Think what this means—Washing in the homes of those of moderate means, as well as those of the well-to-do, will become a THING OF THE PAST.

The old messy washerwoman, interfering with the servant routine; getting generally in everybody's way, and gaily "eating you out of house and home" WILL NOW GO—and along with her the new-fangled devices that need constant "nursing" and increase the already too high gas and electric bills.

Under this new ESCANABA STEAM LAUNDRY'S PLAN, a vast majority of the thousands of homes in Escanaba can now afford the "luxury" of laundry service and yet SAVE MONEY.

A BRAGGING ROOSTER.

MRS. HENNY HEN had a large family of chickens and I am sorry to tell you that sometimes they did not behave, but pecked and flew at each other, quarreling just as some little children do, bothering their mother very much.

Little Rooster Chick thought because he was the brother that he was braver than the sister chicks, and he also thought they should mind him and do just as he told them.

Of course, this made sister chicks very angry and caused many quarrels.

One day Mrs. Henny Hen took her family under the bushes out of the heat and told them to keep quiet, but little Rooster began to brag that he was very brave and that some day he would be the rock of the yard and that all the others would have to obey him.

"I shall drive out all the other roosters and I shall have all the corn I want to eat before I let any of the hens eat a bit," said little Rooster.

"I guess you will have to be braver than you are now," said one sister chick. "I saw you run when the cat chased you the other day and Mother had to drive her away."

"I wasn't afraid of that old puss," fibbed little Rooster. "I wanted to see her run, and when I grow up I shall drive her out of the barnyard."

But his sisters did not believe this, and they all told him he was afraid and not brave enough to be the ruler of the barnyard.

"I am brave," piped up little Rooster. "I'll show you how brave I am some day when I have come to carry off mother. I will fly right at her and drive her away."

Mrs. Henny Hen did not hear her children quarreling, for she had left the house of the bushes and was visiting her cousin a little way off, and just then she checked to her children to come and have part of the feast she had found.

All the chicks ran, but little Rooster reached her side first, and just as his mother was dragging him from the ground a large, very angry Mr. Hen, who was sitting on a limb of the tree just over Mrs. Hen, flew down and grabbed the rooster.

He did not get it, because Mrs. Hen was too quick for him, but little Rooster, thinking it must be a hawk, peeped loudly and ran as fast as he could back to the bushes.

All his sisters peeped and fluttered about, calling him a "fraidy chick" and telling him he would never be a brave Rooster who could protect the barnyard fowl.

Little Rooster got very foolish, but he cured him of bragging, for every time he began to talk of his bravery all his sisters would peep. "Who was afraid of Mr. Hen?" and little Rooster would stop bragging right away.

RED CROSS WORKING FOR HEALTHIER U. S.

Thousands Aided by Instruction in Care of the Sick, Food Selection and First Aid.

How the American Red Cross guides thousands of persons to health is shown in a summary of the society's activities in the health field based upon the annual report for the last fiscal year. Through its Nursing Service, its Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick courses, nutrition classes, First Aid classes, Life-Saving classes and Health Centers and in numerous other ways designed to acquaint masses of citizens with proper methods of living, the Red Cross carried its message of health into all parts of the country.

The work of the Red Cross during the war in its traditional field of nursing, furnishing the military and naval establishments of the nation with 19,877 nurses, is well known. And there are today 31,757 nurses registered with the American Red Cross and subject to call in emergency. During the fiscal year, 1,551 Red Cross nurses were accepted for assignment to Government service, 888 by the Army and Navy and 1,438 by the United States Public Health Service.

In addition to the nurses enrolled by the Red Cross for Government service, the Red Cross itself employed a total of 1,548 public health nurses in the United States and Europe. By far the greatest number was employed in the United States, 1,257, while 81 were in foreign service.

Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick classes, giving thorough instruction in the proper care of the sick in instances where the illness is not so serious as to require professional nursing care, during the fiscal year numbered 5,179. A statistical picture of the Red Cross operations in this field follows:

New classes formed during year	5,179
Classes completed during year	6,239
New students enrolled	101,958
Students completing course	70,332

What the Red Cross accomplished in giving proper instruction through its Nutrition Service is indicated by the following table:

New classes formed during
---------------------------	--

Year . . . . . 142

Classes completed during year . . . 198

New students enrolled . . . . . 2,941

Students completing course . . . 2,013

In addition to the above, a total of 22,000 children were given instruction in the proper selection and preparation of foods.

Through its 209 Health Centers, the Red Cross reached 99,252 persons. In these Health Centers, 4,015 health lectures were given and 750 health exhibits held.

In the United States last year, 75,424 persons were killed and 8,000,000 injured in industrial accidents. To prevent this enormous waste the Red Cross held 5,100 first aid classes with a total of 104,000 students enrolled.

RED CROSS RESCUED 600,000 FROM DEATH

Spent $1,200,000 for Relief of Famine Sufferers in China Last Year.

To help overcome conditions of acute distress in five famine-stricken provinces of Northern China, where millions of persons were affected by an unprecedented shortage of food, the American Red Cross during the fiscal year spent more than $1,200,000, $1,000,000 of which was contributed directly by National Headquarters and the remainder by various groups interested in the welfare of China.

Through the wide relief operations made possible it is estimated that more than 600,000 famine sufferers were saved from starvation.

To the end that similar prompt relief measures by the organization may always be possible the Red Cross is asking continued support by the American people by universal renewal of membership at the Annual Red Cross Red Cross Call, November 11 to 24.

The method of relief employed by the American Red Cross in its operations in China was particularly effective, for in addition to saving hundreds of thousands of lives it provided China with more than 500,000 acres of permanent roads that are sorely needed to prevent a recurrence of famine. At one time the Red Cross employed 74,000 Chinese workmen, paying them in food for themselves and dependents, this food being brought in from Manchuria and elsewhere.

THE FAD FOR BLACK

Each year some other color leads the cat of fashion. One year it is old black, another it is rose, or green, or blue, but this year fashion has for-saken them all, and has fallen back on black.

In Paris nothing but black is seen, and it is really surprising how black sets off all the various types of feminine beauty. The latest shops, and the foremost fashion publications are showing black, and nothing but black.

No one seems to know the reason for this sudden departure from all the bright colors, which we have been favoring for several years, but all agree that black is the thing, and black it is, and is going to be for some months to come.

The smartest street frocks for fall are of black silk or cloth. White suits are of black velvet or tulle, and winter gowns promise to fall in black, too. All black, without a redeeming touch of color, and in footwear, the stores are showing their best designs in black kid, calf and suede.

None of bright colors, it has always been said, indicates the presence of hard-boiled optimism. Perhaps this sudden reversion to dull black is a great leap ahead in the process of evolution.

Some people think so, but who knows what has happened? It is a sudden change in the fashion world, and one that indicates the new style trend as a model for her personal color scheme.
