BANKING
Questions and Answers about pertinent matters relating to your financial needs.

Published by the State Savings Bank
Subject: CHECKING ACCOUNTS
Q. Why is making by check so much safer than paying by cash?
A. Because your funds stay safely in the bank during the transaction--no danger of loss or theft.
Q. Don't it more impulsive to carry cash and pay cash--doesn't it give freedom?
A. Paying by check gives more freedom -- it marks you as a person of sound business judgment with sufficient funds to warrant payment. You can write checks for monthly bills and mail the payments. If you have money to handle you have need for a bank checking account.
Q. Doesn't stopping to write a check take more time?
A. It takes less--you write the exact amount required -- no waiting for check or receipts. Your cancelled check is proof of the protection of a personal checking account.

Better Furniture Is Expected On The Market Soon

More careful finishing and better construction in new lines of furniture coming on the market can be expected in the near future.

You will find more low cost units, too, believes Jessie Marston, specialist at Michigan State college, whose study of market reviews gives us this hopeful news.

New developments and fashions in home furnishings come so rapidly it seems impossible to keep up with them. It pays Mrs. Housewife to keep informed by reading as much as she can, advises Miss Marston.

Some new features in home furnishings will prove to be very helpful to Mrs. Housewife. Paper draperies have been greatly improved. New designs and colors add to their appearance and a fire-retardant treatment makes them softer. By adding chemicals to the paper some companies have draperies that are free from fire hazards and because they are softer will drape better.

New colors and color combinations are very much in the news for furniture, carpets, curtains, drapes, linoleums and kitchen appliances. Orchid is turning up again in bathroom accessories such as shower curtains and towels.

Wood finishes in furniture are becoming darker with a trend away from the blond. Brightly painted pieces combined with wood finishes are being featured in case goods. Bottle green and darker colors are becoming prevalent in the new carpets. Bright yellow and gold are appearing more in floral patterns and plain yellow has been introduced in a new linoleum line. Chinese red, and cocoa and hunter green are used in easement, curtains and eliminate a need for draperies.

Justice Is Slow In Michigan Says U-M Professor

Slow justice seems to accurately describe criminal prosecution in Michigan, according to Professor John B. Waite, of the University of Michigan law school.

Evidence of prolonged delays between arrest and either conviction or acquittal is presented by Prof. Waite in the current issue of the Michigan State Bar Journal. "Quick justice is not necessarily justice but slow justice comes perilously close to justice," he charges, "prompt conviction is noted and unnumbered; delayed conviction goes unrealized."

He points out that the public is awakening to the fact that justice is slow in Michigan and is blaming "the lawyers' indiscriminately. He suggests that the Michigan Bar should seek out the causes for the delay and suggest remedies.

A recent study of appeals in Michigan showed the average time between conviction and Supreme Court affirmance or reversal was nearly a year and a half, according to Prof. Waite. This study also disclosed an average delay of nearly six months between arrest and the conviction which was appealed to the Supreme Court.

Weakens Punishment

"Delay prior to conviction weakens the deterrent effect of punishment even more than delay following conviction," he declares.

Delays in conviction or acquittal were disclosed in a study of delay cases in Recorder's Court of Detroit made by W. A. Goldberg in consultation with Prof. Waite. The study, covering 11 years, showed:

1. Eighteen per cent of persons were eventually released without either trial or plea of guilty but the final 25 per cent of these people still had not been disposed of at the end of more than four months.
2. From 34 to 40 per cent were convicted upon plea of guilty, but a full half of those who had pleaded guilty were still unsentenced by 50 days after arrest, and the last 25 per cent had not been dealt with after 109 days.
3. In 1946, only one case in four had been tried after 47 days, and the last 25 per cent of the cases had not been brought to trial by 128 days after arrest.

Polynesians Invented Diesels, U-M Told

Ann Arbor—The Diesel engine, made famous in recent years, was invented 600 years ago by the Polynesians, according to Charles F. Kettering, research consultant of the General Motors Corporation.

Speaking at the University of Michigan, Kettering said that the Diesel is a sort of pop-gun and plunger arrangement.

French Fortress Built At Detroit Was Lively Spot

Editor's Note: This is one in a series on historical spots and monuments in Michigan based on information in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.)

Erected on a spot where cannon could shoot across the broad Detroit River, an acre-square French fort was constructed in July of 1701 on the site of what later was to become Detroit.

Called Fort Pontchartrain du Detroit, the stockade was erected to increase French strength in opposing British invasion of the Great Lakes area and to take advantage of the profitable fur trade with the Indians, according to the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

the University of Michigan.

The fort's name was derived by taking the name of the French prime minister of the time and adding the "du Detroit" which was French for "of the Straits." Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac and about 100 Frenchmen from Montreal built the fort at the site now bounded by Griswold, Shelby, Larned and a line between West Jefferson and Woodbridge. The location was a natural one for a fort as the spot had water on three sides. In front was the Detroit River. On two other sides was the Savoyard River, which since has disappeared.

Indians Traded Furs

Once it was in operation, hundreds of Indians flocked to the little wilderness outpost by canoe and Indian trail to trade their hard won furs for the Frenchman's goods.

Added indication of the fort's importance was seen a few months later when Madame Cadillac, her son, and the wife of Cadillac's French and Indian War, Major Robert Rogers took command of the fort for the British and it became Fort Detroit.

Under British, and later American, rule, Detroit's growth continued to be slow. But finally Detroit became the metropolis of Michigan, a development far beyond the fondest dreams of Cadillac when he selected the spot for the fort.

Manistique In Former Days

Fifty Years Ago Spain is collecting a great fleet of warships. William Wood of Doyle Tp. was in the city on Saturday last. The barber firm of Charter & Carpenter has been dissolved. Mr. Carpenter has formed a co-partnership with Joe LaBelle, and business will be done at the new chair on Tuesday morning. Tando, the chimney sweep is in the city again. W. L. Middlebrook received a new house from Green Bay on this week's Georgia. George Gillingham of Ishpeming, visited his mother last week. J. Bob Fydel won a bicycle at a raffle Wednesday evening. This week we publish a letter written at Ft. Monroe, by David Reid, the first Manistique boy to feel the sting of Spanish bullets at Santiago. The letter is worthy of perusal. Miss Gertrude Helma visited her brother, Frank Heimka, at Island Lake the past week. A moonlight bicycle excursion is being arranged for this evening. The objective point is the home of J. J. Hood, where a strawberry festival will be given under the auspices of the M. E. Church. Miss Percy Garner has the excursion in charge. The enthusiastic of the bicyclists will be at the M. E. Church, and the start for the country will be made at 7 o'clock. Party Years Ago Walt O'Berger, of Milwaukee, arrived in Manistique Wednesday. It is conceded by the oldest inhabitant that the past week has been the hottest in the history of the city. There has been some reckless automobile driving on the streets of late and Mayor Middlebrook has, for that reason, decided to enforce the laws regulating the speed of the cars in the city. His proclamation appears in this issue. There are nearly 3,000 barbers in the state of Michigan. These figures do not include the man that shaves himself. Julius Dredahl of the postoffice is taking his annual vacation. He will spend a portion of it at Chicago and Milwaukee. The little son of J. E. Quinlan, of Newberry, was run over by a care-less driver last week and badly injured. The Swedish Lutheran Sunday school closed at Indian Lake Wednesday. Mr. Gus Settergren and family left for Sweden Wednesday morning. It is their intention to remain there several months with friends and relatives. Mr. Settergren came to this city from Sweden twenty years ago, and this will be his first visit to the land of his nativity. The pictures at the Princess Theatre Wednesday and Thursday kept the audience in one continuous roar of laughter. They promise a good bill for Friday and Saturday. The famous Russian military drama, "Michael Strogoff, a Courier to the Czar," is the head-line; "Clug-making in Brittain" and "The Music Teacher" are on the program also. Songs, "You'll Be the Same Thing Over for the Old Red, White and Blue." Two firms that have been an important part of Manistique and Schoolcraft county for over a quarter of a century again salute you on the occasion of another Blueberry Festival - and welcome all visitors to this great summer vacation-land of lakes, streams and forests

For 28 years these companies have maintained one of the major payrolls of the county. . . have been among its largest taxpayers . . . and, we believe, have always been keenly and actively interested in the welfare of Manistique and Schoolcraft County.

We propose to be even better friends to the people of this area in the days and years ahead.

As part of our contribution to this National Blueberry Festival, the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company and the Manistique Light and Power Company designed and made the float for the Blueberry Queen.

IN THE DAZE OF PAUL BUNYAN (Trade Mark Reg.)

"Pinch" Pennigan's heart was nearly broken after he had saved up for 20 long years. . . The phrase "Die down into the old sock. . . You got 'em!" . . . originated in Paul Bunyan's Camp. Old "Pinch" Pennigan saved his money for 20 years, in an old pair of socks. And Mister, these socks were strong. It almost broke the old boy's heart when they finally accumulated enough strength, and walked off all by themselves.
