K. OF C. BEGIN HOUSING PLANS

Rooms for Convention Delegates in June Needed Here

Housing of visitors to the Michigan state convention of the Knights of Columbus, to be held here June 17-19, is one of the most important tasks confronting the convention committee. It was emphasized yesterday.

The committee, in the following statement, summarized the situation and plans, yesterday, as follows:

"The chairman of the hotel and housing committee, H. J. Moreau, and his co-workers are now zoning the city, and seeking out the rooms available, with or without bath, for general accommodations to visitors. It is the purpose of the committee to make a close canvass of the city, and confer personally with each and every citizen on what they may have in the way of rooms and accommodations, and to make rates with them for such.

"As this convention is not only a Knights of Columbus convention, but an outstanding Escanaba convention, it is earnestly requested that all citizens having rooms available for the occasion, call Francis McCauley, at the K. of C. club-rooms, phone 29, giving name and address, and one of the committee will call and make the necessary arrangements.

"The hotel and housing committee personnel is: H. J. Moreau, chairman, 1412 Second avenue south, phone 1492-W; Frank Geniesse, Frank Schumaker, William Boddy, John Finn, Maynard Swaby, Gerald Cleary, Dr. L. P. Treiber, James J. Belland, Xavier Grenier, James J. Frenn, general chairman of local committees, has had favorable reports from most of the 67 councils of the state and indications are that the gathering will be the largest in the history of the order in Michigan. Among those who will attend will be Martin J. Carmody, supreme knight, and Joseph F. Marfin, deputy supreme knight. It was learned this week. Scores of other men, prominent nationally in Knights of Columbus affairs, will come here.

"Save Your Vision" Week Instituted by U. S. Optometrists

"Save Your Vision Week," to be conducted this week by the American Optometric Association, has for its purpose the calling of the public's attention to the discomforts and handicaps suffered by those whose sight is inefficient or defective. Attention is to be called particularly to the vision of school children.

"The records of every optometrist," it is asserted, "reveal astounding facts regarding the public's eyesight. More than one-fourth of all the children in all schools do not have good eyes," it is said. "Ten per cent of the drivers of automobiles have inefficient eyesight. Huge losses in industry, in comfort and happiness, and in efficiency, generally, result from uncorrected vision every year."

Local optometrists are preparing to make a special effort, this week, to impress the public with the truth and importance of these facts.

The Hazards of Automobile Ownership Are Many

Your motor vehicle is the most hazardous property you own.

Fire is a common occurrence and thefts are alarmingly prevalent. One little fire may cost you more than the premiums for a lifetime.

Stolen cars are rarely recovered and the yearly toll of wind is enormous.

Collisions are frequent and the cost of repairs high. Attention on account of personal injuries, to say nothing of the payment of verdicts, court costs, etc., may bankrupt the car owner. Every claim for property damage is a possible loss.

Brags, indeed, or foolhardy, is the one who attempts to carry his own automobile risk. Pass your risk to

COLUMBIANS TO TAKE IN CLASS

Initiation Ceremonies to Be Held on Sunday, May 13

Escanaba Council No. 440, Knights of Columbus, will initiate a large class of candidates Sunday, May 13, and extensive plans are being made for the occasion. The class will be the first to be received into the local council in some time and the Knights are looking forward to the event with enthusiasm, particularly in view of the widespread interest in the state convention of the Knights of Columbus which will be held here June 17-19-18.

The ceremonies will commence with all candidates attending mass and receiving holy communion in a body. The first degree will then be conferred, before noon, in St. Patrick's hall. After luncheon, all candidates and the entire membership will assemble in St. Patrick's hall when the second and third degrees will be conferred.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening, Escanaba council will be hosts to the new members, and the large crowd of visiting knights and dignitaries and the laity and clergy from the upper peninsula and Wisconsin who will be here to take part in the ceremonies. These initiation ceremonies and the banquets which follow them are always brilliant events and invariably attract a large crowd.

The chairman and the committees in charge report very gratifying progress. Many applications have been received, and those who expect to take the degrees are being urged to turn in their applications at once, as the time is getting short and sufficient time must be given to enable the officers and committees to pass on them.

The officers of the council said yesterday that it is not unlikely that it will be four years before another opportunity is given or an exemption occurs in this district.

Rev. Hubbard to Read Poem by John Masefield

"Everlasting Mercy," a poem by John Masefield, which has been used by churches and English classes in other parts of the country, will be read tonight at 7:30 in the First Presbyterian church by Rev. John B. Hubbard.

Among modern poets John Masefield ranks high. There are many literary critics who put his "Everlasting Mercy" near the top of the ten greatest books produced since the beginning of the twentieth century. For religious readers, Rev. Hubbard said he would place the poem alongside John Bunyan's "Grace Abounding," Robert Browning's "Billy Bray," Francis Thompson's "Hounds of Heaven" and Harold Begbie's "Twice-Born Men." The theme is the same—conversion, the new birth. Nowhere else may one look for such ugly reality conquered by such exquisite beauty than in this mystic poem which portrays the miraculous and supernatural in perfect harmony with scientifically ascertained processes. He apparently adopts the psychology of William James.

For ten years, Dr. A. J. Armstrong, head of the English department in Baylor university, has invited me annually to read and interpret "The Everlasting Mercy" before his combined classes. At no time has it been so presented that I have not seen tears glistening in the eyes of young men and women, and today multitudes of the collegians came to me at the end of the hour to say that they had never heard a sermon so powerful. At one time I gave it before an immense throng at the mid-week prayer meeting of First Church, Waco, and the response from the humblest toilers in the congregation was as eager as from cultivated lovers of great literature.

For the poem is as true and convincing and lyrical as it is utterly simple and understandable. The subject of this English poem is Saul Kane, a village wastrel, drunkard, poacher, bully and libertine.

GARDEN BAY

The Ladies Guild of the Garden Congregational church held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Hennessey. The next meeting of the society will be held Wednesday, May 2nd. Place of meeting will be announced later.

Henry Chandanois has purchased the Asa Tatrow residence in town. He will move his family there in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Greene and family, present occupants will move out and expect to occupy their farm property at Fayette.

Rupert Greene made a business trip to Fayette Thursday.

About thirty relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winter, Sr., of Van's Harbor Tuesday evening to remind Mrs. Winter of the fact that it was her birthday. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Olmsted, Sr., of Escanaba, their son Henry of Jackson, Mrs. Fred Olmsted, Jr., and little daughter Nancy Jean of Escanaba, and Mrs. Robert McPherson and daughter Betty of Rapid River. Unfortunately, on account of the sickness of Mr. Olmsted, Sr., the out-of-town relatives had to return to their homes earlier in the evening. The evening was spent in a quiet manner much of the time being passed in recalling experiences of long ago. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Mrs. Alice Pizala, son Herbert of Sac Bay and Robert Watchorn of Fayette were business callers in town Friday.

Joseph Thill and Robert Watchorn of Fayette attended the auction sale at Bark River Wednesday.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By Ahern

AH, DANNY, THERE ARE SOME MEN TO WHOM DAME FORTUNE IS A WILL-O'-THE-WISP ALL THEIR LIVES! SUCH A MAN, AM I!

BAD LUCK AN' ME ARE PALS! - IF THEY INVITED ME IN TH' MINT TO CARRY OUT ALL TH' GOLD I COULD LIPT, I'D RIGHT AWAY GET NEURITIS IN BOTH ARMS!

The Tinymites were tickled pink, and very much relieved to think that they were absolutely safe from any sort of harm. The birds were kind as kind could be. Soon Scouty sighed, and said, "Ah me! 'Twas foolish that we worried. There is no cause for alarm. I feared the birds would peck us all, and chase us out, and make us fall. What saved us was the crackers that we fed them. I'll just bet I guess that we will always find it pays to try and be real kind, for in return, it seems to me, it's kindness that you get." The small birds then began to squeal. "Oh, my they want another meal," said Coppy. "I've some crackers left. Come help me feed them please. To hold the crackers was a thrill. The birds would snap them with their bill. Wee Clowdy'd jerk them back a bit. He was an awful tease. "Oh, watch the sun," somebody cried. "It's sinkin' o'er the mountain side. The nighttime's coming on, I guess. We'll sleep tight in this nest." And shortly they could hardly see. "Twas just as dark as it could be. The birds and 'Tines cuddled up to get a good night's rest. When morning came, the sun rose high to brighten up the pretty sky. The tinies woke and stretched a bit. Then Coppy said, "Oh, gee I wish that we could have a ride out with the birds, to dip and glide. The air is so refreshing that 'twould quite appeal to me." The big birds seemed to understand. With their bills they seized a band of vine and stretched it out real straight, and Scouty yelled, "Hurrah! Upon this vine we all will sit. There's room enuff for us to fit." And as they took their places, both the big birds flew away.

Ten Out of 28 Districts Report on Results of Work

Incomplete reports from approximately one-third of the workers who are raising funds for the maintenance of the Salvation Army in Escanaba, which had been turned over to the committee up to noon yesterday, showed that $222.07 had been collected by these workers.

There is every reason to believe that, if the workers cover their assignments, the campaign will be successful and that more than a year will elapse before another campaign of this kind is necessary," said the advisory committee.

The seven units of the Parent-Teachers' association in this city have completed all plans for a spring health roundup to be held at the city hall May 1.

An examination of all children in the kindergarten and first grade by physicians, with reports of findings for parents, will compose the greater part of the roundup.

The parents will be notified of the physical condition of their children, and they will be advised to see their family physicians

OWN YOUR OWN HOME FIRST

Building Prospects in City Favorable

Although the building activity this spring has been somewhat slow to get under way, members of the building trade expect that business will pick up about the first of May and will maintain a brisk pace throughout the summer.

During April, the principal building being done was the construction of private garages, small frame dwellings and minor repair jobs. Painters and interior decorators report business as being favorable, and dealers advise there has been a heavy demand for roofing materials. The plumbing trade has been quite busy, and there has been little complaint from that quarter.

Two good-sized gasoline and tourist station construction jobs are to be started within a few days, it is expected. A. F. Villeneuve, proprietor of the West End Cycle Works, which was destroyed by fire several months ago, will erect on the site at the corner of Fourteenth and Ludington streets, a gasoline and oil station and accessories shop. Joseph LaFleur has been granted a permit to erect a gasoline station at Twenty-third and Ludington streets, where the new concrete highway to Gladstone will start. The locating of this new road on Twenty-third street is bound to influence the building of business places and also residences in that section of the city.

Considerable alterations have been made at the National Grocer company's building on Third avenue north to provide quarters for the National Biscuit company. Office rooms have been rearranged and a part of the warehouse has been partitioned off for use of both concerns.

There appears to be a shortage of dwelling houses in Escanaba, and indications are that there will be considerable building of new homes during the summer.

The major building project for the summer is the fairground construction job, which will entail the expenditure of more than $50,000 for a new grandstand, stables, comfort stations and other buildings.

Ohio Republicans Suspect Each Other

Columbus, O., Apr. 20.—(P)—That Willis and Hoover forces are suspecting each other of fraud in next Tuesday's presidential primary, was indicated today in a statement issued from the camp of the latter.

Charges made this week by the Republican state chairman, Fred W. Warner, that frauds were being contemplated in Cincinnati, Cleveland and Toledo, admitted to be Hoover strongholds, were met by a counter-charge from Thad H. Brown, manager of the Hoover campaign, that "this is only a smoke screen to afford an excuse and opportunity for juggling the returns in localities where the anti-Hoover forces are most active."

SERVICE FOR HOME-OWNER AND BUILDER

STANDING HOME IS INSULATED AT SMALL EXPENSE

Most discussion of thermal insulation has to do with the home that is under construction. Those persons who are building homes are told that through the installation of an insulating material greater comfort and lowered fuel bills may be obtained. Little is said about insulation for that home that already is built and occupied.

Yet the owner of the standing home can make use of fuel savings. He is not hostile to the idea of greater comfort in both winter and summer. Can he obtain these things?

Fortunately he can; and he can obtain them with only a small initial outlay of money, and with the assurance that his money will be returned to him in the form of lowered fuel bills; for virtually all standing homes can be insulated.

Heat Lost Through Roof. Heat, as every school child knows, rises. In consequence most heat losses from the average dwelling are upward and through the sidewalls, but not nearly as much as escapes through the roof.

It is not easy to insulate the sidewalls of a standing home, for the simple reason that it is difficult to get into the walls without tearing away a part of the lath and plaster. But insulation under the roofs of most houses is easy as can be, for the attics of most houses are unfinished and the attic joists are exposed.

So, here is what you do to insulate under the roof of the average standing house: You obtain a dry filler of gypsum, or some other material, and you pour this dry filler between the attic joists to a depth of about two inches. The dry filler then will be resting on the lath and plaster of the ceilings of the rooms below, and you will have an insulating blanket over all the top of the quarters of your house.

Where There Is Rough Flooring. If there are rough flooring boards over the attic joists, an occasional board can be removed and the dry fill can be poured in the spaces thus made, and then pushed under the boards that are left in place.

And that's all there is to insulating a standing house. No expensive labor is required, no particular planning and no great outlay of money. It's all simple.

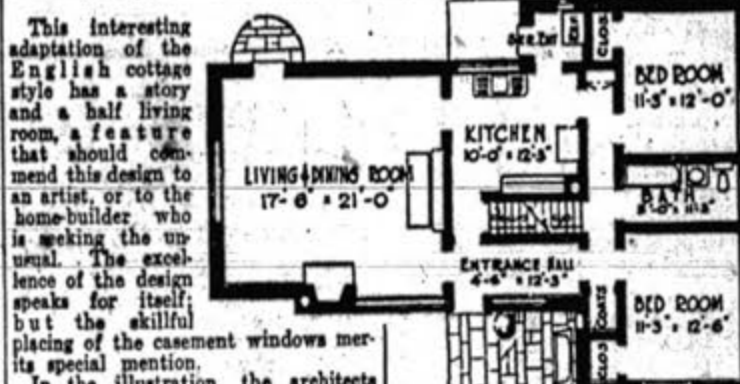

And the insulation will pay dividends in summer as well as in winter, for it will keep the interior of your house cool while the thermometer is sizzling around ninety outside.

The insulation will add fire protection to your house, too; that is, it will if you use a dry-filler of gypsum. A filler of this kind cannot burn, so it acts as a fire-stop over the entire top of your house.

PICTURESQUE OUTSIDE—COZY INSIDE

This interesting adaptation of the English cottage style has a story and a half living room, a bathroom, and a bedroom that should commend this design to an artist, or to the home-builder who is seeking the unusual. The excellence of the design speaks for itself; but the skillful placing of the casement windows merits special mention. In the illustration, the architects have set the house on a slight hill; and there is no doubt but that the house would gain in effect from being so placed. However, a wide suburban lot would provide an adequate setting. You will notice, as you look over the floor plan, that the house, as planned, has no dining room which is quite in line with the current tendency. Architects and building experts some time ago reached the conclusion that a dining room is waste space in the average small home. A wise conclusion; for in a home arranged in the manner of the one shown here the living room is well suited to double duty.

DIMENSIONS: About 49 feet wide, by 31 feet deep, over all.

CONSTRUCTION: Any approved system; wood or steel frame, fire-proofed and insulated; brick, tile, gypsum tile, clay tile, etc.

CLOSETS: One off each bedroom; cloak closet off hall.

EXTERIOR: Stucco of ochre color; exterior woodwork oiled; sash painted blue-green; window sills red brick, laid flat.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES ON HOME PROBLEMS

Question: We notice that there is almost always a draft coming down our front stairway, even when the bedroom doors are closed. Why is this?
Warm air rises. In consequence the warm air in the stair well keeps working to the top, which sends the cool air to the bottom. Apparently your stairway is against an outside wall that is not insulated.

Question: Dust comes up into our houses from the basement. Can this be eliminated?
Yes. Put a ceiling of wallboard in the basement.

Question: Our house is ten years old. Many cracks show in the plaster. Is there any way to eliminate the cracks?
You might try having them patched with any prepared patching plaster the next time you decorate. If the cracks are not too large, and if the plaster is through "settling," patching plaster should correct your difficulty.

Question: Do insurance companies grant a reduction in rates when fire-stopping is used throughout a house?
Not generally, but fire-stopping is valuable to the home-owner none-the-less. The principle of fire-stopping is this: It cuts off the spaces between the studs and joists, and thus makes it impossible for a fire to work rapidly through the building.

Antique plumbing is not like antique furniture

The chest your grandmother left you may be worth thousands—but the plumbing grandfather put in the house is a liability.

Antique plumbing not only does not grow more valuable with age—it pulls down the value of the building it's in.

We're remodeling the plumbing in many homes. It's a job calling for special ability; because, when it's done, the old house is no longer old in the things that really make it habitable. Call us and let's talk about it.

Abner Bangs Organizes New "Equal Rights" Association

Misery Bay, April 21 (To the Editor)—Well, nothing much has happened this week, except one thing of tremendous importance to this community and the nation—the organization of Local No. 1 of the Equal Rights for Men association of Misery Bay. I am the president, secretary and treasurer and we have got five vice presidents of which Andy Skages is two and Nate Hepon the other three.

owes it all to the inspiration of the little woman. Demands Are Filed. In order to balance up things slightly somewhat, I have prepared a set of demands which the Local No. 1, Misery Bay Equal Rights for Men association has promulgatively published. Here they are: 1—We demand that the barber shops have at least one day a month in which a man can get a haircut or a shave without having to listen first to a three-way conversation about where Mrs. So-and-So's husband ever got ahead of money enough to buy her that fur coat.

Names of Flowers. Of you think the women have tried to be fair, take a walk into the flower gardens some day. They have even gave all the most beautiful flowers women's names. There's the little blue ones they named after Violet; the straight faced, head-up ones they named after Lily; and the blushing kind they gave the name of Rose. They wouldn't even consent to let wild orchid be contentedly alone; they had to call it a "Lady slipper. Have you ever heard of them naming some plant the Georgeflower, or a Joseph, or a Jerry? You did not. Oh, to be sure of course certainly, they picked out a funny looking plant and called it a Dutchman's breeches, and a insignificant pale thing they called it a bachelor's button, and a weed they call Jimson, and a mushy, sticky, insipid fruit, all full of seeds, they named the paw-paw.

And what have we been doing about it? Let me informatively tell you. We have been having stag banquets ever and anon at which somebody gets up and proposes a toast to our wives and sweethearts, mothers and sisters—"To the Ladies—God Bless 'em." Did you ever hear of a woman getting up at a woman's banquet and offering a toast to "The Men, God Bless 'em"? You never did. What's more you never will.

Donald Crisp's production for Pathe-DeMille, "Dress Parade," deals with the various activities of a cadet at the United States Military Academy at West Point. The story was written by two graduates of the Academy, being adapted to the screen by Douglas Z. Doty, and it brings to the screen a real picture of the life of a cadet from morning to night.

AT THE STRAND.

Reminiscent of days before the jazz era when talking machines were more common than saxophones, the screen version of "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" will be shown at the Strand Monday and Tuesday.

It is indicated that youthful feet will tap to the melody, old as it is, and besides them, the rheumatic toes of many an elder respond to the lilting song that swept the country twenty years ago—the composition of Maude Nugent, who lives in New York.

In fact, the composer herself was responsible for the selection of Shirley Mason to play the title role. Others in the cast are E. Alyn Walker, as Uncle Ben Shapiro, the Second Avenue warden; the three gilded bunnies, William Conklin, as Brady the Bowery cop and Cullen Landis, as the Park Avenue youth who loves Rosie O'Grady.

IF CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer.

As they have struggled to approach, Chrysler "72" has pulled away and gallops around and past them with more than the ease of the old original Chrysler sensation-car of 1924.

There may be pocket-book reasons for choosing cars of lesser price than the "72." There simply cannot be a valid reason for paying as much or more for any car other than the "72."

FOREST WEEK OPENS TODAY

Observance Is Urged by Child's Welfare Club

Observance in Gladstone in the schools and by individuals of American Forest Week, which opens today and continues through April 28, is urged by the Child's Welfare club of Gladstone as one of the activities sponsored by the Federation of Women's clubs.

The observance recommended is one of programs in the various schools on Forest fire prevention, conservation in general and in addition tree planting programs.

In calling the attention of the observance of this week the Welfare club has asked that the Proclamation of President Coolidge be presented and in addition the six rules for prevention of forest fires, both of which follow:

(American Forest Week, April 23-28, 1928)
BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
A PROCLAMATION.
For several years a special week has been set apart for public discussion of our forests and of what must be done to safeguard and restore them. Among the agencies making progress in this direction, American Forest Week has proved its usefulness and I am glad to proclaim it again and to announce that Canada is again observing a similar week.

The rehabilitation of our forests demands first of all that the forest fire evil be suppressed. Many of the forested States, with the cooperation of timberland owners, have undertaken organized protection against forest fires; and in recent years, under the Clarke-McNary law, the Federal Government has given its support to the movement. This great cooperative enterprise must be extended and strengthened until every forested county in the United States is safeguarded against forest fires.

But we are still from the goal of complete protection. Every year, on the average, 80,000 fires scourge our woodlands, steadily undermining their vitality. For this bad situation, the blame falls equally on us all. Public agencies rarely provide adequate protection against fire, the timberland owner is too often indifferent to his property, the forest worker is too often neglectful of the future forest, the average citizen is too often careless with fire in the woods. We must all gain such respect for the forest that its destruction through indifference or carelessness shall be unthinkable.

We cannot permanently abuse our forests with impunity. The soil is the ultimate source of all our wealth and of life itself. One-fourth of our American soil is best suited for forests. Much of this land is already idle. More of it is being made idle by destructive logging and fire. Yet we cannot safely permit our forest land to lie fallow and useless any more than we can permit our farms and factories to lie idle.

To make our vast empire of forest land fully productive of continuous crops of timber will have momentous consequences in our national life. It will give agriculture the advantage of a new and valuable crop. It will afford permanent employment to millions of men in the forest industries. It will provide raw materials for many of our railroads. It will maintain foreign and domestic commerce. It will restore our forests as conservers of soil and water, and as givers of health and pleasure to our people.

We already have made a beginning in forest renewal; but the task is stupendous, and we should permit no satisfaction over what has been done to blind us to the magnitude of what remains to be done.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate and set aside as American Forest Week the week beginning April 22 and ending April 28, in this year of 1928. I recommend to the Governors of the various States that they also designate this week for special observance of all our people; and that where practicable and not in conflict with law or custom, Arbor Day be observed during the course of the same week. I urge that during that week all citizens and appropriate organizations—including public officials, legislators, business organizations, educators, editors, clergymen, landowners, and others—give thought to the preservation and wise use of our forests, to the end that energetic forest policies will be adopted in all communities.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 24th day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-second.

CALVIN COOLIDGE
By the President:
Frank B. Kellogg
Secretary of State.

FIRE PREVENTION.
Six rules for preventing fires in forests:

- Matches—Be sure your match is out. Break it in two before you throw it away.
- Tobacco—Be sure pipe ashes and cigar or cigaret stubs are dead before throwing them away. Never throw them into brush, leaves or needles.
- Making Camp—Before building a fire scrape away all inflammable material from a spot five feet in diameter. Dig a hole in the center and in it build your fire.

Brush burning—Never burn slash or brush in windy weathre or while there is the slightest danger that the fire will get away.

How to put out a camp fire—Stir the coals while soaking them with water. Turn small sticks and drench both sides. Wet the ground around the fire. If you can't get water, stir in dirt and tread it down until packed tight over and around the fire. Be sure the last spark is dead.

Abandon Hope for Yachters' Safety
Detroit, Apr. 21—(P)—Police of the harbor-master's crew today practically abandoned hope for the safety of Albert Forton, 38, described by his wife as a former Saginaw hotel proprietor, and his companion, Jack Haken, 40, who set out late Wednesday in the latter's 42-foot yacht for the St. Clair flats. Members of the crew who completed a search of Lake St. Clair and the river reports they had found no trace of the boat or its occupants.
A belief that Forton and Haken may have taken refuge in some haven along the lake shore or along the river was weakened when aviators, who flew over the region, reported they also had seen nothing of the yacht or its crew. A storm swept the lake late Wednesday.

DANCE SUNDAY NIGHT
800 HILL LUNDIN'S 6-Piece Orchestra.

Mrs. Forton told police her husband and Haken started to the flats with a small cargo of lumber on the yacht to visit the site where the Fortons planned to build.
