WOMAN'S WORLD.

A WOMAN WHO MAKES $1,000 A MONTH BREEDING FINE DOGS.

The Dreadful Mouse—Dressing the Hair—How to Take Air Baths—The Fashion of Fainting—The Beauty of Grace and Carriage.

To commence business with just $3 and in four years to make an income of $12,000 a year is a fine record for a woman. This is what Mrs. Olivia Ceder, of the Ceder kennels, 113 West Thirty-seventh street, has succeeded in doing.

"I have always owned dogs," said Mrs. Ceder, "but did not go in on a business basis until 1896. I bought a Great Dane for $3 and so cheaply because the people wanted to get rid of it and did not appreciate its value. Her puppies brought excellent prices and won firsts and specials at shows.

"I bought a piece of land at Flatbush and erected good kennels. The first year it was all expense and no profits, but next I put by quite a neat little sum, and now my profits average $1,000 per month. I found that on Long Island I was too far from the business center and decided to purchase kennels in New York.

"My business increased so rapidly that my husband, who was a newspaper man, was forced to give up his position and come to my assistance. We send dogs all over the world—to Alaska, Porto Rico, South and Central America—and get fine prices for them.

"I do not limit myself to any particular species of dogs. I have all kinds, but endeavor to keep up with the popular taste.

"It must not, however, be supposed that the dog business is all pleasure and profit. I love dogs and enjoy ministering to their wants. However, they entail a great deal of trouble and are subject to infantile diseases just like children.

"I think," she said, "that breeding dogs is an excellent business for a woman to undertake."—New York World.

The Dreadful Mouse.

In the course of a recent discussion of the antipathy of most women to mice, a New York lawyer related a curious incident. An Italian was trying, on a street corner, to sell white mice, one of which, by way of attracting the attention of the passersby, he allowed to sit upon his hat brim.

Two women noticed the mouse and stopped. The owner lifted it down and began to describe its good qualities—its tameness, its beauty, its docility—in the hope of effecting a sale. In the middle of his discourse the little creature made a sudden and swift spring and alighted upon the arm of one of the women. She gazed for a moment with dilating eyes of horror and then, with a loud shriek, fell in a faint to the sidewalk. She was carried into the nearest shop, and it was minutes before she recovered consciousness.

The curious thing about it is that a policeman, attracted by the commotion, recognized her as a daring criminal, whose portrait was in the rogues' gallery and whose offenses against the law had been accompanied by violence. She had been twice convicted of assaults with knife and pistol. Yet this lawless and dangerous virago collapsed at contact with a mouse!

Charles Reade, the novelist, recognized the complete dissociation between this shuddering antipathy and any feebleness of will or courage. In one of his best tales his Scotch heroine, a dauntless fisher girl, who has dared the elements all her days and has but a moment before braved the wrath of a drunken sailor, shrinks terrified from a mouse, with a string tied to its leg, which a small child tried to show to her. A friend points out her inconsistency.

"A mouse is an awesome beast. It's no like a man," explains Christie ingeniously.

To most women and not a few men mice are still "awesome" beasts. Nevertheless as our modern outdoor girls continue to improve their nerve and eliminate hysteria the number that scream, faint or lose their self control at the sight of a scared little gray shadow scurrying harmlessly across the floor tends steadily to decrease. They may not like a mouse any better than their great-grandmothers did, but they do not like to let a mouse render them ridiculous.—Youth's Companion.

Dressing the Hair.

Dressing the hair low, which appears to be seriously coming in, has not yet extended to young faces.

There is the pompadour roll, for instance, with the light chignon in the hair and the hair turned up at the back of the neck, which is almost uniformly worn by young girls. When it is too high, a few curls are introduced, and also when the hair is weak.

But a low coiffure hitherto has been confined to young married women not afraid of innovations, says La Nouvelle Mode. It suffices for one or two whom nature has endowed with regular features or the springlike beauty of youth to adopt the style, and they will be followed by the majority. But it is generally admitted that young girls are never ahead of the prevailing fashions.

We admit that the hair on the top of the head suits the faces of young women.

The question of hairdressing is an embarrassing one at this moment. Some ladies try the seraphic style with bands of hair round the face. Others hesitate in presence of the grace of the uncovered neck, the temples exposed to view with the mass of hair raised above the forehead.

The shape of the hats is an evident indication of the coming transformation, with their flat tops where there is no room for a high chignon. Ladies seem to be awaiting the new style before making a decision.

The transformation will come slowly and almost imperceptibly, but we are of the opinion that for at least a certain period the coiffure inspired by the graces of Watteau are done for.

We do not yet see all the ladies resigned to the middle part, the hair flattened against the top of the head, which is the real idea of the coiffure en bandeaux. The hair is still raised up and wavy.

But the profile is entirely different, and the hair, interlaced in a kind of undulatory movement, rests on the neck without, however, going farther.

How to Take Air Baths.

Two baths, say the newest health authorities, should be taken every morning, for no less important than the tub bath for the body is the air bath for the lungs. Perhaps you have never taken an air bath and wrongly fancy that it may be necessary to turn yourself inside out to accomplish it. On the contrary, the directions are extremely simple. You need no apparatus, and it takes but a moment's time and very little effort. Every night the lungs become filled up with impure air and more or less poisonous gases. A person may go all day without ridding his lungs of these impurities. Therefore it is as important to bathe the lungs every day as the body. Few people know how to breathe correctly. The lungs are not filled by merely expanding the upper portions of the chest and raising the shoulders. The entire front of the chest should be forced out as one inhales. There are a number of exercises for expanding the chest which you can practice in your room as well as in a gymnasium. A doorway will serve as well as the most complicated gymnasium apparatus. A narrow doorway is preferred. Stand directly under the frame and place the hands flat on the door casing, the tips of the fingers coming at the height of the shoulders. Walk through the door without removing the hands until you are arms' length away. This draws back the shoulders and brings the important chest muscles into play. Try this for 15 minutes every night and morning. It will help to wake you up when you rise and help you to get to sleep quickly when you go to bed.

Another plan is to expand the chest the same way before an open window. Stand about a foot from the window, placing the hands on the window frame on either side at the height of the shoulders. Without moving the feet, let the body swing forward as far as possible and return to a perpendicular position.

The Fashion of Fainting.

A story of fainting beauties is told in the memoirs of the Rev. Julian Young, subchaplain of Hampton court palace. The palace is not only a show place, but a residence for persons of position, but of limited means. From this fact some irreverent persons call it "The Quality Poorhouse."

One very hot Sunday a young lady, not a resident of the palace, but living in the vicinity, fainted in the chapel during the service. Sir Horace Seymour, a widower, a Waterloo hero of commanding presence and strikingly good looks, raised the prostrate young lady in his arms, carried her to his apartments, deposited her on the sofa, left her in charge of the housekeeper and returned to his seat.

Strange to say, on the two following Sundays a young lady, each time a different one, fainted during the service, and on each occasion the same gallant knight performed the same kind office for the sufferer and then returned to his post.

On the last of these three fainting Sundays Lady Seymour, the aunt of Sir Horace, said to the chaplain after service: "I say, Mr. Young, this fashion of fainting will degenerate into an epidemic if it is not put a stop to. With your permission I will affix before next Sunday this notice in the cloister at the door of the entrance: 'Notice.—

Whereas a tendency to faint is becoming a prevalent infirmity among young ladies frequenting this chapel, notice is hereby given that for the future ladies so affected will not be carried out by Sir Horace Seymour, but by Branscombe, the dustman."

This warning produced the desired effect, and the plague of fainting beauties was stopped.—London Tit-Bits.

Beauty of Grace and Carriage.

A woman may have a face as perfect in its classic outlines as that of a Greek goddess, her figure may be well proportioned, and yet she may appear unattractive because she does not carry herself well. Beauty of feature and form weighed in the balance against grace and carriage is always found wanting. My lady's gowns may be modeled after the most elegant Worth

A SONG OF LOVE'S COMING.

Love comes with silent feet
Out of the mist of dreams,
With roses in his crown;
He bears a sword that gleams.

Love comes with a red rose crown
To where the sleeper lies,
And on the fast closed eyes
The red rose leaves drift down.

They touch the sleeper's lips,
And, sleeping still, he sighs,
They fall upon his heart; he wakes
And looks into Love's eyes.

Oh, waking bitter sweet
Of mingled joy and pain!
Turn, dreamer, ere that Love can speak
And close thine eyes again.

He never more may sleep
Who hears the magic word,
For Love that is with roses crowned
Is girded with a sword.
—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE WILY WIDOW.

And the Visits to Her of Suitors Niles and Giles.

The widow is a resident of Brooklyn. Two of her friends are stockbrokers; in Wall street and fellow club members, but they had never spoken of her to each other.

And the widow was wary. While her mind was undecided, she encouraged both and arranged that they call on different occasions. But one evening, unfortunately, the two suitors met, and the situation became embarrassing. Giles, who had entered first, believed he had the right of possession. Niles was of opinion that the earlier callers should take his leave first. Therefore both tarried.

At length, as the hour was growing late, Niles suggested that they depart together and discuss a matter of interest to their club on their homeward way. Giles, unable to find a real excuse, agreed.

Together they boarded a car and together reached the ferry for Manhattan borough.

At this juncture Niles, somewhat unnecessarily, it appeared to Giles, became engaged in a controversy with a man who had jostled him, but the opportunity seemed heaven sent to Giles, and he embraced it to return the way he had come. He had been on the point of asking a crucial question, and, being a man of resolution, he determined not to risk another hour's delay. He stopped a moment in a cigar store to arrange his necktie.

Arriving at the apartment house, he was informed by the hallboy that the elevator had just gone up for the last time. So near the object of his adoration, this seemed but a trivial inconvenience, and, like the ardent P. J. Beranger, "lightly he vaulted up four pair of stairs."

He stood at the door. He entered. There sat Niles.—Harper's Magazine.

Professors Not Overcrowded.

There is a dearth of thoroughly trained men in all professions. The more exacting the conditions the greater the need. The thoroughly trained man nowadays must be a college man. The universities are using every effort to train men along special lines for definite efficiency in something. The old idea of college education as general culture is passing away. The university takes men as they are and makes the most out of what they can do. A man today in America is foolish to be "self made" when better means are at hand. It is equally foolish to choose a self taught man as against other men who have worked with equal zest and force and with much better advantages.

Formerly a man of an executive turn, a leader in business or politics, found in a college education little that could help him. Now he finds everything. In the future the college men will be the natural leaders in industrial and political affairs. The reason is that the men born to lead cannot afford to stay out of college.—Success.

Deplorable Mixup.

"The way of it is this," said the young man in the golf suit. "Dick's in love with the girl that's sweet on John. John is smitten with the girl that's making eyes at Tom, and Tom's stuck on the girl that's after me. That makes me the key to the situation."

"How is that?" asked the girl. "Why, I don't care for any of them. I withdraw from the combination and it recoils back on itself and makes everything right. Don't you see?"

The Wisconsin and Michigan Railroad company will expend over $60,000 this year in improvements, most of which are in progress, and which include the straightening of the right of way, shortening the distance, building new coal sheds at Peshtigo, and some extension work. Contractor Thee, of Chicago, has two crews of over 60 men each, with two big steam shovels, and 20 teams working on the right of way. In some places the right of way is completely changed, particularly at Aimes, where the new road is a mile from the old one. This work will require several months. The distance will be shortened several miles, and road bed put in good condition. It is rumored that the company is about to award a contract for some new rolling stock, freight cars, passenger coaches and two or more locomotives. The road is to be extended from Faithorn Junction to Norway, Mich., part of this work having been completed. The Chicago capitalists who have purchased the road are spending big sums of money improving it, and they will put it on a paying basis.

"The spring fish catch in Green bay waters will not exceed 17,000 half barrels," says a pioneer Menominee fisherman, and he is very doubtful if it will reach that. Continuing, he says: "The catch has been the lightest in 20 years, and we cannot account for it. Many a time this spring have I made a lift and secured only a package of fish. Most of the fishermen are discouraged, as they have purchased new twine to conform with the provisions of the law, and have made little or nothing." Wholesale dealers are offering $1.90 per package delivered at Menominee, but some of the fishermen are holding off for $2. Penberthy, Cook & Co. are handling big quantities of fish, but most of it is shipped to Menominee from Door county. This firm employs a crew of men to repack the fish, and they ship south and east.

A Battle Creek man who wanted a new suit of clothes, but lacked the wherewith necessary to purchase it was struck by a brilliant idea, and proceeded at once to act upon it. He retired to a secluded spot, divested himself of his old garments and made a bonfire of them. Then he skipped around a little until he attracted attention and someone telephoned to police headquarters. The patrol wagon in the health-food city is not one of the covered kind, and the officer in charge saw that it would ill accord with the properties, to haul an unclad man through the streets in an open wagon, so he telephoned down and had a new outfit of clothes sent up, and when the prisoner had donned the garments proceeded with him to the lockup, but as there was no charge which could be proceeded against him he was allowed to go, and the new clothes with him.

The Chicago & Northwestern road is making arrangements to advertise and book Menominee, and with that in view the company has sent two experts employed by the Tyler Photo Co., railway advertisers, to that city to secure views. These photographers took pictures of the Kirby-Carpenter Co. mills, the paper mill, the Richardson shoe factory, the D. Clint Prescott iron works and other factories. These will adorn the pages of a booklet to be published elucidating Menominee's commercial and natural advantages. The Chicago & Northwestern Land agent has announced that parties of colonizers are coming to Menominee county from Indiana and Southern Michigan to locate farms.

Raber & Watson, Menominee, have expert estimators at work figuring the amount of cedar cut off jobbers' lands and sold to them, to ascertain the extent of the alleged swindle which was about to be perpetrated on them recently by the jobbers and inspectors. The amount of cedar cut and placed in the yards will be compared with the vouchers sent in by the Broman brothers, inspectors. The vouchers showed that there were hundreds of poles, ties and posts in the yard credited to jobbers as purchasers, which are found never to have been hauled, or what is more, cut.

The record for high temperatures in the upper peninsula by government records, which was 100 at Marquette July 4, 1894, was broken at Houghton Wednesday, where the maximum by the government signal instrument was 101 1/2. Prostrations were frequent in foundries and machine shops. There was one death, Paul Schumaker, of Atlantic, who was overcome by the heat while raising the frame of a building.

Between four and five hundred people from Escanaba went to Iron Mountain Monday to join in the great celebration of St. John's day. They went on a Northwestern special train of seven coaches and a baggage car, chartered by L'Institut Jacques Cartier, and took the Concordia band along with them. Special trains were run from the north and an immense crowd gathered at Iron Mountain.

The social given by the Y. M. A. C. last evening was a success in every way.

In spite of the threatening weather, the hall was filled almost the entire evening and the boys succeeded in clearing about $25. This will aid them greatly in fitting up their club room and furnishing it with a fine gymnasium. There is no doubt of the success of their club, and the boys are to be congratulated.

Robert Smetzer, a 10-year-old Harbor Springs lad, had a thrilling experience, drifting for two days and nights in a mastless yacht without food. He was out picking up fugitive saw logs along the beach and had a large raft of them in tow, when the masts of his yacht broke and he drifted out into the lake. A picnic party going to the Beaver Islands picked him up.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church have leased Duchene's building on Central avenue and Hancock's new building on Delta, near Weinig's and on the Fourth will feed the hungry with hot and cold lunches, ice cream and cake, tea, coffee, etc. The tired and hungry visitor can get a meal, 'just like mother's' for a quarter of a dollar.

Dr. R. S. Forsyth leaves to-night for Milwaukee. From that city he leaves Monday morning with E. F. Mertz and others in a special train for New Mexico where the object of the excursionists is to inspect a silver and copper mine in which they are interested. The doctor expects to be absent about ten days. Dr. Kent will do the work of both in Gladstone until his return.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jennings, of Green Bay, spent Thursday in Gladstone as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loftus. Mr. Jennings is the representative of the Salvator Mineral springs of Green Bay and is one of the most genial of the large class of men to whom winning ways are essential as a large business asset.

Yesterday, T. W. McDonough closed a contract with H. H. Vernon to build his residence at Central and Minnesota, for which the foundation is already laid. This house will cost about two thousand dollars and will be modern in every respect as Mr. McDonough will occupy it himself.

About 48,000 feet of walks inside the village limits at Harbor Beach have been condemned and must be replaced by cement walks. About two blocks in the business center of the city have already been laid, and the rest will be laid as quickly as possible.

Powells Myrrh and Orris Tooth Powder. From this date until July 5th I will give a 25ct Tooth Brush free with each Bottle of the Powder all for 25cts. Powells' Drug store.

Cement sidewalks are as catching as the measles; McCarthy has one in front of his store and Henke is putting them around his house on Minnesota avenue. Thomas O'Connell thinks he is the originator of the idea in Gladstone, and its a good one anyway.

On Monday W. F. Hammel bought of J. O. Ohlson his lot and building on Delta avenue next to Henke. The building is one of the best, if not the best, on the street and a good stand for any business.

In 1866 the people paid $146,000,000 for interest on the public debt. The amount now is $29,000,000 and the rate has declined from 7.30 per cent. to 2 per cent. Nothing more need be said when it is added that Uncle Sam's credit is the world.

Powell's Household Remedies are put up by competent Registered Pharmacists. The only store in the city where Registered Druggists do all the work is Powell's Drug Store.

CONGRESSMAN.

The Iron County Reporter thinks Sheldon is the man of destiny in the congressional field, and puts it this way: If Houghton county desires to be represented in congress it had better let well enough alone. If Congressman Sheldon desires to be returned to Washington a solid delegation from that county would undoubtedly secure his re-nomination. With him out of the field Houghton county stands no more show of securing the next Congressman than does Iron county. Sheldon has made a worthy representative and there is no reason or excuse why Houghton county should not stand by him to the last—providing he wants further honors. Chippewa, Delta and Gogebic are next in line and will have to be reckoned with when it comes to choosing the next congressman, and Houghton county should remember that to be forewarned is to be forearmed. Better stick to Sheldon, boys, if you desire further representation.

THE NEW KEYSTONE.

Thursday evening Soren Johnson and Frank Lindstrom bought of W. F. Hammel the lot and building which J. O. Ohlson has occupied with the Keystone saloon. The new proprietors are both well known to the Gladstone public and will make a strong team. They gave a grand opening last night, with all the usual features, which crowded the place from end to end. They announce their determination to keep the best of everything and to spare no pains to satisfy every customer. The Keystone is large and convenient in every way and the reputation of the proprietors will start them off with a large list of the best patrons. They invite a call from every man in town.

TAXES.

Supervisor McDonough did good work for Gladstone on the committee on equalization and obtained a reduction of over two hundred and sixty four thousand dollars on the assessed valuation of the city. This leaves the valuation as equalized $841,688. This is still very much too high as compared with neighboring assessments; but Mr. McDonough has done all that could be done. The work of lowering our assessment to the level of the rest of the country must be begun at home. Elsewhere will be found a table of the assessments in the different parts of the county. A comparison of these is an interesting study and one that ought to engage the attention of every taxpayer.

NOTICE.

On Saturday, July 6, the arrangement committee on the Fourth of July celebration will publish the names of all subscribers to the 4th of July fund who have not paid the amount of their subscription. All moneys must be paid to the committee by July 2.

COMMITTEE.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, Ordinance Number 41 of the City of Gladstone provides that no person or persons shall fire or set off any squib, cracker, gun powder or fireworks, or fire off or discharge any gun, cannon, revolver, pistol, cap, cartridge or anvil, of any kind in any street, alley, lane or other public space, or in any yard, public or private place within said city unless in self defense or by written permission from the Mayor or by permission by public proclamation of said officer.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power vested in me, I, Melvin E. Main, Mayor of said City of Gladstone do hereby make public proclamation that on the Fourth Day of July next ensuing any and all persons then being within the limits of said city may make reasonable and proper use of any of the explosive articles or substances, in said Ordinance Number 41 prohibited to the end that the said day, being the anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of the Independence of the United States, may have the usual and appropriate celebration.

Provided, however, that the use of such explosives, above enumerated, is strictly prohibited in confined spaces or where their use will occasion danger of fire and during the hours set apart for the city parade on the line of its march.

All regular and special policemen are hereby instructed to enforce the terms of this proclamation.

MELVIN E. MAIN, Mayor.

TRAIN WRECKED.

At seven o'clock Tuesday evening a Soo freight train was wrecked just below South Gladstone and the cars and contents almost totally destroyed. Near the center of the train was a carload of logs from Eunist. One of these rolled off and one end striking the embankment that here rises nearly a hundred feet above the track, the other end was thrown under the wheels. As the train was moving at a sharp speed the whole center of the train was piled up in a miscellaneous heap. Seventeen cars were derailed, and some of these were literally ground into kindling wood. Two cars rolled down the embankment into the bay. No person was injured except that Roadmaster Jerry O'Connor who was in the caboose, was severely shaken up and bruised. The roadbed, rails and ties, were torn up for several hundred feet and some twenty-four hours elapsed before trains could pass into South Gladstone. The mail and passenger trains during this time were run from Larch to Trout Lake over the C. & N. W. and South Shore lines. It is a long run from Larch to Trout Lake by way of Lake Superior, but Springer, Inman and the others saw several hundred miles of nice, fresh country full of little surprises for Soo Line boys; and they all appreciated a little outing down that awful hill at Marquette which the South Shore people can toboggan down at sixty miles an hour.

NOTICE.

All associations, floats, rigs, etc., intending to join the parade on the morning of the Fourth, will please meet at Narracong's mill, foot of Wisconsin avenue, promptly at 8:30, where positions will be assigned them for the line of march.

MERTZ'

Otto, as usual, has the only complete line. See him early for your Fourth of July supply.

WEINIG'S

Meats and Weinig's Sausages are the kind other dealers say they sell you—but they don't. Weinig buys right because he knows how, and his Sausages are the best because he superintends their manufacture himself.

The Cheapest Plan for the Consumer is to buy all your meats at Weinig's. Call at the market occasionally and see Martin's counter display.

P. & H. B. LAING'S GROCERY

East of the Postoffice

Is just as convenient and just as cheap as any place. Our wagon takes your order and delivers the goods, and if you wish it we will call for the money—any way to make it easy.

GOOD GROCERIES

The best we can buy are the kind we sell, and we sell them at Chicago cash-with-order prices.

NICHOLAS

HARDWARE

Burned out but will be in business again in a short time in a new and larger building opposite my old stand with a large stock of hardware and building material.

JOHNSON & LINDSTROM

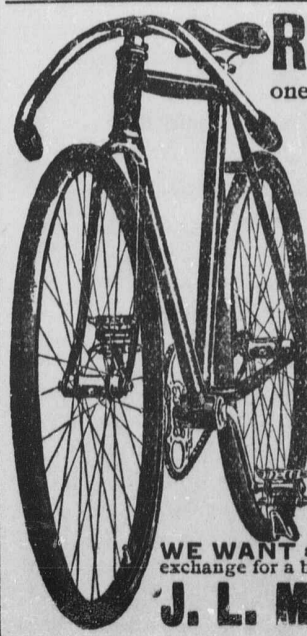

Soren Johnson and Frank Lindstrom are both to be found at the

Keystone Sample Room

And both will use every effort to make things pleasant for all their old friends.

The Keystone is the best appointed place in the city and the stock of choice Wines, Liquors, Beer and Cigars equal to any in the peninsula. Come in at any time and you will find the goods and the service all that you can desire. We intend to make friends for the The Keystone if you will give us half a chance.

Everything the best of its kind.
