Tuesday, April 19, the French Club, L'Alliance Francaise, will be entertained in the training school gymnasium. A committee composed of members of the club has been getting things ready. According to all reports, and judging by the energetic committee, this will be the affair of the season.
A lunch will be served and there will be a delightful program. The program follows:
Vocal solo—Betty Perkins.
Solo dance—Irene Lepisto.
Piano solo—Evelyn Nelson.
Reading—Milton Gustafson.

a nap over (I should say behind) the paper. At any rate, she appeared particularly engrossed. Miss Schaeke was sitting near her, but she, too, is enigmatic.
We were off shortly, and now and then on the road some late comer fell in line and into step. We walked around the island, went way up in a swing, stopped near Pulpit Rock for a few songs (Miss Schaeke started to teach us a new one), and finally remembered that breakfast was a long way off. We obeyed the natural impulse.
The next morning's schedule is not to be printed, I'm warned.
By the way, here's a tip: Never play follow the leader with Ruth Roepke. Remember the rat-wife in "Little Ayolf"?

At 6 o'clock last Saturday morning the Delta Sigma Nus took a little jaunt out to and around the island. They walked clear to the end of the breakwater to sing songs and watch the water ripple. They indulged in the common game of counting the deer on Presque Isle, returning at 9 o'clock convinced that nature is grand—especially in the springtime.

The Kawbawgam reports again. Orders were sent in last Friday for 500 covers. Herb Helman wants second payments turned in immediately; those who pay first will get their annuals first. Nobody wants one the day after school is out. Let's get our money in and help the manager get everything in shape.

It takes more than a spidery hand and printers' ink to write-up anything as it deserves, whether the subject be "Elmer Gantry" or a party or a feather in the wind. We can just try, as Don Byrnie did in "Brother Saul."
But—with sincerity as a lift and Mrs. Launer as hostess, trying isn't especially necessary.
Friday afternoon, May sixth, Mrs. Launer entertained the Deltas at tea. Anyone who knows the Lautners and their home will appreciate the pleasure we got out of the invitation.

We trooped over there as soon as we could get together after classes. What a glorious afternoon! Friday, and tea with a lovely lady! You know, it's the pleasant moments that make real memories; this includes anticipation.
What did we do? Let me see. It's one delightful thing—Ann Wintler spotting color harmonies. Mrs. Launer recalling the absurd hats women used to wear when she was a girl. Mrs. Lowe insisting that King is far prettier than the cat she was fondling (it had just been washed and looked angelic, for a fact), and everybody giving her opinion about everything. And there was lunch—under the geraniums. Then Lucille Hoyle sang lovely, old-fashioned songs. The finale was our own Delta song.

We went away with mingled visions of quaint yellow parasols, hellyocks, old dagger-topees—oh, everything nice, and, above all, our hostess, who suggests the "delicate odor of mignonette."
Miss Carey visited at the Sault last week, and while there attended a meeting of the Soo High School Girls' Athletic association. At this meeting letters and trophies were being given out to girls who had won honors in athletics. Certain numbers of points merited various awards.
This reminds us that a Girls' Athletic association would mean a lot to Northern girls who would like an "N" to wear on their sweaters. Why not stir up some propaganda.

Taps at five-thirty and on the march at six! That was the Delta schedule Saturday morning, May seventh. We met at the house and (Veritas is my slogan), a couple of the girls were already down on the porch reading the morning paper! Those who were impervious to any of our hilarity were cruelly aroused by Dor's sentimental yodelling of something or other to her own accompaniment.
Some of us insist that Amy stole

Saturday afternoon, April 30, at 3 o'clock, the solemn initiation of Cegmer Seg pledges took place at the home of the president, Gladys Wiggins.
After the initiation a banquet was served at the Marquette hotel. During the course of the banquet talks were given by Miss Hunting, advisor; Gladys Wiggins, Eileen Stafford and the new pledges, Genevieve Bari, Laura Rossberg, Helmi Huhtala, Francis Pepin and Mae Spencer.

After the banquet, a rose, always used as a symbol of Cegmer Seg sorority, was given to each new member, and a bouquet of roses was taken to Mrs. J. C. Bowman, patroness, who, much to the regret of the girls, was unable to be present.
Beta Omega Tau held its solemn initiation ceremonies Monday, May 2. Willa Thomas and Dorothy Olmstead were the proud pledges upon whom the honors were conferred. After the ceremonies there was a delicious banquet at the Marquette hotel. The table was beautifully arranged with bouquets of spring flowers. At each plate there was a nut cup in Beta colors and a dainty place card.
At the close of the dinner, Ellen Hogan, president of Beta Omega Tau, spoke a few words of welcome to the new sisters. Each of the pledges replied with very sweet and sincere words of their happiness upon becoming members of Beta Omega Tau. Irene Courtney, in her charming and clever manner, spoke about sisterhood and what it means. Genevieve Keese gave a lovely little speech about Beta ideals, and feeling very elevated and inspired by Genevieve's words the girls said good-night and thus ended an evening which will be remembered by them for a long time.

The Cegmer Seg have come to look upon their frequent suppers in the domestic science rooms as being just the "best things out." There are many reasons why these suppers should be considered so enjoyable. Good eats, a cozy dining room, and a peppy crowd, are bound to satisfy any girl.
At the last supper held on Friday, May 6, an extra good time was enjoyed by the members because several guests were present.
The hour before supper time was spent in the training school gym. Music for dancing was furnished by the Pepin, Aosberg, Watson trio, and, as one of the girls said, they sure can "fiddle the keys."
The supper proved to be delightfully satisfying to a group of hungry girls (even though some of the rolls did "roll" away).
After supper the girls prolonged their good time by going to the social evening given by the Student Girls' League and Men's Union.

On May 2, the members of the Phi Kappa Nu Sorority held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Fleury, 1007 North Fourth street. Miss Dorothy and Mrs. Fleury acted as joint hostesses for the evening. Previous to the business meeting Evelyn Hicks was formally initiated into the sorority. After the meeting a delightful lunch was served, at which the girls did full justice to the delicious sandwiches, fruit and sponge cake.
