

HOOVER RECOMMENDS TAX INCREASE

PARTY LOSES VOTES OF GOP INDEPENDENTS

DEMOCRATS UNITED IN FIRST ROLL CALLS

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Republican forces divided before a United Democratic front as congress went to work today after receiving President Hoover's program for steady government finances and speeding prosperity.

First roll calls in both house and senate showed the Republican independents from the northwest kicking up their heels in the faces of regular administration forces. Standing together the house Democratic majority scored a victory. The senate Democratic minority held ranks and got a stalemate.

The house vote made it possible for 145 members to bring a bill up for decision. A vote on prohibition probably will result. The new rules, sponsored by the Democrats, won by 227 to 194 with eleven Republican independents joining the Democratic majority.

Deadlock On Mosses

It was a more personal affair in the senate where the three roll calls were on the selection of a president pro tempore. Twelve Republicans from the northwest booted the party's candidate—George Mosses, of New Hampshire.

Mosses referred to the western independents as the "sons of the wild jackasses" when they combined with the Democrats last session in a coalition on the tariff. These "sons" today—without a word of debate voted for other Republicans for president pro tempore and forestalled any election because a majority of those voting is necessary for a choice.

Senate Democrats lined up solidly behind their candidate, Pittman of Nevada, and sat back to await a settlement of the Republican family quarrel. More votes will be taken tomorrow but no decision is in prospect. Meanwhile, Mosses is still president pro tempore "very still," as one of his close "friends" put it. He is saying nothing.

LEGION SEEKS FEDERAL FUNDS

Commander Gives Hoover Program Calling for More Money Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The American Legion wants additional expenditures for veterans of over $25,000,000 yearly despite warnings from the president that the federal pocketbook is very lean.

In his message to congress, Mr. Hoover today said veterans relief cost more than $1,000,000,000 last year and he felt this was no time to be adding to such a formidable sum.

Almost as his words were being read at the capitol, however, Harry L. Stevens, Legion commander, appeared at the White House and handed the chief executive a program calling for more money.

Mr. Hoover's admonition for conservatism toward veterans relief was reinforced later in the day by the annual report of Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans administration.

Hines told congress it would have to dig deeper into the attenuated treasury wallet if it sent more veterans to government hospitals.

Hoover Plans Bring Praise and Criticism

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—President Hoover's message to congress today drew praise and condemnation with party lines usually marking the division point.

Anti-prohibitionists quickly called attention to the fact that Mr. Hoover had omitted any reference whatever to national prohibition. Representative Black, New York, commented that this "is the first presidential message since prohibition that omitted praise of the dry law."

Here is what they said about the message: Senator Watson, Indiana, Republican leader—"Remarkably strong. There is nothing that can arouse partisan rancor in a discussion of the measures proposed."

Senator Robinson, Ark., Democratic leader—"The recommendation respecting increase of taxes is notably indefinite. The president's suggestion relating to the tariff is subject to emphatic criticism."

Representative Snell, New York, Republican leader—"The suggestions will be of inestimable value to the American people if enacted into law."

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi—"A repetition of his former messages stripped of optimism and former prophesies of immediate business revival."

NEW DECREES FOR GERMANY GO IN EFFECT

BRUENING ANSWERS CHALLENGE OF HITLER

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER (Ass'd Press Staff Correspondent) (Copyright 1931, By The Associated Press) Berlin, Dec. 8 (AP)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening answered the challenge of Adolf Hitler and his Fascists tonight by warning the nation in a radio address that President Paul Von Hindenburg will invoke martial law if necessary to save the constitution.

"There is no other authority in this country save that prescribed by the constitution," the chancellor said in a voice ringing with emotion.

He went to the country over the air after a new and drastic emergency decree, slashing prices, wages and rents had been signed and made into law by President Von Hindenburg.

The decree, a 46-page document, the longest ever issued by the government, was designed to provide the final windup for what Dr. Bruening called the "deflation period imposed upon Germany."

The radical character of the measure was indicated by its reduction of wage scales to the level of January 1, 1927.

Vigorous Language On the political side the decree laid down safeguards for a peaceful holiday season, it wiped away the cherished right of Germany to wear uniforms signifying their political faith, such as the brown shirts of Hitler's fascists, the Reichsbannermen's Republican costumes, the steel helmet organizations war gear, and the communist red. It forbade all political meetings and demonstrations until January 2.

Chancellor Bruening's statement to the nation was couched in language as vigorous as the statements for foreign consumption that have come during the last few days from Herr Hitler.

What Hoover Urges

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Here are President Hoover's recommendations for legislation: An emergency two-year tax increase. Creation of a Federal Reconstruction Corporation to flank the National Credit Corporation. Return of some portion of the deposits of closed banks. Establishment of a home loan discount bank system. Increased subscription for the federal land banks. Broadening of the federal reserve bank rediscount provisions. A revision of the general banking laws. Alteration of the anti-trust laws to eliminate inequalities. Effective regulation of interstate electrical power. Consolidation of the shipping board into the department of commerce with broadened powers, under an assistant secretary of merchant marine. Creation of a new bureau to be known as the "public works administration" to take over federal construction activities. Strengthening of the deportation laws.

TWO ARE HURT AS CARS CRASH

Spalding Women Seriously Injured Yesterday in Accident Mrs. Arthur Juneau, 22, of Spalding, and her sister, Miss Mae Perry, 19, was seriously injured in an automobile accident west of Escanaba on U.S. 2 Tuesday afternoon. Both are in St. Francis hospital.

Mrs. Juneau's chin was cut through to the bone, with a laceration of the left cheek through the mouth, a bad cut over the right eye and on the right cheek, a possible skull fracture. She was brought to the hospital in an unconscious condition, and the attending physician was unable to make a thorough examination because of her condition.

Miss Perry has a deep scalp cut about eight inches long, with the covering of the bone torn from the skull. She has another minor scalp laceration and her left shoulder is injured.

Mrs. Juneau and Miss Perry were riding with the former's husband, going east on U.S. 2 about four miles west of the city. Mr. Juneau was attempting to pass an automobile driven by Clarence Schraeder just as Schraeder was turning into a side road leading to his home. The cars collided as Schraeder swung to the left in front of Juneau, and both cars were ditched as brakes were applied and they swerved around the road. Juneau was uninjured. Schraeder received a deep cut on the left temple, but was able to bring the injured women to Escanaba for hospital care.

HOUSE DEMOS PLAN DEBATE ON HIS VIEWS

FAVORS OVERHAULING OF ANTI-TRUST, BANK LAWS

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—President Hoover told congress today what he thinks the country needs in the way of legislation and house Democrats voted to make his recommendations the subject of general debate on the floor of the chamber.

Meeting in caucus late in the day, they instructed Majority Leader Rainey to take the action necessary to bring this about. He will do so tomorrow, soon after the convening hour.

A temporary tax increase, formation of a reconstruction corporation to supplement the credit pool already organized, and an overhauling of the banking and anti-trust laws were asked by the chief executive.

Plans New Message. A second message on foreign affairs is to be sent to the capitol late in the week. It will recommend particularly ratification of the one-year moratorium on inter-governmental debts and will deal with other aspects of international relations. The Manchurian situation is to be discussed and possibly the world court.

Soon after today's message was received bills were introduced by both house and senate to establish the reconstruction corporation bankruled by federal funds to be loaned to suffering industries.

The president said such action will "strengthen confidence" in addition to the money he asked a thorough overhauling of banking laws to loosen restrictions that hamper credits.

Under his tax plan, which is expected to be outlined in detail tomorrow by Secretary Mellon, the higher levies would remain effective only two years. Arguing the need for more revenue, the message disclosed the treasury expects to be more than $4,100,000,000 behind when the next fiscal year closes.

Among other measures proposed for reviving confidence were subscription of more money to federal land banks, use of federal reserve assets to thaw assets frozen in failed banks, institution of a home-loan bank system and broadening the base for federal reserve discounting.

Leaders of both parties in senate and house expect non-partisan action on those sections of the presidential program clearly for the benefit of business. They saw plenty of prospect for conflict, however, over details and controversial questions presented.

Demands Economy. The president asked rejection of proposals to extend federal payments to veterans, and at the same time said $200,000,000 should be appropriated immediately for the veterans' bureau to

Witnesses in Powers' Trial Tell of Seeing Bluebeard Dig Grave

More than 26 state witnesses paraded to the stand on the stage of the town opera house. With them they brought eight sets of exhibits.

They told how the pudgy little defendant, while he was writing impassioned love letters to widows and divorcees in all parts of the country, supervised the construction of a windowless garage with underground chambers—a place the prosecutor has pictured as a torture house.

They told of seeing him dig a grave for the two women and three children he is accused of slaying in that out-of-the-way place.

Then began the recounting of his relationship with Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, the Northboro (Mass.) divorcee for whose slaying Powers is being tried.

YOUNG SLAYER GOES ON TRIAL

Boy, 19, Faces Charges of Slaying Michigan Tech Student Holyoke, Colo., Dec. 8 (AP)—Handcuffed to Sheriff Frank Berger, John Markham, 19-year-old Granite City, Ill., youth, who came west seeking adventure, was brought today to Phillips county court today to face charges of slaying Stanley M. Moore, Michigan College of Mines student.

Markham walked quickly into the small white-walled court room, being used for a murder trial for the first time in a decade, and sat down within speaking distance of his father, Norman Markham.

"Don't worry, Dad, I'll get out of this all right," Markham said as he adjusted himself to a hard-backed chair.

District Attorney Roy T. Johnson indicated at the opening of the trial how he asked the death penalty when he excused four prospective jurors who said they were against capital punishment.

Arrested in Denver Markham is charged with killing Moore after he had picked the hitch-hiking youth up near Lincoln, Neb., early in September. He was arrested in Denver after police found a blood-stained automobile stolen from Kansas City, Mo., and traced it to Markham. The boy confessed, police said, he killed Moore because he feared he would reveal to authorities the theft of the automobile.

Supreme Court Orders New Trial In Escanaba Case

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 8 (AP)—The state supreme court today reversed a lower court judgment in the case of Merchikowski vs. The Chicago Northwestern railway and ordered a new trial. The case originated in Escanaba.

The plaintiff was given a judgment in the lower court as the result of a fall allegedly caused by an electric switch. The supreme court held attorneys for the plaintiff used improper and prejudicial arguments in the conduct of the trial.

A minority opinion of the court today favored cutting the award to $1,000 but a majority decided for reversal and a new trial.

CLARA ADMITS SHE'S MARRIED

Beverly Hills, Calif., Dec. 8 (AP)—Clara Bow admitted here today the marriage which her new husband, Rex Bell, cowboy film actor, has been denying in Nevada.

The movie actress came here from Bell's ranch near the California-Nevada state line where she has been for several months convalescing from a breakdown. She is due to start work soon on an independent producer's picture.

"We were married in Las Vegas last week but we tried to keep it a secret for a while so that we could have a bit of privacy," she said.

"I told Rex to deny it while we were in Nevada but I guess there isn't any reason now why we should. We are very, very happy but I sure wish they would give us a break and let a couple of honeymooners alone.

Germany Wants to Keep Gold Standard

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 8 (AP)—Germany will do everything possible to remain on the gold standard, Carl Melchior, German representative in the world bank advisory committee, assured his fellow-committeemen this afternoon.

Herr Melchior informed the banking experts investigating Germany's capacity to pay reparations that the German people were horrified at the thought of abandoning the gold standard.

These statements occurred in the German delegate's presentation of his nation's case.

Ralph Budd Heads Quincy Railroad

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railway, was elected president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway today.

He takes his new job January 1, succeeding F. E. Williamson, who became president of the New York Central on the same date.

Just before Mr. Budd's election the Burlington declared its semi-annual dividend of $5, payable Dec. 25 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

Coincidentally with the council's action, a bill of complaint was filed charging that interests controlling 95 per cent of the city's milk supply are operating in an effort to drive out small dealers. The complaint was signed by Josef Wagner, operator of an independent dairy plant.

Attorneys Worth Millions to Foes Of Merger, Claim

Cleveland, Dec. 8 (AP)—Services of attorneys were worth $1,000,000 to those who fought the Bethlehem Steel-Youngstown Sheet and Tube merger, Smith W. Bennett, Columbus corporation lawyer, estimated today.

At a hearing before John T. Scott, Cleveland attorney who is to adjudicate the amount of fees to be paid to the merger's legal talent, Bennett based his estimate on 2,088 days spent by members of four legal firms.

Each day was estimated as 7 hour long, and according to Bennett, who was employed as an expert and disinterested witness, the value of each attorney employed per day should be $500.

COURT RULES ON MANY CASES

Veterans Preference Act Does Not Apply to School Teachers

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 8 (AP)—The veterans' preference act, giving ex-service men the right to appeal to the governor if they are threatened with removal from public employment, does not apply to school teachers or other employees of school districts, the supreme court held today.

Joseph A. Campbell, an electrician for the Detroit school board, was refused an extension of $47.50 a month. He protested the board could not retire or dismiss him without a hearing. The court held the act does not cover school employees.

Delta County Case

The court denied a new trial to Jerry Mullaney, Harry Hallisey and Roy Cornelius, who were convicted in Detroit of kidnaping Charles Mattler.

A judgment in favor of the estate of Junior Berton, killed in an automobile accident in Kipling, Delta county, was affirmed. The verdict was against Herbert J. Norton, employer of John Skoglund, the driver.

Verdict in Favor of Mary Adomats, Grand Rapids Storekeeper, was Sustained. Suit was Started Against her on Behalf of Bernard Peck, four year old boy who was severely burned by a bonfire in the rear of her store.

A new trial was ordered for Louis Wessel, convicted of negligent homicide in Gogebic county. The supreme court held it was reversible error when Wessel's failure to take the stand in his own behalf was alluded to in the trial proceedings.

Carol Berk, owner of a car involved in a collision near Lapeer in 1928, in which Helen Noble and a boy were fatally injured, was held not responsible by the court.

A lower court verdict in his favor was affirmed.

William P. Labey, convicted of leaving the scene of an accident in Muskegon, won a new trial because the prosecutor attempted to press two charges against him.

U-hold Convictions

The conviction of "Pet" Livavoli for the murder in Detroit of Henry Traynor was affirmed. Claims by defense attorneys of technical errors in the trial was overruled by the court.

The convictions of Phillip Keywell and Morris Rader, of Detroit, for the murder of Arthur Nelson, negro boy, who was shot because he peeped into a flour cutting plant, were upheld. Keywell was found guilty of murder and Rader of manslaughter.

The appointment of Herman R. Lau as Wayne county treasurer, by the probate judge, the prosecutor and county clerk was upheld.

The court held that an act passed by the 1927 legislature giving the three county officers authority to appoint repealed by implication an old act placing the appointive power in the board of supervisors.

Four Detroit Boys May Be Charged With Manslaughter

Detroit, Dec. 8 (AP)—A petition filed in juvenile court today asked that manslaughter charges be preferred against four boys who have confessed to participation in the shooting of Joe Przystas, 15, Sunday.

Judge George A. Read said he would consider the petition tomorrow. Meanwhile, a complete report on the social backgrounds of Stanley Orlovski, 14, Joseph Szebel, 14, Anthony Mazur, 15, and Lonnie Jendryewski, 11, is being prepared for the guidance of the judge.

Stanley has confessed firing the shot which killed Joe when he and the Sawicki and Mazur boys set out to punish Joe for "pickin' on" Lonnie. The bullet, in a fit of anger, ricocheted and struck him in the heart.

Stampede Follows Street Car Fire; Eight Are Injured

Detroit, Dec. 8 (AP)—Eight persons were injured, two of them seriously, in a stampede which resulted from a sudden fire in a crowded street car on Adams street today.

The fire, which broke out in the roof, filled the car with smoke and flames, throwing 40 passengers into a panic. Fifteen of the passengers were school children but they escaped serious injury because they were in seats. Most of the injuries followed the smashing of windows by passengers in their frantic efforts to escape. Several women were knocked down and trampled upon.

Miss Anne Lochner suffered a broken leg. Charles Kraskie suffered a crushed hand. Six other passengers suffered cuts and bruises.

The fire apparently followed the blowing out of a fuse.

ESKY DEBATERS ON ROAD TODAY

Local Forensic Squad in Arguments at Palmer and Ishpeming

Coach J. H. Shipman's Escanaba high school debate squad will take part in two out of town debates this afternoon. One team of local speakers will uphold the affirmative side of the compulsory unemployment insurance question at Palmer high school at 2:15 o'clock and the other team, also speaking on the affirmative side, will meet Ishpeming high school debaters at 3 o'clock.

The Palmer debate is a practice debate for Escanaba high but through an order of the Michigan Debating League is a league debate for Palmer. The Eskymos on the team which goes to Palmer will be, in order of their appearance: Margaret Kamrath, William Kramer and Harold Snyder. Irene Lamm is alternate.

The Ishpeming debate is a practice debate for both schools. Escanaba high school's affirmative trio at Ishpeming will be: Vincent Bergman, Vivian McMonagle and Isla Shackelford. Marcella McGinn is the alternate.

Both debates will be conducted under the old rules allowing each speaker ten minutes for constructive speeches and with each speaker appearing in the rebuttal arguments.

continue loans on service certificates. The house appropriations committee will go ahead to provide the money without delay.

All federal expenditures have to be kept down, Mr. Hoover said. He emphasized that if the limits defined by him for taxes, appropriations or federal borrowings should be exceeded, it would react tragically on confidence, jeopardize the financial system and "actually extend unemployment and demoralize agriculture rather than relieve it."

He objected strongly to any form of federal dole.

The specific recommendations opposed any general revision of the tariff, and favored adjustments in the anti-trust laws and federal regulation of interstate power transmission.

He proposed to transfer administrative functions of the shipping board to the department of commerce and at the same time to give the shipping board regulatory functions with jurisdiction over coastwise shipping, and rates and services on the inland waterways.

The major aspects of the administration program are expected to wait until after Christmas for action. Before then, however, he plans to send up the year's moratorium on inter-governmental debt for approval. He promised several more messages to come, one especially on foreign affairs.

In a brief discussion of the railroads, the president said they should be given the chance to reduce operating costs by "proper consolidation." He suggested revision of the law under which the interstate commerce commission regulates them, and gave notice that he would soon forward recommendations from the commission to congress.

Another later communication is to deal with strengthening law enforcement and judicial procedure; while a third will transmit the findings of the Alabama-Tennessee-war department committee on behalf of private operation of Muscle Shoals.

Routing Of Erie Canal Bring Tiff

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—A content over the routing of the proposed Pittsburgh-to-Lake Erie canal flamed anew today before the annual meeting of the national rivers and harbors congress.

Backers of opposing routes claimed advantages for their projects over the other and both expressed confidence that their individual routes would be recommended ultimately by the army's board of engineers for rivers and harbors.

One of these routes would follow the Ohio, Beaver and Mahoning rivers to Warren, O., and proceed from there by overland canal to Ashtabula. The other, the so-called "all Pennsylvania" route, would take in the Allegheny river and French Creek, meeting the lake at a point near Erie.

Both would afford a connection between the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river navigation systems.

PARADERS GET POLICE ESCORT

Marchers Leave Capital With Their Mission Not Accomplished

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The demonstrators who loudly sang "The Internationale" in front of the capitol and White House left Washington today silent and subdued.

Their faithful escorts, the police, went with them to the District of Columbia line and an exchange of farewell greetings followed.

They took the form, however, of what has been colloquially described as the razzberry, accompanied by uncompromising motions of the hands.

"We're coming back," some of the demonstrators said, "and then we'll fix you."

"Oh yeah!" returned the blue coats.

Results Were Nil.

The promise to return in numbers sufficient to brush aside the police who barred their entrance to congress and the executive mansion was frequently heard.

The time for the second march on the capitol, however, was vague and uncertain.

Although their leaders, including Herbert Benjamin, spokesman for the more than 1500 marchers, were enthusiastic, the concrete results of the demonstration when compiled seemed zero.

The program demanding unemployment insurance and other relief measures was never presented. Turned away at the White House and senate, the leaders refused to send their petitions in.

They saw President Green of the American Federation of Labor but he called them communists. Throughout their stay here, there was only one arrest and curiously the person taken into custody was a spectator. He laughed too loudly and too long at the somewhat motley crew.

RULING MIGHT AID TAXATION

Court Says Public Funds Placed in Banks Are Preferred Claims

Lansing, Dec. 8 (AP)—A ruling that may go far toward relieving an acute state-wide taxation situation was handed down by the state supreme court today.

The court held that tax or other funds placed in banks constitute trust funds and therefore are preferred claims against the cash balance of the bank. In case the bank fails the public deposits hold a preferred position with preference to all the cash assets of the bank, including cash in other banks.

In many localities cessation of tax collection was threatened. Township treasurers were unable to secure bonds to cover the collection of taxes. Banks were unable, or refused, to furnish depositary bonds to protect the tax funds after they were deposited in the banks. The state law prohibits either the collection or deposit of taxes without adequate surety bond.

The supreme court went so far as to say that even if taxes are collected and deposited without the required bond, the deposits nevertheless will be trust funds and will constitute preferred claims.

Paul W. Voorhies, attorney general, said he is satisfied the ruling will relieve the situation existing in many communities.

William Kasbohm Receives Injury When Autos Crash

William Kasbohm of Bark River received a nasty gash on the right side of his head as the result of an automobile accident at 8:10 last evening caused by the slippery condition of the pavement. Kasbohm was driving north on South Ninth street and approached the Third Avenue intersection at the same time the car driven by Roy Larson of Gladstone. Both men applied their brakes in an attempt to avert a collision but the cars sideswiped and crashed into the curb at the northwest corner of the intersection.

Kasbohm was thrown through the side window of his light car and suffered a cut on the side of his head reaching from just over the right eye to a point behind the ear. He was taken to the hospital where seven or eight stitches were required to close the wound.

The police officer who investigated the accident said last night that it was caused by the condition of the pavement as both cars had been traveling at a slow speed. Damage to the cars which figured in the crash consisted of broken windows and wheels and tires broken when they hit the curbing.

DEATH BECKONS JOHN CHRISTOPH

Prominent County Resident Dies Suddenly With Paralysis

Suddenly stricken with a stroke of paralysis, John Christoph, 68, prominent resident of Delta county, passed away yesterday evening at Garden. He had been in good health until the time of his death.

When the stroke of paralysis suddenly attacked Mr. Christoph last evening, his daughter, Mrs. John Semer, of Escanaba, was summoned to his bedside but arrived there before she could arrive by another daughter, Mrs. Fred Johnson of Milwaukee.

Mr. Christoph came to Escanaba more than 40 years ago, working here a number of years as a cigar manufacturer. Later he was employed in a local theatre orchestra. He moved to Garden recently to live in the summer home of Mr. Semer with Mr. Erick Hendrickson, caretaker.

The body was removed to the Anderson funeral home for burial preparation but funeral arrangements have not been made.

LENZ-JACOBY FORGING AHEAD

Culbertsons Have Only Won Three Rubbers Out of Ten

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New York, N. Y., Dec. 9 (Wednesday) (AP)—Sidney E. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby with their official system of contract bridge gained ground on Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson and the Culbertson system in the second session of their challenge match which ended at 12:22 this morning.

After ten rubbers of the series had been played Lenz and Jacoby were 2075 points in the lead, a gain of 360 points from what they acquired in the first session of the match. Seven rubbers were played in the second session, in contrast to three of the first.

Lenz and Jacoby won four of the seven rubbers of the second session and the rubber standing of the series became:

Lenz and Jacoby, 7; Culbertsons, 3.

Both Make Comments

When the match is resumed Thursday night the players will be on their sixteenth hand of the 150-rubber match. Only one hand has been passed out. Only one slam has been contracted. Lenz made it at the second session. It was a little slam.

Two rubbers of the second session involved a 700 bonus for leaving the opponents without a game in the rubber and each side got such a bonus.

Culbertson made the following comment on the second session:

"Our game continued to be purely defensive with occasional counter attacks. We are still retreating after the second session with our worthy enemies. We feel reasonably certain it will not be a retreat from Moscow."

Said Lenz:

"I think that Mr. Jacoby and I demonstrated the value of knowing when to make strategic sacrifice bids. For proof I am certain we would never have reached the slam bid contract in the eighth rubber without having been willing to spot our adversaries as many hundred points as was needed to bring about a turn in the cards. That they did turn is history. I consider that the high point of the night's play."

Two Children Die As Home Is Razed By Fire In Detroit

Detroit, Dec. 8 (AP)—While the father was on his way home from jail and their mother was buying supplies at a nearby grocery, Lois and William Morgan, two and three years old respectively, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home in Ecoute this noon.

The children had been locked in the kitchen by Mrs. Morgan while she went to the grocery. William Morgan, the father, was on his way back from the jail where he had been questioned and later released. Both parents arrived at the ruined house at the same time.

A milkman saw flames pouring from the kitchen windows soon after Mrs. Morgan left. He tried vainly to reach the children. A six-year-old son of the family was at school when the fire occurred.

COOPERATION IS NEEDED-RITCHIE

Maryland Executive Says Governments Can Not Operate Unaided

Chicago, Dec. 8 (AP)—The key to better economic times was described by Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland tonight as "sincere and non-political cooperation between business and government."

In an address studded with homely phrases, the Maryland executive, advanced as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, sketched a picture of the "appalling extension of governmental actions in the field of private business" before the annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers association.

"Here is the gist of all I am trying to say," Governor Ritchie said. "Do not look to government to do what it cannot do. Do not look to politics to solve problems that it cannot solve. It is not a larger measure of governmental regulation and control that is needed, so much as that really simple human agency that goes under the name of cooperation."

Speaks on Unemployment

The major political issue of the day was described by Governor Ritchie as "this question of more power or less power in the central government, and its political and economic implications."

Governor Ritchie asked his listeners what they thought of "our army of federal employees now rapidly approaching the million mark, with a cost of government that has grown fifteen times as fast as our population."

"Private business which foots the bill does well to ask itself why, therefore, whence and whither," he said. "One hundred and fifty bureaus and endless commissions prey upon you and feed off you. Twenty-five different grades of federal officers scattered through the various departments can hector you, arrest you and ruin you. Not a phase of your life from the cradle to the grave, from the cellar of your home to the wallet in your pocket, in which they cannot pry."

Unions Consider Plans to Prevent Wage Reductions

Chicago, Dec. 8 (AP)—Possible alternatives to wage reductions were considered by railway unions today in preparation for the general meeting tomorrow which will take up the proposal of a flat ten per cent cut.

As they concluded two days of advance meetings, the four big brotherhoods and a fifth large group, the Switchmen's union, were believed to have agreed on what stand they would take regarding an informal proposal of the railroads. The labor leaders declined to comment, however, before the meeting of general chairmen.

Another group which began conferences today was the executive council of the Railway Employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

HOW TO HEAR BETTER RADIO

Electrical Department Asks Cooperation of Fans in Escanaba

As the holiday season is approaching and everybody wants to get good radio reception, the Escanaba electrical department is asking the public to cooperate in making this season the best radio season Escanaba has ever had.

The city electrical department has for a past number of years conducted a radio complaint department, and has endeavored to trace and run down interferences caused by the city power lines, and upon actual record they find that about 85 percent of the interference heard in the radio receiver is caused by the operation of small home appliances. Improper wiring, accidental grounding of fixtures and appliances.

Various Noises In order that the public may have an idea what to look for it is necessary to classify the different kinds of noises and also what might be causing these noises. The city department lists them as follows:

First, a snapping, sputtering or short crackling noise. Noises like this indicate one or more loose connections, and can sometimes be heard when walking across the floor or slamming a door, or jarred from a locomotive or street car passing by. Check over the connections in your radio set, antenna connections, ground connection. See that the antenna is not rubbing against house, drain pipe, chimney or trees. Look for defective light sockets. Check over fuse plugs. See that they are all screwed in tight. Look and see if service wires are rubbing on trees. If so, call your electrical department and have it taken care of.

Look for loose connections in flat iron cords, floor lamps, heating pads, etc.

Second, a clicking noise. A noise like this indicates a current carrying make and break connection. Check over your heaters, heating pads, flat irons, ovens, percolators, and also look for any flashing lights such as Christmas tree lights and window lights.

Third, a buzzing or humming noise, generally indicates an interference caused by an electrical motor or an accidentally grounded fixture. Check over your electric fans, vibrators, hair dryer, etc.; also look over your battery chargers, sewing machines, electric drills, toy trains, vacuum cleaners, oil burners.

Any of the above causes of radio interferences may be coming from the home, and feeding back into the line and ruining an otherwise perfectly good radio program for a neighbor.

Bruening Plans to Answer Hitlerites

Berlin, Dec. 7. (AP)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening in the next few days will go to the people in a radio address with an answer to Adolf Hitler's attacks against his government.

He is awaiting information from Professor Ludwig Kaas, leader of the Centrist party, as to the attitude of the Catholic hierarchy toward Hitler's pledges to rise to power by way of the ballot box. Professor Kaas is expected back from Rome tonight and will confer with the chancellor.

Hitler's statements as to how he will handle reparations and the economic life of the country if and when he comes into authority are described in government circles as "vaporings," and confidence is expressed that Chancellor Bruening will be able to present a good case for his program.

An inspection of the dairy will then be made, and if conditions are found to be satisfactory and that all the requirements for the sale of milk or cream have been complied with, the license will then be issued.

Bottles and other utensils must be properly sterilized after each use. Duncan Sisters Say They Are Bankrupt

Los Angeles, Dec. 7. (AP)—Rosetta and Vivian Duncan, who three years ago were worth more than $1,000,000 as a result of their success in vaudeville, musical comedy and motion pictures, said today that they are "broke," and filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in federal court.

"Gold mines with no gold, worthless stock, the fickleness of Wall Street and signatures on too many dotted lines are responsible," Vivian related in tears.

She is now the wife of Nils Asther, film actor. Her marriage to him more than a year ago broke up the sister team temporarily. She and Asther went on a tour of Europe where a child was born to her, but she and Rosetta have been appearing in a Hollywood theater together again recently.

EDITORIAL

JOHN P. McCOLL

IT WAS with profound grief and surprise that the community on Monday received the news of the death of John P. McColl, highly respected citizen of Escanaba and one of the last of the pioneers who came to Delta county when this northern empire was still comparatively young.

Although Mr. McColl was to have attained the age of 81 years next Jan. 5, he was never referred to as an aged man. At four score years, he was still as young in spirit as a man in middle age. He always took a keen interest in the affairs of the city, state and nation, and was active in the daily business life of the community up to the time he was stricken with his fatal illness less than two weeks ago.

No doubt, Mr. McColl's youthful spirit was a reflection of his attitude of mind. He was liberal and tolerant in his views on life and its social problems. He had the courage of his convictions, but he had that fine trait of character which made it easy for him to respect the opinions of his fellowmen, even though they might be adverse to his own ideas.

Fayette and John McColl were names that were always closely associated. He came to that furnace town, situated on a natural harbor and amid beautiful scenic surroundings, about sixty years ago when it was bustling with activity, and remained there until the Jackson Iron company ceased operations in the late eighties.

Fayette was then what was considered the ideal industrial community. Those were happy days when the furnace was running. And to John McColl those days hold the fondest place in his memories. He liked, particularly to indulge in his reminiscences of early happenings there. Incidentally, he had a penchant for local history, and his help was often sought by newspaper reporters and others interested in this subject. What posterity will learn about what happened in Delta county largely to Mr. McColl. For it was he who a few years ago rummaged through many dust-covered records in the courthouse to compile the first authentic history of this section.

Fate, in a way, was unkind to him. In recent months, in his work at the abstract office, Mr. McColl was in close contact with the preparations that are being made for the Ford Motor company's huge industrial project at Gladstone. Eagerly, along with everyone else, he had been waiting for the outcome of these developments. Having enjoyed the rise and observed, with regrets, the fall of the charcoal iron industry, he naturally had a great interest in seeing the iron and steel industry, with its ultra-modern methods, re-establish itself in this county. Like the true pioneer he was, he would have rejoiced in watching these new plans completely unfold.

If any man ever truly lived the Golden Rule that man was John McColl. His religion was an every day practice of a definite plan of service to his God and his fellowmen. For many years, unknown to all but members of his family and his closest friends, he visited the county jail each Sunday and there read his Bible to those who cared to listen. Many an unfortunate man, temporarily confined, gained a new inspiration and a new foothold in life, through the teachings and the example of John McColl.

All who were privileged to know John McColl are better men and better women for having known him.

REDUCING EXPENSES

MUCH has been written about consolidating counties and townships as a means of reducing local governmental expenses. Consolidation of states, however, is not considerable feasible, but that the merger idea can be resorted to effect economies in state government has been demonstrated right here in Escanaba.

This year, the state of Michigan combined the offices of the Upper Peninsula State Fair with the local branch of the department of state for the distribution of automobile license plates. George E. Harvey, secretary of the fair, has been given the title of manager of the license agency but he realizes no additional revenue personally from his extra duties. Commissions on the automobile licenses sold are applied to the expenses of the U. P. State Fair office, such as rent, lights and stenographer's salary.

Undoubtedly, there are other fields in our state government where similar economies could be effected through the consolidation of offices.

WHY NOT SHOOT ME?

(Sault Ste. Marie News) A LITTLE, leather faced former lumberjack was one of the callers at the office of the editor.

"You can't shoot me, maybe, but I get a pair pants, lak bane given poor mans?" he asked, hungry inquiry showing from pale blue lips.

He was interested, subsequent inquiry developed, in obtaining a garment from the stock which was recently contributed by Sault citizens for the relief of unemployed in the Hubert and Strong's district. Opening his overcoat he pointed to a pair of "high-water" overalls which alone covered his legs.

He said he had applied at the place where the clothing was being gathered, but that that "they had nutting to give a bum lak me."

The desperate straits in which the floating member of the unemployed army finds himself was exemplified in this man who had spent his life timbering off the forests of the Upper Peninsula and now finds his services no more in need.

He said that he had hunted, hunted work—wants work and doesn't want to beg for the things he needs to keep alive with. He is now sleeping on the warm sand at the round house, no home, no work, nothing to eat except from charity. His is the psychology of hopelessness. He has only his hands and his muscles with which to earn a living. There is no sale for these. He is not a resident of any county so cannot apply for aid. Where to turn? What has society to offer to solve his problem?

Up at Marquette, having nothing to eat and no one to turn to, this man went to the chief of police and seriously asked if there were not a way in which he could be "taken out a shot." "I'd rather be shot than to starve" he explained in his broken English. "I can't see why it is murder to shoot a person and no crime to starve him."

All right—let's answer that reasoning—if we can. Until society has a solution for unemployment, or at least gives all of its brains to the task—this "bum" wins his argument.

A judge in Maryland has decided it is illegal for friend wife to go through her husband's pockets while he sleeps. In most places the purpose of pockets has been forgotten.

GEMS OF PERIL

(By NEA Service) By Hazel Ross Halley

CHAPTER XLVIII

IT was Louise who finally cleared it all up for them—with what facts De Loma's confession gave them. Starkly beautiful in her grief, the old artificiality wiped away by the utter genuineness of her emotion, she sat stiffly erect in her chair while the others heard what she had to tell.

Bruce was not there, but that was just as well, for he must have been hurt horribly by the revelation that the woman he loved had never loved him at all. He had been only a rich man's son to her, while the scapegrace De Loma—who, as Mary suspected, had neglected to divorce her—had been the real and only love of her life.

De Loma was not a count, of course, not even a true Spaniard. Just a youth of mixed blood and obscure heritage, born in the little country town on the Dixie Highway where Bates had encountered him, stalling at the courthouse steeple in such peculiar fashion.

That was an odd thing, but easily understood when you knew what the tragedy of his ill-starred life had been. Even as a limber-legged youth, he had had aspirations—to be a human fly! More daring than the others, he had enjoyed impressing them with his reckless agility, and before long had become a professional, traveling about with a manager who talked stores into paying him to carry their advertising signs on his back as he climbed public buildings.

Enrique De Loma was too much of a name for the typographers, however, and less musical—his manager believed—than the English version of his name. Thus he became "Harry Hill, the Human Fly" on all the posters. Afterward when he branched out into other professions he often used the same as an alias. This accounted for Bowen's inability to uncover his police record.

But what Bates interrupted at this point, had the village courthouse to do with all this? Was it merely sentiment that carried him back to gaze upon its towers afterward?

"He fell, you see," Louise explained. Apparently she saw nothing funny in her lover's choice of occupation; it was all bitterly real to her.

"He—possibly he tried to—how do you say it?—show off a little, for the benefit of the home folks. But the sun was in his eyes, and he missed his step. He was badly hurt—his bones were broken in many places. But he got well. He did not mind the broken bones, but it made him horribly sad that he could no longer be the greatest 'Human Fly' in the world. For you see, he had lost his nerve."

"He could not bear high places after that. It was dreadful. He told me about it when we went to Paris on our honeymoon, and I wished him to take me up in the Eiffel tower. Even an elevator used to make him ill. He, who had never known what fear was!"

"I alone knew and I pitied him. He wanted to prove his courage to me, to show me he was not altogether a coward. He did daring things—he became a gambler and a thief. He had to be brave for he could not enter by the window, as some do—he had to bluff his way in, and people might see and identify him. But they never did. He was supremely clever, or he would never have evaded the police so long. They knew all about him but they could not prove anything—really."

"As a matter of fact, he was credited with many jobs that he did not do. If he entered a house it was by a ruse, never by the upstairs window! He would have died first."

AT the word "died" a spasm of pain crossed her face and she began to cry. "I can not tell any more," she sobbed.

"He left you?" Bates prodded. Louise wiped her eyes and nodded.

"He knew what my work was. He should have believed that I did not have any love for the men I duped. Stupid fools! Again and again I told him what donkeys they were, to let themselves be fleeced by a clever woman. He did not always believe me. There was one man, who kept coming to see me after he knew—what I was even—his money. I kept these visits secret from Enrique to stop his jealousy. He found out and believed I had been unfaithful to him. He—beat me. Then he went away."

"I saw him again, several times, but he never came back to me. When I saw him again at the hotel I knew I loved him still. I gave him money when he asked for it. How could I help it?"

"And the bracelet? You didn't trust him much, did you?"

"And the bracelet? You didn't trust him much, did you?"

"I trusted him not at all," she replied calmly. "Love is one thing and money is another. Is it not so?"

"Did he tell you anything about the Jupiter robbery, and where he got the bracelet?"

"He told me, but not whose house it was he robbed. That partner of his waited under the balcony and he threw the jewels down to him. He thought he might be stopped going out, but he wasn't. Walked right out and into his car and drove away. He was frightened of going out by the window. That was why he didn't get the necklace—the woman rushed to the balcony, and he was afraid to follow her.

"He got nothing but the bracelet, really. His partner took the rest and fled—after they ran down the boy."

She rolled her eyes in Mary's direction. "Mon Dieu, was he angry when he learned who had got the bracelet? I would hang him, he said, by my stupidity. But he was wrong. It was not I. It was she—"

"What of Bruce?" Bates asked in a low tone. There was no reproach in it—merely curiosity.

Louise shifted uneasily. "He will marry the sweet child you doubt, and have many babies, no doubt," she said.

"Whoa!" Dirk exclaimed. "I'll have something to say about that." Mary moved over and sat on the arm of his chair; his arm went about her possessively.

"Bruce will go back to his first love, perhaps," Mary spoke up. "His painting. He has neglected it long enough."

THEY were wearing Key West now. The tug had put a line aboard the "Gypsy" and in a moment hauled her free from the reef with no appreciable damage to her bottom. Mary had sent a radiogram to George Bowen in care of his friend on the Miami paper, telling him of The Fly's confession, and ending: "Have minister at dock. You're to be best man."

Just after sunset they put to alongside the pier at Key West, and the first man aboard was Bowen, looking for all the world like the cat that ate the cream.

"How in the world did you get here so soon?" Mary asked, as he swung her hand and greeted Dirk enthusiastically.

"The paper sent me down in a plane," he explained.

"Paper? What paper?"

"One of the best. When you deserted, I had to get a job quick—no money, no meat—so I pulled them into putting me on the afternoon paper down there. Man can't take a job on a morning paper when he's married. Let the young bloods do that."

Mary gasped. "Married? You?" She pretended dismay. "And just yesterday I thought I was the lucky maiden!"

He flushed a trifle under her good-natured gibe, but quickly regained his poise. If it hurt to remember his unrealized hopes, he quickly hid it.

"Thought I'd ride the minister something to do on the way down," he said. "Bella came along and we were married in the plane. Only time we had—no time for a honeymoon even. Pair of lucky kids, you are! I suppose you'll be taking your honeymoon on this neat little packet, and don't I envy you? Oh, well, some gets the bone and some gets the gravy—that's life! He was chattering to put himself at ease.

"Thanks for those clippings," Mary told him. "They saved the day. Louise simply wilted when they were shown to her. Threw Bruce overboard like an old shoe, and tried to salvage anything she could out of the wreck of her plans."

"What are you going to do with the necklace?"

Mary smiled bitterly. "Give it to you for a wedding present. Want it?"

"Not in my family, thank you! I'll have troubles enough without it." He held his hand about a foot from the floor, then threw Bowen abruptly in the midst of this foreshadow and demanded, "Can a man quench his thirst on this ship?"

"Hi, steward!" Dirk called, and made various requisitions which had worthy trotted off rapidly to fill.

"I got a by-lined story on the strength of your radiogram," Bowen confided. "Wouldn't be surprised if I'm city editor by this time. Going to stay down here and take a little hell on the side—no more New York for me! I suppose you'll be going back to Queen it in assembly, Mrs. Ruyther?"

Mary blushed at the unexpected use of her soon-to-be name. "I think I'd like to settle down somewhere and just live quietly for a while," she laughed. "I've had enough excitement for a while. Do you think your wife will give our wedding a nice little story in your paper? If she will, she can have the first and last story we'll ever give to the press."

"No fooling? That's nice of you! It'll be quite a little feather in her cap, honest. She's over at the hotel now. You'd like her," he added with sudden irrelevance.

"I do like her," Mary affirmed. And then, aware that things were growing a little strained between them, she excused herself and left Dirk and his best man-to-be to finish their drinks together.

PREPARATIONS were being made to remove Bruce to a hospital and while they waited for the ambulance to arrive Mary was allowed to see him for a minute. He was a changed man, she saw instantly, in more ways than one.

"Louise has gone ashore," she told him diffidently. His face darkened but he did not look unhappy. "That's all over," he said. "I meant to tell her so, but if she's gone, so much the better. Tell me about De Loma. Did I— is he—dead?"

"He's dead. But you didn't kill him. It was the tall 'd' that. Where did you get your gun?"

"He looked surprised. "Why, your young man gave it to me the night we left Miami. Bowen's imitation of a hored man of the world was highly unconvincing. "Oh, you get used to it" he was pretty badly worried about you, but too stubborn to tell you, I guess—between us—we've thought some pretty hard things about you—and none of them true."

"Thanks," Mary gave high her hand, and a smile of complete friendliness. "Anyway, I'll be leaving soon."

Bruce did not release her hand as quickly as he might have done. He seemed to be hanging on to his courage, trying to say something that cost him an effort. Finally he managed to blurt it out:

"I'll be taking care of dad from now on. You needn't worry about that. I wanted you to know," he ended lamely, badly embarrassed by this lapse into sentiment, but in deadly earnest nevertheless. He looked up as his father entered the room, radiant with pride and happiness.

"Mary, my girl—" he began, and his voice broke. Mary turned away, unable to speak. He stopped her, held her chin tightly between his thumb and finger, while he forced the gray eyes to look into his.

"Take the 'Gypsy' for your honeymoon, if you want her," he said. "And when you're through gyping around, I want you to bring your husband and—come home."

Mary kissed him swiftly, and ran, tears blinding her. She found Dirk and Bowen seated where she had left them, glasses in hand.

Dirk, the prospective bridegroom, frowned seriously at Bowen, the bridegroom, and held out a hand that shook with a highly realistic imitation of the palsy. The ice in his glass rattled furiously.

"Like that? Is that the way it gets you?" he asked. "And what do you do if you forget the ring?"

Bowen's imitation of a hored man of the world was highly unconvincing. "Oh, you get used to it" he drawled. "Now, when I was married the first time—" He saw Mary and stopped, grinning implacably.

"Does your wife know where you are?" she demanded, shaking her finger at him shrewdly. "Oh, I'm going! I'm going!" he whined. And went.

THE END

Looking Backward

DECEMBER 9, 1911

Miss Naomi Carrol, who teaches school at Perkins, is spending the week-end here with relatives.

The last of what has been known as the old Gaynor houses on Wolcott street, purchased last spring by A. R. Moore, has been moved from the property and several of the most desirable residence lots in the city made available.

During the years that the dilapidated houses remained on the lots efforts to build up that part of the city were futile. With the removal of the houses, however, conditions have changed and already one magnificent residence, the property of Atty. S. M. Mathews has been built.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Derocher and daughter Agnes, Mrs. E. M. Abrahamson, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powers will leave today for a visit at Ishpeming.

Henry Kasbohn, one of Bark River's most successful farmers and dairymen, transacted business here yesterday. Mr. Kasbohn has 16 cows and sold his milk for the season at 3 cents per quart. Who said farming don't pay?

A marriage license has been issued to John Bruce and Elviga Olsen at the clerk's office.

DREAMS

Night takes the thoughts of day and weaves them into dreams: Time, distance, swept away, a little while it seems That friends have talked to friends, whatever may divide. And then the vision ends—we wake—the dream has died. 'Twas but a dream, was all," we say, and life resume. "No hand has scaled the wall, no voice was in the room. The old friends seemed so near, and yet it was not so. For no one has been here." I wonder how we know?

At night the body tires, the limbs recline at rest, But what of day's desires, the hopes within the breast? The body falls asleep; when does the mind lie down. Or what location keep, what house, or street, or town? The body bars the door, but can it keep without? The voice we hunger for, the face we dream about? If these shall care to come, how shall we tell them nay? It all is plain to some, but I, I cannot say.

Men of 72nd Congress

By Rodney Dutcher

REED SMOOT of Utah

Watchdog of the Treasury in the Senate. High priest of the protective tariff. . . . As chairman of the Finance Committee he is the administration's expert on details of taxation, war debts, tariffs and other items of federal finance. . . . No more faithful, hard-working member of Congress than Smoot—a tremendous plodder. . . . He is tall, lanky, spectacled, friendly and gullible. His dress is homely and his countenance as sober and studious as the man himself. . . . As conservative as they come. . . . Bore the brunt of the Hawley-Smoot tariff fight and is still that law's most erudite, vigorous defender. His specialties have always been sugar and wool, home state interests. . . . Gluttonous for detail, ever for efficiency and economy and famed as statistician and economist, he nevertheless often sputters and gets lost in debate. . . . Is sure the country will go to the dogs if Democrats ever win control. . . . A High ecclesiastic of the Mormon church, he screamed shrilly at alleged obscene books when Senator Cutting of New Mexico sought to end customs censorship. Passed out horrible examples among his colleagues, won part of his fight, and became hero of Ogden Nash's poem: "Smite, Smoot, smite for Smut!" . . . Adores grandchildren even more than tax figures. Married Mrs. Alice Sheets a year or two ago and now, on the verge of 70, lives happily and loves to feed birds in his yard.

Cornerstone Laid for Iron Mountain Catholic Edifice

Amid a scene of impressive solemnity, the corner stone of the new St. Joseph Catholic church at Iron Mountain was laid in its permanent bed of mortar and rock on Sunday afternoon. More than a thousand persons, braving the chill wind of an early winter day, stood at respectful attention as the stone, a granite block donated by August Pavaglio, member of the congregation, was lowered into place. Then followed benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, conducted at an altar erected on a special platform, profusely decorated with American flags, and the ritual was over. Nearly a dozen priests from out-of-town churches, two of them former pastors of St. Joseph's congregation, were present at the ceremony. The officiating clergyman was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Raymond Jacques, representing Bishop P. J. Nussbaum, of Marquette, and who is the vicar general of the diocese, a former pastor of St. Joseph's and is now pastor of St. Ann's church in Escanaba. Others present included the Rev. George Latorest, a former pastor of St. Joseph's and now located at Plat Rock; the Rev. D. J. Breault, of Bark River, deacon of the ceremony; the Rev. J. E. Guerlin, of Crystal Falls, sub deacon; the Rev. Albert C. Pellissier, of L'Anse, master of ceremonies; the Rev. Paul Sauvageau, of De Pere, Wis., assistant pastor of the congregation; the Rev. Joseph Hollinger, of Hermansville; the Rev. Joseph Schaul, of Spalding; the Rev. Philippe Juras, of Schaffer, and the Rev. Simon Borkowski, of Vulcan. Msgr. Parched or toasted? No, sir! CAMELS are FRESH!

THE bedrock of Camel popularity is the inherently fine quality of the tobaccos that go into our cigarette. These tobaccos are notably mild, full-mellow, delicately flavored by nature—the finest Turkish and mild, sun-ripened Domestic tobaccos that money can buy. To safeguard the essential goodness of these fine tobaccos we exercise every care to conserve their natural moisture and natural flavors.

They are never parched or toasted—the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that. That's why we say Camels are made fresh to start with—and why the Camel Humidor Pack can bring them fresh to you, in prime smoking condition. If you want to know what a blessing that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them—if you can.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY
Winston-Salem, N. C.

"You needn't tell me
—I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. In offices and homes, even in the dry atmosphere of artificial heat, the Camel Humidor Pack can be depended upon to deliver fresh Camels every time.

AT THE DELFT

"Blonde Crazy," the Warner Brothers, feature picture which opened last night at the Delft Theatre, brings to the screen two of the ablest young players in the Hollywood colony, James Cagney and Joan Blondell. Warner Brothers show wisdom in recognizing the exceptional work this unique pair has been doing in pictures and their first co-featured roles in "Blonde Crazy" prove that they can more than live up to the early promise of their work. "Blonde Crazy," by Kubec Glasmon and John Bright, those interested newcomers to the ranks of screen writers, who gave us first "The Public Enemy" and then "Smart Money," is a new type of hoodlum tale, not by any means a gangster story, yet as fascinatingly true to life as those other productions which bore their stamp. A bell-boy and linen-girl in a big city hotel learn a dozen minor rackets from their associations with transients. It is a new and fertile field and Cagney and Blondell make the interesting story vividly alive by their convincing performances they give. There is always drama material in a hotel setting, but the material that Glasmon and Bright have used here is unusual. Louis Calhern, who only recently reached Hollywood and pictures, plays Dapper Dan, an unsympathetic role with his customary ease and assurance; Noel Francis is attractive as Dan's flashy lady; Guy Kibbee, Ray Milland, Polly Walters, Charles Levinson, William Burress, Maude Eburne, Walter Percival and Nat Pendleton and others are well chosen for the parts they play.

His lecture today promises to be of great interest, pointing out the almost universal application of art to daily life, particularly drawing. Press—Want Ads Cost Little. Accomplish Much.

New Toys Teach While Children Play

(Toys from The Playroom, New York)

New toys that both please and develop children offer a stunning selection. (A) For the little preschool child, airplanes now roll around on wheels, sturdy enough to ride. (B) Little Pixie Plants, for children of elementary age, are diminutive pots with seeds and everything in them, ready to put under glass; water for three days and they grow. (C) For girls this age, there is a new, alluring little baby's bath for Dolly, fully equipped. (D) For the kindergartner there are construction pull-apart toys that make a thousand shapes of animals and people. (E) For the pre-kindergartner who is learning to develop his muscles, a new pounding box has hammer and colored pegs that can be driven through holes into a box beneath and then used all over again. The hammer is rubber-padded to muffle the pounding. (F) A new pull-apart and put-together again toy are colored wooden blocks, with pegs that make a lovely train. (G) New hoops for active youngsters of school age have bells inside than tingle as they roll. (H) Roly-Jack is a boon to mothers, for the wee baby can push him away like a ball but he bounces right up, without rolling away where he would have to be picked up and taken back. (I) This new plush ball for tiny babies who need soft playthings has a dozen colors in it.

Psychologists assist Santa Claus this year in lining up toys for children that actually will help to develop them as well as please them. "Have your toys suitable to the age of the child you give them to, select those that can do varied things to develop imagination, and give preference to sturdy toys that will stand experimentation," is the succinct advice of Mrs. Janet M. Knopf, director of "The Playroom," and toy consultant for several of New York's modern schools. "From infancy to 18 months toys should develop the sense of sound and hearing, or be bright colors for children to watch," Mrs. Knopf advises. "They should be washable, cleanable, sterilizable and should be hard or soft things for a child to feel. Psychological Playthings for Very Young "In a list of toys for children of this age you should include plush animals and bead dolls, vari-colored rattles, rubber frogs or animals that emit noises, big push balls and toys that have round bottoms so baby can push them over and they won't roll away so Mother has to come fetch them. Balloons that babies can kick or push are good, and washable picture books with big pictures in them and remember children always like pictures of other children. "The next division of toys is for the pre-school age, for children from 18 months to three years, children at this age are much more interested in toys and much more experimental. Give them toys that can be taken apart and put together again. Give them large blocks and toys that can be found and moved easily for the large muscles develop before the small, more skilled ones. "From three to school age all large toys for lifting, pulling, shoving, easy construction toys, rocking boards, easels for crayons and paint, blackboards, large crayons and paper, drums, horns, trapezes, rope ladders, roller skates, auto and airplanes that they can ride about the floor, play furniture, dolls with wardrobes of dresses, blunt scissors with material to cut, picture chairs to fit them to, play tables they can sit up to, play screens that make stores or houses for their imaginative play, games that teach reading, arithmetic, geography and other elementary subjects, and Dr. Rainbow kits which have washable wooden toy stethoscopes, thermometers, prescription pads and so on. Making School Child Happy "When children get into school and up until 10 or 12, they like ice skates as well as roller skates, archery games, penkniving outfits, all kinds of fancy dress costumes, baseball and basketball outfits, materials for carving, block printing sets, real printing sets, real typewriters, phonograph music, chemical outfits, sleds, reading games, games for learning French and German, for learning the names of birds, geography and other learning games. "During these years children grow much larger as their smaller muscles develop and their coordination is perfected. Real little sewing machines for dolls' clothes, stoves that cook, radio sets that actually can be assembled, stencil and paints to make real pictures, water colors and one of the new patented surfaced boards that washes off, if you want to wash it. "Dramatic toys are valued at this age; screens that will lend themselves to store uses or stage are good. Games that let them play conductor and train, with cap, lantern and tickets to clip off, airplane construction sets, boats that can be assembled, and bicycles to ride."

Christmas Recipes

Home-made Christmas candy, like the famous speaker "needs no introduction." Everybody who has a single tooth likes it (even the toothless relish the soft varieties) and it is as much a part of Christmas as the stocking and the tree.

Success in making good candy depends on three factors: reliable ingredients, tested recipes and a little common sense. Here are some popular candies and the recipes have been tested by both amateurs and experts:

Sure-Fire Chocolate Fudge 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup dark corn syrup, 1/2 cup milk, 2 squares chocolate, 2 tablespoons cooking oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Place sugar, syrup, milk and chocolate, cut in seven or eight pieces, in heavy saucepan and stir over fire until sugar is dissolved, and chocolate is melted. Let come to a boil and cover one minute. Remove cover and cook without stirring until syrup will form a soft ball when tried in cold water, 238 degrees F. Remove from fire, stir in quickly oil, salt and vanilla. Set in cold water and cool until mixture is thick and feels barely warm to touch. Stir until mixture loses its shiny look and is creamy. Pour into oiled pan.

Old English Toffee 2 cups sugar, 1-3 cup light corn syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cups thin cream, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 tablespoon onion put sugar, syrup, cream, and salt into saucepan and stir over fire until sugar is dissolved. Cook to temperature, 250 degrees F. or until a firm ball will form in cold water. Stir quite often, as it scorches easily. Add oil and cook to temperature, 260 degrees F. When a hard ball will form add vanilla and pour in thin layer on oiled slab or baking sheet. When cold break in pieces. Yield: about 2 lbs.

Christmas Nougat 2 cups sugar, 1-3 cup light corn syrup, 1 cup water, 4 egg whites, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups nut meats, 1/2 cup candied cherries. Boil together half of the sugar, half of the water and half of the corn syrup to the crack stage (280 degrees F.). Remove from fire and pour it slowly over the well-beaten whites and continue beating until it cools. While beating, cook the remaining half of the ingredients to crack stage (250 degrees F.). Remove and add at once to the first mixture, beating while adding. When cool, add vanilla, nut meats and candied cherries and pour into buttered pans. Smooth over the surface and let it stand overnight before cutting. In the morning cut and wrap in oiled paper.

Nut Caramels 2 cups sugar, 1 cup light corn syrup, 1 cup condensed milk, 1/2 cup cream, 1 cup milk, 1/4 cup butter, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 1/2 cups nut meats. Put sugar, syrup, condensed milk, cream, milk and butter into heavy saucepan and cook over low flame stirring constantly until 246 degrees F. is reached. Remove from fire, add vanilla and nut meats and pour into lightly oiled pan. When cool, cut into squares.

Trousered Skirt Important Item of Style Notes

By BARBARA BEAUFORT (Associated Press Fashion Editor) Paris, (P)—The trousered skirt has set its mark on the varied style picture of 1931-32.

Among the bustles and trains, muttonleg sleeves and basques which color the winter mode, several Parisian dressmakers offer the divided skirt for the modish moderns who want none of the old, fashion fancies.

Dinner frocks and street dresses as well as sports costumes, are cut in the bifurcated design. Contrary to last season's models, the new trousered skirts make no pretense of disguising their bifurcated cut.

They are considerably narrower than they were before and they display neither panels nor pleats to hide their lines.

Golf frocks of dark green and tobacco brown wool are designed with simple blouses and trousered skirts, each section of which is only about 18 inches wide.

Many of them are accompanied by a short straight little jacket as simple and restrained in cut as the coat.

Street frocks of wine red will also plume pebbly wool likewise display the trousered cut, although these are a few inches wider than the skirts designed for sports.

Trousered dinner frocks are a definite part of the mode. Most of these, however, are made with very full gored sections which give the effect of a voluminous skirt when the wearer stands.

To remove grease or grape juice stains from linens soak for 12 hours in cold water.

REVENGE

Indianapolis, Ind.—Customers in the Walker drug store thought it was revenge the telephone user was after. He walked into a booth, declaring he wanted to make a long distance call. Out he walked a few minutes later, seemingly unable to get his number. Back in he walked after a short interval. Next time he came out he was running. The telephone—a pay unit—went with him, and with it the cash box containing several coins.

MEMBERSHIP OF LEGION NOW 77

Post Celebrates Record Roster at Social Monday Night

The new peak in membership reached by August Mattson Post No. 71, American Legion, during a recent drive was celebrated Monday evening at a meeting and social held in the Legion hall, which was attended by approximately 75 members including groups from Rock and Rapid River. Vice-commander Fred Schram's team, winners in the competitive campaign, were feted by the crew of Vice-commander A. D. Algutze, which lost.

Through the drive, membership of the local post was boosted to 77, an increase of almost one-third over last year and the highest since 1923, and indications are that the roster will be over 100 names before the end of the year. The local post was one of four in the peninsula to go 'over the top' in the drive.

During the business session, which preceded the social and program, Messrs G. W. Jackson, G. R. Emppson and R. J. Riley, members of the Salvation Army advisory board, appeared before the post and outlined the aims and objects of the chest fund drive now being conducted and solicited the aid of the post in the work.

Rotary Anns Feted At Splendid Party

Rotarians, their wives, and guests, spent a delightful evening of varied entertainment Monday evening at the Elks' temple when members of the local Rotary club gave their annual "Ladies' Night for Rotary Anns" function. The banquet and program was sponsored by the losers in the Rotary attendance contest which was in progress at this year's meetings.

Following a delicious 6:30 o'clock turkey banquet, movies and dancing were enjoyed. The movies shown by George Nicholson, consisted of views and scenes by a recent European trip taken by the Nicholsons and proved highly entertaining to those having the privilege of seeing them.

Dancing was then enjoyed by the large gathering which included a 100 per cent attendance on the part of the Rotarians. Lindstrom's orchestra, consisting of Lawrence Bamrick, Irene and Ferdinand Gorsche and Gunnar Lindstrom at the accordion, furnished the music.

NEVER BITE A COP

Baltimore, Md.—Mildred Hamilton was a guest of a colored jamboree which started out quietly enough but which ended in a riot and free-for-all. Police hurried to the party and Patrolman Edward Eben encountered Mildred, much to his agony. In reaching for her, he got his thumb in the way of Mildred's teeth. Mildred bit heavily on the digit and only a few resounding whacks over her head with his club made her let go.

Famous Cough Prescription

Almost instant relief from coughs is now guaranteed in the use of the physician's famous prescription called Thoxine. It works on an entirely different principle; having a double action, it relieves the throat irritation and goes directly to the internal cause not reached by cough syrups and patent medicines, and the cough stops like magic, usually with the very first swallow.

Taken before retiring, Thoxine absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat, too. Contains no chloroform or harmful drugs. Children like it. Remember—relief within 15 minutes from coughs or sore throat, or your money back. 35c, 50c, $1.00 bottles. Sold by Ellsworth Drug Store, Escanaba. Dehlin's Drug Store, Gladstone, and all other good drug stores.

STOCK MARKET IS HEAVY AGAIN

Table with columns for 'STOCK MARKET AVERAGES', 'Today', 'Week Ago', 'Month Ago', 'Year Ago', '3 Yrs. Ago', 'High 1931', 'Low 1931', 'High 1930', 'Low 1930'.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY (Associated Press Financial Writer) New York, Dec. 8. (AP)—The stock market was heavy today, closing more than 2 points lower on the average at a level about equal to the previous bottom of the post-October reaction.

Except for a rally led by the rails in the first half hour, the market was heavy all day. It reached its lowest point after the presidential message had been distributed on financial markets, dipping rather sharply as renewed selling of railroad equities, several of which made new lows.

Unfavorable action on several railroad dividends exerted a depressing influence. New Haven, Colorado & Southern, Boston & Maine, Texas & Pacific, and Missouri Pacific were the systems added to the dividend casualty list, and with Wall Street feeling that New York Central's board would pass or cut tomorrow speculative opinion was visibly affected.

Trade News Meager. Trade news of the day was meager. "American Metal Market" said that aside from the usual year-end recession the steel industry "in all probability has left its low point behind just after the middle of October." Seasonal increase after the first of the year is apt to be small, but the publication believed that rise might be continued indefinitely instead of reaching a peak in March or April.

Efforts will be made to firm shape and plate prices. It is expected. The Standard Statistics-Associated Press average for railroad stocks closed at a new low. Selling was particularly active in New Haven and New York Central, both of which were down more than 4 points net. Pennsylvania, a large owner of New Haven common and also a holder of Boston & Maine preferred, was steadier than most carrier shares, closing fractionally off. U. S. Steel made a new minimum at 50 1/2 but reduced its 3 point drop to 2 1/8.

CHICAGO GRAIN. Chicago, Dec. 8.—Jolled by an abrupt onslaught of selling after President Hoover's message to congress had been received, wheat values underwent a decided setback late today. Execution of many stop loss orders accompanied the downward sweep of wheat. A big part of the wheat selling was ascribed to houses with Wall Street connections, and went hand in hand with weakness of security as well as with news of moisture relief in drought regions of domestic winter wheat territory southward.

What closed nervous at almost the day's bottom, 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 cents under yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to 3-4 down, oats a shade to 1/8 off, and provisions unchanged to 1/2 cent lower.

There was no material selling pressure on corn or oats, but both the latter were recorded with what at the last, country offerings of corn were scarce, and primary arrivals less than half those of a year ago.

Provisions reflected downturns of hog values. Closing Indentments: Wheat Dec. 52 3/4, 53 1/4, 54 1/4, 55 1/4, 56 1/4, 57 1/4, 58 1/4, 59 1/4, 60 1/4, 61 1/4, 62 1/4, 63 1/4, 64 1/4, 65 1/4, 66 1/4, 67 1/4, 68 1/4, 69 1/4, 70 1/4, 71 1/4, 72 1/4, 73 1/4, 74 1/4, 75 1/4, 76 1/4, 77 1/4, 78 1/4, 79 1/4, 80 1/4, 81 1/4, 82 1/4, 83 1/4, 84 1/4, 85 1/4, 86 1/4, 87 1/4, 88 1/4, 89 1/4, 90 1/4, 91 1/4, 92 1/4, 93 1/4, 94 1/4, 95 1/4, 96 1/4, 97 1/4, 98 1/4, 99 1/4, 100 1/4.

PENNSYLVANIA HUNTERS BRING HOME THE VENISON

A HUNTING WE WILL GO!—And these members of the Plover's Lake (Pa.) Hunt and Field Club were only the advance guard of the thousands who swarmed into the Pocono mountains on the first day of the 1931 deer season. Game wardens estimated that nearly 6,000 hunters tramped the woods of Snyder and Union counties.

STEADY NOW!—Be sure it isn't another hunter, and don't get buck fever and fire at an illegal doe. That's what these two hunters were thinking as they opened the deer season in the Pocono mountains of Pennsylvania.

DEER, DEER!—That makes two deer, which was the bag that this trio of Allentown, Pa., hunters brought into camp at the beginning of the season. An unusual abundance of venison on the first day, and a record number of licensed hunters, accounted for the fact that fully 500 buck and legal doe were downed in the first day's shooting.

Bonds Zig-Zag In Uncertain Session

Table with columns for 'BOND MARKET AVERAGES', 'Today', 'Week Ago', 'Month Ago', 'Year Ago', '3 Yrs. Ago', 'High 1931', 'Low 1931', 'High 1930', 'Low 1930'.

New York, Dec. 8. (AP)—Although there were some indications of improvement, especially in the rails, the bond market zig-zagged today in a most uncertain manner and finally ended the average for 20 leading utilities to another new low for the year.

Many of the railway obligations were substantially up during most of the day and held some of their gains at the close. But most of the advances were diminished considerably during the last half hour, the trend apparently moving sympathetically with the downward stock list. The total sales were $9,555,000, or $253,000 under yesterday.

Slow Decline On Curb Is Continued

New York, Dec. 8. (AP)—The slow decline in curb market shares was virtually uninterrupted today. Small losses predominated at the finish, and a few thinly traded issues appeared at substantially lower levels, the turnover of 260,000 shares, however, was about 20,000 less than yesterday's.

Kentucky Tobacco Problem Tangled

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 7. (AP)—Kentucky's tobacco problem became more complicated today as burley growers, frustrated over low prices, halted opening sales at four warehouses here by shutting them down as the dark leaf growers did last week when sales opened at Owensboro, Henderson and Scottsville.

Police who attempted to arrest George Weiner, a leader of the protesting farmers here, were ejected from one warehouse without their intended prisoner. As the sales progressed during the morning the farmers shouted their objections and demonstrated so vehemently that sales were postponed until the afternoon. On several occasions fists were swung freely.

Major League Officials Dickering for Trades.

HARRIS SIGNS WITH DETROIT

Morgan and Wilson Hold Spotlight in Baseball Deals

BY PAUL MCKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Dec. 8 (AP)—Two of the best known hitters under baseball's big top, Eddie Morgan and Hack Wilson of the Cubs, hand-cuffed the major league trade winds today.

It appeared that the two players were pivotal points in virtually every outstanding deal and that none of the clubs in the two major leagues, here for their annual winter meeting and market days, wanted them. The Cubs were trying to use Wilson, their fallen home run king, in deals with Boston, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis without success, while the Indians offered Morgan, a great hitter but a mediocre fielding first baseman without a definite nibble.

Kress on Auction
Every time the Indians mentioned Morgan, a club owner or manager with whom they dealt would ask for Earl Averill, star Indian outfielder but each time General Manager Bill Evans would toss up his hands and answer: "Not a chance for Averill."

Ralph Kress, star St. Louis Brown outfielder, was definitely on the trading block and Washington, Chicago and New York were after him ever since it was revealed the Browns had failed to make a deal with the Indians.

The Cubs offered Wilson and a large bundle of William Wrigley, Jr.'s gold to the St. Louis Cardinals for outfielders George Watkins and Ernie Ottavio but the trade fell flat as far as was known.

New York Yankees were confronted with the sudden necessity of sending another player to St. Paul of the American association today in the transaction that gave them Jack Saltgaver, star St. Paul second baseman. The Yankees sent Pitcher Roy Sherid to the Saints as part of the deal but Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis has ruled Sherid ineligible for violations of rules and the Yankees have to send another player in his place.

The 1931 managerial lineup for the major leagues was completed today when Stanley "Bucky" Harris signed a one-year contract to pilot the Detroit Tigers for the fourth season. Owner Frank J. Navin said he was well satisfied with his progress with the young Tiger club. At the same time it was revealed that Harris was approached for the Pittsburgh manager ship which George Gibson took over last week.

Club owners of the American league held a long discussion on the radio problem and adopted a resolution by which no American league club can contract for radio rights after the 1932 season. During 1932, radio will be a matter of local club option.

The American league also voted to oppose "artificial doubleheaders" whereby clubs agree to move games up for double header purposes.

Frank J. Navin, Detroit, was re-elected vice president of the American league while owners of the Chicago, Cleveland and Boston clubs were elected to the board of directors.

National league owners also voted local option on the radio program but refused to approve the American league proposal to stop unnecessary doubleheaders.

State Briefs

Detroit (AP)—Fifteen families were driven into the street early Tuesday by a fire which destroyed a portion of an apartment house on Chalmers avenue. One family was taken down a ladder from the second floor by firemen who found them trapped in their apartment.

Lakeview (AP)—The Lakeview creamer was destroyed by fire Tuesday with an estimated loss of approximately $10,000. The blaze is believed to have been caused by an overheated boiler.

Paw Paw (AP)—A one-man jury Tuesday exonerated Ed Hodemaker, former sheriff, of any responsibility for an automobile accident near here Oct. 25 in which one person was killed and two others injured. Hodemaker resigned a week after the accident.

Detroit (AP)—Reduced tax collections Tuesday night forced a curtailment in the city's public lighting services. The voltage in all street lamps was reduced, cutting down the light 30 percent. Officials explained that the reduction would not be noticed. The saving is expected to amount to $76,000 a year.

The Rangers will hold their last practice tonight in preparation for the Taylor Trunks game. Manager Byrns has announced. He has requested a full turnout for this evening's session.

Maryland will meet the Navy in a basketball game dedicating a new men's field house on the Maryland campus January 23.

Condition of Ram Tackle Is Critical

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—The condition of John Szymanski of New Britain, Conn., Fordham university football tackle, was regarded as "critical" by Fordham hospital authorities tonight.

Injured in Fordham's closing game of the season with Bucknell November 21, Szymanski suffered a paralysis of the left side. The exact nature of the injury has been unexplained.

His condition during the past week showed steady improvement but a relapse last night has caused physicians to express grave concern for him.

Cornelius Murphy, who was relieved by Szymanski in the Bucknell game, died last week of his injuries after he had been believed out of danger.

Reports that Fordham was contemplating the abolition of football should Szymanski's injuries prove fatal brought forth no official comments from university authorities.

WILSON PLANS FOR COMEBACK

Baseball's Bad Boy Is Taking Himself More Seriously Now

Martinsburg, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP)—Hack Wilson, "Peck" of baseball, is taking himself more seriously now.

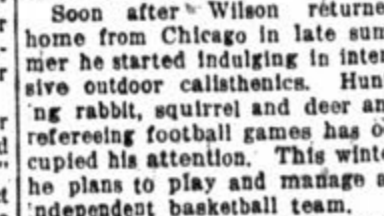

Friends of the burly Chicago Cubs' outfielder revealed today that Wilson, a native of Martinsburg, now has but a single thought in mind to get himself in the proverbial pink. Wilson is keeping his own counsel as to the purpose of his changed manner of living but associates are convinced he is trying to live down his reputation as a "troublemaker."

Soon after Wilson returned home from Chicago in late summer he started indulging in intensive outdoor callisthenics. Hunting rabbit, squirrel and deer and refereeing football games has occupied his attention. This winter he plans to play and manage an independent basketball team.

Since coming back to Martinsburg Wilson has kept close to the family hearth.

Wilson never confided in his friends the reason for his failure to maintain his hitting stride last season nor did he give an indication of what the future has in store for him. They see in his actions, however, signs that he has forsaken his indulgences which worked against his professional interests and is trying to get in condition for any eventualities.

The Cubs management has indicated that Wilson will not wear a bear uniform this coming season.

Hack Wilson

The American league also voted to oppose "artificial doubleheaders" whereby clubs agree to move games up for double header purposes.

Frank J. Navin, Detroit, was re-elected vice president of the American league while owners of the Chicago, Cleveland and Boston clubs were elected to the board of directors.

National league owners also voted local option on the radio program but refused to approve the American league proposal to stop unnecessary doubleheaders.

WITNESSES IN POWERS' TRIAL ACCUSE HIM

but when they were required to identify Powers, Mrs. Fleming looked him in the eye for a full minute before speaking, then said:

"That is the man."

Around Mrs. Fleming, as she sat on the stand, were bundles of her sister's possessions which she identified with occasional sobs.

As the grief-stricken woman left the stage she gave Powers a cold stare and then buried her face in a handkerchief.

The second day of the trial opened with the orchestra pit, the balcony and even half of the stage filled with spectators. Hundreds of other curious townspeople milled about in the street.

The first witness exhibited a rotted piece of belting shaped like a nose, which had been knotted around the divorcee's neck. As it was held up almost directly over Powers' head, the man the jurors will be asked to send to the gallows glanced at it with the unconcern he showed yesterday—then suddenly twitched and looked the other way.

Letter Is Produced
He had regained his composure by the time the next exhibit was brought out—the canvas straps with which Mrs. Lemke had been bound.

He continued to look on with indifference while much of the other evidence was unfolded, but he seemed surprised when the state introduced a letter it claims was written to his wife from his prison cell. She had handed it, without realizing its contents, to an officer who happened to be in Mrs. Powers' home, quizzing her, when it was delivered.

It was filled with affectionate phrases. Powers called his wife, "My beloved dear," and he sent her "love and kisses."

The letter, however, asked her to perjure herself at the trial to help save her husband from the gallows. It expressed concern over the fact that clothing of the slain woman had been found in the Powers home and that suspicion

TRUNKS HOLD GOOD RECORD

Chicago Girls Have Won 242 Games in Last Ten Years

The Escanaba Rangers basketball team is busy this week preparing their attack for the nationally famous Taylor Trunks girls' basketball team of Chicago whom the Rangers will meet at the Coliseum gymnasium next Monday evening, December 14.

The attraction is hailed here as the greatest basketball attraction ever to be brought to Escanaba and that the public has approved of this arrangement has been evidenced in the rapid disposition of reserved seats for the game.

The Taylor Trunks, national champions, were organized in the year of 1921 and they have played successfully every year thereafter—not missing a single season. They have and they hold the most colorful record of any girls basketball team in the world. Three of the players who started with the team in the year that the club was organized, are still playing with the team today.

They started to play when they were thirteen years of age. The average age for the whole team is twenty-two years, and the average weight for the whole squad is 125 pounds.

Hazel Kelfstrom, the newest member on the club, is sixteen and graduated from high school recently.

Nearly All Employed
The majority of the girls are gainfully employed, during the day in such capacities as office clerks, stenographers—two being playground instructors for the city of Chicago. The world wide reputation which the Taylor Trunks enjoy was not made overnight, but it took all of these years to develop this through hard work and harmony.

Since the date of its organization to the present date the Taylor Trunks have played a total of 288 games, winning 242 and losing 46. All defeats were by men's teams. During these ten seasons they have scored a total of 7,817 points. They hold victories over the House of David five and several other boys' teams.

The Taylor Trunks could not find enough competition in their own ranks anymore, so they had to play the men at their own expense. These Taylor Trunk girls do not claim that they are on a par with the men's teams, but if they are given a chance with the ball, they can put up a remarkable exhibition of basket ball.

Reduce Expenses Of Detroit's Railway

Detroit, Dec. 8 (AP)—Wage cuts and one-man operation for additional lines are included in a program of retrenchment submitted by the management of the municipally operated Detroit street railways to the city council today.

Wage cuts approximating eight per cent and salary reductions of from ten to 20 per cent are proposed. Twenty per cent of the mileage would be converted to one-man operation. The East Jefferson coach line would be abandoned and a coach line established on Dexter boulevard to compete with the profitable line operated by the privately owned Detroit motorbus company.

The number of "runs" would be reduced by 575 and the number of employees would be "pared to the minimum."

The avowed purpose is to eliminate the $200,000 monthly deficit within three months.

Strikers Agree to Return to Classes

Laramie, Wyo., Dec. 8 (AP)—University of Wyoming students who refused to attend classes until the school president, A. G. Cramer, apologized for his remarks concerning "petting and drinking" at college functions, agreed tonight to go back to classes if they were not punished.

The decision was reached at a meeting with Laramie business men who told the striking students—900 of the 1,200 enrolled, leaders of the revolt estimated—they could not take their grievance before the board of trustees unless they returned to their classes. The president today refused to apologize and issued an order barring all "strikers" from the campus.

A conference will be held tomorrow between the president and a student committee.

CAGE CONTESTS

Scores in the high school basketball tournament last evening were: Michigan 23, Minnesota 15; Northwestern 19, Ohio State 16. Due to the interest in the league, a new team, Michigan State, has been entered making it a "Big 11" instead of Big Ten.

SPARTAN CAGE TEAM IS GREEN

But Have Much Ability, Says Coach Planning For Michigan Game

East Lansing, Mich., Dec. 8 (AP)—The inexperience of his Michigan State basketball team brought Coach Ben Van Alstyne his chief concern today as he continued his drills for the Michigan game at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Van Alstyne refused to take any comfort in the 33 to 27 score against Michigan and Western State Teachers last night. The Teachers used a fast breaking game of attack which is comparatively unknown in the Western world's championship pocket ball tournament by defeating Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., 125 to 17 in tonight's second game.

Spencer Lurvey, of Los Angeles, defeated Marcel Camp, of Detroit, 125 to 105, in 16 innings in the first night game.

George Kelly, of Philadelphia, defeated Al Miller, of Racine, Wis., 125 to 36, and Robert Lindblom, of Seattle, lost to Bennie Allen, of Kansas City, 125 to 120 in the afternoon games.

Greenleaf Is Tied With Erwin Rudolph

Philadelphia, Dec. 8 (AP)—Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, tied Erwin Rudolph, of Cleveland, defender; champion, for first place in the world's championship pocket billiard tournament by defeating Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., 125 to 17 in tonight's second game.

Spencer Lurvey, of Los Angeles, defeated Marcel Camp, of Detroit, 125 to 105, in 16 innings in the first night game.

CORNELL TEAM PICKED TO WIN

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP)—Having proved to their own satisfaction that they could lick Pennsylvania, Princeton and Columbia in the course of the regular playing season, Cornell's huskies will attempt to do it all over again tomorrow in the interests of charity.

The big Red team from Ithaca, on the strength of its earlier triumphs, stands out as the favorite in the four-cornered pigskin circus that is expected to attract upwards of 30,000 to Yankee stadium and earn some $45,000 for the unemployed.

Unlike last week's round robin at New Haven, from which Yale emerged victorious, pairings for tomorrow's program will not be known until a half hour before the first tussle starts at 1 p. m. (E. S. T.). Then they will be decided by lot, so there may be no charge of favoritism.

All three games will be of 24 minutes duration, divided into 12 minute halves. In the event of a tie either in the preliminaries or the final, a committee of judges will name the winner on the basis of yards gained and first downs.

Ens replaced Donie Bush as plot near the end of the 1929 season and served until through the 1930 and 1931 campaigns. He was connected with the Pirates for ten years as player, coach and manager.

Loyola to Promote Ninth Tournament

Chicago, Dec. 8 (AP)—Loyola University today announced that the ninth annual renewal of its National Catholic Interscholastic Basketball tournament will be held March 18 to 20.

The tournament will be an invitational affair, with bids going to state champions, runners-up, and outstanding teams in states which have no championship tournament.

GOLFERS BEGIN TOURNEY TODAY

San Francisco, Dec. 8 (AP)—More than 200 amateurs and professional golfers wound up practice today for the start tomorrow of the second annual $7,500 San Francisco tournament, billed as the national open match play championship.

Headed by Billy Burke, national open champion, and Leo Diegel of Azusa, Caliente, Mex., defending title holder, most of the outstanding professionals of the country will tee off at the Lake Merced course in the first round of the 36-hole qualifying test. The second round to determine the 32 qualifiers will be held Thursday.

Hagen is Present
Besides Burke and Diegel, other "front-runners" in the list of stars include Walter Hagen, Al Espinosa, Aubrey Boomer of England, Tom Creavy of Albany, N. Y., professional golfers' association champion; Horton Smith, Gene Sarazen, George Von Elm, Craig Wood, Wiffy Cox, Harry Cooper, John Golden, Paul Runyan, and the Dutra brothers, Olin and Mortie. Observers rated each of this group as having an even chance at the 1,500 top money.

Three noted linksmen were absent for the start of the winter tournament season. Tom Armour, British open champion, and Bill Meihorn, filed entries but had not appeared today. Johnny Farrell, a former national open champion, decided to continue his honeymoon and left for Los Angeles, there to take boat to Honolulu.

Among crack amateurs who will seek tournament honors are H. Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore., twice national titleholder; Johnny Dawson of Chicago, and leading Simon-pures of this section.

Bring Boat Races To Bay City, 1932

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 8 (AP)—A movement to bring the national championship outboard motor boat races to Bay City next October was launched tonight at a meeting here of the Michigan Boating Association and received encouragement from James W. Mulroy, secretary of the National Outboard Association, who attended the meeting.

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker commended the activities of the association as aiding the state's tourist industry, and it was announced that there will be a Governor Brucker trophy at the International Outboard races at Manistee next summer.

In addition to Bay City and Manistee, cities which are seeking recognition of title-making regattas are Flint, Wyandotte, Spring Lake-Muskegon and Harbor Springs. Approval of the National Association of Regattas for racing but not title making was asked by Beulah, Gull Lake, Traverse City and Lansing.

STREET SLIDING IS PROHIBITED

Escanaba Police Will Take Sleds Away From Children

Youngsters who yield to the lure of slippery pavements and do their sliding in the street stand the risk of losing their sleds, the Escanaba police department warned yesterday. The police will take charge of the sleds.

The hazard to automobile traffic presented by children and sleds and the resultant danger of maiming or killing some small child causes the police to take this drastic measure.

The slippery condition of the streets, while highly favorable for sleds, make it hard for automobile brakes to function properly, and it is doubly dangerous at this time, the police point out, for youngsters to use the street for their sport. A number of narrow escapes have already been reported as sleds scooted out from the curb into the path of approaching cars, and local officers are warning parents and children that the practice must stop. Sleds will be taken away from children caught sliding in the street, the police department promises.

In an effort to cut down casualties from coasting in the streets during the winter, the National Safety council recently urged city governments and safety organizations throughout the country to make advance plans to keep children off heavily traveled streets. The lesser used streets are just as dangerous, however, Escanaba police maintain, due to the fact that the children are not so much on the lookout for traffic. They often disregard automobile horns, and the motorist does not know whether or not they are aware of his approach.

John is pursuing a course in chemical engineering at State college and is a member of the varsity band. He was a member of the 1930 graduating class of Escanaba high school, and was a post-graduate student there the following school year.

Misplaced Sympathy For Law Violator

Newberry, Dec. 8 (Special)—Sympathy for Forest Wheeler, 25 year old Laketon man arrested a short time ago when game wardens found him hunting rabbits without a license, is greatly misplaced, according to conservation officers and the justice before whom his case was tried. Newspaper publicity captioned "Hunter Man Arrested" and stating that Wheeler was hunting rabbits for his sick wife and two children brought the case before the public.

Wheeler lives in a cabin near the Danaher road off M28 and has been alleged to be a persistent game violator for years, according to officers. He was arrested two years ago in February when he was found with a rifle and a dead deer by two officers. They looked into his home conditions and felt sorry for him, giving him back his rifle and dropping the case against him. Another time a neighbor paid a fine on venison which he had killed.

When found in the woods by Officers Marlette and Anderson he was carrying a gun and had no license. Marlette took him to a downtown restaurant and paid for a hearty meal for him. In justice court he admitted that he was hunting with no permit. He was found guilty, his fine was suspended, he was given 30 days to pay the costs of the case and his gun was returned to him. He has not paid.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Oas and family of Munising are visiting at the home of their brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilson for a few days.

This week C. P. West, Luce county agent, is visiting all rural schools lining up the winter club projects. There will be several hot lunch, garment and handicraft clubs, with leaders and membership to be announced later.

Hubert Men Are Arrested With Doe

Three Hubert men, charged with having a doe in their possession, appeared before Justice Gray at Hulbert on December 7. Frank and Cecil Butler, brothers, 28 and 24 respectively and George Barrus, 20, were arrested by conservation officers on Nov. 27. Only the case against Frank was tried, the others being dropped.

The case was something of a show for the large audience which filled the Hulbert township hall. Butler was defended by Agent Tobin of Soo Junction and Julius Thorsen of Newberry acted as prosecutor. Butler had pleaded not guilty in justice court on November 30, claiming mistakes in the warrant as his defense and demanded a jury trial. He was found guilty, was given a fine of $50 and costs or 30 days in jail and will automatically lose his hunting rights for three years. He plans to carry the case to circuit court.

Tom Davis of Rudyard has been caring for two deer for the department for more than a year. One was a three-legged doe, being badly injured when Davis got it. The other was picked up last spring. Some one took down the fence in which the animals were enclosed and let them out. There are signs that the crippled one was killed. The other has not been seen and is believed to have been killed. Spite work is blamed.

OLD BEDDING WANTED
Margaret Shilson, county agent, is asking for old clean comforters and pieces of old linens for use in her baby work this winter. The comforters will be covered with new warm materials before they are given out. Any one having such articles will be doing an excellent service if they will bring them in to the community building or call Miss Shilson.

What Are They Doing Now?

Little Items of Interest About Former Residents.

A former Escanaba resident who now holds a splendid position in Montreal, P. Q., Canada, is Mrs. Lucile Dube Ranguette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Dube, South Eleventh street.

Lucile Dube Ranguette was born in this city and received her early education at St. Anne's Parochial school, later entering Escanaba high school where she graduated in June 1923. Mrs. Ranguette secured a position as stenographer and book-keeper for the Sample Garment Company of this city, formerly located at 919 Ludington street, and later held the same kind of position with the Escanaba Broom Company, a firm which has since been discontinued.

In 1927 Mrs. Ranguette, accompanied by her little daughter Marilyn, who is now four and one-half years old, left this city for Canada. Shortly after her arrival in Montreal she entered the employ of the Sun Oil Company Limited, oil refiners of that city. She continues to hold the position of stenographer for that concern and likes her work immensely.

Mrs. Ranguette states in a letter written recently that although Escanaba will always be home to her she likes Montreal very much. "As a city it can not be compared and when I do go to Michigan on vacation visits something magnetically draws me back to the land of the maple."

Mrs. Ranguette visited here on several occasions since her departure from this city.

"I'll be fair with you.."

"I LIKE the way you put it up to us smokers to judge your cigarette by absolutely real things like mildness and better taste. Sounds like good common sense!"

Fair enough! That's all Chesterfield wants. That's all Chesterfield could ask for and does ask for—a trial.

"Promises fill no sack." After all, it's what you get out of a smoke that counts. And what you get out of Chesterfield, or anything else for that matter, depends on what goes in.

Better tobaccos don't grow than the tobaccos that go into Chesterfield. Ripe. Sweet. Aged and cured for two years under the watchful care of expert chemists.

Better cigarette paper can't be bought. Tasteless. Odorless. Pure!

Sanitary factories. Cleanliness in every step of the process. A purer cigarette than Chesterfield can't be made.

And the package! Absolutely moisture-proof. Sealed tight—yet the simplest thing in the world to open. And attractive to look at.

They're milder—they taste better—they're pure—They Satisfy!
