HOOVER WILL CARRY FIGHT TO COUNTRY

WIDE OPEN DRIVE TO BE CARRIED FAR

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Feb. 8.—Decision by the Hoover forces to enter the secretary of commerce as a candidate for the presidency in at least nine primary elections of the republican party comes as a consequence of the determined effort of organization leaders in some states to use "uninstructed" delegates and other means to prevent the choice of Herbert Hoover at the national convention.

In other words, the Hoover candidacy is either based on public sentiment or it is not. The Hoover managers feel that if they hold their candidate back and rely on the leaders at the convention they will find themselves outmaneuvered by all sorts of combinations of delegates; that there is everything to gain and nothing to lose by an open avowal of candidacy and a direct appeal to the people.

Ohio Case Foremost. The Ohio primary contest is a case in point. The effort made to keep the delegation from Hoover was distinctly developed into a formidable boom for Senator Willis of Ohio as a favorite son. The regular republican committee endorsed Mr. Willis and challenged Mr. Hoover to enter the state. A committee of prominent republicans now have invited Mr. Hoover to have his name on the Ohio ballot.

The rest of the country will watch the Ohio fight as it will the primaries in the other states to see just what the Hoover candidacy has back of it. Many of the anti-Hoover leaders are saying there is "plenty of noise and publicity back of the Hoover movement but not many candidates."

Must Accept Challenge. Under the circumstances the Hoover managers are compelled to accept the challenge and carry the fight to the people or rather to the rank and file of the republican primaries though there is ample evidence that in some states a number of democrats will be able to enroll in the republican primaries and cast their presidential preference ballots for the secretary of commerce.

Although there have been conventions in which the vote in the primaries was completely disregarded by the delegates themselves after the convention had taken a few preliminary ballots, the managers of candidates are these days a little more careful about the personnel of delegates and they try to get "last ditch" delegates who will not be swayed by the persuasive tactics of other campaign managers.

Not "Organization Man." In the case of Herbert Hoover who is not supposed to have the backing of organization politicians the vote of the primaries will be significant and may have the effect of swinging some of the or-

Members of State Tax Commission in Dispute Over Rural Taxation

Lansing, Feb. 8.—(P)—Two members of the state tax commission clashed in a vigorous rural taxation dispute before the Michigan Association of Supervisors here today. At times the debate was tinged with personal resentment. Assessing officers from all over the state took part in the argument with those from the rural districts supporting M. B. McPherson of Kent, and those from the cities—those who were far outnumbered—rallying to the side of John H. Morgan of Detroit, chairman of the commission.

The controversy was precipitated when Morgan submitted a report relating to the assessors that buildings and land be separated when valuations are fixed and that the buildings be assessed according to reproduction cost, less depreciation. He asked the association to adopt a resolution advocating an appropriation increase of $50,000 a year so additional field men could be employed to help work out the new scheme of dividing land and buildings.

Morgan Slighted McPherson. No sooner had he finished reading the report than delegations popped up in every corner of the hall to fire questions. Many censured the plan. Morgan retorted that the scheme is now being employed in many places and has proven its worth.

"It has been picked upon and misrepresented for propaganda purposes by those seeking to destroy his entire scheme for valuing on an equitable cash value basis. Where did this propaganda originate?" he asked.

McPherson then jumped into the fray. Before he finished he charged Morgan with slighting him when districts were assigned the members of the commission, and branded Morgan's land and building division as a "trick."

The fire occurred while the parents of the children were in Flint looking for work. They did not learn of the tragedy until they returned home and found their dwelling in ashes.

OPEN TRIAL OF GOVERNOR ED. JACKSON

HOOSIER EXECUTIVE FACES BRIBERY CHARGE

Indianapolis, Feb. 8.—(P)—Church, political and fraternal affiliations of prospective jurors were subjects of inquiry by defense and state today at the opening of the trial of Gov. Ed Jackson, charged with bribery.

The defense showed particular interest in the religious and political connections of the men being examined for jury service, while the prosecution indicated equal interest as to their membership in any organization of which Governor Jackson also is a member.

Governor Jackson with George V. Coffin, Marion county Republican chairman, and Robert I. Marsh, a local attorney, is charged with having attempted to bribe Gov. Warren T. McCray in 1923 to name James McDonald as Marion county prosecutor.

When adjournment was taken tonight each side had exhausted but two of its 10 preemptory challenges. The jury had been passed from state to defense and back without progress far towards final selection of the 12 men who will judge Governor Jackson's innocence or guilt.

Question Church Affiliation. The Ku Klux Klan was brought into the case in an indirect manner when Walter Shirley, a prospective juror, was asked if he knew W. Lee Smith, former grand dragon of the Klan. Shirley, who was accepted tentatively by both sides, said he did not know Smith.

In addition to interrogating some of the men in the panel as to their church affiliations, defense Attorney Clyde H. Jones wanted to know if Governor Jackson's church connections would influence their verdict if they were kept on the jury. Both answered in the negative. The governor is a member of the Christian church.

Emsley W. Johnson, special assistant to prosecutor William H. Remy, did not specify what society he referred to when he asked a juror if he was connected with any organization of which the governor also is a member. Shirley, the man questioned, answered in the negative.

Governor Jackson's trial began after Coffin, Marsh and he had pleaded not guilty to the indictment which was returned by the Marion county grand jury that had been investigating charges of political corruption in Indiana.

To Take Action On Resolution Today. Washington, Feb. 8.—(P)—Definite action tomorrow by the senate on his resolution declaring against him two terms for a president and commending President Coolidge for "observance of this precedent," will be sought by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin. Because several administration senators desiring to make a fight against the resolution, had speeches still in preparation today, the Wisconsin senator permitted the senate to go ahead with other business but he will call for a showdown tomorrow.

Marines Wound 2 Nicaraguan Rebels. Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 8.—(P)—Two members of a band of 20 were believed to have been wounded by a small patrol of marines which encountered them while operating near Somoto, Nueva Segovia, today. The band vanished into the brush when the marines opened fire. Most of the guerrillas were armed simply with machetes.

Marine headquarters announced unconfirmed reports of depositions in the vicinity of Matagalpa. The movement of supplies northward toward Ocotral is progressing better than had been expected, although it is considered that the greatest problem the force faces is supplying the troops in that region.

The whereabouts of the rebel leader Augustino Sandino are still a mystery. Democrats to Hold State Committee Meeting Feb. 22. Detroit, Feb. 8.—(P)—A call to members of the Democratic state central committee to attend a meeting here February 22, is to be mailed Friday, Giles Kavanaugh, secretary, announced today. The purpose of the meeting is to fix the time and place for the state convention at which time delegates will be selected to the national convention at Houston, Texas, June 26.

Planes Will Tour Northern Michigan

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 8.—(P)—A good-will tour of northern Michigan by 72 pilots of the first pursuit group at Selfridge field is planned by Major Thomas G. Lanphier, commander.

The tour, Major Lanphier announced, is to be made while the squadron is stationed at Camp Steel, Oscoda, for winter special maneuvers and experiments. The flyers plan to start for Oscoda, February 13. From there they plan overnight trips as far north as Alpena and Mackinaw City. No itinerary has been arranged.

Experiments in an effort to perfect a heater for airplane motors are to be made in connection with the maneuvers.

OCEAN SPANNED BY TELEVISION

New Instrument Transmits Images of Persons Over Atlantic. BY WILLIAM W. CHAPLIN. Hartsdale, N. Y., Feb. 8.—(P)—A man and woman sat before an electric eye in a London laboratory to night and a group of people in a darkened cellar in this village, outside New York, watched them turn their heads and move from side to side. The images were crude, imperfect, broken, but they were images nonetheless. Man's vision had spanned the ocean; transatlantic television was a demonstrated reality and one more great dream of science was on the way to eventual complete realization.

The demonstration was made by the Baird Television Development company of London, using short wave radio sets for transmission of the "vision sound" and the television invented by John L. Baird, who has also invented an instrument for seeing in the dark—after its ocean hop. The transformed vision of the man and woman in the London laboratory came through the ether in the form of a humbeeb hum, a musical buzz of irregular cadence representing in sound the lights and shadows of their faces—all that was transmitted in the test.

Persons Distinguished. When the television, a black box compact enough to be carried around in a taxi, had done its work with this rhythmic rumble from across the sea, the visions gradually built themselves up of tiny oblongs of light suspended in a whirling rectangle of brilliance in the machine's gaping mouth. These oblongs shifted and swirled, scarcely for a moment holding their places.

The first figure to be put before (Continued On Page Two.) Man Confesses He Killed Sister in Law After Attack. New Philadelphia, O., Feb. 8.—(P)—William Heron, 41, confessed late today, according to County Prosecutor James Patrick, that he killed his sister-in-law, Miss Viola May, 23, and threw her body into the Tuscarawas river, near Dover, after he had attacked her last night.

The prosecutor said Heron, a local painter, had signed a complete confession after a three-hour grilling, detailing his actions from the time he left his home to escort Miss May and a girl friend to their homes about 11 o'clock last night, until he appeared at a farm home three hours later, with a story of having been abducted by two men.

Searching parties were organized tonight to drag the river. Formal charges will be held up until the body of the girl is recovered, Prosecutor Patrick said. Heron has been married twice and has four children.

2 Navy Aviators Killed in Crash

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 8.—(P)—Lieut. Fitzlee Ross and Lieut. Richard Lonergan, attached to the observation detachment aboard the scout cruiser Omaha, were killed today when the plane in which they were spotting torpedoes crashed in the ocean from an altitude of 1,000 feet, near miles west of Point Loma, three miles.

Senate Resolution Is Sent to House

Washington, Feb. 8.—(P)—Wives and minor children of citizens who have applied for citizenship will be given preference within regular immigration quotas under joint resolution approved today by the senate and sent to the house.

DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE GREET FLYER

PLANE WILL NEED OVERHAULING BEFORE TRIP HOME

Havana, Feb. 8.—(P)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, holding his famed "Spirit of St. Louis" true to its course and schedule, landed here today to receive the plaudits of Cuba and of the representatives of many of the lands he already had visited. The crowds, which, with many dignitaries of the Pan-American congress, had awaited his arrival at Columbia field, were excited almost beyond restraint as the American aviator performed a few stunts within their view before swooping gracefully to earth. Cavalrymen and infantry with drawn sabres and bayonets quickly formed fresh lines, however, to guard the hero from the enthusiasm of his admirers.

After waiting a few moments in his plane while the reception committee and other officials surrounded him, Colonel Lindbergh emerged to enter the automobile which was to take him to the presidential palace at Havana, eight miles from the field. Close behind United States Ambassador Judah in offering his congratulations on the successful flight from Haiti was Charles Evang Hughes, the former chief justice of the United States said: "Lindbergh is tracing the route that future commerce will follow. The best part is that it is a route of good-will, and what he is doing is of first importance in the development of Pan-Americanism."

To Overhaul Plane. The flags of the many republics visited by Lindbergh painted on the plane attracted the attention of the delegates to the Pan-American conference, who were prominent among the milling crowd, which, irrespective of clothing, surged about the machine.

Mr. Hughes did not return to the palace with Colonel Lindbergh. The crowds in the field were greatly disappointed when the automobile carrying the aviator drove rapidly away. They wanted him to drive around the flying field so they might show their admiration for him in sitting manner.

Before leaving, Colonel Lindbergh intimated that the Spirit of St. Louis would require more than an ordinary overhauling for the flight from Havana to St. Louis, owing to the many hours it already has been in the air. A representative of the Wright Motor company and Cuban and American army aviators took charge of the plane.

Hill Is Normal Physically, Says Chicago Doctor

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 8.—(P)—Harry Hill's normalcy, in a physical sense, was vouched for by a Chicago physician today at a charge of murdering his mother, Mrs. Eliza A. Hill. Dr. Harry A. Singer told of a period of Harry's illness at the University hospital from January 27 to February 4, 1927. The young man was under-nourished, lacked energy and complained of exhaustion and abdominal pains, the doctor testified.

Hill's trouble was found to be intestinal and he was put on a diet with complete rest from mental and physical work recommended. The defendant was not working last August when the body of his mother was discovered buried face downward in a shallow grave in the basement of her home at Streator.

Further evidence that the lawn about the Hill home contained bricks and plaster similar to that in clay found on Harry's shoes was given by W. D. Waldrip, principal of the Streator high school. Mr. Waldrip said that in 1923 the old high school building was torn down and a great deal of dirt hauled away in excavating for the new building. He said 150 truck loads were hauled to the Hill yard to be used in grading the lawn.

IN INDIANA

McCray $10,000 in 1923 for control of the Marion county (Indianapolis) prosecutor's office marks the second trial of an Indiana governor on charges of political corruption. INQUIRY INTO STRIKE URGED

Casey Resolution Seeks Investigation of Conditions at Mines

Washington, Feb. 8.—(P)—Intervention by the federal government to end the bituminous coal strike in Pennsylvania was urged today in the house by two members who declared that the mine operators were conducting a campaign of terrorism among striking miners in violation of federal and state laws and of the personal liberty guarantee of the constitution.

Representative LaGuardia, a Republican of New York, who just made a personal survey of the strike area, and Casey, a Democrat, who represents the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., district in congress, charged the mine operators with using state police to terrorize the miners into withdrawing the United Mine Workers, the miners' union. They urged the house to adopt the Casey resolution into a congressional investigation into the conditions in the Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio bituminous coal fields.

Casey said that President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover had remained "silent" on the strike situation in the face of conditions of suffering and "brutal treatment" among the miners. The Red Cross, he added, also was declared by some to be influenced in not according aid to the miners because they would not leave the union.

Fail to Settle Illinois Strike

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(P)—The latest effort to adjust differences between union miners and bituminous operators of Illinois met with failure today. An offer of a wage scale of $6 a day for laborers and $84 cents per ton for tonnage men, with a contract of one to five years, was rejected by the miners. Their counter proposal for a continuation of the Jacksonville wage scale of $7.50 per day for laborers and $1.08 for tonnage men was voted down by the mine owners.

WILL SUBMIT DIFFERENCES TO TRIBUNAL

THE HAGUE TO SERVE AS COURT OF ARBITRATION

Washington, Feb. 8.—(P)—The text of the new Franco-American arbitration pact embodying a condemnation of war and also including a French reservation from arbitration treatment of questions involving her commitments under the League of Nations covenant was made public today by the senate foreign relations committee. Aside from this additional reservation the document conforms closely to published forecasts.

The anti-war declaration asserts that in entering into the treaty the two republics are "eager to demonstrate their condemnation of war as an instrument of national policy in their mutual relations, but also to hasten the time when the perfection of international arrangements for the pacific settlement of international disputes shall have eliminated forever the possibility of war among any powers of the world."

A reference to the Bryan conciliation treaty to interlock this with the arbitration agreement is contained in Article 7 while the arbitration commitments themselves are in Articles 2 and 3.

The language of Article 2 follows: "All differences relating to international matters in which the high contracting parties are concerned by virtue of a claim of right made by one against the other treaty or otherwise, which it has not been possible to adjust by diplomacy, which have not been adjusted as a result of reference to the above mentioned permanent international commission and which are justifiable in their nature by reason of being susceptible of decision by the application of the principles of law or equity shall be submitted to the permanent court of arbitration established at The Hague by the convention of October 18, 1907, or to some other competent tribunal as shall be decided in each case by special agreement by which special agreement shall provide for the organization of such tribunal, the necessary, define its powers, state the question or questions at issue and settle the terms of reference."

"The special agreement in each case shall be made on the part of the United States of America by the president of the United States of America by and with the advice and consent of the senate thereof, and on the part of France in accordance with the constitutional laws of France."

Respect Monroe Doctrine. Article 3 reads: "The provisions of this treaty shall not be invoked in respect of any dispute the subject of which, 'A—Is within the domestic jurisdiction of either of the high contracting parties; 'B—Involves the interests of third parties; 'C—Depends upon or involves the maintenance of the traditional attitude of the United States concerning American questions, commonly described as the Monroe Doctrine; 'D—Depends upon or involves the observance of the obligations of France in accordance with the covenant of the League of Nations.'"

Article 4 is the customary arrangement for effective date, exchange of ratifications and similar necessary matters. Argentina and U. S. Fail to Agree on Tariff. Tavana, Feb. 8.—(P)—Argentina and the United States failed to come to an understanding at the Pan-American conference today, regarding the right of Pan-Americanism to interfere with the complete freedom of nations in assessing tariff schedules. A deadlock had been threatening since Honorio Pueyrredon, head of the Argentine delegation, demanded about a fortnight ago, that the Pan-American be empowered to study means to lower the excessive tariff walls in inter-American commerce. Today a sub-committee meeting lasting three hours, ended with Charles Evans Hughes of the United States, and Dr. Pueyrredon in complete discord and apparently determined not to alter their attitudes.

The other members of the sub-committee which was appointed from the committee on Pan-American union affairs, and which has been assigned the task of preparing a draft preamble to the convention, are reported as being on the side of the United States in the tariff wrangle. This leaves the Argentine delegate to maintain his position alone.

FRENCH FLYERS REACH CAPITAL

Goodwill Flyers Make Hop From Alabama City to Washington

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Just as the sun broke through an overcast sky that had caused concern for their safety, Lieutenant Dlesandone Costes and Lieutenant Commander Joseph Lebrix swooped down to Bolling field here late today in the huge plane which had carried them from Paris across the South Atlantic and over South America to Mexico and the United States.

For more than two hours Ambassador Claudel of France and numerous other diplomats had waited to welcome the airmen. With them were Secretary Davis of the war department and Secretary Wilbur of the navy department. All joined in shouting "Bravo" as their plane, the Nungesser-Coll, swooped low above them and then turned slowly for a perfect landing on the rain-soaked field.

The airmen jumped from the cockpit almost immediately, to be greeted in their native language by Ambassador Claudel and his family, then to be welcomed by high government officials here. After posing for photographers and waiting an enthusiastic greeting to the small crowd that had gathered, Costes and Lebrix followed their plane as it was trundled to a hangar, gathered bundles of baggage and were whisked away to the French embassy.

A private dinner in their honor was given tonight at the Carlton hotel, attended only by members of the French diplomatic staff. They will be received tomorrow by President Coolidge and on Friday will be entertained.

Costes and Lebrix expressed appreciation for their reception in the United States. They said about four days would be spent here after which they will head for New York.

French Army Stays in Blue 'til 1935

Paris—Horizon blue isn't going to be run out of the French army by the more practical khaki as soon as was thought. There are uniforms and cloth enough of clear light blue to last at least eight years more.

Khaki recently was announced as the official French army uniform color and on armistice day only khaki clad troops were used for the first time at such a ceremony.

However, a stock of blue worth 400,000,000 francs is on hand and will last the army until 1935.

Blue is too visible in the field and it soils too easily so eventually khaki will be worn by all troops.

Oldest Pony Now "Taking It Easy"

Berlin—Grey haired but otherwise youthful and lively, Germany's oldest pony, "Rich," is spending its declining years on the stud of Herr Weinberg near Frankfurt-on-Main.

Until quite recently, "Rich" was one of the most popular horses on German race tracks. Its special task was that of accompanying nervous horses to the tracks. For twenty-four years it performed this service for the horses of the Weinberg stud.

"Rich" was imported thirty years ago from Argentina as a polo pony. Grey hair about the eyes and grey spots on various other parts of the body are the only outward signs of its advancing age.

PRESENT BRIEFS IN CANAL CASE

Great Lakes States Seek to Stop Diversion of Water

Lansing, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Briefs seeking an enjoining order prohibiting the diversion of Great Lakes water through the Chicago drainage canal were forwarded to Washington today by W. W. Potter, attorney general, and Wilbur Brucker, assistant, for submission to the United States supreme court. The case of Michigan and allied states, including Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and New York, is before the supreme court on exceptions from the recent findings of Special Master Charles Evans Hughes, who held the war department may permit diversion.

It is the contention of Michigan, according to the brief, that the control of navigable waters lies solely with congress, that the diversion has been used by the sanitary district of Chicago and the state of Illinois not only to save them the expense of sewage disposal, but also to produce immensely profitable power, and that the diversion constitutes a serious breach of the 1907 treaty with Canada. The brief pictured the Chicago canal, if it should be made into an important link to the gulf carrying a possible block to the proposed Great Lakes to the sea waterway.

Plan Is Hollow Sham
"More than one-half the population and wealth of our nation are directly concerned. Great industrial and commercial centers directly affected by the diversion of these waters from Lake Michigan, are interested," the brief averred.

"Michigan has no objection to the sanitary disposal of sewage at Chicago, but it does object to defendants doing this at the expense of the property rights of Michigan and her people under the guise of improving navigation which is a hollow sham to cover up the real purpose of sewage disposal and water power exploitation. If the statute is construed to derive a power by grant from congress to the secretary of war it would constitute the greatest power which the war department has received with relation to peace time projects and would transfer to the secretary of war legislative powers over all navigable waters."

ganization men to his side. A definite announcement from Mr. Hoover himself on the question is expected shortly.
Mr. Hoover doesn't like the game of Politics, but, on the other hand, he has always been straight-forward about his likes and dislikes. He believes the presidency should not be sought by an individual but that there should not be, on the other hand, any false modesty about expressing one's own readiness or even eagerness to serve the nation. It is not expected that he will go out on any speech-making tours, but he will not assume the attitude that he is not a candidate when he really is and will let the people know that he is ready to serve if they want him. An announcement along these lines may be looked for within a few days.

REGRETS ACTION OF OIL OFFICER

John D. Rockefeller Expresses Opinion in Letter to Senator Walsh

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The failure of Robert W. Stewart to answer all questions put to him by the senate Teapot Dome committee about the Continental Trading company had produced a formal expression of regret from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recognized head of the Standard Oil interests.
Rockefeller's letter to Senator Walsh of Montana, the committee prosecutor, and related documents were made public today by Chairman Nye of the committee.
In the correspondence was a telegram sent to Stewart.
"No desire to protect other justifies withholding the slightest fact," Rockefeller said in the telegram. "No duty to company or stockholders comparable to your immediate appearance. Only such action will justify the confidence your friends and business associates have in you."
It was after the receipt of this telegram that Stewart changed his mind about a business trip to Mexico City from Havana and returned here to testify only to refuse to answer questions by the committee. On the day the senate issued its warrant for Stewart's arrest Rockefeller wrote to Senator Walsh:
"I have not felt that Colonel Stewart failed in his duty to his stockholders," the letter said, "but I am sorry that he did not answer all of your questions for the situation calls for the fullest disclosure of the facts."

Len Small Seeking Another Term As Illinois Governor

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Governor Len Small today sought a third term on a platform similar to that which made him governor twice before, but with some added planks sponsored by Mayor Thompson of Chicago. The governor tossed his hat into the political arena less than 12 hours after a midnight conference with Mayor Thompson at which the two made their peace after several months of discord.
Governor Small will enter the April primaries as a Republican candidate for re-election on a platform advocating America first, farm relief, flood relief and deep waterways, the four cardinal principles of "Big Bill" Thompson. In addition, Governor Small's two plank platform advocated direct primaries, completion of the state hard road system, home rule for Chicago in transportation problems and "full, free and equal rights of Illinois as a sovereign state of the union."

The latter plank was interpreted by friends as reiterating the governor's position that the United States senate was without power to oust Col. Frank L. Smith, Illinois senator-elect, recently refused a seat. Colonel Smith attended the Thompson-Small conference.
"In valuing farm land, as is true for other real estate, the value of the land and the value of the improvements should be determined separately. The final determination should be made by ascertaining and valuing the number of acres improved, number graded as second-class improved, number of pasture, number of acres of orchard, timber, stump or other of fixed character."

More Food—More Work for Convicts

London—Inmates of British prisons are to be better fed so they may be able to do more work.
An inquiry being made by the prison commission has already shown that where a greater bulk of bread and other foods was given the convicts lost weight whereas by following a very carefully selected dietary, containing less in bulk but more in quality, the prisoners gained in weight.
The inquiry is a part of a general policy being carried out by Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the home secretary, who believes in hard work in prison, with good food, recreation and amusement as rewards.
Herman Senn, food specialist for the board of education and the board of agriculture and fisheries and inspector in sly room cookery at several London hospitals, is acting as consultant to the commissioners in their task of developing more prison man power by means of an improved diet.

MEMBERS OF TAX COMISH IN DISPUTE

vision with as "not worth a tinker's damn."
"I'll tell you where this propaganda Mr. Morgan speaks of came from," McPherson declared. "Its origin was in a report submitted to the governor by Morgan and Commissioner Richards who said the remedy for the taxation system is separation of land and buildings on the tax rolls. Mr. Morgan now has changed his mind and says the division should be made only on the field sheets."
Plan Would Benefit Farmers.
"Mr. Morgan also said today each commissioner should reside in the district assigned to him. I was deprived by my own county when districts were apportioned. I have the upper tier of counties in the lower peninsula. I am a jack pine and cut-over land expert, although I know nothing about them, but do know a little about agricultural lands. I am glad he has changed his mind about that."
"A plank of the last campaign was that we need less efficiency engineering in the tax commission. The commissioners instead of sitting in the office should be out working with the assessing officers."
Morgan replied that his plan would benefit, rather than hurt the farmers. If buildings are properly depreciated they would go on the tax rolls for small amounts, he averred.
O. B. Fuller, auditor general, interjected to say he has no sympathy with Morgan's plan. "It is easy enough for someone to tell how to assess but the men who have the real problem are those in the field. They know best what must be done," he declared.
Give Assessors Information.
Representative William J. Thomas of Kent supported McPherson by declaring many farm buildings, if assessed on the reproduction less depreciation plan would be worth much more than the farms themselves could be sold for.
John C. Nagel of Detroit, president of the association, endorsed Morgan's declaration that proper figuring of depreciation would take care of the buildings.
In his report, Morgan stated the objective of the new tax commission is to place before all assessing officers adequate information so they may accurately value property on a cash basis, and eventually perfect an equalization that will strike an average true cash value.
"It is understood right here and now that such a single, all-purpose value is not possible unless land and buildings be separated on the assessment roll. Obviously, while an assessor will admit it is possible to equalize land values from a sales value standpoint, it is hardly conceivable the same assessor will claim buildings can be equalized unless they are separated from the land, and their value figured on a curb or square foot unit, with consideration of present day cost less depreciation, he declared.
Farms Like Other Real Estate.
Mr. Morgan listed the rental or earning value of property, selling prices, effect of improvements or conveniences, value of adjacent property as elements that must be considered in finding the true cash value.

Man Sentenced to 211 Years in "Pen"

Berlin (AP)—The record prison sentence here—211 years—is held by Herr Buchmann, 37 and a vaudeville artist before he became a first-story man. Recently he was released from his cell to appear again before the local court on another robbery charge.
The theft in question was in 1921. The prisoner couldn't remember it for he had committed some 500 robberies up to that time for which he had received sentences totaling 208 years.
Under the law, the judge might have given Buchmann 15 years for the robbery. But he decided three years was enough to add on to the 208. Buchmann took the three years as a joke.

Salesmen Have German Protest

Berlin—To protest against the existing unsatisfactory business status of salesmen working solely on a commission basis, a joint meeting was called by the Association of German Salesmen and the German Trade Corporation. It was unanimously agreed that such salesmen are unjustly deprived of the rights and privileges of employees, inasmuch as they are considered independent business agents, whereas in reality they are the accredited representatives of individual firms and as such entitled to all the benefits of the social protective law and insurance.
A resolution was drawn up calling the attention of the government and the public to the financial risks incurred by these salesmen "through such business malpractice" and their full protection through the commercial code demanded as well as the allotment of a nominal salary and a limited margin of expenses as a guarantee against financial disaster.

the electric eye was a ventriloquist's dummy. Because there was no motion to transmit in this instance, the vision of the dummy—appearing in the mouth of the television, was much clearer than those of the living persons who followed it.
As a newspaper man went before the electric eye, his vision was built up in the television in a form suggestive of a lighted jack-o-lantern, but a jack-o-lantern could turn its head from side to side and open its mouth.
After this a woman took her place before the transmitter in London and her vision, broken and scattered, was seen in New York. It was not so clear as that of the man, but it still was plain that she was a woman and there was no question but that she was moving her head so that first the full face was visible and then the profile.
Use Only Small Set.
The demonstration was participated in or attended on this end by Capt. O. C. Hutchinson, managing director of the Baird company, who came to this country especially for the purpose; Benjamin Clapp, the company's chief engineer, who for three months has been working on secret tests of television; R. M. Hart, owner of Short Wave Radio Station 2CVJ, who has done the receiving of the vision sound, and an Associated Press reporter.
The vision sound was sent across the ocean by short wave radio station 2KZ, a station of only two kilowatts power. Capt. Hutchinson and Mr. Clapp announced after the test tonight that if as much success as this could be attained with such low power, it was reasonable to predict that in a very short time by use of a more powerful transmitting set, transatlantic television would be as clear as it has been in tests over short distances.

HICKMAN FACES GIRLS' FATHER

District Attorney Asa Keyes. Identifies Hickman.
Parker and Hickman came together for the first time since the one paid the other $1,500 for Marlan's body in the gloom of South Manhattan place, the night of December 17, last.
As the last witness in Hickman's sanity trial, Parker identified letters and telegrams sent to him by Marlan's kidnaper, also the treasury notes recovered from Hickman which he had paid the youth for the body. Asked to identify the defendant, he looked at Hickman as the latter's eyes remained averted from the witness stand, and said:
"He was the man who took the money."
Parker told of the meeting on South Manhattan place. He said: "I drove to the meeting place and parked. He (Hickman) drove alongside. He was masked. At the point of a gun, he asked me for the money. I gave it to him."
Case to Jury Today.
"Then he said he would drive a little further down the street and let her (Marlan) out. He showed her to me in his car. I thought she was asleep. He drove down the street and put her out."
The state rested when Parker left the witness chair and after a brief recess, his defense announced it had no further evidence to present. Opening of final arguments by the prosecution this afternoon brought the sanity trial to its last phase.
With three hours allotted to each side, it was indicated that the case would be placed in the hands of the jury of eight men and four women late tomorrow.

Old-Time Barbers Dyed Moustaches As A Specialty

Some forty years ago, Escanaba barbers catered to the proud possessors of moustaches as energetically as the present day tonsorial artists seek to bob miliary's hair. It is gleaned from an old issue of a local newspaper.

Although barbers nowadays probably much more appreciate the power of advertising in drawing business to their doors, the advertisement of E. Glaser, one of the first barbers in this city and for many years a justice of the peace, shows that the old-timers also went after the business. Judge Glaser, who died a few years ago, was one of the pioneer settlers, coming here shortly after the close of the Civil war, and for many years engaged in the barber business on Third street, near the old Oliver hotel.

His advertisement read as follows: "E. Glaser, barber shop, on Tilden avenue, opposite the jewelry store, where I shave, cut, curl and trim the hair, dye the moustache from a sticky yellow to a jetty black and in fact strive to attain the highest perfection in the art tonsorial."

LOCAL MAN BRINGS ENTHUSIASTIC REPORTS FROM AUTO SHOW

The Chevrolet Motor Company in 1928 is planning to break all production and sales records in the history of the Company according to Mr. Purtil of the Garden Motor Co., who recently returned from Chicago where he attended the annual Chevrolet sales meeting in the Olympic Theater.

Nearly two thousand Chevrolet dealers who attended the great sales meeting heard R. H. Grant, Vice President in charge of Sales of the Chevrolet Motor Company, sound the keynote of the biggest campaign ever undertaken by Chevrolet. Mr. Grant outlined the plan for the sale of more than a million units in 1928.

"Never before did a Chevrolet meeting create such unbridled enthusiasm as was displayed over the Chevrolet prospects for the year," Mr. Purtil declared.

Regional and Zone officials of the Chevrolet Motor Company assisted Mr. Grant in the conducting of the meeting which took the form of the most comprehensive sales presentation of its kind ever made by an automobile manufacturer. Talks were illustrated in the form of playlets, depicting the proper procedure to be followed in the successful operation of a retail automobile business.

Immediately following the meeting the dealers were guests of the Chevrolet-Motor Company at an elaborate banquet in the Palmer House.

An added feature of the meeting was an address by L. K. Cooper, who is Regional Sales Manager, C. L. Alexander, Chicago Zone Sales Manager, P. A. Jerrue, Janesville Zone Sales Manager, and L. F. Ryer, Des Moines, Zone Sales Manager.

The Chicago meeting was the eighth of the series of forty-three similar meetings that are to be held this Winter and Spring from coast to coast.—Adv.

Virgil Winter, Carlyle Hennessey, John B. Boudreau and Kenneth Heafield are planning to attend the "Older boys conference" to be held at the Soo next week. The boys who attended the conference at Escanaba last year are most enthusiastic about the gathering and those going this year are looking forward to an even more helpful time.

He announces that there will be a Dairy meeting at the Garden town hall Thursday afternoon, commencing at two o'clock. This is one of a series of meetings being held throughout the County when M. S. C., expert dairymen will address farmers on timely and interesting subjects. The last meeting held here for a similar purpose was well attended and a source of help to those who attended and it is expected that at the coming meeting there will be a number of men interested in the business of raising dairy produce.

A number of Fayette residents report the frequent visits of wolves around the farm buildings. This does not mean that they are more numerous now than in other years, but possibly that they are bolder, and perhaps coming out nearer to civilization.

til Friday when Mr. Sefcik motored over and took her back to Nahma. Miss Fern Mellon accompanied her father on his regular trip to Nahma last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Juskevitz of Chicago were business callers here Saturday. George Plucker, Fayette fisherman, has purchased a "snow flir", an attachment for use on his automobile. He has already given it a good test and finds it satisfactory in every way. This is the first "flir" to be placed in service in this district and the indications are that before another winter-fishing season is over, the new device will be in general use by fishermen on the peninsula.

Fairport fishermen are busy putting up their ice supply. It is of exceptionally good quality.

A number of Fairport residents assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Chaffe of Fairport Saturday night and spent the evening with them playing cards. Refreshments were served later. The gathering was a surprise and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Ole Folio, Fayette resident states, that he was recently awakened in the night by peculiar sounds outside the house. He arose and made an investigation and found a number of wolves, it was impossible to ascertain how many, but two or three at least, within about two hundred feet of his bedroom window. A cow had been butchered and the remains had attracted the wolves to the spot. A dog owned by a neighbor, Mrs. Mary McPhee had also been attracted and was contesting the rights of the wolves. He was outnumbered and would have undoubtedly been killed but for the fact that he considered that discretion was the better part of valor and soon left the scene. The next morning his owner found that he had been used roughly in the scarp.

ed rose or two, yellowed dance programs and the like. They also drew from her landlady a curious story.
'During all the years she lived here she kept pretty much to herself,' said the landlady. 'She did tell me once that she cooked her own meals and always set a place at her little table for her dead husband, and looked at his empty chair while she ate.'
The old lady had been married just three years when her husband died. Three years of married life—then 40 lonely years of memories. What a vigil!

THEY'LL DOGE IT.

Prohibition continues to be the liveliest and most widely discussed political topic in the country, but the chance that it may be affected in any way by the approaching presidential election appears to be growing more and more remote. Unable to reach a definite conclusion on how the nation feels on the subject, leaders of both major political parties are preparing to steer their platform committees clear of possible wrecks, and maintain harmony within their party ranks.
The nomination by either of the parties of a man whose personal leadings were "wet" would be entirely meaningless. He would take the oath of office to support the constitution and the laws of the country, and the situation would remain unchanged. Only by backing such a candidate with a platform pledge for a modification of the Volstead law, would the election of a "wet" have any significance whatever.
Attempts to place such a plank into the platform of either party will be bitterly opposed by the practical politicians on both sides. They want to win. They know that virtually every person in America has a firmly-fixed opinion on prohibition which, in most instances, would be expressed regardless of party lines or affiliations. There is no possible way in which the temper of the country as a whole can be estimated. They want the both "dry" votes and "wet" votes. So they will, if possible, make bids for both.
If prohibition could be made a major issue in the next election, the effect, we believe, would be highly beneficial. A dry victory would give the federal government the spinal fortitude to make enforcement a major activity. A wet victory would definitely inform congress that modification was desired.
It appears, at this moment however, extremely unlikely that either party will make any pledges or promises whatever when their national platforms are framed.

TOURISTS AND LUMBER.

Governor Fred W. Green's statement, at Owosso Tuesday, that "the tourist trade of Michigan will be worth more to the state than the lumber industry at its height," is neither over-optimist nor without sound basis in fact. The lumber industry in its palmiest days produced about $70,000,000 annually, the governor pointed out, whereas last year, more than 5,000,000 people registered in the Michigan state parks.
And, whereas the lumber industry was one whose growth depleted natural resources, the tourist trade is one which, as it grows, will bring ever-increasing volumes of "new money" into Michigan.
Michigan has no tourist and resort "boom." No boom is in sight. But the growth has been steady and healthy. Tourists and resorters have been coming to Michigan because they were really interested, not because of the ramifications of high-pressure real estate salesman. They have found values of resort property sane and sound, and most of them have learned to sing the praises of the north woods.
Development of the vast resources north of the straits is just beginning. Possibilities for the future are unlimited. The tourist crop is a crop that never fails, and Governor Green's prediction, at Owosso, is an expression of his confidence that prosperous days are ahead for communities in which there is a full realization of the importance of the tourist business.

STRONGER THAN DEATH.

A very old lady died in New York the other day. For 40 years she had been a widow, living in solitude in a furnished room and cooking her own meals over a little hot plate on the bureau.
Since she left some $14,000 in the bank, public officials made a search of her effects to see if they could find trace of any heirs. In their search they turned up bundles of all the love letters her husband had written her. They found boxes filled with "mystery keepakes"—faded gloves, a press-

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

Don't bother to answer," pursued Vance, as the man opened his lips to speak. "But tell me: didn't the sight shake you up a bit?"
"I don't know what you're talking about," Skeel retorted with sullen impertinence. But, for all his sang-froid, one sensed an uneasiness in his manner. There was an overtone of effort in his desire to appear indifferent, which robbed his words of complete conviction.

"Not a pleasant situation, that," Vance ignored his retort. "How did you feel, crouching there in the dark, when the closet door-knob was turned and some one tried to get in?" His eyes were boring into the man, though his voice retained its casual intonation.

The muscles of Skeel's face tightened, but he did not speak. "Lucky thing you took the precaution of locking yourself in—eh, what?" Vance went on. "Suppose he'd got the door open—my word! Then what?"

He paused and smiled with a kind of silky sweetness which was more impressive than any glowering aggression. "I say, did you have your steel chisel ready for him? Maybe he'd been too quick and strong for you—maybe there would have been thumbs pressing against your larynx too before you could have struck him—eh? ... Did you think of that, there in the dark? ... No, not precisely a pleasant situation. A bit gruesome, in fact."

"What are you raving about?" Skeel spat out insolently. "You're bawling." But his swagger had been forgotten, and a look akin of horror had passed across his face. This slackening of pose was momentary, however; almost at once his smirk returned and his head swung in contempt.

Vance sauntered back to his chair and stretched himself in it listlessly, as if all his interest in the case had again evaporated. Markham watched the little drama attentively, but Heath had sat smoking with inconceivable annoyance. The silence that followed was broken by Skeel.

"Well, I suppose I'm to be railroaded. Got it all planned, have you? ... Try and railroad me!" He laughed harshly. "My lawyer's Abe Rubin, and you might phone him that I'd like to see him."

ALL HIGHWAYS ARE KEPT OPEN

City's New Truck Plow Makes Good Showing in Streets

All roads about the county and the upper peninsula were reported open yesterday afternoon after a comparatively heavy snowfall during Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Five and one-half inches of snow fell during the period, according to the U. S. weather bureau office here.

The coat of snow came as a welcome relief to pedestrians and motorists who on Tuesday experienced some difficulty in traversing the slippery streets. The city and county snow removal crews were on the job early yesterday morning, and had all the roads opened for traffic by noon, although it was reported that "it was tough going" in some of the rural sections. Despite the fact that the snow in general was wet and hard-packed, the county road commissioner's office reported that late yesterday there was considerable drifting out in the country, which required a second visit of the plows.

The city's new Four-Wheel-Drive truck-plow outfit made a satisfactory demonstration of its adaptability for city street plowing yesterday. Maintaining a speed from 17 to 20 miles per hour, the truck-plow had little difficulty in cleaning the city's streets. The traffic lanes on Stephenson and Hartnett avenues were also made wider than before when the truck-plow successfully attempted to tackle the old banks of snow along the curbing. This hard-packed snow put up a stubborn defense, but the plow pierced through it with little difficulty.

AT THE CAPITAL

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, one-time chairman of the Democratic National committee and now a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, has disclosed that more than a year ago he had made an unsuccessful effort to get all the Democratic chieftains to agree on a declaration of principles upon which the party would base its fight in the 1928 campaign.

Hull's suggestion was considered by practically all the leaders in the Democratic camp and for a while he had hopes of carrying out his plan. Several, however, felt that a broad declaration of policy so far in advance might have its disadvantages and the question was dropped.

The suggestion was similar to that proposed by Governor Smith of New York in his letter to the recent Jackson day dinner held in Washington.

A division of the Republican National committee will meet here tomorrow to arrange for the party's national convention in June, but there is scarcely any possibility that the decision to send it to Kansas City will be rescinded.

The committee has been informed that a representative committee will be on hand tomorrow with blueprints showing 4,000 rooms available for those who will attend the convention. This number is regarded as sufficient for convention needs.

The meeting tomorrow likely will be more or less routine. It will be called to order by Chairman Butler and ten other members of the national committee, including four women, are expected to be present.

It is not planned to select a temporary chairman and keynoter for the convention at tomorrow's meeting. Four years ago when President Coolidge had the nomination clinched he picked the keynoter but this year with a number of contesting candidates in the field, the selection will be made only after the various aspirants have been consulted. So far, Charles Evans Hughes is the only man brought prominently forward for the task.

Thodore Burton, who represents a Cleveland district in the house, is expected shortly to issue another statement on the Hoover-Willis fight in Ohio. The pronouncement last week by the veteran legislator in favor of the commerce secretary for president has been followed by a number of informal conferences between other Republican members of the Ohio congressional delegation, many of whom have come out publicly for Senator Willis.

Thus far there has been no announcement whether Hoover will enter the Ohio primaries against Willis. If he does he must signify his intentions by February 14.

French Tire of Freeing Killers

Paris.—"The Crimes of Juries," as one critic describes the acquittals of husbands, wives, and lovers who shoot to kill, are stirring many to protest against conditions.

Many jury reforms have been debated in parliament but nothing has been done. There remains however, much agitation for the jury's participation in fixing penalties, now the prerogative of the judge. It is argued that in murder trials juries often return "not guilty" verdicts rather than take a chance on the judge being too severe.

This element of sympathy for the defendant is because most murder trials now involve women, either as the killer or the killed.

Women, of late, do more shooting than men. In Paris and their aim generally is good. A peculiar feature of these cases is that the old "triangle" where an outsider does a little family wrecking, soon followed by gunfire, figures more often in the provincial courts while in Paris the bright light, night life center family quarrels result in criminal deaths more often than do the extra-legal love affairs.

French trains operating between Paris and Orleans have been equipped with radio receivers and loud speakers for the benefit of passengers.

HERE'S news in the ads—important news of what is new and practical and where the savings may be made. News that makes it possible for every housewife to know what is correct and fashionable for herself, family, and home. News that makes it possible for every man to further his economic situation through better buying, better selling, and better investing.

The news in the ads can be depended upon for its authenticity. The merchandise offered must be correct in style, season, quality, or price or it wouldn't be advertised. It is far more harmful to the advertiser to misrepresent his goods than it is to the buyer; the advertiser loses in confidence and prestige—and prestige and confidence can well be measured in terms of dollars and cents. It stands to reason that after buyers have searched the market to find the latest styles, highest quality merchandise, and most favorable prices that the very cream of their purchases would be featured in the ads.

Careful reading of the ads in the Home Newspaper every day enables one to know when Fifth Avenue styles arrive, when prices change and when first quality merchandise may be bought at the most reasonable figures. In truth, the ads are an index to the trend of the hour.

Careful reading of the ads brings you all of the shopping news of the day and eliminates much searching for the things you wish to buy. Follow the ads closely for news of the merchandise of every line for the coming season. These ads will save you time and money.

AN EASY WAY TO LOSE FAT

Instead of abnormal exercise or diet, they combat a cause of excess fat. They supply an element Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy. This method was discovered by research men some two decades ago. It has for 20 years been embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Millions of boxes have been taken, and almost every circle shows the results in new beauty, new health and vitality. The formula comes in every box, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Go learn now what Marmola does for excess fat, and why. Your druggist supplies it at $1 per box. Take four tablets daily and watch the change.

CITY BRIEFS

Supervisor Charles Howard was reported to be improving yesterday, following an operation at the Manistique hospital. Manistique Knights of Pythias have announced a carnival dance to be held at their hall Friday evening. Members and friends are invited. A heavy fall of wet snow brought out Manistique snow plows early Wednesday morning. A vaudeville skit entitled "Deviled Crabs," will be presented at the Gero theater next Wednesday by the Manistique W. O. W. band. The cast includes a black-face comedian and a noted opera singer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Malcomson and Mr. and Mrs. R. Malcomson of Escanaba were weekend guests at the home of Mrs. E. Gillingham, Manistique avenue. Mrs. E. T. Lundstrom left Wednesday afternoon by motor for Newberry, called by the illness of her mother. Helmer Anderson of Munising is the guest of relatives and friends in Manistique. The Bethany society of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet Thursday evening at the home of Miss Esther Soderback, Garden avenue.

There has been considerable said of late about cigaret smoking. Miss Maude Roydon, head of the Guild House, London, has been condemned by many for her smoking of cigars. Has smoking anything to do with religion, whether man or woman? This will be the topic for prayer meeting at the Methodist church this Thursday evening. An invitation is extended to the public to attend this service.

CAUGHT UNDER TREE. Pinned under the 27-inch trunk of a tree which he helped saw down, Jim Bird, 37, Indian, escaped with only painful bruises in a woods accident at the Wood camp, Manistique river. Bird was watching a windfall which halted the fall of the big tree when the trunk shot back and struck him in the back. He was brought to Manistique for hospital care.

Religion and Cigarettes Is Topic Tonight

Two eminently representative examples lie side by side on this Sunday's desk. The first is James O'Donnell Bennett's first class job of boiling down the "best sellers of the ages" into a single volume, "Much Loved Books" (Horn, Live, Right). The second is Ernest Boyd's "Literary Blasphemies" (Harpers), in which the brilliant critic takes pot shots at the idolatries surrounding such immortals as Poe, Shakespeare and Milton.

Bennett's book begins with the Bible, since this is a perennial best seller. It includes "Treasure Island," "Benvenuto Cellini," Mark Twain, Hawthorne, Dickens, Marco Polo, "The Arabian Nights," "Plutarch," and a dozen more. Bennett has sketched the plot, when there is one, or told a story of how the classic came to be written. It seemed to us particularly interesting. Packing a great work into a few pages is a most difficult feat, particularly when "high light" quotations are included. Perhaps such books serve their purpose in whetting appetites for broader reading; perhaps they merely assist literary laziness. Certainly it is a good book for those beginning to read, since it can serve both as guide and baptismal.

The Boyd book is not for the lazy minded. It assumes that you have read and know your immortals, from Byron to James. It assumes that you know of the habits that have been placed upon these heads. And then, even as the Washington biographers have shown the illustrious George drinking strong liquor and gambling, these essays show the sacred cows of literature stripped of a few illusions. True, he does not strip them of immortality; rather it is a job of toppling over standards built about them by centuries of blind worshippers. Boyd will not approach his immortals with wreaths in his hand. Rather he has his pen drawn and is ready to tilt with it, even if he has to shock you out of your chair.

You will hear it charged that many of the classics have been kept alive by artificial respiration; that Milton was considerable of a plagiarist; that Shakespeare gave utterance to "much plattitudinous wisdom"; that James "possessed that very vulgarism from which he had proposed to escape." Boyd takes raps at Hardy and does some snappy flogging with Poe.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color. These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit, 10c, 25c and 50c—Ad.

THEATRES

AT THE RIALTO.

Aviation, now the greatest popular fancy has its comedy possibilities exploited for the first time in a motion picture by Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in "Now We're in the Air," the Paramount film which comes to the Rialto theater today and Friday.

Against their will, Beery and Hatton have been soldiers, sailors and firemen, and now they are aviators, through no doing of their own. They land in the air service when their employer enlists and they wander into a propeller testing room and have their Scotch Highlander costumes blown off.

Some one tosses them a pair of flying uniforms and before they know it they have been mistaken for aviators and are in the air. Mistaken identity dominates the plot. Louise Brooks plays a dual role. She is both of twin sisters, one of whom is of French fealty and the other German. Beery falls in love with the German twin and Hatton with the French but they are unable to tell the girls apart, so all sorts of scrambled complications ensue.

Then Beery and Hatton are mistaken for German heroes, and are acclaimed of the same stave by the French. This is too good to last, however, and they are about to be finished off by a firing squad when the war ends, and each wins the twin of his choice. The picture is replete in thrilling aviation situations, but most of the comedy takes place on the ground. Clever gags punctuate the entire production and the picture may be safely said to be the funniest and best Hatton and Beery have done yet.

Frank Strayer directed "Now We're in the Air," and the cast includes Malcolm Waite, Emile Chautard, Duke Martin and Russell Simpson.

The BABY

Why do so many mothers of today escape all the little troubles and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day and keep them up half the night? If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor. Always at other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. The doctor often tells you to do just that, and always says Fletcher's. Other preparations may be just as pure, just as free from dangerous drugs, but they experiment! Besides, the baby on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold!

The results of the senatorial elections will be taken more seriously in Washington than in this country. At the capital they are preoccupied with the tactics of the political game more than with the substantive questions with which the public is concerned. At the present time the senate can be organized as seems likely, they operate with the House for the committee of the whole of the major reliable support.

Surveyors' view has been expected. It is badly broken up and inconsistent. That of the raised part is better than between governments. Science and legitimate business continue to do so.

However, the In Massachusetts was a leader. What of the textile plea does he have?

GANG DEFEATS WOLVERINE 5

The North Escanaba Roughhouse Gang had an easy time defeating the Wolverines by a lop-sided score of 26 to 5 at the Webster gym last night. The Wolverines could not penetrate the strong Roughhouse defense, being held to one field goal. St. Louis handled the whistle in his usual capable manner.

SEEMS BIT WRONG
One of the latest occurrences that seem to make the method of awarding letters to college athletes a bit too rubber-stamped is the case of Herb Fleischacker and Dick Worden at Stanford.

Although both were rather important members of the Stanford squad this year (neither was a regular, however), they did not get football letters. Fleischacker was one of the heroes of the 13-13 tie with Southern California and Worden was a big shot in the 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh.

The rule, like all rules that have been in vogue for years, is a good one, but many people believe that the Fleischacker-Worden case is an instance when the rule could have been stretched a bit without much damage.

Praise From Peltzer
One of the latest to add his praise to the methods employed by the United States in training their track athletes is Dr. Otto C. Peltzer, famous German distance runner who will run three races here within the next few weeks.

This is the age of specialists. When a man likes to pole vault and broad jump and can do the latter better, he goes in solely for broad jumping. Each athlete here is expected to do one thing, but he must do that well, and perhaps better than anybody else can.

Need in Tennis
Victory of George M. Lott in the Canadian covered court championships serves to increase the belief that this young man is the youngster most likely to step into the places of the fading tennis veterans in the next few years.

Lott alone, however, cannot regain the Davis cup for the United States. With Tilden and Johnston soon to be out of the picture, more youngsters must be developed if the trophy is to be regained.

Kalamazoo Defeats Hillsdale, 45-34

Kalamazoo, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Defeating Hillsdale, the only conqueror of Alma this season by a 45 to 34 score, here tonight, Kalamazoo college again went into the M. I. A. A. lead. Schrier and Hackney with 10 points each and Muelenberg with 9, led the winners' play. Wager and Owens starred for the visitors. Kalamazoo college plays at Michigan State Saturday.

RAMBLERS BEAT PIRATES, 34-10

The E. F. U. Ramblers defeated the E. F. U. Pirates, 34 to 10, at the Webster gym last night. This game was scheduled for Friday night, but was played last night to allow members of the teams to attend the Escanaba-Menominee game.

The game was clean and was kept moving at a fast pace by the action of Referee Johnson. Demars, Rambler forward, netted a field goal by a freak play during the fray. He tossed a backward pass from along the sidelines, the sphere dropping neatly in the oval.

Fourteen Skating Events Dog Races, Hockey Games on Ice Carnival Program

Fourteen ice skating races for grade school boys and girls will make up the "rink" program for the Junior Winter Sport Carnival which will be held in Escanaba Saturday, Feb. 18.

There will, in addition, be two big dog races, and a city championship hockey match. Prizes in the dog races will be as follows:

Dog Races.
Single Dogs: First $3, Second $2, Third $1.
Two-Dog Teams: First $3, Second $2, Third $1.

Hockey Prizes.
Prizes for the hockey match will be a cash award of $1 for each player on the winning team. Arrangements are being made, also, for the awarding of a trophy of some sort to the winning aggregation. Amateur sport regulations prohibit any person from accepting cash or merchandise prizes valued at more than $1 for any athletic event with the exception of trophies and medals. Those in charge of the carnival have been unanimous in their opinion that nothing should be done that might, later, endanger the amateur standing of a youngster who will be competing in bigger athletic contests later.

Relay Rules.
The relay event will be made up of four-man teams, each to represent one of the local grade schools. Each skater on a team will cover one lap. The contest will be carried out exactly like the relay races at "track meets." Each school, therefore, is expected to enter one team in the contest. Organize your teams, boys, and get in. There will be an individual prize of $1 to each boy on the winning team, and it also is expected that a trophy will be hung up for the school producing the winner.

SPARTANS BEAT ALBION, 52-20

East Lansing, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Michigan State college Spartans ran wild against the Methodists today and took an uninteresting game of basketball by a score of 52 to 20.

Albion, playing the same team which defeated State last year, weakened early in the first half and Coach Ben Van Alstyne substituted a new team before the end of the period. The visitors had "little luck in breaking through State's defense while local forwards rang the basket for frequent shots.

Alma Five Beats Michigan B Team

Alma, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The defensive game of the Alma college basketball team which kept their visitors at a distance from the basket coupled with a fast passing attack defeated the University of Michigan "B" quintet, 29 to 17, here tonight. Harry Tidderington led the Alma assault, tossing in five field goals.

Illinois Beats Northwestern

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Illinois arranged a startling upset in big ten basketball tonight by defeating Northwestern 32 to 20 in a fast game. The Illini, despite the loss of their captain and two other regulars by ineptly jumping into an early lead with five free throws and were never headed. The defeat knocked Northwestern out of second place, moving Wisconsin up behind Purdue in the big ten race.

INVINCIBLE FIVE DEFEAT M. B. A.

The E. F. U. Invincibles defeated the M. B. A., 21 to 9, at the Webster gym last night in a City League game which they forfeited to the losers because of the ineligibility of one player.

The game was fast and rough at times, but was capably handled by Stanley St. Louis.

S. Johnson, a member of the Typselingers crew, played with the Invincibles without permission of his manager, thereby violating a rule of eligibility of the league. This calls for a forfeit of the victory.

The M. B. A. team percentage now is up to .823, with five victories and one defeat. Anger error in calculating the percentage after the forfeit game with the I. Stephenson five last week was made in the M. B. A. standings. The addition of the victory was not credited at that time.

SAINTS TO PLAY, UPBAY QUINTET

The St. Joseph high school basketballers are practicing diligently this week in preparation for one of their hardest games of the season—that with Gladstone high school at the Escanaba high school gymnasium Saturday night.

Workouts have been conducted the early part of this week with Dr. Gordon Glech in charge, owing to the inability of Coach E. M. Hirn, the regular mentor, to devote his time to the work. Coach Hirn, however, will be on the job probably tonight, and with assistance of Dr. Glech, will round the team in shape for the big battle.

The Upbay quintet is considered one of the strongest in U. P. basketball circles. They have won six games and lost only one thus far this season, the defeat being at the hands of Menominee last Friday. Earlier in the season, the Kellmen dealt a humiliating beating to the Maroon five and their comeback last week was a decided surprise to the followers of the Gladstone cagers.

Lloyd Hahn Wins 1,000 Yard Event

Newark, N. J., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Lloyd Hahn, Boston A. A., middle distance star, romped away with his ninth straight victory in the present season tonight when he captured the 1000-yard handicap at the eighth annual games of the Newark A. C.

BENNY BASS TO MEET CANZONERI

Featherweight Championship to Be Decided at Gardens Friday

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The title turned in the featherweight division and nominations of rival pugilists boxing bodies since Kid Kaplan, the Meriden buzz saw, laid down the championship, will get down to the business of fusticuffs in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

A year of argument, pro and con, and a series of tournaments, finally has brought Benny Bass, champion in the eyes of the National Boxing association commission, into the roped arena. The boys are scheduled to fight 15 rounds, the championship route, with the winner accepted generally as the undisputed titleholder.

Bass, a willing hard-punching youngster from Philadelphia, won N. B. A. recognition by defeating Red Chapman of Boston several months ago. The New York Italian, after an unsuccessful campaign to dislodge Bud Taylor of Chicago as the outstanding bantamweight, turned to the heavier division, and whipped Johnny Dundee, who vacated the title before Kaplan came to the throne. Canzoneri felled Taylor here in a featherweight battle.

1 Minute Interviews

JAC KHENDRICKS SAYS: With better luck than the Cincinnati Reds had in the 1927 pennant race, I think our club will finish higher this year. I do not mean to give the impression that we figure we are going to win the pennant, because there are some strong clubs in the league.

But I do think that we have no fatal weakness and that with all our players in good condition we will win more ball games than we did last year. I have been asked several times why I did not make a sacrifice if it was necessary to get Rogers Hornsby when the New York Giants offered him to me. I was quoted at the time as saying that I would not have Hornsby on my club at all and would not take him for nothing. I did not say that. I said I would not give Critz and one of the pitchers the Giants asked for him.

Critz, I figured, is a brilliant second baseman who is just coming. He is not the batter Hornsby is and who is in our league? But Critz suits me and I certainly have never considered that he makes weak at second base and why should I weaken another department to get a second baseman when I have one that any other club in the league would give us fancy dough for?

MARY K. BROWNE SAYS: I have no present intention of applying to the tennis or golf associations for reinstatement as an amateur player. Before I turned professional I considered every eventuality and I must say that I am not a penitent in the respect that I have any great sin that I feel should be absolved.

My experience as a professional has been pleasant and rather profitable and certainly it has been more satisfying because I believe that I have been accepted by the public as an honest athlete and I do not mean to cast any reflections upon anyone. I believe the time will come when the tennis association will recognize open competition as the golf association does, and that in not many years to come the class of women professionals in each sport will be larger and more representative. Goodness knows, however, I may not be able to play first-class tennis or golf at that time.

EDDIE COLLINS SAYS: A lot of people are wondering why I turned down the chance to manage the Cleveland club at twice the salary I am to get at Philadelphia. I must admit that such action on my part makes me look like a mighty poor business man. Yet I am sure that those who know me will say that I am a pretty good bargainer.

I have any number of reasons to offer why I decided to remain in Philadelphia. Some I feel are mighty logical, some may be purely sentimental. In the first place, Connie Mack started me in baseball. There never was a finer man to work for. When he decided to break up his great team of 1914, he made it possible for me to benefit myself to the utmost by making a very advantageous contract with the Chicago White Sox.

When Chicago last year, at a late hour, decided it no longer cared for me as manager, it was Connie Mack who came to the rescue, when it seemed there wasn't a worth while opening left in the majors. He made me his assistant at a fine salary. Before Cleveland sought my services I had signed with Mack. Yet, when a much better offer came my way, he expressed a willingness to release me from my contract. That was just like Con-

NAVY SWORD AGAIN.

Leading all the midshipmen candidates for the Navy sword, Russell "Whitey" Lloyd of Chatham, N. J., has a chance to make a new record by winning the Navy's greatest athletic prize for the third successive time.

Lloyd is a star at football and basketball and on the track. He is also a fine swimmer and boxer. Despite his six feet two and his 200 pounds he is a ten-second man on the track and may be developed into a great decathlon and pentathlon man.

The Navy sword is awarded annually to the best athlete of the year. It has been won twice by only two Navy athletes, Commander V. H. Weems for football, wrestling and rowing and Ira McKean for football, basketball and baseball.

Dr. Peltzer Denies Pushing Ray Dodge

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Otto Peltzer, German middle distance runner, today denied elbowing and pushing Ray Dodge, Illinois Athletic club star, from the track in their race at the Millrose games in New York last week. Dodge yesterday charged Dr. Peltzer with unethical use of elbows to gain the lead which was held until the last lap by the American. Peltzer won by six yards.

"Dodge made an effort to shove me as I passed him on the right side," Peltzer said in answering the charges. "However, I was leading him by a few feet at the time and he was so near gone he could not reach me. After the race we shook hands and the incident was forgotten."

nie Mack, always more than fair. Then there was the thought that some day Connie Mack might retire and that he might want me to try to carry on where he left off. However, no one could quite do that.

It seemed to me that a sense of loyalty to the man who shaped my career in baseball, and has since influenced it for better, called for my staying with him and doing everything possible to help him put over another pennant winner before he retires. I asked him if he wanted me and when he replied that he did, the Cleveland offer was graciously declined.

EARL SANDE SAYS: I feel quite sure that I will be reinstated and allowed to get back into the saddle before the spring race meetings open. I have always felt that I was not guilty of a malicious foul, though it must have looked like one to cause the officials to take such drastic action in setting me down after that race in Maryland.

Jockeys, you know, who are riding always to win as I always have done, have to take chances that even Imperl life and limb and often the mistakes of a less experienced jockey who loses his head in a packed field makes the other fellow look like the offender. The older boys who were riding in that race were willing to back me up, but it didn't do any good.

It has been suggested to me that I go to England or France to ride and while I know it would be easier to ride in those countries because of the weight handicap, I don't want to leave the American track because the game here and the fans too have been awfully nice to me.

U. of Nebraska to Play Cadets

West Point, N. Y., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The University of Nebraska, one of the strongest eleven in the middle-west, takes the Navy's place on the 1928 football schedule of the Army. The game will be played in the West Point stadium on November 24.

Scheduling the Corn Huskers, who disputed the Missouri Valley conference leadership with the University of Missouri last fall, the Army wrote the final chapter to the events growing out of the now famous break with the Navy over eligibility standards, at least for 1928. The midshipment already have booked Princeton for a game at Philadelphia on the date originally set for the annual service classic.

This year's slate characterized by Major Flemming as probably the most strenuous schedule ever attempted by an Army team, was completed after an unusual effort to switch playing dates so that Nebraska would be met here on November 16, the date now assigned to Notre Dame, and the Hoosiers reserved for the climax opposition on November 24 in New York.

The number of basketball teams representing factories is increasing. The headline is becoming common: "Hickory Nut Stoves Spill Ice Creams."

THE ART OF BALLYHOO

Anything to keep the customers talking is the fundamental principle of the art of ballyhoo and Tex Rickards holds the title as the greatest ballyhoo man in boxing.

He keeps the customers talking when there is nothing to talk about and when he gets a subject deserving of conversation he keeps it in a roar.

Since that fortunate day when he signed Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for their first meeting in Philadelphia, he has succeeded in keeping the heavyweight championship situation as the ranking piece of chatter in the day's gossip and he has done it with very little trouble.

When Gene Tunney demanded two summer engagements Rickard had two willing opponents in Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey, but they could hardly be made hot without some kind of a warm up.

Sharkey made himself all cold when he stumbled through to a draw decision with Tom Heeney and Dempsey was in need of vindication to make the customers believe that he was not heading for a sure knockout if he met Tunney for the third time without another test.

Those tests are dangerous, Rickard knows, and either Sharkey or Dempsey might be knocked off if they exposed their faces in the ring before the big numbers.

Rickard, however, persuaded Sharkey to file a challenge against Tunney with the New York commission which will be acted upon when Tunney's six months of grace expires in March. It was the first challenge filed against a heavyweight champion since Harry Wills was slamming them at Dempsey.

That little act of filing the challenge will put the New York commissioners in a spot where they will have to notify Tunney that Sharkey is waiting first in line with him or name some other opponent in Sharkey's place.

The chances are good that the commission would make Sharkey an official challenger without forcing him to take any more chances even though he may appear in another bout in March.

If Sharkey should be set aside as the challenger, the commission would be forced to name Dempsey and in either event Rickard could tell his public—"I didn't pick the man. The commission says he's the follow."

Others Coming Up It is understood that Tunney, when the new contracts are drawn, will demand that Dempsey be prevented from appearing in any warm up contests. He doesn't want him to have two cuts of big money again this year and he doesn't want to give him a chance to get his machinery oiled up by an easy preliminary fight.

Rickard, however, might get John Doakes or Pete Nitzey to stage a Dempsey-Palooka fight some place and tell Tunney he couldn't keep Dempsey from fighting for some other promoter.

The public has reasons to believe that every step taken by the leading heavyweight aspirants is led by Rickard and that every move is the old ballyhoo, but it makes good talking and good reading.

Despite the recent happenings that might have been construed as bad breaks for the promoter, Rickard apparently is not really agitated about the summer program, because he remarked before he went south to do his business with Tunney:

"If that Loughran and Delaney keep on coming, they ought to be great shots for the heavyweight title next year."

CASE OF SPEAKER Unless Tris Speaker agrees to do his centerfielding for some other club at a lower salary than the one he failed to get for another year from Washington, he is likely to be among those missing when the 1928 baseball curtain goes up in the majors.

Speaker was released a few days ago by the Senators because he refused to name a salary with a "substantial reduction" for the coming season.

While it was never announced what salary he received last year, it was said to be anywhere from $40,000 to $50,000. No doubt exists it was a bit high for the good Speaker did for Washington.

He had a great year. There's no doubt about that. But the primary motive in the bidding that went on for Speaker's services last year was the attraction he was expected to be at the box office.

As a gate attraction, Speaker failed to draw the fans in as he was expected to do. That is the reason why the Senator owners could not see their way to paying him the same salary, whatever it was, again this year.

Who Wants Him? No major league club is likely to pay Speaker a salary anywhere near $40,000 for his services this season.

While plenty of good baseball remains in Speaker, it must be remembered that he has seen his best playing days and is on the down road now. And when they slip, they slip quickly.

Connie Mack tried to make the Athletics a pennant winner last season with a group of veterans and found that old age and experience, while a great help, are also handicaps in certain aspects.

Speaker could help several clubs in the major leagues. He still is able to take care of his section of the outfield and he still can carry on through the season with a batting average well over .300.

But whether he is worth $40,000 is another question. The Senators didn't think so, and it may turn out finally that no other major league club thinks so. It looks like a cut in salary—or else the finish.

Two Football Teams From the Pacific coast comes news that Pop Warner is likely to install the two-team football system at Stanford next season.

Warner's plan, according to the wires, is to have one team composed of seniors and another team composed of juniors, while substitutes for both teams would be procured from the sophomores on the squad.

This is a rather novel idea on the two-team idea and is one that will bear watching as an experiment next season if the crafty Stanford mentor goes through with it.

No other teams, however, have joined in with the proposed plan of Warner, and it is doubtful whether Warner will go through with it unless some of the other Pacific coast colleges go in for the same plan.

It would be hardly fair to have Stanford's team of seniors meet the regular California team of seniors, juniors and sophomores, and it is unlikely that such will occur. Pop Warner likes to win as well as any other coach, and he is unlikely to minimize his chances of victory through an attempt to make an experiment.

The two-team idea, however it is carried out, is certain not to interfere with attempts to win all games. For that, as Glen Thielwaste of Wisconsin says, is the frank concern of all coaches, despite what they say.

HIS LARGEST SQUAD. The largest squad ever to turn out for track at California in Walter Christie's long career there greeted him a few days ago. One hundred and twenty-five candidates greeted him the first day.

TUNNEY WITNESSED KAYO. Gene Tunney was present a few nights ago when Young Stribling knocked out Martin Burke in the opening round of their bout.

O'Goofy says he don't think football ever will become rough enough to go on the society page.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

O'Goofy heard a terrible rumor yesterday. Somebody told him that Al Smith wasn't going to make the presidential race because he was a governor by profession and couldn't get the sanction of the A. A. U.

Paul Revere was a watchmaker by profession. It is said the A. A. U. still has under advisement his application for a midnight ride.

The A. A. U. didn't just know whether to let Herr Doktor Peltzer trot in this country or not. Von Steuben trained lots of soldiers at Valley Forge, but he was a professional German general and really should have been suspended.

Tough on Miami. Just getting over one hurricane and along comes a bunch of promoters and boxers' managers.

A sculptor has come over to immortalize Mr. Dempsey in bronze. He wanted to carve out a couple of diamond heroes, too, but couldn't get material, what with the big demand for ivory from the piano people.

He might carve us a couple of wrestlers, too, but he'd be satisfied if he'd merely bang them.

Knute Rockne fears that the run of college men is becoming so genteel that by 1940 stories of football games will be carried on the society page. Harvard then will come into her own.

Maybe the Blue Book will become the Black and Blue Book.

When football is carried on the society page, stories of track meets may carry some such captions as Oswald Blimp Scores New Mark in Mozzanine Leap.

SUGGESTS BAN ON STUDENTS

Green Says Undesirables in University Should Be Weeded Out

Lansing, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A ban against students who do not avail themselves of the opportunity or are unable to assimilate the knowledge offered them in the higher educational institutions of the state was proposed by Governor Green today.

The governor would feel more like making huge investments in the university if they knew those attending were reaping benefits. He advocated following in the footsteps of the University of Wisconsin which recently informed scores of freshmen they need not return.

"There should be some qualification other than that a student's parents are able to pay his way. The action of the University of Wisconsin is an awakening. It would be wonderful if something could be done to justify the state to investigate its systems of learning. It was no pleasure to me to have to cut $2,500,000 from the University of Michigan's request, but I believed it was necessary."

Tourist Trade Growing.

He protested against overdozes of federal aid. When the federal government goes into states and offers to match state appropriations for projects the state cannot afford, it is virtually forcing unwise expenditures, he asserted. He advocated a reduction in the federal income tax and urged the cooperation of the assessing officers in helping build up the tourist and resort business.

A banner year in the lumbering days returned a harvest worth $70,000,000, but last year more than 5,000,000 tourists visited state parks and the total tourist business produced hundreds of millions of dollars, he averred. Low tax on timber lands during the growing period, plus a harvest tax, was recommended by the executive.

Frank P. Rogers, highway commissioner, estimated that the weight and automobile license taxes this year will produce $35,000,000 of which the state will have approximately $14,000,000 for new construction. Added to this will be $2,250,000 of federal aid, or a total in excess of $16,000,000. This compares with something over $15,000,000 spent in 1927.

He declared the average car is paying $14.30 for license plates and about the same amount a year for the three-cent gas tax. The total of around $28.60 on an average value of $800, is somewhat above the average tax rate, he said. He recommended cutting the weight tax, rather than the gasoline tax, as rapidly as possible.

W. W. Potter, attorney general, pleaded for the cooperation and support of every governmental unit in the state's lake levels fight against the Chicago sanitary district. The illegal diversion of water is reducing Great Lakes cargo tonnage 4,500,000 tons annually, at a cost of $3,500,000, he said. The taking of water is a distinct violation of a treaty with Canada which may lead to diplomatic intervention if not more serious consequences, he declared.

IN NEW YORK

New York.—One of the balms that Manhattan forever dangles before the noses of restless young men of the small towns is the old Horatio Alger magnet of "rags to riches."

Hardly a day passes but some new record is hung up for a bright and energetic young man who came out of poverty into great success. One day the newspapers tell of the bell hop who became manager of a chain of big hotels; the next it's the bank messenger who wound up as president of the concern—as instanced by the young Mr. Clarkson who heads the Chase National bank; the next it's the story of the immigrant who builds skyscrapers. . . . and so it goes.

George White, the musical comedy impresario, you will learn, started as a Western Union messenger boy; John Golden broke into the theater by being a grave digger in "Hamlet"; the Lefcourt skyline in New York came from the dreams of an East Side kid who resented the tenement windows from which his boy eyes looked out on life; the Astor mansion on Fifth Avenue went down under the wrecking machines of Benjamin Winter, who came out of Poland bitter against the persecutions of old-world tyrants. And so it goes.

What, perhaps, the restless young man of the small town should ponder upon is that about one of these miracles happens a day—and there are 7,000,000 people in New York. Something like 6,000,000 find no "miracles" on their doorsteps.

What, again, the young and restless man can stop to consider is, that in his own town, the opportunities are relatively as great as they are anywhere else if he keeps his eye open for them. True, there is a stimulating competitive spirit about New York that keys young men to greater effort than they might make in the old home town. But, on the other hand, there are those constant disappointments that throw him into deeper sloughs of despond.

MYSTERY OF ASTHMA NEAR CASTOR OIL MILL SOLVED

In the eastern part of Toledo, Ohio, is a section which has been for years known to Toledo physicians as an asthma colony. Most of the asthmatic patients asserted that their attacks coincided with periods when the odor of linseed oil was blown from the neighborhood of a linseed oil mill.

Investigators in the Toledo health department discovered that the mill not only manufactured linseed oil but also squeezed castor oil out of castor beans, the residue being used as an ingredient of a fertilizer.

Linseed Oil Exonerated

The investigators were able to free the linseed oil at once of any suspicion as to its relation to the first place, even the residue from the linseed oil had sufficient oil in it to prevent its being blown about. However, a considerable amount of castor bean dust, which is odorless, would circulate. Eighty-five persons complaining of asthmatic attacks because of the presence of the oil mill were asked to report to the office of the health commissioner. Thirty-two of them were given careful study and examination. None of these patients had had asthma before moving into the district.

The men afflicted who work at a distance from their homes had attacks only at night, whereas the women and children who would not leave the vicinity were likely to have attacks either day or night.

Tests With Patients

Tests were made by the modern method of determining sensitivity, the skin of the patients being scratched and inoculated with extracts of castor bean dust and flaxseed dust. The investigators concluded with certainty that the asthma in these patients was due to inhaling the finely powdered castor bean dust blown through the neighborhood.

There are four other castor oil mills in the United States. These are located in Edgewater, Jersey City and Bayonne, New Jersey, and Bridgeport, Connecticut. It is the belief of the investigators in Toledo that there be cases of asthma due to castor bean dust in the other cities mentioned.

Individual celebrities have unique ways of arranging their charitable donations. Al Johnson for instance, turns over all the profits made in song writing to the poor of the nation. And most of Johnson's songs are great hits and bring in fat dividends.
