LATIN POLICY OF PRESIDENT FAR-REACHING

HISTORY TO RECORD ADDRESS AS IMPORTANT.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) New York, April 27.—President Coolidge made here the most important speech on foreign policy since he took the oath of office. It will go down in history not necessarily as a corollary to the Monroe Doctrine, for it implied no relationship to Europe, but as the Coolidge doctrine, namely that the United States intends to pursue a policy north of Panama which involves responsibilities and obligations it does not feel toward nations south of Panama or anywhere else in the world.

The president selected the twentieth anniversary banquet of the United Press Association, to which he had been invited six months ago, as the occasion on which to broadcast his pronouncement. He discussed other things, such as the need for a fair press that does not misrepresent the policies of its own government abroad, but the main theme was the protection of life and property of American citizens and the application of this principle to the situation in Nicaragua, Mexico and China. It was in the course of his developments of the idea that international justice and international law were higher than any domestic law or the whims of changing administrations to the south of us, that the president read this carefully prepared paragraph giving his doctrine for American policy between the Rio Grande and the Panama Canal:

Moral Responsibility. "Toward the governments of countries which we have recognized on this side of the Panama Canal, we feel a moral responsibility that does not attach to other nations. We wish them to feel that our recognition is of real value to them and that they can count on such support as we can lawfully give when they are beset with difficulties. We have undertaken to discourage revolutions within that area and to encourage settlement of political difficulties by the peaceful methods of elections. This policy is bound to meet with some discouragements, but it is our hope and belief that ultimately it will prevail. This territory is rich in natural resources and under orderly governments is capable of a development that will give to its inhabitants all the advantages of modern civilization. It is a curious circumstance that some of those who have been willing to have us take mandates over far-off countries in Asia, where we have no interest that does not attach to all humanity, are most critical when we are attempting to encourage the maintenance of order, the continuity of duly established government, and the protection of lives and property of our own citizens under a general reign of law in these countries that are near at hand and where we have large and peculiar interests."

Doctrine Strengthened. The foregoing contains no new thought for one of the first things that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan did in 1913 was to announce that governments which came into being by revolution would not be recognized. Also, the Central American countries embodied this principle in treaties to which the United States was not a party but which treaties resulted from conferences called by Secretary of State Hughes.

Thus, under Democratic as well as Republican administrations, the doctrine has been slowly evolving in diplomatic correspondence, but not until Mr. Coolidge's speech here has the policy been as definitely stated or as positively circumstanced. It means that the mandate idea, which has prevailed in other parts of the world under the authority of the League of Nations has been applied in modified form as a sort of trusteeship in this hemisphere north of Panama.

The Coolidge doctrine is the development of the power to extend or refuse recognition, but affirmatively along with it goes moral as well as material support for the government that has been recognized. Mr. Coolidge cited the precedent of supplying arms to President Obregon and the later instance of similar help to the duly recognized president of Nicaragua, Adolf Diaz, as the measure of American support when once a government had been recognized.

Ballots Not Bullets. This means revolution, that it is hoped the revolutionists throughout Central America will see at once the futility of their course if Albert J. Beveridge, statesman and author, succumbed to a heart attack at his home in Indianapolis yesterday morning.

GRAY'S STORY TOLD TO COURT

Salesman's Confession Differs Widely From Mrs. Snyder's.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The signed confession of Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman, has been added to the evidence on which the state bases its expectation of a conviction of Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, magazine art director, in his Queens Village home, March 26.

The confession, differing radically from that of Mrs. Snyder, placed in evidence yesterday, pictured Gray as a weak and vacillating man held by the charm of a clever woman and used by her as a somewhat inefficient tool. It revealed a man who, almost up to the moment when, sash weight in hand, he stole into the bedroom where Snyder was sleeping, was undecided whether to kill or run away.

It showed Mrs. Snyder tying her husband's hands with a towel, pouring chloroform on his pillow, and when Gray weakened and Snyder was thought still alive, urging Gray to go on by saying "this thing has got to go through." Mrs. Snyder's confession placed her in the hallway, looking on while her bar-armor killed her husband. But in one part of Gray's confession, where he admitted his memory was obscured by excitement, he said Mrs. Snyder fastened the picture wire around her husband's neck, when neither knew if he were dead.

Seen Shortly After. Besides the confession, the state offered direct evidence to show that Gray was in Queens village shortly after the murder was committed. Nathaniel Willis and Charles C. Smith, the latter a policeman, testified they saw Gray not far from the Snyder home between 6 and 6:30 the morning of the murder day.

Blood-stained bed-clothing, a pillow case, pillow and sheet were exhibited and identified as those taken from Snyder's bed. Gray did not glance toward the witness stand. Mrs. Snyder showed no emotion.

Then the sash weight was placed in evidence, the detective holding it up for view. Followed the placing in evidence of the cravat with which Snyder's ankles were bound, the towel Gray said Mrs. Snyder had tied about her husband's wrists and other articles, and still Gray did not glance toward the stand and still Mrs. Snyder stared almost haughtily, her lips compressed into a thin vermilion line.

When Gray's confession was introduced, however, Mrs. Snyder made gestures of denial as parts were read. She smiled toward the jury when Gray's confession, read in matter-of-fact voice by Dist. Atty. Richard Newcombe, revealed her as the instigator of the alleged plot to kill Snyder. She shook her head negatively when the district attorney read a part about Gray giving her the sash weight weeks before the murder. And when the confession told of her and her little daughter, Lorraine, walking by the closet in which Gray was hiding until Snyder went to bed, she puckered her face as if about to cry.

State Police Head Takes New Position

Lansing, April 27.—(AP)—The resignation of Capt. J. C. Scavarda as head of the uniformed division of the state police and his appointment as chief of police of the city of Flint was announced today by Capt. Oscar Olander, commissioner of public safety.

The appointment made by Mayor William H. McKelghan of Flint was confirmed today by the city council. Captain Scavarda succeeds James T. Cole.

SUDDEN HEART ATTACK FATAL TO BEVERIDGE

FORMER SOLON WAS G. O. P. LEADER IN NATION.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—Headless of a career that was nearing its climax, death today claimed Albert Jeremiah Beveridge, 64, statesman, biographer and orator. The heart ailment, symptoms of which two weeks ago cautioned against further over-exertion in preparation of what he hoped would be his masterpiece—"The Life of Abraham Lincoln"—at 6:10 this morning took its toll after a period of hopeful recuperation. Intimate friends had not known his illness was serious.

Beveridge, whose time since retirement from the U. S. senate in 1911 after 12 years of service had been divided between politics and literary endeavor, had not been in rugged health for some time.

Beveridge's talents inclined in three directions, writing, statesmanship and oratory, he gained rank alongside the great men of each field. Major political success came when he was comparatively young and in the senate he displayed a grasp of domestic and international problems that for two decades gave him the status of a sage in the field of political economy. He was writing the "Life of Lincoln," with the hope that it would be comparable with or even superior to his "Life of John Marshall," which in 1916 had brought him pre-eminence as a biographer. Excellence in oratory was the first talent in his complex makeup to assert itself in the swift ascent from a humble station to national distinction.

Produced Essays. In addition to his biographical works, he also produced many essays and treatises on involved political, religious and economic subjects. They ranged from "The Russian Advance," 1903, to "The Bible as good reading," 1905, and "The state and the nation," 1924.

Finding time in 1916 to do a bit of war correspondence in Europe, he wrote "What is Back of the War," following an interview with the German kaiser. The volume took little heed of the propaganda of the day and after the entrance of the United States on the allied side it came into temporary disfavor.

The many paradoxes in Beveridge's personality were illustrated apparently by his checkered career. In his progressive principles he was an iconoclast. An outstanding advocate of popular election of U. S. senators, he failed twice to obtain the popular vote requisite to election. A pioneer for child labor legislation, he was on the other hand a stickler for a high protective tariff. Though not popularly regarded as a conservative in political aspects he was an ultra-conservative when any proposal involved departure from fundamental principles.

These divergent views on many questions, coupled with the additional complexity of championing the rights of the common people in public actions being every inch a patrician personally brought fluctuations in his political fortunes.

FAVORED DIRECT ELECTION. One of the pioneer exponents of the direct election of all public officials, Albert Jeremiah Beveridge consistently was unsuccessful as a candidate under the system.

Twice he attained membership in the U. S. Senate from Indiana

Flood Relief Funds Asked in Escanaba

SECURE in the safe and temperate climate of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, where tornados are unknown and flood waters never menace, it is difficult to appreciate the terrors and sufferings which the people of the Mississippi bottoms are undergoing.

The flood, by far the most severe in the turbulent history of the Father of Waters, has destroyed homes and property and foodstuffs and taken a heavy toll in human lives. It will be months before the residents of the inundated areas can become self-supporting.

Relief must be provided. Escanaba has been called upon, by the American Red Cross, to furnish its share of that relief.

The Press will be glad to receive contributions to be acknowledged and turned over to the Red Cross. Or, if the givers prefer, the checks may be sent direct to L. G. Sawdy, secretary of the Delta County Red Cross chapter.

The Press' own check for $25 has started the local fund. Others are awaited.

'GIN, JEALOUSY' CAUSE MURDER

Hollywood Actress Held for Killing Husband With Pistol.

Hollywood, Apr. 27.—(AP)—Detective Captain Slaughter declared today investigation indicated that "gin and jealousy" caused Sarah Kerrick, screen "double" to shoot and kill her husband, Tom Kerrick, film player of western roles, at their home here early this morning.

Captain Slaughter said Mrs. Kerrick would be booked on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter and that the grand jury would be asked for indictments.

The detective captain declared reports indicated the shooting climaxed one of Hollywood's wildest parties at which six film artists and extras indulged in night-long drinking. The others at the party in Kerrick's home were Henry Isabell, his wife, Anita; Joe Hunt and Miss Iris Burns.

According to a statement made to the detective by Mrs. Isabell who is known on the screen as Anita Davis, Mrs. Kerrick became jealous of Miss Burns. The two women were engaged in a fight, Slaughter said, and Mrs. Kerrick borrowed a revolver owned by Hunt. He said she was declared by Mrs. Isabell to have fired one shot which went through the breakfast nook table, and then through Isabell's trouser leg, and that the second shot struck Kerrick in the chest. He died in a few minutes.

The shooting occurred while all were gathered about the table for a light meal. Police found the revolver with two discharged shells under the table.

Cecil Kellogg, another actor living nearby, told the police that Isabell ran to his home shouting that "Sarah just killed Tom." Isabell and Miss Burns fled after the shooting but were arrested after considerable searching.

Besides the grand jury hearing, a coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow.

Palmer Mine Will "Shoot" Big Blast

Marquette, Mich., April 27.—(AP)—What is expected to be the largest iron ore blast ever made will be "shot" at the Volunteer Mining company's open pit property at Palmer early next week. It is estimated more than 80,000 pounds of dynamite will be used. Officers of the company predict that the blast will move 280,000 tons of ore. With churn drills, 325 holes, six inches in diameter, from 15 to 60 feet deep and 40 feet apart, have been bored in the ground. Mining men from Galveston, 68 Salt Lake, 64 Grand Rapids, 44 San Francisco, Jacksonville, 56 Soo, Mich., 30 Kansas City, 66 Tampa, 50 Los Angeles, 54 Washington, 50 Louisville, 62 Winnepoc, 38

VIETNAM ARMY OVERRUN CHINA

Factional Splits Further Complicate Complex Situation.

Shanghai, April 27.—(AP)—Several armies of varying size are moving today in different sections of China. What were supposed to be northern troops to the number of 80,000 in the neighborhood of Wuhu, in the Yangtze river from Nanking, are not northerners but contingents of the second, fourth, seventh, eighth, thirty-seventh and fortieth divisions of the nationalists (Cantonese); heretofore regarded as neutral or uncertain as between the Hankow and Nanking governments.

Most of these troops are proceeding down the river to Nanking, but it has not been determined whether they are on their way to join or attack Chiang Kai-shek, commander of the moderate section of the Cantonese.

Chiang has issued a last call on Hankow, urging those in favor of the Nanking government to join him without delay, and developments are being watched closely by both sides.

Four columns of nationalists are on their way to Canton, which recently declared its independence of both the Hankow and Nanking governments. In this connection, advances from Kiangsi province, say that 5,000 troops arrived there last two days and more are enroute from the upper river points. These troops are considered favorable to General Chiang.

Supporters of Marshal Sun Chuan-fang, once overlord of five provinces in central China, are encamped in large numbers around Yangchow, but the situation there is uncertain. Negotiations apparently are continuing regarding the surrender of Sun Chuan to General Chiang. In the meantime troops are on the move from Nanking in the direction of Chinkiang, ready to advance across the river on Yangchow, if Sun Chuan fails to surrender.

Two Sentenced to Die for Attack on Moslem Customs

Tashkent, Russian Turkestan, April 27.—(AP)—An innkeeper named Dadish and Bey Madalebekov, a man of wealth, today were sentenced to death for the murder of a communist agitator in the village of Durmen growing out of class war against moslem customs.

Suit for Recovery of Alien Property Dismissed by Court

Washington, April 27.—(AP)—Suit of Grover C. Bergdoll, draft evader, now in Germany, to recover $1,000,000 worth of property held by the alien property custodian, was dismissed today by the District of Columbia supreme court for want of prosecution. No counsel has been entered for Bergdoll since Chester N. Farr of Philadelphia, formerly his attorney, withdrew his appearance three months ago.

Factory Explosion Toll Mounts to 13

Detroit, April 27.—(AP)—The death toll in the explosions and subsequent fire at the Harper Avenue plant of the Briggs Manufacturing Company last Saturday was brought to 13 late today when Gualtrio Rodriguez died in Receiving Hospital. Relatives of the man could not be located.

A force of workmen today began a search of the ruins, using acetylene torches to cut away the wreckage of iron and steel.

BREWER ADMITS BRIBING OFFICER

Customs Officer Received Regular "Fee", Prob-ers Learn.

Windsor, Ont., April 27.—(AP)—Testimony from William R. Bond, vice president of the British-American Brewing company of Windsor, that his firm had paid $100 a month for approximately a year to a Sandwich customs official was brought out at today's hearing of the royal commission investigating smuggling and the liquor situation in the province.

Bond said the money was paid for "making out clearance papers and doing other work outside of his regular hours on duty," and that the payments were entered in the company's books as "incidental expenses."

Members of the British-American company were called to the hearing after N. W. Rewell, counsel for the commission asked an explanation of alleged irregularities in the conduct of the firm's business. A. E. Nash, commission auditor, testified that investigation by his department showed a "difference of more than 702,000 gallons of beer in favor of production accounts as compared with sales figures," and that the company split its production, "15 per cent for domestic and 85 per cent for export, the latter amounting to more than $1,000,000 a year."

Plane Afire. Pilot Jumps in Parachute

Rantoul, Ill., April 27.—(AP)—Transformed into a human torch when his clothing ignited after his airplane caught fire while 1800 feet in the air near Champaign, Ill., Lieut. Stewart W. Towle, Jr., of the army air corps, stationed at Champaign Field here, today saved his life by making a parachute jump from the blazing ship.

As his parachute opened he beat out the fire in his clothing and landed safely in a field although severely burned on the arms, shoulders and back. His plane crashed in a burst of fire, less than 20 feet from a farm house, about one mile northwest of Champaign.

HOUSE REJECTS GAS TAX BILL

Farmers Ally Themselves With Opponents of Measure.

Lansing, April 27.—(AP)—The LeLand highway finance bill, proposing a three-cent gasoline tax and an equal division of the weight tax with the counties, was rejected by the house today. Farm leaders allied themselves with members from the industrial centers and representatives from the poorer counties. The vote was 38 for and 50 against the proposal.

An attempt will be made to revive the measure and with it may be linked with an effort to reduce the weight tax. The vote by which the bill went down to defeat was immediately re-considered and it was tabled for future consideration.

When the bill came to roll call it carried an amendment sponsored by Representative Ate Dykstra granting municipalities $2,000 a mile for the upkeep of trunk lines inside corporate limits. Representative B. G. Cameron, of Eaton, made an effort to strike out the clause benefitting the cities, but failed.

Amendments Rejected. The house likewise turned down amendments offered by Representative William Farrand of Detroit, to cut the levy from three to two cents a gallon and by Representative John M. Harris, of Charlevoix, to set aside $1,000,000 for equal distribution to the counties.

Representative John Espie, administration floor and farm spokesman, admitted he came to the parting of the ways when the bill came up for final passage. The farm bureau and other farm organizations insist on rearrangement of the gasoline tax shall be made unless there is a corresponding cut in the weight schedule.

"I have been termed an administration man, ready to do whatever the administration told me to," Representative Espie said. "I have supported the administration when I thought it was right. Now I must choose between the administration and my constituents, the farmers. I am opposed to this bill because sufficient revenue is being raised and the farmers as well as the automobile industry are bearing a large enough burden."

U. S. Peace Envoy in Nicaragua Will Meet Liberal Heads

Managua, April 27.—(AP)—Henry L. Stimson, who is here to bring about a settlement between the conservative and liberal governments, as the personal representative of President Coolidge, will meet the liberal delegates now on their way from Puerto Cabezas, for a peace conference. They are expected here Saturday.

LEVEE BLAST MAY NOT SAVE NEW ORLEANS

CRESCENT CITY PREPARES FOR CREST OF FLOOD.

(BULLETIN) Pine Bluff, Ark., April 27.—(AP)—After breaking and spouting a stream several feet in diameter, the South Bend levee on the Arkansas river settled down of its own accord about 11 o'clock, checking the flow and filling in a sand boil discovered at 9 o'clock.

With men and sacks to be rushed out of here early tomorrow morning on the steamboat Choctaw, it is thought the levee will hold.

(BULLETIN) Little Rock, Ark., April 27.—(AP)—The death list of the Arkansas flood tonight touched the 100 mark with the reported drownings of a family of five near Tillar, two negroes at Pine Bluff, one at Maunelle and one at Deval's Bluff.

The name of the family said to have been drowned at Tillar could not be learned tonight.

PLAN MAPPED OUT

(By The Associated Press) Plans to break the Mississippi levee below New Orleans at noon Friday in an effort to save that city from the flood are formulated by army engineers and Louisiana state officials.

Whether the gap will prevent the flooding of the crescent city still is regarded as doubtful by federal engineers. The thousands in the two parishes to be thus flooded began the exodus to New Orleans and the army base Tuesday.

Red Cross began concentrating workers and supplies in lower Louisiana area in preparation for any emergency. Spreading waters in southeastern Arkansas and the Mississippi delta, added to the great army of homeless.

Relief agencies redoubled efforts to remove refugees from Arkansas City, Lake Village, Leland and others of the score and more inundated towns east and west of the Mississippi. First reports of looting since the flood began three weeks ago, came from Greenville, Miss., with prompt action by the militia to suppress robberies.

Southern hardwood traffic association officials estimate that nearly 10,000 square miles have been flooded in Arkansas, Mississippi and Missouri. General flooding of southeastern Arkansas is threatened by the weakening of the south bend levee on the Arkansas river.

Army engineers and workmen who have been engaged in a day and night struggle to save the levee sent out a call for more sand sacks. Labor agents, seeking to lure negro refugees to new scenes of labor, are officially barred from Mississippi concentration camps by order of Adjutant General Green.

PARISHES EVACUATED. New Orleans, April 27.—(AP)—Hoping that relief to the city from the tremendous pressure of the water yet to come down the Mississippi river was assured, New Orleans tonight was witnessing the spectacular removal of the citizens of two parishes from homes which have been doomed that the largest and proudest city of the south might be saved.

Meanwhile, every precaution was being taken to prevent any unforeseen action being taken along the levee line stretching through New Orleans and up the river. National guardsmen and police patrolled many miles of levees throughout the day, not only to prevent dynamiting but to sound the alarm should any weakness develop in the levee system.

Resentment and resignation were conflicting sentiments expressed by refugees from the Poydras areas as they made preparations to remove from their homes in advance of the coming flood from the breach that will be cut in the levee at Poydras plantation Friday.

Levees Patrolled. New Orleans police directed traffic, national guardsmen patrolled the grass-covered levees and warned citizens to evacuate the area and behind all loomed the shadows of a submarine chaser. An airplane hovered overhead, assigned to river patrol duty and further in the distance

Boatload of four more submarine chasers sailed at anchor.

Raubous cries of teamsters, the puffing of tractors, the hum of hundreds of automobile motors, sad-faced men, weeping children, grim, beetle-browed men, motor trucks laden with soldiers, threatening guns and the cluttered furniture incident to removing the debris of two parishes, all went into the tone and color of the most vivid picture the plains of Chalmette have witnessed since Andrew Jackson turned back the British there in 1812.

Where to Go?

Citizens of the parish said they were being warned to evacuate the territory to be flooded but that they were not being told where they might go. They expressed resentment at this. A committee designated at a mass meeting yesterday, with full power to act for the citizens of the two parishes in the emergency, in answer to a question as to their next step, summarized their views in one sentence:

"What can we do?"

"Since a majority of our committee seemed satisfied with the guarantee of reparations offered by the governor, the state of Louisiana and the city of New Orleans," Judge L. H. Perez, chairman of the committee said, "there seems to be nothing else to do but devote our efforts to getting the people out of the affected area to refugee camps. Hundreds of trucks, moving vans and army transports, are today engaged in bringing out refugees and all should be safe and comfortable in camps here by Friday noon.

Care For People.

"Our committee will continue to function, however, but most of its time will be consumed in getting out and caring for the people. We still believe that a greater measure of relief would be afforded by cutting the levee above New Orleans than proposed at Poydras. However, if the governor orders the artificial crevasse which now appears certain, we can do nothing but submit peacefully to the sacrifice."

In view of the tenacity of the atmosphere, engineers declined to say how the crevasse would be created.

"We will not reveal our plans until they are carried out," Col. Marcel Garsaud, former chief engineer of the levee board and closely connected with plans for the break, said, "in view of the possibility of trouble in carrying out the plans should they be made known."

MORE REFUGEES.

Memphis, Tenn., April 27.—(AP)—From the lowlands of southeastern Louisiana to the highlands of central Arkansas and Tennessee, new caravans today joined the armies of refugees on the march in the face of floods or threats of floods.

Hundreds moved out of St. Bernard and Plaquemine parishes, carrying household and other possessions and abandoned homes and farms to be deliberately flooded in an effort to save New Orleans from the wall of water bearing down upon it from the upper Mississippi valley.

Grim forces of nature were compelling elements in the movements of those in northern Louisiana, the Mississippi delta and southeastern Arkansas. Many had time to save some possessions; others trudged along empty handed, thankful to escape with their lives.

City's Fate Doubtful.

Army engineers still were doubtful whether the sacrifices to be made by the people of southeastern Louisiana with the breaking of the levee at Poydras at noon Friday and the loosening of vast volumes of flood waters would save the crescent city.

The Red Cross is preparing for emergency in the whole of lower Louisiana. Director Baker announced here today that personnel and supplies were being concentrated in that section, especially at New Orleans.

"Every effort is being expended to anticipate these emergencies and to be prepared fully to cope with them the need arises," said Mr. Baker.

As flood waters continued to inundate additional towns and farms in southern Arkansas and the Mississippi delta, Red Cross agencies were bending every energy to relieve situations there, described in official reports as desperate.

Arkansas Waters Rise.

Rising waters from the Arkansas reached more towns and villages today and increased the flood depths at Arkansas City and other places where large numbers of refugees were gathered.

Hundreds who had sought safety in McGehee, abandoned that now inundated town and marched to Monticello where more than 6000 homeless already were being cared for.

Although the problem of providing food and shelter for the refugees is a tremendous one, the Red Cross, national guard and other relief agencies reported no one was going hungry or suffering from want of clothing or shelter.

Across the Mississippi in the delta section, the flood waters pouring through the Stop's Landing break above Greenville, were gradually pushing out the huge lake in the lower Yazoo valley, flooding half a dozen more towns, making a total of more than a score now partially under water.

The refugee situation in this section presented a most pressing problem. Reports to the Red Cross said that at Leland, where there were 6,000 people, help was needed as the town was overrun. Preparations were made to transfer several thousands to the concentration camp at Cleveland.

Reports here showed 28,500 refugees concentrated in six towns in the delta with 8,000 at Greenville; 7,000 at Cleveland; 6,000 at Leland; 2,000 at Lodi; 2,500 at Deason, and 3,000 at Beulah.

First reports of looting but on a comparatively small scale, came today from Greenville. Several negroes were arrested after they were found breaking into stores and the military authorities announced that an 8 o'clock curfew would be enforced, beginning tonight.

Actress in "Sex" Serves Sentence

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Mae West, star of "Sex," today emerged from the workhouse on Welfare Island where she had completed a ten-day sentence for participating in an obscene theatrical production.

When the actress went into the workhouse she promised reporters that she would come out with a new play. Today, she says that she had enough material for "not one, but many plays."

through election by the state legislature, and twice he was rejected as an aspirant for the same place by popular referendum.

When Theodore Roosevelt bolted the Republican party in 1912, Beveridge went with him. At the Bull Moose convention in Chicago, the Hoosier, as temporary chairman, uttered the principles upon which the progressives relied for success.

Through the irony of circumstances, the measures which the progressives espoused and helped to enact were deterrents to the ambitions of Beveridge.

Sought Re-election.

Since his retirement from the senate in 1911, Beveridge twice sought to return. In 1914, he was defeated as a progressive candidate and in 1922 he won the Republican nomination over Harry A. New, but lost the election to Samuel M. Ralston, the Democratic standard bearer. In 1912, Beveridge was defeated as the progressive candidate for governor of Indiana.

Beveridge's prominence was as firmly fixed in his literary career and in his ability as an orator, as in his statesmanship. His "Life of John Marshall," is regarded as the most illuminating exposition of the first chief justice of the U. S. supreme court.

Book Was Criticized.

After a year in Europe as a war correspondent for a national weekly magazine, Beveridge returned in 1915 to publish, on the eve of America's entrance, a volume, "What is Back of the War," which brought pitiless castigation from those who saw in it a justification of the German action. It was barred from many libraries and training camps.

That he should have attained proficiency in many endeavors is more significant in the light of Beveridge's humble beginning. He was born October 6, 1862, on an Ohio farm which gave back little more than a scant existence. After the Civil war, the family moved to Illinois.

Before he had quit his teens had worked as a farm chore boy, a section hand on a railroad, a teamster and logger. He found time, however, to complete grade school and enter DePauw university, Greencastle, Ind. Working summer vacations as a book agent, Beveridge completed the college work in 1885 and entered the legal profession.

Katharine Langsdale, his first wife, died in 1900 and in 1907 he married Catherine Eddy of Chicago. The former senator had two children, Albert, Jr., and Abigail.

Peaches Browning was arrested in Chicago. Is it possible the city is not so bad as it's painted?

CRITICS LAUD "SLIDE KELLY"

Detroit Reviewer Calls Baseball Movie Best Picture of Year.

Escanaba baseball fans have a rare treat in store for them when "Slide, Kelly, Slide" plays the Delft theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Critics have been praising the picture with unusual enthusiasm.

Harold Heffernan, of the Detroit News, declares it is the best picture he has seen this year, and urgently advises all of his readers to see it while it is playing, this week, at one of the downtown theatres.

William Haines is the star. The big scenes were staged during the world's series last year with several members of the New York Yankees enacting important roles. "Fundamentally it is a baseball picture," says Mr. Heffernan's review in the Detroit News, "but that does not mean that movie patrons who know nothing of the great American pastime will not enjoy it. It has many big baseball situations but its moments of comedy, pathos and melodrama have been so deftly staged and woven into the sport that the picture fulfills every requirement of perfect screen entertainment."

Washington, Apr. 27. (Special)—Some fifty thousand visitors have been pouring into the capital during the past two weeks from all parts of the country. Among those registered at the Mayflower hotel this week were Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Bushong and Paul Bushong of Gladstone and Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Stack and daughter of Escanaba. The Messrs. Bushong were in Washington on business while Mrs. Bushong was a delegate to the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mr. Stack was here to transact tax matters at the Treasury department.

Asheville, N. C., April 27.—(AP)—John Early, leper, has disappeared from his camp on the South Toe river, according to word received here tonight from Sheriff F. H. Banks of Yancey county.

Early escaped recently from the Carville, La., leprosy hospital and made his way to a mountain retreat near Burnsville, Yancey county. It was said that he wanted to visit his father who lives in North Carolina.

Instructions had been issued for an attendant at the leprosy hospital to go to Burnsville and return Early to Carville.

they expect to earn American recognition. There is nothing, of course, to prevent revolution itself if a faction believes it can overcome the military power of an incumbent government, even though the latter has the material support of the United States government. But the revolutionary leaders would not be recognized. An election or the designation of a president by constitutional means will be insisted upon as a matter of course by the United States before recognition is extended in the case of a successful revolution.

Mr. Coolidge bases his policy on humanitarian as well as material grounds, arguing that the peoples in the weaker countries should not be exploited by selfish leaders and that governments which are in power through lawful processes should have the encouragement, indeed the material aid of the American government if they desire it.

MRS. M'MARTIN ANSWERS CALL Had Been Resident of City For More Than 35 Years.

Mrs. Alice Susan McMartin, widow of the late Silas Edwin McMartin, Sr., passed away at the family home, 614 South Thirteenth street, at 11:20 o'clock Tuesday night, following an illness of eighteen months' duration, due to carcinoma. Mrs. McMartin had consulted specialists at Goshen, Ind., where she submitted to an operation. Returning to this city, Mrs. McMartin was confined to her home but was in bed only five weeks previous to her death.

Mrs. McMartin was born in New London, Wis., November 2, 1856, where she lived until about 35 years ago when she went to Watermeet, where she met the late Silas McMartin to whom she was married 24 years ago. She came to this city some at 614 South Thirteenth street and have lived there continuously since that time.

Mrs. McMartin is survived by her three sons and one daughter: Silas Edwin McMartin, Miss Alice Odell McMartin, Harold McMartin, of this city, and Raymond Louis McMartin, of Chicago. There are two grandchildren.

The body was prepared for burial at the Anderson Funeral Home and will be removed to the family residence this afternoon where it will remain until the hour of the funeral services which will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home and at 2:30 in the First M. E. church. Rev. R. E. G. Williams, pastor, will officiate at the services.

Mrs. McMartin was a member of the Ladies' Aid society of the First M. E. church.

Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery, where her husband was buried seven years ago.

Bird House Exhibit Prepared by Grades

Seventy bird houses of all shapes and descriptions, built by sixth and seventh grade boys of this city, have been gracing the windows of the L. A. Erickson company's store for the past few days. The annual exhibit was prepared under the direction of John Nichols, manual training teacher, and has attracted

Delta's Quota for Training Camps Is One-Third Filled

Nine applications from Delta county young men to attend the citizens' military training camps have been received. With the county's quota fixed at 24, there will be room for 15 more.

Alger and Baraga counties already have filled their quotas, 24 making application in Alger county which had a quota of but 16, and 11 Baraga young men asking to be one of the four to attend from that county.

"Delta county young men who want to enroll must act without delay, according to A. H. Ryall, chairman of the Delta county C. M. T. C. recruiting organization.

The quotas for 12 counties in the peninsula is 175 and 111 applications had been received. The figures follow:

County	Applications Received	Quota
Alger	16	24
Baraga	4	11
Delta	25	9
Dickinson	20	19
Gogebic	17	13
Iron	10	2
Keweenaw	3	0

Senior Class Play Has Gripping Plot

Did you ever whip a man twice your size and his would-be accomplice without raising a hand? Did you ever have a movie queen running after you? Or did you ever set the whole town talking? These are only a few of the remarkable exploits of Chester Binney which is admirably played by Harry Erickson in the senior play, "The Whole Town's Talking."

More than your money's worth in laughs, clever action, and playing is the aim of the class of '27 whose very evident purpose is to dwarf the great success of the faculty play by contrast with the even greater success of "The Whole Town's Talking."

Although the play will be given on Friday, May 13, the senior class is determined to make it a lucky day for all those who attend. This is the last time the class of '27 will have a chance to present a play to Escanaba audiences in the name of the class.

much attention because of its originality and quality.

CORONER'S JURY PROBES DEATH Scouts Theory of Violent Death; Logerquist Drowned.

The report of the three men and three women who served on the coroner's jury during the inquest into the death of Nels Logerquist, whose body was found afloat near the Stephenson dock Monday morning, is as follows:

We, the jury in the Nels Logerquist case, find that death came to Mr. Logerquist through accidental drowning on the morning of April 25 or the evening of April 24.

Signed: S. C. BEGGS, MRS. JOSEPH GREEN, MRS. JOHN FISHER, MRS. CLAUDE FISHER, ARTHUR F. SUNDLING, C. R. O'CONNELL.

The inquest, held in the city hall yesterday afternoon, was the result of an action requested by the family of the deceased.

A number of witnesses from Rapid River, Gladstone and Munising were called to the stand. All evidence indicated that Mr. Logerquist wandered off alone at midnight, April 24, after his companion stopped near an establishment on First avenue north.

Coroner G. C. Bartley reiterated his report of the autopsy made a few hours after the body had been recovered from the water. "At the time of the autopsy," Dr. Bartley said, "there were no blemishes or bruises of any kind on the man's body that would indicate foul play. Death was undoubtedly due to drowning."

After little discussion and explanation as to how the body could float so soon after death by drowning, the jury was asked for a verdict. They were out only a few minutes.

HUNT MODERN VENUS

Sydney, N. S. W.—The most perfectly proportioned woman in the world is the object of a search started by Prof. H. G. Chapman of Sydney university. He has started to record measurements of Australian women between the ages of 19 and 32, of whom there are more than 20,000. Similar data will be collected in other countries to find which nation produces the best proportioned women.

CITY STARTS STREET REPAIR Dragging Dirt Roadways Well Under Way; Pavements Next.

About half of Escanaba's dirt streets had been dragged when the whistle blew on the city's crews last night, and work on the remainder will be pushed as rapidly as possible. City Manager T. F. Kessler said. Excellent progress has been made and the streets which have been dragged are in excellent condition.

Patchwork on the Ludington street pavement will begin just as quickly as the weather shows signs of permitting on efficient job to be done. Mr. Kessler said. Material for the work is on hand and equipment is ready. It is felt, however, that since warm weather is necessary to insure good results, the work should not be done too early.

"We are ready to go ahead just as soon as conditions will permit us to do so," the manager promised.

The scope of permanent street improvements this year will depend largely upon the city budget which is now in the making. The council has discussed at length, several projects and others will be thoroughly reviewed before the budget is adopted.

Among these is a proposal to im-

NEW BUDGET MADE PUBLIC

Kessler Submits Estimates to Council; Public Hearing May 19.

City Manager T. F. Kessler's tentative budget for 1927, which has been submitted to the city council, provides for the expenditure of $140,557 here during the next fiscal year, as compared with $134,517 during the year just closing.

The chief item of increase comes in an item over which the administration has no control—interest and bond retirement. Last year $12,162 worth of interests was paid and bonds retired; this year the amount is $25,062, or more than twice as much. Leaving this interest-bond item out of both tables, Mr. Kessler's budget is $7,000 less than the tentative budget a year ago.

Park Improvement.
There is an increase of $3,700 in the park item, the additional sum to be used for improvements in Ludington and Rose parks. The rise in the police item is due, principally, to the falling off of revenues which occurred when the city "Volstead" ordinance was repealed. Needed equipment is also responsible for the increase in the fire department item. The Carnegie library also gets an increase necessitated by increased use of the institution.

The contingent fund item, in actual practice, will be offset by collections, including licenses, fees and other general "odds and ends" the city will collect during the year from various sources.

Of the total budget, $105,965 will be spent for general city purposes. The bond tax, authorized by the voters a year ago, will add $4,250 to the tax bill; the garbage tax will be $5,380, and interest and bonds totalling $25,062 will bring the total up to $25,062.

The tentative budget is as follows:

Fund	1926	1927
General	$11,175	$11,250
Engineering	4,720	4,100
City buildings	500	650
Fire	26,310	27,410
Police	15,400	14,480
Library	5,725	10,000
Street sewer	29,500	29,550
Garbage	4,000	4,000
Park	5,900	9,600
Health	3,200	3,600
Welfare	2,000	2,000
Disposal	6,250	6,500
Interest and Bond	12,162	25,062
Sinking	4,500	4,500
Contingent	4,825	11,175
Totals	$134,517	$140,557

Tax Makeup.
General City ..... $105,965
Bond Tax ..... 4,250
Garbage Tax ..... 5,280
Interest and Bonds ..... 25,062
Public Hearing.

Citizens will have the opportunity, on May 19, to express their approval or disapproval at a public budget hearing. In the meantime the budget will be printed and distributed freely about the city, so that all may be advised as to its provisions. Under the charter, no money can be spent for public improvements that is not provided in the budget at the time of its adoption.

RECORD "SHOT" NEARLY READY

Palmer Open Pit Mine to Be Scene of Gigantic Explosion.

Eschpeming, April 27—What is expected to be the largest iron ore blast ever made will be "shot" at the Volunteer Mining company's open pit property at Palmer early next week. Officials of the company and experts employed by the Hercules Powder company are completing arrangements for the blast. Drilling has been underway since last fall and the company's churn drills have "sunk" 325 holes. Most of the "holes" ground was stripped of overburden and some ore when the pit was opened last summer and the blast will move nothing but marketable ore.

After the blast, steam shovels will load the ore into mine dump cars. Mining and powder men predict that the blast will break 260,000 tons of ore. The holes have been drilled 40 feet apart and the blast will take in a large area. There will be sufficient ore broken to keep the mine working throughout the shipping season at full capacity.

W. J. Keese, service man and salesman for the Hercules Powder company, one of the officials in charge of the blast, estimates that between 80,000 and 90,000 pounds of dynamite will be used. The drill holes, all of which are six inches in diameter, range from 15 to 60 feet in depth.

Four Days to Load. Mr. Keese will be assisted in loading the holes by other powder experts employed by the Hercules company and it is expected that the loading operations will require three or four days.

It is expected that mining men from all parts of the Lake Superior district will be on hand to witness the big "shot." At a recent blast at the Volunteer, 150,000 tons were blown out of a hillside early this month.

Pastors to Discuss Lewis Book Tonight

"Elmer Gantry," by Sinclair Lewis, a book intended as a bomb for the clergy, will be discussed in the new auditorium of the First Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock tonight. The hour is set later because of the Chamber of Commerce dinner. There are many questions in the minds of people who have read the book or heard about it. Rev. John B. Hubbard, the Presbyterian pastor, will raise these questions, after giving a brief resume of the narrative. Then a debate will be carried on with Rev. John C. Evans, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, the discussion form being used.

There is much to be said about the book, and much room for disagreement. It is intended that this discussion will help to clarify the minds of those present, so that the good or bad, or both, features of the book may be sensed. As one feature of the twenty-minute devotional service, Mrs. Charles Stoll will sing a solo.

Prof. Leonard S. Smith Will Give Two Lectures on City Zoning Today

"The Escanaba Woman's club invites the members of the different women's organizations of the city to meet with them this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Presbyterian church parlors to hear Prof. Smith's talk on zoning," said a statement by the club last night.

Zoning and its importance to the modern city, will be discussed at two meetings here today by Prof. Leonard S. Smith of Madison, Wis., one of the leading consulting engineers of the country.

Professor Smith's first talk will be at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the First Presbyterian church, to members of the Escanaba Woman's club. He will address a forum dinner of the Chamber of Commerce in the Delta hotel at 6 o'clock, illustrating his lecture with lantern slides showing what zoning has accomplished in other cities.

Professor Smith's suggestions for improving the Ludington Park bathing beach, contained in his report to the municipal park commission, and outlined at a recent forum meeting, were so interesting and instructive that it was decided to bring him back to Escanaba for the zoning talks. He has been retained, during the last few years, as a consultant by a large number of cities whose zoning problems were almost identical with those confronting Escanaba and his practical experience, coupled with his thorough technical training, make him an expert whose opinions are highly valued. The city of Marinette gave him an audience of more than 500 for a zoning lecture given there last week.

Reservations for the forum dinner should be made with the Chamber of Commerce. Anyone who is interested in the subject of zoning is invited to attend.

The attendants were Miss Helen Palowski of Chicago, Ill., and Charles Hojnacki of Bark River.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride wore a white dress with tulle veil and carried a bouquet of beautiful roses.

They will make their home at Schaeffer.

Dinner Party. Mrs. James Redmond of Wells entertained several friends at a 6 o'clock dinner in honor of her guests, Mrs. A. Clark of Jeffersonville, Ind., and Mrs. Roy Thompson of Guernsey, Wyo., who were called to Escanaba to attend the funeral of their sister, Mrs. J. A. Lambert.

CITY MANAGER GIVES TALK

Development of City Rule Discussed at Assembly.

"The Evolution of American City Government" was the subject of a talk given before the Gladstone high school assembly Wednesday morning by City Manager F. R. Buechner.

Manager Buechner's talk was the chief number of the program. Following his introduction, the city manager traced the development of city government from the Borough council of the Colonial period, through the federal or mayor-aldermanic form and through the commission or Galveston, Texas, plan down to the present commission-manager form.

He stressed the fundamentals of effective government, sound citizenship, effective organization, effective personnel and effective administration.

He concluded with particular emphasis on the training and cultivation of citizenship in educational institutions, stating in his closing words that the only justification of educational institutions is the building of character and the making of good citizens...

Music numbers on the program included a flute solo by Marguerite Hupp, Elizabeth Kee playing the accompaniment and a piano duet by Elizabeth Kee and Freeman Empson.

The program was in charge of the Senior high school and was under the direction of George Nelson.

Mr. Nelson presided, introducing the speaker. A short talk was also given by Prin. C. C. Strickland, explaining the system of awarding diplomas which will be in effect next year.

THEATRES

"THE KID BROTHER" Harold Lloyd will be surrounded by his usual capable complement of supporting players in his second Paramount release, "The Kid Brother," which comes to the Lyric Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

Again heading his support will be Johnny Ralston, who probably terminates her career as Lloyd's leading lady with this production, after appearing in all his pictures for the last three years. Miss Ralston will be introduced as the girl with the medicine show which offers a concentrated source of laughter and drama in "The Kid Brother." This is one of Jobyna's most fetching roles, and should win her many new admirers.

Appearing as Harold's father is Walter James, who for years appeared on the legitimate stage and soon after entering motion pictures, played Mary Pickford's father in "Little Annie Rooney."

Olin Francis and Leo Willis, portraying Lloyd's older brothers, have been featured in numerous pictures. Francis' most recent work was as the second mate with John Barrymore in "The Sea Beast." Willis played in many of Bill Hart's pictures, and is a familiar figure in Hal Roach comedies.

Ralph Yearsley, the bully, will never be forgotten for performances in "Tobias David," "Wild Oranges," and a number of other offerings.

MRS. MITCHELL ENTERTAINS THE COTERIE

Mrs. James Mitchell entertained the Coterie Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage. The meeting was well attended. The program of the afternoon consisted of two readings from Margaret Wilkinson's book of poetry, "New Voices," given by Mrs. Webster Marble and Mrs. John P. Card.

PARTY IS BIG SUCCESS

Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and Guests Observe Anniversary.

A big attendance marked the anniversary party Tuesday evening at which the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs joined in observing the 108th anniversary of the founding of the Odd Fellow Order.

The party was attended by members of the two lodges and their guests.

A program featured by a splendid talk on "Odd Fellowship" by H. W. Colenso, pastor of Alice Memorial Methodist church, opened the party. In addition to Rev. Mr. Colenso's talk, there was a reading by Mrs. Hazel Quarnstrom, vocal selections by Mrs. H. W. Blackwell, and solo dance numbers by Miss Ruth Moore, all of which were equally enjoyable.

A social hour followed the program and a pot luck lunch was served.

The committee in charge was Mrs. W. J. Moore, chairman, Mrs. A. Wilhelm and Miss Fay Chase.

IRREGULARITY IN MARKET BIDDING

STOCK SALES AVERAGES

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment imparted widespread irregularity to today's stock market.

Failure of the quarterly earnings of the U. S. Steel corporation to come up to expectations, combined with reports of a further slackening in demand by the weekly trade reviews, stimulated bear selling.

The credit situation continued satisfactory despite the approach of month-end settlements. The call money rate held steady at 4 per cent all day.

Marland, Phillips, Skelly, Standard Oil company of California, Independent Oil and Gas and several others of the oil class sank to new low levels for the year, or longer.

Several independent strong spots were scattered throughout the list. Case Threshing and Commercial Solvents B rallied on a revival of split-up rumors.

Air Reduction, American Radiator, Peerless Motor and Philip Morris were conspicuously heavy.

Pierce Arrow issues had another bad sinking spell, the preferred breaking 11 points to 56 and then rallying to 61, while the common touched a new bottom at 12 1/2.

Reading and Baltimore & Ohio each closed about a point higher, but Frisco common, Southern Railway, Delaware & Hudson and Texas & Pacific showed substantial losses.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Wide fluctuations in Italian lira, which sold down nearly 20 points to 5 1/2 cents and then rallied to 5 1/2 cents, featured the mixed foreign exchange market.

Demand sterling ruled firm around 34.85 1/2 and French francs continued to hold steady above 3.91 cents.

In the commodities markets, cotton and wheat futures moved slightly higher while coffee and sugar quotations showed little change.

SAINT and SINNER

Although it was nearly one o'clock—past the normal hour for adjournment for lunch—neither the jury nor the audience seemed restless on account of hunger.

"Well, the man didn't talk as loud as the girl," Anderson grinned. "But I heard him say once or twice, or maybe more, 'Don't be a little fool!' and 'We're married now, and you're going to make the best of it!' And once he yelled out at her, 'Shut up! You're making enough noise to wake up the dead!'"

Tigers Drop Final Tilt of Series to Hose, 7 to 2

CONNALLY AGAIN CHECKS DETROIT

Quartet of Bengal Flingers Get Unmerciful Pounding.

Chicago, April 27.—(AP)—Chicago made it three out of four by defeating Detroit, 7 to 2, in the final game of the series today. George Connally who did a rescue act two days ago and won the same, came to Jacobs' aid again today, checked a Detroit rally and then held the visitors safe

While his teammates were hammering a quartet of Tiger flingers opportunistically to win the game. The Tigers again were unable to shake themselves out of their batting slump in today's game and the same pitching weakness that characterized the team in all games of the series except the first again was evident. Gibson started well enough but was forced to yield after the Sox had counted three runs in the second. Boyle took up the burden but found it necessary to accept help from the Smith and Hankins in an unsuccessful attempt to still the pale-hose sluggers.

Fothergill shines. The game appeared to be more Fothergill than it did Tigers. The outfield attendant made half the hits credited to the Bengals and edged both the runs.

The Tigers netted their runs in the fourth and sixth. Fothergill crashed out a sizzler to center and scored when Metzler allowed Heilmann's duplicate blow to trickle between his knees. Prospects for more runs were good when Blue's drive forced Kamm to extend himself to stop it and Warner was passed but Connally who came to Jacobs' rescue at this point, disposed of Wingo and Gehring, who were inserted by Morlarity as pinch hitters.

Fothergill also opened the sixth inning with a hit, this time a crashing double to left. Heilmann advanced him a base by a drive to Ward and Blue drove Detroit's only scorer for the day in with another single to left.

Bunch hits in second. The Sox runs came in the second through a bunching of singles and Warner's dropping of the ball on a throw from Blue, allowing the bases to be filled.

The fourth tally, chalked up in the third, was accounted for by McCurdy's drive which struck third base and went off at a tangent into left field, allowing Barrett to score after he had been passed and had moved to the second on an infield out.

Metzler and Ward scored for the Pale Hose in the sixth through timely hitting by Barrett and Hunnefeld.

Hankins was the sufferer when the Sox' last run came in. His first move after relieving Smith was to pass Ward. McCurdy, next up, singled, and the bases became loaded on the next play when Connally bunted and Blue's throw to Warner was too low to be recovered. Ward finished the course on a long fly by Hunnefeld, after Kamm had expired by the same route. Hankins allowed Metzler the second base of the inning, but Manush gathered in Falk's contribution to end the inning.

DONOHUE DROPS GAME TO CUBS

Cincinnati Nosed Out of Last Game in Series, 2 to 1.

Cincinnati, April 27.—(AP)—Pete Donohue seems to have a penchant for losing two to one ball games. The Cubs beat him by that margin in the final game of the series here today to renew their grasp on sixth place in the league. Earlier this season the Cardinals and Pirates beat him by the same score.

The Reds left tonight on a trip around the circuit to return to the home lot on May 22.

DRIBBLE RULE SUITS VETERAN

"Doc" Meanwell of Wisconsin Tells Why He Approves Change.

The best comment on the effect of the elimination of the dribble from basket ball comes from Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, veteran basket ball coach of Wisconsin, who after an experiment, gives the following observations:

"I. The restriction to one bounce does not seriously handicap the offense. When the ball reaches a point within twenty-five feet of the basket it can be one-bounced for a short shot by the man in possession of the ball without difficulty. This conserves the value of the old dribble play. A team is not obliged, therefore, to always pass the ball to the basket. This fact I was much surprised at and I felt that offensive play must be by passing right up to the goal if a short-shot was to be made. I find, instead, that we find one-bounce dribble to the goal just as much as formerly. My conclusion, therefore, is that the chief legitimate value of the dribble, namely, enabling a man to feint through the guard and set to the basket with the ball from twenty and thirty feet out, is retained. Again I state that I am surprised how little the restriction to one-bounce really handicaps the offense, when in legitimate scoring territory."

One Man Offense.

"II. One of the greatest objects to the old unlimited bounce dribble was that it permitted the ball to be advanced by one man from the deep defense area up the court, even to the basket, thus making a one man offense possible. This one bounce dribble ends this. I am glad to say, just as the new team work in the backfield and the game is speeded up very, very greatly. The ball is advanced now by fast passing, with a number of men engaged in the play, and the slow deliberate advance of one man with the ball is ended. This change has been a most desirable one. The greatest change, however, with respect to the play of the ball in the backfield, is in the type of defense which is best employed in the new game. I find that the new style of game renders comparatively inefficient the two line, five man defense, stretching across the center of the floor. We find it better to play a defense which is scattered practically all over the court and which forms in proximity to the ball the amount it is lost. This means that basket ball is not played both offensively and defensively over the entire court, as against the game of the last few years, wherein our defense waited at mid-court. This is one of the most desirable changes caused by the new rule, and is something that the Rules Committee did not anticipate. It is a decided improvement over the old game."

Easy to Master.

"III. While we voted unanimously against the dribble, there was a division of opinion as to the time for the application of the new rule. It was felt by several that it would take considerable time to train men to one rather than a number of bounces, and in this thought I agreed at the time. I have been surprised to find that in none of my practices to date has been more than two occasions in a practice when a man bounced more than once. In other words, in ten days, time boys can be trained to one bounce and pass. The Committee need not fear that players will require a long season of practice to eliminate their use of the several bounce dribble."

"IV. The new rule as planned restricts the number of fouls and violations very greatly, speeds up the game, necessitates more team work and better teamwork, practically eliminates the stall and the delayed offense, and in my judgment will make the game of basket ball a finer game far than any we have had to date. It will not eliminate the feint and bounce. In fact, that play is going to be very, very frequently used, but will be succeeded by the pass, which is a type of game that the Rules Committee has always desired to promote."

Less Fouling.

"In conclusion, will say that I am more convinced than ever, after due experimentation and actual practice with the new rule, that the game will be materially improved by it. A recent letter, showing the results of the game played at Salem, Illinois by the alumni and high school team, under Fred A. Corray, Coach, also proves the points that I have just stated. Corray says: "The game was fast and to all appearances was speeded up by the new rule. The large crowd of Southern Illinois fans, who saw the game, were practically unanimous in declaring that the change was a decided benefit to the game. There was a marked decrease in fouling and surprisingly few violations of the one bounce rule. There were much fewer times that the ball was given out of bounds because of traveling."

Nevers One of Few Football Players in Major Baseball

New York.—Ernie Nevers, fighting for a place as a starting pitcher on the staff of the St. Louis Browns, is the only All-American football player in the major leagues. As a punting, running, kicking and passing back at Stanford, he won the highest honor the game can bestow in 1925.

Nevers was a better football fullback than he is baseball pitcher but he is improving and may grow to be a star.

Great football players in recent years have not been sensational successes in baseball.

Two star pitchers of earlier days, Christy Mathewson and Chief Bender, were good football players at Bucknell and Dickinson.

Jim Thorpe, rated by followers of the game as football's greatest player, did not start a configuration in major league baseball. He was never on very good terms with curve balls and big league hooks finally proved his nemesis. He was an outfielder of sorts.

Gordon Cochrane, of the Athletics and Boston University, was a great football player, and should be classed, perhaps, not very far behind Nevers.

Frankie Frisch was the Fordham Flash as a quarterback before he broke into major league baseball, and Eddie Collins played quarter for Columbia several years before Frisch entered Fordham.

Vic Hanson, Syracuse All-American end and captain of the baseball team, was invited to join the Yankees and other clubs but declined.

Mike Gazella, utility infielder of the Yankees, did not have to sit on the bench when the Lafayette football team was playing. Glenn Killinger, All-American back at Penn State, was never able to make the All-Yankees, and the same fate befell Howard Berry, the Pennsylvania dynamo, who made an unsuccessful bid for a place in the cast of the Giants.

The INSIDE OF BASEBALL

BY BILLY EVANS

1. In what year was the American League started?
2. Who was the prime mover in its organization?
3. In what year did the National League finally recognize the strength of the American League?

4. What strike in the National League greatly helped to establish the American?
5. When was the first world series played between the champions of the two leagues?

THIS TELLS IT.

1. The American League was organized in 1900.
2. B. B. Johnson was the prime mover in the organization. He has been its president since its inception.
3. The National League made a temporary truce in the season of 1903, the two leagues later ironing out their differences.

4. Internal dissension, fighting between the Spalding and Freeman factions, paved the way for the scores of the American League.
5. In 1903, between Pittsburgh of the National and Boston of the American, the latter winning 5 games to 3.

Dempsey Says He's Ready for Comeback

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, former ruler of the heavyweight kingdom, today set aside all doubt as to his future ring activity.

Through Gus Wilson, his representative and trainer, Dempsey assured Tex Rickard that he is in perfect health again and definitely on the comeback road. To make it more emphatic and permit the "ballyhoo" to gather headway, the former champion wired the promoter he will "fight anyone" in preliminary bouts to prove his right to battle again for the title Gene Tunney captured last fall.

BROWNS BEAT INDIANS, 4 TO 2

Timely Hits in Tenth Inning Give St. Louis Victory.

Cleveland, April 27.—(AP)—Timely hitting in the extra round gave St. Louis an even break in its series with Cleveland when the Browns took today's 10-inning game, 4 to 2. The count was two-all in the ninth. Rice stepped up in the tenth, doubled and scored when Smith threw past third on Schulte's burl. Schang's single scored Schulte.

ATHLETICS 4; RED SOX 1

Boston, April 27.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics tightened their hold on a first division place in the American League today by winning a second successive defeat on Bill Carrigan's struggling Red Sox. The score was 4 to 1. Grove let the Sox down with six scattered hits, faltering only for a moment in the fourth successive doubles by Flagstead and Jacobson produced the lone Boston tally.

Ann Arbor, April 27.—(AP)—Robust pitching by Asbeck and solid hitting by Puckolwartz and Wentraub won Michigan a baseball game from West Virginia today, 3 to 1. In addition, Michigan played tight defensively, a wild pitch by Asbeck himself contributing to the visitors' score.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

"PAGE 'RUBE' WADDELL. Physical assets alone considered, 'Lefty' Grove of the Athletics is the only southpaw I can recall who compares with the late 'Rube' Waddell.

Connie Mack, who developed both star left-handers, is inclined to the belief that at times Grove has a faster ball than Waddell ever tossed.

I am positive that no pitcher ever showed me a faster ball than Grove did in the first four innings of the opening game of the season between New York and Philadelphia.

"Throw your fast one past him" has long been the slang of the ball field for keeping the batter from hitting. It is more or less a figure of speech with the athletes.

However, in the opening game of the season, that is just what Grove did against a club noted for its ability to murder speed. The right-handed slugger in the Yankee line-up for a time was as soft for Grove as the heavy-swinging left-handers, Ruth and Gehrig.

It was the greatest four-inning exhibition of pitching I ever expected to see. It would be physically impossible for any pitcher to show more stuff.

BREAKS SPOILED PITCHING. In the fifth Grove got some bad breaks, willed slightly and the Yankees scored four runs. A similar situation brought over four more in the next session and Mack's great southpaw was on the way to the showers.

"I'm certainly glad Grove is on our side," remarked Mickey Cochrane, who was catching him, after both Ruth and Gehrig had whiffed as well as four others.

"He's so fast I just can't close up quickly enough on him," Cochrane was using a fairly new glove and this, coupled with the great speed he was handling, made it difficult for him to hold the ball.

As Grove mowed the Yankees down with monotonous regularity during the first four innings, it didn't seem as if the New York club would be able to score all summer against such pitching. And then, almost in an instant, a break and a few hits gave the Yanks four runs.

The hasty departure of Grove from the mound was most unfortunate after his sensational work in the early innings. He deserved a better fate.

NOTHING IN RESERVE. It is just possible that the sudden rout of Grove in the opening game of the season, at a time when he looked like a million dollars, will serve as a lesson from which he should profit greatly. As I called balls and strikes, mostly strikes, the idea occurred to me about the third inning that no human being could put so much stuff on every ball and weather nine or more innings.

The lesson that Grove must learn is to conserve his stuff. He can cut down 20 per cent on his fast ball when there is no need of using it and still be just about the fastest pitcher in the game.

Grove must learn the lesson that every famous pitcher finally learns before reaching the top of his game, the conservation of his physical assets.
