Cities Do Not Just Happen . . .

THEY ARE BUILT BY MEN!

ARE YOU DOING YOUR PART for Manistique? Bear in mind that if Manistique is to make any progress, it must come from the people in Manistique—not those whose interests are elsewhere.

If you do not spend your money at home and co-operate ONE HUNDRED PERCENT with those who are trying to do something for your city, you are selling your home town short.

We wonder how many can truthfully say that they have fostered and encouraged home industry; that they are in no way to blame for industries abandoning our town; or how many must admit that by their indifference and lack of support they have caused these industries to look for other towns more friendly toward them.

Schoolcraft county, it was reported this morning by George C. Fowler, of Manistique, a member of the commission.

Those who attended the meeting were William H. Loutis of Grand Haven, chairman; Commissioners Harold Titus of Traverse City; Philip Schumacher of Ann Arbor; M. J. Fox of Iron Mountain, and George C. Fowler of Manistique; George K. Hogarth, director, and Ray E. Cotton, secretary of Lansing; and Colonel William Bergin of Marquette, assistant chief field administrator in charge of the upper peninsula.

The commission and officials reached the upper peninsula Monday and spent Monday night at Mackinac Island as the guests of Roger Andrews, former Menominee publisher and now chairman of the Mackinac Island park commission. They also inspected the Civilian Conservation Corps camp on the island. Dinner was enjoyed Tuesday noon by the group at Blaney park, where Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids, were their guests. Tuesday afternoon the commission inspected the Seneca C. C. camp and the trout rearing ponds on the Fox river near Seney. Later in the afternoon they were the guests of Commissioner Philip Schumacher at Camp Newton, south of Grand Marais. Tuesday evening was spent at the Casino game preserve where they inspected the preserve and the Casino C. C. camp. Dinner was served at the same place after which the party left for the Great Northwoods club on Big Murphy lake to spend the night. Wednesday morning a routine business meeting was held, following which the group left for Marquette.

Commissioner Titus, Director Hogarth, Secretary Cotton and Colonel Bergin left the party at Marquette for Ewen to supervise the battle against a disastrous forest fire raging in Ontonagon county. Commissioner Titus drove to Otey river, Houghton county, to inspect the new trout rearing pond now under construction. Commissioner Fox remained in Marquette to attend a Republican rally on Wednesday evening. Commissioners Schumacher and Fowler returned to their homes.

Rental Library Proving Popular

Due to the fact that several misunderstandings have arisen relative to the new rental collection of books in the Manistique school and public library, the following statements have been made by the librarian.
During the past 10 days over 30 of the latest books of fiction and non-fiction have been purchased for the benefit of all those who are willing to pay a nominal rental for their use. As soon as these books are ready for themselves they will be turned into the general library for regular circulation purposes. Books in the general library will be circulated rent free as usual. Insufficient funds for the purchase of new books have made it expedient to open this rental library and so bring to the public the new reading matter to which it has become accustomed. The idea seems to be proving very popular from the circulation records of the past week. All of the books that have been best liked in the city libraries have been included in the selection and more will be added from time to time, so a genuine opportunity for much good reading has been afforded. A charge of 10 cents is made when each book is taken out. If the book is kept any longer than three days an additional charge of three cents will be made daily. By the purchase of a $1.50 card for $1.00 this charge of 3c per day for extra days can be cut down to 2c per day.

We have been asked numerous questions regarding Special Trust Deposits, and for the information and benefit of all our customers, we are summarizing below a complete explanation of just how these deposits are handled:

Special Trust Deposits

Special Trust Deposits are 100% liquid and the full amount can be drawn out in cash or checked out at any time without any notice whatever.

Money deposited in Special Trust cannot be invested or mingled with the other assets of the bank, but must be kept intact in cash, or on deposit with the Federal Reserve Bank, or in United States bonds.

The Conservator of a National Bank is a government representative responsible directly to Washington, and when you make a deposit in a Special Trust Account your money is under direct government control.

When the bank is authorized to re-open on an unrestricted basis, you will be notified, and depositors in Special Trust Accounts then have 15 days to decide whether to withdraw their Special Trust Accounts or continue in the regular way, as the Special Trust feature automatically continues for 15 days after the bank is authorized to re-open on an unrestricted basis.

Your money in a Special Trust Account in this bank, therefore, is absolutely safe and available 100% at any time without notice.

Merchants, Manufacturers, Professional-Men, Housewives and Individuals are free and welcome to deposit and operate a Special Trust Checking Account for the payment of their bills.
