JUST A THOUGHT

While general business in the United States, unquestionably would evolve some means of eventually functioning under a radical regime such as that represented in the candidacy of Robert M. LaFollette, it is an undeniable, uncontroverted fact, that should LaFollette either be elected or succeed in throwing the selection of a president into congress, business of the nation would be forced to mark time until definite governmental policies had been developed.

In the same year the attorney general of the state made a motion to get aside the old railroad commission order affecting Detroit and this was done. The company was returned to private ownership August 1, 1919, and a rule was promulgated that the rates charged by the government should continue in force for four months, unless sooner set aside by a state authority.

In view of this situation, the public utilities commission, representatives of the Michigan League of Municipalities, the attorney general and representatives of the company held a conference.

Temporary rates were agreed upon, with the provision that if the company could show it was losing money under the rate revision might be had.

In 1920 the company claimed it was losing money in the city of Detroit. A hearing was held by the utilities commission and an order was issued increasing rates there. Later in the same year an order was issued boosting rates in all exchanges outside of Detroit. In September, 1921, the city asked for an investigation of rates in Detroit with a view to reducing them. The investigation was made, hearings were held and a new order, effective January 1, 1922, was issued reducing rates in Detroit. In March, 1922, the company asked for a further increase in rates outside of Detroit. The public utilities commission, after many hearings and long investigation, issued an order July 12, 1922, cutting rates throughout the state an average of about 12 per cent.

The company immediately turned to the courts, and to defend its order, so did the commission. The company secured an injunction restraining the commission from enforcing the order in the eastern district federal court. The commission petitioned the Ingham county circuit court for a mandamus to compel the company to put the reduced rates into effect. After some bickering the attorney general and counsel for the company reached an agreement whereby both the federal and Ingham county cases were dismissed and the controversy was taken direct to the state supreme court on a mandamus proceeding, the company to be compelled to accept the lower rate schedules. In the meantime the order was not to become effective pending a decision from the supreme court.

Order Unenforced.

During all of this litigation the separate rate order of 1922, cutting rates in Detroit has gone unenforced, the commission deciding to leave its fate to the result of the supreme court proceedings in the rest of the state. In other words, a decision by the court that the statewide order must go into effect means also that the Detroit order goes into effect.

The company, in combating the 1922 order, argued that the valuation placed upon it by the commission is unfair and that the rates are confiscatory. The commission, on the other hand, contended that the company is making an excessive profit, that the subscribers are forced to pay a handsome sum each year in tribute to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which the Michigan State is a subsidiary and that the company's only interest has been to pile up excessive operating costs and needless surplus funds.

CONSERVATIVES CAPTURE LARGE PART OF SEATS

Continued from Page One.) of the Conservatives and Liberals to overthrow the ministry, and not a position where the Conservatives would command an absolute majority over all parties. Under these circumstances the chances strongly favor the immediate resignation of the ministry.

Liberals Submerged. Next to the tremendous success of the Conservatives, who gained approximately 159 seats and lost something under 10 to the other parties, the most striking thing is the submergence of the Liberal party. When Herbert H. Asquith, the Liberal leader, announced a bare two months ago his intention to move a censure motion on the government's Russian policy, he could not possibly have envisaged the fate which has overtaken his old and respected party that now sees itself faced with extinction, its leaders, including himself, routed, and its numbers in the new house reduced to one-tenth those of the Conservatives.

The Liberals suffered disaster in the so-called khaki election of 1918, but nothing comparable to this, and the question forces itself upon political inquirers as to what can have induced the experienced Liberal leader thus to rush upon his fate. The Liberal organs are persistent in accusing Ramsay MacDonald of forcing an unnecessary election, but the Labor reply to this contention is that the Liberals had entered into an understanding with the Conservatives to bring Labor's reign to an end.

Majority Unwieldy. The Conservatives have a majority so unwieldy as to be almost embarrassing to them. It is a common place of politics in England that no really strong government is possible without a strong opposition. When a government commands such a large majority as to be independent of any possible opposition, it tends to become heedless, ruthless and lacking in discipline and is more likely to snap divisions in sparsely attended sittings. Thus sometimes a strong government meets defeat through over-confidence.

The view at Conservative headquarters tonight is that should the ministry resign and the king send for Mr. Baldwin a new government could be completed before parliament meets. At Labor headquarters naturally much disappointment is felt. One leading official said: "It was the Liberal intention to put the Conservatives into power, and they have succeeded at the cost of what is virtually their own extinction."

NO CHANGE SEEN.

Washington, Oct. 30.—No radical change in the foreign policy of Great Britain towards this country is foreseen here as a result of the rise of power of the Conservative party. The state department refuses to comment but in diplomatic quarters it is pointed out that the official policy of Great Britain toward the United States since the war has been one of co-operation in all matters of common interest and of consideration of all controversial points on their individual merits uninfluenced by any set rule of national policy.

The treatment of the Geneva protocol at the hands of a Conservative commons is considered no more problematical than under a Labor government. Russo-British relations are naturally expected to be more strained in the future, but it is doubted whether the new government will go to the length of sovieting what relations have already been established.

IS WARNING.

Paris, Oct. 30.—Great circumspection is being observed in official circles over the British election, although there is comment among those close to Premier Herriot to the effect that the Conservative victory in Great Britain raises a permanent dike against the bolshevik flood.

Political circles are inclined to consider the fate of the Liberals as a warning to the radicals of M. Herriot's party, which now is so tied to the socialists that it is unable to carry out its program independently of socialist reforms.

Diplomats Aren't Working for 'Ca'

Washington, Oct. 30.—James B. Reynolds, director of the Washington office of the Republican national committee, in a statement tonight assailed as "not only lacking in fact" but an "inspired injustice" the assertion of Democratic National Chairman Shaver that 27 American ambassadors and ministers "are in the United States being used to do political work for President Coolidge." Mr. Reynolds cited a list of 21 American ambassadors, ministers and other diplomatic chiefs, who, he said, were "absent from their posts in campaign year under the Democratic administration four years ago."

LEADER STORE OPENS ANNEX

New Quarters to Be Open to Public Saturday Morning.

The new addition, recently completed, to the Leader store will be opened to the public Saturday morning. In 1923 Phillip Stein, proprietor, sensed a bright future for a gent's furnishing store on upper Ludington street, remodeling the building, placing new fixtures and entire new stock of goods. Within one year the business has grown to the extent that enlarging the store was found necessary. An entire new building has been erected which connects with the present store, giving twice the floor space formerly occupied.

Dry goods and ladies' ready-to-wear have been added, along with hosiery and ladies' shoes. This new addition to the gent's furnishing stock carried, will be placed in the new addition to the building, where large show windows will give excellent opportunity for display. The old store on Stephenson avenue has been closed. Mr. Stein, being unable to give both stores proper attention, will devote his entire time to service at the new store.

NO EVIDENCE IS UNEARTHED YET ON SLUSH FUND

Chicago, Oct. 30.—After exploring new and old trails of political financing for another six hours today, the Chicago section of the senate campaign fund committee still was without direct evidence to sustain charges of a Republican "slush" fund or of the expenditure of "enormous sums" on behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler independent ticket. Chairman Borah gave notice that the hearings here would close at 4 p. m. tomorrow. He will leave for Washington immediately afterward to confer with the other members of the committee regarding the issuance of a statement on the investigation up to this week-end. That statement probably will have reference to the circumstances told by two Chicago witnesses and referred to before the committee last week by Samuel Untermyer of New York, who said the stories, if sustained, might have a "profound effect" on the Republican campaign.

Hadn't Seen Documents. Another effort to get information bearing upon these stories was made late today by Untermyer who asked Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee, if he ever had seen before some documents, which the New York lawyer handed him and which were withheld from the record and from publication. Butler said he had never heard of them before.

Discussion as to whether it was proper to show the documents to the witness without having them spread on the record led Chairman Borah to make this observation: "The committee at this point does not take any stock in the matter." Untermyer said Senator Borah knew that he had expressed his own doubts about the whole matter and added that he had been very careful to see that the matter did not become public because corroboration was lacking. Besides Chairman Butler, half a dozen witnesses followed each other to the witness stand today. There were developed some interesting sidelights on the uses of campaign funds and the work being done on behalf of LaFollette by the railroad unions and other labor organizations. There also were frequent tilts between counsel for the independent and Republican committees and Chairman Borah conducted much of the examination himself after warning that the committee might find it necessary to get along without the presence of counsel.

Had Not Appeared. Under cross questioning by Untermyer, Butler Franklin stated that he is a textile manufacturer with interest in a number of mills; that he is interested in the protective tariff and then expounded his views on the tariff theory at considerable length. The national chairman denied, however, that he had ever appeared before legislative bodies in support of tariff measures.

L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors and John M. Nelson, field marshal for LaFollette, were questioned regarding expenditures on behalf of the independent presidential ticket, while Frank L. Smith, Republican state chairman for Illinois, and the publishers of two newspapers, were witnesses on the subject of Republican finances.

Sheppard testified that there are seventeen railroad labor organizations working for LaFollette and denied emphatically that his organization had sought to coerce its members to support the latter.

Ford Witness In Extortion Case; Received Letters

Detroit, Oct. 30.—Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, was a witness today at the trial of Mrs. Anna Hladik, charged with attempted extortion. He testified to receiving letters last summer which demanded $1,050,000 from him on the threat of injury to his children. Vaelav Simek, now serving a one to two year prison term in connection with the case, was brought from Jackson penitentiary to testify at the trial. Simek, in his trial, asserted that he was kidnapped and forced to write the extortion letters. He implicated Mrs. Hladik. Simek's testimony today was virtually a repetition of his previous statements.

Labor Turning To Davis; Statement Made by Democrats

New York, Oct. 30.—Outstanding developments in the candidacy of John W. Davis revealed today about the endorsement given him by the executive council of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York and the delivery by him of three speeches in Long Island districts. Announcement of the labor action was made public by the eastern Democratic headquarters and was hailed by officials there as a revolt in American Federation of Labor ranks which assured Mr. Davis "the support of approximately 700,000 union workers in the greater city."

It was pointed out also in a statement signed by eleven members of the executive council that they had voted to withdraw the endorsement previously given Senator LaFollette "because we have been requested by our membership to place ourselves squarely on record for the election of John W. Davis for president and Alfred E. Smith for governor of New York." The statement contained a recommendation "to the entire membership and to all interested in the cause of labor, to vote and work for the election of Davis."

LOONEY GAS IS BARRED DUE TO DEATH OF FIVE

New York, Oct. 30.—Gasoline containing tetraethyl, the mysterious "looney gas" compound, may no longer be sold in New York City. The board of health today adopted a resolution prohibiting its sale after the death of the fifth of the 33 laborers affected by the fumes while experimenting with the mixture in the wayway. N. J. laboratories of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The health board also made it a misdemeanor for anyone to use the gasoline in motors in the city. In addition, the officials authorized Health Commissioner Monaghan to make a thorough investigation of the elements in the mysterious death-dealing gas and seek a mode of effective treatments for its victims. Herbert Fuson, 29, of Elizabeth, N. J., was the fifth man to succumb to the gas poisoning, which had made its victims insane. He died at Reconstruction Hospital early today, continued in a straight jacket, a few hours after the corps of Standard Oil physicians and scientists seeking a successful treatment of the baffling malady had announced their quest successful. 11 More Come In. A few hours after Fuson's death eleven more gas-crazed men were taken to Reconstruction Hospital. This brought the total of those affected to 35 out of the 45 who were employed in the laboratories, experimenting with a mixture of tetraethyl and gasoline in an effort to add power to the fuel and eliminate knocks in motor car engines. Dr. Maxima Troutart, in charge of the victims, was credited with the discovery of the mode of treatment to counteract the effects of the "looney gas." It is understood that the discovery resulted from three days' experiments on the theory that the poison symptoms were brought on by the gradual absorption of lead into the men's systems. The intravenous introduction of hypo-sulphite of soda, which was said to dissolve the lead out of the body tissues, was understood to form the base of the treatment. Dr. Troutart insisted that his discovery was a treatment, not a cure, but he believed there would be no further deaths from the poison. His associate physicians held that if the treatments works out as expected it will stand as another triumph of medical skill over occupational diseases. Some of the nutting parties in the woods are nutty parties.

Surprise Party.
A surprise party was held on Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Starrine, of 919 First avenue north, Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Swedish Lutheran Bethany church. This was the method the congregation took to express its thanks and gratitude for Mr. Starrine's service of more than 40 consecutive years as superintendent of the Sunday school. Owing to ill health he was forced to resign his position.

Somewhat over 40 years ago Mr. Starrine began his work by assembling a small number of children at his home and as the number grew quickly, the work was transferred to the church.

The congregation had assembled in the church at 7:30 when Mr. Starrine and family were ushered in. The program included a number of songs by the Sunday school, an address by Dr. H. A. Johnson, in behalf of the young folks of the church who have attended Sunday school under Mr. Starrine's leadership, an address by the Rev. C. A. Lund, pastor, in behalf of the congregation.

GIRL SCOUTS

SERIES OF TALKS ABOUT SCOUTING IN GENERAL AND THE DELTA COUNTY SCOUTS IN PARTICULAR.

Mrs. Jane Deeter Ripplin, National Director in her talks to the men and women of Delta County October 22, gave a brief history of the Girl Scout organization.

Robert Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scout organization in England, with the help of Baden Powell organized a girl organization in England. Mrs. Downes at the Girl Guides. Mrs. Lettie Low, an American, visited the Baden Powells in England and realized the tremendous need for the movement for America and founded the first troop of Girl Guides of America in Savannah, Georgia in March 1912.

At the last leaders' camp held in Chicago in April, fifteen leaders and council members attended from Delta County.

Girl Scouting affords an opportunity for women interested in a girls program to do leadership work with a group of girls, combining home-making, community service, citizenship and good activities in a "play group" manner. Leaders are being given their time to training for their experience the satisfaction of giving of themselves, and because they do go camp, do-go-hiking and do earn special and delightful songs and games, they enjoy it.

Today Girl Scouting is 12 years old. At the present time there are in the United States, 752 council members, 8,183 officers, 94,805 Girl Scouts and 2,939 brownies.

Next week: Principles of the Girl Scouts.

YOUNG MAN HAS NOSE TORN OFF IN ACCIDENT

Clarence Larson, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. August Larson, of Rock, was rushed to St. Francis Hospital in this city Tuesday noon suffering with painful injuries sustained when a belt flew off a sawing machine on which he was working and hit him in the face. A steel clamp fastened on the belt hit his nose, tearing it almost entirely from his face. He suffered intense pain and lost much blood. Yesterday at a late hour he was resting as easily as can be expected, but no visitors will be allowed, as he must have extreme quiet according to advice of physicians and attendants.

The surgical operation performed was unusual as the torn parts had to be held together with an aluminum plate.

Soo Confident of Victory Saturday

CRANEMEN SHOW WORLDS OF PEP

Perfect New Plays to Use Here Against Thompsontes This Week.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 30.—Sault Ste. Marie high school is making preparations for the hardest game of the season when Coach Crane takes his team to Escanaba next Saturday. The Escanaba team still is undefeated. So far the Soo, although both teams have played one scoreless tie.

The tie score with Menominee last week was a blow to the Cranemen's hopes of being able to lay claim to the upstate championship but a decisive win over Escanaba would put them out there in the hope, and it is a decisive win that Soo expects to come back to the Locks with next Sunday.

Off Color Last Week. The team was off color last Saturday. Neither the classy defense, which has featured Soo's previous games, nor the offensive punch which has been so evident, were up to form. The forward passing attack of the team was especially loose. Passes, it is believed here, will be the most effective offensive against the Escanaba eleven.

Coach Crane has been conducting dark blackboard sessions, pointing out the defects that were in evidence in the Menominee game. With this has gone words of praise for the manner in which his team performed a part of the time during that scoreless battle. Lengthy signal drills on some new plays to be used Saturday, are being conducted.

Get Extra Half-Hour. The team is excused every day this week at 3:30 o'clock, a half hour earlier than usual, in order to lengthen the out-door practice period. This will assist, greatly, in getting the youngsters in tip-top condition.

Negaunee High to Battle Menominee; Other Good Games

Escanaba fans, while they are watching the homecoming encounter here Saturday with Sault Ste. Marie, will be turning their minds occasionally towards several other tilts which will be in progress elsewhere in the peninsula. Chief of these will be the contest at Menominee between Guy Houston's state-liners and the Negaunee high school aggregation. Negaunee will be the Escanaba team's opponent here on Oct. 3.

Ironwood and St. Joseph's, two other undefeated eleven, will be playing out of the state. Ironwood will meet Ashland, Wis., high and the local pro-chivals will go to Green Bay to play the St. Norbert prep.

St. Ambrose parochial high of Ironwood will follow its last week's surprise tie with Bessemer, by taking on Iron River in the latter city. Stambaugh will play at Crystal Falls, Marquette at Gladstone, Manistique at Newberry, Wakefield at Bessemer and Stephenson at Marinette.

National League Pitcher Married

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 30.—Pitcher Eppa Rixey of the Cincinnati Nationals, was united in marriage to Miss Dorothy Meyers last night.

The Reverend Maxwell Long, pastor of the St. Thomas Episcopal church in Terrace Park, officiated. A film showing the activities of the Mexican bean beetle has been made by the United States bureau of entomology.

The whole squad is displaying more pep, spirit and drive than it has at anytime this season and although there is plenty of confidence in the ability of the Cranemen to turn the trick, there is no element of over-confidence about it.

SAINTS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION

Are All Set for Battle With St. Norberts Saturday.

Saint Joseph's parochial high school is ready for its game, tomorrow, at Green Bay, with the Saint Norbert's high school eleven. The preps will play the preliminary to the annual St. Norbert's-St. John's game, and Green Bay fans are expecting two classy battles.

Don Boyce, reserve in the back field, whose work was of a high order before injuries put him on the shelf, is again in prime condition. All the members of the squad except Noiden, center, will be fit. The team had a hard scrimmage drill Wednesday night. Last night the work program was light and by the time of the scrimmage the new points brought out by Coach Carr during the week, will be clicked off tonight.

St. Norbert's has a prep team of no mean ability this year. Stars of last year from high schools in three states are in the lineup, and the lads have had the advantage of the close association with the college squad throughout the year.

Looking Much Better. Carr's "Big Four"—Wurley, O'Brien, Blomstrom and Brunelle—will start the game behind the line. All are in fine condition.

"The team was away under par last week," said Coach Carr last night. "It will be away over par Saturday, if the practice sessions this week indicate what we may expect."

It will be the last game the Saints will play before meeting Escanaba high in a return battle on Nov. 15, unless Carr succeeds in filling his open date on Nov. 8.

Slot machine electric fans are used for the convenience of guests in some of the larger commercial hotels of the south.

Schweibach Making Good in Football

Al Schweibach, former St. Joseph's high school footballer, is making good with the St. Norbert's college team this year according to word received yesterday by the Saints' coach, George W. Carr, from the Wisconsin team's tutors. Schweibach has been playing at guard. His work, defensive and offensive, has been of a high order in every contest in which he has participated, and he looked especially strong in St. Norbert's game last Saturday against the Wisconsin College of Mines.

Michigan Aggies Are All Set For Lake Forest Game

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 30.—Michigan Aggie football regulars went through what is expected to be the last hard drill of the week today when they opposed the freshmen squad in another one of the scrimmages that have been testing the strength of both elevens this week.

Again today the varsity smothered practically every freshman attempt to advance the ball by Lake Forest methods, and it seemed quite probable that they had solved the plays presented by the intricate shifts and formations evidently characteristic of the Illinois collegians' attack.

The varsity was still considerably below full strength with Eckert, Richards, Schultz, Lyman and Kipke either out of uniform entirely or going through only the lighter forms of the day's practice. All five of these men are apt to be on the sidelines Saturday afternoon.

Pittsburg—"Oliver," who has been called the "noisiest roster in Pittsburg," owes his life to Oliver O. Page, wealthy business man. When the police imposed the death penalty on Oliver after occupants of an apartment house had complained that his crowing made sleep impossible, Page agreed to buy the fowl to save it from execution.

FIGHTING TEAM FORCES BREAKS

Scrapping Spirit Wins Many Games and Upsets Plenty of Dope.

BY BILLY EVANS.

In baseball the team that makes the most runs wins. In football the team that advances the ball the greater distance, makes the most first downs, does not always win. Already this fall some unusual situations have been produced on the gridiron. Certain teams, after having completely outplayed their opponents for three periods, lose because of a costly fumble in the final quarter.

In baseball, the breaks very often prove the deciding factor and make possible victory for a team that seemingly has been beaten from the start.

In college circles such happenings are not regarded as breaks, rather making the most of the opportunities offered.

Breaks is a term peculiar to professional baseball, yet it applies to the freak things that can happen on the gridiron as well as the ball field.

Here's Fine Instance. Can you imagine a team making 12 times as many first downs as its rivals, holding the advantage in every other department of play, yet being beaten? No! Well, it happened in a recent game between Penn State and Georgia Tech.

In that game, now a part of football history, Georgia Tech won, 15 to 13, despite the fact that Tech made only one first down while Penn State earned an even dozen.

The breaks of the game favored Georgia Tech. The southerners followed the ball and when a costly fumble or some other slip crept into the game, they made the most of it.

In this game the downs were 12 to 1 in favor of Penn State. The yards gained by rushing were 4 to 1 in favor of the same team. In forward passing the losers completed seven for big gains while the winners did not put over a single pass.

Fighters Make Breaks. Georgia Tech followed the ball and had a good kicker. Those two features more than balanced the edge that Penn State enjoyed in other departments of play. The team that keeps fighting always has a chance. The fighter by his determination usually makes the breaks deserves them.

In the recent world series between Washington and New York, gameness alone decided the issue. Washington believed it could not be beaten and wasn't. Possibly that same spirit won for Georgia Tech.

Follow the ball, watch for the breaks and then be in a position to take advantage of them; has made it possible for many a game club in football and baseball to overcome obstacles that apparently had them in the also-ran class.

INDOOR CIRCUS TO PLAY HERE
Special Representative of Coleman Shows Here Yesterday.

L. C. Beckwith, special representative of the Coleman Indoor Circus which will play here the week of November 17-22 at the Coliseum Roller Rink under the auspices of the local Knights of Pythias lodge, was in the city yesterday, getting acquainted and making advance arrangements for the coming of the show.

In the past, Escanaba has been the host for a large variety of circuses, carnivals and traveling shows of almost every kind and description but these have usually come during the summer months. With the arrival of the Coleman Indoor Circus here the middle of next month many local people will be given their first opportunity to witness a circus during the winter months and it is expected that large numbers of Escanaba, Gladstone and other Delta county people will take advantage of the opportunity. In the present at least one evening during the week that the circus plays here.

The show has a wide variety of acts and actors and carries at least a dozen big circus acts, all of which will prove well worth seeing.

Lower Classmen Try To Outsell Graduate Class

A sudden spurt in the carnival ticket sales by the Sophomore and Freshman classes of the Escanaba High school is expected today as the result of the showing made by the Class of '23 since it entered the ticket sales field. Yesterday the lower classmen slowly surged ahead of the graduates but the lead they hold is a very precarious one and it is expected that an energetic campaign will be conducted today, in an attempt to leave all opposition for behind. The Sophomores yesterday were in the lead with the Juniors close behind.

LITTLE BROWN JUG AT STAKE

(By The Associated Press.)
Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 30.—Accompanied by 25 football players, four coaches, three teachers and several managers, a "little brown jug" that is neither little nor brown and really not much of a jug, left Ann Arbor late today for Minneapolis to have a painting job done.

It won't be much of a job; just the lettering of the names of two Big Ten schools and two numbers on its already much lettered sides. But before it can be done the best brain and brawn of two great universities must meet in the Minnesota stadium Saturday and there, before a shouting, colorful crowd, write the inscription that will go on the half maroon, half blue surface of the jug.

A rich tradition forms the mantle in which the contested crockery is wrapped. Carried originally to Minneapolis by the 1905 Michigan football team as a modest water container, it had disappeared when that memorable game—a 6-6 tie—was over. Later it was found chained to the floor of the Minnesota gymnasium and Michigan was told she could get it back only by beating the Gophers on the gridiron. This Michigan did in 1909, after a long lapse in football relations, holding the jug until 1919 (the teams did not meet in the interim) when Minnesota took it again. Michigan got it back in 1920.

A husky hand will defend the jug Saturday. Virtually the same line that walloped Wisconsin last week will take the field, with the probable exception of Captain Herb Steger, quarterback, who was injured, like Achilles, in the heel in last Saturday's game. Should Steger be kept out of the game, Rockwell is expected to be switched to quarterback with the choice of his successor at half resting between Parker, Dolmo, Gregory and Heath. Ben Friedman, who forward passed himself in football fame last week, will be at the other half back post with Marlon at full. The line will be essentially the same as that which faced Minnesota last year.

Dry Agents Fired Following Tip-off
(By The Associated Press.)
Detroit, Oct. 30.—As the result of the "tipping off" of a raid on Riverview Inn, Escanaba, September 3, Jack Beamish and Lawrence J. Davis have been discharged as federal prohibition agents, on orders of Roy A. McCays, federal prohibition administrator, according to A. A. Murrick, in charge of the local federal prohibition "navy," under whom the two agents worked.

When federal agents raided the Inn, operated by Nick Nephilo, they say they found broken bottles, labels and a dripping beer tube in the place and three men in the back yard rolling away 27 half barrels of beer. These three men were arrested and are now held for examination in the federal court.

Simple Ceremony Features Burial
(By The Associated Press.)
Boston, Oct. 20.—The funeral today of Percy D. Haughton, founder of football system at Harvard college and coach of that game at Harvard, Cornell and Columbia, was marked by the simplest of services. The congregation that filled St. Paul's Cathedral was representative of the many interests of the man whom they mourned.

The altar from which Bishop William Lawrence read the simple sentences, psalms and prayers of the Episcopal burial service, was banked with flowers. Burial took place in the family lot in Mount Auburn Cemetery.

NEW ENGLAND'S ELECTORS ALL FOR COOLIDGE

Democrats Will Lose One Seat in United States Senate.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1924, by the Escanaba Press.)
Boston, Mass., Oct. 30.—New England as a whole will give Calvin Coolidge a remarkable majority. The entire electoral vote will be republican and the popular totals may even exceed those which were given Harding in 1920.

Pride in the first New England resident to occupy the presidency in generations, confidence in the man who as governor of Massachusetts won his spurs as a conservative of conservatives, and the disintegration of the democratic ranks plus the invasions of LaFollette summarize the causes of the prospective Coolidge victory.

Little interest is being taken in the national campaign—so one sided is the contest. Hardly any newspapers are fighting Coolidge. Most of them are supporting him.

The nearest approach to a fight is in the senatorial and congressional campaigns. In Massachusetts, for instance, Senator David I. Walsh, democrat, who is seeking re-election, is being submerged by the Coolidge tide. Speaker Gillette, who has the whole-hearted backing of President Coolidge, will in all probability be carried along on the Coolidge strength so that the democrats will lose a seat they have had in the United States Senate. Virtually no effort is being made for Gillette in the state, a circumstance which in the last few days has begun to alarm not a few republicans who think in their over-confidence they may be treated to a surprise.

Walsh is weaker. Were it not for the presidential campaign, Gillette would have a hard time defeating Walsh but the truth is the latter is weaker than he was six years ago. At that time he was one of the few men carried to victory by President Wilson's appeal for a democratic congress. Walsh promised to uphold Woodrow Wilson's hands at the peace conference. But when the treaty of Versailles finally was presented Walsh became one of the bitterest foes of the League of Nations in deference to his large Irish American constituency. Now however, he has lost the support of many of the other democrats and large numbers of independents. To be elected as a democrat to the United States Senate in a republican state like Massachusetts, one must have not only the undivided democratic vote but most of the independents. Walsh will lose many of his supporters this time including a good many who were alienated by his vote in favor of the soldier bonus.

Child Labor a Factor. Some of these conservatives who might have been driven from Walsh on the bonus issue might, it would seem, be won back by his unwillingness to come out in favor of the child labor amendment. Cardinal O'Connell's utterance against it and the reversal of Mayor James M. Curley, democratic nominee for governor, who originally favored it make things awkward for a senatorial nominee who endeavors to stand on the state platform which favored the adoption of the amendment.

In Rhode Island and Connecticut as well as Massachusetts there is much discussion of the child labor amendment and though many manufacturing interests are opposed to it while the republican national platform and President Coolidge favor it, the writer heard of few votes that would be lost to the republicans on this account. Usually the opponents of the child labor amendment are republicans and their reasons for wanting to support Calvin Coolidge outweigh their objections. In other sections of the country, this correspondent heard little reference to the child labor amendment but it is a live issue in New England, at least there is beginning to be a crystallization of sentiment among the manufacturers which will be heard from as the battle for and against ratification begins.

To Be Protest Vote. New England's industries, particularly textiles, have not been getting along any too well and it would have been natural to expect a large protest vote. Unemployment is by no means negligible and while President Coolidge may not suffer from the protest vote because he has such an overwhelming lead there are some congressional districts in New England where the democrats have better than an even chance to increase the number of seats they have in the house of representatives. The LaFollette vote, which will probably be cast for more democrats in New England than republican candidates for congress so that at best a number of districts are in the doubtful column. For instance, in speaker Gillette's own district, there is a chance of a democrat winning out although all the republican nominees are counting heavily on the Coolidge landslide to pull them through. The whole fight in New England, the platform, the issues, the record is all wrapped up in the personality of one man—Calvin Coolidge—whose first year in office has enhanced his prestige with his own people.

New York, Oct. 30.—Stock prices developed moderate strength on a slightly increased turnover in today's market. Net gains in the popular rails and industrials ranged from small fractions to 3/4 points. Sears Roebuck was the individual feature, soaring more than 6 points to 121 1/2. Its highest price in four years.

Buying for both accounts was influenced by the overwhelming victory of the conservative party in the British elections, which also accounted for the unusually heavy demand for sterling exchange which was carried above $4.52 to the highest price since August.

Reports of improved trade conditions and large current earnings were responsible for the continued action of mall order and merchandising issues. Steel shares developed a slightly better tone. Rails were mixed but mostly higher.

Fresh weakness cropped out in the sugar shares, American Sugar Refining common and preferred establishing new 1924 lows at 36 and 77, respectively. Heaviness also was apparent in General Motors, Manhattan Shirt and Yellow Cab Manufacturing.

Except for the buoyancy of sterling and the sale of Canadian dollars at a slight premium, there was little interest in the foreign exchange market. French francs continued to rule just below 5 1/2 cents and the European rates showed only nominal changes.

Call money fell back to 2 per cent, reports being current that proceeds of the recent German loan were being temporarily employed in the call money market. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Hogs, receipts 44,000; moderately active, 15 to 25c lower; closed at high price; underweights mostly steady; top, 10.10; bulk good and choice 250 to 350 pound butchers, 9.50 to 9.90; 180 to 225 pound average, largely 8.25 to 9.40; bulk 110 to 170 pound weight, 6.50 to 8.10; packing hogs, mostly 8.35 to 8.60; moderately desirable killing pigs, 5.75 to 6.25; estimated behavior, 21,000. Sheep, receipts 15,000; fat lambs, generally steady to strong; spots, 15c higher; bulk native, 12.50 to 13.25; few, 13.75; culls, mostly 11.00 to 11.50; combeds, 13.25 to 13.50; 90 pound yearlings, 11.55; clipped lambs, 11.50; fat sheep, steady; ewes, 1.75 to 1.90; feeding lambs, strong; 61 pound Arizona, 14.60; short mouthed breeding ewes, 7.90.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—With expert demand light, even for deferred shipments, the wheat market today displayed a downward tendency from the beginning. An unexpected fall in the purchasing of corn was also a source of weakness for all grain values. Wheat closed unsettled, 1 3/4 to 2 1/2c net lower. December 1.41 5/8 to 1.41 3/4 and May 1.47 1/8 to 1.47 5/8. Corn finished 3-8 to 1/2c down, oats 1/2 to 3-8 to 5c down, and provisions varying from 7c decline to 10c gain.

Fairly general selling, together with evidence that buying power was lacking, developed quickly in the wheat market, the fact being apparent that the Liverpool trade was unresponsive to yesterday's advance in grain prices here, and that aggressive support here for corn had largely disappeared overnight.

A little recovery from the day's lowest prices in the wheat market came from profit taking on the part of previous sellers.

Although disappointing returns from banking were again numerous, the corn market showed little buying activity except when prices underwent a setback. On the other hand, offerings became scarce during declines. Oats chiefly reflected the action of wheat.

Most of the time, provisions were easier, in line with hog values.

A rolling stone gathers no work.

GET-TO-BEDTIME STORIES
(Wilbert Wampuscat Discusses the Relativity of the British Election to the Close Season on Whifflebats).

Wilbert Wampuscat plucked an icicle from a hot tangle bush, folded it with great care, wrapped it in a remnant of a broken window pane and placed it in his pocket. Then turning slowly upon his right front heel, he faced Buster Beaver and said acrimoniously:
"I assume you have read 'The Tattooed Countess'.

"Which proves," replied Buster, "that your assumptions are tainted with the same disability which prompts you to believe that since brains are necessary in football, Nicholas Murray Butler would be a magnificent halfback. I have not read 'The Tattooed Countess.' By the way, where was she tattooed?"

"I am not," denied Buster, drawing his ear muffs more tightly over his epiglottis. "I am merely attempting to demonstrate that you rooters for Ben Herbt, Sinclair, Lewis and Carl Van Vetchen never know upon which detour you'll find yourself next."

"In one breath you declare that realism is the big explosion. You chuckle and nod your head vigorously when you read the description of an Iowa farmer or a Minnesota carpenter eating flapjacks with a bone-handled knife and letting the maple syrup dribble all over his vest. You rave about six or seven pages of dialogue between a rural family medical practitioner and one of his female patients. If doctor consulted by your wife used the line of twitter the emcee in the book uses you'd bounce a brick off his head."

"In the next breath you inform me that because I want to know whether the countess wore a purple three-masted schooner on her chest like Jack Sharkey, or merely an arrow-pierced heart engraved on the sole of her left foot—about the only place where a modernist author could put it without disfiguring the dame, you say I am too materialistic."

"I still prefer the heroines who languish in battements and die of broken hearts unless dashing young knights on plunging chargers rescue them. I like heroes who swashbuckle and wear buckram and shoon."

"What's shoon?" asked Wilbert.
"A touch of realism," replied Buster.

SHALL IT BE SOVIETISM?

The great issue to be decided at the election on Tuesday next, is the question whether the Red Soviet system of Russia, with all its savagery and atrocities, shall be re-enacted in the United States of America. It is neither idle talk nor extravagant expression to call this question forcibly to the attention of the American people. In his last desperate effort to lift himself in power, the Socialist candidate for President, posing as a Progressive, has collected as his followers every element of Radical of the most vicious and dangerous type.

Making a sojourn to Russia during the past year, and it is alleged at the expense of certain organizations now upholding him in this country, he returned to the United States to tell the prosperous people of this country, the wonderful institutions set up by the Soviet government. He failed, however, to tell how the Soviets had sold the greater portion of the food stuffs which the American people sent over to relieve the starving inhabitants of that unfortunate country, and how twenty-five million dollars of the amount received from the sale, was returned to America for the purpose of promoting the Red propaganda.

He also failed to tell the American people of the brutal atrocities and savagery by those who are now ruling Russia, when more than two million of its inhabitants were put to death as an argument to convince them of the beauties of Soviet rule. He forgot also to tell the American people of the womanhood of Russia was subjected to only the same rights as the wild animals of Michigan, and that they became the property of those who first sought to select them as their own.

He forgot to tell many things connected with the most brutal reign of any government since the dawn of civilization, and now he surrounds himself with an element, which if elevated to power, he would be helpless to control the objects of his own political creation. There must be an utter lack of manhood and womanhood on the part of those who would espouse a cause of that abominable doctrine to impose upon their own country, themselves and their neighbors for any cause whatever.

Every element of discontent is awakened, and every grievance is magnified in order to fan the flames of discontent created by their own propaganda, in the interest of their candidate. Whatever may have been the attitude of a certain class of the American voters heretofore with reference to this candidate and his policy, his affiliations during the past year have been such as to drive every self-respecting voter from his support. If the people who are supporting his cause have not yet fully realized the baneful influences of the doctrine they are supporting, it is indeed time they should wake up. If any voter finds his neighbor advocating and supporting the doctrine of Socialism, this Russian savagery, let him ask himself why he is trying to impose upon free people of this country, and their children, an aggregation of people who are openly advocating this policy of destruction.

No condition exists, nor ever can exist, which would justify any American voter to espouse the Soviet cause. The first beauty contest began when the second woman began to inhabit the earth.

The story of the pass of Thermopylae doesn't thrill freshmen. It didn't result in a touchdown. Prayers are answered more frequently if people get on their toes immediately after getting on their knees.

It often turns a woman's head. Passing another in a new dress has the same effect. Often clear profits are made thru shady transactions.

MISS—OR MRS.

BY JANE PRELPS.

JOHN BROOKS ASKS ALVIRA TO MARRY HIM.
Chapter XXXVIII.
Alvira, when she had time to think, was contented and happy. She had not realized before how intense was her longing for the village, nor all that it had meant to her until she was back again. Never for a moment had she forgotten Deering, never ceased to love him, to treasure the thought of every moment she had spent with him. The remembrance of that farewell kiss still brought a flush of happiness to her, a longing to see him. But this was her secret, a precious one. Never, by her manner, did Alvira allow anyone to guess that romance had touched her—touched her and then faded away. When people made much of her, sought her, listened eagerly while she talked, Alvira would, sometimes say to herself: "It is the Mrs. Vira Anderson who made Alvira different."

plead his cause against Alvira's calm rejection, said no more. But he determined not to give her up. He would make himself necessary to her if he could, be her good friend. Then some day he would try again.

Had Brooks known it, he was taking the only course to win Alvira. Had he been insistent, she would have refused absolutely to accept his further attentions. She would have been no more than coldly friendly with him. But by his manner Brooks threw her off her guard. Alvira made no change in her manner toward him, motored with him, accepted his escort when offered as naturally as before he had asked her to be his wife.

With Alvira's broadened outlook on life the men in her village no longer seemed the stupid creatures she had thought them before she went away. Considering their environment, the fact that they had spent their lives in the narrow atmosphere of Mentone, they were really fine. They were kind hearted, thoughtful, trustworthy.

Her shyness gone, Alvira's pride of race had asserted itself. Mentone was her village, had been the home of her ancestors for many years, was her home. The people were her kind of people, lacking only in certain phases of culture because of their lack of contact with the outside world. They were really good. And although they had disappeared when Alvira left them, even now disapproved of some things she did—her indiscriminate reading, and so forth, they never let her feel anything but their kindness, their joy in her return.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
Coming to the Delft theatre today is the new Metro picture, "The Man Life Passed By," which Victor Schertzinger directed from the story he wrote in collaboration with Winifred Dunn, who did the scenario. Percy Marmont has the title role of a man whose bitterness against the world nearly proves his own undoing, until love takes a hand in the person of the daughter of his worst enemy. Hobart Bosworth is "Iron Man" Moore, who ruined the unrecognized inventor, and it is a novel coincidence that Jane and Eva Novak have sister roles in the photoplay as his daughters. Cullen Landis is the father's secretary. In love with the younger daughter. This combination of characters is set in a series of incidents that develop into a great emotional struggle. Many thrills and dramatic situations make "The Man Life Passed By" one of the notably entertaining motion pictures of the year. J. J. Hughes was art director, and Chester A. Lyons photographed the production. "The Ebony Serenaders" a musical revue will be an added attraction.

AT THE STRAND.
Richard Dix, Lois Wilson and Marjorie Daw are featured players in the cast of the Zane Grey Paramount production of "The Call of the Canyon," which comes to the Strand theatre today. "The Call of the Canyon" is a thrilling picture of the West. Among the many big scenes are the fight between Glenn Kibbourne, played by Mr. Dix, and Haze Ruff when the latter insults Lois Wilson who is cast as Carley Buch; Carley lost in a sand storm in the Arizona desert and the marathon dancing contest in the fashionable New York home of the Morrisons. There is a happy blending of thrills, pathos and humor throughout the action.

One of the most successful bazaars ever held at All Saints' Catholic church came to a close last night after attracting a large patronage both afternoon and evening since its opening Wednesday.

The Japanese Tea room in which light lunches and a chop suey supper was served by girls in Japanese costume was a feature of the bazaar yesterday and as a splendid program given last night by pupils of All Saints' Catholic church under the able direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph.

The affair from every standpoint was a success and unlimited credit is due all those who assisted in carrying out the bazaar plans.

HALLOWE'EN FUN MUST BE WITHIN LAW

Halloween fun in Gladstone tonight will be all right just as long as it keeps within the bounds of the law, Chief of Police Eric Lindahl stated yesterday. After that the police department will take a hand in the proceedings.

The authorities have no desire to interfere in the good times planned for the day if they remain within certain limits, but strict enforcement of regulations will be in effect with immediate punishment for all violators.

A particularly strict vigilance will be maintained in keeping children off the streets tonight after the curfew hour. Children found on the streets after that time will be taken to the police station and will be held there until their parents call for them.

"While we have no reason to believe that harmless Halloween fun will be marred this year by destructive and dangerous pranks, we are going to take every precaution against any such Chief Lindahl yesterday. "Property damage of any kind will not be tolerated and the blocking of alleys or other highways the use of which is necessary particularly in case of fire calls, will not be permitted. Offenders will be placed under arrest and will be liable to fine or imprisonment."

Asks Parents' Help.
"The department is also asking the cooperation of parents in keeping the children in their homes after the curfew tonight. It will be necessary to take all children found on the streets after this hour to the police station to await a call by their parents, and cooperation of parents will go a way with any trouble of this kind."

NEW KEATON PICTURE IS FINE COMEDY

The first feature length comedy, "Three Ages," to be made with Buster Keaton as the star, is the best work of this ingenious young comedian. "Three Ages," now playing at the Community theatre, is replete with laughs and thrills—and establishes Keaton permanently in big full length feature comedies.

In "Three Ages" Buster springs with agility from side splitting exposition of life as it was in the cave man era to an hilarious explanation of life as it was in the brilliant reign of triumphant Rome.

ALL SERVICE MEN ASKED TO TAKE PART

In the coming Armistice Day—six years since the close of the greatest war in history—the American Legion invites every veteran of the struggle to participate in the Legion's special program which includes several interesting affairs, according to E. C. Dayton, commander of August Matison Post.

The Legion commander declared that the interest of veterans in the war is increasing as the years roll by, and that he expected an enthusiastic turnout for the day's whole ceremonies.

"One of the notable features of the G. A. R.," he declared, "was that the comradeship and loyalty of the men deepened with the years. That was natural," because the men grew to feel that they had played their part together in a time of their country's need. It is a matter of history that the G. A. R. once dropped to as small a membership as 20,000, but later all its internal troubles were smoothed out and it gained consistently for decade after decade. The Legion's membership is harmonious and active now, and we look for it to continue as the greatest veterans' organization in the world's history."

Around Legion headquarters will be a supply of application blanks for insurance under the adjusted compensation, or so-called "bonus" bill. Legion officers will be glad to help any veteran fill out and notarize these blanks. The Legion has the following plans in mind for the day, which it invites all veterans—members or non-members to attend and enjoy: A big community banquet at 1 o'clock the afternoon of Armistice Day, a sham battle and a big military ball in the evening.

HOW TO CLEAR WATER.

If the water for laundry purposes looks muddy, clear it by stirring a teaspoonful of alum and borax dissolved in a little hot water, using this proportion for each gallon of water. Then let it stand until the mud has settled to the bottom and siphon off clear water into another receptacle with a short length of garden hose.

ESCANABANS HIT AT SPIRIT IN AMENDMENT

Delta County to Prove Americanism on Tuesday.

Another group of prominent Protestants of Escanaba added their expressions of condemnation for the proposed parochial school amendment, to be submitted to the voters of Michigan at the general election next Tuesday.

"The School Amendment is the kind of legislation we should expect in a country without a Constitution, without elections, and without representative Government."

"These States would deny that parents have any rights over their children. The children are the slaves of the State."

"Children are not the slaves of the State, in America. But they will be, and we all shall be, if we have legislation of this kind."

"The man who votes for the School Amendment is voting away his own liberty. He is voting to restrict other parents in their natural rights. If this can be done, this voter's natural rights are no longer safe. If we take away from parents the right to educate their children in religious surroundings, it is only another step to destroy all other parental rights."

"I am a Protestant, I prefer the public schools, from every point of view. And I exercise my preference, but if I don't let my Lutheran neighbor exercise his preference by sending children to a parochial school, or another neighbor exercise his preference by choosing a private school, it will be bad for both of us."

M. J. LANG, Lang & Hess Music Shop Escanaba, Mich.

Gessner Scores Bill. "I shall vote 'NO' on the amendment to compel all children to attend public schools, just as I should vote 'NO' on an amendment to compel all children to attend private or church schools."

"I was educated in the public schools myself. The denomination in which I was brought up has no church schools. It would have been an outrage to compel my parents to send me to some church school belonging to another religious body, and any attempt to compel them would have been regarded as a violation of religious liberty. It is therefore just as much an outrage, and just as much a violation of religious liberty, to attempt to compel other parents to send their children to public schools when they feel it is their religious duty to send them to church schools."

"I shall vote against this amendment because I was not compelled to be educated in a church school, and because I value and cherish the religious liberty of our country which makes the public schools possible."

HERMAN GESSNER, Fair Department Store Would Restrict Education. "I am opposed to the anti-private school amendment. I feel, of course, that we should not carry out any policy of restricting education. And I am convinced that even if anyone wished to carry out such a policy it could not be done."

"We can and we should compel parents to send their children

High School Stadium Fund Carnival Will Entertain Hundreds Tonight

Just how many hundred dollars the high school students' athletic stadium fund will grow before tomorrow will depend entirely upon the support given by the people of Escanaba to the second annual carnival to be staged by the school at the school tonight.

The students have been working during their spare time, for weeks, preparing for the affair.

They are confident they will receive the support of citizens in general. They believe the people of Escanaba want to see the stadium fund grow and blossom, as it were, into a sum of money large enough to finance the stadium project.

Tonight they are offering a plan in which the public not only can contribute financially to a splendid cause, but can have a lot of wholesome enjoyment thrown in with their investment.

Seventeen Shows. The best talent in the school has been collected and utilized for the occasion and no pains have been spared to give it adequate presentation.

Seventeen shows, with an extensive assortment of rides, concessions and other carnival enterprises will be in readiness when the doors open tonight. The seniors are presenting five of the shows—the other classes four shows each. The "midway" will extend to all parts of the building, with the auditorium reserved for the Orange and Black minstrel show at 10 o'clock.

The Girls' League will operate a large and well equipped refreshment booth in the center of the gymnasium. Coffee, doughnuts, cider, egg and hamburger sandwich will be served. The Mortarboard Society will operate a check room.

Comfort of Patrons. Throughout all the arrangements, the comfort of patrons has been carefully considered. The management has profited by the experience gained last year, and many oversights and errors in the staging of the various attractions at the first carnival have been corrected this year. Visitors can be certain that they will find their evening restful as well as enjoyable.

Fewer shows will be offered than last year, but they will be of much better quality. Each has been thoroughly planned and rehearsed, and will be worth far more than the price of a ticket to see it. A list of the attractions follows: "Songs of Yesterday," featuring Miss Nina Stodden, impersonator and dancer, supported by excellent musical talent.

Art Show, starring Almon Arnold, "America's Amazing Artist," in rapid-fire chalk work.

Wild Animals and Freaks. The A-Boston "Freak Show"—Princes Ikes, the Egyptian Mummy, Annette Kellerman the mermaid, Bono the horse with the longest tail in the world, Stanislas Nabisco, the "stout guy," the Hardy

Twins, Alley Curci and other wonders.

Animal Show, under direction of Warren Edwards, where the lynx, monkey, white ducks, Australian ant eater, Turkish bats, galloping fish, Wolverine, Bull of the Pampas, smallest duck in the world, and other strange jungle creatures will be seen.

Motion picture show, with comedy films.

Fortune teller—Madame Futurino.

"BLUE BANDITS" AGAIN PLEASES DELFT AUDIENCE

Musical Comedy Well Received by Crowd.

"The Blue Bandits," the musical comedy staged by John T. McDonough, its author and composer, was again well received at its second performance at the Delft last night.

While the attendance was not as large as the show deserved, the audiences expressed their approval vociferously throughout both performances, indicating by their applause, they were enjoying things immensely.

"Wines of France," by R. R. McCurry; "Teach Me to Love," by Miss Margaret Dunn; "Take Me Home With You," by Miss Ada Robb, and "My Hula Girl," by Alton Mallmann and Vaughn Belanger, again were the musical numbers which tickled the patrons' fancy most energetically, but all of the other songs were well received.

Mr. McDonough's direction, particularly when the brief time he has worked with the cast is considered, was of a high order.

Mr. McDonough has made many warm personal friends during his stay in Escanaba, and he will be welcomed back to this city at any time he decides to produce another show here.

UTILITY CHIEF VISITOR HERE

Sherman T. Handy Will Hold Hearings in City Hall Today.

Sherman T. Handy, chairman, and others connected with the utility commission, arrived in Escanaba last night for the purpose of holding hearings on several petitions affecting utilities patrons in this part of the state.

One of the matters to be reviewed will be the petition of Spaulding residents that the North-Western reopen its passenger station in that village. The depot was closed some time ago and the residents of Spaulding claim the action was an injustice to them and to the community.

The new rate schedule of the Escanaba Power and Traction Company also will be examined by the commissioners. The city, largest of the company's customers, will be represented at the hearing by Fred R. Harris, city manager, T. J. Riley, city attorney, and W. H. Needham, of the council.

A petition asking permission for local promoters to organize and construct a new rural power and light line in the Perkins territory also will be heard.

The sessions will start at 9 a. m. in the city hall.

IN NEW YORK

New York.—As days grow shorter and nights longer business in Broadway's gilded palaces picks up. The new cabarets will have a cover charge of $5 a person. Profits of these night jazz parties average about $2,500 a week. Some of the more successful show a profit of $7,500 a week. The Silver Slipper, until it was padlocked by prohibition agents averaged a profit of $10,000 a week and is reported to have made $12,000 in one week.

The cabarets do not have to have a large patronage to make large profits. Every check represents a profit of $6 per cent. Many well-known stage performers, especially vaudeville performers, are engaged as entertainers. Some of them have entertained the stars for this work. Their pay often runs into four figures.

Jimmie Hasser, comedian, is reported to receive $2,000 a week as a master of ceremonies in a cabaret just opened.

The two latest bits of catchy slang in Gotham are, "And I don't mean maybe!" and "You don't know the night I spent!" You can say either one of them on almost any occasion.

Barney Oldfield in his palmist day could have broken no speed records along the roads about New York on Sunday. For miles in all directions roads are blocked with machines creeping along, fender to fender. Bob Dorman, the eminent correspondent, photographer, airplane scout and driving demon reports that it took him exactly one hour to travel one mile on the Philadelphia road last Sunday.

Along Greenwich Street, near Cortlandt, a radio market has been established. Competition in the sale of variometers, condensers and other spare parts is very keen. As a result these articles are displayed in tubs and wash baskets, along the sidewalk, much in the same manner as vegetables are displayed in market places. The prospective buyer roams from one basket to another, selecting radio parts as a good housewife proceeds from market stall to market stall selecting cantaloupes.

Years ago three women in New York were known as the world's greatest diamond thieves. The leader of the three fell in love with a rich man and married him. She is now a respected member of society in a western city. One of the others is dead and the third is a charwoman. A friend of mine who knows New York's underworld inside-out tells me that the one who married the rich man still has a bushel of gems.

START WORK ON DOCK AT ONCE

Will Be Closed; Traffic for Remaining Weeks Going Over No. 5.

The No. 6 ore dock of the Chicago & North-Western probably will be closed down within a few days to permit rebuilding operations, to cost more than $1,500,000, which may begin at once, it was said yesterday. The plan is to handle traffic over No. 5 dock for the few remaining weeks of the shipping season.

Officials of the road were in the city yesterday, looking over the ruins of the two docks which burned last week and inspecting the site of the new No. 6 structure. It is planned to complete the rebuilding by May 1, 1925. The dock will be three feet higher than the present one, and the chutes will be electrically equipped.

SPORTSMEN OF UPSTATE DELAY YEARLY MEETING

Convention Will Be Held in Iron River Nov. 21.

Escanaba sportsmen have received copies of a bulletin, issued by Clarence B. Randall, of Ishpeming, secretary, announcing the postponement from Nov. 6 to Nov. 21, of the annual convention of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association. It will be held in Iron River. Postponement was necessary because John M. Phillips, of Pennsylvania, and other prominent conservationists, who were scheduled to speak at the meeting, notified the president that they could not be present November 6.

The closing date for membership enrollment, on which representation of member clubs will be based for the Iron River meeting, is November 11. Officers of the association urge local clubs to make arrangements with theatre owners, if possible, to have slides shown on moving picture screens, calling attention to forest fire dangers in the woods of the upper peninsula and urging hunters and campers to prevent fires.

The state department of conservation has offered to appoint deputy game wardens to serve without pay, from the membership of sportsmen's clubs throughout the state. Men will be appointed on recommendation of officers of the various clubs. Any club having in its membership men who desire to volunteer for duty as special game wardens is requested to send the names of such men to John Baird, director of the department of conservation, who will make the appointments and forward credentials to the appointees.

Ebony Serenaders At the Delft Today

The act has been praised enthusiastically by reviewers in scores of other cities and the Delft management believes it is certain to please Delft patrons.

INDOOR CIRCUS GRAND SUCCESS

An entertainment of unusual merit was that which was staged by the students of St. Joseph's parochial school Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The club rooms on the first floor were artistically decorated in various colors of tissue paper and other fall decorations which were the cause of many pleasing comments from visitors at the club rooms. Lunches were served in the Japanese Tea Room, "hot dog" sandwiches were served on the first floor; there were candy booths, fancy work and toys, a hat shop and other attractive booths in the club rooms.

A circus was staged in the auditorium which kept the audience convulsed with laughter during the entire program. The circus performance included a circus band, representatives of the various nations of the world, including Japs, Chinamen, Indians, Scotch Lassies, Irish Colliers, Turks, and Americans, which were greeted by Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia. The circus announcer, Alfred LaBranche, scored a hit with his witty remarks and the owner of the show, Hy Jenks, was a very good character. Two rubes at the circus.

Sally and Sl. were played by Miss Lillian Moreau and Leonard Moreau.

Ralph Pratt, Jr. in a buck and wing dance took the house by storm. The toe dance by little Miss Ammel was very gracefully done and was encored several times. The little one showed remarkable talent along this line. The Irish and Scotch dances, Indian war dances and other dance numbers were very good.

The acrobats, motorcycle races, roller skating races and exhibition when a lad of eight skated on his toes and heels and did other good match, trained dog act, boxing rooster, elephant act, a modern Sampson, Daily Dozen, a drill by 16 boys, sleight of hand performance, Matt and Jeff act, brought great applause from the large crowd assembled.

Several selections by the Glee Club, a solo by Miss Olga Pavlov, an 1845 model of auto, and a female impersonator, Roy McGillis, were also very good. The numbers rendered by the Symphony Four quartette of young men were exceptionally fine. The proceeds were far beyond the expectations of those in charge and the Sisters who directed the entertainment are deserving of much praise for the grand success of the program which was prepared in only a few days' time. The originality of the entire affair was commented upon by all who witnessed it.

Big Sugar Factory Planned in Ireland

(By The Associated Press.) Dublin.—The North Cork Industrial Development Committee is planning for the erection of a sugar beet factory at a cost of $2,500,000. A big financial house is reported to be willing to back the project on condition that landowners will agree to place 4,000 acres under sugar beet during the first year, and 8,000 in 16 succeeding years. Seeds and manures will be supplied at cost price, and need not be paid for till the crop is harvested.

Your Children and Grandchildren

Protect your Babies! Let no unfair tax legislation destroy their future—

Michigan wives and mothers are gravely concerned with the proposed income tax amendment to our constitution.

Shall we cripple the natural resources and prosperity of our state and deny our children the opportunities they deserve? Once passed, this unfair amendment cannot be changed without another amendment no matter how much hardship it may cause.

It is the duty of every woman to study this ill-advised amendment—to note how it taxes churches and charities, how it places a penalizing tax on the inheritances and life insurance of widows, how it handicaps education, how it will cause serious consequences in ruined enterprise, unemployment and increased cost of living. Let every mother do her part by voting NO on amendment No. 2.
