mountain system after darkness fell tonight.

Los Angeles, Oct. 10.—Hours behind schedule, and still buffeted by heavy head winds, the navy dirigible Shenandoah at 8:30 o'clock tonight was sailing over the orange groves near Riverside, 50 miles east of here, headed towards Santa Ana and the coast route to San Diego, which the navigating officer of the ship said would probably be reached about midnight.

1,500 Teachers at Marquette Meet

(By The Associated Press.)

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 10.—More than 1,500 upper peninsula school teachers, most of them women, meeting here in their annual convention, in the Northern State Normal school auditorium, stood up and cheered tonight when United States Senator Fessenden, of Ohio, speaker of the evening, said:

"I am happy to announce that Washington won the world's baseball championship, and the peer of them all, Walter Johnson, did it."

ZR-3 TO START ITS TRIP TODAY

Huge Airship Will Use Southern Route in Flight to U. S.

(By The Associated Press.)

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 10.—The great dirigible ZR-3, built by the Zeppelin works here for the United States navy, will leave on her trans-Atlantic flight for Lakehurst, N. J., at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The airship will take the southern route, flying by way of Belfort, France, to the Bay of Biscay, thence over northern Spain and out over the Atlantic across the Azores islands.

The decision of Dr. Hugo Eckener, president of the Zeppelin Company, and commander of the ZR-3 to fly over the southern route, was taken after he was convinced that weather conditions along the north Atlantic lane still were unsettled and that the northern route involved hazards as well as delay in awaiting more auspicious air conditions.

Tonight a full moon was beaming down upon Lake Constance and the weather in this immediate vicinity was ideal for the start of the flight. Dr. Eckener and Hans C. Fleming, navigating and watch officer, however, until a late hour, scrutinized the weather charts after an intense all day survey of incoming bulletins, some of which gave details of air conditions as far to the westward as Medicine Hat, Canada. It was not until 11 o'clock tonight that Dr. Eckener reached his final decision to leave on the journey tomorrow morning and to take the southern course.

TAKE GRUELLING 12-INNING GAME FROM NEW YORK, 4-3; JOHNSON FINALLY CONQUERS

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Oct. 10. The miracle of baseball, the dream of 40 years, came true this afternoon when Washington won the baseball championship of the world from the New York Giants in the most thrilling, dramatic climax that any diamond series has ever seen.

Out of the depths of crushing defeat, Walter Johnson, one of the greatest pitchers the game has ever known, emerged, came back to the heights and reached his goal, the end of the 18-year trail, by leading the Senators to victory by a score of 4 to 3 in 12 innings of spectacular, pulse gripping baseball.

And when Earl McNeely, young outfielder from the Pacific Coast, drove in "Muddy" Ruel with the winning run, after the mighty bat of Bucky Harris had kept the Senators in their greatest fight, the rookie also drove a vast crowd of more than 30,000 that included the President and Mrs. Coolidge, into an outburst of victory-inspired frenzy unprecedented in the history of the national game.

Crowd Floods Field. The crack of McNeely's bat was the match that set fire to a conflagration of enthusiasm, a whirlwind of excited joy swept the big crowd as it flooded upon the field, then rushed wildly for the dugout of the winning team and gave unrestrained vent to spirits which, first through a victorious American League campaign and then through one of the most memorable championship battles of all time, had been whipped to fever pitch.

The president of the United States and his wife, watching their third game, clapped and waved their hands with the enthusiasm of the most ardent fans. Men and women, many of them prominently known throughout the country, joined with the rabid throng of fandom in that tumultuous outburst. Fashionably dressed women hugged one another in joy, cheer leaders sprang up as if by magic, while hats were thrown into the air with abandon. For more than an hour after game, the crowd swirled about the field and the clubhouse, where the Senators were given a continual ovation and nearly mobbed.

Capital Celebrated. Tonight the nation's capital gave itself over to the celebration of their greatest baseball achievement, one of the greatest any team has ever gained. It was a victory that not only stirred the country's hub but undoubtedly swept, magnetically, throughout the land, to the cross roads and the boulevards, it seemed that the whole nation had rooted for "Bucky" Harris and his gallant band and shared Washington's own joy in the triumphant outcome. Never has baseball's premier crown been won under circumstances so remarkable as those this afternoon in the seventh and deciding game of a series that has swung back and forth with brilliancy, uncertain to the last thrilling moment. Not since the famous series of 1912 have American and National League rivals fought with such tenacity and courage for the title and, oddly enough, it was the Giants who went down to defeat this time as they did 12 years ago before the Boston Red Sox.

Setback for McGraw. It was a spattering setback for John McGraw, grey-haired veteran pilot of the Giants, turned back on the threshold of the greatest goal of his career—a fourth world's crown which would have put him beyond all rivals—but it was also a marvelous victory for "Bucky" Harris, black-haired, dynamic young leader of the Senators.

Harris, 27 years old and the youngest manager that ever led a major league team to the top, was a dominant, flashing figure in his team's triumph and gained, through the brilliance of his tactics and individual play, a place in baseball that few leaders have ever held.

Harris Rallies Men. Harris rallied his men to their victorious, successful finish when it seemed that disaster would overcome their staunch spirit. Two setbacks for their greatest hurling ace, Walter Johnson, and Roger Peckinpaw, might have dented the courage of any but the Senators. In the face of the heaviest sort of odds and trailing the National League champions, two games to three, Washington came back and before the president and a home crowd, evaded the series yesterday and won it today.

In the final analysis, it was the never-say-die spirit instilled by Harris, the unquenchable "will to victory" that seemed almost a thing of fate and pulled the team through. It was a fight from behind for the Senators from start to finish. Always the road to victory was uphill and they overcame many obstacles before finally conquering the peak.

Soon Courage Wins.
The whole story of the series, in reality, was written into the final game, for in it the Senators, their makeshift defense crumbling momentarily, yielded a lead that was insurmountable, until they rallied in the eighth, tied the score and then fought off the Giants until the twelfth and its victorious culmination.

The game sparkled with the most thrilling sort of play, terrific hitting, spectacular defensive work, brilliant and erratic pitching, good and bad baseball. One dramatic moment followed another from the sudden withdrawal of "Curley" Ogden, Washington's first twirler, after he had pitched to only two batters in the opening inning, until the veteran Johnson, the "old master," came to the rescue in the last four innings.

Barney Comes Back.
"Old Barney" had sustained two heartbreaking setbacks at the hands of the Giants and it seemed the irony of fate would keep him from the goal of a life time. But after this Johnson came back. He was the Johnson of his prime when the situation was the most dangerous, and the "smoke ball" that had failed him twice before lifted the veteran to his greatest glory and his team to triumph.

Johnson was under fire in those last four innings, for the Giants fought to the last ditch. Twice when they threatened, Johnson walked Ross Kelly and twice Kelly fanned in the pinch. Frisch tripped with one out and Young on first when Kelly whiffed for the first time and "Irish" Meusel closed the inning by grounding out. A double play checked the Giants in the 10th, but in the 11th, Southworth running for Grob, a pinch batter, and Young were on second and first, with two out, when Kelly again was a victim of Johnson's fast ball.

The 12th saw Johnson hold back another charge after Meusel opened with a single, before the Senators broke through, after themselves threatening in the 9th and 11th innings.

Ruel Doubles.
Ralph Miller, substitute third sacker, started the Senators' last drive harmlessly when he batted out to Frisch, but "Muddy" Ruel, who had failed to get a hit until today's game, brought the crowd to its feet with a streaking double down the left field line, after Gowdy, veteran Giant backstop, had ingloriously dropped an easy foul pop that would have retired Ruel. Where they had been the staidier the Giants now were scrambling and Johnson got safely to first when Jackson fumbled his sharp grounder. Ruel was held at second on this play but after McNeely had fouled off the first pitch of Jack Bentley, Giant southpaw, he caught the next one for a drive that hopped over Lindstrom's head and bounded to left field for a double.

Behind this great moment for the Senators, however, was a bitter struggle, one in which it seemed only a miracle would pull them through. For six innings they were equally matched, for the game's breaking curve, "Zeke" Barnes, young Giant right hander, Harris struck a telling blow when his homer sailed into the left field bleachers in the fourth, but he was the only man to reach base in that six inning span, while in the sixth the Giants forged ahead, scoring three runs when the Washington infield, sadly missing its great cog, Peckinpaugh, hero of two of the Senators' victories, went to pieces.

Mogridge Yanked.
George Mogridge, veteran southpaw, who had checked the Giants after relieving Ogden, also weakened in the sixth, but the trio of Giant runs came while his successor, Marberry, chief pitching rescuer, was on the mound. A pass to Young and Kelly's single brought about Mogridge's retirement but Meusel greeted Marberry's first pitch with a long sacrifice fly to Rice that scored Young. Kelly went to third on Wilson's single and scored when Judge juggled Jackson's grounder. Gowdy's hot grounder went through Bluege's legs at short and Wilson came home with the third run, but Barnes and Lindstrom were quickly retired.

Checked by a double play that offset two hits in the seventh, the Senators finally broke through. Barnes in the eighth and tied the score before Art Nehf, who had twirled and lost yesterday, came in and stopped the rally. Leibold, diminutive pinch hitter, opened the attack with one out, when he lined a double to left. Ruel scratched an infield hit, his first of the series, and Tate, batting for Marberry, filled the bases when he walked. McNeely's fly to Meusel was too short for Leibold to make a dash for home, but Harris brought him and Ruel in with a single that took a bad bound over Lindstrom's head into left field. Barnes withdrew at this juncture and Nehf retired Rice to end the inning.

Breaks Help Both.
Thus, while the Senators by their own mistakes, paved the way for all the Giants' scoring, they also benefited from several "breaks" at critical moments. Harris' telling single in the eighth seemed headed for Lindstrom's glove and a third out when it bounded over the youngster's head. In the 12th Ruel's double followed an error by Gowdy on an easy chance to retire the Washington backstop while McNeely's double was a hit similar to that of Harris.

the game, hits were constantly cut off by the most brilliant sort of fielding on the part of both teams. A feature that was only one of the many that were bound up in this thrilling struggle. In the second, Bluege robbed Wilson of a hit by taking his grounder back of second and making a fast throw to while Wilson himself pulled a startling play when he made a diving catch of Rice's hot liner in the fourth.

ISSUES STATEMENT.
Washington, Oct. 10.—President Coolidge immediately after returning to the White House from the final game of the world series issued the following statement:

"Of course, I am not speaking as an expert or as an historian of baseball, but I do not recollect a more exciting world's series than that which has finished this afternoon. The championship was not won until the 12th inning of the last game. This shows how evenly the teams were matched. I have only the heartiest of praise to bestow upon the individual players of both teams.

"Naturally, in Washington we were pleased to see Walter Johnson finish the game pitching for our home team, and make a hit in the last inning that helped win the series. It has to be kept in mind that though he was not successful in the two games he pitched, that it was his skill that had won the pennant and put Washington into the world's series. Every one was pleased to see him come back at the close of the last game.

"The three contests which I witnessed maintained throughout a high degree of skill and every evidence of a high class sportsmanship that will bring to every observer an increased respect for and confidence in our national game. It would be difficult to conceive a finer example of true sport."

LEAD CHEERING.
Washington, Oct. 10.—President and Mrs. Coolidge were the cheer leaders that led thirty thousand Washingtonians in the cry for a home town victory this afternoon while the Senators topped the Giants in the final struggle of the world's series. Through all the tense 12 innings of play the president and his wife watched with zealous interest the rallies of the Senators, cheering when runs were scored and applauding "Bucky" Harris and his mates trying for victory with an infield crippled with injuries.

The president was not loath to applaud the play of the vanquished Giants. In the fourth inning when the Griffith Stadium rang with the cry for a Washington rally, Sam Rice crashed a torrid liner to left that had the hall mark of a two base hit. In raced Wilson, the Giant's left fielder, and diving forward and sliding along the ground came up with the ball for a sparkling shoe-string catch. Instantly President Coolidge smilingly nodded his approval and joined with the spectators in cheering the Giant player.

All Applaud.
When victory came with McNeely's hit and Ruel sped over the plate with a winning run President Coolidge and his wife, joined in the cheering which all around hundreds of delightfully happy fans shared and applauded. In the excitement the presidential party was momentarily forgotten and secret service men were almost helpless as the crowd, crazed with delight, surged around them in the rush to pay their tribute to the champion Senators attempting to leave the field. But they too, forgetful apparently for the moment of their own situation, stood by to add their cheer.

Not until Walter Johnson and Manager Harris had been carried past them off the field did Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, their hands red from applauding, turn with smiling faces toward the exit.

On the way out the paths of Johnson and the president crossed and the frenzied fans who were carrying the veteran pitcher to the dressing room stepped aside as Mrs. Coolidge and then the president shook his grimy hands in congratulations.

Bond Issue To Be Put on Sale at 92; Interest Higher.

(By The Associated Press.)
London, Oct. 10.—The negotiations for a loan of $500,000,000 gold marks to the German government provided for by the Dawes reparations plan, were successfully concluded this afternoon and the loan will be put on the financial markets of nine countries, including Germany, within a few days. More than half of the entire loan—$110,000,000—is to be raised in the United States.

The bonds will be dated October 15, mature in 25 years and bear 7 per cent interest. They will be offered to investors at 92, thus yielding approximately 7 1/2 per cent to maturity. The terms of issue in the various markets are virtually identical.

Signatures to the agreement to loan money to the German government were fixed this afternoon in the old Bank of England Building. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reich Bank and Dr. Hans Luther, the German finance minister, signed for Germany; J. P. Morgan signed for the American banking syndicate headed by his own company; Montagu Norman for the Bank of England; Jean V. Parmentier for France, and the other financiers for their respective financial fields on the continent.

Mr. Morgan issued a statement for the American press explaining the outcome of the negotiations, which had been carried on here between the Germans and the bankers of the world. His statement follows:

"The negotiations of which I spoke in my statement of October 3 have now been carried through successfully. The essential cooperation of continental markets has been assured and confidence is expressed as to the success of the issue. The contract under which the loan of $500,000,000 gold marks is to be issued for the German government, as provided under the Dawes plan, was signed this afternoon, the shares undertaken by the various markets being as follows:

"A nominal amount of $110,000,000 in the United States; $12,000,000 in Great Britain; $1,500,000 in Belgium; $3,000,000 in France; $2,500,000 in Holland; 100,000,000 lire in Italy; $5,200,000 kronas in Sweden, and $3,000,000 in Switzerland. It is arranged that the small residue required to complete the full amount of $500,000,000 gold marks will be taken in Germany."

Ford Motors of Canada Returns Big Percentage

(By The Associated Press.)
Detroit, Oct. 10.—Profits of the Ford Motor Company of Canada for the year ending July 31, 1924, after deduction of all charges for manufacturing, selling and general expenses, including depreciation and taxes, are reported as $3,719,187.51, equivalent to $53.13 a share on the $7,000,000 of outstanding capital stock, par value $100. For the preceding fiscal year, net profits of $5,106,197.85 were equal to $72.95 a share on the same capitalization.

Though net profits for the year just closed were smaller than for the preceding year, production and the volume of total sales and other income were greater than a year ago. Production included 79,807 cars and 3,785 tractors against 70,328 cars and 3,395 tractors the year before, while total sales and other income amounted to $43,459,138.79, an increase of $4,902,955.59 over the previous year.

RUSH CLUBHOUSE.
Washington, Oct. 10.—The first impulse of Washington after today's game was expressed in a tumultuous "pep" meeting rushed to the hallowed dugout of the home club; then 31,678 people rushed to the clubhouse.

They were met by a police cordon against which the moving mass jammed with pressure from the rear, causing the people to be piled up in the center. Notables who were recognized in the rush were billeted about, besieged for autographs, punished with enthusiastic blows.

Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, caught in the human swamp, feebly attempted to advance as the mob, including many women, thrust programs and pencils into his face, beseeching autographs. There was almost panic in the eyes of "Czar of baseball" as he gasped:

"I'd love to, but I can't." "The poor old soul," a woman said, "I touched him, anyhow." Griffith Can't Talk.

Clark Griffith, president of the club which infected the city with the madness of joy, was brought out of the jam by friends and found his way to the small porch of the club's office. There he was met by his little daughter, Thelma, who was crying. To call for a speech, Griffith lifted the child up to the crowd and said:

"I'm too happy to make a speech, people; but it happened just as I wanted it to, with Walter winning it for us."

The child hid her head on his shoulder and would not look at the crowd. Griffith heard that his wife had been injured in the milling and dashed madly into the crowd but was met by Mrs. Griffith. The three went into the office and held a happy reunion.

Surround Structure.
Before the clubhouse the crowd was so dense as to check any but a swaying moving mass. People clung to waiting automobiles of the players, jammed the runways of the grandstand just above, filled the narrow approach to the rear exit. The place was surrounded. Inside a narrow hallway, separated two groups, one of the Darling of the Gods and of Washington, and breathing in the clouds; the other frowned upon by fate and deadened with oppressive thoughts.

JAPAN TURNING TO RUSSIA FOR ITS OVERFLOW

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, Oct. 10.—Japan has turned her face eastward toward Russia, and her back on the west, toward America, as a result of the Japanese exclusion action of congress, members of the house of bishops and the national council of the Protestant Episcopal Church were told today.

hearts of the Japanese up to the time of the exclusion action—a position which was strengthened with the generous response of Americans to the call for aid which grew out of the earthquake of last year. But in the minds of all but a comparative few persons in Japan the exclusion acts passage had utterly destroyed American prestige in the island empire, he declared.

CITY'S EXPERT SUBMITS "PLAN"

Adoption of Phillips Report Expected at Early Meeting.

Terms of the Escanaba city charter provide that within three years after the approval of the document by the voters, the council shall adopt a city plan, probably to be completed with an early meeting of the city governing body. The plan, framed by T. Glenn Phillips, of Detroit, internationally known expert in city planning, has been received by the council, and it is likely that it will be enacted into an ordinance within a short time.

In framing the charter, the special commission gave no special reasons for the inclusion of the city plan clause. The council, meeting later with the commissioners, learned that the idea was not to restrict the plan to any particular angle or phase, but rather to provide as nearly as possible for a properly regulated growth along the best and most economical lines, to aid the council and the board of education to select the tracts of lands which some day must be acquired for public and school purposes before the growth of the city sends property values skyward, and to provide for the highway arteries of the future.

The council, left to decide for itself the scope of the plan, engaged Mr. Phillips as consultant. After six months, Mr. Phillips submitted tentative plans and plans, covering the territory within the city limits. The council criticized these plans, and then returned them with numerous suggestions which were included by Mr. Phillips in his final recommendations.

The matter of zoning will be left open for the present, and no ordinance along that line is contemplated until the need and demand arises.

The plan which includes plats showing the manner in which new tracts should be platted, and suggestion the location of future public grounds, is on file at the office of City Clerk Carl E. Anderson, where it may be perused by any one interested.

FRATERNAL

St. Joseph's Church. St. Joseph's school and high school celebrated another "red-letter" day Thursday, it being the Saints day of the Rev. Pastor, Father Bertrand. Promptly at 11 o'clock on Thursday morning the pupils proceeded to the auditorium where an elaborate program was enacted in commemoration of this joyous event. Speeches, songs and orchestra selections comprised the program, after which Father Bertrand spoke touchingly to the assembled audience and concluded by granting a half-holiday to all.

On Thursday evening at eight o'clock the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society held a most auspicious meeting in the auditorium at which 219 men were present. Father Bertrand and the eight other members who acted as delegates from this parish to the Holy Name convention at Washington, D. C., last month, related their experiences in that famed city and spoke for the Holy Name Society, specially of the monster parade that concluded that memorable convention. A most interesting and humorous talk was given by Tom Harris, relating the thrills that he experienced. At this meeting it was definitely decided that the Holy Name Society should sponsor the movement to reorganize a St. Joseph's Club according to St. Joseph's clubrooms will be open every evening, and various games will be played, including pool, billiards, cards, horseshoe, and it is hoped that it will be possible to erect bowling alleys in the near future. Thursday night will be styled "Ladies' Night."

Nineteen new members were enrolled, so that today the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society boasts of 512 Senior Holy Name members. All agreed that this was one of the most interesting meetings ever held in the auditorium, the music being well rendered by St. Joseph's High school orchestra.

Pythian Sisters Meet. The Pythian Sisters held their drill meeting Thursday evening. Prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies' first prize, Mrs. Sam Dunn; second, Marion Cameron, Gladstone, and consolation to Mrs. A. Blomstrom. Men's first prize went to Michael Green, second to Arvid Nelson, and the consolation to Orville Bowry.

NEW ROAD TO BE THE BEST IN PENINSULA

Delta Contracting Co. Makes Great Progress on Job

One of the finest stretches of penetration macadam highway in the peninsula, is that now being rushed to completion by the Delta Contracting Company, between Maple Ridge and the Marquette county line. The contract covered a total of seven miles and of that distance four miles have been fully completed and the base course of stone and tar has been laid on all of the remainder, with the exception of little more than half a mile. Unless unusual weather conditions develop, the base course will be completed for the entire distance and a considerable part of the surface will be applied.

Locate Fine Stone. The company located what has been described by road engineers as one of the finest stone quarries in the county, directly on the road and the deep pit that has been blasted away and crushed for the single stretch of highways, attests to the tremendous quantity of stone required for the job.

The Delta Contracting Company has made unusual progress on the Maple Ridge-Lathrop contract this summer, in spite of unfavorable weather conditions and although the work cannot be fully completed this fall, unless severe weather conditions are deferred far beyond the usual date for a freeze-up, a far greater stretch of the highway has been finished than was believed possible.

New Superioress Takes Charge of Local Hospital

The newly appointed superioress, Ven. Sister Alphonse, arrived Thursday morning from Peoria to assume charge of St. Francis Hospital of this city. Sister Alphonse has been superioress of the hospital at Pontiac, Ill., which is one of the twelve hospitals conducted by the sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis.

She was accompanied to this city by Ven. Mother Othilla, mother general of the order. Mother Othilla was appointed mother general of the order October 4th at the election held at the mother house in Peoria. Ven. Mother Lucy, Ven. Sister Alberta, and Ven. Sister Cecilia were elected members of the executive council at the same time.

Thursday afternoon Mother Ophilla and Sister Cecilia went to Marquette to look over St. Mary's Hospital and to attend to business matters. They returned to this city Friday afternoon and left Saturday for Peoria. Mother Othilla was very much impressed by the conditions at the local institution and the newly appointed superioress also voiced her approval of conditions as she found them. Sister Carmella will leave today for Pontiac, Ill., where she has been appointed superioress. Sister Carmella leaves a host of friends in this city who deeply regret her departure after faithfully serving in the capacity of nurse at the local institution for the past fifteen years.

The bridegroom is well known in Escanaba, having held responsible positions with several lumbering concerns here. Both young people have a host of friends who wish them unbounded happiness throughout life. The young couple were married while attending the Georgia-Florida football game. They will make their future home in Florida.

"Open House Week" at City's Plants Was Big Success

Scores of Escanaba men and women know considerably more about their public utility services—water, gas and light—than they did last week. The increased knowledge is due to the "Open House Week" conducted to make special tours through the plants.

"While Open House week is over today," said City Manager Fred R. Harris yesterday, "it does not follow that the invitation to citizens, especially extended during the week, has been withdrawn. We are always glad to show anyone interested through any of the municipally owned plants."

"Escanaba taxpayers who are stockholders as well as customers of the plants, should be especially interested in their operation, and I think such an interested has been evidenced during 'Open House Week.'"

Iron Mountain Man Kills Woman, Then Turns Gun on Self

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Mrs. Mary Garovich, 35, formerly of Mellen, Wis., and said to be the apex in a triangular love affair, was shot and killed in a pool room here Wednesday.

The dead woman fell into the arms of the wife of the pool room proprietor and died almost instantly.

The murderer fired three shots into the body of his victim and fled from a rear door. He later turned the gun on himself and was critically wounded when a bullet entered his body near the heart.

At the hospital here it was learned that his name was Joseph Zacca, 30, and that he was one of the principals in an alleged love triangle.

"TANLAC IS WORTHY OF ALL PRAISE"

Says Mrs. Frisbie—Then Tells Why She Believes In Tanlac.

"The good reports one hears of Tanlac are truly astonishing," says Mrs. Walter J. Frisbie, 2198 Ashland Ave., Detroit, Mich. "On every hand neighbors and friends tell us how they have been completely restored to health and strength by taking the treatment. Right now my daughter is getting splendid results from Tanlac."

"But my husband is undoubtedly one of the best friends Tanlac has in Detroit. He is always telling everybody how good the medicine is, and he really don't believe he could keep going without it. Six years of stomach trouble, with loss of appetite, indigestion and frequent colds had him badly run down and looking pale and emaciated."

"Tanlac has improved his appearance so people hardly know him. Every one of his old troubles has gone, and now he is so healthy that he is never bothered by so much as even a cold. Tanlac is worthy of all praise."

MINDS COME FIRST.

The Upper Peninsula, is so far away from the University of Michigan, that people north of the straits know little through first hand information of what is going on downstate. This is particularly true of the University of Michigan, more so than of the seat of government at Lansing. We know about Michigan's football team pretty well because this kind of information can be found on every sporting page, but the workings of the university, that is another problem.

During the last two or three years, we have heard a great deal about the expansion program of the university. We know Dr. Burton requested the legislature to appropriate $18,000,000 to rebuild the institution of which he is president. We know that is a lot of money and we know the state legislature cut this amount to less than one-fourth. With this money, we know a program of building has been going on for several years and that it is not nearly completed.

With all this in mind, we have naturally wondered what Dr. Burton plans to do toward building a faculty in keeping with the buildings and the splendid surroundings of the university, and consequently we are pleased with his recent statement that minds, not buildings, come first in his plan of expansion. His statement reassures us. It makes us confident that the head of the state's chief seat of learning is not overlooking the most important item in his endeavor to place Michigan in the lead of the nation's educational institutions. Here is the pith of his statement: "It should not be regarded as mere throat repetition if it is again stated that buildings in themselves are valued very little by the officers of this University, who have been so much engrossed in the erection of new structures. The building is merely the effective tool necessary for carrying on the great task of education. Only because it is an indispensable tool are we concerned with the whole subject. Our real interest lies in education, in maintaining a faculty composed of brilliant scholars and in inspiring teachers, and in augmenting knowledge and stimulating teaching through the pursuit of research."

Statements such as these by Dr. Burton are valuable information to people who hear all too little about their state institution. They remind us that the most important feature of the university is not being overlooked in the campaign for better buildings. The educational facilities of these new buildings are more important items than their architectural beauty, although both should and unquestionably do go hand in hand.

THE TRUTH ABOUT WAR.

The youth of the British Empire (and of the world, for that matter) should be taught, says Private Peat, that for one man who wins the coveted Victoria Cross, ten thousand men win wooden crosses in military cemeteries. Peat's plea, in his decidedly worth while lecture under Dr. A. R. auspices here Tuesday evening, was for teaching the youth of the world the truth about war.

"Let us not make war glamorous and glorious," he said. "But show it up for the horrible and sordid thing it is. Tell the truth. Tell about the muddy, vile trenches, the lunatics it makes, the wounds, the fear, the mental and moral break-down of strong men. Then maybe our boys and girls would not grow up thinking it was all exciting, and fine, and a thing of bands playing and handsome uniforms."

He made it plain that he was not saying that soldiers are not heroes, but he was saying, and saying emphatically, that the soldier who is today a cringing lunatic in an insane asylum, as a result of shell shock suffered during the Great War, is as much of a hero as the winner of the military cross, and that his case should be made known to the youth of the world as well as to the other's.

Vira sat on the cliff house cliff throwing peanut shells at two handsome young movie stars who were oiling the gold filled hinges on the golden gate. It was her birthday. She had a past but she was thinking of the present which she hoped would come in the near future. Congratulations were getting old. So was she. She wanted diamonds and limousines and fur coats and other trinkets.

It was a glorious day. Nature had smiled on her. So had a street car conductor and a street sweeper. She had smiled back at them and then wondered whether there was anything wrong with her makeup. "May I sit down beside you or are you waiting for friends?" a pleasant gentleman's voice queried.

Vira sobbed dismayed, "I am a poor little working girl, all these in the world, kind sir," she said, "and you can sit down. If you get fresh I'll scream—but I don't suppose anybody could hear me." He seated himself. She quickly noted that he was tall, bronzed, with an open, likable face, like a strawberry picker or a bootlegger. "Do you come here often?" he asked.

Deering proved a delightful companion and kept away from personalities, thus making Vira feel at ease. He had been a great traveler, told her many of his experiences in foreign lands. He knew San Francisco well, was flatteringly surprised to learn she had seen so much of the city in the one short month she had been there.

"Surely you haven't come about alone?" There was no offense in the question. "Yes, is there anything strange in that? Married women, widows, have that privilege."

a traveled man of the world, yet never in all his experience had he met so naive a person, yet one so self-possessed.

After luncheon he proposed a drive, and Vira consented without demur, rather gratefully, without the slightest awkwardness. It was almost as if she were accustomed to driving about with strange men, yet somehow Deering sensed she was not.

"May I take you to your hotel?" he asked after they had driven a couple of hours. "If you will."

Vira did not feel like telling him she had intended to dine at the Cliff House. It would look as if she were asking him to stay and dine with her. She also wanted to be alone to think over what he had said. On the way back to the city she described some of the people in the hotel, not maliciously, but with a sense of humor that delighted him.

"There's the one I call Mrs. Question-mark," Vira told Deering as the car drew up to the curb. "I'm in for it now," laughing gleefully.

WHERE TO MARKET

Menus for a Family

Breakfast—Cantaloupe, ready-to-eat cereal, thin cream, browned hash, tomato sauce, corn bread, butter, honey, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Southern vegetable stew, toasted corn bread, celery fig graham pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Breaded veal cutlets, lamb chops for young children, mashed potatoes, scalloped oyster plant, cabbage and apple salad, whole wheat bread, butter, floating island with peaches, milk, coffee.

Veal is not desirable for young children, so lamb chops are suggested.

Fresh sliced tomatoes might be served with the hash if convenient. However, canned tomatoes well seasoned with butter, salt, sugar and a dash of pepper may be stewed until thick and smooth in the menu planned.

Children of four years love a celery heart and may be allowed to enjoy one if frequently admonished to "chew it up fine."

Southern Vegetable Stew.
One large sweet potato, 1 medium sized onion, 1 large green pepper, 1 1/2 cups shredded string beans, 4 large tomatoes, 8 okra pods, 1 1/2 cups grated corn, 3 cups boiling water, 4 tablespoons bacon fat or butter, 1 tablespoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons sugar.

Melt butter or bacon fat in soup kettle. Add onion peeled and minced. Remove seeds and fiber from pepper and mince. Add onion and cook over a low fire for five minutes. Pare sweet potato and cut in small dice. Add to onion and pepper with beans and water and cook half an hour. Add tomatoes, okra pods cut in elices, salt, pepper and sugar and cook 20 minutes. Add corn and cook 15 minutes. If the stew becomes too dry add more water. Serve in soup plates.

Scalloped Oyster Plant.
Three cups of cooked oyster plant, 6 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup milk, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, bread crumbs.

Rub the oyster plant through a colander. Add half the butter, milk, salt and pepper. Mix well and put in a buttered baking dish. Melt remaining butter, add coarse crumbs and stir until crumbs are well coated. Sprinkle top of prepared oyster plant with crumbs and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven. Serve very hot.

Graham Fig Pudding.
Four tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup molasses, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1 egg, 1 1/2 cups graham flour, 4 tablespoons bread flour, 3/4 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped figs.

Soften butter. Stir in sugar and molasses. Add white flour and mix well. Add egg well beaten. Add graham flour and figs. Mix thoroughly. Dissolve soda in sour milk. Stir into mixture, add salt and turn into a buttered mold. Steam three hours and serve hot with whipped cream or hard sauce. Children under school age should be served with whipped cream.

Breakfast—Wheat cereal cooked with dates, thin cream, creamed spinach on toast, apple sauce, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Tomatoes filled with eggs, whole wheat bread and butter, carrot marmalade, milk, tea.

Dinner—Cream of mushroom soup, cold sliced roast beef, baked cauliflower, fresh pear salad, white layer chocolate, milk, coffee.

A child under six should not be allowed to eat highly seasoned or "hot" relishes, so if father must have a mustard or horseradish sauce for his cold roast beef, mother will have to say "no" to Junior and be firm about it.

Cinnamon toast will please a child and even a four-year-old may be allowed to eat this gentle spice.

Cinnamon Toast.
Six slices white or whole wheat bread cut 3-8-inch thick; 4 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon, 3 tablespoons light brown sugar.

Cream butter. Mix and sift sugar and cinnamon and stir into butter. Toast bread quickly on both sides. Spread evenly with prepared butter and serve warm.

When the carrots are new and tender they are better for marmalade than later in the season.

Fresh Pear Salad.
Pare pears and cut in halves lengthwise of the fruit. Remove cores. Allow half a pear for each serving. Fill the cavities with peanut butter, place on a bed of lettuce and mask with boiled salad dressing.

The peanut butter can be combined with cream or cottage cheese and the combination made moist with cream.

JAZZ TALK ALARMS
New York.—"Saxophone English is working havoc with the mother tongue." Otto G. Van Camp, teacher of self-expression, told the Rotary Club here. "When a person says 'Whajja say?' and 'Whatcha got?' and calls a bird a 'bold,' it's time something was done," the speaker declared.

KNITTED DRESSES.
The smartest knitted dresses are those with an overbust effect that have a narrow string belt or one of matching suede.

OSTRICHES RACE
Vienna—Racing ostriches are being trained here before going to London to make their first appearance at the British Empire Exhibition. The ostriches, with their personnel and jockeys, have been brought here from Rome. They also will race in Germany.

ALUMINUM EASILY AFFECTED
Aluminum is slightly affected by both acids and alkalies. Vegetables will discolor it where acid fruits brighten it.

Keeping a broom hung up while not in use instead of standing on the floor will do much to lengthen its life.

THOMPSON MAN UNDER A BOND

John A. Johnson of Thompson township was put under a bond of $500 to keep the peace, following a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. A. McKinney Friday morning.

The complainant, Andrew P. Anderson, who lives on a farm adjoining Johnson's, charged that his neighbor threatened to kill him, using the words: "I'm going to kill you; I should have done it long ago."

Mr. Anderson was the first to testify. He said that the trouble had arisen over a fine fence, which Mr. Johnson refused to build. Mr. Johnson refused to build, and allowed his cattle to pasture in the Anderson oat field. Johnson's calves got into his oat field several times during the summer, Anderson said. On the fourth of September he went over to the Johnson home and told him to take his calves out of the field. Johnson became angry, and made the threats, kicking his neighbor in the stomach. John Anderson, Andrew's brother, who lives with him on the farm, was also sworn, and testified that he heard Johnson make threats to kill.

Mr. Johnson announced that he would act as his own lawyer. He did not cross question either of the Anderson brothers, but denied in his testimony that he had threatened to kill Andrew, as they claimed.

He declared that both of the men were lying, and that they were both drunk at the time the trouble occurred. Andrew, he said, had been drunk most of the time for four years, and either made liquor himself, or bought it of Charles Sample. Mrs. Johnson also claimed that Andrew was drunk, but could say nothing in regard to the threats made by her husband, as she was in the house while the altercation was in progress out in the road. The son, Archie Johnson, testified that he saw the three men quarreling as he came from the fields with the team, but did not hear what was said while he was beating the horses in the barn.

Justice McKinney decided that there was sufficient proof submitted that Johnson had made threats to his neighbor, and placed him under a bond of $500 as a surety to keep the peace.

Trip To School Took 3 Hours, Farmer Claims

School authorities didn't blame John Gasperich so much for not sending his children to school, when he told them how long it took the youngsters to get there. Mr. Gasperich, who is a farmer in the Lockhart settlement, Thompson township, was brought before Justice of the Peace R. H. Teeple at Manistique, on complaint of the truant officer, who found that Gasperich's children had not been attending school recently.

There is a school house in the Lockhart district, but no teacher was engaged this year, and provision was made to transport the children in that section to the Thompson school. The job was awarded to the lowest bidder, and since the opening of school, the Lockhart pupils have been taken to school in a two-seater rig. Mr. Gasperich declared that the driver of the rig called for his children at six o'clock in the morning, and that they spent over three hours on the road, riding in the surrey behind a slow team.

Since that time, arrangements have been made to equip a car to carry the children, and in the near future this will be put in use. In the meantime, Mr. Gasperich has announced that he will drive his own children to school.

First Number of Lyceum Course Scores Big Hit

An appreciative audience greeted the first number of the Manistique lyceum course at the auditorium Thursday evening. Paul Vernon and his Cleveland Symphony Quintet presented an entertaining and instructive musical program, the company using the following instruments:

Two violins, a viola, viola d'amour, cello, piano and organ. Especially pleasing to the Manistique audience were the cello, violin, and viola d'amour solos, and several encores were rendered to. Paul Vernon, violin soloist, rendered three fine numbers, concluding with "The Old Telfair," made famous by Kreisler. The program was mostly chamber music, and the meaning of this term was explained by Mr. Vernon. Other explanatory remarks were interspersed by the director, and proved interesting to the audience.

The entertainment was preceded by a short opening talk by Supt. V. F. Hall. Mr. Hall called attention to the fact that the attendance, though good, was not as large as it might be, and announced the price of season tickets for the remaining five entertainments. The next number is the "Jackson Jubilee Singers," a company of colored people, who will be heard at the auditorium next Saturday evening, October 18.

BEAR WINS OUT IN FAST RACE WITH AN AUTO

A bear story, concerning two Manistique men, is being passed around this week with appropriate chuckles.

The principals are Dr. S. H. Rutledge, William Gillette, the Gillette auto, and the bear. Returning from a Masonic meeting at Newberry last week, Doc and Bill spied a big bear sitting in the road, not far from Blaney. As the auto approached, bruin began to travel, in the same direction as the car.

"Run him down, Bill!" shouted the Doc, and the chase started, with Doc coaching the driver, by extending himself to the limit, the bear managed to win out in the race, but the autoists report that their machine came within a very few inches of his rear toenails at times during the marathon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Raddant and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Miller will leave tonight on a week end hunting trip in the woods north of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green who have been touring through California and other western states have returned to their home here.

HITS A DEER; CAR WRECKED

An automobile was wrecked in a head-on collision with a deer at Sturgeon Hole on the Hiawatha road yesterday.

The deer was crossing the road as the car came along, and failed to get out of the way, so that the auto struck her amidships at a good speed. The force of the bump sent the car into the ditch, and it crashed down into a thicket of underbrush. The machine was badly damaged, and the brush had to be "swamped" away to extricate it when brought to a local garage for repairs yesterday.

Moral: Don't try to run down a deer.

NEW PASTOR TO PREACH SUNDAY, SWEDISH CHURCH

Rev. V. E. Holmstedt, of Linsburg, Kansas, will preach at the Swedish Lutheran church in Manistique on Sunday, according to an announcement made yesterday by officials of the church.

Rev. Holmstedt comes here well recommended, and indications are that he will accept the pastorate of the local church, which has been unfilled since the departure of Rev. A. Nelson. The board of trustees, at a meeting on Monday, decided to extend a call to Rev. Holmstedt, and word has been received that he will be here to conduct services on Sunday.

TOURNEUR DIRECTS "THE CHRISTIAN"

A photoplay that is worthy to rank among the best that the industry has to show—that is the opinion of many reviewers, famous stars and directors who saw Goldwyn's photoplay version of Sir Hall Caine's most famous novel, "The Christian," run off in a private screening at the studios. Picturegoers of Gladstone will have an opportunity of judging of the merits of this Maurice Tourneur production when "The Christian" comes to the Community theatre today. It is a foregone conclusion that they will agree with the opinions expressed by those who have already seen it.

When Goldwyn decided to make the film version of Sir Hall Caine's great novel, the production executives cast about for the best man in the business to direct it. Choice finally settled on Maurice Tourneur, who has won international fame for his productions of "The Blue Bird," "Treasure Island," "The Last of the Mohicans," "Lorna Doone" and other literary classics.

"SEA HAWK" IS RICH IN DRAMA

Among the important matters acted upon was the receiving and accepting of the resignation of Scout Executive Gordon C. Adams, who has been in charge of the Delta-Schoolcraft scout activities for the past several months.

Steps have already been taken toward the securing of a new executive and, while no definite announcement will be made at present, it is expected that Mr. Adams' successor will be present at the next meeting scheduled for October 27.

Report Given. A review and report of past activities was given at the meeting and plans laid for a much more aggressive campaign of scouting for the future.

The need of scouting was particularly brought out at the meeting and all present expressed their confidence that the movement will make much progress during the coming year.

HOME SQUAD PLAYING AT MUNISING

Coach Gordon and his men will make the first out of town trip of the season today when they go to Munising to meet the Munising high school squad on the northern field.

Today's contest will be the first of three outside games on the schedule. The others will be played at Iron Mountain on October 18 and at Manistique on November 8.

Dope on the outcome of today's scrap is swinging neither way. The Munising eleven, while light, is showing a great deal of speed and the rumor is that some surprises will be in store when Gladstone goes up against it today.

Daily practice of the stiff variety has been the order of the week in the Gordon camp. One shift from the line to backfield has been made that is working out in great shape. The coach is ready for a hard clash today and is overlooking no chances to strengthen the squad.

The team will leave this morning, driving to Munising.

On Trip.

The following men will make the trip: Kegel, S. Johnson, capt., Keith Campbell, Norton, Seger, M. Goodman, C. Goodman, Berg, Cameron, Reese, Peterson, Noreus, Peterson, Blomquist, Montgomery, LaVelle, Mineau, LaPine, DeHooghe and Weingartner.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our thanks to our friends for the beautiful flowers and kind assistance given during our recent bereavement. We gratefully appreciate their kindness.

Phil J. Poltras,
Mrs. H. Peterson,
Mr. Huyck.

MARKET NEWS

LEADING SHARES DROP SLIGHTLY (By The Associated Press.)

Table with columns: Date, Twenty Industrials, Twenty Railroads. Rows: Friday, Thursday, Week ago, High 1924, Low 1924, Total stock sales.

New York, Oct. 10.—Stock prices reacted sharply in today's market, ignoring such favorable trade news as an increase of nearly 155,000 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation, publication of record breaking carloadings statistics for the week ended September 27 and the completion of negotiations for the German loan. U. S. Steel common closed a point lower at 107 after having sold as high as 108 1/2. American Can was off 2 1/4 at 129 1/2, or nearly 4 points below its early high. Further liquidation in General Electric sent that stock down to 24 1/2, or nearly 40 points below the year's high established early in August. Nash Motors broke 7 points to 143. Nearly 100 issues sold off 1 to 2 points, some of the most popular being American Locomotive, American Sugar Refining, Colorado Fuel, North American, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron, Studebaker, Allis Chalmers, American Ice, American Tobacco, Crucible Steel, Davison Chemical, Maxwell A. National Biscuit, Pullman, Tobacco Products and General Motors, the last named at a new low. American Waterworks fluctuated within a range of 4 points closing at 108 for a net gain of 1 1/2. Foreign exchanges responded favorably to the signing of the German loan agreement. Demand sterling advanced more than a cent to above $4.49 and French francs climbed more than 5 points to around 5.20 cents. Japanese yen established a new low record for the year at 37 1/2 cents. South American exchanges lost ground on profit taking. Call money held steady at 2 1/2 per cent. The time money market was quiet with no change in rates. Commercial paper displayed a somewhat firmer tone.

Black Gold Will Be Pointed for Latonia Special. Latonia, Ky.—The Latonia International special, to be run here Oct. 11 over a mile and a quarter, is the jewel the trainers of Black Gold are pointing him for as a fitting supplement to the crown of four derbies already worn by him. The coal black son of Black Toney and Useelit is quartered at the track here where he will remain until the last of a series of three international races in which the famous French horse Epinal will run, have been staged. Entrance to the unpretentious stall of the horse is closely guarded by a dog on whose face is unmistakably hung a "Not Welcome" sign. This dog is Black Gold's close companion and wherever the horse goes the dog usually can be found near at hand. It is considered likely that Black Gold will be entered in one of the races during the Latonia fall meeting. His entry will be merely to sharpen his condition for the big race, which has been given a greatest taste by the entrance of Epinal. Black Gold has become temperamental since he has been in temporary retirement. He has a playful habit of tearing clothes off visitors, and all are cautioned before going anywhere near the part Indian pony to be on the alert for some of his pranks.

1842—The Sac and Fox Indians conveyed all their remaining lands in Iowa to the United States.
