

Mayor John S. Lindsay Urges Escanaba People to Assist Black River Falls Flood Victims.

CITY EXECUTIVE RECEIVES LETTER FROM MAYOR OF STRICKEN WISCONSIN CITY

Issues Public Proclamation to Escanaba of Needs of Fallen City--Residents Respond.

THEATERS WILL GIVE PART OF RECEIPTS

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The citizens of Black River Falls, Wisconsin, have met with dire misfortune through the flood which recently devastated their city, and

WHEREAS, By reason of said misfortune, a great many of the citizens of said city have been reduced to want and are now in destitute circumstances, and

WHEREAS, The Mayor of Black River Falls, J. J. McGillivray, who is the father of Miss Veda McGillivray, former an instructor in the schools of this city, has made an appeal to the citizens of Escanaba for aid in relieving the temporary distress of the citizens of his city, and

WHEREAS, It is represented by him that the school funds of the said city are at a low ebb, and aid will be required in keeping the schools in session, and

WHEREAS, It is considered wise and beneficial that the people of the Public Schools of Escanaba, as well as of all other places, should be encouraged to acts of philanthropy and altruism,

NOW, THEREFORE, As President of the Board of Education of the city of Escanaba, by and with the consent and concurrence of the members of said Board, I request that the children of our schools, make such voluntary contributions to the aid and relief of the sufferers in Black River Falls as they may be able, and as their sympathy for the sufferings of others may prompt them to make.

The instructors in the schools are directed to place this proclamation before their pupils, and to afford them such facilities for making contributions as may be necessary.

N. C. SPENCER,
President of Board of Education.

Business Men Solicited.

To the Members of the Escanaba Business Men's Association:

Mayor John S. Lindsay has asked the association to co-operate with him in raising a fund for the assistance of the citizens of Black River Falls, and as president of the association, I want to say that I am heartily in accord with the movement and urge all the members to do what they can in a financial way. Everyone should give something and I am sure that no more liberal body of men ever existed than we have in this city. Many towns over the country are sending in contributions already and let us send in a sum that will put us in the same class with other cities of this size.

J. E. BYRNS,
President.

Theaters To Give.

Both the Bijou and the Grand theatres are also going to donate a portion of their receipts towards the fund.

Mayor Lindsay says that it will not be expected that any individual will contribute a very large sum of money, but asks that every one give a little. The money may be handed in to any of the banks where a receipt will be given. The money will be forwarded as fast as sufficient sums are turned in to make it worth while and all donations will be published in this paper. Everyone is asked to give what he can.

The merchants of Black River Falls have lost everything. Two thirds of more of the tax roll was represented in the property destroyed. The schools will have to close in a couple of months unless the country at large renders assistance.

Many Cities Furnish Relief.

Already over 100 cities are at work on a relief fund. It is hoped by Mayor Lindsay, that Escanaba will be able to make as good a showing as any other city in the United States of a like size. The cause was never more worthy.

If you cannot afford to give $10, $1.00 or even 50c, will help. Most anyone can give something and the mayor asks that you do your best.

I. C. MEN WALK OUT.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Strength was added to the ranks of the Illinois Central striking members of the Car men's union, when 250 members of the International Car Workers' Union walked out of the Burnside shops. The refusal of the men to work with non-unionists was given as the reason.

PROCLAMATION

Advices from Mayor J. J. McGillivray of Black River Falls, in the state of Wisconsin, conveys the sad intelligence of ruin, disaster and hardship caused by the recent flood. The entire business section, which represented three fourths of the tax roll has been completely wiped out and unless financial aid is received at once from generous people of the United States, the schools must close and the people suffer irreparable loss.

WHEREAS, This being the sad state of affairs, I, the mayor of Escanaba, do respectfully lay the matter before the people of this city, requesting all the citizens, regardless of creed or condition, as well as the different fraternal societies of the community to contribute to the aid of these afflicted people.

Subscriptions may be handed in to any one of the banks in the city. We who live in Escanaba have so much for which to be thankful that it is a duty for us to extend the hand of generosity to our suffering neighbors.

JOHN S. LINDSAY, Mayor.

dustrious people as a whole, and well appreciate to the fullest extent any help, however little it may be, that the people of Escanaba may be inclined to send them."

HAYWARDEN INN
SOLD FOR $8,000

CLANCEY R. DEMPSTER, ONE OF FORMER OWNERS, TAKES BUILDING AT AUCTION.

The Haywarden Inn, Gladstone's large building, and one of the greatest hostleries in the upper peninsula was today sold at the court house at public auction by Court Commissioner C. D. McEwen to Clancey R. Dempster of San Francisco, Calif. Mr. Dempster bid in at $8,000.

In the opinion of real estate men this was a favorable price for the purchaser. The Haywarden Inn occupies an entire city block in the upper bay city and is exceptionally well located. It is one of the most desirable properties in upper Michigan.

Mr. Dempster was one of the former owners and in buying the place takes over the interests of the estate heirs and the Chicago Title and Trust Co.

When asked this morning whether or not he would operate the hotel, Mr. Dempster said that he would not. He remarked that the property was now for sale and suggested that a syndicate of Gladstone business men purchase the place and make a modern summer resort hotel out of it. His business interests elsewhere will not allow of him spending the time here and he said that he was immediately open for offers on the property.

ENTERTAIN FOR NEW CLERGYMAN

REV. AND MRS. KING D. BEACH
GUESTS OF HONOR AT RECEPTION LAST EVENING.

In the basement of the First Methodist church last evening an informal reception was tendered Rev. and Mrs. King Beach. Mr. Beach, the new pastor to succeed Rev. Frederick Spence, who was assigned to Saginaw, was welcomed to the local pastorate by Prof. F. E. King, superintendent of schools and Rev. F. W. Ainslie of the First Baptist church.

Many of the members of the congregation assisted in the welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Beach. Several clergymen of the city attended the reception. A light luncheon was served.

WELLS WILL GIVE BIG SUBSCRIPTION

ESCANABA'S SUBURB COMES TO FRONT WITH OFFERS FOR BLACK RIVER VICTIMS.

The little town of Wells is not going to be at the tail end of the procession at all when it comes to relief work. No sooner had the appeal of Mayor McGillivray been issued for aid, for the people of his city, when the people of Wells started a relief fund, which is growing with great rapidity. One of the big subscriptions will be from the I. Stephenson company, another from the Escanaba & Lake Superior Ry., while the officials of the companies will add more strength to the fund by liberal personal donations. Black River Falls will get some of the assistance that they need and deserve from Delta county.

THOUSANDS WANT BASEBALL TICKETS

(By Associated Press.)

New York, N. Y., Oct. 12.—More than a thousand baseball enthusiasts stormed the New York National league club today to buy tickets to the world's series. Some of those in line took their places at ten o'clock last night. When the doors were opened the policemen were swept off their feet. Hats were lost and many coats were torn off in the mad scramble for tickets.

STATE WANTS $250
SALOON LICENSE

TAX COMMISSION SUGGESTS THIS MUCH IN ADDITION TO LOCAL LICENSE.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 12.—In an exhaustive report covering the present Michigan tax conditions and tentatively recommending the separation of state and local taxes, the inquiry commission into Michigan taxation conditions recommended to Gov. Osborn today that it be allowed to hold public hearings before completing its final report.

In its report today the commission advises the adoption of a "corporate excess" tax for corporations, except all mining companies. It suggests a state tax of $250 on all retail liquor business houses in addition to the $500 local tax and states that such a tax would yield a million dollars revenue annually. It urges the revision of the inheritance tax to make it yield larger revenues and the legislature is asked to amend the constitution to allow the use of the inheritance tax funds for state taxes rather than for primary school funds.

M' NAMARA JURY HAS SERVED FOR YEAR

(By Associated Press.)

Los Angeles, Oct. 12.—After serving ten days less than a year, the grand jury which indicted the McNamara brothers and six others in connection with the wrecking of the Times building will make a final report tomorrow morning and will ask to be discharged, according to an unofficial report that was made public this morning. The officials here are unable to find a record of any grand jury which has served for so long a time. No session was held today.

COUNTY TO BORROW TO MAINTAIN WORK

Before the county board of supervisors adjourned last evening, permission was granted the finance committee to negotiate a loan, sufficient to carry on the office of the county treasurer until the receipts from the annual tax are forthcoming. There is now a total of $6,882.93 in the hands of the treasurer, this being the balance on October 1. It will cost about $18,000 to carry on the work of the county until the taxes begin to come in and this must be borrowed.

ADVISES BOARD OF VETERAN'S DEATH

Judge Emil Glaser today advised the executive board of the State Soldiers' home in Grand Rapids of the death of William Shay, aged 78, whose funeral was held Tuesday afternoon. Shortly following the death of the veteran, came the permit from the home for the entrance of the late Mr. Shay. He had made application shortly before he died for care at the state institution. Judge Glaser notified the board of the death of Mr. Shay and that their action was unnecessary.

GIVE THIRD PARTY ON NEXT MONDAY

The third dancing party this season by the Delta Dancing Club will be given next Monday at Clark's hall. Decorations surpassing those at the second party held a short time ago are to be arranged in the building. Brotherton's orchestra will furnish the music and a full program will occur. The party is expected to be as great a success as previous affairs given by this club.

MENOMINEE STILL ANGERED AT ACTION

BECAUSE LOCAL BOYS ATTEMPTED TO SEE GAME THERE SORE SPORT EXISTS.

The Menominee High school faculty is highly incensed over the action of the two local boys who witnessed the game there last Saturday—or attempted to witness it. The Escanaba team goes out to practice at 3 o'clock every afternoon for the Saturday contest with Menominee on the local grounds. Negotiations are on with a man from Powers to referee the match.

The Menominee Herald-Leader voices its disapproval of the action of the Escanaba boys as follows:

Two boys from Escanaba, who are not football players, but are interested in the result of the game, slipped into Menominee the other day and went to the football field at the fair grounds. The two were watched by a local man and he says they made a

Cobb were stationed at the Ford River switch to watch for the man but failed to appear. It is thought that he will come out of his hiding in a short time as he has no provisions.

Milady's Mirror

How to Grow Old Gracefully.

The real secret of happiness in life is to sow the seeds of cheerfulness early, so that the harvest when gathered may bring serene happiness in old age. Get busy and keep busy is a splendid starting point on the road to cheerfulness. Go to bed thanking the Almighty for the blessings the day has brought and smile as memory reviews some kind act done during the day to lighten another's burden. Perhaps the smile will rest there to greet a new blessing ushered in with the advent of another day.

Throw a smile and a cheery word to your doctor, dentist, minister and tradespeople. They appreciate it immensely. They have to hear the woes of humanity on all sides, and they love and serve you better for the cheer you sow as you go. If one stops to think what a really monotonous life professional people lead, hearing all the woes of selfish humanity, who think of them only when they are in trouble and want to be coddled, it must be a treat for them to meet a really cheerful soul who gives them an unconscious uplift.

Cheer up! Cheer others up! Get the habit firmly fixed upon you and watch the result. Grow old gracefully, gently and cheerfully, and you won't know that you are doing it, nor will any one else.

For Weak Ankles.

If your ankles swell you should look to your shoes, the heels especially, and the support or lack of it for the instep. Choose shoes which fit snugly over the instep and cling closely to the ankle to afford sufficient support. The width should be ample enough to move the toes, the length enough to give the large toe room so that it does not reach the tip by an inch and the vamp long if a short one cramps the foot. Heels should be of medium height. When the heel of the foot is raised to an extreme height the natural arch of the foot is exaggerated, the muscles become strained, and a sharp pain ensues from the spot where the heel of the shoe presses into the flesh.

An excellent exercise for strengthening the ankles is to raise slowly on the tips of the toes and down again. Go to the very tip of the toe, just as far as you can balance yourself. Hold the position on the toes as long as possible, then slowly lower to the floor. Stand erect with the feet placed close together on the floor, hands on hips, head erect and chest out. Wear a brace of metal or rubber to support the foot until the ankles become stronger.

After exposure, and when you feel a cold coming on, take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It checks and relieves. Use no substitute. The genuine in a yellow package always.—For sale by all druggists.

CLAYTON'S CORDIAL

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

When you take a spinster who has got to be forty years old, who has got a large mouth, whose nose tilts up at the end, who has a cast in one eye, who is tall and scrawny and has a limp, you must figure out that her chances of getting married are not more than one in a thousand.

Such a woman was Sarah Clayton of Harpersville. For thirty years she had been the champion homely girl and woman of Bennett county. She realized it, but she couldn't help it. Sarah's father and mother didn't like her looks at all. Some folks were mean enough to say that hastened their end. Sarah had two brothers. They ran away and went west to be killed by the Indians. Some folks say that if Sarah had been a reasonably good looking girl neither brother would have left home. At the age of twenty-eight she was an orphan and brotherless, and, while the property she inherited was enough to give her a comfortable living, it was not enough to bring a husband.

While Sarah realized all the drawbacks, she was not entirely discouraged. She had a belief that something would happen some day, and she didn't go around making herself and other folks miserable. Twelve years came and went and nothing happened, but she was still on the job.

At the state election, with the temperance question as an issue, Bennett county and four others surrounding it went dry—no more of the foamy, no more corn juice.

You can't figure out what this temperance question had to do with Sarah Clayton, who scarcely knew what was going on until Bennett county was as dry as a bone. Well, homely as she was, Sarah understood the man side of human nature very well. She knew there would be an intense longing for the unattainable.

After the temperance movement was in full swing and the pinch was on "Clayton's cordial" appeared. It passed as a soft drink. Some folks said it was cider, some root beer and some thought it came under the head of ginger ale. Whatever it was, it bore the label as above, and it jumped into popularity at once. It filled an aching void. It soothed and comforted. It quenched that longing in the neck. It did more. It saved hundreds of homes on the point of being wrecked. It had got so that not one husband out of twenty in the five counties could speak a decent word to his wife once in three days. And then there were loss of ambition, indigestion, headaches, pains in the stomach and giddiness, and all these things the cordial was warranted to and did drive away in short order.

Sarah made the first fifty bottles with her own hands. Then she had to hire a boy, then she had to hire a man as well, then she had put it on sale at the drug store. Nothing ever made a name for itself as fast as "Clayton's cordial." It could not be made and bottled fast enough to supply orders. Of course the spinster had calls from men who wanted to buy her secret. A dozen in her own town stood ready to pay a good price for it. There were two sorts of men came—married and unmarried. The married men were turned down at once. The secret was not for sale. The unmarried ones were told that the cordial must stay in the family. That wasn't saying right out that no one but a husband would be given the recipe, but the unmarried callers caught on one after another. There was money in that recipe, but there was Sarah behind it—Sarah the homely woman. No, no! It was too much. Sarah understood and did not blame them. Neither was she cast down. She just went right ahead turning out the great and only discovery and supplying other markets, and the orders and dollars kept rolling in.

And one day he came. He was an old bachelor of forty-five. He had spent most of his years in the woods and far from women. He had never even thought of marriage. He wasn't a bad looking man, and he bore a good character. He happened to see Sarah Clayton in the postoffice, and in the jerk of a lamb's tail he was in love. In his eyes she was the most charming woman he had ever seen. She must be his or life would be naught to him. Without having heard of her cordial from any one he followed her home and told his love and gave her half an hour to make up her mind.

"But I am afraid you are actuated by mercenary motives," she said.
"Why, I've got enough to keep us both and am making more all the time."
"But you see I have made a whole lot of money out of my cordial."
"Cordial be hanged! If you have any money use it to buy clothes with."
"And you are not after the recipe?"
"Never had a recipe in my life and don't want one. I want you."
After the marriage Sarah was willing to sell the recipe. When the best offer had been reached she wrote it down:

"Old cider, twenty parts.
"Ginger, two parts.
"Horse-radish, five parts.
"Brandy, seventy-three parts."
"That is all," she said.
"And you've made $5,000 and a husband out of it?"
"Why—why, I think I've done fairly well for a homely old maid!"

Proper Care of the Eyes.

If the wind has reddened the eyelids wash them in slightly salted warm water.

Lotted veils should be tabooed. Even plain ones should not be worn over the eyes except in winter to protect the face from the cold.

When a foreign substance gets into the eye do not irritate it by trying to force it out. Keep the eye closed for a few minutes or until the object is removed by the tears which will flow.

Never rub the eyes, for this practice causes inflammation of the lids, and no matter how beautiful the eyes are, inflamed lids will cause them to be unsightly.

How to Be Beautiful.

Give up tea, coffee, pastry, sweets, chocolate and fancy salads and eat for breakfast only a little brown bread, a bit of fruit and drink plenty of milk. For the rest of the meals use boiled vegetables, green salads, rare done meats, if any, and a beverage confined to milk, which may be used plentifully.

Complexion and texture of the skin will be greatly improved because of the improved stomach and rested nerves. All blemishes of the skin will be removed if the bodily organs are kept in healthy condition. If the nerves are in bad condition, from whatever cause, the surface skin will proclaim the trouble.

A Good Face Wash.

A little borax in witch hazel is a good face wash after motoring and is also of value in so many ways that every woman should have borax and witch hazel on her dressing table. A little bicarbonate of soda and orris root in the bath will be found pleasant.

Sage For the Hair.

Sage tea is a hair tonic as well as a darkener. Make a strong brew of dried leaves, strain the liquid carefully through muslin, and to each pint add two teaspoonfuls of alcohol. This should be rubbed on the hair every night before retiring.

Developing the Arms.

Exercise will develop the arms. Practice with chest weights and dumbbells. Housework is a wonderful arm developer. If you do not perform the actual duties go through imaginary movements, washing, sweeping, window cleaning, etc.

Major League Notes

Jack Hendricks, the successful leader of the Denver champions in the Western league, is spoken of as a possible candidate for the management of the Cincinnati Reds. Jack makes number fifteen that is in the race for the job.

The winners of the world's series will not be allowed to do any barnstorming after the big series is over. This is one of the recent rules that the national commission has promulgated, and it is a good one.

Manager Duffy may have picked another comeback for next season when he got Charlie Hemphill from the New York Highlanders for the waiver price. Hemphill is still young, and has been going along well enough to help out in many a close game next summer.

Herman Schaefer, who has played first for the Senators the last half of the past season, will have to work hard to hold his job there next year. The Washington club has secured Jack Flynn, former Pirate, and Spencer, the class of the Eastern league, to battle for that first corner next spring.

Schulte tried hard to slam out his twenty-third home run, but the best he could do was to get two doubles and a single.

Friday the thirteenth has no terrors for Manager Chance, and he has convinced his men there is no hoodoo in that date for them. If the Sox think the same way the opening game of the city championship will be a real ball contest.

Tub Spencer, the erratic catcher, who quit the Philadelphia National league team because his father handed him $50,000, would hardly have quit for the money if it was not evident to him that he was about through with the national game.

To feel strong, have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life, use Burdock Blood Bitters, the great system, tonic and builder.

With The Fighters

Silvy Feretti, manager of Hugo Kelly, wants some of the star middle weights to defeat Jim Howard before tackling Kelly. There are a dozen middle weights about the country who would make a chopping block of Jimmy. He has a long way to travel yet before he will class with the best boys.

That $22,500 which George McDonald, manager of Matt Wells, offered—on paper—to Ad Wolgast for a ten-round fight with the champion lightweight English boxer was a will-o-the-wisp so far as Tom Jones or Wolgast was concerned. They were unable to grasp it or even any part of it yesterday, the time for the guarantee to be posted.

Eddie McGoorty today signed to meet Jack Dillon at Indianapolis November 1 for ten rounds, middleweight limit.

Mike Gibbons, St. Paul welter weight today signed to box Hillard Laug, Canadian champion, at Winnipeg, October 17, fifteen rounds.

Tommy Burns, former heavy weight champion, and Jimmy Clabby, the Hammond (Ind.) fighter, have left Vancouver, B. C., for Australia. Before departing yesterday Burns stated he intended to revolutionize the dress of the sports in the Antipodes. According to Burns, who has annexed valuable realty here and in Calgary, the sports are anything but Beau Brummels in Australia.

Harry Forbes of Chicago, former bantam champion of the world, and Sammy Kellar, English bantam, boxed ten rounds last night at Cleveland. Forbes had a shade the better.

Haven't You a Job

Of Work for a Want Ad to Do?

It needn't be some task so easy that it will almost do itself. You can entrust it with some errand that is difficult—that only a want ad. can do WELL AND INEXPENSIVELY.

The person who finds jobs for want ads. to do is the sort of chap who looks at you rather quizzically when you try to tell him that business is dull, or that you can't rent that apartment, or office, or store, or house, or that you can't find a position. For, you see, he has gotten into the habit of accomplishing things—which is a habit within the reach of any person with half a will and three-quarters of a purpose.

LARRY AND THE CIRCUS.

"We'll all go together—start early and walk."

They were all talking at once, for it was the noon hour at school and the boys had rushed over to the old barn beside the road, near the schoolhouse, and were gazing with wide eyes at the immense colored posters which had been placed upon its walls during the forenoon. The big circus was to be in the city six miles away about two weeks later, and every boy in the village of Mercer had already set his heart upon going.

Some of the village boys were so excited that they forgot to go home to dinner, but when the first bell rang its warning from a distance who had brought their lunches generously shared the good things in their pails. Before the last bell called them all back to the schoolhouse they were deep in plans for a circus of their own on the following Saturday. It was to be held in the barn at Rich Jordan's home, and if their plans could be carried out there would be a ring performance and a menagerie to be remembered. One of the smaller boys, Larry Brown, had little share in all that was said. The eyes of no boy were brighter or bigger than Larry's when he gazed at the many colored posters on the barn, but his heart was heavy when he realized how unlikely it was that he would be able to see the wonderful circus. He knew well that there was no money to spare. He was earning a little money himself by doing chores at morning and night for a neighbor, but that was being carefully saved for a much needed suit of clothes. So he held himself a little apart when they talked together. But the other boys were able to see and understand more than Larry thought, and after school was over Rich Jordan, Billy Hall, Ben Dexter and some of the older boys talked long and earnestly as they walked home together.

"I'll just be game," Larry decided, and so he made no mention of the circus to his mother. On the following Saturday afternoon Larry strolled slowly over to the Jordan's barn, where great and secret preparations had been going on all the week. He had taken little part in them, for he did not want to think too much about circuses, and he had a feeling that the boys were not taking him into their plans. "You are late!" cried Rich. "We want you."

"Want me?" repeated Larry. "Yes, we want you to be ticket taker and general treasurer of our circus. We are to charge admission this time, and you just stand here at the door and take the money."

Proud to be trusted with so important a duty, Larry gladly did as he was told. His ragged cap took the place of a ticket box, and as there were no tickets every boy who went in—manager, performers, animal trainers—and all—put a few cents or a nickel into the cap. And everybody had a cheerful word for Larry. When all were inside he followed and, keeping a close hold on his cap and its jingling coins, he climbed to a rafter and watched the performance—the tight rope walker, the trapeze-artists, the wonderful trained dog, the clown and the contortionist, who got caught in a barrel and had to have help in getting out. It was all good, and there was great applause, but every little while Larry would think of the real circus which the others were to see and which he was to miss. When it was over they gathered in the ring to count the money which the treasurer had.

"A dollar and seventeen cents," announced Rich, after the third count. Then he cleared his throat and looked round the little group. "Go ahead," said Billy Hall encouragingly.

"Well, Larry," said Rich, "it is this way. We have decided that the proceeds of this circus belong to the treasurer. Kind of a salary, you know. And it is to be used by the treasurer in going to the big circus with us next week."

"Oh, I mustn't take it," stammered Larry. "Yes, you will. It is all settled," declared Rich. "And if there is any left after buying the tickets for the big show and the sideshows and all you can treat the rest of us to peanuts."

Then they gave three cheers for the treasurer, who was so happy he hardly knew whether to cry or laugh: But when he hurried home to tell the great news to his mother he stopped for a moment to study with a new interest the many colored posters on the old barn.—Youth's Companion.

Game of String Line.

With small children a simple game called string line is very popular and is played like this: A string should be stretched across a lawn some six to ten feet from the ground. At intervals along the line small packets of chocolates or sweets should be tied with an inch or two of thread that they may dangle.

The boys and girls should then be blindfolded in turn and, battledore in hand, be spun around three and then told to go and strike at the packet they want to have.

Those Buttercups.

If flowers had a language, As has oftentimes been said, I wonder if the buttercups Would cry aloud for bread?

For the Children

An Alligator's Nest in the Florida Everglades.

Contrary to the general belief, the wild alligator is still to be found in large numbers in the Everglades of Florida. Indeed, the surveying parties of the Florida East Coast railroad extension were more than once attacked by these ferocious beasts. It is seldom, however, that one discovers the nest of an alligator, but recently a naturalist photographer met with such luck, as is shown by the accompanying illustration. There were twenty-three eggs in the nest, which is not a particularly large number, considering that these creatures often lay from thirty to sixty eggs in a single nest. They are similar in shape to an ordinary duck egg and about three inches in length.

Do It Now!

Did you ever know a boy or girl who had the habit of putting off until tomorrow that which could and should be done today? This same boy or girl would be apt to say, "When I'm a man I'll show you what work is!" or, "When I grow to be a woman I'll do this or that, and I'll do it well!"

Suppose this boy should say to his hands, "I'm not going to use you now; you are too small, but in some years from now, when you are grown up and strong enough, I'll put you to good use." When he grew to be a man he would find his hands quite weak from lack of proper use in his youth and useless for work.

You need not wait until you are grown men and women to do the things worth doing. Do what little you can, and do it now, and you will find your hearts and souls and hands grow stronger for the things you will do later.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Dolls in Siam.

Have you ever seen a Siamese girl kiss her doll? Well, you wouldn't know she was kissing it if you were not told, for she kisses it in the same fashion that grownup Siamese kids and that is by touching their noses and drawing in a long breath. It is really funny, particularly as the dolls, except the father and mother dolls, wear no more clothes than the children themselves. The fathers and mothers wear strips of cloth wound round the middle of their bodies, as the real people do. The dolls of the poor people are made of baked mud, but children of rich people have wooden dolls, which look much more like real dolls than the little mud figures.

Leapfrog Not Popular Any More. It is not strange that the old fashioned game of leapfrog has lost much of its popularity with city boys. The sport has been substituted by more active games, particularly baseball, and it is seldom that boys are seen "giving a back," as they used to do in days gone by. Occasionally they will be seen leaping over their comrades by straddling their legs wide apart, but whenever there is a change to get to a baseball ground or to play "one o' cat" leapfrog is relegated.

Enjoyment of Keeping a Diary.

No doubt many boys and girls now keep a diary. Others who do not will find a keen source of pleasure in recording the events of their daily life in this manner. A diary is really a personal history. It can be made both interesting and useful and furnishes splendid practice in writing and composition, as well as training in habits of persistency and accuracy, as a diary, if not faithfully and accurately kept, is useless.

Celebrating Birthdays.

Celebrating birthdays is one of the oldest customs in the world. How many of you know that our first record of it is in Pharaoh's time? The Pentateuch gives graphic accounts of birthday celebrations in honor of the great king.

The Great-Great-Greats.

The portraits of my great-great-greats Hang on the parlor wall. And why I am afraid of them I do not know at all.

They're never cross, they never scold. They never frown at me. They do not lift a finger when I'm naughty as can be.

And one old great he loves to smile Down on me while I play. Although his collar's high enough To choke the smile away.

I guess the reason that I feel So creepy and so queer Must be the way they stare at me Whenever I am near.

For I can't be on the sofa Or the floor or any place That the great-great-greats' big, searching eyes Aren't always on my face! —Youth's Companion.

BANNER FOOTBALL SEASON IS PREDICTED.

McDevitt, Right Tackle on Yale Team.

The 1911 football season will be one of the most important in the history of the gridiron game. Fully 1,000 important games will be played throughout the country, and the game played under the new rules, which make for open play, promises to enjoy its unusual popularity. Three more of the big eastern colleges are trying the graduate coaching system this year—Yale, Princeton and Syracuse. One of the big features of the season will be the meeting of Harvard and Princeton at Princeton, on November 4. They last met 14 years ago, when the Tigers lowered the Crimson colors. Harvard, too, will play the Carlisle Indians at Cambridge this year.

Vall Returns to Badgers.

Rowing Coach Harry Vall asserted the other day he would not return to Harvard. He said he had accepted the proposition of the University of Wisconsin, and will take up his duties as head coach at the Wisconsin institution.

SHELBY M. CULLOM, United States Senator from Illinois.

Goldsmith's Poverty. Goldsmith had to sell his "Vicar of Wakefield," that masterpiece of English fiction, for a comparatively small sum in order to pay his rent. Want often pinched him to the core.

Juries.

Formerly a jury in England who could not agree were sent to prison, and during Queen Elizabeth's reign a banquet was usually given to the jury by the successful litigant.

It will be a specific tax at a rate equal to the average imposed throughout the state for county, township, school, municipal and state purposes.
