Real Estate Tax Burden Too Great

Ann Arbor, June 29.—Michigan's tax troubles arise mainly from the fact that the real estate tax system, suitable in the days when the State was largely agricultural, is called upon to bear too large a proportion of the burden in these days when wealth is centered greatly in personal and industrial property which is not adequately reached by the tax gatherer. Professor Harcourt L. Caverly, of this city, president of Michigan's economic department club women assembled here for the second Adult Education Conference.

"Government costs have gone beyond the capacity of the property to support," Professor Caverly said. "Michigan, in common with other industrial states, has seen extensive growth in governmental costs, highway and school plant maintenance, charitable and social work, both in state and local units. Welfare work necessarily has been increased in the depression years, and has increased the difficulty of reducing tax burdens."

"Some of the costs of government can and must be reduced, and future governments must avoid the excessive borrowing common of the past which is now saddling the taxpayers in countless times with fixed interest and sinking fund bond payments, declared Professor Caverly. However Michigan's present making up a city and industrial commonwealth makes impossible the elimination of these special and community responsibilities of government unnecessary in the days when farms and small town farm centers were the rule, he said. This calls for transfer of a fair proportion of the tax burden from real property, which has declined as a proportion of State wealth as personal property, based on industrial in-

BUSINESS IMPROVES

Business conditions are improving vigorously, and the prevailing sentiment among people of all classes and occupations has in recent weeks become far more confident and even optimistic.

PRICES ADVANCE

Since early in April the prices in most commodities and securities have advanced materially in this country. This has greatly encouraged manufacturers who have seen the worth of their inventories increasing, and the bankers who have realized that some of their loans were becoming safer.

VACATIONS ARE NECESSARY

It was Dewey who said that one could do a year's work in 11 months, but never in 12. There is little doubt that a vacation is as much a necessity as a good night's sleep.

FOUR ROYAL VERSES

Clarence Urmy, an American poet and musician, organist, and choirmaster who lived in California and died in 1922, wrote four verses that cover the great things of life.

"Not what we have, but what we use; Not what we see, but what we choose— These are the things that make or bless The sum of human happiness.

"The things near by, not things afar; Not what we seem, but what we are— These are the things that make or break That give the heart its joy or ache.

"Not what seems fair, but what is true; Not what we dream, but good we do— These are the things that shine like gems; Like stars in Fortune's diadems.

"Not as we take, but as we give; Not as we pray, but as we live— These are the things that make for peace, Both now and after 'Time shall cease.'"

MARRIAGE SETTLEMENTS

Among the old-fashioned and unjust conditions which exist in our social life today is the awarding of alimony and support to the wife when the home is broken up.

WORLD RECOVERY

Business recovery has been under way for about a year in most of the important industrial countries, and now it is beginning to make progress here. This country is now participating in a general recovery of industrial activity that was initiated abroad.

SEEN AND HEARD IN OUR TRAVELS

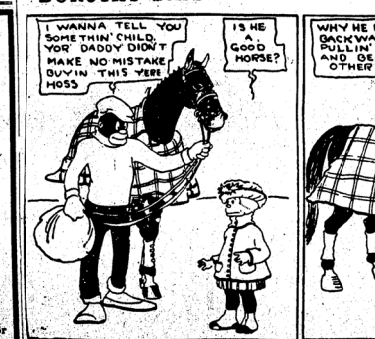

"The boys of 1917 Company, C. C. C., of Camp Manistique, wish to express their gratitude for the services rendered by Mrs. Maude Baker, 155 Cedar street, for the large assistance of magazines she delivered to our camp during our training."

We have nothing against the government's policy regarding the C. C. C. program. It is a splendid undertaking and one that is teaching the young men of our country the kind of discipline that so many of them need.

Our all make mistakes but there is probably no one whose attention is called to this fact more than our editor. Because of the wide circulation of his mistake the editor always hears it. Not long ago there was a shooting at Indian Lake, Frank Krul (Linotype Operator, please be sure this name is right), and Bob Anderson went to the shooting man's residence and only missed saving him by a few inches.

The following news story with a Lansing headline is somewhat amusing: "The Conservation Department has added its voice in the age old argument among deer hunters whether those living in the deer country are better hunters than those living in the southern part of the state."

Millions of Bushels Of Potatoes Lost in U. S.

By Ravages of Flea Beetle

One of the worst potato pests in the United States is the flea beetle, which some years causes losses as high as a million dollars in the soil and under trash. It is very important to destroy these beetles carried over through the winter, for such early control will prevent their laying of eggs which hatch into larvae in a very short time.

The grower of potatoes has two weapons against the flea beetle (1) the use of fertilizers that will stimulate the growth of the potato plants and give them health and vigor, and (2) the spraying with Pyrox insecticide when the beetles make their appearance. Spraying with Pyrox is one of the most effective control of the pest.

Teacher Surplus Shown In Report

Ann Arbor, June 29.—Michigan's surplus teachers in institutions turned out 5,194 teachers in 1931, while 8,255 were given teachers' certificates, several times more than were needed to fill the demands of the State's schools.

From 1910 to 1929 there was a 67 per cent increase in school enrollment, and, during the war years, a shortage of teachers. As a result of these conditions, all of the 91 public and parochial and private colleges training teachers increased their production, states Professor Arthur B. Moehman, of the University of Michigan.

Efforts For World Peace is Outlined By Speakers At Rotary Convention

Boston, Mass., June 29. The G. M. R. of the 24th annual Rotary convention reached its climax today with the attention of the eight thousand Rotarians centered principally on the efforts of Rotary and of the governments of the world in bringing about a greater harmony among nations.

The future prospects for world peace, from the standpoint of economic as well as political relationships were described by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, majority leader in the United States Senate, speaking on the topic "What Lies Ahead?"

Senator Robinson's address developed in a more definite relationship those who were pointed out by the preceding speaker, Sir Robert Falconer, K. C. M. G., for twenty-five years president of the University of Toronto.

In his speech on "Our Common Civilization," Sir Robert related the many contributions to the world's culture that have been made by every nation, and the ties which, together, ought to bind all peoples together.

The Rotarians from about sixty different countries, had spent the week enjoying international fellowship and discussion of common problems of business and Rotary club affairs.

Committee reports showed that this was one of the largest of Rotary conventions, in spite of the economic conditions and the foreign exchange difficulties in the United Kingdom, where there are ten thousand Rotarians, produced a convention setting which was complemented by every visitor.

Between the business sessions of the convention, the Boston and New England Rotarians presented a delightful program of entertainment. The Boston Symphony Orchestra of nearly 100 pieces gave a concert. Four hundred members of the New England Federated Men's Glee Clubs presented a full evening's program.

It's quite possible that we may have a new era in radio when September rolls around. Certain broadcast people have indicated that they wanted love stories but that makes this scribbler shudder. If we are fed love stories with the same fervor that sponsors tossed mystery dramas at us, loudspeakers are certainly going to be rung with molasses and honey. It seems that someone should be able to strike a happy medium on the air.

Rotary's Cross Section of Business World Ends 24th Annual Convention

Boston, Mass., June 29.—A cross-section of the business world, eight thousand Rotarians from about sixty countries were separated into homeward bound units for the 24th annual Rotary convention to close.

Since Monday afternoon a steady procession of addresses, conferences and entertainments have spread among the Rotarians a vivid picture of the activities and responsibilities of Rotary and Rotarians in service to the world.

From a survey of the problems of the small town Rotary club by the members of the convention, up to a description of the efforts of the statesmen of the world to bring about a general peace, the program of the convention covered much of the topics of particular interest to the average business man.

President Clinton P. Anderson, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, set the keynote in motion Monday afternoon with a review of his own and his official associates' activities. Rotary is showing its role in the depression, his report said, with one hundred new Rotary clubs organized in the last twelve months and a membership increase which might well indicate that the business tide is turning at last.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Majority Leader in the United States Senate, was the major address on the convention program Friday, discussed the world conferences planned and the progress for the improvement of economic conditions, and the creation of a more friendly understanding among the leading nations of the world.

Between these opening and closing speeches the delegates were busy absorbing information about Rotary, about their own occupations, about special activities such as crippled children work and boy work, and enjoying the progress hospitality and entertainment provided by the Rotarians of Boston and New England.

In his address to more than 10,000 Rotarians, dressed in the costumes of the early Puritans, he urged by their wives in the picturesque dress of three centuries ago, welcomed the Rotary visitors on Monday night at an "International Fellowship Meeting" in Mechanics Hall where the convention events were centered.

Governor Ely of Massachusetts presented a perfect replica of the Massachusetts State House, in silhouette, as a decoration for the spacious lounge adjoining the convention auditorium, which was known by the Rotarians as the "House of Friendship." Cross-trees, a little fence, gravelled walks and everything necessary to create the appearance of a typical New England "common" or park surrounded this little state house, while around the walls were scores of beautiful landscape paintings of New England scenes. A band concert and dancing was the program.

Every phase of the activity of a Rotary club was scrutinized in the sessions of Tuesday, the delegates meeting in small groups in the afternoon so that each one might give his views and suggestions. A concert by the Boston Symphony Orchestra Tuesday evening delighted the visitors.

Rotary's possibilities for service in the international field dominated the discussions on Wednesday. The new world order from various standpoints, was the topic for speakers from five different parts of the world, and five widely different opinions.

Nearly ten thousand couples enjoyed the brilliant scene at the ball in honor of President and Mrs. Anderson and the other officers of Rotary International and their ladies, on Wednesday evening.

is our first arm of defense. Separated from Europe and Asia by thousands of miles of ocean, there is little danger of an invasion of American soil by an alien foe so long as we maintain a navy as good as the best. The fact also plan as to need little explanation. The proposed construction of thirty-two new naval vessels is a big step in the right direction. It is a threat to no nation and a notice to all that Uncle Sam will not be caught unprepared in case of attack.

Gas Tax Nearly 5 Cents Gallon

Lansing, Mich., June 29.—The total tax on gasoline you pay for your car after July 1, will be about 4 1/2 cents a gallon. The office of the secretary of state will collect the three-cent state gasoline tax; the federal government will collect 1 1/2 cents (the last half cent being effective June 16), and the state board of tax administrators will collect its 3 per cent sales tax, which will equal about 1/2 of a cent a gallon. In many states of the union, the total state and national tax on gasoline will exceed the price of the fluid itself.

Many Creeks Have Peculiar Slogans

Lansing, June 29. What occasion inspired the naming of many creeks in Michigan is not known, but what does seem to be the name of many creeks in Michigan is probably named before the year 1818 and it isn't difficult to reason why. Skunk creek in Antrim county; Duck Creek in Antrim county; Devil River in Alpena county; Sugar Creek in Oscoda county; Squaw Creek in Delta county; Sugar river and Molasses river in Gladwin county are among the scores of other streams that inspire curiosity.

32 Million From New Tax Expected

Lansing, Mich., June 29.—While the state may spend money in huge sums, it collects it almost penny by penny. The three per cent sales tax, effective July 1, is a sterling example. If retail business of the state is only half as large as it was in 1928, the state government will gather in, at the rate of three cents on each dollar and everyone else passes over retail counters a total of some $32,000,000 a year.

It Takes More Than Salts, Calomel, Mineral Waters, Oils, or Laxative Pills To Arouse a Sluggish Liver

They Give Only Temporary Relief From Constipation and Bloating. Because They Have No Effect Whatever on the Liver or Its Production of Bile.

Bile is nature's laxative and your stomach and bowels require at least one quart of fresh bile every day to keep them clean, pure, free from fermentation, gas and disease germs. When your liver becomes sluggish the bile stagnates and stokes flowing freely. The contents of your bowels become the breeding place for germs and poisons; your food does not digest—it just ferments and decays in the bowels. The blood absorbs these poisons and you suffer from constipation, gas, sick headaches, biliousness, nervousness and sore stomach.

Sargol Soft Mass Pills remove the cause of this condition in nature's way. They are not like any other medicine you have ever taken. They are so gentle, thorough and natural in their action that there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken a medicine, and most remarkable of all you gradually receive a laxative at all.

If you have tried Sargol Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of the effects produced by this natural cleansing of your liver and bowels. It makes you feel younger, stronger, healthier and happier. It brings back life and color to faded eyes and cheeks, restores the appetite and sound digestion—gives you a new outlook on life itself.

Based on genuine Sargol Soft Mass Pills. Don't be misled. There are only two generally recognized substitutes which will actually stimulate a languid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargol Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances.

State Stocks Its Feeding Stations

Lansing, June 29.—Stocking of its feeding stations with millions of rainbow, brown and brook trout fry has been completed for the season, the Fish Division of the Conservation Department has announced. The fish were transferred by truck from the various hatcheries engaged in the propagation of trout.

All of the trout will be held in the stations until after the close of the trout fishing season, Labor Day, when they will be planted. At that time they will run in size from 1/2 inch to eight inches in length, the Division said.

In the meantime hatchery employees and conservation officers are inspecting the trout streams for the purpose of studying conditions that recommendations might be made to the Fish Division for an equitable distribution of the fish.

The dispatch referred to, is the one which came out of official circles at Washington the other day to the effect that President Roosevelt had agreed to meet with the construction program of three years duration, to build three-two new ships at an estimated cost of $28,000,000. The money is to come from the $3,500,000,000 public works act passed by the recent session of Congress. Of the total amount to be expended in building up our navy the sum of $16,000,000 will be spent in the first year, $10,000,000 the second year, and the balance in the third year of the program. The ships to be constructed are two aircraft carriers of 15,000 tons each; four light cruisers of 10,000 tons each; two minesweepers of 2,000 tons each; and four submarines of 1,400 tons each. The total is 111,000 tons.

In commenting on the new naval program, Secretary of the Navy Swanson said: "It is a start toward a treaty navy. We are going to construct a fleet of ships as ships as we can. It is a program to put labor to work on the labor which is idle in the building than anything else. Eighty-five per cent of the money spent on building American warships goes to help the unemployed. The limit we can build is measured by the capacity of the yards. We think we can build to the full capacity of both public and private yards for two years."

It is entirely true, as Secretary Swanson asserted, that the building of these warships will employ many thousands of workers and many more thousands indirectly, that the "steel industry, the railroads and allied lines throughout the length and breadth of the land" will be of necessity benefited. Secretary Swanson is again worth quoting when he says: "I know of no more effective or praiseworthy way of giving our industrial life that country-wide stimulus which it so sorely needs than by financing a portion of the money and energy which is to be used for public construction to this vital arm of our national defense."

The construction of these ships will undoubtedly contribute in an important way to our national industrial revival. But there is an even more important angle. The ships will contribute toward building up our navy to strength agreed to in the London naval conference. Not to build up to this strength would be a betrayal of the best interests of the American people. No nation wants war less than does the United States. If we follow the wise policies of Washington and Jefferson we will not engage in war unless it becomes a matter of national self-defense. And the American navy
