STATE CRIME GROUP CALLS FOR REFORMS

NEW LEGISLATION SOUGHT ON SEX DEGENERATES

Lansing, Dec. 15 (AP)—The state crime commission recommended today that Michigan scrap its present moron laws and make a new attack on the problem of protecting society from sex degenerates.

Attorney General Raymond W. Starr told the commission he believed the present laws would be invalidated if they were challenged in the supreme court.

Rep. George C. Watson, Republican, Capac, said he felt the problem of segregating sex deviates should be divorced from the criminal code.

Too Many Loopholes "We need some other facility to give dangerous sex deviates the proper psychiatric treatment," he asserted, adding that "we have enough problems in the state hospitals taking care of the insane."

Dr. Perry C. Robertson, superintendent of the Ionia state hospital, said the present laws, even should they be held constitutional in a supreme court test, "have too many loopholes."

The commission agreed to invite outstanding psychiatrists, physicians, and laymen interested in the problem to attend its next meeting and determine a plan of action.

By tacit agreement, the commission placed its endorsement on the recommendation of Dr. LeMoyne M. Snyder that the 1939 legislature be requested to enact laws abolishing the coroner system and supplanting it with a medical examiner system.

Coroners Untrained Dr. Snyder charged the present system of having coroners investigate violent deaths frequently resulted in the ruin of criminal cases that should have resulted in conviction in the courts.

He recommended that a state medical examiner, trained in scientific crime detection, head the proposed division, assisted by a state medico-legal institute which would have the services of a pathologist, toxicologist, micrologist and other experts who could rush to the scene of a crime and ascertain that all of the evidence is preserved.

Two or more counties could join under the plan to employ a district medical examiner, co-operating in the payment of his salary. The appointment of county examiners would be made by boards of supervisors from a list of nominees supplied by the state examiner. They would have the privilege of rejecting an entire list.

Vandenberg Opposes Pension Tax Increase

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—A demand that congress cancel scheduled increases in old age pension taxes was made today by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich).

The increase, he argued, would needlessly take a $40,000,000,000 "out of America's pay envelope between now and 1939."

(Under the social security law the tax is one per cent on employers' payrolls and one per cent on employees' wages. The law calls for an increase of one-half per cent in each tax on 1940, and similar increases every three years until the tax reaches three per cent on employers and three per cent on employees.)

The taxes are designed to build up a reserve of possibly $47,000,000,000 in 1980. Vandenberg asserted that the present one per cent tax is adequate to provide a comparatively small "contingent reserve" and meet pension payments, provided the government helps meet the ultimate cost of the benefits.

Vandenberg expressed general approval of a proposal, reported to have been made by the social security advisory council, that the government bear a one-third share of the ultimate pension cost out of its general funds. The senator said the government would have to pay at least one third, anyway, in the form of interest on the huge reserve, which is to be invested in government securities.

Vandenberg, who has been one of the severest critics of the administration's social security system, voiced his views in a statement committing on published reports that the advisory council had decided a huge reserve was unnecessary.

Persons informed on decisions reached by the advisory council here last week declined either to confirm or deny the reports, but in Princeton, N. J., Professor J. Douglas Brown, chairman of the group, described them as presenting an "incomplete version" of the council's recommendations.

According to the information upon which Vandenberg based his statement, the council decided to permit one tax increase, now scheduled for 1940, to occur.

EARLY WIND-UP ORDERED JAN. 1

Lansing, Dec. 15 (AP)—The state liquor commission decreed a champagne wind-up for late New Year's Eve celebrants today.

In past years, the commission has removed the closing hour lid on liquor sales for the occasion, but because 1938 ends on Saturday the sale of spirits by the glass must end at 2 a. m. on January 1, and it may not be resumed until midnight.

Sunday closing hours are fixed by the liquor law itself, and the commission decided that only the legislature could do anything about changing them.

The commission agreed, however, to suspend the curfew on the sale of light wines and beer on January 1 for the benefit of celebrants. Most champagnes are in this category.

DRUG PRESIDENT AN EX-CONVICT

Fingerprints Identify McKesson Head As Racketeer

New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—F. Donald Coster, indicted president of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., was identified today as Philip Musica, a man who concealed a grand larceny conviction of nearly a quarter century ago to take a commanding place as head of the $87,000,000 drug corporation now under federal and state investigation.

Four separate inquiries into the apparent overstatement of $18,000,000 in McKesson and Robbins assets are under way.

Coster, who helped build up the vast concern from its humble beginning as a small hair tonic firm, was identified by police fingerprints. The records showed, said Inspector Joseph Donovan, that as Musica he was convicted and given a suspended sentence for grand larceny in the collapse 25 years ago of the million-dollar United States Hairdressing company.

Again as Musica, he was sentenced in 1904 to one year in jail and fined $5,000 in connection with a federal grand larceny case, and in 1920 was charged with perjury, the inspector added.

The disclosure of Coster's identity came shortly after Assistant U. S. Attorney General Brian McMahon announced in Washington that the justice department was investigating leads indicating that Coster "had engaged in shipping arms and munitions to belligerent countries in cases labeled 'Milk of Magnesia.'"

Hired Man Slain; Farmer Arrested

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 15 (AP)—Homer Harvey, 63, a farmer, denied examination today when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge Arthur Wiggins on a charge of manslaughter for the shooting of his hired man, Harvey was held under $5,000 bail for examination Dec. 23.

William Eddinger, 50, the farm hand, was shot to death in the Harvey home last night. Prosecutor Edward T. Behan quoted Harvey as saying he killed Eddinger in self-defense when the man became abusive and threatened Harvey's family.

Blaze Evicts Six At Stalwart, Mich.

Stalwart (AP)—Six persons, including four children, were forced to flee in their nightclothing early Thursday when fire destroyed their home, the general store and the postoffice here. The loss from the blaze was set at $10,000 by Chester Crawford, the proprietor, who suffered burns while fighting the flames. Mrs. Crawford and her four children broke the glass in an upstairs window and fled to the roof of an adjoining warehouse.

CIVIL SERVICE IS DEFENDED BY GOVERNOR

REPUBLICAN CHIEF'S LETTER CALLED 'AMAZING'

Lansing, Dec. 15 (AP)—Governor Murphy defended the state's civil service system today from charges of James F. Thomson, Republican state central committee chairman, that the act which created it was "partisan" and "New Deal."

"The civil service system represents the hopes and hard work of friends of good government in Michigan for years back," the governor said in his daily press conference. "I trust it will be appreciated in that light when any attack upon it is considered."

Patronage Raids Expected Murphy described as "amazing" Thomson's letter to county Republican chairman demanding that active Democrats be ousted from administrative posts without regard for the present civil service law.

Such a step, the governor declared, would be both a shock to public opinion and "a real step backward" in state government.

Murphy expressed confidence that his successor, Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald, would continue to defend the civil service system against patronage raids after January 1. He observed that he himself had defied criticism from persons "within my own party ranks who believed that deserving Democrats were not being cared for."

Thomson's letter to county chairmen said: "The question of employment in state departments, I know, is being often called to your attention by people who gave such valiant service in the last election."

"Explanation of Policy" "The first duty of the incoming Republican state administration, I believe you will agree with me, should be to substantially reduce the present number of state employees. Any movement beyond this in the matter of personnel, due to the present partisan, New Deal civil service act, will be entirely up to the members of the incoming legislature."

"I believe we have among our Republican members the highest caliber legislature that has represented the state in the past ten years. I have unlimited confidence in their understanding that state departments cannot be successfully administered by people who opposed us on November 8, 1938, and who will be doing the same thing in April, 1939, and again in November, 1940, if they are left in positions of trust and authority."

The Republican chairman described his own letter as "an explanation of what perhaps may have seemed to be a lack of policy on the part of our Republican organization in the matter of handling applications for employment."

Flint Girl, 3, Held For Debt Security Flint, Mich., Dec. 15 (AP)—A three-year-old girl was restored to her father today after he had told Assistant Prosecutor Dale C. Showley that a Swartz Creek couple was holding the child as security for a debt.

Wilbur Repregle, a Flint widower, told Showley he didn't have the $15 he said Mr. and Mrs. George Burnham demanded for his room and board. Deputy Sheriff William Blum went to the Burnham residence and returned with the child. Repregle took her to live with relatives in Lansing.

Escanaba Coldest At 4 Above Zero; Mercury Going Up

(By The Associated Press) Continued cold was the prediction of the United States weather bureau for Thursday night and early Friday in Lower Michigan with higher temperatures anticipated for Friday afternoon and night. Considerable cloudiness but no snow was likely, the bureau said.

A heavy blanket of snow covered parts of the Upper Peninsula Thursday, bringing out state highway department snow plows for use on main travel arteries.

In Detroit the low was 15 degrees early Thursday. The state is the center of a high pressure area which has brought near-zero temperatures in many of the north central states, the bureau said. The coldest official reading in Michigan in the last 24 hours was four above zero reported at Escanaba. Six inches of snow were reported at Sault Ste. Marie.

PAN-AMERICAN PACT BLOCKED

Defense Against Outside Aggression Abandoned; Argentina Opposed BY ANDRUE BERDING Lima, Peru, Dec. 15 (AP)—The United States abandoned hope of reaching an inter-American pact against outside aggression today and put before the Pan-American conference a project to unify all existing peace agreements among the 21 American republics.

The proposal would create a kind of Pan-American peace constitution and embraced in 23 exhaustive articles of one 12-page document all the accords, resolutions and declarations of previous Pan-American conferences on peace, conciliation and arbitration.

The abandonment of hope of reaching an accord for continental defense was due to Argentina's insistence she did not want a pact but would agree to a resolution or statement of American unity.

Behind-the-scenes discussions indicated that Argentina not yet was convinced the United States' good neighbor policy would be permanent.

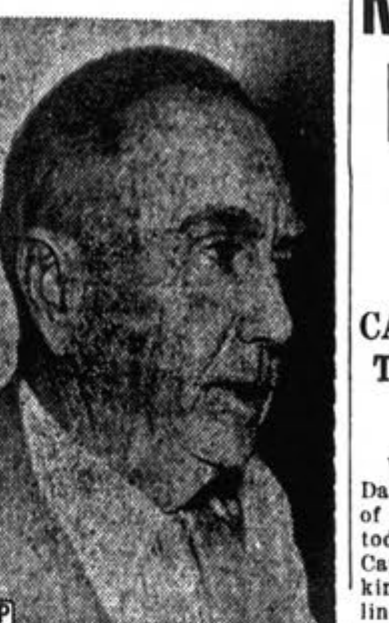

Argentina, according to Argentine sources, wants a resolution worded to provide for defense against aggression from any direction.

That wording ostensibly would protect Latin America from possible aggression from the United States as well as from other continents.

California Highway Closed By Floods; Families Marooned

Los Angeles, Dec. 15 (AP)—One life was lost at sea, 12 families were marooned in Mint Canyon by floods and the Roosevelt coast highway was closed to traffic because of slides as the first rainstorm of the season continued to drench southern California tonight.

More than 100 automobiles were stalled in the flooded streets of Van Nuys. Two miners' cabins were washed from their foundation in Mint Canyon, north of here.

The wind rose to 45 miles an hour during offshore squalls and a huge wave swept Y. Higashi from a purse seiner.

Total rainfall tonight was 1.56 inches.

TREASURY DEBT HITS NEW HIGH

Total $39,400,000,000; Only Finland Pays War Obligations Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—The treasury's debt soared to a new high of $39,400,000,000 today. This occurred when investors paid for $730,000,000 of new bonds and notes sold by the government.

Meantime another war debt payment day rolled around, and nothing was received except from Finland, which remitted its $232,935 installment in full, as usual.

Hungary made a small partial payment on its post-war debt, with a reminder that it is still awaiting consideration of its offer of Feb. 7 to make a debt readjustment.

The total amount of debts falling due today from 13 nations was $160,217,334. Previously due, unpaid debts total $1,891,489,906.

ROPER'S POST MAY BE GIVEN WPA HOPKINS

CABINET MEMBER IS TOO CONSERVATIVE FOR NEW DEAL

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Daniel Calhoun Roper, secretary of commerce, resigned suddenly today and word circulated on Capitol Hill that Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, was in line to get the cabinet post.

Roper asked to be relieved for "personal reasons" and reiterated his devotion to the "objectives" of the administration. Those close to him asserted, however, that his determination to resign was hastened by attacks from some new dealers who disliked his conservatism.

Concliator For Business His role in the administration was the task of trying to conciliate business men, many of whom were bitterly opposed to Roosevelt policies. He organized 50 industrial and financial leaders into a business advisory council which supplied the president with confidential reports of business' attitude toward new deal measures and tried to minimize the public antagonism of their colleagues toward the administration.

Coupled with the recent resignation of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, Mr. Roper's departure may cause an important change in the temperament of the new cabinet, especially if Hopkins, crusading member of the administration's left wing, gets the commerce post.

Presidential Prospect? There was intense interest in the Roper resignation on Capitol Hill. One prominent Democratic senator, who declined to be quoted by name, predicted that Hopkins would be appointed to the vacancy to "build him up" for the presidential nomination in 1940.

This senator, often a critic of administration policies, said he was convinced that the president believed Hopkins more nearly represented his views than any other nationally prominent Democrat.

The senator said that if Hopkins were placed in the cabinet and given a chance to demonstrate that he could work in cooperation with business men, his political stature might be enhanced.

The possibility of one other cabinet change faded today when Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes announced he would not run for mayor of Chicago, but at the request of Mr. Roosevelt, would "help continue the new deal by staying in harness."

Although occasional resignation rumors have touched every member of the cabinet, chief speculation now shifted to the war department. There have long been reports that Secretary Harry H. Woodring would step out.

Shoof Of Responsibilities Rumors that Roper would resign likewise had circulated for a long time and these, friends said, were among the factors which led him to quit. He was said to believe that some of them were inspired by enemies.

The actual resignation came as a surprise to those around him. Colonel J. Monroe Johnson, senior assistant secretary who will head the department until a new secretary is appointed, first learned of it shortly before noon today. Earlier in the morning, the department's publicity office flatly

Ex-King Of Spain Gets Citizenship

Burgos, Spain, Dec. 15 (AP)—The insurgent government tonight restored full citizenship rights to former King Alfonso of Spain.

The decree was adopted at a council of ministers over which Generalissimo Francisco Franco presided.

Last year it was reported that Franco might agree to put Alfonso's youngest son, Prince Juan, on the Spanish throne and that Alfonso, who abdicated on April 14, 1931, would not object.

Ground Broken In Washington For Thomas Jefferson Shrine

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—A glided, historic shovel, wielded at the direction of President Roosevelt, broke the ground today for a white marble shrine for Thomas Jefferson.

In a simple ceremony on the spot where the $3,000,000 memorial will rise, Mr. Roosevelt said: "For far more than 50 years, Thomas Jefferson, the third president of the United States, has been recognized by our citizens not only for the outstanding part which he took in the drafting of the declaration of independence itself, not only for his authorship of the Virginia statute for religious freedom, but also for the services he rendered in establishing the practical operation of the American government as a democracy and not an autocracy."

The site chosen for the classic pillared memorial, on the south edge of the tidal basin, was described by the president as a "beautiful spot." The structure will form the fourth corner of a cross. The capital, White House and Lincoln Memorial are the other corners and the Washington monument the center.

Mrs. G. Mott Williams, 81, Is Taken By Death At Marquette

Marquette, Mich., Dec. 15 (AP)—Mrs. G. Mott Williams, 81, a resident of Marquette almost 50 years and wife of the late Rt. Rev. Gershon Mott Williams, first Episcopal bishop of Marquette, died today in St. Luke's hospital.

Born in Detroit, November 28, 1857. Eliza Bradish Biddle, daughter of William Sheppard Biddle and Susan D. Ogden, she was married February 20, 1879, to Dean G. M. Williams, of Milwaukee. After residing there for a number of years, they moved to Marquette in 1891.

Dean Williams became rector of St. Paul's Cathedral parish and arch-deacon of the Upper Peninsula on October 4, 1891, and when the diocese was organized at the general convention in Detroit on November 14, 1895, he was elected bishop. He was consecrated the first bishop of Marquette on May 1, 1896, in Grace church, Detroit. He died in Paris in 1923.

Mrs. Williams is survived by two brothers, Stratford Biddle, of California, and Dr. Andrew P. Biddle, of Detroit; four sons, Thomas, of Medford, Oregon; Dayton, of Klamath Falls, Oregon; Cecil, of Birmingham, Conn.; and John, of Wellingham, Mich.; two daughters, Mrs. F. W. Hyde, of Marquette, and Mrs. O. F. Knight, of Waban, Mass., and 16 grandchildren.

MAY RECLAIM OLD NEWSPRINT

Experiments Being Made With Bentonite Clay In Texas

College Station, Texas—Texas mudslingers rested from their labors today, content they have produced a boon to the press.

Researchers of the Texas Forest Service, dubbed by their colleagues "mudslingers" because they have been working with "Bentonite," a Wyoming clay having peculiar physical properties, declare they have found an improved method of using the clay to remove ink from old newspapers so that the pulp can be used again. They estimate that a ton of pulp can be recovered from about 2,500 pounds of newspapers, so that in Chicago alone the daily saving could be equivalent to about 300 cords of wood. Translated into woodland, this represents the cut on thousands of acres of 100-year-old spruce forests in the course of a year.

The process closely resembles previous developments made at the Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis. The varnish of the ink is cut by heating old newspapers with a caustic solution at a temperature low enough so that the paper stock is not discolored, adding alkali Bentonite to peptize the carbon black, and washing with water so that the carbon is washed through and the pulp retained on screens.

According to researchers, the alkali Bentonite in water acts as a negative colloid absorbing the positively charged lampblack. The attraction of Bentonite for carbon must be stronger than that of the paper fibers, for the carbon is held dispersed in suspension and passes through the screens on washing.

A survey of the wastepaper field shows a collection of about 2,500 tons could be expected daily throughout the country as against about 7,000 tons of newsprint dispersed. It is believed that reclamation plants situated near large cities would cut down rising freight charges caused by depletion of forests nearby.

According to the Wisconsin Forest Products Laboratory, "development and use of this process will probably be slow, since most mills for making newsprint are located far from large cities, and plants for a successful de-inking process would have to be close to a large supply of old papers."

The usefulness of Bentonite in many fields of activity is steadily rising. First used as a substitute for soap and "to grease the axles of the early colonists' wagons and Prairie Schooners, it now serves foundries for casting steel, sanitary engineers use it to purify water supplies and sewage, oil well drillers use it to seal the walls of the bore, horticultural sprays contain Bentonite as a suspending or emulsifying agent, it thickens valve-grinding compounds, and recently solved a difficult engineering problem at Grand Coulee dam, where the unusual clay with its great swelling properties was forced under pressure into the voids of the sand seams beneath the dam to seal leaks that threatened to undermine the structure.

Early Mailing Helps Postman Avoid Problem of Yule Rush

Public Always Waits Until Last Minute Despite Tearful Pleas

If Christmas mailers didn't wait until the last minute with their cards and packages, post office officials predict the annual Yule rush would be minimized immensely. But despite tearful pleas each December, the bulk of holiday mail falls into post offices, less than seven days before Christmas. What the public really fears, say officials, is that their gifts will be delivered too soon before Christmas. As a result all too many gifts don't arrive until after Christmas! "Mail early," is the plea of the heavily burdened postmen below.

Canada Bird Refuge Attracts Thousands Of Tourist Visitors

Ottawa, Canada—More than ten thousand tourists visited the Gaspé coast in the vicinity of Perce Rock and Bonaventure Island last summer, attracted largely by the thrilling spectacle provided by the sea-bird population which nests on the great rock and on the ledges of the island.

The rugged grandeur of Perce Rock, with its sheer sides rising directly from the water for nearly three hundred feet, and its great arched passageway, eighty feet in span, through which small boats may pass, is in itself a breath-taking spectacle, while the thousands of sea-birds that nest on it and on Bonaventure Island add to its attraction. These bird colonies, which have been included in a sanctuary by the Dominion government and the Province of Quebec, include more than 12,000 gannets—great white birds as large as geese, with black wing tips.

Multitudes of these birds, resembling great snowbanks at a distance, sit close-packed in serried ranks on their nests on the lofty ledges while hundreds of others soar and wheel majestically over the sea before the precipice. Other remarkable seabirds, including common and uncommon species, form part of this great assemblage.

This interesting bird colony is so situated that it may be observed and photographed conveniently without harming or disturbing its feathered inhabitants. Sea-going motorboats carry parties of visitors past the lofty cliffs where the gannets nest, and excellent points of vantage may be gained at the top of the cliff and on the crest of the mainland cape opposite Perce Rock.

State Game Birds Found Free From Disease, Parasites

Lansing—Investigations conducted by the game division of the department of conservation during the fall indicate that Michigan's crop of game birds is healthy.

Approximately 120 birds, the majority of them grouse, were examined for parasites and disease during October and in general the birds were found to be in excellent condition—fat and harboring few parasites—according to S. C. Whitlock, the department's pathologist.

Worm parasites were found to be slightly more frequent in the lower peninsula birds examined than those inspected in the upper peninsula. A few cases of rather heavy gizzard worm infection were found, but nothing to indicate a serious handicap to the birds. Eye worms were present in a good many of the grouse, but in only a few instances, Mr. Whitlock says, were they in sufficient number to indicate they were doing serious damage.

In addition to the grouse, 15 woodcocks, eight prairie chickens and two ducks were autopsied. Examination of game animals is a regular part of the functions of the game division.

Giant clams close their shells on the feet of divers, and nothing less than a crowbar can release the victim.

CIVIC CENTER ANCHORS CITY

Shifting of Business Districts Blocked in Columbus, O.

Columbus, Ohio—Businessmen are supposed to be eminently practical and those of this city are no exception. Behind the physical and cultural beauty of the Civic Center is the story of the practical planning on the part of community business leaders who wanted a "rock" on which to establish the security of their future.

Millions of dollars have been lost in cities throughout the nation because of shifting business centers. Examples are too numerous to mention. These losses, in some cases, have ranged as high as 90 per cent of the original valuation. Columbus was no exception. Many years ago, business shifted several blocks south on High Street.

Civic centers have grown out of situations like this. Columbus was fortunate in that its loss was not serious, but many other cities have suffered greatly because of the unexplained migration of their business centers.

Ohio's Capital city now has an "anchor" in its Civic Center. Real estate values, instead of diminishing, are increasing and solidifying, spelling security and encouraging enterprise on the part of the hundreds who have made permanent investments in the downtown business section.

Those are the practical values. But businessmen are the first to rejoice in the cultural aspects of the development, too. Columbus Civic Center eliminated an eyecore in its river waterfront, made even worse by the 1913 flood. It has enabled a centralization of governmental units, city, state, and federal, which are so vital in the life of the Capital city.

The group includes a new Post Office and Federal Building; the Safety Building, housing the Police Department and the City Jail; the City Hall; the Departments of State Building, a six-million dollar structure; and the Columbus Auditorium, where hundreds of national and international conventions have been held. Three of these buildings each occupy an entire city block.

COLLEGE ASKS $2,633,477—East Lansing, Dec. 15 (AP)—The state board of agriculture, governing body of Michigan State college, decided today to ask the 1939 legislature for an appropriation of $2,633,477 a year for the college's maintenance and operation during the next biennium.

The figure is the same approved by the 1937 legislature for the current biennium. Governor Murphy has curtailed allocations from the current appropriation, however, under extraordinary budget-balancing powers conferred upon him by the lawmakers. The amount of the savings under Murphy's economy program has not yet been definitely determined.

The college board also decided to ask the legislature to finance a building program, but disclosed no estimate of the cost of such an undertaking. Suggested projects, ranked by the board in the order of their importance, are:

An addition to the campus power plant. Two new buildings for radio station WKAR, which already has received federal permission to increase its power rating from 1,000 to 5,000 watts. A bacteriology laboratory building.

denied resignation rumors, only to withdraw the statement later. The seventy-one-year-old Roper, sitting in the office from which Herbert Hoover sprang to the presidency, saw his department systematically stripped of its most prominent activities until now it is little more than a huge statistical agency centering around the census bureau, although it has some steamship inspection and fish law supervision.

Since 1933, congress has set up the maritime commission to take over the department's former administration of the government-owned merchant marine fleet and switched the air commerce bureau to the new civil aeronautics authority.

Lately, conflicts have arisen over alleged state department efforts to supervise the commercial attaches maintained by the commerce department in foreign cities and the treasury has superseded the commerce department as the prime observer of international finance.

HOUGHTON C-C PICKS OFFICERS

Lindsay Is Main Speaker at Annual Meeting of Organization

Houghton—All retiring officers and directors of the Houghton Association of Commerce were re-elected Tuesday night at the annual meeting held at the Douglas House. The meeting, attended by a large, representative group of business and professional men, was preceded by a turkey banquet. The officers and directors re-elected are:

- President—E. A. Hamar.
- First Vice President—G. H. Westcott.
- Second Vice President—F. D. Seeber.
- Secretary-Treasurer—Eleanor E. Beaudry.
- Directors—Dr. C. M. Carson, Harry R. Cohodas, A. N. Baudin, Dr. J. D. Stern, Carlos J. Haug, John W. Rice, James T. Roach, Neils Nelson, Harry Varney and A. J. Foote.

The officers and directors were elected by acclamation upon the recommendation of the nominating committee of which A. N. Baudin was chairman. Preceding the business meeting and election of officers, an interesting program was presented. Harold P. Lindsay, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, gave an inspiring address "Why a Chamber of Commerce?" Prof. Martti Niemen of Suomi College delighted the audience with several piano selections, and Mrs. W. D. Rule sang three enjoyable vocal selections. The Rev. W. D. Rule, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, gave the invocation.

Reasons For Joining

In introducing his subject Mr. Lindsay said that aside from the question of practical results, men join associations of commerce "because they are a physical expression of the very deep and genuine impulse to grow and build, to join hands with others for mutual encouragement and benefit; the impulse that in all times and places prompts men to work concertedly in the pursuit of their civic interests and ideals."

After discussing the old time chamber of commerce or booster club, which had as its sole objective the enticement of new industries into a community, Mr. Lindsay suggested three ways of promoting industrial development. First, with local capital and management, secondly, by entering partnership with an outside concern seeking location and additional capital, and, thirdly, by demonstrating definite advantages to an outside concern or branch plant seeking a new location. All of these, he said, require technical skill, and the use of "horse sense."

"The modern chamber of commerce," Mr. Lindsay said, "should first develop a program of work—a program that will challenge the imagination of the most ardent skeptic in the community." "Men," he said, "are not interested in petty things, but in large things. Attempt the so-called impossible—then achieve it. Find out what Houghton needs, not what Houghton wants, and sell your program on the future and not on the past. The world has little sympathy or gratitude for those things which have been accomplished, but everyone wants to be in on the accomplishments of those things which are going on in the present and going on in the future if you so determine it."

Questions-Answers Townsend National Recovery Program

Officers of the Townsend Club of Escanaba have submitted the following questions and answers concerning the Townsend National Recovery plan for publication in the Press. The material was copied from the Townsend National Weekly.

It reads as follows:

1. Q. What is the Townsend National Recovery Plan?

A. It is a program of national scope to provide security for the aged, jobs for the unemployed, and home markets for the products of American industry.

2. Q. How will the plan accomplish these objectives?

A. (a) It will provide security to those over the age of sixty by supplying them with liberal monthly annuities. (b) The retirement from gainful occupation of these millions of older workers will make their jobs available for the unemployed. (c) The spending by this retired class, together with the new earnings made available to the unemployed, will create buying power ample to absorb the products of American industry.

3. Q. What amount of monthly annuity does the Townsend Plan propose?

A. The ultimate aim of the Townsend Plan is to give each retired annuitant an income sufficient to enable him to live according to the accepted "American Standard of Living," which has been estimated at $2400 per year. But at the start, each annuitant will receive an amount based on a percentage of the volume of the Nation's business being done at the time the Plan is put into operation.

4. Q. How will these annuities be financed?

A. The annuities will be financed by means of a 2 per cent tax on all transactions by firms and individuals using the markets to sell their goods and services; this tax to be collected each month by the Secretary of the Treasury.

5. Q. Has any precedent been established to indicate that this tax will yield sufficient money to under the plan?

A. Yes; a similar tax has been in operation in the Territory of Hawaii since 1936, and the revenue derived therefrom exceeded all estimates by 25.06 per cent. Substantiating the foregoing statement, the following is an excerpt from a letter dated November 7, 1938, to Dr. Townsend from William Borthwick, Tax Commissioner of the Territory of Hawaii:

"However, the Gross Income or Transactions Tax as you choose to call it, properly applied on all forms of business, would bring in a much greater sum than we had anticipated. We estimated the first biennium at $5,108,000 and we collected $6,333,000, this after we had restored the 10 per cent cut that had been made in all Territorial salaries and had also provided for an automatic increase in salaries due to length of service, and wiped out a deficit of $947,000. We were also able to present the incoming Legislature a surplus of $1,315,000."

6. Q. How will the money raised by this tax be distributed among the annuitants?

A. Each annuitant will receive his prorata share of the proceeds of the two per cent transactions tax.

7. Q. Would the proceeds of a two per cent tax on present business volume yield enough to pay the maximum annuity proposed under the Plan?

A. No, not at present low business levels. However, when the Townsend Plan is in effect, the forced spending of the tax proceeds in the channels of trade and commerce, will so increase business volume that the tax yield will also increase proportionately each succeeding month. The tax yield, due to steadily increasing transactions, will ultimately be more than sufficient to pay the maximum plan.

8. Q. How will the money raised by this tax be distributed among the annuitants?

A. Each annuitant will receive his prorata share of the proceeds of the two per cent transactions tax.

A. No, not at present low business levels. However, when the Townsend Plan is in effect, the forced spending of the tax proceeds in the channels of trade and commerce, will so increase business volume that the tax yield will also increase proportionately each succeeding month. The tax yield, due to steadily increasing transactions, will ultimately be more than sufficient to pay the maximum plan.

ONCE upon a time the Christmas season was limited to a few days, into which a great deal of feverish activity necessarily was concentrated.

Now, happily, we are much more enlightened in our approach to Christmas. Adolph Hitler has attracted especial attention recently. He is at once probably the most hated and most admired man in Europe today. What manner of man is he? He is a combination of a quiet, artistic individual and a curiously impelled half-genius who believes that he has been chosen as a sort of impersonal instrument to rehabilitate the German people.

The much-exploited idea that Hitler is or was a house painter is merely journalistic rhetoric. He is an artist and an architect of no mean ability. He was a soldier in the World War not from choice but because he had to be.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

JUNE IN DECEMBER

Farewell to love. The curtain falls. The play is over.

In skies above. The robin calls. The fields are clover.

But skies are skies. And grass but grass. And birds but chatter.

The sunset dies. The summers pass. And little matter.

Farewell to love. And yet I will. Not let it perish.

The memory of. Its beauty still. I long shall cherish.

In other days. In other hours. I shall remember.

Its moonlit ways. Its sunlit flow'rs. June in December.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—There will be another Cabinet resignation in a month and a third by March 1.

The first to follow Attorney General Homer Cummings into private life will be "Uncle Dan" Roper, who will retire in the latter part of January upon the completion of his sixth year as head of the Commerce Department.

His successor will be Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, whose most likely successor in turn will be his Deputy Administrator, Aubrey Williams, the hardest working executive in Washington.

Williams also runs the National Youth Administration and is assisting in the formulation of the national defense program.

Roper is undecided about what he will do when he steps out. He will be within a few months of 71 years of age. He has had several business offers, but may resume the practice of law.

Next resignation will be that of Postmaster General Jim Farley, but limited only to his Cabinet job. Jim will not give up his positions as Democratic National Chairman and New York State Chairman.

Jim is relinquishing his portfolio for two reasons—to recoup his personal fortune and to push his presidential campaign.

He was all set to quit in September, 1937, to become head of the Pierce Arrow automobile company, but a refinancing deal, upon which the job depended, fell through as a result of the stock market slump.

Magazine rights to his autobiography, "Behind the Ballots", netted Jim $75,000, enabling him to pay off debts accumulated as a Cabinet member, but left unsolved the problem of providing a competence for his family.

Jim is considering offers for four firms, one being the Willys-Over motor company. He will make a choice in the next two months, in order to resign by March 1. This early date would allow him greater freedom to push his presidential drive.

Jim feels that as a member of the Cabinet he does not have the liberty of action he would in private life. Also, the probable presence around the Cabinet table of Hopkins and Solicitor General Bob Jackson, Cummings' most likely successor, does not set well with Jim. He is on friendly personal terms with the two New Deal militants, but all three know that they are on different sides of the political fence.

HULL-FARLEY TICKET

There has been no rift between Farley and the President, but Jim is now definitely on his own. He is out for a place on the 1940 ticket; he will make a big noise for the No. 1 spot but will be satisfied with No. 2.

What he secretly envisions is a Hull-Farley ticket. Completely on his own, and with the Democratic organization in his very efficient hands, Jim believes he would be in a strong position to put over such a slate. He is confident he already has sewed up New England, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon and the Pendergast portion of the Missouri delegates.

The Kansas City boss has assured Jim that the delegates he controls will be for Farley—and not Senator Bennett Clark, another burning yearner for the 1940 lightning.

State Department officials were considering the possibility of sending William E. Dodd, ex-Ambassador to Germany, as new Ambassador to Moscow, until he was arrested for hit-and-run driving. They thought the appointment would be a beautiful rebuff to Hitler, whom Dodd hates.

Although a lot of people had a hand in the more conciliatory policy of the Manufacturers Association toward the New Deal, one who played the greatest hand was Prentiss Conley, business ambassador to the Roosevelt Administration.

Here is what Cordell Hull thinks of labor unions: When the Pan-American Governing Board voted on a proposal to consider discussion of a Pan-American Labor Office at Lima, similar to the one in Geneva, Hull voted No. The vote was merely on whether to discuss it, not on whether to establish it.

Today's Recipe

Mrs. I. A. Smith has very graciously forwarded her recipe for English Plum Pudding to the department in answer to a special request. The recipe which has been in Mrs. Smith's family for many generations, was originally brought from England, and is one which everyone who collects treasured recipes will be happy to have.

creamy hard sauce tucked into your Christmas package. Individual Fruit Cakes (About 20 small cakes) Two cups butter, 3 cups sugar, one 6-ounce glass grape jelly, 12 eggs well beaten, 4 1/2 cups flour, 2 pounds currants, 2 pounds seeded raisins, 1/4 pound crystallized pineapple diced, 2 tablespoons vanilla extract, 1/2 pound cherries cut in halves, 1 pound citron shredded, 1 pound almonds blanched, 1 1/2 pounds pecans broken up, 2 cups sherry or grape juice, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 2 teaspoons allspice, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 teaspoon cloves. Prepare fruits, mix and place in large crock. Soak overnight with sherry or grape juice. Sift spices and flour together 3 times. Cream butter, add sugar, beat until sugar is dissolved. Add jelly and mix thoroughly. Add eggs and flour alternately, carefully mixing after each addition. Add nuts gradually, distributing them well through the batter. Add fruits, small amount at a time, and mix well. Add flavoring. This makes approximately 15 pounds of very stiff batter. Bake individual cakes in small containers (2 1/2 inches by 4 inches) for 1 hour in a slow oven (300 degrees F.). Bake longer for large cakes, depending on their size. To decorate your Christmas basket, fill bottom with white crepe paper moss. Line sides with a bristling five-inch ruffle of red cellophane. Pack your individual fruit cakes and jar of hard sauce in basket and then decorate handle with white and green cellophane bows and a cluster of holly tied with silver ribbon. FRUIT PUDDING FINISH Hard sauce, highly flavored with cinnamon, grated orange and lemon peels and a little brandy or fruit juice gives just the proper finish to hot fruit puddings. FREE BUSINESS, CONGRESS TOLD

U. S. Chamber President Says Restrictions Curb Recovery

Chicago, Dec. 15 (AP)—George H. Davis, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, urged the new Congress tonight to take prompt action to "relieve business of restrictions which are holding it back." Contending the nation would "come back" if traditional opportunities were restored, he advocated these congressional steps in a prepared address before the economic club: "Repeat the laws that make the heads of business rule—makers, prosecutors and judges—and not compel business men to try and discover from the morning papers the latest regulations under which they may operate their business that day. "Repeat the section of the commodity exchange act which allows a bureau in Washington to restrict the amount of grain a trader may buy for future delivery, and thereby enable the farmer to get a fair price for his grain. "Stop wasteful spending, which absorbs the money that formerly went into new enterprises and the expansion of old, thereby enabling industry to absorb the unemployed. "Inspire confidence in the minds of business men by amending the National Labor Relations Act, so that it would be fair to both the employer and the employee, and by prohibiting coercion from any source. "Amend the Social Security Act so that, after a reasonable reserve, it would be on a pay-as-you-go basis. "Enact legislation which would relieve the plight of the railroads, a $25,000,000,000 industry whose distress hangs like a dark cloud over the entire business structure of the nation." Davis also suggested a revision of "planning for agriculture. Atter nine years of such programs, he said, the farm industry found "wheat at the lowest price, terms of gold, in 300 years, a world market disrupted and government granaries bulging." "I believe," he concluded, "Congress is wise enough to sense a change in sentiment throughout the country and to give us action now—not wait until conditions become chaotic and we lose the American system of free enterprise that has made possible the Henry Fords, the Knudsens, the Farrells and the Chryslers and the opportunities for all the others who started with nothing but a determination to succeed against all odds. "Give the present generation the same opportunities and, never fear, America will come back."

C. OF C. WILL MEET

Sault Ste. Marie—Nearing the end of its fiscal year, the Chamber of Commerce through its board of directors, took stock Tuesday night of its accomplishments, its finances, and its prospects, and laid plans for the annual meeting and election to be held in January. The directors met at the Hotel Ojibway, with George W. Baldwin presiding. It was suggested last night that Col. Frank Knox, formerly of the Sault, be contacted with an invitation to appear at the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting in January. Judge Roberts P. Hudson, a friend of Col. Knox telephoned Col. Knox this morning and learned that Col. Knox is about to leave for South America.

Lamb Chops Love a Touch of Pineapple

Cranberries sweetened with honey sandwiched in between slices of ham. The boiled sweet potatoes complete this casserole which is baked in the oven.

When an English lamb chop gets a slice of pineapple, it's just like "boy meets girl"—pretty grand! And when a mess of cranberries gets acquainted with honey and goes a-baking with sliced ham and sweet potatoes, well, you've got something there.

Lamb Chops with Pineapple (6 servings)

Six double lamb chops (or mutton chops), 6 slices canned pineapple, 2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley, salt and cayenne pepper, butter, flour.

Broil chops under moderate clear flame. Dip drained pineapple slices in flour, then fry lightly in butter. On each hot pineapple slice place a still sizzling chop, season, and sprinkle with parsley. Garnish with crisp watercress. Remember that watercress is for eating, not only for looks.

Cranberries with Ham (6 servings)

Two large slices smoked ham, 3-4 inch thick, 2 1/2 pounds; 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 3 cups cranberries, 1 cup strained honey, 8 or 10 small boiled sweet potatoes.

With a sharp knife, cut edges of ham slices in several places to prevent curling. Stick cloves around edge of slices. Grind cranberries in coarse food grinder and mix with honey. Place one slice of ham in a shallow heat-resistant glass dish, about 12 by 8 inches, and cover with half of the cranberry and honey mixture.

Top with second slice and cover with remaining cranberry mixture. Arrange boiled sweet potatoes around ham slices. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 1 hour or until ham is tender. Baste occasionally with liquid in dish. Serve in same dish.

Swedish Women Win Bigger Role In Public Office

Stockholm—If local elections are a reliable indication, women are rapidly coming into their own in Sweden.

A large number of women were returned to the Provincial Councils—which Councils together form the Langsting—at the recent elections than ever before, and women are feeling that their long struggle for equality is at last bearing fruit.

In the provinces, 41 women won seats instead, as at the election of four years ago, of only nine. Ten Councils which previously were exclusively "male" in their constitution, now boast 20 women members between them.

In regard to the municipal elections, which took place at the same time as those for the Provincial Councils, whereas women Councilors were returned at the last election to the number of 171, on this occasion they number 305.

All over the country, women Councilors have maintained or increased their numbers. In Stockholm itself, numbers have risen from 13 to 22.

In other directions, too, Swedish women have stepped to the front. At the recent meeting of the Church Assembly, two women members made their appearance—an event which has no precedent in church history.

A young woman, moreover, has for the first time, been elected to the post of vice-president of the Uppsala University Student Corps. She is Miss Eva Wennerstrom, who is, at the present time, engaged in writing her doctor's thesis on the subject of Northern Languages.

Outside Shoppers Coming In Larger Numbers This Week

Escanaba's stores went on an evening schedule last night to accommodate the crowds of shoppers, who are making their Christmas gift purchases.

The stores will remain open until 9 o'clock nightly until Christmas Eve, Saturday, December 24, when all retail establishments will close their doors at 6 p. m. to give both employers and employees an opportunity to enjoy the Yule holiday event more fully.

The lengthening of the shopping period is expected to bring many out-of-town buyers to the city during the coming week. Merchants anticipate a heavy buying rush this week-end and also next week.

Retail business is reported as running ahead of last year's volume for the corresponding period.

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

MISS PERKINS AND MR. BRIDGES

When people begin to see Reds they often see red and lose their judgment. Here is Representative J. Parnell Thomas, Republican of New Jersey, announcing during a session of the Dies committee that he will demand the impeachment of Miss Perkins. Secretary of Labor, when Congress convenes, unless she takes "appropriate action" in the government's deportation case against Harry Bridges, the west-coast maritime leader. And the national commander of the American Legion says that the Legion will back Mr. Thomas up.

The demand is that Harry Bridges be deported as an alien and a Communist. Miss Perkins' duty is to observe the law. In order to establish, first, whether Communism is a legal ground for deportation of an alien, and, second, whether Mr. Bridges is a Communist.

On the first question there is a difference of opinion in the ruling of several courts. There is nothing in the deportation act that mentions Communism. The act excludes from the United States "aliens who are members of the anarchistic and similar classes," and it defines them as those who write, teach and otherwise advocate opposition to all organized government, or the overthrow by the force of violence of the government of the United States, or of all forms of law.

The 4th Federal District Court in the San Francisco district, has held on one or two occasions that a member of the Communist party was deportable under this act.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in Arkansas, however, in the case of Joseph G. Strecker, reversed this decision and ruled that under the act membership in the Communist party is not a cause of deportation.

Very properly the Department of Labor has asked a Supreme Court ruling on this controversial matter. In the hearing before the Supreme Court the Department of Labor is presenting the case against Strecker. The Supreme Court ruling will settle the matter of the law.

Should the Supreme Court rule that membership in the Communist party is a cause of deportation, a great many new and interesting questions will be precipitated. For the Communist party is a legal political party in the United States at this moment, with perennial candidates for the Presidency and for Congress. It has lost its place on the ballot at times because its membership was insufficient to warrant a place, but never on the ground that its activities were illegal.

In case the Supreme Court rules that Communists are deportable it will then be Miss Perkins' duty to establish whether Mr. Bridges is a Communist. The evidence of the Dies committee does not make him so. Every radical is not a Communist; in fact, some of the reddest of Red radicals are anti-Communist, on the ground that the Communist party has absolutely abandoned its revolutionary tactics and has resorted to legalism and the power of the ballot.

Harry Bridges is 38 years old. He was born in Melbourne, Australia, of an English father and an Irish mother, the latter an ardent Irish nationalist and an avowed Catholic. He was educated in a parochial school, from which he was graduated at the age of 18, and he went to sea at the age of 17 or 18.

He first entered the United States in 1920, worked on American coast vessels, joined a strike in New Orleans in 1921, worked for a few weeks as quartermaster on a government run-runner, and in 1922 became a longshoreman on the San Francisco waterfront at the time when the racket union controlled by the ship owners that extorted money from dockhands. This union later made a deal with the A. F. of L., and the longshoreman Harry Bridges fought them, in and out of the A. F. of L.

He's a thoroughgoing radical, by which I mean that he believes that the class struggle is a reality and will never be solved until the workers win it. He is a thin, long-faced, long-nosed Australian, considered incorruptible even by his enemies, and adored by his friends. He is an expert workman, an able winch-driver, and even in times of unemployment he always had a job.

In the great recrudescence of union organization in 1933 he campaigned to form a San Francisco local of the International Longshoremen's Association, and within six weeks an overwhelming majority of the longshoremen were in it. They voted to negotiate with the owners for recognition of the union, higher wages and the thirty-hour week. The companies refused to discuss their demands and they called a strike on May 9, 1934. In this they were joined by the sailors' union, against the opposition of some of their leaders. The ship owners, who were heavily subsidized by the government, resisted.

SERIAL STORY SKI'S THE LIMIT

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
SALLY BLAIR—heroine. She had everything that popularity could win her, except DAN REYNOLDS—hero. He might have had Sally but while he was king on skis.

COREY PORTER was king of the social whirl. So... But go on with the story.

Yesterday, Corey proposes to Sally but she doubts herself, is torn between her triumph and her fear of losing Dan.

CHAPTER V

At Sally's insistence, that next morning of her last lesson, Dan agreed to let her try a steeper hill. "But when you come to the intermediate sign," he cautioned "hear to the left. The rest of this trail is dangerous—there's a sheer drop of forty-five degrees at one point, some wicked turns and more than one obstacle, an open brook for one thing, near the ravine, a barbed wire fence."

Sally had taken that trail, more than once, clearing its obstacles, mastering its turns. But of course she could not tell that to Dan or should she confess to him, on this last morning—this last day that they might have together—that she had deceived him? Would he forgive her, understand, if she did?

Looking at his grave face, into his honest gray eyes, she had her doubts. He would think she had been laughing at him, pretending to be a novice, as indeed, at the start, she had. He would not realize she had chosen the only way she could contrive in her subtle feminine fashion, to make him take notice of her.

"It has been fun, hasn't it?" she asked, impulsively, eagerly. "These early morning lessons. You've enjoyed them, too, haven't you, Dan? You'll be a little bit sorry to have them end?" Sorry that this is our last time together, she meant. Sorry to have to go away. Perhaps never to see him again. It was funny, and yet not at all funny, either, the ache that this last thought could bring.

"Yes, it's been fun," Dan's answer was brief, his gray eyes unsmiling.

"Do you think I'm the sort of girl you thought I was?" Sally persisted. "Prom trotter, party girl—not good for anything else?" Maybe it was not quite fair to ask him that. But she had to know.

He climbed steadily on, not turning his head to look at her. Maybe because he knew how lovely she looked, her cheeks flushed from the clean sweet air, her dark eyes shining; lovely and unattainable—for him.

"Don't you like me—a little bit?" Sally persisted, her heart hammering hard beneath her plaid jacket, and not just from the long climb; she knew how to conserve her breath for that. "I like you, Dan—a lot," she added softly, frankly, without any coyness or guile.

She had forgot that that conquest had been begun on a dare. That their worlds lay miles apart. The only thing that mattered in this beautiful white world on this crystal morning was the answer he would give.

He turned toward her now, almost roughly. They had reached the mountain top. It was above timber line; they could look down on a layer of whipped-cream clouds, nestling low over the dark forest; the long clean sweep of deep powder snow. This was a world apart, belonging just to them.

"You know you shouldn't ask me that," Dan said. His tone was rough, too, almost angry.

"Why not?" Sally said. Her look held his.

"Because you know I do. I like you too much, Sally Blair. More than I've any right to, more than I should."

If her heart had hammered hard before, now its beating was almost suffocating, a dizzy, throbbing song of joy. For this was Sally's moment, her hour of triumph. He liked her—more than he should. He felt toward her as she did toward him. As she had as she knew now, from that first time when she had stopped to see him poised, high above her head, to watch the incredibly swift grace of his flight, to know that she must find out who he was, what he was, somehow get to know him.

"What if I give you the right?" Sally asked. Time was so fleeting, this lovely moment would break to drift away like the clouds below. Everything had to come to an end, as she had said to Corey only last night. Though it was not of Corey she thought now.

"You couldn't," Dan answered still gruffly. "You don't know what you're saying. It might seem right—here and now—but, as I told you, I can't allow myself to have time for girls like you. I don't dare believe in you, Sally Blair."

"Then you are a coward!" Sally returned. The high color flamed in her cheeks; her dark eyes wore their dangerous look. She had offered him her heart, and he had refused it. He had taken her moment of triumph, the song in her heart, and broken it between his strong hard hands.

"You think you're so fine and brave," Sally said. "Because you are king on skis. But you're a coward at heart. Dan Reynolds, you're afraid of your own self, of the real things in the world. I know that—from the first. I told the others Corey and all the gang. I only bothered with you, let you teach me what I already knew about skiing, to show you up, but you in your place, have the last laugh. It was all in fun—a dare."

"You mean that?" Dan took a step toward her, caught her two wrists in his strong clasp. His gray eyes were black with fury; the high spots of color stood out on his smoothly tanned skin.

"Of course I mean it!" Sally cried. Because she didn't, at all. Because she did not know what had made her say such things now that they were no longer true. Because her heart was crying out. Because she loved him—and hated him—at the same time. "I never meant anything so much before. I'll prove it to you—if you like."

She wrenched away from him swung on her skis, headed for the edge of the sheer drop. The steep down-trail, snow-crueted, stretched like a winding ribbon beneath them.

She heard Dan call out a warning, the whirl of his skis. But Sally had taken the schuss' skis close, body nearly erect, hands at her sides. Perfect form and grace and skill. Perfect landing, too, on the smooth firm surface a hundred feet below. Wind humming in her ears, lashing against her face, the white world skimming past like a lantern-slide run off at top speed. Thirty-five or 40 miles an hour, with the wind urging her on. Now she would pass the Caution sign of the intermediate run. But she would not bear to the left. She would show Dan Reynolds that she could telemark as expertly as he, gelandsprung an open brook, break her speed with a series of linked "christies" and miss the barbed wire fence.

She thought she heard Dan's voice again, raised in shrill warning, or perhaps in a cry of appeal. But now Sally was driven on by a stronger force than anger, or hatred or love. She was filled with the sheer exultation of speed, the mad glory of danger.

She knew that soon Dan would catch up with her, although she had got off to such a head start. She could not keep the lead all the way. Now she cleared the brook with one wide clean sweep—that would make Dan catch his breath, open his eyes! She could not see the fence at the foot of the hill—perhaps a snow drift concealed it from this distance.

Once more she heard Dan's voice—he must be almost up to her. This time she heard him call her name, repeatedly, urgently.

Then, throwing her weight on the outside ski to check control in the first "christie," preparing to vorlage for the forward lean, the wind caught the tips of Sally's skis, she plunged forward, crumpling into a tangled heap, war hurtled on down the steep pitch toward the barbed wire fence that loomed now, ominously near.

The last thing she remembered was Dan's cry, calling her name again, ringing faintly, persistently, in her ears.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 18.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 48: 12, 13) is: "Hearken unto me, O Jacob and Israel, my called; I am he; I am the first, I also am the last. Mine hand also hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heavens."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Rev. 4: 11): "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 295): "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them."

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

We can just stop worrying about the younger generation. Unless we want to worry about the possibility of their becoming prudish.

The recklessness we used to hear so much about seems to be gone with the times.

Students at the University of Washington in Seattle have gone so far as to turn thumbs down on the kind of evening dress that stays up for no noticeable reason.

The Varsity Ball committee at the University declared strapless gowns "immodest" and threatened that if any girl arrived in such a creation she could either add a pair of suspenders to her little number or go home.

You can't say the Washington students are reverting to the prudery of their grandparents. This is something they thought up themselves.

For grandmother was the girl who went for the strapless gown in a big way. It was just as much a social handicap for a girl to have a scrawny neck or thin shoulders in her day as it is right now.

If the college students had banned strapless gowns on the grounds that only one girl in a thousand can wear them successfully—they would have had something.

But to call them "immodest" is a sign of creeping prudery. Mama had better hide her strapless delight way in the back of the closet before son or daughter gets home from college for the holidays—and starts in censoring.

In fact, the whole family had better mind their p's and q's until the young ones are safely back at school.

There's no telling what this younger generation is coming to.

Customary "White Gift" Observance at Church Sunday

Following a tradition of many years, members and friends of the First Presbyterian church will observe "White Gift Christmas" at the services at the church on Sunday.

In accordance with the custom, which is founded on the legend of the Cathay, in which all gifts presented the King were acceptable if they were wrapped in white, the parishioners and their friends will present gifts wrapped in white at the Sunday services.

These will be collected and arranged for distribution to needy families, under the direction of the Deaconesses' society of the church, with the assistance of the classes of the Church School.

Miss Eleanor Falk Is The Bride Of Merrill Johnson

At a wedding of the holiday season which took place here on Thursday morning, Miss Eleanor Falk, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Erick Falk of this city, became the bride of Merrill Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Johnson of 1419 North 16th street.

The marriage service was read at 7:30 o'clock in the rectory of St. Joseph's church by Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M.

The bride, who was attended by Miss Ursula Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, wore a becoming street length frock of royal blue velvet, with a Burgundy hat and accessories, and a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Her bridesmaid wore bronze velvet with rust accessories, and she also had a corsage of gardenias.

Norbert Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, served him as best man.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party and the immediate family group was served at the Daniels home following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left on a motor trip through Lower Michigan, the bride wearing for traveling, a green knit wool dress with brown accessories. They will make their home following their return at 429 South Seventh street.

Local Paper Mill Has Remarkable Record of Continuous Operation

The Manistique Pulp and Paper Company will conclude the calendar year 1938 in a fortnight with the maintenance of one of the most remarkable operating records of all the newspaper manufacturing mills in the country. Despite the fact that the newspaper industry in the United States will not average better than 60 per cent normal operation for 1938, the Manistique mill lost only nine operating days during the past year and during the past 18 years, the local mill has lost a total of only slightly in excess of 100 operating days.

$150,000 in Pulpwood
In view of circumstances that has caused great curtailment of production and operation of virtually all of the newspaper industry in America during the past year, the record of the Manistique mill is considered particularly remarkable.

As a result of steady operation in 1938, the Manistique mill is one of the few in the Wisconsin-Michigan area that has made plans for the purchase of a normal supply of pulpwood this winter. During the past two weeks, the Manistique mill has contracted for a $150,000 supply of spruce balsam, a normal annual consumption.

This is considered particularly important to Manistique because this supply of pulpwood is purchased in the community's trading area, and provides an outlet for

JUICE CONSERVER

Pie season is just any season in a family with hearty appetites. To keep the juice between the crusts (no bubbling about on the oven floor) are neat little white crockery funnels which, when inserted in the center of the top crust, allows the steam to escape but not the delectable filling.

Measles Is Not Always A Minor Disease—Brenner

BY DR. E. J. BRENNER Measles is no longer regarded by the medical practitioner or the intelligent layman as one of the minor diseases of childhood from which the victim always and completely recovers. There is good reason to believe that disease of the vital organs, particularly of the heart and kidneys, appearing later in life, can often be traced to the illness of infancy. Bronchopneumonia and middle-ear disease may follow directly after a case of measles.

Till recently, however, it seemed virtually impossible to immunize against measles. Nor, lacking a more highly purified and concentrated product than is now available, can absolute assurance be offered. Nevertheless, scientific investigation has progressed sufficiently far to promise about 80 per cent immunity for as long as four weeks. In the presence of a measles epidemic, an attempt should be made to immunize every child under 10 years old.

An English physician reports that in a boys' school convalescent adult serum was administered to 70 out of 85 who came down with an attack of measles. In some cases, the serum was given before the first symptoms of the disease appeared and in these the average period of fever was limited to 5.2 days. Others, receiving the serum shortly after the onset, averaged 6.5 days of fever. Untreated cases exhibited fever for an average of 8.2 days.

A Wisconsin worker has announced that the serum immunized 82 per cent of a group which had been exposed to measles. Most promising is a new protein substance known as placental extract. The period of immunity conferred is still shorter than could be desired but there seems little doubt of the effectiveness of the preparation when administered prior to exposure. At least there is hope that measles may ultimately be placed in the category of smallpox and diphtheria—once deemed unavoidable, inexplicable and to be borne as philosophically as possible, but recognized now as due to parental neglect, ignorance or parsimony.

Several schools in this county are experiencing small epidemics of measles which are spreading due to lack of cooperation of the parents. Children in the early stages of a cold should be kept home from school and carefully watched for a rash. Parents are urged to report all cases as soon as they are noticed so that proper precaution can be taken to prevent further spread of the disease.

Prima Donnas Of Politics And Music Set Aside Temperament, Eat Goulash

BY ALBERT W. WILSON New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—If it would be news for a pair of prima donnas to become pals, then a close friendship which has flowered between Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York and music maestro Arturo Toscanini must merit recording. For neither one need admit any superiors in displays of temperament. If Toscanini is the most idolized, fawned upon and sometimes feared figure in his political world, where LaGuardia comes near matching him in his political world. Where Toscanini is famous for ripping off his coat lapels, breaking buttons and calling his musicians "dogs" or "shoemakers" LaGuardia has done quite as well as breaking pencils or anything else handy, and he can scream as lustily.

But mutual friends disclosed today that such scenes have never been duplicated at their frequent dinners together. Speaking sometimes in Italian—sometimes in English—they make faces at each other with abandon when in a frivolous mood. Or they talk angrily of dictators, for whom each has a hearty dislike. But it was music that brought them together years ago. The white-haired orchestra leader found the rotund little mayor, who is son of a former U. S. army bandmaster, to be an ardent and well-informed music lover. Toscanini—no less—gives pointers to the two little LaGuardia children, both studying piano.

PROFIT TAKING CHECKS RALLY

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES
Compiled by The Associated Press
Not change A.1 A.2 A.3 A.4

BY FRANK H. MACMILLEN
New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—A further stock market rally was dimmed somewhat today by profit taking which substantially reduced early gains running to 2 or more points and chalked up moderate losses for many issues.

Wall Street was still optimistic on the business outlook, and more or less indifferent to foreign happenings, but this week's brisk runtings in the stock list brought thoughts of a possible technical reaction.

Buying orders were heavy enough at the start to put the ticker tape behind for a while. Volume dwindled, however, as traders cashed in.

Notwithstanding the day's rather ragged performance, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .3 of a point at 61.9.

It was the fifth consecutive advance for this composite. Transfers to 1,798,410 shares against 1,665,054 the day before.

Tax selling was still a market factor, brokers said, but those who have been establishing losses or gains for income returns, in many instances switched to other issues in similar categories, thus tending to create a sort of price equilibrium.

Stocks ran up in the first hour as forecasts of expanding orders for rails and other products brought support to this group. U. S. Steel later fell back for a net loss of 1/4 at 66 1/8 and Bethlehem retained only 1-8 at 75 1/8.

General Motors was a shade on top but Chrysler retreated. Automotive output was expected to maintain a high rate during the next three months at least.

Anaconda, Kennecott and Phelps Dodge edged upward as the price of scrap copper was advanced 1/8 of a cent a pound. Continuation of Texas oil well shut-downs for 8 days a month through January, February and March enabled Texas Corp. and Standard Oil of N. J. to record modest gains.

The bond market forced wide of the stock division, with carrier loans once more setting the forward pace. Turnover of all bonds was the largest for any day since December 29, a year ago.

Commodities were uneven. Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to off 5/8 of a cent a bushel. Cotton was down 5/8 to 17. Cotton was unchanged to up 25 cents a bale. Sterling and the French franc firmed in terms of the dollar.

Ahead fractions to 3 or more points in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Niles-Bement-Pond, American Gas & Electric and Niagara Hudson Power. Lockheed fell back a trifle. Turnover of 335,000 shares compared with 324,000 Wednesday.

Locals Open Home Sked With Ishpeming Tonight

GAME STARTS 8:15 O'CLOCK

Hematites Have Lost But One Game; Last Tilt Before Holidays

Coach Carl Nordberg's Escanaba high school cagers will perform for the first time on their home court this year when they meet the always dangerous Ishpeming quintet on the junior high school floor here this evening. The game is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock with a preliminary game between the juniors and sophomores.

The locals have played three games this season so far, all of them being away from home. They lost the first by two points to Al Kirchner's Gravaerats at Marquette, won the second by a similar margin from Kingsford and lost by six points to Iron Mountain high last Friday night.

Ishpeming comes here with another class team. After losing by one point in the opener to a strong Stambaugh team, the Hematites came back with victories over Lake Linden and Munising. Each of the latter teams are veteran crews and the Ishpeming victors disclose that Watson has another strong team.

Gelmi Is Big Gun

Gelmi, center, has been the big gun of the Hematites this year and the Eskymos are set to stop his work as much as possible. The only Ishpeming veteran on the squad is Mell, star of last year's crew, but he suffered a broken nose in the Stambaugh game and may not be able to play. Watson's crew this year is composed of Le-Clair and Halvala forwards, Gelmi center, and Bussone, Agrella and Lindbom guards. Most of the scoring thus far has been accomplished by the three front line men.

The Eskymos will be dressed up for this first home showing, wearing their new uniforms for the first time. In fact, the lineup will be somewhat new, with Ray Peppin, regular guard, and Robert Henry, reserve guard, not on the bench because of ineligibility. Coach Nordberg has made several shifts in the lineup to compensate for the loss of the two players. Co-captain Wes Hansen, ordinarily a forward, has been shifted to guard where he will team up with Co-captain Iver Olson. Ray Bennett will remain at center and Bobby Barron at forward. Elmer Swanson, senior letterman, will hold down the forward position vacated by Hansen.

John Kelly and Bill Cook of Manistique will work the game.

Games This Week

Daggett at Quinnesec.

Scores Last Week

Stephenson 22, Daggett 21.
Hermansville 25, Harris 15.

Two good games are on the card for the fans of the Menominee county league this week with Harris playing the league leading Powers team and Stephenson meeting the other league leader in Hermansville. Daggett travels to Quinnesec where they will play a non-conference game.

The schedule this week finds the two teams in the middle of the bracket meeting the two teams on the top of the league. The Harris-Powers game should be a good one as both teams are of veteran caliber and both have displayed considerable strength so far this year. The Harris team is bound to return to winning ways this week with a larger floor to move around on, giving their offense a better chance to function, while the Powers team will have the advantage of playing on its own floor.

The Stephenson-Hermansville game has Hermansville the slight favorite over their down-county rivals because they will be performing on their own floor. Both of these teams sponsored football this year and consequently have not had as much time to practice as the other members of the league. Another game or two under their belts and both of the teams should be well under way.

In the game's last week the surprise was the upset defeat of Daggett by Stephenson and the low score to which the Harris team was held on its own floor. Daggett rests at the bottom of the league because of two slim points, losing last week by one point to Stephenson and also the week before to Harris by the same margin in an overtime tussle.

The games this year have attracted the largest crowds in the history of some of the schools. Last week the Harris-Hermansville game packed the Bark River town hall literally to the rafters and spectators had to stand on parts of the playing floor. Reports of large crowds have also come from some of the other games.

TIGERS BARTER WITH RED SOX

Auker and Wade Figure In Deal for Pinky Higgins, McKain

BY SID FEDER

New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox, looking ahead to the Lefty Grove "question mark," strengthened their pitching at the expense of their infield in a deal with the Detroit Tigers today as the major league moguls wound up their long-drawn-out three-day winter meetings.

Otherwise, the only action came from a joint session of both leagues, which approved boosting the club player-limit from 23 to 25 players. After the American and National Leagues disagreed on the question, Commissioner K. M. Landis cast the deciding vote in favor of the change.

The Red Sox-Tigers swap sent third-sacker Pinky Higgins and Southpaw Archie McKain to Detroit for pitchers Elden Auker and Jake Wade and Outfielder Chester Morgan in a straight player deal. Auker and Wade won 14 and lost 12 between them during the 1938 campaign. That record, although unimpressive in itself, can't be overlooked in view of some of the pitching the Sox got last season after Grove's arm suddenly went "dead."

Infield Gap Plugged

Since nothing has been heard by the Red Sox bosses about Lefty's chances of coming back next season, it was imperative that they obtain pitchers in a hurry to take up the slack. As a result, they were willing to sacrifice Higgins, one of the best third sackers in the league in recent years, to get the flingers. In obtaining Higgins, the Tigers are plugging up the largest gap in their 1938 infield armor. They tried a couple of boys named Joe at the spot last season, with no luck, so they certainly benefited by coming up with the 300-hitting Higgins.

Both clubs did well in the transaction. The Tigers don't lose too much in pitching strength, since they obtained Freddy Hutchinson, the young sensation from Seattle Tuesday night, and they expect Schoolboy Rowe to stage a comeback next year. The Red Sox hope young Jim Tabor can handle the third-basing chores Higgins is giving up.

More Deals On Fire

In addition to the deal actually announced, rumors continued to flow the rounds concerning other ivory transactions on the fire. With the Detroit-Boston deal settled, Brooklyn now hopes to do some business with the Tigers. The Phillies have received several offers for Hugh Mulcahy, strong young pitcher, and a number of other clubs in both leagues are holding open house on talking things over.

As the major leagues finished their sessions, these accomplishments stood out for the three days of talking:

- 1—A uniform baseball was adopted for both leagues, with the stitching that of the '38 National League pellet and the cover that of the American League ball.
- 2—Night baseball was voted for both circuits, the American League granting permission to Cleveland and Philadelphia to play seven home games each in 1939. Cincinnati, Brooklyn and probably Philadelphia will do the same in the National.
- 3—The depression apparently is over for the big leagues since both returned, in today's action, to the 26-player limit. This adds two men to the roster limit, which, it is claimed, will help second division clubs, and becomes effective 30 playing days after the 1939 season gets under way. The limit, as usual, lasts through September 1, when the ban is lifted to 40 players per club.

Last but not least, the two leagues had a Damon and Pythias session like nothing they've shown in three or four years. Both were willing at all times to make concessions, indicating that all hands are looking forward to a banner

UPBAYS MEET LITTLE GIANTS

Gladstone Expects Hard Game With Rock This Evening

Gladstone, Mich.—Gladstone high school cagers will compete in their last pre-holiday game here tonight with Rock furnishing the opposition.

Reserve quintets of the two schools will compete in a preliminary which is scheduled to start at 7:15 o'clock.

The game will probably be the toughest thus far on the Kellmen's schedules, judging from scores turned in this season by the Little Giants.

The visiting team boasts four veterans whereas the locals have only one letterman back and have plainly shown a lack of experience.

Despite illness and injury, Coach Eldon Kell expects to put his regular lineup on the floor tonight. This includes Dahl and Knutson, forwards; Captain Zervic, center; Kee and Petrovich, guards. Kee was still absent from school yesterday and if he is unable to play will likely be replaced by Lansing Marble. Zervic, was back in school but how badly he will be handicapped by an injured hand is unknown.

Bill Puckelwartz of Escanaba will handle both games.

Rock, Mich., Dec. 15—Rock high school cagers, victorious in their first two games of the year, will get their biggest test of the season Friday night when they travel to Gladstone to meet Coach Eldon Kell's Upbays, resuming their series which has extended for several years.

Coach Cliff Buckmaster's crew has shown plenty of offensive power in their first two games, tripping Rapid River and Eben. The team is composed of four regulars from last year and is augmented by a lanky junior who saw some action. Lack of height will handicap the boys somewhat against Gladstone, only Suteia being near six feet. However, the boys make up in speed and cleverness what they lack in height.

The only medium of comparing strength of Rock and Gladstone is through their only mutual opponent this year, Rapid River. The latter team played on the Gladstone and Rock floors and were defeated by almost similar scores. Just how much this comparison may mean cannot be judged.

Coach Buckmaster has warned his crew to take lightly the stories of Gladstone's crippled cagers. He pointed out that that is the usual procedure designed to put the opponents off guard and that all of Kell's regulars will be on the floor Friday night.

The local fighting lineup will find Capt. Cliff Carlson and Pelton forwards, Suteia center, and Irving and Lester Pilon, guards.

A large delegation of local fans will follow the team to Gladstone in its last game before the Christmas holidays.

year for the 1939 centennial of the game.

AUKER SATISFIED

Detroit, Dec. 15 (AP)—Elden Auker, submarine ball pitcher who was traded today by the Detroit Tigers to the Boston Red Sox, said tonight that he would continue to maintain his home here and that if he had to be traded he would rather play with than the Red Sox.

Auker, who recently purchased an interest in a retail auto concern here, said: "I know Tom Yawkey (Boston owner) very well, and have known him for quite some time. They've got a lot of power on that club. All they need is pitching and I think I can help that."

Pink In The Pink With Long Pass; Proud Of Heave

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 16 (Special)—Highlight of Michigan's 41 to 34 basketball win from Michigan State last week was a floor-length pass of guard Charlie Pink.

Standing under the State basket, Pink heaved the ball down court to Danny Smick, who had escaped his guard. But the pass was high and wide by several yards and sailed for the backboard, to hit the basket rim and all but bounce through the hoop. Smick retrieved the ball and neatly passed to Ed Thomas, who connected on an easy dog shot.

After the game Pink stopped Coach Bennie Oosterbaan. "What do you think of that shot?" he asked. "It's a good one," Bennie answered. "Keep working on it."

EMERALDS PLAY MUNISING QUINT

Manistique Will Present Revised Lineup for Game Tonight

Manistique, Mich.—The Manistique high school basketball team will tackle Munising's classy cagers in the last pre-holiday game tonight at the Manistique high school gymnasium. The reserve teams of the two schools will clash in the 7:15 preliminary, and the feature game will start at about 8:30 o'clock.

Coach Reque has shaken up his lineup this week with the view in mind of rebuilding for next year, and tonight's lineup will be studied with underclassmen. Courneya will start at center, Lambert and McMillan guards; and Noe and Pats or Patel, forwards. Of these only Pats is a senior. Hobolik and Olson, guard and center, respectively, are seniors who may see service, as well as Ben Hellsten and Whitey Johnson, forward and guard.

Gunnar Hellsten, center and captain, resigned from the squad this week. It has been learned, and has turned in his uniform. Reports from Munising, indicate that the Algors are boasting one of the really clever basketball quintets of this region this year, and the Emeralds are primed for a tough battle.

The game will be officiated by V. J. Carr, of St. Ignace.

Central Nosed Out By Lawrence Tech

Detroit, Dec. 15 (AP)—Lawrence Tech eked out a 42-40 cage victory over Central State Teachers college tonight in a game that was ragged and slow until near the end.

Central was on top 18-17 at half time. Lawrence put on a late in the game and Bob Kerr, Tech forward, made six baskets in six minutes. His 15 points led the scoring. Three Central players tied with 12 each. They are Capt. Howard Elings, center, and Dale Moeller and Kenneth Norris, forwards.

SPILLING THE DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSHINGER

Green Bay's Christmas celebration won't be one of the usual hilarious variety... gloom encircles the town like a thick blanket of fog... and it's all because the Packers lost the world's championship to the New York Giants... yes, perhaps even more because of the manner by which they lost it... Green Bay honestly believes that two decisions by the same official ruined their chances of a title... he ruled a Giant pass complete and ruled a Packer aerial incomplete, saying that a Packer end was not an eligible receiver... play-by-play in a picture shown in Green Bay Wednesday clearly indicated that the Giant pass was incomplete, the receiver never having had possession of the ball... but when Packer fans looked for the other play in question, they found that it had been cut out of the picture in New York.

FARR AND NOVA CLASH TONIGHT

Contender for Joe Louis Crown May Emerge In 15-Round Bout

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Dec. 15 (AP)—There is a fair chance that a genuine contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight championship will emerge from tomorrow night's 15-round fight between young Lou Nova of California and Tommy Farr, the Welsh veteran, at Madison Square Garden.

It all depends, of course, upon Nova, who has been defeated only once in 25 professional engagements and is a fine-looking prospect in every particular. If Nova takes the measure of Farr, who is the most formidable man he has met to date, then they can start right in beating the drums and crashing the cymbals for another battle of the century.

It, on the other hand, Farr's ruggedness and great experience prove too much for the handsome footballer, why, the whole thing can be safely forgotten.

Though he is that rare aviator of the prize ring, a vertical British heavyweight, Farr is not destined to tread the pugilistic heights. Not Too Soft.

The Welshman already is a three-time loser in this country, having dropped decisions to Champion Joe Louis and to ex-champions Jim Braddock and Maxie Baer. The Braddock fight, at least, was very close, and only Baer succeeded in depositing Tommy on the canvas even temporarily. Louis couldn't in 15 bloody rounds.

So they are not tossing Nova something soft for his coming-out party. On the contrary, they have given him a wicked assignment. Farr has spent seven weeks getting in shape, and has looked so good in training that the Broadway betting commissions have made him a 5-7 favorite.

For a youngster, Nova has made a remarkably good impression on local boxing circles. He is big enough to whip anybody, with some 300 pounds molded on a six-foot, two-inch frame, and he throws a beautiful short right. He has especially fine legs, and has proved he can take punishment and come back for more.

In his only other important scrap here, Gunnar Barlund knocked Nova to the canvas with a right to the chin, yet Lou got up and came on to score a technical knockout over the Finn. This victory, however, lost some of its glamor when Roscoe Toles gave Barlund a lacing last week.

Gladstone Empons Defeated By Eagles

Keeping a safe lead all the way, the Escanaba Eagles basketball team defeated the Gladstone Empons last night, 42 and 31, before a good-sized crowd. On Sunday, the Eagles will play Bark River on the latter's floor, a Delta-Menominee league game.

MICHIGAN NIPS IRISH, 40 TO 38

Basketball Relations Are Resumed In Hot Tilt As 5,000 Watch

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 15 (AP)—Notre Dame and Michigan resumed basketball relations with a bang tonight, the Wolverines winning a slam-bang affair from the Irish 40 to 38 before a capacity crowd of 5,000 fans.

Two free throws by Charles Smick in the final 70 seconds of play decided a hard fought battle which saw the score tied eight times during the game.

Eddie Sadowski hit the hoop from quarter court with 15 seconds left to play to put the Irish within two points of the Wolverines. However, Michigan took the ball and successfully stalled the remaining five seconds.

Smick was the leading Michigan point getter with eight field goals, while Riska, Irish sophomore, ran in seven field goals and five free throws for 19 points.

The game was rough with 23 fouls assessed against the contestants. Capt. Earl Brown Brown of Notre Dame who was honored with a delegation of 500 home town fans from Benton Harbor, Mich., before the game, was the only player to leave the game on personal fouls.

NEW PARKING LAW IS READ

Council Reiterates Its Stand on Purchasing Policy of Past

First reading was given last night to the proposed amendment to the city parking ordinance, which will prohibit parking longer than a half hour between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m. on streets outside the fire zone during the months of December, January, February and March.

Final reading will be made on January 5 at which time objections to the proposed amendment will be entertained. The amendment was proposed by the traffic commission to enable city crews to plow streets at night with a minimum of interference from parked cars. Under the amendment, the only places a car may be parked are a half block off Ludington street from the bay to Stephenson avenue and between the curb and sidewalk.

After a lengthy argument with Charles Gunderson, local businessman, members of the council reiterated their present policy of accepting bids on all city purchases and selecting the one which offers the best quality at the lowest price regardless of whether or not the bid was submitted by a local agent. Gunderson requested the council to exclude outside bidders but the council pointed out that the interests of all the taxpayers must be considered, rather than just catering to local dealers. They said that, in the event that there is only minor differences in bids, local dealers shall be given the order.

A ruling of the city attorney, H. J. Rushton, was read, pointing out that any ordinance attempting to restrict the hours of business of auctioneers would be illegal and unenforceable.

A report on performance of the new fire truck was received and authorization of payment for the truck was made.

Installation of street lights was approved for the following streets: 13th avenue north and 22nd street, Second avenue south and 15th street, and Tenth avenue and 16th street.

Authorization was made for turning over $400 to the county health department.

Surprised at Quick Action of KruGon

Now Able to Get Around Easily After Fear at One Time of Becoming a Cripple; Feels Like Former Self Again

"I had tried many different medicines with no beneficial results before I began KruGon," said Mrs. Hattie Yeager, 1408 River St., Merrill, Wisconsin. "I seemed to have a chronic case of constipation and my digestion was badly upset. It seemed there was no meal that I ate which was not followed with awful gas pains and severe bloating in my stomach. Many times I would become so short of breath I could hardly breathe. Then aches and pains began to develop and settled in my knees causing me such severe suffering I was certain they would make a cripple of me. Nights were always a 'night-mare' for me for I was unable to rest or get my sleep. It was actually difficult for me to get around in my condition and my outlook on life was not very bright feeling as I did. But that was before I had begun KruGon's use."

"This laxative-ionic formula soon proved to be a wonderful remedy for me," continued Mrs. Yeager. "I am able to get around nicely now and am never bothered with that tired, exhausted feeling which had been with me for so long. Those aches and pains have been relieved, my digestion is fine, eat and sleep good and would not take anything for what KruGon has done for me. It is wonderful to feel like my former self again."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

New York, Dec. 15—Big boys battling in the heavyweight ring are to be the stars of another in the march of prize fight broadcasting on the WJZ-NBC list for Friday night. It will be the set-to of Tommy Farr from England and Lou Nova as the American boxer. Description makes its start at 9 o'clock, to be sent out also on the short waves for England.

A drama of an American community suddenly projected back to the conditions of pioneer days, on the achievement index report for the trip, sponsored by the American Legion, to Mackinac Island next summer. Scouts receive five points per meeting which is credited to their troop on the monthly troop report for activities on the Scout band.

LIGHTS SHOULD BE EXAMINED

Care Urged In Decorating Christmas Trees This Season

"Beautiful but Dumb" was the caption used with a recent poster which showed a woman lighting wax candles on a Christmas tree. "We might engage in a debate as to whether candles are more beautiful than the vari-colored based on Josephine Young Case's narrative poem, is an addition for WJZ-NBC at 8:30. Mrs. Case, who is the daughter of Owen D. Young, has written quite extensively, but this is her first long work. It bears the title: "At Midnight on the 31st of March."

electric lights now available, but still there is no question that the use of candles is dumb. However, electric tree lights and electric decorations require the use of some common sense, as well," a local electrical inspector said yesterday.

"When you take the Christmas decorations down from the attic or the top closet shelf this year, give them a thorough examination," warns the inspector. "See whether insulation on the wires has dried and cracked, exposing the copper conductors at any point. See whether the insulation has pulled back on the wires at the sockets, exposing the copper at these points. Screw in the lamp bulbs and see if they fit snugly in the sockets without exposing part of the 'live' lamp base.

Short Circuit Danger
"These precautions are necessary to prevent short circuits which might cause sparks to ignite inflammable decorations or the inflammable tree. Metal foil and metal decorations often cause these short circuits when live parts of the set are exposed. Each year there is an unnecessary loss of life and property from Christmas tree fires. In one metropolitan district last year six electrical fires involving trees took five lives. "Unless all parts of your decorative sets appear to be in the best order, throw them away and buy new ones. Don't use sets intended for indoor use, out-of-doors. Precautions regarding quality of insulation are particularly important to avoid shock when outdoor trees, exposed to rain and snow, are decorated. Extension cords for such use should all be rubber-sheathed. It's a good idea to disconnect the system when installing and changing lamps.

"In selecting electrical appliances as Christmas presents, buy those which have been approved for safety against fire and electrical hazards. Inquire whether electrical toys and electrical appliances have been listed as adequately safe by underwriters' laboratories. Look at the attachment cords of such appliances to see if the laboratories' 'bracelet' label is attached. By doing this your presents will give more satisfactory service, and you will have the satisfaction of cooperating with the inspection department in keeping the community safe."
