

RAIL ENGINE BOILER EXPLODES; 2 DIE

RAIL MAGNATES AND UNIONS TO TRY NEW PLAN

ARBITRATION PROGRAM IS BEING WORKED OUT.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 9.—Peace in the transportation world, long the goal of those who guide the destinies of capital and labor, is at last in sight.

Out of many months of conference between railroad executives and labor leaders—men who have fought each other bitterly not merely before the United Labor Board but in the lobbies and committees of Congress as well as in political campaigns—has come a formula for the adjustment of industrial disputes.

Led by Third Party. Back of the La Follette third party movement last year were the railway brotherhoods. They had resorted to political warfare because of a belief that railroad executives were engaged in a systematic effort to wipe out the labor standards achieved during the Wilson administration.

This was evidenced by the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law and a policy of open friendship by the then director-general of railroads, William G. McAdoo.

U. S. May Sever Diplomatic Relations With Mexico

Petroleum, Alien Land Acts Cause

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—The delicate status of relations between the United States and Mexico became increasingly plain today with disclosure that Ambassador Sheffield had filed formal protest with the Mexican foreign office against retroactive provisions of the two new Mexican laws known as the petroleum and anti-alien land acts.

Estimates of the aggregate value of American investments in Mexico jeopardized by these enactments taken at their face value run as high as $600,000,000.

Note Not Disclosed. State department officials refused to make public the communication presented by Ambassador Sheffield, it is known to have been strongly phrased.

The protest is the culmination of a long series of representations which began last fall when the land and petroleum laws first were proposed by President Calles to the Mexican congress.

Before these two laws were first introduced, relations between the two governments already had become so severely strained over confiscatory acts against American property rights in Mexico that Secretary Kellogg issued a formal statement calling attention that the government was on trial before the world, and serving notice that the United States would continue to support that government only so long as it fulfilled its international obligations.

While Mr. Kellogg did not have the land and petroleum acts in mind at that time, as they were not presented until last October, the statement was taken then and still stands as a warning of the concern with which the Washington government is viewing developments in Mexico.

May Break Relations. While official silence continues to obscure any clear perception of what specific developments may be impending, there are strong indications that the Washington government still is hopeful of an adjournment so that the necessity of withdrawing Ambassador Sheffield from his post can be averted.

SMOOT URGES ABOLITION OF ESTATE TAXES

WOULD LEAVE INHERITANCE LEVIES TO STATES.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—Revision of the house tax reduction bill to include complete repeal of the inheritance tax was proposed today by Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee, which will decide on Monday on the rate schedules of the measure.

The chairman announced his position after an attack on the inheritance tax by Senators Fletcher and Trammel, Democrats, Florida, who appeared before the committee. Repeal of the levy also was urged by the speakers of the South Carolina and Arkansas houses, Edgar A. Brown, and Thomas B. Hill, respectively, and Lieut. Governor McCall of Arkansas.

Demos Complete Program. Senator Smoot's declaration was the first definite indication from Republican ranks of a program of revision of the partisan house bill, which had been endorsed "in general" by Secretary Mellon. The treasury secretary, however, has repeatedly advocated repeal of the inheritance tax on the ground that this field of taxation should be left to the states.

Democratic members of the finance committee completed today their program of tax reduction which they will attempt next week to have the committee substitute for the rate schedules in the house bill. This plan would call for more reductions than the $390,000,000 provided by the house measure, going probably as high as $425,000,000.

Showdown on Monday. A quick showdown on the rate schedules is expected when the committee takes up these provisions Monday. Democrats, who are in the minority, 7 to 10, will vote solidly for their substitute program, while the Republicans are expected to vote for the rate schedules, in the main, incorporated in the house bill.

How much support Chairman Smoot will get for his motion to repeal the inheritance tax is doubtful, but there are indications that the Republican members of the committee will unite in backing it.

Real Test on Floor. The real test on the bill will come, however, on the floor of the senate. Democrats are counting on gaining enough votes there from Republican insurgents to offset the Republican majority, and while their program has not been announced, it is understood it does not contemplate repeal of the inheritance tax, but provides probably a slight increase in its maximum rates, and restoration of the present gift tax, which the house measure would repeal.

Can't Recollect Memo. Mr. Sargent stated at the opening of the inquiry yesterday that his attention first was drawn to the matter some six or seven months after he came into office and today he said that while the memorandum bore his signature, he had no recollection of it and that his recollection yesterday had not been changed.

"MOTHER SHIP" FOR AIRPLANES IS LAUNCHED

America's first "mother ship" for airplanes, the dirigible RS-1, made its trial flight Friday at Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., under auspices of army officials and executives of the Goodyear Rubber Company, who built it. It is 282 feet long, can travel at 70 miles an hour and can take on and let off airplanes in midair. Notice the airplane hooked on the cable below. The enclosed cabin forward holds the navigating compartment and sleeping quarters for officers and men. The dirigible is filled with helium, the non-inflammable gas.

Thames Valley Folks to Go to Church in Boats Today

PROBERS AGAIN HEAR SARGENT

Second Aluminum Company Being Investigated, Says Donovan.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—Pursuing its inquiry as to why the department of justice had not acted energetically in the case of the Aluminum Company of America in which Secretary Mellon has large holdings, the senate judiciary committee today brought to light that an investigation also is being made into the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company, one-third owned by the former corporation.

This information was furnished by Assistant Attorney General John G. Sargent, but before Mr. Donovan took the stand, Attorney General Sargent told the committee that within seven days after he took office, last spring, he directed that a report be made to him regarding the aluminum investigation "before any action whatever is taken or any publicity given." He added in a memorandum to Mr. Donovan that "this is in no way to be construed to retard a proper and thorough examination and appropriate action as the disclosed information may warrant."

PARIS CRISIS PAST. Paris, Jan. 9.—(P)—All danger of serious damage to Paris from the floods of the past week has disappeared. LOSS BY STRIKE. Philadelphia, Jan. 9.—(P)—The anthracite strike which has been in progress since September 1, has resulted in a loss to the anthracite industry during 1925 of 23,500,000 gross tons of coal, says a review issued today by the anthracite bureau of information. This amount represents almost one-third of the total output of the previous year, the review states.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—(P)—After an entire day spent in caucus and in conference with the prime minister and the leader of the conservatives, progressive members finally dispersed this evening without having decided what their attitude will be on the question of confidence in the government, now before the house of commons.

HEAVY STORM SWEEPS OVER EAST STATES

MAINE EXPERIENCES STRONG TIDAL WAVE.

New York, Jan. 9.—(P)—Seven men were killed, four in New York and three in Massachusetts, and at least five persons were seriously hurt in the northeastern states as a result of today's storm, which brought snow over a wide area and was accompanied by a 35-mile gale off the coast which drove four barges ashore.

Starting in Florida Wednesday night, the storm moved steadily northward to southern New England and also spread westward to Ohio, Indiana and southern Michigan. Snow fell in those three states as well as in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the mountain section of Virginia and in southern New England. The fall varied from two inches in New York City to 10 inches elsewhere in the storm area.

Gales Trouble Ships. Gales at sea caused trouble for light craft off the Atlantic coast. Coast guard officials reported that the barge T. J. Hopper, owned by the Eastern Transportation company of Wilmington, Del., was pounded to pieces after grounding on a sandbar between Highlands Beach and Sparracott Cove, New Jersey.

Traffic Accidents Result. Four men were killed on Staten Island when their automobile skidded and overturned. At Chicopee, Mass., three motorists, blinded by snow, were instantly killed when their automobile was struck at a railroad crossing.

MAINE TIDAL WAVE. Southwest Harbor, Me., Jan. 9.—(P)—The inhabitants of the little village of Burnard, three miles from here, experienced their first tidal wave today. Unexplained in its origin, the phenomenon, which occurred about noon, caused the sudden emptying of Bass Harbor, followed a few minutes later by a ten-foot rush of water, and then two smaller waves. No one was injured but about fifty fishing boats were hurled ashore and two men in a dory had a narrow escape from falling cakes of ice when their craft suddenly grounded.

Boats Tossed About. William Kelly, who has a fish packing plant on the eastern shore of the harbor, told what happened next. "It was about low tide when the first wave came," he said. "It rolled in steady like the even flow of a river. Then came two lesser ones, and in less than ten minutes the whole harbor was filled to near high water mark. Great whirlpools were formed. Small boats were tossed about in the moorings and the 70-foot fishing smack Fishhawk broke from her lines at the Underwood dock, and crashed against the pilings. The entire harbor was a mass of foam.

Reclamation Part of Appropriation Bill Is Approved. Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—The reclamation section of the interior department appropriation bill, carrying approximately $7,000,000 for reclamation work for the next fiscal year, was approved today by the house. Western members offered a number of amendments, but the majority of them were rejected. As approved, the whole section is subject to another vote by the house.

W. VIRGINIA TOWN ROCKED BY EXPLOSION

THREE PERSONS ALSO ARE INJURED IN BLAST.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 9.—(P)—Two men were killed, another perhaps fatally injured and two other persons slightly hurt when the boiler of a giant Mallet engine of a Chesapeake and Ohio freight train exploded in the business section of Huntington, near here, late this afternoon.

Entire Town Rocked. The entire town was rocked by the terrific explosion which completely demolished the big engine and threw the coal and water tender about 15 feet away, overturning. Store fronts and windows in the business houses fronting on the main street, which parallels the Chesapeake and Ohio right of way, and virtually adjoins it, were wrecked, the occupants in many instances being thrown down and furniture and store fixtures tumbled about by the force of the blast.

U. S. TO TAKE LEGAL ACTION. Steamer City of Rome Is Blamed for Sinking of S-51.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—The report of the naval court of inquiry into the sinking on September 25 of the submarine S-51 off Block Island by the steamer City of Rome, of the Savannah Line, was turned over to the department of justice by Secretary Wilbur today for legal action.

The court found that the submarine was rammed and sunk by the steamer, with the loss of 33 officers and men, on a clear, moonlight night, under circumstances which required the steamer to "keep out of the way." Its findings of fact were made public by the navy department tonight, but its recommendations were withheld because of the reference of the entire case to the department of justice.

BILLY EVANS Says

COSTLY RECRUITS. Shortly after the close of the 1925 baseball season, Connie Mack announced that he was through dabbling with high priced minor league recruits.

Until a few years ago Mack was regarded as the one manager in the majors who really developed his own players.

As a matter of fact the greatest years of Mack's career as a big league manager date back to the days when he got 'em young and made stars out of them.

His great teams of 1910, 11, 12, 13, 14 were composed of players picked by Mack from the sandlots, minors and colleges at practically no expense.

MACK'S POOR LUCK. Perhaps it was the failure of "Lefty" Groves that soured Mack on the big figures.

When you speak of Paul Straud, Connie gets a headache. The big noise in the Pacific Coast League, a 400 batsman, Straud looked just the man to make Mack's ball club.

Mack has had other disappointments aside from Groves. He has had no great luck with several costly minor league stars.

Therefore it is easy to see why Mack has weakened on the big figures when you mention some minor league star to him and tout him to set the majors on fire.

CASE OF M'GRAW. It is beginning to look as if John McGraw might be ready to accept the same point of view as Mack.

No man in baseball has spent more money than McGraw on the highly touted phenoms of the minors. While he has had some good luck, there has been plenty of it with a reverse English.

Only recently McGraw traded two players who cost him close to $125,000 for a veteran pitcher who has seen service with four big league clubs.

I have in mind the deal with Philadelphia, which sent Jack Bentley and Wayland Dean from the Giants to the Phillies for Pitcher Jimmy Ring.

All of which merely goes to strengthen the belief that has long existed that one can take nothing for granted in baseball. You must deliver.

While it may be true that talk is cheap, you can not prove it by promoters seeking to do business with Mr. Kearns or Mr. Pyle.

Science has discovered the solar system is traveling 30 times faster than anybody thought it was.

The chief difference between English golfers and English fighters is that the golfers are generally good for more than one round.

Mr. Barney Oldfield, the motorist, has taken unto himself a new bride. Thus proving again the wisdom of carrying spares.

There is only one thing that will prevent Mr. Henry Ford's campaign to revive old-fashioned dances from being a great success.

GIANTS DEFEAT ALL-STARS, 7-0

Ernie Nevers Has Ligaments in Back Torn. Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 9.—(P)—Ernie Nevers, former Leland Stanford football star, suffered a torn ligament in the back in the second period of the football game here today between his team, the Jacksonville All-Stars, and the New York Giants.

The Giants won, 7 to 0. Nevers left the game in the third period as a result of the injuries received when he attempted to hurdle the line in an off tackle play.

Columbia Cagers Defeat Princeton. Princeton, N. J., Jan. 9.—(P)—Columbia defeated Princeton, 41 to 23, in an intercollegiate basketball game here tonight.

GENERAL MOTORS SALES. New York, Jan. 9.—(P)—General Motors corporation sold 583,000 cars at retail in 1925, a new record.

FIX TOURNEY DATE. Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9.—(P)—The 1926 tournament of the Trans-Mississippi Golf association will be held the week of June 21 at the Algonquin club in St. Louis.

FEW UPSETS IN GOLF TOURNEYS

Champions Were Able to Repeat in Major Events of 1925.

For the most part golf ran rather true to form in the major tournaments last season. Bobby Jones came through to win the amateur championship again, and was the first amateur to repeat in this event since 1913.

Jones spread-eagled his field at Okmont, completely dominating the battle at every mashie turn and niblick angle. As was the case the previous year, when he won the title at Merion for the first time, George "Count" Von Elm of California was his opponent in the finals.

Mr. Shakespeare was eminently correct when he said there is nothing in a name. Or, at least, not much, as Young Bob Fitzsimmons is currently demonstrating.

The idea in New York seems to be to keep the boxing decisions honest no matter how ridiculous they are.

Mr. Barney Oldfield, the motorist, has taken unto himself a new bride.

Glenna Collett came back to the heights and won the women's championship after a two-year departure from the fields of glory.

The open championship yielded a surprise in the unlooked-for victory of Willie MacFarlane, the best-pieced star of the Metropolitan district.

The professional golfers' championship brought another repeat, home in front when Walter Hagen copped at Chicago, thereby retaining a vestige of his old reputation as king of the links.

The western amateur went to MacDonald Smith, who was one of the stars of the year, with several other tournament victories to his credit.

Los Angeles Country Club, Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 9.—(P)—Joe Kirkwood, trial golfer, and Harry Cooper, dashing youngster of the Tension Park Golf club of Dallas, Texas, each had a low card of 138 for the 36-hole qualifying round of the $10,000 open golf tournament which was completed here tonight.

FAMOUS FEATS COLLEGE STARS

AN UNUSUAL GOAL. One of the oddest field goals I have ever seen was kicked in the famous Michigan-Pennsylvania game at Ann Arbor in 1911.

A miniature blitzard had swept into the Michigan hamlet that morning. It was bitter cold and a strong wind was still blowing across Ferry field at game time.

Back to the 29-yard line stepped the Penn kicker—I think it was Dick Marshall—and swung his expert hoof into the leather. The boot was a good one, the ball sailing straight between the posts and over the crossbar.

With a few minutes left to play Michigan worked the ball to the Penn 25-yard stripe. And, in those ebbing moments, the Yost-men pulled one of their antiquated delayed passes, sending the fleet Jimmy Craig around right end for a touchdown, Michigan winning, 11-9.

The professional golfers' championship brought another repeat, home in front when Walter Hagen copped at Chicago.

The western amateur went to MacDonald Smith, who was one of the stars of the year, with several other tournament victories to his credit.

CALIFORNIA U. COACH IS DEAD

Body of Andy Smith to Be Taken to Berkeley.

Philadelphia, Jan. 9.—(P)—The body of Andy Smith, football coach at the University of California, will be sent to Berkeley, Cal., to be viewed by fellow members of the Elks' club of that city as directed in a codicil to his will executed a few days before his death in the University of Pennsylvania hospital yesterday.

Decision to send the body to the coast was reached late today after an urgent plea had been received by Robert M. Smith, a brother of the famous coach, from Milton E. Farmer, of the board of regents of the University of California, and executor of Smith's will.

Arrangements had been made earlier in the day to take the body to DuBoje, Pa., for burial in the Smith family plot and plans for the funeral there on Monday had been announced.

Decision as to Smith's request that his body be cremated and the ashes scattered over the Memorial stadium at the University of California, will be reached later, Robert Smith said.

Unable to Fix Baseball Card. New York, Jan. 9.—(P)—Unable to surmount obstacles attributed in some degree to abbreviation of the season a full week, the joint scheduled committee of the National and American Baseball leagues adjourned a six-day meeting today without reaching an agreement on 1926 schedules.

The committee's failure to overcome schedule conflicts brought no explanation from the executive of either league, although President John A. Heydier of the National announced that a second meeting would be called later in the month.

Disagreement between the two leagues over dates grows out of united opposition from the National League owners to advancement of the date from October 4 to September 26.

Kirkwood, trial golfer, and Harry Cooper, dashing youngster of the Tension Park Golf club of Dallas, Texas, each had a low card of 138 for the 36-hole qualifying round of the $10,000 open golf tournament which was completed here tonight.

BABSON PRAISES ELECTRIC BONDS

Investments Should Serve Humanity as Well as be Safe.

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 9.—(Special)—During these days when stocks are so high and land promoters abound, it is difficult for the average man to know just where it is best to invest his money. Today it is almost easier to earn money than it is to safely invest it. This is especially true when one treats his investments conscientiously and wishes to have his money employed usefully as well as safely and profitably. In this connection Roger W. Babson today makes some suggestions which should interest our readers.

Investments Serving Humanity.
"I have always claimed that the fundamental reason why municipal bonds issued for school-houses, sewerage systems, and other public improvements are better than the average corporation bond is because the money borrowed through the sale of these municipal bonds truly serves the people while that borrowed by corporations oftentimes does not. Municipal bonds are issued for the purpose of service and not for profit; whereas profit is the main factor in determining corporate financing. We are coming to a time when people will use their consciences and religious principles in investing their money, insisting that it be used only in useful enterprises directed by men of high character. When that time comes there will be much fewer investment losses than today."

"This was forcibly brought home to me the past week when I was ill in bed with an abscess in my ear. Of course, I probably would have come through all right had I been on a farm without electric power; but the use of the electric light, the electric heating pad, and other electrical conveniences—very simple and inexpensive in themselves—certainly were a real benefit and a tremendous comfort. Lying on my back, I thought that one of the finest things to do with one's money is to use it in the construction of additional power and light lines so that every home might have electric current. Surely, when one buys through conservative banks high grade electric securities he uses his money in a way to serve humanity."

Street Railway Stocks.
"Of course, electric power stocks are not the only stocks in which to invest and serve humanity. Many of the other public utilities are as useful. Water companies are often privately owned and surely perform a most useful function in every community. Although people may wince at the telephone at times, yet it is a great blessing and money invested therein is being used to good advantage in extending lines, putting wires underground, and improving the service generally. The modern company is performing a real service by hastening the work of the housewife and performing other functions. I personally believe that gas is to be used more and more for heating and industrial purposes. The idea that coal should be carried to each individual house is archaic. It is an unreasonable burden for each house to have its own heating plant as to have separate water, wells or lighting plants."

"Because a stock is offered as a 'Public Utility' is not, however, a reason for its performing a real service. The real difficulty with most traction securities today, is that the ordinary street car is as much out of date as the 'Old Oaken Bucket' or the little horse in the back yard which we used to visit every morning when a boy. Double-track street railway systems on private reservations, with subway or elevated divisions, may continue to be the means of transportation in our larger cities; but in the smaller cities and suburbs, buses are safer, swifter and more economical. When bus companies are properly coordinated and produced by legislation as to their franchises, then traction securities will again be worthy of careful consideration. People are sure to ride in the future, even more than ever in the past. Furthermore, it is much more economical for several to travel in one conveyance than for each to have a separate car.

Utility Stock Now High.
"There are fads in investing as well as in dressing. During the past two years common stock of electric power and light companies has been as popular as bobbed hair. This has resulted in these stocks being driven up, through competitive buying, to very high figures. In any case, these figures are higher than these common stocks now deserve. What goes up the most, will usually come down the most. Hence, during the next panic, the biggest decline may be found in public utility common stocks. But, if so, the greatest opportunity for profit will be in connection with the purchase of such common stocks. This will be especially true in the case of electric power stocks because the earnings of electric power companies are not as much affected by business depressions. Public utility stocks are still fundamentally good, but I do wish to remind readers that one can pay too much for government bonds of anything else, however good such things may be."

Electrical Bonds Best.
"Compared with future development, public utilities are today where the railroads were 75 years ago when one was obliged to change cars five times when going between New York and Chicago. Most bonds of light and power companies now being offered should some day be underwritten by super-power systems with great central generating stations. Furthermore, we as yet are only scratching the surface as to uses for electrical energy. Homes, factories, railroads, and other lines should, during the next 10 or 15 years, triple the present demand for electric current."

"I believe the securities of well-managed companies supplying light, power, gas, etc., to be sound investments. Water power developments have an exceedingly bright future. Owing to the fact that the larger the generating plant, the lower the cost, such companies have nothing to fear from competition. I oppose GOVERNMENT ownership, as inefficient and corrupting, but I heartily approve customer ownership. I know of no investment paying over 6 per cent which is as safe as the first preferred 'Customer Ownership' stocks of such companies. When every user of most light and power companies. These yield from 6 to 7 per cent and state commissions should allow rates which will take care of these stocks when they have been honestly issued. If your local light and power company is issuing such stock in the form of 'customer's shares,' or 'consumer's shares,' these should be very attractive. It is always best to invest in one's home company before investing in outside concerns. By investing at home, one not only increases the value of all other property in the community and also his own earnings, but one can keep track of such home investments easier than those in distant communities."

"I, however, do advise that the small investor confine himself to buying stock in the actual operating companies rather than in large holding companies. Stocks in holding companies may be good investments for the business man who can afford to lose; but they are not suitable for small investors. By holding companies, I refer to big companies who have as their assets, only stocks of the operating companies. It is naturally safer to invest in the stock of the operating company, which actually owns the power-house and distributing systems, than in a holding company, which owns only stocks."

Sometimes the honeymoon is over when the hickler runs out.
A product is a stockholder of the company producing it, we will have a condition which will be about 100 per cent efficient and fair. Business as indicated by the Babson chart is now 15 per cent above normal compared with one per cent above normal a year ago."

"Of course, first mortgage bonds are the best thing for an investor to buy. These are what the banks buy and small investors make no mistake in buying what the local bank purchases. Public utility first mortgage bonds can now be bought from reputable banking houses to yield from 5 to 6 per cent. The first preferred cumulative stocks are also attractive in the case of

JUDSON, BURNS TO IRON RIVER

Will Address Mass Meeting on Manager Government Today.

T. M. Judson, member of the Escanaba city council and the first mayor of this city under the council-manager charter, and C. J. Burns, a member of the council since the charter was adopted, will go to Iron River today to address a mass meeting called to discuss a proposed change in Iron River's municipal government. Iron River is now a village and city government is proposed.

City officials of Crystal Falls—also a manager city—will be present. "Friendliness and understanding," says the Iron River Reporter, "will be the keynote of the meeting which will attempt to clarify the atmosphere of the tenacious of feeling that exists. Voters will be provided an opportunity to hear facts first hand from officials without having to accept figures and arguments whispered about. Objections to the city government will be heard with the same courtesy and consideration as arguments for it, and citizens with questions to ask are urged to be present that a proper evaluation may be made of the city and village plan."
