

The problems facing the executive committee of the 1946 F.OTSAM JETSAM are many and somewhat serious. It is given the full cooperation of the committee and the efforts to eliminate and entertain the committee who are expected here to the level. Among the toughest problems is housing, feeding and financing.

The financing problem itself is serious, inasmuch as the convention committee expects to have expenses of $2,000 alone. Incidentally, the parade will probably cost the largest amount to the present plans the committee is given the full cooperation of the committee and the efforts to eliminate and entertain the committee who are expected here to the level. Among the toughest problems is housing, feeding and financing.

While writing the story on the New Elm street sewer project, as announced at the city council meeting, it is the city's intention to permit the gravity flow of sewage into the North Cedar line. Estimates prepared by the Francis Engineering company, St. Louis, Mo., said, showed that the installation of a lift station equipped with an automatic pump would be necessary.

After considerable discussion, the council informally agreed to carry the cost of the lift station and pump if property owners were willing to pay the cost of the sewer line assessment. This matter will be brought up again at the next meeting of the council at which time the council will be presented to the council, and action started to get the project underway.

There was a time for excitement during the past several days. The "Fill the Church" campaign conducted during the past several days by the First Baptist church district, success, it was reported by the Rev. D. B. Adams, pastor.

Last Sunday, concluding day of the campaign, attendance records were broken. The Rev. M. Adams reported that the church auditorium was filled to capacity, and for the first time in many years, the church was opened to take care of the overflow. At evening services, 26 persons were baptized, the largest number to receive baptism at one time in the history of the church.

CITY MAY BEAR PART OF SEWER PROJECT COST

Council Informally Agrees To Pay For Pump Installation On Elm St.

Installation of sewer services on New Elm street, a short distance north of the intersection of North Cedar next to the river, was assured at a regular meeting of the city council Monday night when the city informally agreed to defray the cost of a lift station and pump which will be necessary to carry sewage from New Elm street to the North Cedar sewer line.

Martin Selting and George Danko appeared before the council on behalf of the property owners on New Elm street. Both men told the council that while property owners are willing to pay for the sewer line being installed, they felt that the additional expense of the lift station and pump would be too great to spread on a special assessment roll.

Charles D. Mason, city manager, reviewed the history of the proposed New Elm street sewer, stating that the street was too far below the level of North Cedar to permit the gravity flow of sewage into the North Cedar line. Estimates prepared by the Francis Engineering company, St. Louis, Mo., said, showed that the installation of a lift station equipped with an automatic pump would be necessary.

Preliminary cost estimates placed the sewer installation at the expense of $1,754. The additional expense of the lift station and pump would be $1,078, making a total expense of $2,832.

After considerable discussion, the council informally agreed to carry the cost of the lift station and pump if property owners were willing to pay the cost of the sewer line assessment. This matter will be brought up again at the next meeting of the council at which time the council will be presented to the council, and action started to get the project underway.

Community Cooperation Needed On Road To Industrial Peace

Conciliator Tells Rotarians

That skeleton which Frank Richards dug up not long ago at Thompson was neither that of a prehistoric dinosaur nor an alligator transplanted from its natural habitat in Florida. At least, that's what the Chicago National History Museum director says. He believes the skeleton is that of a bison.

In a letter to Dr. E. D. Branagan, president of the Manistiquine Lions club, who sent the skeleton to the Chicago museum sometime ago, the museum director, Clifford C. Gregg, wrote:

"Dear Dr. Branagan: There was forwarded to you on 12 April, by parcel post, a package containing the specimen you sent in for identification. The Department of Geology has examined the specimen and the Acting Chief Curator states that the material consists of the posterior part of a skull and the atlas and axis vertebrae. The animal represented appears to be the American Bison. Despite their extreme dissimilarity, bison and domestic cattle are so much alike the skeletal structure that it is difficult to distinguish between them in many cases. The size of the specimen submitted, however, would indicate that it is bison."

Very truly yours, Clifford C. Gregg, Director.

TIPS FOR FARMERS

Seed Grain Treatment
This spring, when the world needs every bushel of grain farmers can grow, it's more important than ever to treat seed grain. All small grains that suffer from smuts, rots and blights call for about the same treatment. You can do a good job with a mercury dust that you can get at any farmers' supply store. Follow the exact directions on the container and you'll find that about a half ounce of the mercury dust per bushel of grain makes a big difference in your grain yield.
To treat the seed, you can roll the dust and grain together in a barrel or shovel it on a ten-foot square of canvas until thoroughly mixed. . . . that is, if you don't, have a mixing machine. For points on treatments of home-made, consult your county agricultural agent or look over some devices made by your neighbor.

It's good insurance against most seed-borne diseases to treat all seed wheat, oats and barley every year. Your seed and young seedlings will be protected from organisms in the soil that cause rot and seedling blights. . . . yield and quality of your grains will be improved.

What is your GUESS? on our profits...

Sooner than, although an idea is wrong, it does no harm. Like the idea that a square jaw is the sign of will power. That window aren't as severe as they used to be, or that red hair denotes quick temper.
But there are other wrong ideas, which are definitely harmful to public confidence in and understanding of industry. One such idea is the current "guessing" about profits made by large business organizations.

Many people are apt to grossly exaggerate the money made by business. So Opinion Research Corporation (an independent organization) made a survey to learn just what the public thinks about profits. Compare these guesses and yours with the International Harvester profit figures given below.

- Public guess on 1945 profits:
1. 18 per cent average profit . . . 4.9%
2. 15 per cent average profit . . . 4.9%
3. 12 per cent average profit . . . 4.9%

In this survey, the average of the war-time profits made by industry was . . . thirty per cent (30%).
But in the four years of 1942, 1943, 1944, and 1945, the profits of International Harvester company averaged only . . . 7.1%.
Less than one sixth of what the general public "guesses" for all industry.

For this period, the year by year per cent of profits on sales were: 1942-6.7, 1943-5.59, 1944-3.95, 1945-3.95.
Public guess on 1946 profits:
1. 18 per cent average profit . . . 7.17%
2. 15 per cent average profit . . . 7.17%

In the four years of 1938, 1939, 1940, and 1941, the profits of International Harvester Company averaged . . . 7.17%. This is well under half of what the public "guesses" for all industry.

What Most Guess I'll Profit?
When the War ended and we planned our peace-time production, we had hoped to be able to serve our farmer customers at the same level which has held since 1942, regardless of war-time increases in costs of wages and materials.

Are we going to have "hundred of kepers" in 1946 to starving Europeans, allies and former enemies?

fully without resort to a mandatory 25 per cent cut in wheat stocks processed by flour millers.

President Truman's famine emergency committee has recommended that grain prices should be increased to discourage the feeding of grain to livestock and poultry.

But is the food situation in Europe so critical? Here are some facts as vouchered for by reliable persons.

According to the U. S. department of agriculture, the off-farm wheat stocks on April 1 totaled 17 million bushels while the on-farm stocks, now being held by farmers for stock feed or for higher prices, totaled 203 million bushels.

"There is not enough food within the borders of the American zone in Germany from German sources to sustain life even at starvation levels."

LaFollette-Wright
The Catholic church in Delano, Calif., was the scene of the wedding Monday evening of Miss Henrietta LaFollette, daughter of Mrs. Maylin LaFollette, of Manistique, and William Wright, Jr., of Delano, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, former Manistique residents now living in South St. Marie. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Patrick Loidy, Attolman, pastor of the First Baptist church, parson in Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. The bride wore a pale blue suit with blue fox cuffs with white hat and other white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. A wedding dinner for fifteen guests was served at the restaurant in Delano, the couple leaving immediately after for a wedding trip to the nearby Sierra Nevada. Mrs. Wright is a graduate of Manistique high school and for the past ten years has been employed at the Helena Hotel in Delano. She went to the west coast a few weeks ago. Mr. Wright, a graduate of Gladwin high school, recently received his discharge from the ground forces of the army army corps. They will reside in Delano where Mr. Wright has a position in a hardware store.

CITY WINS POINT IN LAND USE ARGUMENT

For several years the city of Manistique has endeavored to induce the department of conservation to liberalize its regulations regarding the use of land which is acquired from the state by municipalities.

It has been customary for the department of conservation in conveying deeds to cities to incorporate a provision in the deeds limiting the use of such lands to a specific purpose. Most cities, including Manistique, have acquired such land for recreational purposes, but occasions have sometimes arisen where it has been more beneficial to the public to use the land for another public purpose. Under the regulations of the department of conservation, however, this diversion of land use to another purpose other than that specified in the deed has been illegal, and required the issuance of a new deed—which again limited the use of the land to a specific purpose.

Manistique has acquired numerous lots from the department of conservation during the past few years, all of which have been limited to recreational use only. City officials have felt that the city should be able to use such lots for any public purpose.

Largely as a result of local efforts the matter was finally brought before the attorney general of Michigan for interpretation. His ruling, received recently by the city attorney, clearly states that the "specific purpose" regulation of the conservation department is an incorrect interpretation of the statute, and that such lands can be used for any public purpose.

AMERICA AND ENGLAND FACE DILEMMA IN SPAIN

The United States and Great Britain are somewhat "on the spot" in regard to Spain.

The people of these two nations are not very fond of the Franco regime. Franco whopped it up with might and main for Hitler and Mussolini, and short of going to war on their behalf he gave them every bit of help and encouragement he could.

With the help of Hitler and Mussolini, Franco crushed out the republican influence in Spain, and saddled fascist reaction in its blackest form on the backs of the down-trodden Spanish people. He mocked and glibbed at the democracies for years, and he is still arrogant and tyrannical despite the fact that his big fascist brothers in Germany and Italy have been liquidated.

America and Great Britain would like very much to see Franco kicked out of Spain, and his whole fascist organization disbanded and scattered. We prefer, however, to see the Spanish people do the job without outside interference.

But now comes Soviet Russia howling for the head of Franco, backed strongly by satellite Poland and Communist influences in France.

If Russia had kept out of the argument—or at least been a little milder in its attitude—American and Great Britain probably could have succeeded in getting Franco ousted. It's different now, because we are suspicious of Russian intentions in Spain. Franco knows this, so his old arrogance has been redoubled.

The people of England and the United States definitely do not want a Communist regime installed in Spain—first because Spain stands astride one of the vital veins of the world, and second because Spain could very well be used as a spear-head for Communistic penetration of South America.

So America and Great Britain are faced with a dilemma. And as a result Franco will undoubtedly be able to keep his harsh feet planted firmly across the necks of the Spanish people for many years yet.

Enraged at the order of Chester Bowles restricting the trading in cotton, southern senators declare it's the work of a dictator. And these good Democrats, we presume, had nothing to do with making anything of that kind possible in Washington.—Kansas City Times.

Best War Memorial I Know

Since then, there've been all kinds of disapprovements in this country, big and little. Prohibition was one—and there was plenty of bloodshed, misery and grief until the problem was solved.

But from where I sit, it's part of the greatness of America that we remain a united country. We may disagree as individuals—but accepting that difference of opinion, we can live in tolerance and mutual respect.

Gen. Helen Minor Helped Search For Jap Cache Valuables At Uraga

Some of Japan's top European assets returning to Uraga on March 23 were to a surprise search for an estimated 1000 each of currency and valuables. A Japanese girl, Lt. tache's family—very interesting—I got diaries and documents worth a fortune to the war Crimes Commission.

According to Stars and Stripes top rankers on the ship included Yakichiro Suga, former minister to Spain, who has reported to Sugano as a war criminal suspect; Takanobu Mitani, ambassador to France; Sho Kurihara, ambassador to Turkey, Shin-rikuro Hitaka, ambassador to Italy; Ken Harada, special minister to the Vatican; Morio Morishima minister to Portugal; Susuma Okamoto, minister to Sweden, and Eshunichi Kase, minister to Switzerland.

During the Uraga search, Lt. Minor stayed at Zachi, the site of Emperor Hirohito's palace. "It is of limited use to us, though, but from the looking in—what a shack the old man has!" She wrote.

The first day I was on the "reception committee," I checked the male officer and I checked the passenger list, which was a quite a lot of them—General Eichel and C. E. Q. officials were the F. B. I. and C. I. C. on hand as there were a few men there after person-

Forum On Military Training Feature Of PTA Meeting

Pros and cons of the issue of compulsory military training for the nation's youth were aired at a panel discussion featuring the Parent Teacher Association meeting last Thursday evening at the Lakeside school.

The discussion, in which four adults and two high school boys participated, disclosed that although nearly all are strongly in favor of a program of military preparation, there is a diversity of opinion regarding compulsory training. Some members of the panel voted approval of the American Legion sponsored May-Gurney bill now before congress; others were arguments in favor of modification of the bill, and an expression of the belief that with an alert leadership of the United States might have a program of military preparedness without a compulsory training program.

NEWS OF OUR MEN and WOMEN IN UNIFORM

With the Eighth Army in Japan (delayed)—Mr. George H. Mrs. Zack Bays, 122 South Mack, a paratrooper at the 11th Airborne Division, Michigan, with the 11th Airborne Division at Senda, Japan. After two weeks of extensive training a life-time desire was fulfilled. He considered it somewhat out of the ordinary to jump on a plane, but the jump didn't exactly discourage him.

Bays, was an employee of the Inland Line & Stone Company before entering the Army, December 28, 1944. He took his basic training at Camp Robinson, Arkansas. He left for overseas May 28, 1946, after spending his first bulletin of the U. S. Department of Labor received at the local Office of Veterans Affairs.

"The seriousness of this situation should be apparent to everyone, families and friends of the veteran as well as the veteran himself," says Leonard Malthaupt, local veteran's counselor. "War-time insurance is a sound investment, at least as far as a veteran's dependents are concerned. It is relatively inexpensive and is, of course, backed by the U. S. government."

It is believed that large numbers of veterans have not renewed their insurance because of physical examinations formerly necessary to re-instate their policies. In order to remove this block, the Veterans Administration recently amended the health requirements for reinstatement of National Service Life Insurance.

Veterans who have let their life insurance policies lapse may now re-instate them without physical examination, if application and payment of premiums are made within six months after date of separation from active service before Jan. 1, 1947, and if the veteran is in as good health as he was at the time the policy lapsed, Malthaupt explained.

The extension of reinstatement of National Life Insurance on the basis of comparative good health is particularly significant to many veterans' Affairs.

Local Residents Back From Trip To Southwest, Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heins have returned from a nine-weeks' vacation trip in southwestern United States and Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Heins made the trip by auto, traveling 9,000 miles in the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Colorado and Nebraska, and 2,000 miles in Mexico. Among the famous scenic spots they visited were the Redwood Parks and Yosemite National Park in California; the Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest and the Painted Desert in Arizona, and Boulder Dam, near Las Vegas, Nev.

On their return they stopped in St. Paul where their daughter, Doris, is a student at the College of St. Catherine, bringing her home with them for the Easter holidays.

This year the department will use DDT to control flies and other insects and also will experiment with 2-4-D, a new weed killer, in an effort to wipe out poison ivy in the vicinity of roadside parks and table sites.

45,000-Lb. Bomb Being Made Now, Says Marshall

WASHINGTON.—The 10-ton blockbuster dropped on Germany already is outdone as an aerial demolition weapon—even if the atomic bomb is outwitted. General Marshall in his biennial report disclosed that bigger and better bombs of regular explosives are on the way. Quoting General Arnold, chief of the army air forces, Marshall said: "At this very moment we are making a single bomb, weighing 45,000 pounds (22½ tons) to keep pace with the bomber, already under construction, which will carry such a load. Air ordnance engineers have blueprinted a bomb weighing 100,000 pounds." (50 tons.)

Cancer killed 607,000 Americans between Pearl Harbor and V-J Day—more than twice as many as were slain by the German and Japs.
