HOLIDAY MAIL RECORD IS SET AT POSTOFFICE

Volume Highest In History, Reports Postmaster Frank M. Gierke

The volume of Christmas mail handled at the Manistique post office here during the previous records this year, Postmaster Frank M. Gierke reported Thursday.

Postmaster Gierke revealed that cancellations of holiday greeting cards and other mail going through the cancellating machine were well over 100,000 during the period from Dec. 16 to Christmas Day, which is approximately 10,000 over 1945, also a record year.

During the six-day period from Dec. 16 to Dec. 22 total cancellations were 84,519, an increase of 12,000 over 1945. This figure does not include cancellations of long envelopes and heavy pieces of mail too thick for the mailing machine. A total of 26,500 one and one-half cent stamps were sold at the post office during the holiday mail rush.

4-H Display To Be Important One At Farm, Home Show

The 4-H program, as part of the general extension program, will have a place among the many exhibits being shown at the Farm and Home Show to be held at the old gymnasium here Jan. 26, according to J. L. Heitman, county agricultural agent.

Theme of the 4-H exhibit will be "Home, Health, Wealth, and Good Citizenship." Each panel will represent how this goal is accomplished, Heitman said.

The central part of the exhibit will show how skills are developed through 4-H projects. There will be exhibits representing 10 of the most common upper peninsula projects, many of which will be projects completed by boys and girls last year. Outstanding work should be made through the nearest office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, which is located at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

Insurance—Approximately 10,000,000 veterans who have allowed their National Service Life Insurance to lapse may have it reinstated on or before February 1, 1947, without a physical examination, by paying premiums for two months.

Loans—Loans on homes, farms or business may be guaranteed or insured by the Veterans Administration until 10 years after the official declaration of the end of World War II.

Education—Education and training under terms of PL 346 (GI Bill) may be started within four years after the official end of the war, but must be completed within nine years after that date.

Rehabilitation—Disabled veterans eligible for education or training under PL 116 must complete such training within nine years after the official end of the war, although they face no deadline on their entry into training.

Readjustment Allowance—Unemployment or self-employment allowances may be applied for within two years after the official end of the war or two years after discharge, whichever is later, with an overall limitation of five years after the termination of hostilities.

Disability compensation—Claims for disability compensation should be made at any time in the future, but an appeal from a decision of a rating board must be made within one year after notification of the decision.

Terminal Leave Pay—Claims for payment for unused terminal leave by former military personnel must be filed before September 1, 1947. Later claims can be considered only in cases of correction of discharge records after September 1, 1946.

All veterans of World War II are asked to clip this article and send immediate reference at all times. For further information contact the Manistique Post Office.

Facts and Fancies Of New Year's Day

New Year's with its open houses, parties, exchanging of New Year's cards, horn tooting, and New Year's resolutions, is one of the oldest of celebrations. As a holiday it has been observed since ancient times, and has been made and throughout history by the giving of gifts and the exchange of greetings.

The early Persians said "Happy New Year" with colored ovals. They regarded New Year's in much the same way we, today, regard Easter — as a time of renewal of all things. And on New Year's Day, pagan Britons received branches of sacred mistletoe from their Druid priests.

According to some authorities the custom of gift-giving at New Year's originated in 747 B. C. when the Romans presented Tullus, king of the Sabines, with bouquets from trees consecrated to Silenus, the god of strength. Consequently, New Year's gifts became known as "strenua" and were exchanged among friends and neighbors and exacted by emperors from their subjects.

The Emperor Claudius showed unprecedented concern for the "populi's" pocketbook by serving notice to the Roman citizen that the cost of all "strenua" given to him should not exceed a specified amount.

While the observation of New Year's dates from early Persian times, the modern celebration is a vastly different affair than the B. C. period.

Henry III of England, however, wasn't so considerate. He followed the Roman tradition of exacting New Year's gifts from his subjects, and this custom was carried on by successive monarchs up until the time of Charles I.

It was this practice which caused one of Henry VIII's most embittered enemies, one "Honest Old Latimer," instead of presenting his sovereign lord with the usual tokens of good will, the New Testament with a least conspicuously folded down, at Hebrews XIII, which passage here certifies appropriateness to the monarch's domestic failings.

Most noted for fabulous New Year's "cash" was Good Queen Bess. Her presents ranged from jewel-embroidered petticoats to fat cows for the royal larder.

However, when Oliver Cromwell and the Puritans took over the English government, they put an end to this extravagant practice, only to have it revived later by the royal Stuarts.

In Marie Antoinette, the common New Year's article of exchange amongst the ordinary citizenry was a pair of gloves. Occasionally the gloves were accompanied by sums of money which came to be known as "glove money."

A story is told of Sir Thomas More, lord-chancellor, who decided to give in favor of a certain young lady. On the following New Year's Day, she sent him a pair of gloves with 40 shillings. Sir Thomas returned the gloves with the following note: "Mistress, since it were against good manners to receive your New Year's gift, I am content to take your gloves, but as for the 'lining' I utterly refuse to take."

Plus, too, were a common New Year's gift at this time, and the money accompanying them was referred to as "pin-money" — hence our modern term.

Today, in England and America, the practice of exchanging New Year's gifts is practically obsolete. But the spirit of hope and good will and resolution that characterizes the coming of the New Year is kept alive by the friendly and growing custom of exchanging New Year's cards with their colorful holiday symbols and hearty messages of cheer.

Lincoln Issued Famous Emancipation January 1. The Emancipation Proclamation was issued by Abraham Lincoln on New Year's Day, 1863. The Proclamation abolished slavery in those states and parts of states which were in rebellion on that date and, though other days are observed in various parts of the country, January 1 is the date most generally observed as Emancipation Day.

SAY 'FIFERS' FOR FINEST FLAVOR

Interpreting the News

One hundred more bushels of potatoes to the acre is a lot of gain.

Neil Morrison, Grand Traverse farmer, astonished his neighbors by doing just that.

The surprising thing is that he did not employ some new kind of fertilizer and he did not have some new manufactured brand of potatoes.

Some potatoes: same soil; same weather—yet 100 more bushels to the acre!

How did it happen? Well, listen to Russell G. Hill, secretary of the Michigan soil conservation committee.

"You'll have to take Neil Morrison's word for it," said Hill, "or you'll have to see his case as an example of the benefits of soil conservation. It is so remarkable, so hard to believe.

"Agricultural experts insist that one of the problems of Michigan potato culture is soil moisture deficiency. Mr. Morrison has consistently obtained better yields of potatoes by doing a very simple thing. He planted his potatoes on the contour of the land. Contour plowing retained the rainfall, and the moisture seeped slowly into the soil, giving the potatoes added development. Result: A lot more potatoes than before.

Having attended a recent meeting of the Michigan Food Council at which Prof. Carl Carl of Michigan State College referred to the bumper potato yields at the college's irrigated potato farm at Lake City, we agreed with Hill, Unusual as it is, Mr. Morrison's yield is 50 per cent. less than the tested record of the Michigan State College demonstration farm.

Irrigation is a sure way to insure adequate moisture for potato culture. Apparently it pays big dividends.

So does modern soil conservation.

Because it is profitable to do so, approximately 80,000 farmers in Michigan counties have organized soil conservation districts under a Michigan law of 1937.

These districts cover about one-half of the agricultural land of the state. Considering the fact that the soil districts have been formed in less than ten years, such progress is encouraging. Farmers are conservative by tradition; Michigan farmers, too, are mostly Republicans and many of them have been cool to ideas coming out of Washington in recent years.

Yet soil erosion is not a national or state problem. It is a world problem which has existed for many centuries.

Two British scientists, G. V. Jackson and R. O. Whyte, maintain that the loss of soil fertility due to water- and wind soil erosion destroyed or sapped all the Mediterranean civilizations, ancient and modern, from Athens and Rome to Italy and Spain to say nothing of the once fertile plains of North Africa. General Smuts of South Africa has stated, "Erosion is the biggest problem confronting the country, bigger than any politics."

Plato gives an amazingly accurate technical account of deforestation and erosion in the mountains of Attica which destroyed the farms of the plains and drove the Greeks to become seafarers and traders.

It's now new—this thing called soil erosion.

U. S. ARMY'S WINTER WARFARE TRAINING—United States soldiers in reconnaissance parties with skilled instructors are scaling snow-covered mountains and glaciers to determine methods to be used in training troops for Arctic expeditions. Due to the difficulty in transporting supplies, food and other equipment were dropped to the party by plane. This scene is on a blizzard-swept mountain peak in Colorado during the November storms.

Ant Hill Torch Burns Youngster to Death

PITTSBURGH—John W. Roberts, five, of Avalon, died and a playmate, Billy Scott, five, was seriously burned when their clothing caught fire as they were watching Billy's father, William Scott, burn out ant hills in his yard with a blow torch.

Scott was badly burned tearing off the boys' clothing.

"I could have had a dozen dates since I've been waiting for you." Can't blame him for being peevish, considering that what he has to offer is that wonderfully good FOX DE LUXE Extra Pale Beer, blended with imported Bohemian hops.

FOX DE LUXE Brewing Co., Grand Rapids.

The federal soil conservation service recently made a national soil survey.

Findings were sensational.

More than 100 million acres of our best crop land has been immediately ruined for further cultivation by soil erosion caused by rain and wind. Of the total crop land now in use—a bit more than 400 million acres—about 150 million acres has been so severely damaged by erosion to make farming difficult or unprofitable.

Hard to believe is the experts warning that man-made erosion is moving more than three billion tons of rich top soil every year down into our rivers and reservoirs and out to sea. Carried out to a logical end, this loss of natural resource means the difference between food and famine.

The soil conservation district is democratically formed cooperative campaign; voluntarily chosen by farmers and directed by farmers, to restore fertility to the soil; to safeguard the present topsoil that is left; to check the corroding damage of water and wind soil erosion and to get the best of the land.

Here are some illustrations of benefits to Michigan farmers.

Idle marshes in Livingston county have been converted into lush dairy pastures by seeding reed canary grass.

Tuscola county run-off plots have demonstrated that contour crop rows, instead of rows that go up and down the slopes of land, have produced 825 more yield per acre. More moisture is retained in the soil; nature's own topsoil is not washed away.

A soil survey of one Michigan farm, where old-time farming methods had been perpetuated, revealed a loss of $1,000 in farm valuation in 12 months due to erosion alone.

Close to 10,000,000 evergreen trees have been planted in Ottawa county, first in Michigan to utilize the benefits of soil conservation. Trees reduce soil erosion by wind and create new wealth for the land.

A newly developed tree planting machine, available to farmers in many conservation districts, can plant 1,000 trees an HOUR. Two men operate it.

The list of benefits is long. "Your story is impressive," we remarked to Mr. Hill, at the conclusion of our interview. "Why don't more Michigan farmers use these methods?"

"More farmers are doing so every year," he replied. "It is a steady development. We are optimistic about the future because soil conservation is fundamentally sound. It sells itself."

J. J. HRUSKA, JUDGE OF PROBATE, DIES

Pioneer Resident Of Schoolcraft County Found Dead In Bed Tuesday

John J. Hruska, 75, Schoolcraft county judge of probate and for years active in the business and political life of Manistique and Thompson, was found dead in bed at his home on Maple avenue Tuesday morning. Death was caused by a stroke which he is believed to have suffered about 3 a. m.

Born in Franklin Township, Keweenaw county, Wisconsin, Mr. Hruska came to South Manistique in 1888 as a boy of 16. He worked first as a delivery boy for Donnick Harmon and later for the Orr Brothers meat market, and a short time later was transferred to the Orr Brothers store at Thompson. In December, 1892, he became part owner of a meat market in Thompson and later moved to Manistique to open a meat market and grocery store after the Thompson market was destroyed by fire in 1914. He retired from the business in 1928.

Mr. Hruska was for years engaged in lumbering operations and farming at Thompson, at one time operating a 240-acre farm there. During his residence there he served as township treasurer and was school board treasurer for 22 years. He served as a member of the county poor commission from 1903 to 1935.

Elected In 1936

In 1936 Mr. Hruska was elected judge of probate on the Democratic ticket and was re-elected on the non-partisan ticket in 1940. He had gone to his office in the court daily, and had been in fairly good health. He had had a stroke ten years ago from which he suffered only a minor disability.

He was married on Aug. 18, 1891 in Manistique to Annie Heric, who survives him.

Mr. Hruska was a member of St. Francis de Sales church.

Survivors besides his wife are five daughters: Mrs. C.P. (Glady) Presley, of Ithaca, Mich.; Mrs. Alvin (Manila) Nelson, of Manistique; Mrs. Arthur (Mildred) Venhaus, of Milwaukee; Mrs. Myrl Hayden, of Manistique; and Mrs. Robert (Wenonah) Harbin, of Muskegon; and one son, Earl J. Hruska, of Menominee; two brothers, Matt Hruska, of Neenah, and James Hruska, of Ashland, Wis., 18 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Francis de Sales church, Rev. J. P. Schaefer officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under the direction of the Morton funeral home.

Boy Scouts Have Christmas Outing At Hunting Club

Eleven Boy Scouts of Rotary-sponsored Troop 461 spent the week end at the Smith Creek hunting club as their second annual Christmas outing.

Life Scout Don Poye, who is also senior patrol leader, and Star Scout Jerry Bahadell, junior assistant Scoutmaster, were among those making the trip. Others at camp were Star Scouts Mike Shaw and Bill Mueller, First Class Scouts Dan Eyrk and George Bahadell, Second Class Scout John Deque, Tenderfoot Scouts Nick Bahadell, Hugh Kennedy, Jim Jackson, and Tom Wilson.

Each boy assumed responsibility for a share of the camp work such as wood cutting, dish washing, cleaning, and cooking. Honorable mention goes to chief cook Vau Eyrk and cookeys George and Nick Bahadell in that no one fell sick or complained of their cooking.

When not loafing in camp reading comic books, the Scouts were in the surrounding woods hiking, tracking, snow shoeing, and passing scout tests. Four of the boys passed their fourteen-mile hike during this outing. Tenderfoot Scouts Nick Bahadell, Hugh Kennedy, Jim Jackson, and Tom Wilson passed tests in second class.

knives and hatchet, firebuilding, and tentmaking also experienced the sensation of being lost or at least "confused," as Scoutmaster Jon Karowski put it, during one of their hikes.

Scoutmaster Karowski said he would spend the remainder of his "Christmas vacation" "just resting."

HERBERT SEEKS RENOMINATION

It is a matter of regret that two men from the upper peninsula are seeking the nomination for regent of the University of Michigan this winter. If a second candidate appears from the lower peninsula at the state convention, there is definite likelihood that both lower Michigan men will be nominated, leaving the upper peninsula without representation on the University board.

It is not necessarily local pride that inspires our support of the candidacy of J. Joseph Herbert for renomination. Herbert, just finishing his first term on the board of regents, is deserving of renomination for several reasons, the most important being that during his first term he proved himself one of the ablest members of this important board. His ability, plus the experience gained during his incumbency, should be continued for another term.

BABSON FORETELLS THE FUTURE

Roger Babson, internationally known economist, makes his predictions for 1947 in an article in this week's issue of the Pioneer-Tribune.

In the past Babson has been amazingly accurate in his economic prophecies, foretelling, months in advance the general trend of business, fiscal matters, industrial activity, and other factors affecting the lives and incomes of the American people.

Articles relating to economic activity are admittedly dry reading. Babson, however, writes in simple, understandable language and inasmuch as his statements relate so intimately to our daily lives, we urge everyone to read this article.

Many plans for 1947 can be based on the information contained in Babson's article, including the buying of merchandise, various investments in property and stocks, and projects for expansion and construction.

Cooperation Big Need, Bishop Tells Hotel Association

A coordinated and cooperative program in the Great Lakes area is needed if Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ontario are to maintain their position in the resort and travel industry, George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, told the Minnesota Hotel Association at its annual meeting.

Bishop, who is president of the Northern Great Lakes Area Council—already are bidding for a share in the patronage built up by the four northern Great Lakes area states.

He stressed the overall needs of a coordinated program, pointing out that California, Florida, the Canadian Northwest—and even Europe—already are bidding for a share in the patronage built up by the four northern Great Lakes area states.

Big Tummy Causes Bear Hibernation New Theory Holds

Sportsmen in deer hunting camps arguing the mysteries of bear hibernation this season had a new notion to talk about—the idea that bears hibernate as a certain time not because of cold weather and scarcity of food, but because they get so fat and their stomachs are so full they literally can eat no more.

Recent evidence indicating this new factor in the timing of bear hibernation is discussed by Dr. G. W. Bradt of the conservation department of articles on Michigan game animals. When a bear reaches the surfeited stage in the fall, he writes, "bear's stomach shrinks and the animal apparently is incapable of taking more food. When this condition is reached, Bradt hunts up a suitable spot, and starts his winter sleep. Now the question remains, does the bear quit eating because his stomach has shrunk, or does his stomach shrink because he quit eating? At least it appears that bears begin hibernation after they are 'fed up' rather than when food becomes scarce."

This new idea would explain hibernation which sometimes occurs when weather still is mild. Michigan deer hunters who chance upon bears just before they begin hibernating collect 600 to 1,000 bearskins for trophies each year.

Northwest Territory Ceded To U. S. 100 Years Ago

One hundred years ago, the United States and Great Britain signed a treaty establishing the present boundary between the Pacific Northwest and Canada. Two years previously James K. Polk had been elected president on the cry "fifty-four forty or fight." This slogan meant that United States expansionists wanted all the Oregon region, not just part of it.

Since 1818 the United States and Great Britain had ruled Oregon jointly. American claims rested on the discovery of the Columbia river by Capt. Robert Gray and on the later land explorations of Lewis and Clark. In the early 1840's settlers from the states began pouring over the Oregon trail and demanding that the United States establish organized government there.

Fever pitch was reached as attempts at compromise failed. Polk's "fifty-four forty" was countered by England's insistence on the Columbia river as the permanent boundary. Suddenly the difficulties ended. A treaty drafted by the British foreign minister was accepted readily by congress and signed by Polk. This treaty extended to the Pacific the already-established 49 degree Canadian boundary of the prairies, with the exception that the line curved southward to give Canada all of Vancouver island.

Brighten Shades Here's a quick method of home cleaning for the washable kind of shades.

Here's a quick method of home cleaning for the washable kind of shades. Make a soapy jelly with odds and ends of soap scraps. Whip the jelly with an egg-beater till has the consistency of thick foam. Spread the shade flat on a large table and apply the jelly with a small handbrush, doing a small area at a time for best results. Keep the shade as dry as possible. Don't dip your hands or feet into the bowl and rinse quickly. To do this, first remove the suds with a knife blade or spatula and then wash off the remaining soap with a turkish towel wrung out in clear water. Place a sheet of paper on the ironing board and press the back of the shade with a moderately hot iron to stiffen it and to eliminate any creases. Press up your window avoiding the same way, but leave them up and rinse with a hose. The frame will hold them fast, so there's no worry about creases.

Weed Seeds
All types of weed seed loss germination ability when washed for several hours in a solution of 1:4-D chemical. Most weed seeds are within the top three inches of soil and could be reached by either dust or spray treatments. One of the problems involved is the toxic after-effects of the 1:4-D in the soil. In arid areas, the after-effects may last as long as a year. Where it is damp, it may disappear in six weeks or less. If the farmer does not know when the toxic effect leaves the soil, the planting of seed might result in its failure to sprout and the loss of the entire crop.

First Watch Night Service Held by Pioneers in 1770

In addition to the more or less hilarious secular observations on New Year's Eve, many religious denominations hold special "watch-night" services from nine or ten to twelve o'clock.

The custom was inaugurated by St. George's Episcopal church in Philadelphia, where the first "watch-night" service was held in 1770.

Saint Sylvester's Feast Day Marks End of Year

The feast of St. Sylvester, who was Pope from 314 A. D. until his death in 335, is celebrated in the Roman and Anglican churches on December 31.

In Germany and Belgium the morning of St. Sylvester's Day is commemorated religiously, while the afternoon and evening are devoted to various kinds of horseplay in anticipation of the coming New Year.

Survey Indicates Slums Breed Most Criminals

The direct relationship between slums and crime in Milwaukee was highlighted recently by a study that revealed to what extent blighted areas breed the criminals housed in Wisconsin penal institutions. The survey of Milwaukee blight was patterned after similar investigations conducted several years ago in New York and Cleveland, Ohio.

The state welfare department discovered that Milwaukee's most severely blighted area—the sixth ward—cost Wisconsin taxpayers nearly $100,000 last year for maintenance of sixth ward inmates in the state prison and the state reformatory. At the other extreme, Milwaukee's eighteenth ward, the city's best developed residential district, cost the public just $3,523 for maintenance of its prison and reformatory inmates.

Further statistics merely emphasize the unequal burden on Milwaukee taxpayers. The sixth, fourth, fifth and third wards impose a total current cost of $50,428 for maintenance of their prisoners in state custody. The eighteenth, fifteenth, twenty-sixth and twentieth wards impose a cost of $25,031—one-fourteenth as much.

Hybrid Corn Tassels Show Promise as Feed

Corn tassels which normally are discarded after they are clipped from plants in the production of hybrid corn seed may prove to be valuable as feed, according to J. M. Van Lanen, F. W. Tanner Jr., and Shirley E. Pfeiffer of the department of agriculture. They found that tassels taken at the detasseling stage contain approximately 12 times the vitamin A, 8 times the vitamin B2, 2 times the vitamin B1, 3 times the niacin, and 3 times the pantothenic acid potency of corn kernels. The protein level was almost twice that of corn. These factors are important in poultry and livestock feeding.

Although the tassel comprises a relatively small part of the corn plant, it is estimated that an acre of corn planned for hybrid seed production would yield in the neighborhood of 270 pounds of dry tassels. In 1944 there were 300,000 acres planted for production of hybrid corn seed which could have supplied 50,000 tons of dry tassels as feed material.

Detasseling is necessary to produce double-cross seed. Usually a field is planted alternately with two rows of single-cross male parent and six rows of single-cross female parent. Before pollen begins to shed, the grower must remove tassels from the six seed-bearing rows, thus restricting pollen distribution to the two rows of male parents. Workers remove the tassels by hand. They may walk down the rows or they may ride in a simple vehicle designed to make this work easier.

Welcome New Year

WELCOME to you, New Year, raise newborn king—
Can you tell us something of the tidings that you bring?
Do you carry happiness?
Enough to last the year?
Do you sing a song of joy?
To cast out doubt and fear?
You bring along with you?
Perhaps a balm for heartaches?
You bring along with you?
Perhaps a key to friendships?
To busy us all year through.
We bid you welcome, New Year—our dreams we trust with you,
Forgoing ill of all the past, we start the book anew.

Gregorian Calendar Was Slow in Adoption

Great Britain and her colonies adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1752; the Julian calendar having become 11 days slow by that time, parliament ordered that the day following September 3, 1752, would be September 14, and that the legal year should begin on January 1.

The Gregorian calendar is, in effect, a revision edition of the old Roman calendar. The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month. January and February were added in the course of time and the celebration of New Year's on January 1 began in 452 B. C.

Continental Europe had universally adopted the Gregorian calendar by 1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Poshish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

Children's Day New Year's in Bulgaria

Bulgarian children receive small gifts on Christmas Day from Grandpa Koleda—an ancient winter god—but New Year's Day is really the children's holiday.

Dressed in their newest and best clothes, the youngsters bear gifts to their elders; they receive presents and small sums of money in return. In rural communities the older children visit neighbors; switching the householder with curlew rods, they wish him a happy and prosperous New Year. The word "surva" is repeated frequently—the visitors expecting to be served with goodies—but if the supply is exhausted, the situation is accepted with characteristic good humor.

The holiday season ends on Epiphany. The orthodox priest leads a procession to the river and, commemorating Christ's baptism, tosses a cross into the water; sometimes the ice has to be broken, but youths dive for the cross unhesitatingly—the retriever supposedly receiving a special blessing.

Chinese Medicine Young

The medical profession in China is a young one; more than 82 per cent of all doctors in 1937 were under 30 years of age and 67 per cent were under 40.

CORDIAL NEW YEAR GREETINGS

As 1946 limps meekly out the back door and the advent of a bright new year is upon us, we wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your many courtesies during this past year. May your encounter only joy and happiness in the coming months, and may each day bring you closer to the fulfillment of your every dream for the future.

will continue short. 12. Farmers will start in 1947 to work to extend legislation on their parity program due to fear of a collapse in farm prices. Taxes 13. Taxes will not be increased during 1947; and there should be further reductions. More nuisance taxes may be eliminated altogether. 14. The Federal Debt will be decreased during 1947 and the Federal Budget may be balanced by June 30, 1948. 15. The cost of living will continue to rise during 1947 due largely to the lack of interest in their work by so many wage-workers. 16. Providing jobs for returning soldiers at satisfactory wages will be a big political task in 1947. There should be jobs for all, but not at the wages desired. Retail Sales 17. The total volume of all retail sales will be about the same as in 1946. Poor quality goods will suffer, but many items not available will be purchased. 18. The total dollar value of all retail sales should exceed 1946 with an increased demand for woolen and cotton textiles. 19. There will be a continued demand for men's clothing and especially for shirts and underwear. 20. Wise shoppers will buy only what they need and not grab to stock up on goods not absolutely required. Foreign Trade 21. The United States will have over 50 per cent of the world's shipping in 1947 and foreign trade will increase. 22. We will continue our policy of making foreign loans, provided the borrowers will agree to spend a fair proportion of the money in America. 23. Both the British Empire and Russia will keenly compete for foreign trade during 1947 but cartels and Government monopolies will be frowned upon. 24. Throughout 1947 war talk will continue, the thought being that, sooner or later, England—who is in a terrible predicament—will "shoot" to stop further Russian aggression. Labor 25. Even President Truman's "eighteen and one-half cents" will be forgotten during 1947. The year will be noted for threatened strikes and labor disturbances. 26. Industrial employment during 1947 could be up both in hours and in pay rolls, labor leaders discouraging attitude notwithstanding. 27. Many industries, now operating on a forty-hour week, will return to a longer week during 1947. There will be no wage reductions and some further advances. 28. The Government will try to demand better management and closer labor-management relations. Such prospects are not bright for 1947; but Congress will repeal or amend some of the present labor laws which are very unfair to management. Inflation 29. The inflation era, which we have been forecasting for several years, will be in full swing; but the reckless printing of money will not come until after 1950. The purchasing power of the dollar will continue to decline. 30. All 1947 wage increases will be distinctly inflationary. 31. Some during 1947 production in many lines will be caught up with consumption, people will have spent their savings and then there will be a surplus of goods. 32. If Stalin's health continues good, he will be the world's most powerful man in 1947, even from an economic standpoint. Stock Market 33. The rails may suffer still further declines sometime during 1947. Certain industrial manufacturing and other war stocks will register higher prices sometime during 1947 than in December, 1946, averages. All depends upon how labor behaves in America and how Russia behaves abroad and upon what the United Nations do as to disarmament. 34. The safest stocks to buy—considering value, income and safety—will continue to be "chassis stock" and "recreation" stocks. 35. 1946 saw a large decline in certain stocks compared with the averages. Switching will be the outstanding market feature during 1947. Especially watch for gains in airline stocks. 36. The stock market will continue to witness creeping general inflation and no evidence yet exists as to whether the "communist break" in 1946 was the beginning of a real bear market or only a reaction of a bull market. Bonds 37. Although bank loaning rates should continue slowly upward tendency, interest rates in general will remain low through 1947. The money supply is over 25 per cent above normal and Government financing demands continued low rates. 38. Anticipating an expected reduction in Federal taxes, 1947 should see a further falling off in the price of most municipal and other tax-exempt bonds. 39. Some high-grade corporation bonds may hold steady, but sooner or later will decline considerably. The Federal Government's 2 1/2's, which once sold above 106, will sell down to par or near 2 1/2's during 1947. 40. More public utilities will be taken over by Federal and other "authorities" during 1947. Wise investors will consider this possibility when selecting public utility securities. Real Estate 41. Suburban real estate will continue in greater demand with still higher prices during 1947. 42. City real estate may hold its own due to less available space caused by pulling down structures to save taxes and provide parking spaces, also to disincentive to build due to the present high inflationary building costs. The fear of bombing in case of a reopening of World War II may also be a factor. 43. Small subsistence farms will continue to increase in price; but large commercial farms may sell in 1947 than in 1946. 44. Building will show a considerable increase. Contracts will be up with advancing prices. The present scarcity of lumber, cement, bricks and labor should beget 45. Office and residential rents during 1947 may be expected to increase during 1947. 46. 1947 will see the beginning of the real building boom which should have started in 1946. Politics and Postwar Peace 47. President Truman now has lost control of Congress and both parties will be playing politics to gain to ease up in 1947. 48. Our foreign headaches will become worse and more frequent during 1947. What we are going through to re-organize Germany will be repeated in other countries. 49. The Latin-American honeymoon has passed its peak. The attitude of Argentina will extend to other countries. Our South American troubles will continue to increase during 1947. 50. 1947 should see more religious interest, including more church-going than did 1946. People gradually are realizing that without a Spiritual Awakening no peace or other plans will be much good. Nations cannot be depended upon to cooperate and stick to their agreements unless they recognize God as their real Ruler and Guide. Hence, what good are agreements with Russia?
