AMERICANS HURL ENEMY LINE BACK

J. E. BYRNS CLAIMS RED CROSS THRIVES UPON EMERGENCIES

Has Just Returned From Chicago Where He Went to Get Material to Keep the Local Branch Busy.

MEETS MAN FROM FRONT

Red Cross Is Buying All They Can in Europe to Save Tonnage and Time; Busy at All Times.

J. E. Byrns, who returned last night from Chicago, where he went to purchase supplies for the local Red Cross says that while he was in the city he had the pleasure of meeting Captain Edwyed H. Williams, of Chicago who has just returned from France.

Capt. Williams is in charge of the purchasing department for the Red Cross in France and told Mr. Byrns that the proof of the assertion that the Red Cross thrives on emergencies is found in the way they are meeting the shortage of shipping.

As the space on ships became less and less available for the transportation of Red Cross supplies, it was necessary to buy as much material in Europe as possible.

"The Red Cross buys supplies in France, England and Italy, and will do so in Spain when negotiations are completed, because our government needs every inch of space on ships to transport troops and munitions," he explained. "Everything is bought on a strictly business basis by men specially trained in American industries, working generally without pay."

"Our ability to give relief to Italy when the Austro-Germans suddenly swooped down upon them last autumn is accounted for in this policy of keeping our warehouses in France stocked up. Had we sat down and waited for the time when enough ships would have been available to get all our goods from America the Italians would not have rallied as they did following our relief work."

TEACHER CROP IS GOING TO BE TOO SHORT THIS YEAR

Fred L. Keeler Says There will Be a Shortage of 1,150; Many Teachers Go in Red Cross Service.

OTHER WORK PAYS MORE

High Pay in Other Lines of Work Is What Seems to Be Drawing From the Ranks This Year.

(Special to The Mirror)
Lansing, Mich., Mar. 11.—Michigan will face a shortage of teachers next year, Fred L. Keeler, state superintendent of public instruction predicted today the shortage will be at least twenty per cent of the number engaged this year.

He based this estimate on the fact that graduating classes in normal colleges is one-fifth short. There are approximately 23,000 teachers in the public schools of the state, which means an estimated shortage of 1,150.

To average this situation which is attributed to the war, Keeler urged the boards of education of Michigan to act early in hiring teachers.

"Many school teachers will be drawn into work along other lines at better pay," he said. "Also other states are already offering inducements to Michigan teachers and it is up to Michigan to hold them. Many teachers are planning to go into the Red Cross. The federal government is taking teachers for the many clerical positions which the war has created."

"Such positions pay a salary about twice that of the average school teacher in Michigan. We find that the pay of most teachers is so low that rising costs are forcing them out of the profession."

THE WEATHER

For Escanaba and Vicinity: Probably snow tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight; fresh easterly winds.

Weather Conditions. A cyclonic disturbance of considerable proportions occupies the Rocky Mountain region this morning, the center being in southeastern Montana. Within the last 24 hours it has been attended by snow in the Plateau region and along the Northwest Canadian border. Snow fell also at a few scattered places in the Lake region and along the New England coast. An anti-cyclone dominates the middle Atlantic coast region and temperatures are generally lower in the eastern and northeastern sections.

The eastward movement of the Rocky Mountain disturbance will probably cause snow in this locality tonight and Tuesday. It will be warmer tonight. Temperature at noon 28

SPRINKLER SYSTEM IS GREAT SUCCESS

Small Fire in Flooring Plant at Wells Was Put Out Instantly But Water Damage Great.

Sunday morning at about 2:00 o'clock a small fire must have started near one of the machines in the flooring factory of the I. Stephenson company at Wells. At least there are indications that there was a small blaze in fact just enough blaze to "shoot off" the sprinkler system with which the factory is equipped. A very large area of factory is unfit for use today and the plant cannot be operated until the belting and machinery is dry again.

The Evening Newspaper

The evening newspaper is edited to suit the reading need of the people—it is "popular." It preaches less than it entertains, and thus it wins the LIKING as WELL as the RESPECT of its readers. A likable paper is a good advertising medium and unlikeable one is not. Good advertising is "likable" reading because it fits in with the mood of both the paper and the readers.

Two simultaneous raids, one northwest and one northeast of (deleted) were made after intense artillery preparations for several hours, in which the German positions were shelled.

At night two small forces of (deleted) with a small French force on their flank moved on the objective, creeping behind in a front of 600 yards. The enemy was reached and was being pushed back to their positions.

The Americans dropped the enemy trenches, exposing the hand fight, but found the fled. They continued their advance as they went forward to the line.

All the time the American machine guns were firing on a flank to prevent the Germans from undertaking attacks on either of the flanks.

Two wounded Germans were found by the French party. The Americans found none.

The Americans remained for 45 minutes in the enemy line. They found excellent concrete dugouts which they blew up and also brought back large quantities of ammunition. While they were in the enemy lines the Germans began a counter barrage, but this was quickly silenced by the American artillery. Gas bombs were used with frequency.

ALL FACE ONE WAY.

In spite of the sadness and horror kindled by the war, there is a mysterious peace and happiness in all our hearts. We wonder why we are not together discouraged and broken-spirited over that "frightfulness" of which our daily papers are so full...

I ask me what my war aims are. I ask M. Clemenceau, the new president of France. "My aim is to be laconic, but pointedly speaking for the immediate hour. Nothing is more important than victory."

The heart of America is touched by the simple eloquence of the unnamed French officer who paid the tribute of his country to our heroic sons who were first to die for freedom on the soil of France.

The Whistler statue, which the late Auguste Rodin of Paris was to make in triplicate for Paris, London and Lowell, has been completed at his death, but cannot be cast in bronze because of the impossibility of procuring metal during the war.

FOOD YOU NEED FOR CONSERVATION Grape-Nuts Saves Sugar, Milk, Fuel. Unique among prepared cereals.

What Dan Reed of U. S. Food Commission to France Told 5,000 People At Two Big Overflow Meetings At Flint.

Our boys are in sunny France, but they are not in the sunny part of France.

The fact that our boys are over there fighting for us places a responsibility on us that we must meet or be branded as traitors.

The thought that clings to me—the one that I can't shake off—is a little phrase of our guide who, time and again pointing out a few scattered bricks or a piece of curb, said "There was a town."

When the day air raiders come, the little children, playing in the street, look up and then run for cover, for all the world like little chickens when the hawk appears.

The shell that hits you never hears. The Germans will never take Verdun.

Over here in America we don't yet know the fundamental principles of patriotism. We haven't yet realized that we've got a country that is worth fighting for.

Germany is spending $500,000 a month in Switzerland alone to try and make you think as they want you to think.

Tonight you people must become apostles to saving and thrift to the end that we will back those boys over there to the limit.

Herbert Hoover is loved and admired in Belgium. They know him over there.

And now the time has come when we must say to the Hun: "Take your bloody hands off the throats of women and children and keep them off."

To you people my message is that the blood of our soldiers will be on your hands unless you save and conserve the food—the wheat and the fats—that is necessary to feed our boys over there.

When America told the people of France that we would send 20,000 aeroplanes and a million men over there they believed it; they believe implicitly in what we have said to them and we've got to make good.

If it takes five years to get our 100,000,000 people into this war and behind our soldiers, ready to strike one blow as a unit, it will take that long to win the war, and our boys in the high school today will be in it before it's over.

The time has come when we can call ourselves a nation; when the man who refuses to line up and support the government and the things we are standing for will be taken out and shot.

The soldiers of America and France are farming behind the lines in France during their rest periods, to supply the food that is needed for them to eat, while the farmers in this country are quibbling over the price of wheat before they raise it. It takes 43 trainloads of food a day to supply our boys over there.

A finer group of men I've never seen in uniform than our boys in France. This talk about them not living straight comes from Germany. They are many per cent better men than the best young men in our communities at home.

We will be proud of our boys over there and what they are doing for their country and my hope is that when they come back they will be as proud of the people over here.

HELP OLD AND FEEBLE

During that fighting in the outskirts of the village of Masnières, British Tommies stopped to help remove the old and feeble and the youngsters from the range of fire. In this British official photograph an old blind lady is being led down the steps from her home with tender care.

Rat Population. The United States public health service estimates that the number of rats living under normal conditions in our cities equals the human population, but that in country districts they are relatively three or four times as numerous.

Carbide. It is said that Norway, with its cheap water power, is the chief source of the carbide—a combination of carbon with metal—used in European countries.

Military Training For Schoolma'ams Planned by M. A. C.

Women Will Have to Coach High School Boys According to the New Law; Men Are Scarce.

East Lansing, Mich., March 11.—"No powdering noses in the ranks!" "Private Tillie Jones, take those hairpins out of your mouth!" "Private Amelia Smith, eyes front! This is not a flirting bee!"

Orders like these, aimed at long lines of fair "cadettes," will be thundered out ere long on the campus of M. A. C., where plans have been completed for the instruction of schoolma'ams and masters of the state in military drill. The course will be offered as a new feature of the M. A. C. summer school, commencing on June 24.

Under a law now operative in Michigan, instruction of high school pupils in the fundamentals of the military calling has become permissible, but it has been found that owing to the lack of competent drill masters, only a few high school corps have been organized. The course planned by M. A. C. will enable teachers to fit themselves for this new duty.

RAPID RIVER MAN CUTS 3 FINGERS ON WOOD SAW

Assisting in sawing wood with a buzz saw last Saturday was the cause of Walter Darrow, of Rapid River, meeting with an accident in which he nearly lost a hand. As it was, three fingers were badly cut, though none severed.

He was throwing the wood away from the machine and got a little careless in reaching back for another block after dispatching one, his hand dropped onto the saw. He came to Escanaba and had Dr. Laing dress the injured members.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

officers have been unable to find places for outdoor work. The sun makes conditions worse by thawing the ground. There seems no limit to the depth of the mud.

Combat and supply wagons are often stuck in soupy roads and extra spans of mules are being hitched to all loaded vehicles. Few motor trucks venture from the paved ways.

Inside the barracks men had their physical exercises and as much drilling as possible.

Conditions at camp are expected to be greatly improved within the next week or so, according to progress of the mud battalion.

Year after year since 1851 the Western Union Telegraph Co. has gone ahead, growing in scope and public usefulness. Now it uses one million, five hundred thousand miles of wire—goes into twenty-six thousand cities, towns and hamlets—and gives work to fifty thousand employees.

Today under war conditions, thousands of our boys in khaki are safer, happier, better clothed, better housed and better equipped because there is such a thing as a world-wide telegraph system.

NEGAUNEE ADOPTS DAYLIGHT SAVING SYSTEM FOR 1918

Council Has Decided That It Is a Very Good Thing and It Will Start There On April 1.

Setting the clocks ahead one hour on April 1, following out the so-called daylight saving plan of last year was decided on by the Negaunee city council at its meeting Friday night. The change will be made one month earlier than last year, and the advanced time and continue until October 27.

Election day will fall on April 1, the day decided on for setting the clocks ahead, but according to state law, elections must be held under standard time, so that the polls will open and close one hour later, according to Negaunee clocks, than one hour specified by law.

Striking Designs On Liberty Loan Posters Best Ever Attempted

Washington, Mar. 11.—Posters proclaiming the Third Liberty Loan in striking phrases and colorful designs—nine million of them in more than a dozen styles—now are being distributed to every city and hamlet of the United States.

They are the silent agents of the bonds, and their preparation has taken months of planning and careful choosing. Hardly had the Second Liberty Loan campaign closed before the country's foremost artists and designers were invited to go to work on posters for the third loan.

The result is a collection of striking posters, considered artistically and psychologically better than any yet attempted in the two previous loan drives. Soon there will be familiar sights in store windows, on bill boards, and all public places.

In addition, five million window stickers, 50,000,000 poster stamps, and 35,000,000 badges have been ordered and will be ready for the opening day of the campaign.

Some of the designers of the Liberty Loan posters are Howard Chandler Christy, Joseph Pennell, J. C. Leyendecker, Sydney Riesenberg, Herbert Paus, Henry Raleigh and Sydney S. Stern. All contributed their work without pay, and scores of other artists submitted designs which were reluctantly rejected. Popular appeal was considered carefully in the final choice.

"We must reach all kinds and classes of persons," Treasury officials reminded themselves continually. They hope to grip the heart-strings—and equally the purse strings—of the young and old, the city and country bred, the native American and the adopted alien.

Jewish Armies Conscripted

On the approach of an enemy the Jewish army was recruited by a conscription made from the tribes under the direction of a muster-master, by whom also the officers were appointed. The army was divided into thousands and hundreds under their respective captains (Numbers 31; 20:14; Numbers 2:34; II Chronicles 25:5; 28:12).

The True and the False.

The president of a bank, when asked by a young clerk how he could distinguish the counterfeit bills from the good, said: "Get familiar with the good bills, and you will recognize the bad bills at sight." Here is a vast volume of general wisdom summed up in a single sentence.—Christian Herald.

Keep Track of Expenses.

It's a good thing to keep right account of the expenditures. Some business concerns have a cost account for every line of the business. This avoids that consuming, non-responsible gulf called general expense or sundries. It makes every head of department responsible for every penny used. It's not tightness, it's just business. And when you know that every item is down for accounting you are not likely to be careless in your expenditures. When you take the time to look over expenses carefully before you make them, fewer entries will be made. It's the unwatched outgo that puts the drain on the family purse.—Exchange.

Flanders Always in Limelight.

No part of Europe has a more romantic or a more militant history than that stretch of land between Calais and the Scheldt over which the counts of Flanders held sway for hundreds of years. There is, indeed no century in the Christian era in which Flanders has not figured in the world's history of peace and war. Even as far back as the first century when it formed part of the Roman province of Belgica Secunda this region was distinguished for its industrial towns, which were remarkable for their large populations and democratic rule.

WAR RECIPES

POTATO BREAD.

Many people have asked for a special recipe for potato bread. The following recipe for potato bread has been so made as to use a large amount of potatoes as compared with flour. Excellent bread can be made with less potato. In using this recipe it should be remembered that a pound of mashed potato is about equivalent for the purpose, to a cup of wheat flour.

Straight Dough Method.
(4 one-pound loaves.)

4 C potatoes (mashed fine)
5 C bread flour
2 cake compressed yeast, or 1 cake dry yeast, or 1 cup liquid yeast
2 t salt
1 T sugar
3 T water (omit if liquid yeast is used)

Clean thoroughly and boil, without paring, nine potatoes of medium size, allowing them to become very soft. Pour off the water, peel and mash the potatoes while hot, being careful to leave no lumps. Take 4 solidly packed half-pint cups of mashed potato, and when cooled to the temperature of lukewarm water, add to it the yeast, rubbed smooth with tablespoons of lukewarm water. Rinse the cup in which the yeast was mixed with another tablespoon of water and add to the potato. If dry yeast is used let it stand until morning. Next add the salt, the sugar and 1 cupful of the flour, sifted. Mix thoroughly. Set in a warm place and let rise until very light; this will take about two hours. When very light add the remainder of the flour, kneading thoroughly, until a smooth and elastic dough has been formed. Add more flour if necessary to form a hard loaf. (If moist potatoes are used, more flour must be kneaded into the dough at this stage.) The dough must be very stiff, since the boiled potato contains a large amount of water, which causes the dough to soften as it ferments. Set back to rise until it has tripled in volume, which will require another hour or two. Divide the dough into four parts, mold them separately, and place in greased pans which have been warmed slightly. Allow the loaves to rise until they have doubled in volume and bake for 45 minutes. (If liquid yeast is used more flour will be needed.)

Tomato Aspic.

2 cups strained tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons granulated gelatine
Heat tomato, strain and add salt and sugar. Dissolve gelatine in cold water and mix with tomato. Pour into small cups and chill. Serve on lettuce leaves with salad dressing.

Tomato Sauce.

Use tomato juice, strained or not, according to preference. Instead of milk use cream and white sauce.

Lima Beans and Tomatoes.

2 cups green lima beans, or 1 cup dried ones soaked overnight
2 tablespoons fat
Slice onion
1/2 cup tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt

EUROPE NEEDS FOOD

Food Administration Declares It is an Absolute Sin to Waste Food—Food Has Become Sacred.

Europe is still sending an insistent call for more food. We must send it if the war is to go on efficiently. If we eat it all we cannot ship it, and the food administration has already tried to picture how much that wheat is needed by people who will starve if they do not get it, the food administration states.

"For the least bit of heedlessness on your part in food conservation some one somewhere in the world must suffer privation," an official statement declares. "The food administration has mastered the problem of America's food in such a way that every ounce of food conserved and kept in the currents of trade goes to an empty stomach in Europe.

"It is an absolute sin to waste food. Food has become sacred.

"Food means life; it means somebody's life, and you cannot escape responsibility.

"There is no waste of food among the allied nations."

USE FOR UNTILLABLE LANDS

Rough Spots Often Can Be Made Profitable as Pastures—Use Other Parts of Farm, Too.

There are often to be found on farms of any extent rough, untillable lands that cannot be used to advantage in crop production and that could be used profitably for grazing purposes, but the idea that this class of land only should be used for pasture is not correct.

The commission has also ruled that during March and April of every year, carp and suckers may be taken in running streams provided an artificial light is used.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SHERM'S DOTS

THE DOTS SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

Dear Folks:—Here we are three days out and haven't seen a submarine yet. However, we have sighted a few sailing vessels, which proves that the Germans have not sunk all the shipping on the high seas. The officers keep us pretty busy, I suppose to keep us from getting stale. Of course, we miss the likes, but you understand that on a crowded transport there isn't much room to run around. But these officers seem to know their business, and as long as we can't get out on the road and do ten or twenty miles, they do the next best thing. They line us up in the morning, and then for twenty minutes we do this.

To complete the picture, draw a line from dot 1 to dot 2 then from dot 2 to dot 3, and so on.

WINS AND LOSES ARGUMENT

Persistent Irishman Bragging of Lighting Pipe With Last Match, Puts It Out With Oratory.

Philosophy may be a wonderful thing for the classroom, but there's an Irish foreman on the subway work who will tell you in emphatic subway vernacular that it is wasted in construction work, musing a New York correspondent. It was after the dinner period when the foreman crammed his little old joy box full of tobacco and reached in his pocket for a match. There was none there. A canvass of his crew revealed one box of matches—the kind that occasionally light. There were just seven matches in the box, and the foreman knew that he must get a light or do without his dessert. Carefully he shielded the first match with his coat as he struck. It fizzled. The second failed to give a spark. The third and fourth were, equally futile, and the fifth and sixth sputtered only long enough to wring forth profane protests from the foreman. With excessive care he drew the seventh from the box. To his delight it blazed up strong and, with a gratified grunt, he lit his pipe.

"I was afraid I wasn't going to get the light at all," he told his men. "That all goes to show that persistence is the thing, boys; stick to it is my motto. You see, if I had got mad" (and he gestured with his pipe to show what he meant), "I wouldn't have been smoking now from the best little pipe in the world. Take it from me, boys, you'll always win out if you follow me." And then, while the crew sniggered merrily, he put his pipe back in his mouth to discover that it was out.

One Thousand Miles From Land.

It is possible for a ship to reach a point in the ocean where it is 1,000 miles from land in any direction. In fact, this can be done at several points. By leaving San Francisco or Vancouver and sailing into the North Pacific a spot is reached where there is no land, not even an islet, for a thousand miles in any direction. So, too, sailing from the southern point of ancient Kamchatka southeastwards, a ship will reach a point more than a thousand miles from land, the nearest to the north being the Aleutian islands, and to the south the Sandwich islands, or Hawaii. In the southern Indian ocean it is possible to sail a thousand miles out from the southern points of Australia and New Zealand, and still be as far away from any other land; and the same may be done in a westerly direction from Cape Horn.

They Fooled 'Em.

"Did anyone discover that you were a bride and groom on your honeymoon trip?" "No; we fooled everyone. Instead of calling each other by our first names, I called Jim Mr. Black and he called me Miss Kinky, just as we did before we were even engaged. We were just as formal with each other as strangers should be."—Detroit Free Press.
