

R-34 CALLS FOR AID

ESCANABA'S FOURTH A RECORD ONE

Thousands Witness the Execution of Big Program.

Escanaba entered upon the period of readjustment to a peace-time celebration yesterday with the consciousness of having accomplished extraordinary things before rain brought a temporary halt to the lengthy program. Under an eleventh hour pressure calculated to enlist to the utmost the skill and energy of its populace, Escanaba had its first "really and truly" July 4th celebration.

The observance yesterday was doubly significant—it marked the anniversary of the declaration of independence of the United States and it was in climax to the signing of peace after the worst war in the history of the world, and not the situation recalled in Kipling's sketch—

"The son of man goes forth to war,
A golden crown to gain;
His blood-red banner streams afar—
Who follows in his train?"

From the time the parade formed on Wells avenue and marched to Norris, and thence east on Ludington street, until the exercises at the Ludington park were completed in the forenoon, the wheel was kept turning. After the noon hour, the wheel started turning once more and didn't stop until about 10 o'clock at night.

The parade was a good one, but many floats that it had been planned to form in line, failed to get in readiness in time. Particularly true was this of the Birdseye Veneer company float, one of the prettiest to be arranged for the parade.

Woodmen Band Here.
The 89th regimental band, Woodmen of the World, headquarters at Manistique, led the line of march to the city park after the Escanaba Military band had taken the lead a great part of the distance.

At the park the band opened with music, followed by the opening prayer by the Rev. Frank H. Cookson of the First Methodist church. A quartet, composed of Frank Hrn, Roy Olson, B. Dwyer and Ben Chatfield gave some splendid songs, being called back for encores repeatedly.

The oration of the day, given by the Hon. George F. Tucker, of Marquette, was one of the best talks ever to be given here and was particularly fitting in view of the recent labor disturbances and the grip of bolshevism on the world. He was followed by Attorney T. J. Riley who read the Declaration of Independence. The Rev. Oscar F. Polln gave the benediction in conclusion.

Thousands at Park.
It is estimated that fully 5,000 people were at the park in the forenoon and that nearly 2,000 persons witnessed the boxing contests on the raft directly off the shore near the bath house. These stunts were staged after the evening meal hour, two bouts being put on for the benefit of the fans.

A rain about 3 o'clock in the afternoon put a halt to carrying out part of the program, including the ball game at South Park.

The water fight, scheduled for 8:30 o'clock, was not staged until nearly 9 o'clock, but it proved so interesting that many people, including youngsters who climbed on a billboard, ventured so near the scene that they were drenched. At one time it was feared the large window in the Henry Norman building would be broken by the heavy stream, but it was quickly turned back into the street.

Best in City's History.
All in all, Escanaba yesterday witnessed the best celebration in all its history. Practically every part of the program was carried out to the letter and prizes amply were distributed, not alone to boys, but to men and women as well. Much credit is due to every committee member who worked to carry out the program and to the committee on arrangements which worked without stint of time.

Miss Marion Arnold, Miss Irene Douglas, Miss Hildred Kempe, Roger Vanshaw, Philip Jacobs and Neil Peyton motored to Spread, Eagle yesterday where they spent the day.

HINDENBURG SAYS HE IS RESPONSIBLE

Field Marshal Is Late German to Ask War Horrors Blame.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
London, July 5.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, former chief of the German staff, declares that he is responsible for the acts of the German main headquarters since August, 1916, and also the proclamations of Emperor William concerning the waging of warfare.

He asks President Ebert of Germany to inform the allies to this effect, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company.

Would Make Reparations.
Paris, July 5.—Germany has indicated her desire to begin immediately her compliance with terms of the peace treaty regarding reparations. Her request for oral conferences of German economic experts with allied experts has been granted by the allies.

The conferences will be begun early next week, according to present indications.

A permanent reparations commission has not yet been appointed by the allies. Until it is constituted the commission which had been created to name various conference commissions will act in the German negotiations. The American member of this commission is John Foster Dulles. The fact that these negotiations will be personal marks a new status of relations between Germany and the allies.

Restore Monarchy? German Party in War Declaration

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
London, July 5.—The German conservative party has issued a proclamation signed by Ernst von Heytebrand, the party's leader in the Reichstag, stating that the party "declares war on the government and intends to use its whole strength to restore the monarchy" according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company.

2 VESSELS RUSHED TO ASSISTANCE

Balloon Runs Low On Fuel, Report to Admiralty.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Halifax, July 5.—The R-34 was still proceeding under her own power at 2:15 p. m., according to wireless messages received here. She passed over Maitland, headed for the basin of Minas, according to telephone advices. Maitland is 53 miles northwest of Halifax at the head of the basin of Minas, which is a tributary to the Bay of Fundy.

Boston, July 5.—The navy converted yacht 'Satilla' sailed this afternoon from Machias Bay, Maine, to the assistance of the R-34. It is thought she will come up with the dirigible about 5 o'clock.

The destroyers Kalk and Belard are being made ready at Boston navy yard and will proceed to the Bay of Fundy if they can get under way in time to be of assistance.

Washington, July 5.—Two American destroyers were ordered today to proceed toward the Bay of Fundy to lend any required assistance to the British dirigible R-34, which reported that she was fighting a head wind over Nova Scotia with her fuel supply getting low.

The destroyers were put out from Boston with orders to establish radio communication with the dirigible as quickly as possible and also to keep in touch with the Otter Cliff main wireless station.

Halifax, July 5.—Admiralty officials here believed at noon today that the R-34 was picking her way slowly in a dense fog off Nova Scotia coast. The visibility was reported to be as low as 3 miles in the immediate vicinity of this port.

Washington, July 5.—Almost out of fuel after her long run from East Fortune, Scotland, the British dirigible R-34 asked the navy department this afternoon whether destroyers were being sent to her assistance. The message was received at 1:50 p. m. and when sent the R-34 was still over Nova Scotia.

The position given by the R-34 shows her to be over Minas basin, a branch of the Bay of Fundy on the northwest coast of Nova Scotia. The port is considerably farther north and west than naval officers had thought the R-34 to be.

Halifax, July 5.—A wireless message received by the admiralty office here at 12:30 o'clock stated the R-34 was at the south end of the Bay of Fundy between Yarmouth and the Grand Manan.

Halifax, July 5.—The admiralty station here was informed by wireless at 10:30 o'clock this morning, local time, that the R-34 was between Halifax and Canso. Her exact position was not given. The dirigible reported "all well."

Wires For Assistance.
Washington, July 5.—The British dirigible R-34 has asked the navy department if an American destroyer could meet her at the Bay of Fundy and take her in tow if desired.

The message was received at the department at 11 o'clock this morning, five minutes after one had been addressed to the British admiralty reported that the R-34's fuel supply was getting low. The ship was then flying

Wells Furnishes Lumber for Bout Held At Toledo

Delta county had more than usual interest in the big boxing contest at Toledo yesterday when Jess Willard lost the heavyweight title of the world.

Much of the hemlock lumber in the construction of the arena was purchased from the I. Stephenson company at Wells. Orders for the lumber were received some time ago but few people knew that it was to be used in the big arena.

$10,000 A WEEK OFFER TO DEMPSEY

New Champion Probably Will Go On Stage For Tour.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Toledo, O., July 5.—There was a difference of 56 pounds in the weights of Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey when they entered the ring for the heavyweight championship contest yesterday.

This was revealed today when all camouflage was stripped, from Dempsey's weight question. The new champion weighed 187 pounds, while Willard scaled 243 pounds at ringside.

Winning the world's championship had no effect on Dempsey today. He acted as if he knew it was coming to him and he exhibited not the slightest surprise. He was out of bed at 6 a. m., motored to his training camp for a visit with friends at the Maumee Bay shore district, and then returned to his hotel quarters in Toledo.

Dempsey expects to remain here until he leaves to accept theatrical work which probably will occupy his attention for the next six months. The new champion has secured a score of offerings and expects to accept one of them.

One offer of $10,000 a week for 12 weeks was made him and it appears likely he will accept.

(NOTE.—The story of the fight by rounds will be found on another page of today's issue of the Mirror. Dempsey scored the most decisive victory ever recorded in the history of heavyweight championship, Willard refusing to leave his corner when the gong for the fourth round was sounded, having been beaten so badly he was too exhausted to continue the fight.)

LARGE FURNITURE STORE PURCHASED BY 3 YOUNG MEN

J. B. Wilkinson Retires and His Business Is Sold to the Anderson-Buchanan Co.

Final papers were drawn up late Thursday whereby C. Arthur Anderson, Frank X. Buchanan and Joseph L. Buchanan, all three Escanaba young men who served in the army and navy during the recent war, became owners of the J. B. Wilkinson undertaking and furniture establishment on the third floor of the Fair store.

The new firm will be known as the Anderson-Buchanan company and will conduct the store along the lines of the previous owner, J. B. Wilkinson, who built up one of the most prosperous and stable business houses in the city. The retirement of Mr. Wilkinson brings to an end a service of 21 years in which he built up the present business here and 12 years of service in a similar institution of this city where he saw a future for himself and grasped it. His plans for the future have not been known. For the next six months, however, he will take a long deserved rest.

In the Buchanan brothers and Mr. Anderson the public will deal with three of the most promising young men of the city who are deserving of support. They have taken over a splendid business that will need all their attention to attain success such as established by Mr. Wilkinson.

All three men are particularly fitted for the work in the establishment. In addition to being a licensed embalmer, Mr. Anderson is a practical furniture man and upholsterer. Both the Buchanan brothers are licensed embalmers in the state of Michigan as well as Wisconsin. They worked for a large concern in Milwaukee previous to going into military service.

Eagles' Picnic To Be Held on Sunday at Flat Rock Grove

With about a dozen entries for the horse races, the Eagles are ready to stage their annual picnic tomorrow at Flat Rock grove. Rain yesterday halted plans for one of the banner picnics in the history of the organization.

Two Norway horses and one from Yulcan, as well as three from Schaffer were held over for the Sunday races. Other horses entered are from Escanaba, Flat Rock and Gladstone. The first heat had been run yesterday when rain fell and checked further racing.

The farmers' race, which includes hitching and driving another man's horse, will be a feature. In the farmers' trade horse race, the last horse across the line will be declared the winner. Inasmuch as each driver will have another fan's horse, each will make an effort to drive the other fellow's horse across the line first.

Many specialties have been arranged for the picnic tomorrow and Johnson's orchestra has been engaged. Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

Elks Prepared to Open Big Campaign

Fifteen hundred letters have been sent into the county by the Elks in an appeal for support of their campaign to procure the Delta county quota of the Salvation Army home service fund. The presentation was made Brigadier General Smith of the Salvation Army, on behalf of Marshal Pétain of France. "Ma" Burdick is probably the most widely known Salvation Army worker in the country today.

Only Returns On Fight Furnished at Mirror Office

The Mirror was the only newspaper in Delta county to furnish the returns of the big championship boxing contest at Toledo, O., for the benefit of boxing fans here. The Mirror office was crowded from 3:30 o'clock until the final returns came in, shortly after 5 o'clock.

The Mirror scored a distinctive beat yesterday in its service as a "home paper," a service that is recognized by people who know the Mirror force is "on the job" at all times.

The Mirror is a servant of the people and lived up to its reputation yesterday.

Rain Halts Plans For Baseball Game

Nahma's crack ball club didn't get a chance yesterday to get even with the Escanaba club for rain fell heavily shortly before the game was scheduled to start that the management here decided to refund tickets. Whether a game will be scheduled with Nahma again later in the season, has not been decided. Some good contests are slated to be played here soon, however, according to Manager Sharp.

Motorcycle Speed Kings Are Signed

Races of international fame will be brought here July 20 to race on motorcycles at the Fair grounds, it was definitely decided late yesterday when (Peast) Villemure, promoter here, received contracts for two of the best boys in the game.

Ralph Hepburn, 200-miles international champion, will ride a Harley-Davidson, and "shrimp" Burns, the only 110-pounder in the game who can a 4-valve machine wide open also has been signed. The two men raced yesterday with a view to make arrangements to take part in the race. Johnnie Seymour, champion of the peninsula, declared he did not fear the two outsiders signed so far but admitted he would have to race more carefully to beat them.

Under present plans, the race will be conducted according to association rules, incurring additional expense to bring officials to this city.

Dempsey Champion; Jesse Quits in Third

Ringside Arena, Bayview Park, Toledo, Ohio, July 4.—Jack Dempsey is the new heavyweight champion of the world.

It took only three rounds this afternoon for him to deal out to Jess Willard the worst beating that a heavyweight king has ever suffered in pugilistic history.

After the third round was over Jess Willard practically collapsed in his corner and a few seconds later his handlers tossed in a towel as a token of defeat.

For ten minutes after Willard quit he was unable to leave the ring or move from his chair. He was seized with fits of nausea and a doctor was rushed to his dressing room when he left the ring.

Willard never landed a solid blow on Dempsey throughout the three rounds, whereas Dempsey whipped Willard so badly that his face resembled a pound beefsteak. His right eye was closed, his left eye gashed and his lips were bleeding. His stomach was one splash of red from Dempsey's pounding.

Willard Saved By Bell. Willard was saved from defeat in the first round after suffering a knock-out. The bell alone kept him champion for seven minutes longer. He was knocked down five times and then Dempsey smashed a left to the jaw and dropped him for the sixth time.

Ollie Pecord, the referee, stood over Willard and counted. He seemed to have completed it and waved Dempsey back to his corner. The ringside crowd figured it meant that Dempsey was the victor and it broke into the wildest cheer that ever was heard at a ringside. The crowd in the reserved seats surged forward and those around the ringside attempted to get through the ropes and embrace Dempsey.

Pecord drove them back and then signaled that the fight had not ended—that his count had not been completed. Hardly had the climbing spectators been chased back when the second round began.

Keeps Willard Going. Dempsey at once renewed his bombardment of Willard's head and body and had him on the ropes repeatedly in the second round. It was obvious that Dempsey could finish Willard in a short time.

The Utah youngster played it carefully and toward the last part of the second devoted himself merely to making Willard more groggy. He had the champion in a bad way at the end of the second.

Willard attempted a rally at the beginning of the third, but failed. Dempsey knocked him to the ropes twice and bombarded his head and body with a volley of lefts and rights.

Willard seemed to be on the point of dropping to the canvas when the third bell rang.

The battered and broken giant staggered to his corner and collapsed in his chair. A few seconds later he told his handlers he had enough and they tossed into the ring the towel that meant First Round.

the end of the pugilistic career of Jess Willard.

The Dempsey crowd went crazy, assuming that Dempsey had knocked out Willard in the first round.

The crowd surged forward while Willard was being led to his corner and broke into wild cheers for Dempsey. Then above the tumult of the fight was not over but that Dempsey had been sent back to his corner as the round had ended. Willard had to be assisted back to his corner.

Second Round. Dempsey opened with a vicious attack and drove Willard around the ring again. He had him on the ropes thirty seconds later with a right to the head and a left to the jaw.

He closed Willard's right eye. Willard clinched repeatedly to save himself and the referee was forced to break constantly. Dempsey drove Willard to the ropes three times in succession and was pounding his head and body when the round ended.

Third Round. Dempsey drove a left to the jaw and followed with a right to the body. Willard staggered to the ropes. Willard's face was blood-smeared. Dempsey smashed him again to the jaw and followed with a blow to the stomach.

Willard attempted a rally, but every swing went wild. Willard hooked a left to Dempsey's body as the third round ended.

Willard was staggering as he walked back to his corner and his right eye was closed completely.

Willard quit after the third round. His seconds tossed the towel into the ring.

The resolution to be submitted and voted upon at said special election on August 4th, 1919, reads as follows:

Be It Further Resolved, that the proposition of raising said sum of Two Hundred Thousand ($200,000) dollars by bonding the said County for said purposes, be submitted to the electors of said County at a special election, hereby called to be held in said County on the 4th day of August, A. D. 1919, in the several voting precincts of the cities and townships therein; and that due and public notice of the holding of said election and the voting upon said proposition be published at least once each week for three (3) successive weeks previous to the time of the submission and vote in a newspaper printed and circulated in said County; and that the Sheriff of said County be and is hereby instructed, directed, in conjunction with the County Clerk, and the city clerks of the cities and the township clerks of the townships, to post copies of said Notice of Special Election in at least three (3) public and conspicuous places in each of the several voting precincts, in the cities and townships of said County at least thirty (30) days previous to the time of such submission and voting; and

If the word ROYAL stands out bold and strong, it surely means BETTER baking.

RED CROSS CLEANS UP TURKISH CAPITAL

Americans Join With Allies in the Regeneration of Constantinople.

Constantinople is being cleaned up by the allies, and soon it will be like a western European city. The regeneration of Turkey is commencing with a general sanitary campaign in which the American Red Cross commission to the Balkans has been asked to aid.
"American sanitary engineers of the Goethals type are badly needed out here," said an American physician. "Sewage conditions must be installed throughout the near East in hundreds of towns. Constantinople must be cleaned up till it looks like a Swiss housewife's kitchen."

"Mosquito netting by the millions of bales must be brought over. Local doctors do not believe in the screening of sick beds or of hospital windows. They must go to school again in their profession.
"The people must be driven out of the filthy centers of disease into the open country, where the sun can get at them and where they can engage in healthful farm work."

"Sometimes," said the Red Cross doctor, "I feel an irresistible desire to gather 10,000 of these unfortunate wretches together, strip them of their crazy-quilt bundles of vermin-infested rags, force them all into a vast petroleum pool, then into a great tank of clean water. I would give them one and all a pair of American shoes, a pair of overalls and a sweater.
"The roads over which we are trying to get our automobiles, filled with Red Cross supplies for the underfed of central Serbia, are quite impassable. From Saloniki to Belgrade the roads are lined with tens of thousands of skeletons and rotting carcasses of animals. Soldiers' graves, thinly screened with earth, skirt the highways. No wonder there are dozens of cases of typhus in every city in Serbia."

"What the near East needs is several divisions of Americans plumbers, railroad men, sanitary engineers, doctors, nurses, white wings, building contractors, army bakers and coat and pants salesmen with East side experience."

ADMIRAL MAYO UNDER FIRE DURING BRITISH NAVAL ATTACK ON OSTEND

Commander of Atlantic Fleet Watched Shelling of Terror From Bridge of Broke—Admiral Made Many Trips to Europe During the War—Played an Important Part in Direction of Naval Part of War.

New York.—When Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, went to Europe, as he did several times during the course of the war, he was known to all on board, with the exception of the commanding officer of the ship, as Mr. Wing. When Admiral Sims went over immediately following the declaration of war in April, 1917, he was booked as "Mr. Richardson," while Captain Babcock, who was Admiral Sims' aid, was Mr. Robertson.

It is probable that no officer in any of the allied navies played a more important part in the direction of the naval part of the war, after April, 1917, than did Admiral Mayo, the commander of the Atlantic fleet. It is also certain that no prominent officer appeared fewer times in the public print than did Admiral Mayo. The other day an officer of the fleet, who was close to Admiral Mayo during the war, and who knows the story of the admiral's war activities, told for the first time.

"I guess it's all right," said this officer, "now that the ships of the navy are home and admirals' flags are waving peacefully and calmly in the security of yards and docks, stories of experiences abroad are coming in with the drift of conversation in the wardroom and in the quarter deck. It is all over now, official reports have been made, the censor's tightening grip has been loosened on his rubber stamp, and even men bound down by the ironclad rules of "Operations" are known to spit a yarn.

"In all of the sea travel that came to ranking officers of the United States navy none has attained the ocean crossings accomplished by Admiral Henry T. Mayo during the war. If the log of the writer is correct all of these voyages except two were made in the winter. His first trip across was in 1917 and was made under the most secretive of movements. Again he went over with his entire staff, and returning on the Mauretania early last December was taken off this ship on a tender in Gravesend bay, hurried to his flagship, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, in the New York navy yard, the following day sailing as the escort to President Wilson on his first trip abroad. Arriving at Brest he turned right around again and brought the fleet home. Then he went to Cuba, and returning visited New York for the usual April recreation period of the fleet.

Inspects the Navies.
"It was while on his second trip abroad that Admiral Mayo made probably the most extensive tour of inspection made by any commanding officer during the war. With members of his staff he visited not only the American and English navies, but also every branch of the allied forces in Europe. It was on this trip that he was entertained by both the English and Italian kings.

"It was this continued voyaging of the admiral which caused some one to remark at the Army and Navy club in Washington that of all the officers in the navy, Admiral Mayo was continually on the wing.
"and most appropriately," replied a civilian traveler on an ocean liner some months past, "for I once knew him as "Mr. Wing."
Which lets the secret out, for when in 1917 Admiral Mayo and his staff sailed most quietly and secretly on the St. Louis he was known as Mr. Wing. He wore the dress of a civilian, as did all of the members of his staff. Only the ship's commanding officer knew of his presence—save one, a naval officer in charge of a gun crew, who saluted him. Whether or not the salute was returned with a wink or a frown is not known.

"Admiral Mayo and staff went over in July, 1917. All were in civilian attire, and their departure was a secret to every one but the highest authorities at Washington. After stopping in London, Admiral Mayo and his party went on the continent. It was during this trip that his chief of staff, Capt. O. P. Jackson, was so badly injured in an automobile accident that he had to be left behind at a hospital at Amiens.

Joined by Jellicoe.
"On this trip with which this narrative is concerned the admiral was accompanied by Capt. Ernest J. King, U. S. N., who was then his assistant chief of staff, and commander Leigh Noyes, U. S. N., his flag secretary. Captain King is now at the War college, having left the fleet during its visit to New York. The party went first to Boulogne, and while there the party was treated to an air raid. Thence to Dunkirk, where they found the place had been raided the night before, and very successfully, for the first bombs destroyed the pumps and fire apparatus, and the second lot set fire to the storehouse, which, with no water and no equipment to extinguish, was destroyed. In this party were Admirals Jellicoe, Bacon and Oliver. Joining Admiral Mayo, they took automobiles and went out to inspect the troops. While on this errand a German plane came overhead to make photographs of the work the bombing party had done the night before. No bombs were dropped by this unexpected visitor, but the troops along the road opened up a lively machine gun fire, all of which went over the heads of the distinguished inspection party and again brought them in the line of fire.

"At this time the British navy was operating against the land guns at Ostend. Part of its attack was made from the Terror, a monitor of the old-fashioned type, somewhat similar to our Amphitrite, which was anchored about fourteen miles from the shore batteries of the Germans.

"Admiral Mayo, accompanying three English high officers, boarded the British destroyer Broke. It will be recalled that the Broke, Captain Evans commanding, at this time had a remarkable record of engagements with the U-boats. Encountering at one time six of the enemy submarines, she accounted for herself so skillfully and courageously that her log shows that at a rate of about two minutes apart she sank three of them. Had it not been for a shot temporarily disabling her engines, she would, from past performances, have continued to have made way with the remaining trio. As it was, she escaped after bagging three and writing a glorious page in her log.

"The Broke proceeded to where the Terror was anchored. An air patrol came out. Destroyers kept moving up and down before the monitor, throwing a smoke screen about her. The Broke, which at this time was flying Admiral Mayo's flag, joined the party. The admiral was on the bridge with Admiral Jellicoe and the destroyer's skipper. On the forecastle were Commander Noyes and Commander Babcock of Admiral Sims' staff.

Watches From Bridge.
"The German batteries opened fire at a 14-mile range, began a lively shelling of the Terror, throwing splashes close to the Broke and the other destroyers which kept moving up the line. Throughout the firing Admiral Mayo remained on the bridge, making a close observation of the enemy's work. The attack finally ceased without any direct hits being made by the Germans.

"Feeling a little more at ease, the party returned, and taking British destroyers went across the channel to Dover. The excitement all over, but still with the thrill of having been in the midst of the very lively engagement, Admiral Mayo and the party boarded the train for London. They had hardly got a fair start when the alarm for an air raid was sounded. Raiding parties coming from German territory were known not to waste any time on Dover and having flown over the land followed the railroad tracks to London.
"All lights were extinguished, everything was down to a whisper, and the party was again under the guns of the enemy. Then came 'all clear,' and the American visitors continued their journey to London with the real experience of having been under fire.
"Admiral Mayo has never mentioned his experience of having been directly under the enemy's guns when they were directed from land to forces at sea, but his own war diary no doubt carries a rather vivid series of reminiscences with some observations and perhaps some recommendations that would be interesting to read."

ARMY MAN TAKES STAND IN TRIAL OF FORD-TRIBUNE

Tells That He Is in Favor of Intervention in Mexico As Protection.

Mount Clemens, Mich., July 5.—Proceedings in the Ford-Tribune $1,000,000 libel case were adjourned Wednesday noon for the remainder of the week, so that those in attendance or connected with the offices maintained here by both plaintiff and defendant may reach home in time to observe the Fourth. Col. Henry J. Reilly, commander of the Chicago artillery unit which made famous the name of "Reilly's Bucks," was the principal witness Wednesday. Colonel Reilly is the Tribune's military expert. He testified concerning conditions in Mexico and declared that intervention is inevitable.

Conditions in the republic to the south, Colonel Reilly said, are becoming more and more hopeless, because of the determination of the upper classes that the peons shall always remain peons. Any leader, he declared, who attempts to establish Mexican life on the basis of law, expecting the educated classes to uphold him, is doomed to disappointment. The upper classes, Colonel Reilly declared, are the ones who are hardest hit by law; their graft is imperiled.

Japanese, Germans and British, Colonel Reilly said, are busy with propaganda which teaches the Mexicans and Latin-Americans to fear that there may come a day when the United States will sweep down upon them and take their wealth.

"It is foolish to delude ourselves about having a friend in the world," said Colonel Reilly. There is no real friendship between nations; except for themselves. We have ideals of democracy and fair dealing which do not appeal to other world powers.

"The Mexican frontier, our second largest land frontier, will be a constant source of trouble until it is cleaned up. It also offers a base for hostile operations against us. The way to stop trouble is to go to the heart of it and stop it."

Colonel Reilly completed his testimony on direct examination with the statement that during all his fighting in Europe his artillery never had one piece of American artillery and never fired a round of American ammunition.

Colonel Reilly gave it as his belief that a division of 28,000 men would be sufficient to invade and quell disturbances in Mexico. The country could be overrun with 150,000 men, he said.

On cross-examination, counsel for Mr. Ford asked the witness if he did not believe it essential to the reputation of the United States that it should refrain from taking any more territory. The witness said he did not necessarily consider that to be true.

"Has it not been so stated by the chief executive of the nation?" asked counsel.

"Yes, but other statesmen have made other statements," Ford counsel drew from the witness an admission that there was a difference of opinion among military men as to the force that would be required to take Mexico.

A long deposition from James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany was read, in which Mr. Gerard finally came to the belief that the only hope Germany had of winning the war lay in embroiling the United States and Mexico. He had no doubt, he said, that the German government exerted all its power to provoke such trouble.

Tiffany Blake, chief editorial writer of the Tribune and the man who passed for publication the editorial calling Henry Ford an anarchist, took the stand towards the close of the session for a brief period, and testified that he approved the editorial because Henry Ford was the most conspicuous leader of the movement against preparedness, and because he had heard Mr. Ford didn't believe in patriotism.

JAPAN ALSO SEEKS PERMANENT PEACE ASSERTS MINISTER

Government Doing Best Not to Cause Discontent; Works for Harmony.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Tokio, June 5.—Japan occupied at the Peace Conference a special position—she was disinterested in the question bound up with the Far East. Taskashi Hara, the Prime Minister, has told the editor of a French published at Tokio The Premier said:

"Japan went to the Peace Conference with the desire to take an active part in its work and to participate in all questions that might arise. Why? Because Japan is sincerely attached to the cause of right and justice. She has proved it by closely cooperating with the Allies and by subscribing without reserve to the fourteen propositions of President Wilson; she never hesitated to join with the promoters of the League of Nations.

"Like the French, English and American peoples, we wish a permanent peace, better and more open relations between nations, a happier humanity. And we believe we are in a good position to judge things from the point of view of justice and right because we had fewer interests under discussion than Europe and the United States. Our attitude is impartial and our delegates at Paris showed the good faith, sincerity and openness of our politics.

"However, violent criticisms have been addressed to us. Japan has been represented as an ambitious, war-loving, aggressive nation. The preceding cabinet suffered the same accusations which were not merited. I can assure you my government is doing its best not to cause discontent; to disregard proceedings which might bethought to bear a representative character. The Peace Conference has given us an occasion to show we were not guilty of what had been reproached to us."

Report Typhus Cases In Mexico On Decline

Mexico City, July 5.—The number of typhus cases in the capital was fewer during the first five months of 1919 than for many previous years and the Department of Health in a recent statement declares that the marked decrease in sickness is the direct result of its own crusade for personal hygiene.

The capital, with its abnormal population of more than a million, reports not more than 125 new cases of typhus per month, whereas in former years when the city's population was normal, or about 600,000 the number of cases reported per month averaged between 1,600 and 1,800.

NO PERFECT BALL GAME

When a pitcher hurls a no-run-no-hit, no-man-reached-first game, he is always credited with pitching a perfect game. But a perfect game has never been pitched and, it is fair to assume, one never will be pitched, for a perfect game would mean 27 men retired on strikes on 81 pitched balls. That, and that alone, would be a perfect game.

DIAMOND NOTES

O'Mara is playing a great game at third for Hendricks.

Cy Williams isn't particular where he knocks his home runs.

Manager Connie Mack of the champion Athletic team plays golf.

Warner weather loosens up the kinks in the salary arms, but it doesn't loosen up the salary any.

When it comes to driving 'em back to the water bucket prohibition hasn't much on Walter Johnson.

From the eight baseball nines of the Service league of San Francisco an all-star nine will be picked to tour the states and play amateur teams.

The New York Giants have a first baseman under cover in George Kelly, who seems to be finally coming through. He is reported as playing wonderful ball for Rochester.

Pitchers come and go, but some hang on forever. Old Moose Romine looks like a million dollars in the Three-I league and is about the only pitcher the Bloomington club depends on.

SOCIAL

McColl-Clark
Miss June McColl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. McCall, of this city and Phil C. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark, of Gladstone, were married in Minneapolis Thursday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Willard S. Ward of the First Presbyterian church of that city.

The marriage took place at the parsonage and after the ceremony the young couple was entertained at one of the downtown hotels.

While this news will not be a surprise to the immediate relation and friends of the young couple, it was not generally known that the marriage was to take place at this time, but Mr. Clark is going west on an extended business trip and his bride is to share the trip across the continent with him.

Miss McColl went to Minneapolis Wednesday night and was accompanied to the train by members of her family and the parents of Mr. Clark. It is not known when they will return to this city but their many friends are planning a proper reception, if the date becomes known.

Both young people have a large circle of friends, having spent practically all of their lives in Delta county. The groom recently returned from overseas service and accepted a position as general road salesman for the I. Stephenson company, and before returning from the honeymoon trip will probably go to the coast.

Golden Anniversary.
To celebrate their fiftieth—the golden—wedding anniversary on Independence day, just six days after the treaty of peace of the world's greatest war in history was signed at Versailles, France, at a time when memories of the civil war remained fresh, was a pleasing observance for Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Wellman of South Ford River.

All children and their families gathered at the Wellman home yesterday to do honor to the age couple and Mr. Wellman recalled vividly scenes of the civil war days, when he was in uniform against the confederate forces. The guests enjoyed dancing, presenting the aged couple with a purse of gold of $145 during the course of the afternoon's social period. When the guests sat at the big table for luncheon, they enjoyed a piece of the wedding cake.

The sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wellman are as follows:

Joseph and William Wellman, Lansing; Mrs. James Bergeson, Turin, Mich. Ardee Wellman, Simeon Wellman, of Escanaba and Mrs. Charles Kurback, of Escanaba.

In addition to the sons and daughters and their families, all in attendance at the anniversary gathering, other guests include:

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cornell of Gladstone, Mrs. Peter Jordan, and Charles Cornell and family of Green Bay, nieces and nephews; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zanis Bergeon, Des Moines, Ia. Miss Shedore and four children, and Miss Bergeson is a grandchild and the Shedore children are great grandchildren of the aged couple.

The Woman's Relief Corps of Escanaba presented Mrs. Wellman with a pretty brooch and gave the groom of fifty years a pair of gold initialed cuff buttons.

With Le-Duc's ten-piece orchestra playing some splendid music was rendered at the crowd danced until about 11 o'clock, when the grand march took place. The line of march then filed to the north side of the hall where favors were distributed. Hilarity of the dancers reigned for several hours after, with throwing of confetti paper, blowing of horns and cracking of "crackers." The crowd numbered about 200 couples, it is estimated.

PROFIT!

Can you afford to pay a profit of from 5 to 7 cents on a broom? If not, we are inclined to think that you will pay a good deal more. Few, yes, mighty few, are the dealers who will hand you a good broom at a mere nickel over wholesale cost. If we can keep and cut you fresh meats at 2 cents per pound over wholesale, we figure that we ought to be able to let you have a broom at from 5 to 7 cents over cost.

THE PUBLIC EYE
BY Wm. Auerbach

AGE IS THE DARKENING CURTAIN

Our eyes have been properly called the windows of our souls, and age is the curtain that darkens them. When years of use or strain and neglect have so weakened the eye muscles that they no longer accommodate the retina with the proper focus, an optometrist should be consulted. We will give your eyes a thorough examination, and if you need glasses, we will prescribe the proper ones for you.
