

DYNAMITE CARS, ESCAPE WITH $102,000

WORLD'S BEST NAVY SEEN IF CONFAB FAILS

U. S. TO ARM UNLESS AGREEMENT IS REACHED.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1924, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Mar. 10.—If the proposed armament conference between Great Britain, United States and Japan is a failure, congress will be asked to expand the American navy next December so that it will be as powerful, if not more powerful, than any other navy in the world.

President Coolidge is determined that the question shall be carried by the principal naval powers and a decision to limit further construction reached. The strongest argument in favor of such a policy which the American delegation will advance is that unless restriction exists, the appropriations for naval purposes will increase almost without limit.

The single thing which made the 1922 armament conference a success was the knowledge that the United States had the money to build a bigger navy whereas the other powers were weighed down by war debts.

Naval Group Restless. The naval group in the United States did not take kindly to the agreements of the Washington conference, because while a 5-5-3 ratio for capital ships was established, the navy of Great Britain by elevation of guns and by the building of cruisers and auxiliary craft really took a position which naval experts said was far above the ratio. This was denied by the British navalists.

It is recognized that failure of the forthcoming conference would give American naval men an influential leverage with congress, which lately has shown a disposition to quadruple President Coolidge's advice on the national defense program.

Mr. Coolidge is really fighting the naval group in congress when he pleads with Great Britain and Japan for further limitation. As for France and Italy, they would suffer greatly if an unlimited naval building program should be undertaken by the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

The present French navy would then be regarded as inadequate. The cry of the navalists in France would then be to keep pace with Great Britain. As France increases her naval strength, Italy would feel obliged to do likewise.

The whole vicious circle of naval competition would begin and this is what the president foresees unless the naval powers adopt a sensible attitude toward further naval constructions.

Motive Not Understood. What the foreign governments have not clearly understood is the motive back of the American government's invitation. It is sincere.

Three Power Conference Assured; Japan Accepts

Death Takes I-See-O, Famous Indian Scout

Fort Sill, Okla., Mar. 11.—(AP)—I-See-O, 78, last of the famous Kiowa Indian scouts, died at his tent home on the army reservation here today. He will be buried Monday with military honors as a sergeant of the U. S. army.

I-SEE-O.

When religious frenzy threw the Plains Indians of the middle-west into the so-called "Ghost Dance Uprisings" of 1890 and 1891, the sage counsels of I-See-O, Kiowa army scout, held the Kiowa and Comanche tribes from participating in the disorders that were quelled among other tribes only after considerable bloodshed.

For his services as a peacemaker and an Indian scout, I-See-O was given the permanent rank of sergeant in the U. S. army, and wore the khaki until his death. Thus he, perhaps, was the oldest soldier on the army's active list.

Age Not Known. I-See-O's exact age was not known, but when he enlisted in 1919 for the last time, he gave it as 62.

Born on a reservation near Larned, Kans., near the middle of the nineteenth century, I-See-O, whose name means "Plenty Fire," came to Fort Sill as an Indian scout in 1888.

Stirred by the belief that a new messiah had appeared among the Kiowa Indians of Nevada, many of the plains tribes engaged in fanatical ceremonies that led to the warpath. Lives of many Indians and white soldiers

RUSSIAN-CHINA BREAK FEARED OVER SEIZURE

SOVIETS SEND NOTE OF WARNING TO PEKING.

Shanghai, Mar. 11.—(AP)—A grave situation is brewing between the Chinese government at Peking and the Soviet government at Moscow over the seizure of the Soviet vessel Pamia Lenina a week ago and the arrest of Mrs. Borodin, wife of the adviser to the Cantonese government, and three Russian couriers.

The Soviet officials clearly mistrust the assurances of the Chinese authorities as to the safety of the captives and fear that Mrs. Borodin and her fellow prisoners will meet short shrift should they fall into the hands of white Russians attached to the northern army. Accordingly, the Soviet government has sent a second, and sterner note to Peking, warning that the Soviet government will take extreme measures should mischance befall the Russians.

The note calls attention to lack of definite information regarding the fate of the Russians and says in conclusion:

Bear Responsibility. The embassy of the union of Soviet socialist republics hereby declares that the Chinese government will bear responsibility for the safety of the couriers and other persons detained and warns the Chinese government that any violation of their safety might certainly bring most serious consequences and compel the Soviet government to appeal to exceptional measures.

Foreign Minister Wellington Koo at Peking assured the Soviet charge d'affaires, M. Cherynck that he had nothing to fear for the safety of the prisoners who are being detained. At Tientsin, Great Britain and the United States are concerned over the disorders in the city of Wuhu which recently was captured by the Cantonese. Riots broke out there Tuesday and Wednesday and the customs house was looted.

American Minister MacMurray has directed the American consul general at Hankow to draw up a protest for presentation to the Cantonese authorities against the looting of American mission property at Wuhu, while the British government has made representations to Foreign Minister Eugene Chen regarding the disorders there and asking him to protect British lives and property.

A Chinese general has arrived at Wuhu and was stated to have taken the necessary measures to preserve order. The British gunboat Emerald also is on the spot. Meanwhile, fighting, which may have a decisive effect on China's civil war, is going on in Honan province and numbers of wounded have been reaching Peking. Northern troops are crossing the Yellow river at several points in their drive against the Cantonese under the cover of the artillery of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian warlord. The results of the fighting were not known here tonight.

Reports indicate that Chang Tso-Lin is planning a flank attack in rushing 60,000 reinforcements southward to carry on his main drive toward Hankow. Blocking the way to that city are Cantonese forces entrenched on the southern Honan border.

A battalion of the famous Cold Stream guards arrived in Shanghai today to strengthen the British defense force. They marched five miles in a downpour of rain, but were heartily cheered by a crowd of Brits on hand to welcome them.

General Chang Kai-Shek, the Cantonese commander-in-chief, was quoted by a Hankow news agency as declaring himself loyal to the republican revolutionary party, which is the dominating civilian party in the Cantonese government.

His statement was made in answer to rumors that he was contemplating a coup d'etat against the left wing of the party.

Sewage Bill Will Get Final Hearing in Senate Monday

Lansing, Mar. 11.—(AP)—The Karcher bill authorizing the establishment of cities or villages of sewage disposal plants and the granting of franchises if necessary, for their operation to private corporations as public utilities, will come up for final consideration in the senate Monday.

Acceptance of U. S. Proposal Unconditional

Washington, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Three power conference at Geneva on naval armament limitation became assured today with acceptance by Japan of the American informal proposals. British acceptance was received yesterday. Japanese acceptance was unconditional. It was accompanied, however, by a direct gesture from Tokyo seeking to renew overtures to France and Italy to participate in the five-power discussion originally suggested by President Coolidge.

Ambassador Hattudaira, in advising Acting Secretary Grew of his government's acceptance, stressed the Tokyo belief that agreements to extend tonnage limitations to cruisers, destroyers and submarines, would be facilitated greatly should the two European continental powers find it possible to join in the discussions at Geneva.

Japanese emphasis on the desirability of not accepting French and Italian refusals as final brought to the surface again evidences of the strong hope entertained in Washington that actually the Geneva conference will have a five-power significance. It is apparent, that there have been informal interchanges with the French and Italian governments and that the belief is growing, particularly as to Italy, that her participation is not as unlikely as the tone of her note of refusal might seem to indicate.

Washington naval experts have already prepared to present at the conference American views completely on every element of the problem. They were in conference with Minister Hugh Gibson, head of the delegation to the Geneva preparatory commission on disarmament, during his recent visit to Washington; and additional naval personnel will be added to the Geneva delegation to permit carrying forward the work both of the preparatory commission and the three-power treaty negotiations without interference.

STUDENTS HURL BOMB IN SHOW Attempt to Even Score With Ann Arbor Theatre Owner.

Ann Arbor, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Differences between U. of Michigan students and local theaters which resulted in a riot Monday night, when 100 youths attempted to rush two downtown shows, broke out afresh tonight when a stench bomb was hurled into the Arcade motion picture house, necessitating closing of the theater.

The missile was thrown during the intermission between the first and second acts of the night's performance and the fumes drove the audience into the street.

The Arcade theater was one of the two theaters visited Monday night by students celebrating Michigan's winning of the Big Ten basketball championship. A police guard had been thrown about the Arcade and the celebrators moved on down the street to the Majestic theater where they charged the entrance. Police details succeeding in barring the entrance and dispersing the rioters with tear gas.

During a general free-for-all fight, three of the celebrators were injured and one is still confined to a hospital as the result of receiving the charge of a tear shell full in the face.

Tuesday night students held a mass meeting on the university campus where plans were discussed for boycotting the theaters which depend largely on student patronage. No action was taken, however, and last night President Clarence Cook Little issued a statement rebuking them for taking part in the class rous.

University officials could not be reached tonight for comment regarding the stench bomb affair, but police indicated an attempt would be made to arrest the offenders.

WILL CONTINUE FLIGHT

Wardell Launches Move for Vote on Dry Law

Lansing, Mar. 11.—(AP)—A move to secure a state-wide referendum on the wet and dry question was launched in the legislature today by Representative Robert D. Wardell of Detroit, former secretary of the Michigan Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

He introduced a resolution proposing a change in the state constitution to permit the sale of alcoholic beverages. Consumption would be limited to "the home or place of abode." The legislature would be empowered to enact such regulations governing the sale as it sees fit. The amendment provides for a state tax, which Representative Wardell estimates would yield enough to supplant the state property tax.

The Michigan constitution now is bone dry. It prohibits any alcoholic content. Representative Wardell's proposed change does not prescribe what types of liquor would be legalized, but he stated it is planned in a subsequent enabling act to limit the beverages to light wines and beer. He estimates a tax of $1 a barrel would return the state $15,000,000 or $16,000,000 a year. Beer could be sold for $2 a case, including the tax, he said. This would enable residents of the state to secure pure beer, comparatively low in alcohol, for half the price they now pay for smuggled beer, he asserted.

The proposed amendment would have no effect unless the Volstead act or the federal constitution also are modified, but it would put this state in position to take advantage of any federal modification that might be made.

If the resolution is adopted by the legislature, the proposed amendment would be submitted to a referendum in the November 1928 general election. Following the introduction of the resolution, the prevailing impression among the members seemed to be that Representative Wardell will have difficulty in getting his resolution out of the rules and resolutions committee, where it was referred, and even greater difficulty in securing its passage if it is reported.

The majority of the members are from rural districts which are strongly dry. All farm organizations in the state are opposed to any modification of the prohibition laws. Representative Wardell contends prohibition has not worked out. No one can show where it has reduced crime or poverty, he said.

His proposed amendment was taken as a reply to a challenge issued Thursday by R. N. Holsapple, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, to the wets to "come out in the open." Holsapple declared the league will be glad to meet the issue if a resolution is put in the legislature seeking a direct expression on the prohibition question. Representative Wardell's comment relative to Holsapple's challenge was "he's been braying again."

BANDIT'S MINE HIGHWAY WITH TWO CHARGES

GUARDS OF PAYROLL ARE KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS.

Pittsburgh, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Planting dynamite bombs expertly under a highway, nine bandits today wrecked two armored automobiles by setting off the explosive as the machines passed, and escaped with a $102,000 payroll of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company.

Most of the five drivers and guards of the two cars, an armored car carrying the money and a lighter escorting car, were knocked unconscious by the blast, but one of them, regaining his senses, had a pistol held at his head by one of the robbers until the others had gathered up the money. All the custodians of the payroll were injured, one seriously.

The daring holdup occurred as the payroll cars neared the Covardale mine nine miles from Pittsburgh. Nine miles from Covardale, was the scene of a holdup on Christmas, 1925, when a $45,000 payroll of the same coal concern was stolen. A guard was killed in that holdup.

Poses Seek Robbers. All officers in western Pennsylvania tonight sought the robbers who were reported to have made their escape in two automobiles. State police and Allegheny county detectives, augmented by groups of other officers, sped along the principal highways searching for them. White police in all towns were instructed to be on the lookout. Cutting of all telephone lines in the vicinity of the holdup gave the robbers more than an hour's start.

The robbery apparently was carefully planned. Starting out with $175,000 in the armored truck, $73,000 had been delivered to two mines, when the two machines, the second acting as an escort, left the library road, a main highway, and turned into the old Bethel road to deliver the Covardale payroll before proceeding to two other mines for the same purpose.

Two charges of dynamite had been placed in the Bethel road about 100 yards from the main highway. As the cars passed over them, the two bombs, about 30 feet apart, were set off with an electric battery by the bandits, hidden nearby. Both cars were blown into the air, overturning as they fell, shattered wrecks, near holes several feet deep in the ground, where the dynamite had been placed.

Three In Truck. Howard Blackstock, W. H. Tarr and Edward Herberster were in the armored truck containing the money and William Learzaf and Lester Staudinger were in the lighter machine. Blackstock, the most seriously injured, suffered a fractured skull when he was blown from the car and alighted on his head. The injuries of the others who were also thrown from the machines were considered of minor character.

Tarr was the first to regain consciousness. As he climbed to his feet one of the robbers ran to him and forced him at the point of a pistol, to lie face downward. While the one bandit remained at Tarr's side, the others scooped up the money which was also intact, in the armored truck, placed it in two automobiles and disappeared along the old Bethel road. Police learned that one of the machines carried a Pennsylvania license number 657,896 which was issued to H. R. Light, R. D. No. 4, Myerstown, Lebanon county. The car is reported to have been stolen.

Attracted By Blast. Miners and persons living nearby, attracted by the explosions,

U. S. TO REJECT DIAZ PROPOSAL

Frowns Upon Plan to Make Nicaragua Protectorate.

Washington, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Rejection by the Washington government of proposals from President Diaz for a treaty arrangement that would create virtually an American protectorate over Nicaragua, was foreshadowed today at the White House.

President Coolidge, it was explained, does not believe such treaty relationships, as are outlined in the Diaz proposal, would be desirable.

It was emphasized that the president's policy still is to permit Nicaragua or any other Central American country to work out its own salvation, although the Washington government stands ready to aid in any way it can and also intends to maintain its own rights in Nicaragua and the rights of its nationals.

Withdrawal of American marines from Nicaragua which produced the political disturbance that grew into virtual war is still distressing the land, was in line with the desire of President Coolidge that the Central American states find for themselves a means to avoid revolution with attendant disaster and destruction of property.

There is no thought on the part of the Washington government of altering that general policy, whatever steps it may be compelled to take to insure its own treaty rights and the lives and property of its nationals particularly, it was stated at the White House, where there is any evidence of interference by any other power in the international affairs of the Central American group.

New York, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Affirmation of the order of Justice Lyden setting aside the service of a summons and complaint obtained by Bishop William Montgomery Brown of Arkansas who was deposited after a trial by the convention of the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, was handed down today by the appellate division of the supreme court.

MARKETING TO BE ANALYZED

Sapiro Libel Suit Against Ford Will Start Tuesday.

Detroit, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Cooperative marketing in all its phases will undergo expert analysis when the $1,000,000 libel suit of Aston Sapiro against Henry Ford gets under way in U. S. district court here Tuesday. A voluminous declaration, containing excerpts from alleged libelous articles appearing in the Dearborn Independent and numerous depositions will go into the record.

Sapiro, one-time street gamer and orphanage walf who started out to be a rabbi and instead became the leader of one of the greatest movements of modern times, filed his suit against the motor king on April 22, 1925, charging defamation of character in the series of articles that appeared in The Independent, owned by Ford.

The declaration in the suit asserted that Sapiro had spent 15 years building up agricultural marketing organizations which now exist in nearly two score states and that irreparable damage had been done his reputation with farmers of America and Canada by the series of articles.

Conspiracy Charged. These articles, the declaration alleged, accused Sapiro of being one of "a conspiracy of Jewish bankers who seek to control the food markets of the world." They accused him, the declaration added, of seeking to gain control of the markets for wheat, potatoes, hops, hay, tobacco and cotton, and the raisin and bean industries.

The names of Bernard Baruch, Julius Rosenberg, Otto Kohn, Albert D. Lasker and E. Myers, Jr., were linked with that of Sapiro, he asserted, in the articles that charged him with participation in alleged Jewish conspiracy to control American agriculture "or to organize the farmers of America in the interests of communism."

In presenting a demand for retraction, which was ignored, Sapiro quoted extensively from the articles. He cited the following from the issue of August 30, 1924: "This whole Kahn-Baruch-Lasker-Rosenwald-Sapiro programme is carefully planned to turn over to an organized international interest of the republic—between the lines one reads the story of the Jewish-communist movement in America which seeks to make of the United States what it already has made of Russia."

Born in West. Sapiro, fifth of a family of nine children, was born in San Francisco 42 years ago. At the age of six he and his brother, Philip, then 8, began selling newspapers and matches on the streets of Oakland. "Otherwise," Sapiro once said, "we would have gone hungry."

Upon the death of his father, a teamster, the straightened circumstances.

LAKE MICHIGAN LEVELS RISING

Early Opening of Navigation, Better Draft Predicted.

Early opening and a better draft for Great Lakes steamers is indicated in early forecasts by marine men who are old hands at the game, and by the United States lakes survey.

Mariners at Sault Ste. Marie predict that steamers will be plying up and down St. Mary's river April 15, if not earlier. Last year the first carrier to break through passed the locks April 25, but navigation did not get under way until well in May.

In forecasting greater draft, marine men point to the steadily rising level of the five Great Lakes as reported by the United States lakes survey. All of the five bodies average more than a foot higher than they did in February, last year.

It is believed that the downward trend of levels which commenced in 1919 is at an end and that 1926 marked the beginning of an upward cycle, which, based on the expectancy curve derived from past movements, will bring the levels to the highest point in the history in 1930.

Last winter was a period of abrupt shifting in the direction of lake levels. Instead of the annual hibernal drop continuing until February, as it has always done before, an upward movement started in December. Although there was no increase in January, the lakes held their gain, and in February there was a pronounced surge upward.

The comparative depths of the lakes for February, 1926 and 1927, are given as follows by the survey:

Lake	1926	1927
Lake Superior	600.24	601.32
Lake Michigan	577.48	578.25
Lake Huron	577.36	578.25
Lake Erie	569.90	570.97
Lake Ontario	244.10	245.31

Strom Pleads 'Palship' of Fathers and Their Sons

The "boy problem" in reality is a man's problem, and more specifically, a father's problem, Torval E. Strom told a crowd of about 180 men and boys who attended the annual Father and Son banquet in the First Presbyterian church last night.

The sympathy, encouragement and recognition to which every boy is entitled, too often are crowded out of American family life by other things, Mr. Strom said. "Business and professional cares press upon us and we excuse our lack of sympathetic contacts with our sons by telling ourselves that our success in business is insurance of the boy's future. We forget the boy, sometimes, in the fascinations of golf and touring and bridge. There can be no substitute for the comradeship a father owes to his sons."

Are No "Bad Boys," Reading in the papers about college and high school youths who take their own lives, and about the "boy bandits" whose spectacular and desperate deeds, the cold chills run down our backs, and we forget and neglect to look for the underlying causes, Mr. Strom said. "My own experience as a public prosecutor and a lawyer in private practice has convinced me that there are no 'bad' boys, and that if one goes deeply enough under the hardened surface, he will find a well-spring of goodness."

The church, the school, the community in general and every man who is in a position to rise to the occasion when a "big brother" is needed, also have a share in the responsibility, he said.

"When we make the boys friends our friends, our home his playhouse and his problems our problems, there will be no more talk of the 'boy problem' and no more crime waves. No one knows how far and how high a boy is going as he develops and grows. What shall it profit a man community if it gains the world and loses its own boy?"

Mr. Strom's eloquent and inspiring address sounded the keynote of the program.

Another interesting number was a playlet, written especially for the occasion by H. K. Rammel. Those who took part in it were: Miss Eula Mack as a grandmother, Hugo Swanson as a father, and Howard Stude and William Little as two sons. The sketch was splendidly acted under Miss Mack's capable direction.

Overheated Stove Causes Fatal Fire

BIAZVILLE, Pa., Mar. 11.—An overheated stove was believed by Coroner James Harkins, to have caused a fire near Tunnelton, which brought death early today to nine persons, all members of the same family. The victims were Clarence A. Marsh, a minor, his wife, their five children and Mrs. Harry Montgomery, sister-in-law of Mrs. Marsh and her one-year-old child. Harry Montgomery, the only person to escape from the house, leaped from a second story window after making a futile effort to rescue his wife and child. He was probably fatally burned and also suffered from the shock of the tragedy. He was being cared for by a neighbor.

The tragedy occurred the day after the entire family had attended the funeral of Mrs. Alice Wyncoop, a sister of Mrs. Marsh and Montgomery. The latter, his wife, and child, accompanied the Marsh family to their home after the funeral to spend the night.

IT'S USELESS.

While definite terms of a resolution introduced in the state legislature at Lansing on Thursday have not yet been made public, the fundamental intent of the movement is, evidently, to eliminate the necessity of holding a biennial April election. Such action should meet with the approval of all thinking people of the state.

The condition offered in the city of Escanaba this spring is an eloquent example of the burden that is imposed through the operation of a state law that requires the holding of a spring election every second year for the naming of certain state officials.

All of this makes for drama. The recent battle between the Senators Reed is a case in point. It disrupted business and caused much grief, doubtless; but it did provide a spectacle. It was thrilling. It kept the galleries crowded late into the night. It made excellent reading.

It makes too good a show. And the senators know it. The modern college student is actually a better man than his father was at the same age, says Dean Mendell of Yale. Talk of modern youth's wildness and wickedness to the contrary notwithstanding, college halls have a more wholesome atmosphere than in the good old days.

So They Say:

Things have come to a pretty pass in this country when a man can't occupy a Senate seat that he bought and paid for.—Mesa (Ariz.) Journal-Tribune.

"Edison believes supreme intelligence pervades universe." Excepting a few hundred million people, this may be true of the rest of the universe.—Winston-Salem Journal.

Comes a German biologist to you that the orangutan can sing well, we haven't the slightest objection providing they do not recruit him for musical comedy.—Portland Oregonian

Possibly the third-term controversy could be disposed of on this thesis, i. e. That the first eighteen months of Mr. Coolidge's tenure were served by the White House Spokesman.—Detroit News.

Hollywood is a place where a man who wields a hammer on a movie set is known as a "master artisan."

WHEELBARROWS.
It must be years and years ago
Wheelbarrows were invented.
And for a century or so
The world has been contented
To put the load of stone or steel
Upon the man and not the wheel.

Though Newton lay beneath a tree
On which an apple hovered,
And when it hit him presently,
A simple law discovered,
Still men have done the usual stunt
And put the burrow's wheel in front.

Yes, centuries have called him friend,
The thoughtless old inventor
Who put the wheel upon the end
Instead of near the center.
Who put the load upon the man
Instead of by a better plan.

And men have likewise had a God,
A faith the world to brighten,
Yet all alone the path have trod,
Nor sought their load to lighten,
Have put their load of stone or steel
Upon the man and not the wheel.

THIS—as two or three observers previously have hinted—is an age of amazing changes. Almost hourly from the national capital comes evidence that the new order is tapping the very roots of custom, practice and precedent.

AN OHIO MAN, 84 years old, is the defendant in a husband's suit for alienation of a wife's affections. How can a jury place a cash value on affections that have been alienated by an 84-year-old shiek?

CHAPTER XLIII Stone amused them all with his description of the dolls that had belonged to Garrett Folsom. "It's not surprising," said Sears, with a twinkle in his eye. "A born collector will choose the strangest lines! I collect antique weapons, another collects dolls. I'm sure the dolls aren't more admirable. At least, they're less dangerous."

Breakfast over, and it being too early to expect to see Carmelita Valdón, Stone went to the auction rooms. A confab with the principals there brought about a more exhaustive inquiry into the sales made the night before the murder of Garrett Folsom.

And it was pretty well established that the auction drew to a close that night, that the attendants somewhat hastily gathered odds and ends of their wares into bundles and sold them rapidly, taking, in most instances, the first bid made.

HE had a white mustache. That's all I remember especially. He was just an ordinary-looking fellow, not rich but not poor either. Don't remember his clothes at all, but I couldn't help seeing that white mustache and I thought he was old. But his voice didn't sound very old—more middle-aged like. I didn't see his hair; he kept his hat on. He paid cash for his bundle and took it along with him. Didn't seem embarrassed or fustered, just sort of quiet-like and indifferent.

"No, I don't think so. But you can't tell always. A real collector is fussy and pretends he isn't a collector at all. So you can't tell." "No, I suppose not. And this bundle, this last sale, had a picajon in it?" "Yes, sir. An old one, with a worn-out velvet scabbard, just like the one the police have."

"What else was in it?" "Trash mostly. Nothing of the same era. A Chinese ink-holder and a Japanese incense-holder. But not valuable or in good condition. He paid all the lot was worth."

"And you can't think of any other distinguishing trait he had?" "Not one. He was just like one of a hundred guys who come in here every day. It was only that white mustache that made him stick in my memory at all."

There is something, Stone knows, that Carmelita Valdón has not told, and he is determined to get it from her. Upon a cloud among the stars we stood: The angel raised his hand, and looked, and said, "Which world, of all you starry myriad, Shall we make wing to?" The still solitude Became a harp whereon his voice and mood Made spherical music round his haloed head. I spake—for then I had not long been dead—"Let me look fount upon the vast, and brood A moment on these orbs ere I decide. What is you star that beauteous shines And with soft splendor now incarnadines Our wings—There would I go and there abide." Then he, as one who some child's thought divines: "That is the world where yesterday you died."

TAX REVOLTS IN RUSSIA.

Riga—Reports of serious revolts in many parts of Russia have been confirmed by Kalinin, president of the executive committee of the Communist party of Moscow. He said local governments have been adding such heavy burdens of special taxes to the state taxes that serious unrest has been caused among the peasantry. Martial law has been declared in several of the provinces.

Miss Stenberg was a young woman of sterling qualities and numbered her friends by the score. During her stay in this city many friends called at the home to visit her and to help make her last days comfortable. Miss Stenberg is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stenberg, two sisters, Esther and Alice of Bark River and one brother, Chester Stenberg of St. Paul, Minn. The body will remain at the Anderson Funeral Home where funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and at two thirty o'clock at the Swedish Methodist church of which she was a devout member. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—glimpses of a brilliant look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 30c and 40c. Ad.

RAIL STOCKS ON TOP AGAIN

STOCK SALES AVERAGES.

Year ago	137.52	115.03

Low 1927	141.23	125.58
Total stock sales 2,061,700 shares x-Ea-dividend 175. x-Ea-dividend .0875.

New York, Mar. 11 (AP)—Railroad shares resumed the spotlight in today's market. Simultaneously bidding up of seasoned dividend payers as Atchison and New York Central with such speculative issues as Gulf, Mobile & Northern and Norfolk & Southern, detracted interest from the general run of industrials, which were inclined to lose ground on intermittent selling for both accounts. Trading showed a further expansion in volume, total sales again crossing the 2,000,000 mark.

Rumors of a substantial price cut on Ford cars helped to unsettle the motor group. Atchison, in which stock split-up has been rumored and declined many times in the course of the last two years, was bid up over 7 points to 181, the highest price ever recorded, closing just a point below the top.

In the industrial group, highest prices since 1925, or longer, were attained by National Steel, common and preferred, Republic common and preferred, Federal Mining & Smelting, Eastman Kodak and others.

General Motors, after touching 17 1/2, sold down to 17 1/4, then rallied to 72 and Stewart-Warner, Studebaker, Nash and Pierce-Arrow preferred all closed a point or two lower.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Mar. 11—(AP)—Despite good buying at times today on the part of commission houses, wheat averaged lower. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3 1/2c off; corn 1 1/2c to 1 1/4c to 1 1/2c down; oats at 1 1/2c decline to 1 1/4c; provisions, and provisions varying from 1 1/2c setback to a rise of 7c.

In the last hour, commission house absorption of future delivery of wheat led to numerous rallies. Export business today in North American wheat was only moderate.

Corn showed a firmer tone than other grain, and in particular appeared to run into good buying on the dips. Weather conditions were unfavorable for the rural movement of corn. Shipping call here for oats was better.

Provisions sympathized somewhat with firmness of the hog market.

Menus for a Family

BY SISTER MARY.

Breakfast—Halves of grapefruit, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon with sauted calves liver, corn bread, creamed potatoes, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of pea soup, croissants, stuffed pepper salad, whole wheat bread, sponge cake and orange pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Baked fresh mackerel, potato croquettes, beet greens with lemon sauce, rhybarb betty, graham bread, milk, coffee.

Sometimes sponge cake seems doomed to "go begging." The rule for the luncheon pudding uses this bit of cake to advantage and is well worth keeping in mind when the family refuse the second day of the cake.

Sponge Cake & Orange Pudding—Three cups stale sponge cake crumbs, 2 cups hot milk, 2 tps grated orange rind, 1 cup sugar, 4 eggs, 1 1/2 cups orange juice.

Beat milk to the boiling point and pour over crumbs. Mix grated rind with sugar and add to first mixture. Beat eggs well and add to mixture. Add orange juice, beat mixture well and turn into a lightly buttered mold. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. When firm to the touch, the pudding is done. Serve warm with the following sauce:

MARKET

1 cup whipping cream, 1/2 cup steamed figs, 1/4 tsp vanilla, 2 tbsps powdered sugar.

Put figs through a puree strainer. Whip cream until stiff, add vanilla and sugar and beat enough to mix thoroughly. Add sifted fig pulp and serve.

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal cooked with raisins, thin cream, coddled eggs, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked ham and celery with cheese, lettuce sandwiches, lemon snaps, milk, tea.

Dinner—English mutton chops, boiled new potatoes in parsley butter, mashed turnips, orange and stuffed prune salad, whole wheat rolls, quince bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

Be sure to use firm-fleshed navel oranges for the dinner salad. One fine large prune is placed in the center of each salad while the orange sections free from skin, radiate from the prune. The effect is very pretty.

Baked Ham & Celery with Cheese—1 cup finely chopped cooked ham, 1 cup diced parboiled celery, 1/2 cup grated cheese, 1 tbsps paprika, 2 tbsps butter, 2 tbsps flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1/2 tsp salt.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add salt. Boil two minutes. Put alternate layers of ham, celery and sauce into a well buttered baking dish making the last layer of sauce. Cover with cheese and sprinkle with paprika. Put into a hot oven until the cheese is melted and lightly browned in spots. Serve from baking dish.

Breakfast—Baked apples, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, French toast, new maple syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Beef broth with rice, salsify salad, health bread, sponge cake, canned peas, milk, tea.

Dinner—Braised veal steak, boiled rice, scalloped tomatoes, salad of pineapple, oranges and dates, chocolate pudding, graham bread, milk, coffee.

Salsify is one of the root vegetables that improves if left in the ground during the winter months. The freezing sweetens the flavor and refines the texture of the vegetable.

Salsify Salad—Four roots of salsify, 3-4 cup diced celery, 2 pimentos, 1-4 cup English walnut meats, French dressing, lettuce.

Scrub salsify and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Plunge into cold water and rub off skin. Cut in neat dice and drop in lemon juice. Drain from lemon juice and combine with celery. Pour over French dressing, cover and let stand for 30 minutes. Arrange on a bed of lettuce and sprinkle with nuts. Garnish with strips of pimento and serve very cold.

THE REAL TEST IS IN THE TASTE

Price alone is a minor factor in determining the value of anything, particularly foodstuffs. Health is largely a matter of appetite satisfaction and this can only be attained through the consumption of profitable foods.

BASKET :-:

cook, stirring constantly until mixture is thick and smooth. Do not let boil. Stir in salt and pepper and serve.

1/2 cup butter, 2 tbsps lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon sugar.

Lemon Butter II.
Cream butter and slowly beat in lemon juice and sugar. Chill and serve.

Breakfast—Stewed figs, cereal, thin cream, creamed fresh beef on toast, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Veal loaf, creamed new carrots, radishes and young onions, graham bread, canned strawberries, coconut cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Salt codfish pie, buttered beets, French endive with French dressing, baked apple dumplings, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

The codfish pie combines potatoes, parsnips and tomatoes with freshened salt codfish in a most appetizing fashion. It also forms a labor-saving "one-piece" meal if desired.

The veal loaf is good, hot or cold, cut in thin slices for luncheon or supper.

Veal Loaf.
1 1/2 pounds lean veal, 1/2 lb. fresh pork, 2 eggs, 4 soda crackers, 1/2 cup cream, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 table spoons minced parsley.

Remove gristle and bone from meat and put through food chopper. Mix thoroughly. Beat eggs slightly and add to meat. Crush crackers and add alternately with cream to first mixture. Add seasonings and work mixture with a large wooden fork or spoon until perfectly blended. Pack into a deep, well-buttered oblong pan. Cover with buttered paper and bake 1 hour in a moderately hot oven. Remove paper for last 15 minutes of baking.

Turn out of pan onto a hot platter and cut in thin slices to serve.

Breakfast—Stewed dried apricots, boiled rice with thin cream, ham toast, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Macaroni and cheese baked with tomatoes, brown bread and butter, maple gelatine, milk, tea.

Dinner—Planked meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, buttered kale, grape fruit and orange salad, date and nut puff, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Very often a meat dish is vastly improved by the contrasting flavor of a tart jelly or spiced preserve. In this particular dinner the meat loaf, which is made of veal and ham, gains much if spiced grapes or red raspberry jelly accompanies it. The small dish of jelly adds an attractive bit of color to the dinner table, too, which is worth while.

Maple Gelatine.
1 tbsps granulated gelatine, 4 tbsps cold water, 1/4 cup boiling water, 1 cup maple syrup, 2 eggs (whites), 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Let stand 10 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Let stand until cool. Put unbeaten whites of eggs, salt, maple syrup and tepid gelatine into a deep bowl and beat with a dower beater until stiff. Turn into a mold first dipped in cold water to chill. Serve with a bottled custard made with the yolks of the eggs.

PLAN RADIO CLUB
Radio fans and dealers are planning to organize a large radio listeners' club in Seattle, Wash. The club is being sponsored and financed by the radio dealers.

BUT NO DOUGHNUTS.

Ray, N. D.—Ninety cups of coffee, and all consumed in three hours and 28 minutes is the record claimed by Frank Trachimowicz, a section hand here. Frank went out to beat the record held by Gus Comstock, Ferris Falls, Minn., who drank 85 cups in 7 hours. Frank claimed further that he had no difficulty in going to sleep after the affair with Lady Caffeine.

CHILD'S MUSIC PROGRAM
A child's musical broadcast, consisting of a history of the instruments used in an orchestra, is put on the air once a week by station WCCO, St. Paul-Minneapolis. John Seaman Garms, in charge of the program, brings several instruments to the studio and after demonstrating how each sounds, he describes it and tells its origin and use.

SODERBERG'S PLAN POPULAR

Esc. Commercial Teacher Originates Testing Program.

As a result of a plan originated by I. W. Soderberg, head of the commercial department of the Escanaba high school, 15 upper peninsula schools are now using a new typewriting and shorthand test for their pupils and schools in all parts of the United States have wanted details of the system.

The feature of the Soderberg plan is that all pupils are ranked instead of only a few of the best. The new testing program received favorable mention in "The Balance Sheet," a school paper, published in Chicago.

This testing system was first tried in Escanaba high school last spring and was announced by Mr. Soderberg as being favored by the Upper Peninsula Teachers' Institute, held in Marquette last fall.

At the time of the announcement four schools signed to try the program and since that time 11 more have been added to the list.

The constitution and schools entering the system are: Name—The schools undersigned shall hereby form an organization known as the Upper Peninsula Commercial Association.

Purpose—Beginning with the second semester of the school year typewriting and shorthand contests in both beginning and advanced classes, for cooperative purposes, shall be conducted monthly on Wednesday of the second week, under the supervision of their individual commercial departments.

Materials and Rules—The material for the typewriting contest shall be that provided by the various typewriting companies for the month in which the contest is being held. (Underwood tests for Underwood machines, etc.) The international typewriting contest rules will prevail.

Shorthand Contests—The material for the shorthand contest shall be the Gregg transcription tests issued monthly by the Gregg Publishing company.

The rules for correcting and grading shall be those adopted by the Michigan State Teachers' association for use in the annual district shorthand contests.

Comparisons—Each school shall send two carefully prepared lists for each subject (one of the advanced classes and one of the beginning classes), of the speed and accuracy result of each student with the highest at the head of the list and the others graduating downward to Miss Hazel R. Cotts, Northern State Normal, Marquette, Mich. Cotts will see that the results are compiled and a copy sent to each member of the association.

Authorization—The following is evidence that the undersigned are members of the Upper Peninsula Commercial Association and that they shall insist that all material used in these contests shall be used for the first time on the date of the contest.

Has 15 Members. Members—Champion, Crystal Falls, Escanaba, Gladstone, Iron Mountain, Iron River, Kingsford, Manistique, Marquette, Menominee, Munising, Norway, Sault Ste. Marie, Stambaugh and Vulcan.

AFRICA NATIONAL PARK. Cape Town, Africa—South Africa lately combined two provincial game reserves into a national game park almost as large as the state of Massachusetts. It is said to be richer in animal, plant and bird life than any other game reserve in the world.

GOB GOES TO COLLEGE. Tacoma, Wash.—J. Edwin Monroe, tallest whaleboat oarsman of the battleship Arizona, plans to enter the University of Washington next fall after his discharge from the navy. Monroe is 6 feet 7 inches tall, and has the strength of two ordinary men. He plans to join the varsity crew, which already has two men 6 feet 5 inches tall.

TWICE AS MANY AUTOS. California's registration of automobiles has nearly doubled in four years. In 1922, 893,649 vehicles of all classifications were registered in the state, while licenses were issued on 1,627,638 vehicles by the last day of 1926.

J. E. O'Donoghue of Neganooe, representing the Penn Mutual Insurance Co., spent several days here last week.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Man, like other domesticated creatures, did not always live in-doors. Modern investigations indicate that a certain amount of time out-of-doors every day is necessary for health. This period permits the person to inhale fresh air, to secure sunlight, and to indulge in moderate exercise.

One of the difficulties with the entire physical culture movement has been the creation of outdoor fanatics, marathon runners, hundred-mile pedestrians and similar enthusiasts who believe that the road to health lies in the exceptional performance rather than in the ordinary activities.

No doubt, the hundred-mile walker is a healthful person or he could not walk a hundred miles, but the average man has little occasion to walk one hundred miles and does not need the hundred-mile equipment.

Outdoor exercise should be indulged in fairly regularly but not to the point of overfatigue, of irritating sunburn, or of undue exposure to the elements. The average person has sufficient consciousness of his body to realize when he is abusing rather than correctly using it.

For more than two thousand years students of human life have been urging that the secret of health is moderation in all things.

The in-door man succumbs much easier to exposure than the one who is used to spending at least some of his time out-doors. The pleasure of life may perhaps be equally divided into in-door and out-door sports. The recreations of in-door life provide excellent mental relaxation; the recreations of out-door life provide physical exercise and physical health factors that cannot be secured within four walls.

A change of occupation or of scene is frequently of value in promoting longevity, but dissipation is not recreation.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

"The Country Beyond," the James Oliver Curwood story, found favor with Delft audiences yesterday. It will be featured on the Delft program again today.

Olive Borden plays the part of Valencia, Curwood's bewitching girl of the Canadian wilds. And both as the unsophisticated child of Nature dancing in the moonlight among scenes of natural beauty and later as a premiere dancer on the New York stage, she is equally delightful. In the latter sequences Miss Borden is seen in some very stunning gowns of a kind that enthrall both men and women.

Irving Cummings directed "The Country Beyond," with the sympathetic understanding and the cast of unusual merit, including many well known screen celebrities. Ralph Graves plays opposite Miss Borden as her lover, while J. Farrell MacDonald is cast as the whistling sergeant of the Mounted. Gertrude Astor fits admirably in the role of the menace, Evelyn Selbie, Fred Kohler, Lawford Davidson, Alfred Fisher and Lottie Williams have roles of importance.

AT THE STRAND.

Margaret Livingston, Earle Fox, J. Farrell MacDonald and other well-known artists contribute to the merriment created by "A Trip to Chinatown," Fox Films version of Charles A. Hoyt's comedy, which will be shown at the Strand again today.

Miss Livingston, whose wardrobe is said to be the most complete of any actress in America, is obliged to make thirty-six changes in the Chinatown farce. She scores one of the most overwhelming hits of her screen career in the fascinating role of "Alicia Guyer," the audacious widow of the Hoyt farce.

In addition to these artists, the cast includes Anna May Wong,

Knowing How to Buy Is Merely Knowing Where!

Some of us may have a lot of trouble in knowing just how to buy—a trouble which can easily be remedied by just knowing where. It isn't such a large task to buy if you have quantity, quality, and value before you. However, it saves a lot of time, worry, and money to know "where" you will know "how" to make your purchases.

Your daily newspaper has solved the "where" problem for you. Every morning it carries store messages of reasonable merchandise; it keeps you in touch with the newest goods and the greatest values. Years ago the man or woman who was in need of something was forced to find his or her particular wants through personal investigation which took time and trouble. That is no longer true.

The merchant has found the daily newspaper to be of service to both his customers and his store. Each day, there goes into almost 7,000 homes in Delta and neighboring counties a buying bulletin that supplies the family with News. News that will aid in conducting a household on a systematic and economic basis. What is this news? It is the advertising in your daily newspaper!

Current prices on foodstuffs, wearing apparel, home furnishings, and that endless list of commodities that every home needs—are presented with words, pictures, and prices that enable one to buy intelligently. No need of shopping in that "hit or miss" fashion when this comprehensive buying guide—this daily report of "how" and "where" to shop is ever at your service.

Today—tomorrow—scarcely a day passes but what something is needed for the home or for some member of the family. The Daily Press is the buying chart for this wide-spread community—for after all—knowing HOW to buy is merely knowing WHERE!

IN NEW YORK

New York, March 11.—It takes but a peep of sunshine at the turning point of winter to bring out all those colorful signs of spring native to Manhattan.

The first peep of the robin does not enter into the subject, for robins are few and far between in New York. Sparrows and pigeons form the city's bird population and manage to carry on life from the precarious angles of elevated stations, the minarets of big Fifth Avenue churches and such spots.

But spring in New York is heralded by the balloons and pinwheel men of Central park. They come out of hiding, even as the sun and if it be bright and the snow is melting, there they are at the various park entrances and their song spring goes something like this: "Buyablon! Buyablon!"

The reds, yellows and whites of their wares challenge the first green grasses.

Over on the East Side it's the carousel, on which the children may ride for a penny. It is a tiny merry-go-round, mounted upon a tumbledown wagon and hauled about by an emaciated horse. It is operated by a hand-wheel at the rear and all through the long day, the owner grinds out the penny rides while all the East Side gathers about with its pennies waiting its turn. There is, perhaps, no other place in America where this plaything of the European side streets may be found, and they are fast disappearing in New York.

For what thrill remains in a squeaky, slow-turning tub, when auto rides may be grabbed and steepchases indulged in at Coney Island? But the carousel was not meant for the competition of Ford and Conny Islands.

It is a primitive, peasant device which, coming down the streets with the first spring sun, breathes of simple folk and simple countrydays in faraway lands.

Scissors grinders chant their strange songs up and down the by-ways, and around every corner come the organ grinders. There is a little garage over on an East Side street where the asthmatic tune-makers of the carbonates are stored for the winter.

There are but one or two hand-organ men who make their beads come sleet or heat, and they are doubly rewarded when their music penetrates barred windows on blizzard days. Like Civil War veterans, their ranks seem to decrease each season, and familiar old faces are searched for in vain.

Perhaps one winter blast was a bit too chill.

And newcomers arrive—with bigger and better organs. But they cannot fill the place of the old-fashioned hurdy-hurdy men whose hand organs were seldom in tune and whose music dated back to "Sweet Rosie O'Grady."

Moby Dick Would Not Recognize Modern Whalers

Stanley, Falkland Islands—Wireless telephony is revolutionizing the whaling industry. In addition to the schools, the Antarctic whalers are being fitted with direction finders because in regions close to the magnetic pole, where much whaling is done, the magnetic compass is of little use.

Wireless equipment has not only increased the hunting efficiency of the whaler fleets, but has also simplified some of the most difficult problems and greatly reduced the possibility of such dangers as isolation and loss of bearings.

In the great change brought about by the wireless methods of whaling, when one of the vessels so equipped sights a school of whales, perhaps after several hours' search, it may immediately inform the other ships in the same fleet by telephone, and all can make for the best spot for hunting. The "factory ship," which accompanies the whalers, can also be directed to the most suitable position for taking charge of the catches. By a simple system of code words the vital information in any message is kept secret from any other ships of a different company, that might be within range.

In one instance by means of a half kilowatt telephone fitted on the floating whaling factory "C. A. Larsen" a conversation has been heard more than 2,000 miles by the whaler "Sir James Clark Ross." Normally, however, communication is maintained between whalers and with the whaling station up to a thousand miles.

The actual methods of hunting whales have also undergone almost as great a change as have the methods of communication among the whaling fleets. Until a few years ago the quarry was caught by harpoons cast by men in rowing boats, but today fast steam launches of 150 to 180 tons, specially constructed and equipped with 1,000 horsepower engines, are used for the pursuit, while harpoons are projected from guns instead of being thrown by hand.

Uses to which the whale is put have also been extended. The whole of the carcass is utilized in the production of oil, bone, cattle, cake, leather, fertilizer and other

Trade Volume Shows Gradual Expansion

New York, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Dunn's tomorrow will say:

Despite the continuance of uneven commercial conditions, the situation in its larger aspects, discloses a favorable trend, the circle of expansion, following the hesitation of the early weeks of this year, is gradually widening and in a number of instances there is a distinct gain. In quarters where the expected increase in activity has thus far failed to appear or is but faintly visible, there is a natural disappointment yet certain of the so-called barometric trades are moving forward steadily. Conspicuous among these is the great steel industry whose prosperity means much to business generally and the recent progress in that channel reflects, in turn, to settlement in several other manufacturing lines. This is shown by the fact that the enlarging demand for steel comes from diversified sources and is not wholly the result of the needs of the biggest consumers, such as railroad, automobile and building construction interests.

PREP, COLLEGE FIVES DIVORCED

Michigan's Teams Follow Trend Throughout Middle West.

Detroit—(AP)—Michigan's high school basketball this year following the general trend toward divorcing the middle west in divorcing itself from the colleges. In some states the move has been fostered by the colleges, while in others, as in Michigan, it has been a rather gradual development of individuality within the high school organization itself.

While Michigan will have a very large number of teams in this year's tournament, it has not yet reached the limit, as shown by the fact that Iowa, a state of about half the population of Michigan, has 600 teams and Indiana goes to still higher totals. Illinois, where the finals still are held at the state university, also will have a very large total of interscholastic teams this year.

Few Developed Ideas.

Few of the states have developed the idea of Nebraska of bringing all of the teams together at one point and running the tournament until a winner has been evolved. Sometimes 2,000 interscholastic basketball players have been in Lincoln at the beginning of play. Development of play, both in basketball and football, has been a rather definite part of the work of the Nebraska university athletic association for the past decade at least.

With the development of high school organizations, the past custom of each college holding an invitational tournament for high school teams is fast falling into the discard. It used to be considered that it was an asset to the school, that the friend making of the tournament drew men of basketball ability to the institution.

A large number of schools have decided that the effect is just the opposite and do not want the tournaments, even when sponsored and managed by the high school organization.

Should Be Unbeatable.

If the invitational tournaments draw basketball material to the school, the University of Chicago and DePaul university should have unbeatable basketball teams. The Maroon institution has entertained for years the largest high school tournament of the country, while DePaul more recently has sponsored a large tournament for parochial school teams. Both schools have small amounts of basketball material in their student bodies.

The high school managed tournaments, as a general rule, have brought a larger number of players into tournament competition and the larger number of players eventually will fill up the ranks of the schools that hold tournaments but also of the schools that have little or no part in tournament play. With the average number of students in any college who have played basketball increasing, the college game is bettered. At least that is the way it has worked out in many states.

LUMBER REVIEW

In its review of the lumber market, the American Lumberman, Chicago, says:

Trade in softwoods is getting underway, though in important consuming sections bad weather is still a handicap to building, a heavy snowstorm having blanketed a good part of the eastern seaboard last week. But in sections where outdoor work is possible, retail yards are moving extra lumber to jobs. There is not yet any pressing need for replenishment of yard stocks, but the dealers are keeping even by ordering mixed cars for rush shipment. Some of them are now more disposed to provide for later needs, but the greater number of them, confident that mills can ship quickly, refrain from speculative buying against a possible advance of a dollar or two in wholesale prices. Lumbermen in general believe there will be an active spring movement of softwood, but all along the line from mill to retailer they are proceeding cautiously. All wish to keep their stocks low, and therefore cases are still being reported of mills disposing of surplus lots at price concessions. But undoubtedly there is less of this than there was a week or so ago. Even mills that are keen for business are firmer in their quotations, for they expect a stronger market in a few weeks. In fact, the west coast mills usually demand fifty cents to a dollar more for dimension and timbers than was the ruling price recently.

The principal groups of softwood mills, southern pine and Douglas fir producers, booked orders during the first eight weeks of 1927 which give an average per mill per week of five per cent more than that for the same groups in the corresponding period of 1926. Production of these mills averaged practically the same. During the week ended February 26, southern pine orders were one per cent below production, while bookings of west coast mills were six per cent above production.

Hardwood mills have been enjoying a good volume of business from the automobile manufacturers, and now find that furniture trade is improving, and that exports are also gaining. Building trades demand is of fair volume for so early in the season. While prices of hardwoods have advanced, they are still below the levels of last fall, so that mark-ups are expected as spring trade opens.

A deputy sheriff, recognizing one of the three as they struggled through the mob which milled before the courthouse steps, came to the assistance of Faith, her father, and Bob Hathaway, clearing a passage for them and escorting them to the very door of the courtroom in which the trial of Cherry and Chris Wiley was about to begin.

Stephen Churchill, as chief counsel for the defense, rose from the long table where he and his two assistants had been conferring, an came to meet them. "Glad to see you, Miss Faith. You are looking beautiful today," Churchill said in unctuous tones. "Sit here, Mr. Lane. Miss Cherry can sit between you, Hathaway?" he asked good-naturedly, indicating a seat immediately behind the chair in which he had placed Faith. "I'll sit here, at the table, right in front of Miss Cherry and Miss Faith, so I can consult my client without difficulty. All right!"

Faith was glad of his bustling cordiality, for it served to divert her mind from the moment from the appalling realization of the fact that, as Cherry's sister, she was the cynosure of all eyes.

She had hardly time to look about her, timidly, fearfully, at the crowded amphitheater, at the district attorney, Tom Banning, arriving late, importantly, attended by clerks and assistant district attorneys, bearing law books and portfolios of legal documents and suitcases, presumably filled with gruesome exhibits, when a heightened sense of the dull roar made by the gabbling audience made her glance toward the door at the left of the still empty judge's bench.

There, looking like a very little and a very frightened child, stood Cherry, guarded on either side by a tall, rangy deputy sheriff, the badges of their office on their lapels, heavy, black-buttoned pistols protruding from leather holsters strapped about their waists.

Cherry paused as if for an anticipated cheer from her audience. It is doubtful if anyone in that courtroom had even seen a more beautiful or appealing sight than Cherry presented as she hesitated upon the threshold of her fight for life.

The plainest of the four dresses which Faith had designed and made for her made her look even tinier than she was, for it was a straight, clinging black sheath of lusterless satin-backed crepe, reaching decorously to two inches below her knees. A wide, round white organdie collar, and deep, flaring cuffs of the same crisp, sheer stuff were in startling contrast to the sheensless black crepe and gave to her exquisite, childish face a purity and pallor which should have satisfied even Ste-

Virginia Brown Faire and Reed Howes, who delineate the leading roles in Fox Films version of "Wings of the Storm," are ideally cast in the great thriller based on the story of a dog's life, as screened at the Lyric theatre as a benefit for Westminster Presbyterian church—On March 19.

In preparing for the production, J. G. Blystone, noted Fox director, gave his undivided attention to the selection of players sufficiently talented to vividly portray the human element so necessary to the development of the dog's activities.

The story centers about Thunder, a police dog who, when a puppy, was a weakling, the runt of the litter. As the tale unfolds it depicts Thunder's mental and physical growth, until, in the full flower of parenthood, he stands a majestic leader of his kind, loyal to those who befriended him and faithful to his trusts.

A bake sale for the benefit of Westminster Presbyterian church will be held this afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock at the church's drug store. Her glorious copper-and-gold hair, which had not been cut since her arrest, hung in adorable, childish curls about her rounded, camellia-white cheeks, so long that they almost touched the flaring, crisp collar of white organdie. She looked not more than twelve years old, as she stood there, frightened, lips parted, breathless, appealing.

The E. F. U. Ramblers are the amateur basketball champions of the city of Escanaba by virtue of their victory over the Daily Press Typesingers in the championship game of the second annual Daily Press basketball tournament at the high school last night. The score of the final game was 15 to 11.

Third place goes to the Swedish Methodist Psalmingsers and fourth to the Baptist Baracas as a result of the second game of the evening's program in which the Psalmingsers came out on the long end of an 8 to 6 score.

In the opening game of the evening the North Escanaba Roughhouse Gang defeated the Swedish Lutheran Vikings, 12 to 11, for consolation honors.

Norton Presents Awards. At the close of the evening's program, John P. Norton, general manager of the Escanaba Daily Press, presented the winning teams with the awards: Miniature gold basketball, large size, to first place winners; sterling silver miniature basketball, medium size, second place; small size gold basketball to third place winners, and the tournament ball to fourth place.

Members of the Rambler team who received awards are: L. Demars, captain, G. Burns, J. Pettin, R. Turquist, S. St. Louis, C. Burns, R. Tobin and C. W. Burns, manager.

The Typesingers are: C. Lough, captain, C. Perryman, L. Schou, J. Gannon, H. Groff, R. Goldberg, H. Johnson, C. Beaudin, manager. The Psalmingsers are: M. Berglund, captain, A. Norlin, W. Berglund, L. Gausin, A. Swellander, S. Ostman, L. Johnson, E. Elliason.

Members of the Baracas team, who won the tournament ball, are: H. Christenson, R. Bowers, captain and manager, J. Holt, H. Emba, H. Walker, V. Allen, H. Brown, J. Palm.

Mrs. Norton also introduced Clifford Paulin and Roland St. Mitchell, members of the Press staff, who managed the tournament.

HURTS SHELVE 4 BALL STARS

Walter Johnson Receives Fractured Leg During Game.

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 11.—(P)—An unkind fate has laid its hand on four of the American League's greatest stars, but in only two instances is it expected to hinder the pennant aspirations of individual clubs.

Walter Johnson, acclaimed as one of the greatest hurlers of all time, has received a fractured leg at the Tampa training camp of the Washington Senators. The accident occurred in a practice game Wednesday when Joe Judge, veteran first sacker of the Nationals, lined one straight for "Barney" shin. The leg is in a plaster cast.

Johnny Mostil, brilliant center-fielder of the Chicago White Sox, remains in a serious condition at Shreveport, La., from self-inflicted wounds. The Sox gardner had been expected to bolster the team in its search for honors under the guidance of Ray Schalk, long a leading catcher in the circuit but new to the purple of leadership.

Babe Ruth, the fetter of home runs and paid admissions, has a strained tendon at the St. Petersburg camp of the New York Yankees but is expected to recover rapidly and get off to the season in fine style.

Eddie Collins, considered by many as one of the "master minds" of the four-pointed greensward, still has a blue leg, suffered much in the same manner as Johnson's. The second sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics continues to go to the Fort Meyers training grounds each day.

Ruth's injury was taken seriously tonight, for the Bambino had been confined to his hotel throughout the day and a trainer worked with the leg some time.

Meanwhile, exhibition games held the spotlight in Florida. Six teams were in action today.

The Cleveland Indians had time to rejoice when the popular Sewell brothers, Joe and Luke, arrived at Lakeland. The two younger stars pepped up the McAllister practice quite a bit. Some members of the squad were allowed to try their hand at fishing during the afternoon.

CALUMET BEATS IRON MOUNTAIN

Ford Towners Unable to Connect With Hoop, Bumped Off.

Marquette, Mar. 11.—(Special)—Inability to shoot baskets from easy scoring positions sounded the death knell for Iron Mountain, which was bumped off, 20 to 17, by Calumet and shoved out of the tournament list.

Coch Edditt boys couldn't locate the hoop for two reasons. One was that they were inaccurate in their shots and the other was that Calumet's fighting guards kept too close to the heels of the Ford towners so that the latter were forced to hurry almost every throw they made.

Iron Mountain's best period was the first, in which the Eckman connected for three field baskets and a free throw for seven points, while Calumet was held to three, all made on free heaves.

Calumet continued its speedy attack in the second stanza and its defense was stronger, the Iron Mountain crew being held to one field basket and two points on free throws.

MARQUETTE CO. TO GET HONOR

Ishpeming and Marquette Meet in Class B Cage Finals Today.

Marquette, Mar. 11.—(Special)—The upper peninsula high school basketball championship may be kept in Marquette county this year.

Honors in northern Michigan now rest between Marquette and Ishpeming in Class B and Wakeland and Stambaugh in Class C as a result of games played in the semi-final round in the Tenth annual cage tourney on the Northern State Normal school court tonight.

The semi-finals in the latter class will be played tomorrow morning, with Gwin meeting Bergland and Vulcan clashing with Stephenson.

Good, bad and indifferent basketball was played tonight when Wakeland put Norway out of the running, 26 to 21, and Stambaugh snowed Munising under, 32 to 7, in Class C, and Marquette eliminated Calumet, 21 to 11, while Ishpeming took care of Ironwood, 19 to 13, in Class B.

From the brand of ball put up by the four teams tonight, Stambaugh showed marked improvement in taking the ball, but was not forced to extend itself greatly to beat Wakeland.

The game between Ishpeming and Marquette will be different. It will not be decided until the last second, for these teams appear about evenly matched, regardless of the fact that Ishpeming has defeated Marquette three times this year.

The Marquette team tonight was a different one than that which played the Hematite five and it may, if it can keep its five regulars on the floor, for 32 minutes, upset Ishpeming.

Escanaba Elks Preparing for Deciding Game

Members of the Escanaba lodge of Elks are already formulating plans for the entertainment of Manistique Elks when they come to this city in two weeks with their bowling squads, to meet the Escanaba pin splitters in the finals of a nine-game tournament. The honors are now evenly divided between the two squads and the Elks bowling championship of the two counties will be definitely decided at the next meeting. Members of the Escanaba squad and those who accompanied them to Manistique on Wednesday night are most enthusiastic over the fine greeting extended to them by the Elks of the Schoolcraft county seat.

"Although we were decisively beaten by our hosts, it is the unanimous vote of our organization that defeat at the hands of Manistique is pleasant experience, when combined with the brand of entertainment that was provided for us in that city," said C. W. Hansley, newly elected exalted ruler of the Escanaba lodge, yesterday. "We were properly and honorably trimmed and feted and entertained until there was nothing left to be desired. And when Manistique comes to Escanaba in two weeks we are going to endeavor to duplicate the performance, defeat and all."

Upbays Foul Heavily, Are Eliminated from Upper Peninsula Meet

Marquette, Mar. 11.—(Special)—Munising's team, revamped last week just before the district tournament because of the loss of Farrell, did not appear to miss its big center and trimmed Gladstone, 15 to 12, after holding a one-point lead at the end of the half, 10 to 9, in the upper peninsula tournament this afternoon.

Sixteen fouls on the Gladstone team helped to pave the way for the Delta county team's downfall. The Delta county boys at the start of the game appeared to have the contest pretty well sewed up, but the work of Siltala and Savoy, Munising guards, stopped the advance of the bay town forwards.

Whitlock Leads. Five men played the game for Munising every minute of the contest. Whitlock, center, leading the scoring with two field baskets and two foul shots. In the final period Munising started with a 12 to 11 lead, but shortly after the toss-up Yeager scored his only field basket and put the Algiers three points ahead. Peterson, Gladstone guard, cut the lead down one point with a free throw. Munising stalled for a time and waited for a chance to work the ball down the floor, but the opening failed to come and the score was 14 to 12 with only a few minutes left.

Just before the gun sounded, Siltala was fouled and made good on his free throw, putting Munising in front, 15 to 12.

Washington, Mar. 11.—(P)—Welker Cochran, youthful California cue star, took his first defeat in the world championship 15.2 ballline billiard tournament tonight from Willie Hoppe, titleholder, 408 to 337.

The defeat served as a temporary halt in what appeared to be a steady march to the championship. Cochran now goes back to a first place tie with Jake Scafer of Chicago, both with four wins and one defeat.

CROOKS BLAMED FOR 2 DEATHS

Band of Bank Swindlers Accused at Detroit Inquest.

Detroit, Mar. 11.—(AP)—An automobile worker, who disappeared October 31, 1925, and a woman who was buried to death August 21, 1925, came to their death at the hands of a band of bank swindlers, police today said they were convinced upon the receipt of new information.

At the request of Dr. J. E. Burgess, coroner, James E. Chenot, assistant prosecuting attorney, today authorized the exhumation of the body of a man found in River Rouge January 30, 1926, in the belief it may be that of Andrew Kaczmarek, the missing automobile worker.

The woman, Mrs. Josephine Peterson, was buried to death in an outer cellway of a home where she was rooming.

Conversation Overheard.

Clues in the two cases came to police through overhearing a conversation that the inmates in the Ionia reformatory might know something of them. Subsequent questioning of the two men brought out, police say, that Kaczmarek, who had saved $15,000 from his earnings, was killed by his money and his body thrown into the river, and that Mrs. Peterson was slain because she "knew too much." She is said to have been friendly with one of the band of swindlers whose names were not revealed.

Kaczmarek left his rooming house on the night he was seen with four men. Friends were informed previously that he intended to return to Poland where his wife awaited him but later investigation, officers say, reveal that he did not return there. All but $5 of his $15,000 bank account was removed through the drawing of two drafts.

Inmates Give Story. Statements of the Ionia inmates who were found not to have been criminally implicated were that Mrs. Peterson was killed by one member of the band who threw gasoline over her clothing and then set fire to it.

Their story also recounted that a heavy weight was attached to Kaczmarek's body when he was thrown into the river.

The body to be exhumed was found in such a condition that hope of identifying the body as that of Kaczmarek lies in peculiarities of the teeth.

Occupants of the rooming house where Mrs. Peterson met her death told the coroner the woman was buried when cleaning clothing in the basement. Although a nearly empty gasoline can was found in the basement, investigators could not find any clothing bearing the odor of gasoline.

circumstances of the family sent Sapiro, with two brothers and a sister to an orphanage. He spent six years in the orphanage and for excellence in grammar school work was awarded a medal and $250. The money, however, was withheld until he was 21. He was permitted to go to high school and upon graduation was sent to Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati. This was in 1900, and Sapiro remained there eight years. The rabbinical course was nine years and in explaining why he left before the course was completed Sapiro said: "I came to believe strongly that any church must be an instrument of social service, to further human welfare, rather than an institution for the preaching of a fixed and changeless creed. I told them so—so I left Hebrew Union."

He then took up law, graduating from the Hastings law college, California, in 1911. It was his later appointment as counsel for the California State Market Commission that led Sapiro into the formation of cooperative organizations.

A libel suit filed by Sapiro against the Regina Leader and the Saskatoon Star and Phoenix, dailies of Saskatchewan, Can. in 1924 was dismissed, the courts holding he had failed to prove malice in articles published by those newspapers. The articles had to do with efforts to organize a wheat pool in Saskatchewan.

Senator James Reed of Missouri will head a committee for Ford and The Dearborn Independent in the impending action Sapiro's counsel will be headed by William Henry Gallagher of Detroit. Judge Fred M. Raymond of Grand Rapids will sit in the local district court to hear the suit.

were lost in putting down the uprising among the Sioux. Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, then a young lieutenant, was placed in charge of the situation in what was then in Oklahoma Territory. So effective were his negotiations, conducted through I-See-O, that not a drop of blood was shed among the Kiawas and Comanches.

Served as Sergeant. During the Spanish-American war, I-See-O served as a stable sergeant at Fort Sill.

In 1913, the Indian scouts were disbanded and I-See-O, humiliated by his dismissal from the service, went to Washington to appeal to the Great White Father. General Scott interceded for him, and he was restored to the army rolls with the permanent rating of sergeant.

Despite the distinctions that were his, I-See-O lived after the manner of his forefathers, in a wigwam on the Fort Sill reservation. He wore the regulation khaki, but balked at the heavy army shoes and clung to his moccasins. He also refused to part with his long pigtail of hair.

Knew Pershing.

The old Indian included among his friends many high military and civil officials. He greeted General Pershing, who visited Fort Sill in 1923. In 1925, he went to Washington with a Kiowa delegation and stood next to President Coolidge when a group picture was taken.

I-See-O married Otahty, a 66-year-old squaw, in 1924. His first wife died a year earlier.

HOUSE PASSES BORER MEASURE

Approves $200,000 Yearly Expenditure to Fight Corn Pest.

Lansing, Mar. 11.—(AP)—The Horton bill, providing an appropriation of $200,000 a year to exterminate the corn borer, passed the house almost unanimously today. It was amended slightly to make the actual appropriation $100,000 a year but a provision was added giving the administrative board power to appropriate a like sum annually if needed. The money will be matched 5 to 1 by the federal government, giving Michigan $1,200,000 a year to fight the pest.

The measure now returns to the senate for concurrence in the amendment. Senator Norman B. Horton, its introducer, said the amendments are acceptable and will be approved by the senate Monday night. The bill then goes to the governor for signature and he indicated he will sign.

Rules were suspended so the bill could be rushed through to passage after Representative Fred R. Ming of Cheboygan, read telegrams from the federal agricultural department urging haste. The government has set aside $10,000,000 as its share of the war fund and this cannot be used until the five states infested with borer—Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and New York have made appropriations. Farm leaders in the house asserted the borer is the most serious menace which ever threatened agriculture. Of the 77 members present all but one—Representative Virgil Fitch of Ludington—voted for the bill. He said he could not support a measure proposing the expenditure of Michigan funds for a war on a British pest.

Representative Frank Wade of Flint, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor and member of the house labor committee, today made a public denial that Gov. Fred W. Green has asked the committee to report Representative Wade's bill proposing an increase in the maximum weekly workmen's compensation from $14 to $18. Representative Wade stated he had seen and heard reports that the governor had attempted to tell the committee to release the measure. The governor never has suggested such a thing. Representative Wade stated, Governor Green is strongly in favor of increased compensation.

A public hearing on the Wade bill will be held next Wednesday before the house labor committee.

Girl, 14, Realizes Ambition; Buried With Her Diploma

Washington, Mar. 11.—(AP)—The ambition of her girlhood was realized in death by 14-year-old Mary Reidy—she was buried today with her school diploma which she would have received in June.

Mary was first in her class at the St. Dominic's parochial school and when she was stricken with a heart attack last Tuesday she whispered to her parents that she wanted to win her diploma before she died.

So the school authorities complied and the diploma was placed in her hand as she lay in her little casket.
