

COLONEL JOHN COOLIDGE LAID TO REST

TIME PLAYED FATEFUL TRICK ON PRESIDENT

LAWRENCE TELLS WHY COOLIDGE LOST RACE.

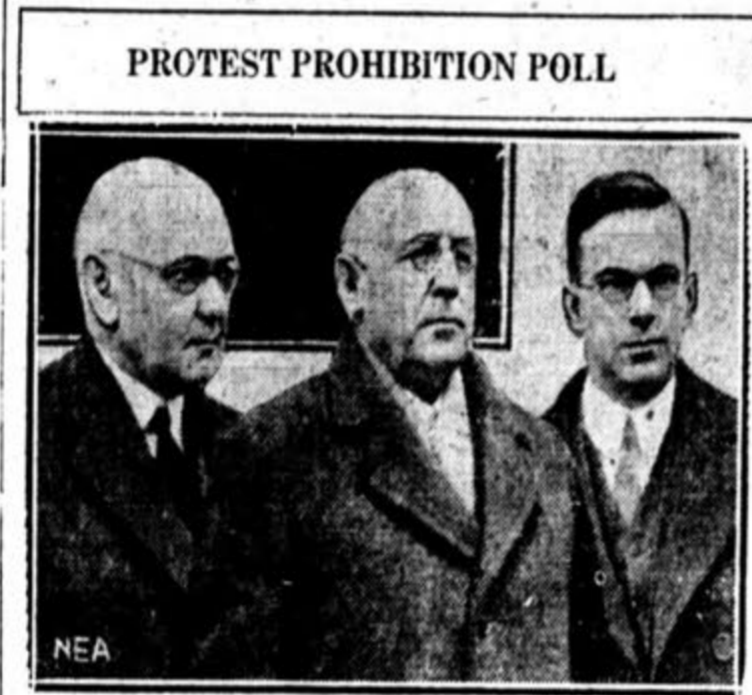

By DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1926, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, March 20.—Time, which respects neither presidents nor kings, played a fateful trick on Calvin Coolidge.

For it is not generally known just why Mr. Coolidge stayed on in the national capital the last few days while newspaper bulletins told of the gradual decline in the health of his father in Plymouth, Vermont.

The president had known, of course, ever since last summer, that his father would never recover from the attacks suffered last year.

Others Have Faced It. As for the work in Washington, every president feels that he simply cannot let go, no matter what the personal call.

In the chilly blast. The words of the clergyman could be heard clearly as the sakes were lowered to its resting place: "Earth to earth, ashes to ashes; dust to dust."

Immediately after the interment, the president returned with Mrs. Coolidge and their son to the white farmhouse. After a brief stay the party left by sleigh for Woodstock, where the presidential train awaited for the return trip to Washington.

On Board President Coolidge's train enroute to Washington, White River Junction, Vt., Mar. 20—(AP)—President Coolidge was on his way back to the White House tonight, a tie to his Vermont birthplace broken.

Had Gruelling Day. Concealing their grief, the president and Mrs. Coolidge went through a gruelling day. With a March snowstorm sweeping over the mountains, they were accompanied by automobiles on a sleigh from Woodstock to Vermont, a distance of 16 miles.

It was not until they had started back to Woodstock to board their train for Washington that the storm spent itself and the skies cleared. As the special left Woodstock at five o'clock winding its way through the snow-covered mountains toward White River Junction and the south, the sun, hidden all day, broke through the shattering clouds.

Saddened and fatigued, the president and his wife retired to their car at the rear of the train to rest. Traveling with them as far as Northampton, Mass., was their son, John, who is a student at Amherst college.

The train is due in Washington early tomorrow.

Here is the latest portrait of the president, taken in the White House. It is the first photograph ever taken of him.

Sad Men, Gay Women Parade Through New Spring Publications

New York—The sad young men and the gay ladies are ready for their Spring parade. The New York publishing houses have announced their seasonal lists.

The titles suggest a season of sober and disillusioned young men, with the ladies somewhat gayer. F. Scott Fitzgerald's contribution even bears the title "All The Sad Young Men."

Ring Lardner spans the gap between the somber young men and the bright girls with "The Love Nest and Other Stories," concerning some very sorry young men regarded in the gay manner.

The melancholy men predominate the list. But, though outnumbered by the serious minds, there is also a jovial troop of American figures of another sort.

Among the ladies in the parade will be "The Fourth Queen," a romance of the days of Queen Elizabeth, by Isabel Paterson; "Clara Barron," by Harriet O'Higgins; a "family portrait" called "The Grandmothers," by Glenway Wesscott.

FIND MILLION NEW UNIVERSES

World Only One Planet of Thousands in Heavens.

BY DAVID DIETZ. Mt. Wilson, Calif.—Our universe is only one of many existing in the vast stretches of space. There are a million universes within the range of the great 100-inch telescope here at the Mount Wilson Observatory, the largest telescope in the world.

It is impossible to tell how many universes would come within the range of an even larger telescope.

Maybe Larger Universes. There may be universes out in space as large as our own and even larger.

These objects are the so-called spiral nebulae. They are invisible to the naked eye, but in the telescope look like whirling spirals of luminous cloud-like material.

Proving the Speculations. There was much speculation about their nature. Finally some astronomers suggested that these nebulae might be other universes of stars which were so far away that they appeared to be condensed into luminous cloud-like stuff.

Now Dr. Hubble has proved that that is actually the case! He turned the big 100-inch telescope on the outer portions of the nearest of these spirals and took photographs with exposures of several hours.

The 100-inch telescope differs from the more familiar sort of telescope in that it has a mirror at the bottom of the tube instead of a lens at the top.

Franc Drops to New Low

Paris, Mar. 20—(AP)—The prospect that parliament will adjourn for the Easter vacation without having solved the nation's financial problem caused much uneasiness in business circles today that the franc declined to a new low record for the Paris exchange market.

The effect of the announcement by Finance Minister Peret that he would ask the chamber of deputies to begin discussion of measures to balance the budget on Monday was offset by the fact that the chamber's discussion of the ministerial declaration presented on Thursday left great doubt as to whether the cabinet has a safe majority back of it.

NOBILITY SEEKS LIETER ESTATE

Fight Over Millions Will Open Within Short Time.

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
NEA Service Writer

Chicago—An advance guard of European nobility has reached Chicago to fight for the right to chaperon on return voyage to England as many American dollars as possible.

Members of this blue-blooded vanguard are heirs and interested kin having immediate or eventual share in the $100,000,000 estate left by Levi Z. Letter, dead merchant prince of a bygone day of this city.

They will engage in what promises to be one of the most bitterly contested legal scrimmages of the past decade for control, among other things besides the money at stake, of:

- Forty fat hogs.
- Ten hogs not so fat.
- Twenty broods of newly hatched chicks.
- One hundred head of cattle.
- An American railroad.
- A western town of 4,000 souls.
- And several of the richest coal mines in the world.

Own the Whole Town.

The railroad, the hogs and other stock together with the coal mines, are all situated around Zigler, Ill., which is also the town, populated chiefly by miners, that the embattled Letter family owns.

The town was built to house the miners, who work the valuable mines, and the railroad, which is but a short line affair, serves both.

The livestock became family possessions even down to the newly hatched chicks when the Letter heirs acquired title, to both the surface and mineral rights of the 6,000 acres of property on which their coal properties lie and on which the town of Zigler stands.

The squabble over their management and control will be in the form of a spectacle which opens on March 4 in the courtroom of Superior Court Justice Dennis Sullivan.

Lady Marguerite Hyde, whose name also appears in the British socialist register as the Countess of Suffolk and Berk, is one of Levi's daughters who went abroad and snatched a titled husband, after her father had amassed millions in his Chicago department store.

Charges Incompetence.

The action she began many years ago and which is now coming to final trial seeks to remove her brother, Joseph Letter of Chicago, as principal trustee of the estate upon the allegation of incompetence and the claim that he has diverted some of the proceeds to his own use.

Joe Letter, who for years has been a colorful and front-page figure in American newspapers by reason of his frequent corpers on the wheat market and hectic plunges in frenzied finance, denies his noble sister's charges.

Like Mrs. Nancy S. Carver Campbell of Santa Barbara, another sister, Joe has no title. Mrs. Campbell is the widow of Col. Colin Campbell a former British army officer, and the only one of old Levi's daughters who didn't marry a title.

She and Joe have allied themselves to face the onslaughts of their noble kin.

Other principals in the controversy include the Baroness Ravensdale, Lady Alexander Curzon and Lady Cynthia Mowley, whose husband, Oswald Mowley, was a former member of Parliament.

These last three are daughters of another of Levi's daughters now dead, too—the former Mary Letter, who later became the wife of Lord Nathaniel Curzon, England's one-time minister of foreign affairs and viceroy of India.

At present the estate is being administered in trust fund and will continue to be so administered until the death of Joe Letter and his sisters. After that the property will be divided equally among the children.

And because there are more relatives living across the sea, most of the millions made in this country will eventually go to build English country homes, mansions and what not.

The present lawsuit in its early stages has proven to be an enormous coil of legal papers which will lead to the services of two draymen to carry them when the time comes.

First on a mild misanderstand the growth in vehemence through the words and blazed at steps to the point of personal words and the unceasing and unrelenting bombardment which Lord Curzon kept up to the point of his death.

In England it is a belief of many mothers that the head of a newborn baby should be washed in brandy to prevent it from catching cold.

When New Haven, Conn., police searched a prisoner recently they found he wore five suits of underwear, a pair of trousers, heavy overalls and a thick overcoat.

Many a poor fish has money.

Life-like Dummy Built in Paris for Tailor Trade

Paris.—Tailors dummies which move their lips, eyes and heads by means of electric motors hidden in their chests, is the Paris tailors' latest step to make his models life like.

The first radical movement to make shop-window dummies resemble human beings was the abolition of the "Adonis" type of male beauty. Everywhere in Paris now Adonis is out-numbered by the corpulent, the underlined, the plain-featured, the cross-eyed and the broken-nosed dummy.

The faces of these dummies are composed of a new material called "staf," a mixture of fibre and plaster, which is far less brittle than wax and permits of more natural coloring.

Resort Land Boom Rolls Up from South; Delta to Profit by the Movement

The Upper Peninsula resort land boom, long expected and long hoped for, is now a probability today.

The boom in the northern part of lower Michigan, especially along the Lake Shore from Grand Traverse to Mackinac, is a fact, with Grand Rapids, Chicago and Cleveland real estate brokers, it is purchasing land and options by thousands of acres, and it is expected that the boom will continue to the northern Canadian border.

The Florida boom has rebounded north to Michigan. In a recent statement, H. N. Duff, chairman of the Michigan Securities Commission, said that hundreds of Florida real estate operators "big prospect salesmen"—were intending to exploit Michigan resort estates during the summer season and that their operations would be extensive.

Promoters Coming North.

The Securities Commission is daily receiving applications for brokerage licenses from Florida operators who are coming to Michigan to make the state the summer residence of the thousands who spend their winters in Florida—to make each end of the Dixie highway the winter and summer playgrounds of the United States.

The spurt in real estate turnover in lower Michigan began early in the year. Land, considered worthless a year or two ago along the thousands of small north Michigan lakes was bought at undreamed of prices. An Eastern concern has purchased $2,000,000 worth of Lake Michigan frontage north of Muskegon. A Chicago company has announced construction this summer of a million dollar summer hotel there. The resort "fever" is striking the country below the straits with much the same intensity that it struck Florida a year or more ago, with every evidence that the result will be much the same.

Straits Land in Demand.
The eastern end of the Upper Peninsula is watching all this with expectation, confident that the "boom" must run over and flow north. Rumors, as yet unconfirmed, have outside capital investing heavily in property along the north shore of Lake Michigan. It is understood that much of the shore land from St. Ignace west to Epoufette in Mackinac county is being held in option by outside brokers.

One firm has announced exploitation of the Gulliver lake district east of Manistique, with plans for summer hotels, amusement parks and other things incident with a resort center.

Recent transactions effecting large tracts of land in Delta and adjoining counties are but the forerunner, it is believed, of a scramble

Serving the Community

To a greater extent than perhaps any other business, the supplying of the dairy needs of the community with Safe Milk, carries with it different responsibilities in the matter of health and nutrition.

First comes the selection of proper milk at its source, its quick transportation, competent and careful handling in pasteurizing and bottling, and finally its prompt and unfailing delivery.

All these things require daily and hourly supervision and watchfulness, large investments in machinery and equipment and most important of all, a recognition of the needs of the community and an earnest desire to satisfy them.

The growth of our business is predicted on these high ideals and a large share of our new business comes as the result of recommendations of old customers.

Forests Cloverland's Greatest Attraction for Tourist-Bishop

One-twelfth of all the cut-over lands of Upper Michigan have been cleared in the last three years, says E. Bishop, of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau.

A crowd at the Strand theater yesterday morning, in 1923, Mr. Bishop said, the fires covered an area of 187,888 acres of cut-over and wooded territory and the total acreage was $105,607. The next year the loss was reduced to $217,125—the most disastrous in the history of the state—it climbed to $275,651 acres with a cost of $275,651. This gives a total, for the three-year period of 525,793 acres and more than $435,400.

"Startling as these figures may appear," he said, "students of forestry will agree that they underestimate the actual loss when we take into consideration the millions of young trees from one to twenty-five years old that perish in the flames.

Value Runs High.
 "It is not the value of the timber, present and future, which is hardest at our pocketbooks when the timber burns," he continued, "but the loss of the natural beauties so necessary to the advancement of our tourist business in the Peninsula. It is conservatively estimated that $750,000 was left in Cloverland last year by tourists and resorters. The number of tourists and the money they will leave with us will increase if we give them the recreation and the playground they desire.

"They want wild life, trees, green growing things, birds and animals. If we burn off our forests we'll have nothing to offer them. Weather bureau experts tell us that climatic conditions, rainfall, temperature, nature and direction of the winds are materially different when a region has lost its forests. These things are among the Upper Peninsula's greatest assets.

"It's up to us to decide whether we want to keep them. Ninety-nine per cent of all the forest and brush fires are started by human beings. That means it's up to us to eliminate fires by the exercise of the ordinary and simple rules of precaution. They stand for good citizenship and good business."

Many Visit Train.
 The meeting, at which Mr. Bishop spoke, was the lecture portion of the visit of the "Fire Flyer" to Escanaba. Scores of men, women and children saw the interesting exhibits in the cars which were opened in the North-Western yards during the morning. When it became apparent that the lecture car would be too small to hold the crowd, the Strand was procured.

Other speakers on the program were Crosby Hoar, federal district forest inspector, whose headquarters are in Duluth, and George Amundsen, agricultural engineering specialist, of the Michigan State college extension forces. Hugo Swanson, agriculture teacher in Escanaba high school, presided. Some very interesting motion pictures also were shown.

The train will visit Foster City, Monday, holding a meeting in that place at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday will take the train to Schaffer at 1:30 p. m.; Stephen will be visited at 9 a. m., Wednesday and Nadeau at 1:30 p. m. on that day. Thursday the train will arrive in Hermansville at 9 a. m. and will hold a meeting at Iron Mountain at 3 p. m. From there it will be transferred to the St. Paul road.

Mr. Hoar will remain in Escanaba tomorrow to address a meeting of the Escanaba Rotary club.

Shakespeare Had Reason for Not Writing Sex Plays

Paris—Shakespeare did not write a lot of plays with sex complexes in them because there were no beautiful young leading actresses in his day to save a man's play with their personal charms.

At least that is the reason Granville Barker advanced here in a lecture for the comparative cleanliness of the great master's dramas.

"Shakespeare had to rely on boys to play the female roles. Consequently he had to make the love speeches so poetic and beautiful that they would get across the footlights without the aid of real feminine charm."

FIDLERS ARE STILL COMING

Elks Now Have 24 Entries for Annual Indoor Circus.

All the way from Gulliver came the twenty-third entry for the Old Fiddler's contest to be held April 7 in connection with the Elks' indoor circus. The entrant is Robert Van Duzen.

Manistique, already in with a number of fiddler entries, also sent the twenty-fourth—Peter Decent—who lives in the Schoolcraft county capital.

The contest committee will hold a meeting early this week and definitely arrange the program for the affair. It will be printed immediately in the Press. In the meantime, any other old fiddlers who want to get in are urged to submit their entries as early as possible to the Elks club or to the Daily Press.

Plans are virtually complete for the public wedding which will be staged on the closing night of the circus. It was announced yesterday. The young people have sent their pictures to the committee. These are to be published soon.

George E. Harvey said that he has a half-dozen entries for the bathing beauty show, which also will be a feature one night of the circus and that he has had many other inquirers. An attempt is being made to procure for the winner, the official designation, "Miss Upper Peninsula," in the International Beauty show at Atlantic City, and include in the prize a free trip to the middle-west elimination contest preliminary to the international event in New Jersey.

Vaudeville Booked.
 W. H. Needham, having already contracted with the well-known Cottrell Sisters, musical act, and the Marigold Trio, Chicago entertainers, as free attractions, was in telegraphic communication yesterday with two more vaudeville turns which he thought likely to be brought here. The entertainment features of the circus will be emphasized more heavily than at any indoor event of the kind ever staged here, Mr. Needham said.

Capacity Crowd Hears, Enjoys M'Colman Recital

A capacity audience in St. Joseph's auditorium Friday evening enjoyed and appreciated the demonstration program in the progressive music course under the direction of Miss Zoy McColman of New York. The instructor called attention to the object of grouping pupils into classes; the keen spirit of rivalry evidenced during the classes bore out the claim. Opportunity, too, is given to ambitious students to continue the course in one of the standard colleges, all of which recognize the progressive music course. Two selections by the rhythmic orchestra were enthusiastically received. The entire program was interesting and instructive to students and the audience.

RING W. GARDNER

Famous Writer Comes From Niles, Michigan.

Niles, Mich., March 20.—(P)—"You Know Me, Al"—and everybody does—is peculiar to its author only, Ring W. Gardner, writer of funny stories and sport yarns for the last score of years. Ring was born in Niles—witness the record, March 6, 1888—and attended the local high school. He spent two years at Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, before he entered newspaper work.

That entry is in itself a tale: The South Bend, Ind., Tribune wired Ring's brother, Rex, to come to South Bend for an interview. Ring got the message, went to South Bend and got the job as sports writer.

He went to Chicago, where he worked on the old Inter-Ocean, the Examiner and the Tribune. Jobs on the Boston American and the Chicago American also occupied him but it was while conducting "In The Wake of the News" on the Chicago Tribune that he acquired fame. He finally was weaned from the Tribune by the Bell Syndicate, for which he is present writer.

In writing syndicated newspaper articles, stories and humorous comment on everything from World Series games to the state of the weather Ring has turned out many columns of keen, American wit. Among his published works are "You Know Me, Al," "Gullble's Travels," "Own Your Own Home," "Treat 'Em Rough," "The Real Dope," "The Young Immigrants," "Big Town," and "How to Write Short Stories." About the time Ring started writing for the Bell syndicate he transferred the scene of his operations to Great Neck, Long Island, and he since has carried on his writing from that place.

DANCE POPULAR AS SOON AS IT IS CONDEMNED
That's Reason for Great Charleston Craze

New York—Sammy Lee, who was called from Broadway to put jazz into the Metropolitan Opera ballet when it was decided to present Carpenter's "Sky-scrapers," has given much thought to the mystery of why certain dances become hits.

His conclusion is that generous helpings of condemnation, which may be expected from all sections of the country, provide definite assurance of popularity for a new dance.

"Take a little glance into dance history and you'll find that almost every popular dance was condemned shortly after it came out," he said. "The polka, the tango, the fox trot, the shimmy, the Charleston and numerous others all were helped along by unfavorable criticism."

"I don't believe there is any more harm doing the Charleston than there is in dancing an old-fashioned waltz. But I recognize opposition made the Charleston famous."

Most of the new dances are evolved on the musical comedy stage, in Lee's opinion. Occasionally, some particular step strikes popular fancy with audiences and many of the persons try them out when they get home.

There's a desire within them to duplicate what they saw on the stage," the director explained. "Soon the dance finds itself on the dance-floor. Then some one launches forth with a criticism and the creation is started upward usually to success."

The stage likewise carries the dance to the country at large. It is danced on the vaudeville circuits. Musical comedies take it up and before long even the small towns have seen and are dancing the new hit. Dancing teachers held in the popularity march, but I don't believe there is any organized exploitation."

Lee has danced all his life. About six years ago, he directed the dancing in "The Gingham Girl" and the originality displayed by his chorus of eight girls brought him fame on Broadway.

Since then, he has created and directed the dancing in sixty musical shows, including "Lady Be Good," "Tip Toes," "Cocoanuts," "No. No. Nanette," "Sweet Little Devil" and "Captain Jinks."

"Lady Be Good" now is playing at the Drury Lane in London and before the year is over Lee hopes to have four or five more of his shows there, one of which he will do with Irving Berlin and Freddie Lonsdale.

Broadway looked upon Lee's invitation to the Metropolitan as the Carpenter ballet as significant.

Esthetic Value of French Girl 100,000 Francs

Paris—The "esthetic value" of a young woman in France is 100,000 francs, according to a decision rendered by the correctional court here.

A girl, aged seventeen, run down by a motor car received injuries that left scars on her neck and face. She first sued for damages and then her parents sued on their own account for diminished "esthetic value" of their daughter.

THE PRETTIEST DIMPLES OF ALL

Escanaba Girl to Appear as Soprano Soloist With Augustana Concert Band

The Augustana college concert band will play a concert in the Swedish Lutheran Bethany church here April 6, it was announced yesterday by the pastor, C. Albert Lund.

The band is known among local music lovers as one of the best college musical organizations which visit this city. Its concert this year, however, will carry added interest because Miss Lina Land, daughter of the local pastor and Mrs. Lund, is one of the soloists. Miss Land is a soprano of ability, personality and culture.

Thirty-five men will make up the band, Martin Johnston, who will be remembered here as a vocal and brass baritone soloist when the band played here two years, is now conductor. Iverne Dowie, the blind violinist, who also has been heard here, is another soloist.

The organization is traveling in a special Pullman. Its itinerary will take it into four states, the stops being as follows:
April 1—Monmouth, Ill.
April 2—Galesburg, Ill.
April 3—Batavia, Ill.
April 4—Chicago (Two concerts).

Fay Lanphier, Beauty Contest Winner, Star of "American Venus"

TODAY'S PROGRAMS.

At the Delft: Bebe Daniels in a comedy drama, "The Splendid Crime." The cast also includes Neil Hamilton, Anne Cornwall and other well-knowns.

At the Strand: William Fairbanks and Edith Roberts in a boxing ring thriller, "The New Champion."

"The American Venus," Paramount's much-talked-of comedy-spectacle, will make its local bow at the Delft theater Monday and Tuesday. Because of its theme, picturesque background, superlative cast and elaborate production trimmings, this picture is awaited with more than ordinary interest.

Fay Lanphier, who was adjudged the most beautiful girl in America at the annual Atlantic City beauty pageant, plays the title role, and in addition, a number of the other entrants have minor roles in the film. However, the chief acting burden is carried by Esther Ralston, Lawrence Gray and Ford Sterling, assisted by such experienced troupers as Kenneth MacKenna, Edna May Oliver and William B. Mack. Lonise Brooks, the beautiful dancer from the Ziegfeld Follies, and W. T. Benda, the internationally known artist, are also prominent in the picture.

The story, written directly for the screen by Townsend Martin, concerns itself with the comedy complications, dramatic thrills and absorbing romance that develop as a result of a national beauty contest inaugurated by a number of famous artists to find the modern American Venus. Because her father, a manufacturer of beauty creams and lotions is on the verge of bankruptcy, Esther Ralston sets out to win first prize so as to stimulate a demand for his products.

A rival complexion cream maker schemes to keep her from winning, but with the help of her fiancée, a go-getter of a publicity man, she outwits her enemy. The picture, under the expert direction of Frank Tuttle, has been produced on a magnificent scale. A gorgeous fashion show, a series of artistic tableaux, scenes in Technicolor, an exciting motorcycle race and some daredevil airplane stunts are some of the outstanding highlights of the production.

"Zander the Great." Marion Davies will be featured Wednesday and Thursday at the Delft theatre in "Zander the Great," described as a "sizzling modern comedy drama." It is an adaptation of the Broadway success of that name. Holbrook Blinn, Hobart Bosworth, Harrison Ford, Hedda Hopper, Harry Myers and Richard Carle are some of the other distinguished folk who appear in it.

The Friday-Saturday feature at the Delft will be "Steel Preferred," a drama of the steel mills. The cast includes Walter Long, Hobart Bosworth, Vera Reynolds, Ben Turpin, Charlie Murray, Helene Sullivan and a number of others.

Thriller at Strand. Pete Morrison, whose work on the screen has thrilled millions of movie fans, is the star of "Triple Action," coming to the Strand Monday and Tuesday. Morrison began life as a cowboy, graduated into Wild West Shows and from that passed on into the movie. "Triple Action," Morrison does much whirlwind riding and is the principal in a daring leap from an aeroplane. In the supporting cast are Trilby Clark, Dolores Gardner, Harry Von Meter, Milburn Morante, Lafayette McKee, Fred Burns, Charles King, Ted Oliver, Leon Kent, Walter Patterson, Harry Belmore, Charles Bar-

Harold Bell Wright Story. "The Recreation of Brian Kent," the Harold Bell Wright novel, will be the feature at the Strand Wednesday and Thursday. A distinguished cast has been assembled for the production.

David Belasco's stage success, "The Boomerang," will be the Strand picture Friday and Saturday, along with new chapters of "The Green Archer."

Uncomfortable Feet Are So Unnecessary

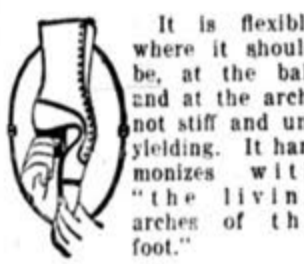

IN BYGONE years one endured a certain amount of discomfort in footwear as a necessary evil.

Put not now. Tho some do yet.

Perhaps you are one of those who do not happen to know there is now a shoe which gives more solid comfort to troublesome feet than anyone would be likely to believe possible.

This shoe is called the Cantilever Shoe

Because it is shaped as Nature does the delicate Cantilever arched bones of the foot.

It is flexible where it should be, at the ball and at the arch, not stiff and unyielding. It harmonizes with the living arches of the foot.

Designed to fit the foot—not to force the foot to fit it. Hence the unusual comfort. Just try it.

The Very Idea!

By Neil O'Connell

SOME OTHER TIME.

All kiddin' aside, this is one of those days when a man can't get down to his work. The sun's shining bright and I'm lost in its rays, and I feel that I'd much rather shirk.

I might write a verse about fashions and such, or I might frame a poem on spring. I will can imagine that just the right touch could make it a sweet little thing.

There isn't a law against serious thought, and I might turn a rhyme to advice. But that's not the spirit in which I am caught, so the verse wouldn't turn out so nice.

No doubt there are millions of lurchers, at hand, that really would fit into rhyme, but surely, by this time, you'll all understand, I'll write them—at some other time.

It's queer how a fellow can knock letters out, and write without batting an eye. I'll bet you don't know what this verse is about. That's nuthin', folks—neither do I.

One of the most important parts of an auto is the nut that holds the wheel.

The worst lie I ever heard told of was the golf ball that landed in the middle of a newly plowed field.

"Stanny about a telephone girl. She has to make both ends meet or she can't hold her job."

This thing ba, puzzled me for years. So tell me, if you can, why Solomon, with his hundred wives, was called the wisest man?

NOW, HONESTLY— Pardon me if I laugh at the fellow who thinks he gets by on bluff.

Why shouldn't I? All the rest of the world laughs at him. That's the funny part of it—when a man has so little sense as to travel along on brag, exaggeration, egotism and the like you can't expect him to have sense enough to know that he's not fooling anybody but himself.

But—somebody wakes up to find that the road he has traveled leads only to the well-known place called No Place.

It's a kindly tip to all heading that way—DETOUR!

When you kiss a girl in a quiet spot, it's quiet only because she can't very well talk while being kissed.

One of the best ways to make little things count is to get a job as a third grade arithmetic teacher.

SHE—is bookkeeping easy? HE—Yes—unless the people you borrow from have good memories.

FABLES IN FACT. ONCE THERE WAS A LADY WHO WAS AFRAID TO LIVE IN HER HOME ALONE COMMA SO SHE BOUGHT A DOG PERIOD THE PURP CERTAINLY COULD BARK COMMA BUT THAT DIDN'T PROVE THAT HE WAS A GOOD WATCH DOG COMMA AND THIS IS THE VERY THING THE LADY WAS ANXIOUS TO KNOW ABOUT PERIOD HOWEVER COMMA A TRAMP CALLED ONE DAY AND STOPPED AT THE OUTER GATE PERIOD QUOTATION MARK DOES YOUR DOG BITE QUESTION MARK QUOTATION MARK HE ASKED PERIOD QUOTATION MARK THAT'S WHAT I WANT TO FIND OUT COMMA QUOTATION MARK REPLIED THE LADY COMMA QUOTATION MARK COME ON IN PERIOD QUOTATION MARK

THE ESCANABA DAILY PRESS

AN ANNIVERSARY.
With yesterday's issue The Daily Press entered upon the eighteenth year of its history. The past seventeen years, the publishers feel, have been years of constructive newspaper building.

As the county highway engineer worked recently in an engineering magazine, Gogebic county has whittled for all time the snow removal program. The secret of it all is adequate equipment, sufficient to meet any emergency.

THE FIRE FLYER.
If the "Forest Fire Flyer," now touring the peninsula, impresses upon even a small percentage of the people that forest fires are not accidents but the results, in a vast majority of instances, of human carelessness and neglect.

MUST HAVE EQUIPMENT.
Commenting on a recent Press editorial concerning the lack of adequate equipment in both the city and the county to cope with the snow removal problem in this section, the Ironwood Globe says:

LYRICS OF LIFE
By Douglas Malloch

THE HOLE IN OUR POCKET.
And, faith, 'twas the hole in our pockets that cost The fortune that missed us, the money we lost. We haven't been shiftless, we've risen at dawn. And made a few pennies, but where is it gone?

THE YELLOW STUB
By Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
HENRY RAND, a business man, found murdered in a cheap hotel in Escanaba. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the yellow stub of a cigarette.

He walked noiselessly on rubber heels, but unconsciously he lengthened his stride. A minute or two later he checked himself, seeing that the distance between him and the man he was following had narrowed.

He turned around helplessly, should he run for assistance, or should he try to enter the "boos alone? Would it do any good? It seemed so far away and yet so near. Olga had cried out for help. She needed him.

CHAPTER XLVII
Jimmy, a grim-shouldered figure in the fog, his motion was a blur—whether from fear or excitement he did not know—was being seen by the man who had been watching him.

It was the basement entrance which Divis had used and Jimmy made his cautious way down the steps. He stooped just outside the door, his car pressed against a panel. But he heard nothing and for just a brief second he debated whether to try the door and see if he could slip in unheeded and unseen.

He knew, instinctively, that inside this house was the secret of those mysterious warnings he had received; to Olga Maynard's fate; to Jensen's whereabouts; even to his father's murder.

He cautiously tried the knob of the door that had opened in answer to Divis' knock. He was somewhat surprised to find that it turned. Divis had not locked the door behind him.

He picked it up, and to his touch it felt like a heavy, round oval knob with a crudely fashioned handle. Holding it up toward the light that sifted from the other room, he beheld what apparently was the broken-off end of a heavy brass rod.

Text: John 19:23-30; 20:10,20.

Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments, and made four parts, to every soldier a part; and also his coat; now the coat was without seam, woven from the top throughout.

Stage

BY THE NEA PLAY JURY
New York, Mar. 20.—What will be the 1926 Pulitzer prize play? There is much argument about it just now for an answer.

Certain of the "important name" critics already have set up a hall-fellow for the Council on George Kelly's "Craig's Wife" and Olin Davis' dramatization of Scott Fitzgerald's "Great Gatsby" are being mentioned, but are likely to miss one of the points of selection which guide the judges.

PLAYS OF THE WEEK
Again there is a week of little theatrical importance. "The Trouper," written by the Nugents, who were responsible for the very successful "Poor Nut," was given a trial at The Playshop and added little to the Nugent reputation.

ALMA CLUB TO SING APRIL 3 IN MANISTIQUE

The Alma college Glee club will arrive in Manistique Saturday morning, April 3, to give a concert in the high school auditorium at 8:15 that night. The club is making its annual trip covering the state of Michigan and the schedule includes a stop at Gladstone on the eve of the concert in Manistique. Alma Glee clubs have made two very acceptable offerings to the music lovers of this city in the last few years.

Considerable interest is being shown in the coming of these college artists into our midst; the Manistique Woman's club is sponsoring the appearance. It will be remembered that an Alma club presented a fine musical offering in 1924. In addition to an exceptionally fine male quartet and the group work, there were vocal and instrumental solos from individually trained men. The ensemble work that year included standard and worth while glee club numbers, plaintive plantation melodies, and catchy sketches of life and vigor, all entirely pervaded by the inimitable spirit and pep of a bunch of cheer cut, personable college men. In addition, there were harmonious and technically difficult selections by the club, entirely without accompaniment.

With the group, will come Professor J. W. Ewer, an organizer and musician of note, who has been directing successful musical organizations at Alma for the past four years. Last year, the club made a pleasing trip through Saginaw, Flint, Detroit and other cities in southern Michigan; consequently, upper Michigan cities feel fortunate to be again included in the itinerary of the Alma Glee club.

IN NEW YORK

New York—Happened to notice an old barge watchman at one of the East River piers taking a pinch of snuff.

How many fans of the grand old custom remain I wonder?

An incident I recalled when I noticed in the society column of the New York press announcement of the coming marriage of Mary Lorillard.

Two centuries ago the Lorillards started the first snuff factory in America in what is now the Bronx...

...the ancient factory still stands, a landmark... New times, new fads... Snuff went out of vogue and the Lorillards went into tobacco... They piled up one of America's greatest fortunes...

They became famous, too, for fine horses... Many years ago a horse-loving Lorillard built up the famous Ranocosa stable... They now belong to Harry Sinclair, the oil magnate...

From night-clubdom comes word that a song now being widely sung in the belt where the lights burn long and bright is entitled "When a Kid Who Came From the East Side Found a Sweet Society Rose," which seems to indicate that a couple of clever youngsters have "scored" Irving Berlin on his own romance.

All that remains now is for someone to name a cigar after the Mackay-Berlin romance and the cycle will have been completely run.

Speaking of nightclubs, a young man of my acquaintance was trying to tabulate a percentage of his costs.

"Now take this overcoat I am wearing," he commented, "it cost me 40c, or something like that. The cost of checking it in cafes and nightclubs is, up to date, about 75c. Which means that I could have bought a better coat for what it cost me to hang this one up."

I dried my tears and walked away.

The nightclub bonanza days are passing, I am told. Pay dirt is getting scarcer. For many months the prospectors of the gold-field fields—the fers one might call them—have been tapping a rich vein in visiting purples. The general impression is that they overworked their claims. "Hold-up" prices have been asked, and "for coppers" and New Yorkers alike are patronizing only a few of the most "notable" cabarets and dance resorts. Money is tighter, says Broadway.

The westerners seem to be most proficient in this good business. Sophie Tucker, who launched her career in the "cooh shoot" days of San Francisco, is the latest to invade night-clubdom and Texas Gulnan has found it necessary to open a second club.

Pirates Perched at Top; 4 Teams Practically Tied

Members of the Elks Bowling League enjoyed a very successful week, and the majority of them increased their averages. The Lions, by taking the series from the Giants, dropped the latter into second place. The Pirates on the other hand, took four out of six games from the Cubs, and are now perched at the head of the league. The Bear Cats also won an interesting series from the Tigers.

Stanley Crowe was the sensation for the week, getting an average of 187 for nine games and incidentally boosting his average four pins in the individual standing. Other high averages were recorded by Hentschell with 188, Bolitho and Busch with 187, and Remell with 180.

Busch hit the high mark for the week with 236, with Stanley Crowe following with 215 and two other games over the 200 mark and Hentschell third with 212. Stanness, Bolitho, Quick, Remell and Southard were others who countered over the 200 mark.

The fight for first place has become intensely interesting with four teams practically tied for high honors. There remains but two more series to be played off.

The schedule for this week is as follows: Monday night, the Pirates and Lions will battle for first place. Tuesday night the Tigers and Giants, and on Wednesday night, the Cubs and Bear Cats will meet.

Two tight tilts were rolled at the Braint hawling alleys Friday night. In a mixed battle between "ze girls" trio and the Hewett crochets team, the lassies lost by five pins, and a contest between two Knights of Pythias clans resulted in a margin of only one pin for the winners.

SNOWPLOW IS STARTED OUT ON SATURDAY

Starting Saturday morning on its way to Cooke, the Schoolcraft county snowplow began the work of opening M-12 for wheel traffic, and members of the county road commission stated that barring mishap they expected the west highway to be cleared by the end of this week.

According to present plans, the plow will take down only a part of the snow on the outward trip, and complete the work on their return.

The snow plow crew reported some sizable drifts in sections of the Cooke road. Recent warm weather has softened these, and left the snow in a wet, slushy condition. In order not to inconvenience farmers who still have sleigh hauling to do, the road crew will avoid plowing so deep as to leave stretches of bare macadam.

GOES TO NEWBERRY.
Paul F. Hoholik, formerly a salesman for the Schoolcraft auto company of Manistique, left Saturday morning for Newberry, where he has accepted a position as sarge manager for Andrew Westin. Mr. and Mrs. Hoholik will reside at Newberry permanently.

Pupils Save $900 Since December; 670 Are Enrolled

In a little more than three months, students of the Manistique schools have saved close to $900 by means of the school banking system installed here in December.

Figures given out last week by Prin. C. F. Johnson of Central school show the following sums saved in the four local schools since the system was started on December 5, and up to March 12 of this year:

Central School	$462.91
Lakeside	107.21
Westside	245.25
Riverside	71.81
Total	$887.18

The total membership of the schools is 780. Of these 670 are savers, and out of the latter, 312 are depositors (those who have saved $1.00 or more). The depositors are distributed as follows in the various schools: Central 145, Lakeside 38, Westside 98, and Riverside 31.

The total amount saved by students during the week ending March 12 was $104.85. Of this $54.81 came from Central school. The sixth grade at Central has the best record; their total savings reached $108 last week.

In all schools, about 50 per cent of the savers are depositors, or those who have one dollar or more saved.

A summary of the students not saving shows that Central school has 39, Lakeside 41, Westside 30 and Riverside only one pupil not saving.

"Zander the Great" Is Sunday Feature

Marion Davies in her latest photoplay, "Zander the Great," will be the Sunday night attraction at the Gero theater. As "Mamie," the heroine of this famous stage play, Miss Davies acts a role in the picture tonight that is said to place her in the very forefront of comedienne.

Beginning with her childhood in an orphan asylum, and carrying her through a series of exciting episodes in the far west, "Zander the Great" provides Miss Davies with an opportunity for a whimsical, humorous characterization.

In the cast are the following players: Hobart Bosworth, Harry Myers, Hobrook Blinn, Harry Watson, Jr., Richard Carle, Emily Fitzroy and Hedda Hopper.

Western scenery and the Great American desert provide pictorial backgrounds for this picture.

Prince Here Monday.
For Monday night, the Manistique movie menu gives Ray Griffith in "He's a Prince," which tells in a screamingly funny manner of a European prince, who abhors display parades, social affairs and the like, and who wants to be one of the common people.

Mary Brian plays opposite Griffith. The picture ends with a novel twist, and the most highly humorous situation ever seen in a Griffith production.

Chronic Fatigue Keeps Many Mothers Always "Dead Tired"

Thousands of pale, tired, worn-out mothers are victims of chronic fatigue—and do not know it.

Chronic fatigue is not the ordinary tired feeling. It is an unnatural tiredness that "hangs on"—usually due to lack of sufficient organic iron in the blood. For conquering iron is unexcelled. It contains true organic iron like that in the blood, and in spinach and lentils. Nuxated Iron increases strength in two weeks or more. It will not injure teeth or disturb stomach like mineral iron. For sale at all good druggists.

ARTICLE No. 20

One of the most difficult points of auction bridge, as well as one of the most interesting, is the proper bidding of a two-suited hand; that is, a hand that contains two suits of at least five cards each. It is the strongest hand that can be held if played at the best suit of the combined hands. Such a hand is considered, on the average, one trick better than the usual suit bid, and at least two tricks better than a no-trump bid.

This fact shows the importance of the proper bidding of such hands, in order to arrive at the best bid of the combined hands. As dealer, or before partner has bid, if your hand is a "two suiter," try for the opportunity to bid both suits, provided, of course, they are sufficiently strong to warrant an original or forced bid. As a general rule, bid the higher valued suit first, provided it contains sufficient strength to warrant the bid. If not, bid the lower valued suit, and show the higher valued suit on second or subsequent round. In the same way, always prefer, if possible, the major suit to the minor.

The following hands illustrate the principles just discussed and if you can figure out the proper bid in each instance, you are doing very well. In each case, there is no score. If you, as dealer, held the following hands, what would you bid? Compare your analysis with the one that will be given in the next article.

The following hand is noteworthy in that YZ can make five odd in hearts although AB have practically all of the high cards:

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A bid one spade. Y passed and B bid two clubs. Z bid two hearts. A bid three hearts, Y three hearts and B four clubs. Z bid four hearts, A five clubs, Y doubled, B passed and Z bid five hearts. A doubled and all passed. A opened with the ace of clubs and then played the ace of spades which Z trumped. How should he play the deuce of hearts and when A plays the ten, Z should stop to consider. There are now only two hearts unaccounted for, the king and the jack. If A has both, he is bound to make a trick, no matter what Z plays. If he has the king and B the jack, Z will lose a trick by playing the ace. If A has the jack and B the king, Z will win a trick by playing the ace. In other words, the play of the ace of hearts from Y's hand at trick three is

WOMEN JURORS LOSE AT SOO

County Board Refuses to Provide Room for Them.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mar. 20.—A man's jury room in circuit court is nearer actually today than was years ago when women of city began agitation for a room to be used by impaneled women jurors. The board of supervisors Chippewa county has voted to omit the report of the finance committee which disapproved expenditure of $587 to furnish the best room of the second floor of the courthouse for a women jurors' room.

Delegation of Sault women, led by Mrs. Mary LeBlanc, appeared before the board following the report of the committee and made an appeal for the appropriation. They are demanding the women's room. Mrs. LeBlanc said that the women of the county did not ask for an unusually large sum to renovate a room but that they considered they were entitled to some consideration.

Agitation for a women's jury room began six years ago when six women sat as jurors in circuit court. Temporary accommodations had been made for them which both women and Judge Louis H. declared were inadequate.

A letter to the board of supervisors at the January, 1920, session, the board, Judge Peod declared that if women were to serve as jurors in circuit court, it was necessary that the county provide suitable accommodations for them in courthouse building.

It is expected that the women of the city and county will make something of an organized demand the women's jury room to be sent to the supervisors at the next session.

Negro Bus Boy Now Lashed With Best of American Poets

Washington—Vachel Lindsay, American lyric writer, was dining at a local hotel before his young negro bus-boy came up to him and put some sheets of paper on the table as he cleared away the plates.

That was how Lindsay came to know Lanston Hughes, whom he met in the ranks of the young American poets.

"I could not then talk to Lindsay," said Hughes, "because it is the rule of the house that bus-boys must not hold conversation with guests. I did whisper to him that I liked his poetry and hoped he would think well of mine."

To his great surprise, Hughes learned from the newspapers next morning that Lindsay not only read his work but also found it good enough to read with the verses of other American poets.

Babson Discusses Value of Building, Loan Associations

BY ROGER W. BABSON, Babson Park, Fla., Mar. 20—(Special)—Roger W. Babson, continuing his Family Investment Talks, today discusses building and loan associations and cooperative banks. He points out opportunities for both borrowing and investing which, in a limited way, these banks offer on exceptionally good terms. Mr. Babson believes that comparatively few understand today the great advantages which these young institutions afford. His statement is as follows:

"Few people realize the tremendous growth which this young child of our banking system has made during the past 20 years. In 1905 there were only 5,326 of these associations in existence having resources of but $646,700,000. In 1925 the number had been increased to 11,844 with resources of $4,766,000,000 and this growth is still continuing at a rapid rate."

Good Local Management.
"Building and loan associations, cooperative banks, and similar institutions have at the present time two distinct advantages. First, they are operated very economically with small expenses. This is especially true in places where there is only one such association, and thus they have not been driven by competition to expensive offices, high-priced employes, and other luxuries as have so many of the commercial banks. Statistics show that their expenses per dollar of resources are only about one-half what a regular commercial bank, with the same resources, would be obliged to pay. The second reason for their success is that they have commanded exceptionally good local talent for their board of directors, men who have been selected, not because of their wealth and reputation, but because of a genuine interest in helping their fellow men save money to build homes. These men feel that the best way to make a good citizen is to have a man own his own home as no man was ever known to hang the red flag of anarchy over his own hearthstone."

"I do not mean by this that the directors of these small institutions are necessarily better than the directors of the commercial banks, but these building and loan associations without capital stock, have not yet got the commercial spirit and their directors serve more with the spirit of the trustee of a church, college, hospital or library. Personally, I believe this is something which will receive more and more consideration in years to come. Men are gradually learning that after one has a reasonable amount of money any more is only a care and a source of danger to the children. On the other hand, men know that losing is bad and to avoid worrying about one's self or avoid going to the devil they must have something to do. Hence today you can get the finest talent to serve on boards of charitable institutions without pay—men that huge salaries would not tempt. The directors of most cooperative bank and mutual savings banks represent such men—also many of the directors of commercial banks come in the same class. The latter, however, are really elected by the stockholders or because they are stockholders rather than from the purpose of public service. Personally, I feel that in future years it will be easier to get good men for such trustees and that corporations, without capital stock, will be organized for many other purposes other than those above mentioned."

How They Work.
"Building and loan associations and cooperative banks were really the originators of 'banking on the installment plan'; that is, they were the first to apply the installment buying principle to banking and to building a home. Their plan is to have a person regularly pay into the bank the same amount every week from a dollar upwards. Of course, if you enter on the dollar a week basis you can pay for five weeks in advance by paying five dollars every five weeks; but you cannot pay in one dollar one week, five dollars the next, and two dollars the next, just as you feel like doing. You definitely subscribe for one or more 'shares' as they are called, which you agree to pay for by bringing or sending to the bank a definite sum each week, this sum being based on the number of 'shares' for which you have subscribed. After the required number of payments, you have a full paid share upon which you receive a rate of interest varying from 5 to 6 per cent, always a rate higher than commercial banks with capital stock can afford to pay. Hence these banks which we are discussing both encourage systematic 'saving' and give depositors an exceptionally high rate of interest with absolute safety. On the other hand, this kind of a bank is bad for women who are apt to suddenly change their minds and want to use the money for buying a fur coat instead of building a home! It carries practically no reserves and a depositor is not supposed to draw out his money until his 'shares' have matured. If you want your money where you can get at it any time, or for any purpose use a commercial bank, that is a national bank, state bank or trust company."

"When a small depositor deposits in a commercial bank he must not expect necessarily to borrow from that bank; but it is understood with the building and loan and cooperative banks that every depositor has the right to borrow to either build or buy a home. The money being put in by the new depositor is always being loaned to old depositors. Hence a depositor is not only systematically saving money, on which he will get a good rate of interest, but he is automatically building up a credit which will enable him to borrow in order to build or buy a home. After borrowing the money, the depositor continues his systematic deposits which go to reduce the loan so that finally the home is owned free and clear. I did not refer to these banks in my previous talks on bank accounts because I treated such bank accounts as reserves or reservoirs to be drawn upon in emergencies or to be used for establishing commercial credit and for becoming a man of affairs. You can't draw checks on a building and loan or a cooperative bank, and they will never loan you money to buy merchandise or perform the other innumerable services that a good commercial bank will perform. Building and loan and cooperative banks exist for three purposes only: First, to train people to systematically save; secondly, to help people establish a credit for building home; and thirdly, to enable such a home to be paid for on the installment plan."

Investors Shares Being Sold.
"Up to the present time, building and loan associations, and cooperative banks have been of little interest to the business man or investor. They deal only in small sums and, therefore, have been unpopular with the busy person who does not wish to bother with systematic deposits of small amounts. Moreover, very few of these associations and banks would loan a contractor money to build a dozen houses or in fact care to get mixed up with speculative building in any form. Hence the business man deals exclusively with the commercial banks. Recently, however, some of these building and loan associations are selling 'bonds' or 'certificates' while the cooperative banks are selling 'investor shares' or 'matured shares' as they are sometimes called.

"In most states the banks can sell only a limited amount of their 'matured shares'—to one percent—in some cases only $2,000 and seldom over $5,000. They are, of course, not marketable like 'good bonds' or listed stocks, but they pay a high rate of interest and should be absolutely safe. I believe these are very attractive for investors to buy at a time like this when stocks are high. Today the Dow Jones list of 49 active stocks average about 128, compared with a low point of $5 in May, 1924, which means that these stocks have gone up more than 50 per cent in about two years. Considering the fact that stocks are today 12 per cent higher than any other high point the country has ever witnessed should be a warning to all that lower prices are inevitable. This is why wise investors are keeping a portion of their money 'tied up' at this time and are not buying stocks.

"Of course, the large investor can not bother with 'matured shares', but must be content either to buy short time notes, treasury certificates, or deposit his money in commercial banks and be satisfied with a very small rate of interest if he is to keep his funds liquid. The small investor can, however, buy these 'matured shares' and receive a high rate of interest with perfect safety pending a time when good stocks are again low.

"General business shows a slight letting up, but this should not disturb us at this time of year, because it is mid-season period when the Babsonchart usually falls off. Today we stand at 11 per cent above normal compared with a high of 18 per cent above normal at the first of the year. However, all indications are that the first half of 1926 will be at least equal any previous year."

BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY

The increasing demand for historical truth has resulted recently in a scramble of world-famed statesmen to strip old yells from contemporary events and give to the world a glimpse of the men and affairs in unadorned state.

They are Viscount Grey in England, and Walter H. Page, and many others, and now comes "The Intimate Papers of Colonel House" (Houghton, Mifflin).

There is a most disturbing chronicle of the power behind the throne in the Wilson administration. Here are letters, the diary notes and the relations which for a number of years have been sleeping in the Yale University Library and now are edited by Professor Seymour of the Yale history department.

An Ambitious Shadow.
Through this pile of documentation runs the extraordinary romance of a slender westerner in whose heart swelled great political ambitions, but who was willing to become a mere shadow—almost out of the picture, in fact—while his political and governmental ideas were being put into action.

House takes from these two volumes as a mysterious and sometimes baffling figure.

Son of a Civil War blockade running merchant, he found himself in Houston, Texas, with enough money to take care of any want. At college he became interested in politics, but returned to the West to play with railroads. Soon he was "making" governors and was being advised to go after national politics.

The Maker of Wilson.
He "discovered" Woodrow Wilson, decided Wilson was presidential material and, in due time, Wilson became president. But just behind his chair stood the slim figure of the man who admits that his "ambition was so great that it never seemed to me to be worth while to satisfy it." So he did not go after things for himself. He was "more interested in measure than in men." He didn't "give a whoop in Hades who was in."

He was frankly cynical about the stupidities and selfishness of office holders and statesmen. He realized that there were perhaps a few senators and the president who did most everything and ran things. There were, he realized, a few men who made the important speeches. He had few illusions, but he had a vast number of economic and governmental ideas.

Philip Dru.
These he put forth quite honestly in an anonymously written book "Philip Dru: a Story of Today and Tomorrow." In it his hero became a dictator through the agency of a rebellion and used his power to build up a "new world" of his structure that was to be a model.

Into the Wilson administration began to strike reforms and doctrines held by the mythical "Philip Dru" who was men other than House; graduated in one tax, tax on net earnings of corporations, universal suffrage, with women in 1900, an export tariff board and other innovations.

House, in his "Phil Dru" role, was pulling the strings. The letters take Colonel House on his historic peace mission, they show him meeting various notables and having little use for any statesman, excepting Viscount Grey; they show the late Kaiser as a quite human person.

Fiction-Like Power.
But the point of outstanding interest is the relationship of House and Wilson. If it was merely power that House sought, surely he seems to have possessed it. He becomes almost a fictional character. He carelessly plays at billiards, well away from the scene, while his plans and plans are being recited by the president and while his dreams are becoming laws of the land.

Even now, as the whole story is laid openly and between the lines, he may be found well away from the American scene, hibernating in Europe.

In a general way it is hopefully disillusioning. His utter contempt for office is obviously one of the chief things that cemented him to Wilson. Wilson knew quite well no reward was expected. Nor was any received.

Kept a Diary.
And all the time, during eight years, the slender Texan was each night putting in a diary his notes on the events of the day.

There can be no tangling of history under such circumstances, although the results are likely to be disturbingly astounding. And this chronicle is that.

And not the least disturbing feature is that one closes the second volume with the conviction that very much that was said of Woodrow Wilson is true; that he did browse over Wordsworth when events of great moment were waiting that he did lack initiative and was all too frequently the spokesman of other ideas; that he was ardent and impractical; that on the other hand, House stands ready to take full responsibility for certain things that incurr as well as those that went well, an emergence from his confusion a most romantic and a certain probability.

Lantern Lecture on Peninsula at Methodist Church

Rev. G. W. Oimstead of Marquette will give a "Lantern" lecture Monday evening at the First Methodist church.

The pictures have been taken from some of the most beautiful places in the Upper Peninsula, and will not only deal with the extensive work of Methodism in this great northland, but will also show the rugged glory of "God's country" from Sault Ste. Marie to Wakefield, and from Menominee to the Copper Country. The lecture will be prefaced with vocal and instrumental music by some of the best local talent. There will be no charge for admission, and the public is cordially invited.

Previous to the entertainment the ladies of the church will serve a pot-luck supper to begin at 6:30.

SERVICES AT ST. JOSEPH'S
Rev. Fr. Bertrand Labinski will speak this evening at the Lenten services at St. Joseph's church, using as his topic "The Cross; the Surest Way to Heaven."

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these services at which the benediction with the blessed sacrament will be given after the sermon.

The First Few Days

we do any kind of new work, we are very conscious of how much work it is. We have to keep our minds on it constantly. But as we become more accustomed, it gets easier and easier.

The same condition is true of saving. No one questions the value of saving, but the new saver is so conscious of the attention he must give to saving the first few weeks, that saving seems hard. But regular habit makes it easy, as regular habit does everything else.

Save in this bank every week, and you soon won't think there is any sacrifice in saving—and you'll have the money.

AMERICAS LIGHT-CAR MOTOR SENSATION

The mightiest of all light-car engines. A motor developing more power in proportion to its size than any other of comparable dimensions. The bigger valve-system of its improved L-head engine, with its greater intake and exhaust capacity, makes this Overland Sedan the most powerful, fastest and most active four-cylinder car in its price-class.

More than three quarters of a million owners of this handsome, roomy Overland know that for power and speed, long life, low running cost, low upkeep and all-round motoring satisfaction, there has yet to be built the 4-cylinder car of its type that can touch it.
