CHANDLER, Que. (AP) — A young mother ran back into her flaming house and perished today with 10 of her 12 children in a vain rescue attempt.

Europeans Get Relief From Cold

LONDON (AP) — Fresh snow fell on the mountains and east coast of Italy today, but in most other countries the sting seemed to have gone out of Europe's killer freeze.

The Rev. Paul-Emile Lamarre, parish priest, said Dupuis told him he got up and lit the oil stove at 4:30 a.m.

Blonde Ariane Tebbenjohanns, 33, who says she wants to marry Sheppard, was to drive here from Cleveland with attorney F. Lee Bailey. Bailey has represented Sheppard, 39, in other recent attempts to free him from the Marion correctional institution where he is serving a life term for the 1954 bludgeon killing of his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

He and Romney implied, in disclosing details of the case, that it might balloon into a fraud of even greater proportions than already determined.

Romney Irked By Fraud Case

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Employment Security Commission officials were under orders from an irate governor today to explain their handling of a fraud case involving a one-time Detroit gospel preacher who allegedly bilked the state of at least $85,000.

He quoted Horton as saying he had learned of the case himself only two weeks ago, although the investigation by the MESC's office has been underway since October.

Passenger Lands Ship; Pilot Dead

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—The pilot of a small plane died at the site of a crash landing today as one of three passengers, none a pilot, guided the plane to a safe landing.

"He did a real beautiful job," said Lou Domenico, a flight instructor who directed the landing from the Cheyenne control tower. "He kept his head."

It looked like he was falling asleep," said Peterson, who was sitting in the copilot's seat. "So I shook him and he keeled over. That's when we found out we were in trouble."

Hoffa Levels Charge At Attorney General

NEW YORK (AP)—Calling it "The vendetta of Bob Kennedy," James R. Hoffa has charged that the U.S. attorney general has put pressure on bonding companies to refuse to write bonds for Teamsters Union officers.

MacCullough, a former minister of the Detroit Gospel Tabernacle, died a few hours after the first clue to his elaborate scheme had been discovered by a worker in a Mount Clemens MESC branch office, one of several he visited to pick up unemployment compensation checks.

The worker, according to Campbell, questioned the application on which the 70-year-old MacCullough, under a false name, had listed a three-year-old dependent, and refused to make payment until his claim could be investigated, Campbell said.

REP. MARTHA W. GRIFFITHS

Constituents Urge Her To Fight Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's Democratic Congresswoman has told the chairman of President Kennedy's economic advisers that 62 per cent of the persons who replied to a questionnaire she sent out in her district urged her, "Don't cut the taxes."

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths told Chairman Walter W. Heller Monday that the "don't cut taxes" plea was "volunteered since the questionnaire did not directly ask whether the recipients favored a cut, but only what they would do with any additional take-home pay."

Heller, arguing before the Senate-House Economic Committee, said that such an increase in take-home pay amounted to more than $200 a year. He said most of it would be spent "consciously or unconsciously," and would have its effect on the general economy.

$1.2 Billion Sought To Start Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent to Congress today a 24-point program of federal aid to education, and asked for $1.2 billion to get it started.

Highlights of the far-ranging proposals:

They include a complex system of grants for public elementary and secondary education, work projects for college students, expanded student loans, and loans and grants to help public and private colleges alike to meet the surge of new enrollments.

A four-year program to provide $1.5 billion to the states for selective improvement of public elementary and secondary education. Part of the money would have to be spent for such special projects as upgrading slum area schools, remedial reading, programs for the gifted and the like. The balance could be used to build badly needed classrooms or raise teachers' salaries, or both, but only after the state had drawn up and publicized a priority list of needs. A system of allotments would provide more money to the most needy states.

The President placed no price tag on his total package, which he said would "phase out federal aid over a four-year period."

Expansion of the government's student loan program from the present limit of $90 million to $135 million in fiscal 1964. The forgiveness of up to 50 per cent of the loan, now limited to public elementary and secondary teachers, would be extended to college and university teachers, and to teachers in private non-profit elementary and secondary schools.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths told Chairman Walter W. Heller Monday that the "don't cut taxes" plea was "volunteered since the questionnaire did not directly ask whether the recipients favored a cut, but only what they would do with any additional take-home pay."

A federal guarantee of loans made to college students by banks, up to $150 million over a three-year period. Students in both public and private institutions of higher education would be eligible.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths told Chairman Walter W. Heller Monday that the "don't cut taxes" plea was "volunteered since the questionnaire did not directly ask whether the recipients favored a cut, but only what they would do with any additional take-home pay."

A three-year program to pay 50 per cent of the wages to needy students for campus employment of an educational nature (grading papers, working in libraries or laboratories), up to 15 hours per week. All college students eligible. Cost: $22.8 million in fiscal 1964, starting next July 1.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths told Chairman Walter W. Heller Monday that the "don't cut taxes" plea was "volunteered since the questionnaire did not directly ask whether the recipients favored a cut, but only what they would do with any additional take-home pay."

A three-year program of federal grants to the states for construction of public community junior colleges. Cost: $50 million in fiscal 1964.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths told Chairman Walter W. Heller Monday that the "don't cut taxes" plea was "volunteered since the questionnaire did not directly ask whether the recipients favored a cut, but only what they would do with any additional take-home pay."

Three-year programs of matching grants to both public and private colleges for training technicians in science, engineering and libraries, and expansion of graduate schools. Cost in fiscal 1964: technician training $20 million, libraries $40.2 million, graduate schools $40.2 million.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths told Chairman Walter W. Heller Monday that the "don't cut taxes" plea was "volunteered since the questionnaire did not directly ask whether the recipients favored a cut, but only what they would do with any additional take-home pay."

Extension for four years of the present program of aid to federally impacted areas at the current rate of $300 million-$400 million a year.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths told Chairman Walter W. Heller Monday that the "don't cut taxes" plea was "volunteered since the questionnaire did not directly ask whether the recipients favored a cut, but only what they would do with any additional take-home pay."

The graduate fellowship program of the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) to be increased from 1,500 annually to 10,000 annually for the next three years, plus 2,000 additional summer session fellowships.

Man Registers .50 Blood Alcohol Score

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — When the percentage of alcohol in the blood reaches .15 California police consider the person with the percentage too drunk to drive a car.

Between .15 and .30 the person is so saturated he generally cannot even walk.

When, rarely, a person is able to reach a higher score than .30 without passing out, his life is in danger.

Recently two Eureka policemen said they had to restrain before they could arrest a very lively 54-year-old logger they said they found intoxicated in his parked car.

When finally subdued Leland Lester Breshers, of Eureka, registered the only .50 blood alcohol score ever recorded in his city.

Some light on a dark subject

Ever wonder why some pills come in clear, transparent bottles, while others hide behind brown or dark-green glass? It's no accident, but by design. Why...? Simple daylight can reduce the potency of some medications. Consider how sunshine fades a rayon print, for instance.

Thus, where needed, we use dark bottles, not to hide anything, but to preserve the medical effectiveness of the drug your physician prescribed for you. This is but one of many precautionary measures that are taken to provide you with the best in pharmaceutical service.

An Open Letter To Fred Rydholm

(First in a series on questions relative to the power issue.)

Dear Fred:

Your paid advertisement in Saturday's Mining Journal signed "Fred Rydholm" about the Power Plant Referendum is a commendable method of communication. That type of message signed by an individual is far superior to those signed by the various "committees".

Inasmuch as I have the opposite view to yours but commend your method, I propose to write you a few open letters to present my stand.

Here is the first "letter".

It is calculated that this project involves $13,300,000.00. The assessed value of every house, lot, business and every item of personal property in the city is about $26,000,000.00. This means that we are starting a project calling for more than half the assessed value of the whole city.

How can you justify imposing this kind of a debt on the people without a full debate and without their vote? A delay of a few months or the jeopardy of a "pie in the sky" government grant does not sufficiently answer this question.

Yours truly,
Lincoln B. Frazier

By law if a petition containing about 1000 names is not filed at the City Hall by February 18th, 1963, the City Commission can proceed with the project without permission from the citizens.

If you believe that the voters are entitled to a complete explanation of this problem, you are invited to sign the petition. Ask for a petition of any of the dozens of volunteers who are circulating petitions.

Bitter Cold Eases Here; Frigid Wave Of 1875 Equalled

After 16 days of zero or below temperatures, the minimum overnight temperature was above zero, but the 16-day stretch has tied with a record set in 1875 for the longest period of subzero temperatures recorded here.

Fred Mueller, meteorologist in charge of the U.S. Weather Bureau in Marquette, reported that the official low temperature overnight was five degrees above zero, recorded at 6:30 this morning.

Unofficial readings from other locations in the city were slightly lower, but most thermometers registered above zero this morning.

Mueller added that it was doubtful that today's temperature would drop below zero, making today the first in 17 days that the temperature didn't reach zero or below.

The period is equal to the longest period of consecutive days of zero or below temperatures, which was from Feb. 3 to Feb. 18 in 1875.

There have been other longer periods of extreme cold, but during these periods there was always a break of a day or two when the temperature failed to go below zero.

There have been 21 days with readings of zero or lower this winter. However, back in the 1880s and 1870s there were several years with 40 or more days of subzero weather.

The record number of subzero days is 64, set during the winter of 1884-1885.

Hold On—More Cold Due!

More cold weather is predicted in the next few days, including some subzero temperatures, but Mueller said the temperatures are not expected to be quite as extreme as in the past two and a half weeks.

The subzero spell began Sunday, Jan. 13, following 10.1 inches of snow on the Saturday before. Coldest temperature during the 16-day stretch of subzero readings was 21 below on Wednesday, Jan. 23.

Yesterday's high of 12, recorded at 4 p.m., and low of five averaged four degrees, which was 15 degrees below the normal temperature for the day. Average temperature for the month is now 9.9 degrees below normal.

Two Below At Airport

Most areas in the Upper Peninsula reported above zero temperatures this morning. However, the Marquette County Airport in Negaunee Township had a low of -2.

Ironwood, Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Menominee all had lows of six above, and Calumet and Sault Ste. Marie reported lows of seven above.

Winds were relatively strong last night and this morning, with the highest velocity of 23 miles per hour late yesterday afternoon. However, they were warm winds from the southwest and brought with them the milder weather.

The air coming from the southwest is actually cold Northern air which has been carried to the Gulf of Mexico region and has been mixed with warmer air, Mueller said.

Subzero Again Tonight

A small amount of colder air, now located over the Dakotas, will move across the Upper Peninsula tonight and tomorrow, Mueller said.

Low temperature tonight is expected to be between zero and 10 below, with a high tomorrow around five above. Cold temperatures are expected to continue Thursday.

Scattered snow flurries are expected from tonight through Thursday.

DOUGLAS TREADO

Douglas Treado To Leave For Peace Corps Duty In Senegal

Douglas Treado, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Treado, 350 E. Ridge St., leaves the United States on Thursday for Peace Corps duty in Senegal.

Treado will spend two years at the University of Dakar in the West African country, where he will coach track in preparation for the African games preliminary to the 1964 Olympics. He will also train for the Olympics.

Well-known to Marquette residents for his distance running feats, Treado broke the Upper Peninsula cross country record at the age of 16 and trained for six months in 1960 in Australia under Percy Cerutti, who also trained Herb Elliot, the world's fastest mile runner.

Graduate of Baraga

Treado graduated from Bishop Baraga Central Catholic High School in 1958 and has attended Northern Michigan College, Eastern Michigan College in Ypsilanti and Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y.

He has just completed a 14-week Peace Corps training period at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Besides attending classes 60 hours per week, the 67 trainees at the University of Massachusetts took sides trips to the United Nations and New York museums to study African culture.

Extensive Physical Preparation

Included in the schedule were extensive physical exercises and Treado was given a special citation for excellent physical condition.

Academic studies included Senegalese dialects, French, technical studies and African studies.

Other trainees from the group will coach in Senegal and the Ivory Coast.

Some will work in Senegal as farm machinery mechanics, irrigation specialists and construction foremen. Some will work in Niger with poultry and livestock breeding and soil development.

140 Men Recalled At Cliffs Dow; Retorts Readied Tomorrow

Operations at Marquette's biggest industrial plant are gradually being resumed.

Work at the Cliffs Dow Chemical Co., the biggest employer in the city, was at a standstill from Jan. 3 through last Friday, as a result of a strike by Local 14522, United Mine Workers of America.

The strike ended shortly before noon Friday, with an immediate three-cents per hour wage increase being granted union employees and an additional three-cents per hour approved starting Jan. 25, 1964. Some administrative changes in the contract, covering a two-year period, also were made.

Picketing had taken place all during the 23-day walkout, but was orderly at all times.

A number of negotiating meetings between union and management had taken place during that period, with the final, successful session starting on Thursday morning and continuing into the afternoon and evening, being adjourned to the following morning.

In addition to company and union officials and district UMW Representatives Thomas R. Bush, Sault Ste. Marie, the Upper Peninsula state mediator, Carl York, Escanaba, participated in the bargaining talks.

Shipping Operations On

R. W. Jenner, president of Cliffs Dow, said 140 union members have already been recalled to work. Over 200 were idled by the strike.

Most of those recalled to jobs are maintenance personnel. However, some of the minor production departments are operating and shipping operations are proceeding as usual, Jenner stated.

Jenner said some of the retorts will be started tomorrow. The wool carbonizing is accomplished in the retorts.

To Recall More Men

"As soon as all of the operations are reactivated," Jenner said this morning, "the company will recall some of the employees laid off last September."

Total employment at the plant, which was around 300 when the strike began, is expected to go over the 350 mark within the next month, Jenner added.

Cliffs Dow is the largest single producer of charcoal, charcoal briquettes and wood distillation products in the United States. In peak operations, the company employs over 400 persons.

Cliffs Dow has operated in Marquette for 28 years.

Four Inducted Into Kiwanis Club By Past Officers

Four new members were inducted into the Marquette Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting in the Clifton Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Inductees are James Braddock, Terry Tibor, Raphael Solom and Clarence Eggbehen.

Conducting the program were Alfred A. Camilli, immediate past lieutenant governor of the Peninsula Division of the Wisconsin Upper Michigan District of Kiwanis International, and a past president of Kiwanis, and Dr. David Engstrom, immediate past president of the club.

Camilli related the history of the international organization and its aims. Engstrom summarized the club's accomplishments for the past year.

Closed Monday Nights For The Winter!

There have been other longer periods of extreme cold, but during these periods there was always a break of a day or two when the temperature failed to go below zero.

There have been 21 days with readings of zero or lower this winter. However, back in the 1880s and 1870s there were several years with 40 or more days of subzero weather.

The record number of subzero days is 64, set during the winter of 1884-1885.

Hold On—More Cold Due!

More cold weather is predicted in the next few days, including some subzero temperatures, but Mueller said the temperatures are not expected to be quite as extreme as in the past two and a half weeks.

The subzero spell began Sunday, Jan. 13, following 10.1 inches of snow on the Saturday before. Coldest temperature during the 16-day stretch of subzero readings was 21 below on Wednesday, Jan. 23.

Yesterday's high of 12, recorded at 4 p.m., and low of five averaged four degrees, which was 15 degrees below the normal temperature for the day. Average temperature for the month is now 9.9 degrees below normal.

Two Below At Airport

Most areas in the Upper Peninsula reported above zero temperatures this morning. However, the Marquette County Airport in Negaunee Township had a low of -2.

Ironwood, Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Menominee all had lows of six above, and Calumet and Sault Ste. Marie reported lows of seven above.

Winds were relatively strong last night and this morning, with the highest velocity of 23 miles per hour late yesterday afternoon. However, they were warm winds from the southwest and brought with them the milder weather.

Subscriptions for advertising in the souvenir program are now being taken, Austin Jackson, program chairman, announced.

Housing Reservations

Russell Robertson, housing chairman, said that housing reservations will be accepted beginning Jan. 25 at the Legion mid-winter conference at Rapid River.

Gov. George Romney has been invited to appear at the convention, Joe Fine, guests committee chairman, noted.

The Fifth Army Band will be available for the Legion Convention, according to Congressman John Bennett, Ontonagon, and the commanding general of the Fifth Army Region.

One of the attractions of the convention will be the incorporation of Miss Upper Peninsula as queen of the 43rd U. P. Legion convention.

State Police Ticket Driver In Mishap

An automobile was wrecked and a motorist was given a summons by state police as a result of a smashup which occurred at 8 yesterday morning in Sands Township.

State police said the wreck occurred on County Road 553, a half mile south of County Road NV, as Ronald Gudillas, 23, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, was traveling south on Road 553.

Officers said Gudillas' car traveled off the right side of the highway and smashed into a tree.

Extensive damage occurred to the right side and front of Gudillas' automobile, a 1953 coach, which had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker.

State police issued Gudillas two

Better Public Relations, Pay Scales For Teachers, MEA Official Tells Area Group

Two problem areas in education, communications with the public and the needed improvement in teacher salaries, were discussed at the special meeting of the Marquette-Alger County District Unit of the Michigan Education Association.

Addressing the group was Robert Ferguson, Escanaba, a graduate of Northern Michigan College, who is Upper Peninsula representative of the MEA. The session was held in the Lakeview School, Negaunee.

"Everybody talks about the need for an improvement in these two areas, but nothing is done about it," Ferguson said.

"Both teachers and the public must be more alert to their responsibilities in these matters." The average salary for instructional personnel in the 1962-63 school year in Michigan is $6,545 per year. No teacher in Marquette or Alger County receives this as a maximum, Ferguson said.

Rahol, Jacobetti Bills Cited
Ferguson said the minimum salary recommended by Sen. Philip Rahol (D-Iron Mountain), 31st State Senatorial District, is commendable, and is something the MEA has been advocating for over 20 years.

Last year State Rep. Dominic J.

Woman Asks Hearing; Man Fined

Agnes St. George, 54, of Marquette, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Edward H. Dembowski yesterday on a charge of drunkenness — third offense, a felony.

She demanded preliminary examination, which was scheduled at 9 a.m. Thursday. She is being held in the Marquette County Jail in default of $100 bond. City police made the arrest yesterday on Rock St.

Previous arrests of Mrs. St. George for being drunk were Nov. 21 and Dec. 19, 1962.

Assault Case
Also in municipal court yesterday, Judge Dembowski ordered Robert Penhale, 42, of 201 Mather St., to spend a 15-day term in the county jail for simple assault and battery, a misdemeanor.

The complaint was signed by Penhale's wife, Margaret. The offense occurred Friday at the Penhale home. He was arrested by city police.

Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) co-sponsored a bill for a $4,800 minimum bill for teacher salaries, Ferguson noted.

The MEA position has been that any teacher with a B.A. degree should receive a minimum of $4,800, with a top, at the master's degree level, of $12,000, or one and one-half times the beginning salary for a holder of an M.A. degree.

"A more realistic schedule of salaries will do much to attract better teachers into the field and will do much to keep them in teaching positions," he said.

Mayor Picks Rydholm For 'Contact' Post

City Commissioner C. Fred Rydholm has been appointed Marquette's "contact man" with the Michigan Municipal League in legislative matters.

The appointment was made by Mayor James R. Smith at last night's regular meeting of the commission, following receipt of a communication from the league asking that the city designate one person it can contact in relation to such subjects.

"Municipalities will again have to be on the alert and ready to act promptly in order that their interests and positions be intelligently presented to the State Legislature when municipal problems are involved," the league's communication said.

The league is an association of Michigan cities and villages organized in 1899 for the improvement of municipal government "by united action."

Highway Department Report
Ordered received and placed on file by Mayor Smith was a communication from the Michigan State Highway Department stating that it has received favorable comment regarding highways under the city's jurisdiction during the past year.

"We greatly appreciate your efforts towards providing a fine service to the public," said H. J. Rathfoot, chief maintenance engineer. "We wish to express our thanks for your commendable work during the past 12 months."

Mayor Smith noted that this "speaks well for the department superintendent (Howard L. Coppens) and his public works per-

Civil Law Course

Also ordered received and placed on file by the Mayor was a communication from Harold S. Fisher, business consultant for Northern Michigan College, thanking the city for its support of the basic civil law enforcement course which is being held at NMC this month and next.

William Lasich and Eugene Bianchi of the city police department are in the training course.

"We hope they will be able to contribute more in service to our community after having spent this time and effort in this program," Fisher said.

SAC Wing At Base Set For Name Change

Everything appears to be in readiness for the scheduled redesignation of the 4042d Strategic Wing to the 410 Bombardment Wing Feb. 1 at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Wing officials said orders transferring the men of the 4042d to the 410th are prepared, new stationery and forms have been secured, and all other functions pertaining to the change are nearing completion.

'Paper Transfer'
One of 11 Strategic Air Command redesignations effective on the first of the coming month, the change is merely a "paper" transfer. No changes in personnel assigned, number of aircraft or mission are contemplated by wing officials.

The 526th Bombardment Squadron will become the 644th Bombardment Squadron. The 644th was one of the units attached to the 410 Bombardment Group during World War II. The squadron and the group became inactive in November 1945.

SAC headquarters gained Air Force approval to redesignate 54 units in the command during 1963. Several of them were completed last month, and the action by the SAC units will be completed by fall.

Policy Cited
SAC has a policy of retaining in the active force the designations of units which distinguished themselves in combat, as did the 410th and the 644th in the last war.

The conversion will cause a change in the formal title of all but two of the squadrons attached to the wing. The 46th Air Refueling Squadron and the 69th Munitions Maintenance Squadron will retain their current numerical designations. Each of the other squadrons in the wing, with the exception of the bomb squadron, will be preceded by the 410th symbol. These include four maintenance squadrons and two support squadrons.

Col. William B. Kyes will remain in command of the wing.

'Illustrious Record'
At the time of the announcement of the redesignation by SAC officials in November, Kyes said "the 410th Bombardment Wing (Group) had an illustrious history in World War II, and we will do everything in our power to continue this fine performance under our new title."

Highlighting the activity of the 410th during World War II was the bombing of enemy communication lines on Christmas Day and the two days preceding it in 1944. For this the unit was given the Distinguished Unit Citation, which members of the wing will be able to wear after Feb. 1.

Two other 40th Air Division (40th AD) units will be affected by the change this month. They are the SAC units at Kincheloe AFB, Sault Ste. Marie, and Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton, Ohio. The Kincheloe outfit will be named the 449th Bombardment

Driver Issued Ticket After Crackup Here

Three automobiles were involved in a pair of collisions in the city yesterday and early today, with a motorist being issued a ticket in the latter. No one was hurt.

At 2:35 this morning a car being driven north on Lake Shore Blvd. by Clarence A. Duquette, 112 Craig St., went out of control, two-tenths of a mile south of the Hawley St. junction.

Duquette's car spun around, sliding backwards into a tree on the west (left) side of the roadway, city police said.

Car Not Under Control

The entire rear end of Duquette's vehicle, a 1954 fourdoor sedan, was damaged, and the car had to be hauled from the scene by a wrecker.

City police said Denniston was backing out of a parking place on the north side of Kaye Ave. when his car became stalled. It was struck by the vehicle operated by Lohf, who was driving south on Presque Isle Ave. and who had just turned west (right) onto Kaye. Lohf was unable to stop due to icy conditions, officers said.

Apparently no damage resulted to Lohf's 1955 two-door sedan, but the right rear fender of Denniston's 1961 two-door sedan was damaged.

Ex-Resident Wins Award On National Television Show

Jack Nicholas, a former Graveret High School student and now a sophomore at Menominee High School, was a recent winner on a national television program, "Stump the Stars."

Nicholas submitted a saying which was pantomimed on the television program. His saying was "The case of the broken TV set; or, Yes, we have no Bonanza."

Nicholas, who moved to Menominee last spring, won a camera, a selection of luggage and a Hi-Fi console.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicholas, he was a standout Babe Ruth League player here. His father was manager of the now defunct Munising Wood Products Co. plant here.

Scholarships For Veterans With Handicap Now Available

Scholarships for handicapped veterans who incurred a disability as a result of service in the armed forces are now available to qualified personnel.

According to Dr. Clarence M. Bjork, dean of admissions and graduate studies, Northern Michigan College, the enactment of Public Law 87-815 of Oct. 15, 1962, makes vocational rehabilitation training available for the first time to veterans who incurred a disability during any period of service covered by the Universal Military Training and Service Act.

The periods included are July 26, 1945 to June 26, 1950, and Feb. 1, 1947 to the present.

Counseling Offered

Applicants will be provided vocational counseling to ascertain what training they may need to overcome any handicapping effects of their disabilities, and to assist them in making a choice of a future occupation.

The Veterans Administration will pay for books and tuition and a subsistence allowance during the period of training which may be needed for this purpose.

Training will not be provided under this Act for veterans whose disabilities are rated at less than 30 per cent unless they show clearly that the disability causes a pronounced employment handicap.

Persons receiving compensation from the government because of a disability incurred during either of the above mentioned periods, may apply for vocational rehabilitation by obtaining VA Form 22-1900 and sending it to the Veterans Administration, 210 Gratiot at Library, Detroit 31.

One Jailed, Eight Fined By City Judge

One person was jailed on two reckless driving charges and eight others were ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $90.10 by Judge Edward H. Dembowski in municipal court yesterday.

George Estes, 21, of 1098 N. Front St., was sentenced to spend seven days in the Marquette County Jail and pay a fine of $25 and $8.10 costs for reckless driving on the Northern Michigan College Lee Hall Drive.

Alternative sentence to paying the fine and costs was to spend an additional seven days in jail. He was arrested by the NMC security department at 4:30 Sunday morning.

Arrested On Second Count

For reckless driving on N. Front, Park, Pine and Ohio Sts., Estes was ordered to spend seven days in jail and pay a fine of $25 and $4.30 costs or spend an additional seven days in jail. The jail term is to be served concurrently with the first sentence.

State police, who made the arrest at 5 a. m. Sunday, said Estes was driving 40 miles per hour, on the wrong side of the street, and with no lights.

Failed To Report Crash

Joseph J. Montcalm, 45, of 311 Bluff St., paid a fine of $25 and $5.10 costs for failure to report a property damage accident. Montcalm's automobile struck a vehicle driven by Grace Hanson Sunday at the intersection of Division and Hogan Sts. City police issued the ticket.

The following drivers, all ticketed by city police, were ordered to pay fines of $6.30 and $3.70 costs: Carolyn A. Rapport, 2011 Neidhart Ave., ticketed Thursday for failure to yield the right-of-way, following an accident at the corner of Wright St. and Neidhart Ave.

Jerry J. Tincknell, Sherman St., ticketed Jan. 21 for driving too fast for conditions, following an accident at the corner of Washington St. and Seymour Ave.

Ruth H. Summersett, 442 Baraga Ave., for a traffic signal violation Jan. 21 at the corner of W. Washington and Third Sts.

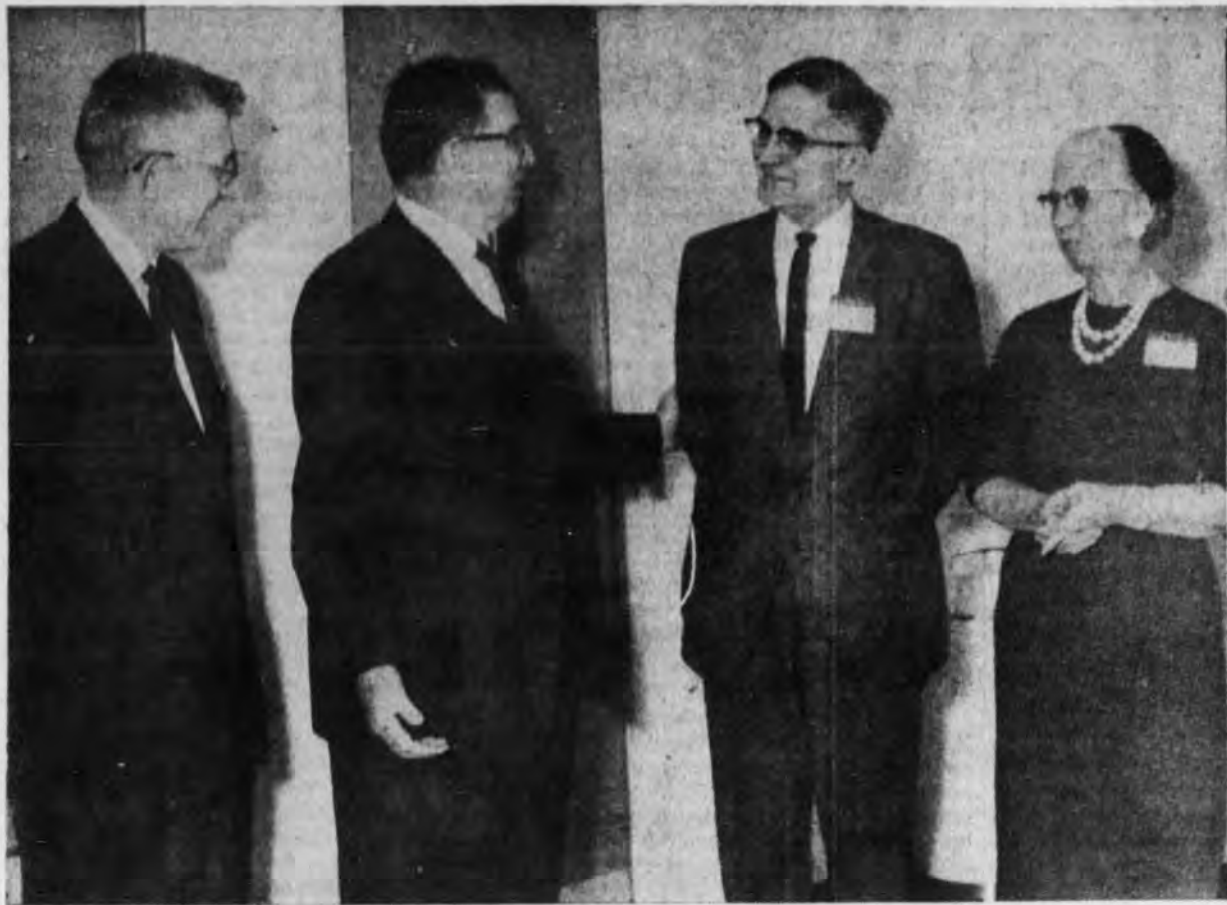

Paul L. Pringle, 702 Division St., ticketed Jan. 13 for failure to yield the right-of-way at the corner of Champion St. and Blemhuber Ave.

Paul G. Knutson, 125 E. Main St., Negaunee, ticketed Jan. 21 for failure to yield the right-of-way at the corner of W. Ridge and N. Third Sts.

A fine of $1.30 and $3.70 costs were paid by Robert L. Dechein, Houghton, for driving with excessive noise. State police issue the summons Jan. 3 on U. S. 41 in Marquette.

John R. Johnston, 725 W. College Ave., paid a fine of $1.30 and $3.70 costs for driving with excessive noise on U. S. 41 in Chocoy Township. State police issued the summons Friday.

City Adopts Steam Plant Site Measure

Following the receipt of a petition signed by 118 persons in the Shiras Hills and Lakeview Heights Subdivisions and S. Lake St. area, the Marquette City Commission last night adopted a resolution concerning a site for the proposed steam plant.

Spokesmen for the petitioners were: Robert M. Ling, president of the Shiras Hills Property Owners Committee; Roy E. Heath, secretary of the Lakeview Heights Property Owners Committee; and James Carlson, Lake St. Residents. Zone Change Opposed

They said they hoped the commission would "take into consideration the legitimate concern of these people, that they will be deprived of what has been traditionally a recreation area and in its place an industrial facility will be established."

Credit Union Here Elects Paul Rearick

Paul Rearick was elected president of the Marquette Public Employees Federal Credit Union at its annual meeting held in the Sandy Knoll School.

Other officers elected for the year are Caesar J. Urbanski, vice president and membership officer; Wesley Kumpula, treasurer; and Ralph Barber, secretary.

George Chopp, William Sweeteney Jr., Al Jandron, John Johansen and Donald R. Small were named members of the board and Roy Cassette and Donald Potvin were reappointed to the credit committee.

Retiring President Jandron reported that present assets of the credit union are $340,603.37. In December the board voted a four per cent dividend on shares and a 10 per cent interest rebate on current loans.

Membership Goes Up

The latter was made possible after 20 per cent of the amount was set aside from interest earned for reserves, he said. The credit union increased in assets by $80,552.08. Membership went up by 167.

Reviewing accomplishments and activities for the year, Jandron noted a lot was purchased on N. Third St. in February and said that "much effort will be needed to build the facilities necessary for future expansion."

The length of loans was increased to five years, three years.

Manager Hired

Raymond J. Olson was hired as manager of the credit union in July last year and June Schneider was retained as cashier.

Jandron said 1962 was a "very productive year, not only financially, but also in the field of physical assets and policy making."

Attended Meets, Workshops

Twelve regular and seven special meetings were held by the credit union's board during the year, in addition to various meetings held in regard to personnel, auditing and building matters.

The board and committee members, in addition, attended various workshops and chapter meetings held throughout the Upper Peninsula, he said. "To better acquaint ourselves with the knowledge we need to operate a successful credit union."

Dems Plan To Press For ADC-U Bill

LANSING (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders—agreeing with Gov. George Romney on the need for an action-packed session—warned Monday night that they planned to bring pressure for early action on aid to dependent children of the unemployed.

In both the House and the Senate, Democratic minority leaders served notice they planned to call for discharge of Republican-controlled committees from consideration of ADC-U bills if they are not reported to the floor for debate by the end of January.

Red Faces

The move apparently was calculated to embarrass GOP lawmakers, but the Democrats wound up with red faces.

In identical statements, Sen. Charles Blondy, D-Detroit, and Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, called for fast action on ADC-U. "I want to serve notice today," each said, "that if action is not taken on this urgently needed program before the end of January, I will personally move to discharge the appropriate committee from further consideration of the bill."

But after Kowalski made his speech, he discovered that the bill had not yet been introduced in the House.

Not Printed Yet

And in the Senate, Sen. Frank Beadle, R-St. Clair, pointed out that although there was an ADC-U bill assigned to the Health and Welfare Committee, under the Constitution bills cannot be passed until they have been printed and in the possession of the lawmakers of each house at least five days.

The Senate bill has not yet been printed.

Kowalski said the ADC-U bill would be filed today — hopefully with joint sponsorship by Republican House members.

Gantt Faces Orientation At Clemson

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Harvey Gantt, first Negro to be enrolled at historic Clemson College, learns the ways of campus life today after spending his first night in what was once an all-white dormitory.

The routine orientation course called for the 20-year-old son of a shipyard worker from Charleston to mingle with other new students and transfer students. The briefings were designed to acquaint newcomers with the geography, rules and customs of the school.

Orientation

This was Gantt's first experience in the normal student-to-student relationship. The routine of orientation today, signing up for individual classes Wednesday, and

The soft-spoken youth had little chance to enter into normal relationships with other students.

The atmosphere was quiet, marked by only two minor incidents. Three tires were slashed on three highway patrol cars. Two men accused of making threatening remarks were removed from the campus by police.

Despite the calm, restrictions were tight during the night. News-men were barred from the campus after 7:30 p.m. Only persons with homes or offices on the rolling 400-acre school grounds could venture abroad without being turned back by police or college security forces.

On the surface, Gantt was being treated by students and college officials as just another newcomer.

Gantt dined alone Monday night at a table for six in the huge student cafeteria, which seats 2,000. The noisy buzz of conversation and the clatter of knives and forks subsided briefly as he entered.

Air Defense Progress

As 1963 gets under way, the Air Defense Command (ADC) is embarked on a course dotted with aerospace defense goals and milestones. ADC is the Air Force member of the U. S.-Canadian North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), the unique bi-national defense organization.

K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base is a vital link in this defense chain. The 62nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron of the 56th Fighter Wing is one of ADC's top tactical units, while the Sault Ste. Marie NORAD Sector defends a large portion of the upper Midwest under the "area defense" concept.

Unwilling to rest on its present laurels, ADC is constantly striving to improve its part in the nation's aerospace defense.

The long-sought IMI — improved manned interceptor — continues as a high priority air defense project. Now at Department of Defense level awaiting approval, this revolutionary fighter offers a much-needed capability to cope with the missile equipped bomber, giving the nation greater area defense in depth.

ADC's requirement for the new fighter aircraft has the backing of the NORAD commander-in-chief, Air Force chief of staff and secretary of the Air Force.

Survivability of command and control systems and fighter interceptor forces in the event of an enemy missile or bomber attack is receiving major attention in ADC. Emphasis here is on avoiding or reducing losses which could seriously cripple air defense effectiveness.

In line with this, the NORAD Combat Operations Center at Colorado Springs is scheduled to be placed in a hardened underground location by 1965. In addition to these ground-based master COC facilities, consideration is being given to an airborne NORAD command post for added survivability.

The nationwide Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) system links air defense forces through the micro-second wizardry of computers. To give depth to this key system, the Back Up Interceptor Control (BUIC) system has been developed to serve as an alternate system for SAGE.

BUIC is now operated under a fixed ground based concept. However, studies are under way to expand BUIC as a prime system with broader coverage and also to reconfigure BUIC control facilities for greater operational flexibility — and survivability — under a random mobile concept. The Sault Ste. Marie (NORAD) Sector is included in the BUIC plan and has already changed over to certain phases of the operation.

To give greater survival protection to its fighter interceptor force, ADC early in 1962 inaugurated a fighter dispersal plan coupled with increased alert. Under this arrangement, a substantial percentage of ADC's fighters are dispersed when necessary to alternate airfields located in less likely target areas.

Effectiveness of the program was demonstrated during the Cuban crisis when one-third of ADC's fighters—among them some of the F-101 B interceptors of Sawyer's 62nd Fighter Squadron—dispersed quickly, on short notice, and with no difficulty. In 1963 the dispersal program is to be further refined with a portion of ADC fighters related to permanent dispersal points, well out of target areas.

Effective defense against space attack—whether from ICBMs, air-launched, or sub-launched missiles—remains high on ADC's priority list.

Through the Air Force Spacetrack system, the NORAD Space Detection and Tracking System (SPADATS) and the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS), the detection and identification portions of the aerospace defense missions in space are accomplished facts today. Space intercept and destruction capabilities, however, stand as challenging goals for future attainment.

Now coming into the ADC inventory are vastly more powerful surveillance radars, to be located at strategic points across the nation. Known as the FSP-frequency diversity radar, this new electronic giant stands five stories high and is powerful enough to resist jamming attempts by hostile aircraft.

Designed to extend east coast SAGE surveillance capability, a new fleet of EC-121H aircraft will be operated by the 551st Airborne Early Warning and Control Wing out of Otis AFB, Mass. Known as the ALRI fleet, these flying radar sites will allow east coast SAGE direction centers to commit unmanned BOMARC missiles and manned interceptors against incoming attackers at far greater distances.

This is another example of improved "area defense"—in depth.

Longyear Library Valued Aid To Many Researchers

(The following article, first published in Inland Seas, quarterly journal of the Great Lakes Historical Society, was written by Ernest H. Rankin, Marquette, secretary of the Marquette County Historical Society. — Ed.)

BY ERNEST H. RANKIN

One of the most satisfactory and gratifying rewards of being associated as a staff member with a specialized research library is the interesting and cultured people one meets and the friendships which develop from these fellowships — and not least of all, the increase in one's own knowledge.

The J. M. Longyear Research Library devoted to the history of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, is one of the principal activities of the Marquette County Historical Society and has been able over the years to serve a number of researchers, many of them outstanding in their particular fields.

Some of the researchers are high school and college students majoring in history, journalism or English. Most of these serious-minded young adults are working on term papers, and the library, as well as the student, has profited from their efforts. It is a requirement that the student researcher must give a copy of his paper to the society for inclusion in its records.

A number of faculty members of the local state college, Northern Michigan, are making use of the library's facilities; some are working on dissertations and others on hobbies or avocations. Miss Kathryn E. Marriott of the language and literature department is engaged upon a study involving a biography of Alfred P. Swineford, who was editor of The Mining Journal from 1868 to 1885. Swineford, a colorful figure who at times wrote with a caustic pen, was a unique character as a newspaper man. Always available on his cluttered desk was a six-shooter, not for protection from unruly visitors but for taking pot shots at rats which would stick their heads out of a hole in the baseboard at the far corner of his office! Not only was Swineford an outstanding editor, but he was an authority on Lake Superior mining, lumbering and industry in general. He was appointed by President Grover Cleveland in 1885 to be the first resident governor of Alaska Territory.

Today's Special Story

Studies of Railroads Also of Northern Michigan faculty is Dr. Aurele A. Durocher of the same department as Miss Marriott. In 1959 Dr. Durocher completed his studies on the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad, making use of materials available in the Longyear Collection. This railroad was built in 1896 to haul iron ore from the mines on the Marquette Iron Range to the Cleveland-Cliffs ore dock at Marquette's upper harbor for shipment to ports on Lake Erie and Michigan. Dr. Durocher is presently making a study of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad, now a part of the Soo Line Railroad Co. The DSS&A was the result of a consolidation of nine roads. The Iron Mountain Railroad, the first of this group to be constructed, was completed in 1857 to carry iron ore from Negaunee to the dock at Marquette, using mules for motive power. This was before the high docks, with their storage pockets and chutes, had been developed, the ore being loaded on to the boats with wheelbarrows.

Among the several Northern Michigan students who have made use of the research library is Roger Manning, who prepared an excellent paper entitled "Experiments and Observations on the Gastric Juice and the Physiology of Digestion." This paper covered Dr. William Beaumont's medical experiments on his walking laboratory, Alexis St. Martin, who had blown a palm-sized hole in his left side at the fifth and sixth ribs by the accidental discharge of a trade gun. This occurred during 1822 at the American Fur Co.'s store, Mackinac Island. Dr. Beaumont, an Army surgeon stationed at the fort there, managed to keep St. Martin alive; the wound healed without closing, giving the doctor an opportunity of studying the action of gastric juices in the process of digestion, enabling him to contribute greatly to medical knowledge on the subject. St. Martin lived to age 83 with a "window in his stomach," dying in June 1880, the father of a large family. There is a monument on Mackinac Island honoring Dr. Beaumont, who died in 1853 at St. Louis, Mo.

'A Man With A Dream' Another college student, Neil F. Anderson, who has since earned his B. A. at Northern, and is now teaching at a local grade school, wrote a remarkable paper on Charles T. Harvey, "A Man with a Dream." Harvey, as general agent for the St. Marys Falls Ship Canal Co., was active in the building of the first ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 1853-1855.

An interesting incident occurred a few years ago when a graduate student from the American University, Washington, D. C., working on his doctoral thesis, visited Marquette. He had spent a couple of more or less fruitless weeks searching the Upper Peninsula for pertinent material on his subject, leaving Marquette as his last port of call. After a few hours of browsing in the Longyear Research Library, he remarked, "If I had come here in the first place, I wouldn't have wasted a lot of time chasing around the Peninsula." Hugh Cuthbert Davis' excellent dissertation is entitled "Demographic Change and Resources Use in the Western Counties of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, 1860-1950." He received his Ph. D. from the University of Michigan in 1961, and is now associated with this university in the School of Natural Resources. Dr. Davis wrote in a recent letter, "The society's library was a gold mine of information and added greatly to my finished product."

Research on Fayette The list is long and subjects varied, especially those of the history and English students of Graveland High School. One needed material for a talk on the local Howard Junior High School. An excellent paper was prepared by a senior on the Upper Peninsula part in the Civil War. Other subjects selected were early Marquette, the Hon. Peter White, the ore docks of Marquette, the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary line and numerous other subjects relating to the Upper Peninsula.

The Marquette regional office of the Michigan Department of Conservation has a researcher scanning The Mining Journal and searching other sources of information on the ghost town of Fayette. This town is located along the shore of Snail Shell Harbor on the west side of the Garden Peninsula at the northern end of Lake Michigan. Fayette, established in 1864 by the Jackson Iron Co. as the site for a blast furnace, was named in honor of Fayette Brown, the manager of the company and a native of North Bloomfield, Ohio.

For a number of years iron ore was mined from Escanaba to Cleveland in the company's sailing vessel Fayette Brown. The first stack at Fayette was completed during 1867, going into blast on Christmas Day. The furnace was discontinued in 1890 and the town abandoned except for a family or two who chose to remain. Fayette, including the blast furnace, is now being restored as a state park, its brief history to be fully documented.

Cornish Miners Study Several years ago the Marquette society was honored by a lengthy visit from Dr. John Rowe, professor of American history, University of Liverpool, in England. Assisted by his wife, Constance, both natives of Cornwall, England, they were engaged in collecting materials on the Cornish migration to the United States. Their principal interest was in Cornish miners who had played an important part in the development of the Lake Superior mines.

Among the well-known writers who have made use of the historical materials available in Marquette is Walter Havighurst, research professor of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Havighurst visited Marquette on several occasions gathering material for his "Long Ships Passing" and more recently for "Vein of Iron." The Pickands Mather Story. These works are recommended reading

Democratic Theme Song

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — A preview of 1964 presidential election campaign strategy was given to about 150 Democratic National Committee members and state chairmen at their Washington clam bake to celebrate the second anniversary of the Kennedy inauguration.

"We have no acknowledged candidate for the top office," said White House political adviser P. Kenneth O'Donnell in opening up four days of medicine-making with the party chiefs.

They all laughed politely. "Lucky! In The World" But Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey, majority whip and a candidate for chairman of the Senate Campaign Committee for the next two years, came right out with it:

"The spotlight for 1964 is on the President of the United States. Go back home and tell your '64 candidates for Congress they are the luckiest in the world." Humphrey advised the state Democratic leaders. "They will be standing shoulder to shoulder with the President of the United States."

That would make coastall riding the major issue for them. "Glorification Of Deficit Financing" "The President has presented a program to bring prosperity back to the United States," Humphrey continued.

"He tells us there's going to be deficit financing. He has taken the calculated risk of deficit financing to put the country on the road to recovery."

If that is indeed the Democratic policy line for the 1964 campaign—the glorification of deficit financing—it is probably the best news the GOP has had since 1956.

Ever since Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon's news briefing on the 1964 budget message, political observers here have been wondering just what the Democratic record will look like then, even if the President gets everything he asks.

By Dillon's projections, the 1964 debt will be over $315 billion and still rising. It will continue to rise through 1966, which would still make it an issue for the mid-term Congressional elections of that year.

Tax Cut And Unemployment The promised $10 billion tax cut, spread over the next three years, would not be fully effective before 1967. The prosperity and economic growth the tax cut is supposed to generate — with tax receipts higher than government expenditures and the budget balanced—won't be fully effective before 1967.

Dillon went even further in predicting that it might not be possible to get relatively full employment before 1967, with unemployment down to 4 per cent of the labor force.

Democratic leaders admit that if unemployment is still over 5 per cent in 1964 it will not be a help to the President's campaign for reelection.

Cynics in Washington already have observed that if the U. S. economy really develops along this line, it might make Kennedy a good candidate for the presidency in 1968 but not 1964.

And Dillon, who with his wife gave a total of $26,550 to Republican political organizations in the 1960 presidential election campaign, has been cast facetiously in the role of a GOP fifth columnist trying to sabotage the Democratic administration.

The Man And The Leader But all the speeches thrown at the Democratic state leaders in their Washington meeting made the No. 1 issue for 1964 Kennedy the man and the leader.

"For the next two years we must support the President," said Theodore C. Sorenson, his No. 1 aide and chief counsel in the White House. "He'll stir up controversy," Sorenson admitted. "He'll be criticized. He is easy to criticize on issues like Latin America, Berlin, nuclear weapons testing, selling farm products abroad, education, for moving too fast or too slow on transportation, conservation or tax reform."

"Everyone pays taxes and has his own ideas on what to do. But the President's tax bill is essential. The President stands for a program that will move the country ahead, and we must support him."

That seems to be the Democratic theme song for 1964.

Dog Seeks Out Police To Help Her Lost Master

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A little brown and white dog came to police headquarters to get help for her lost master.

The dog looked fretful when she came to the entrance of the station Friday night. She dashed from side to side, approaching officers with frantic tail-wagging.

Shortly afterward, police coincidentally found her 93-year-old master wandering a downtown street, unable to find his way home. Officers connected the dog with her master by checking the canine's tags.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's $98.8 billion budget for the fiscal year beginning in July is far more unpopular among Congressmen than his tax cut plan. Many Democrats have already deserted the President on the budget issue. Congressmen are under considerable pressure to vote a tax cut. Business organizations, labor unions and plain, unorganized taxpayers are demanding it and brandishing votes to emphasize their points.

But there is no massive popular support for the budget. Chief opponents are those who would benefit by it, such as government employees, empire-builders within the government, defense contractors and the like.

Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has called upon members to cut the budget by $12 billion.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D., Va.), long an advocate of governmental economy, has denounced the budget, declaring that the deficit would be nearer $14 billion than the estimated $12 billion.

Tied To Tax Cut The budget is inextricably tied to the proposed tax cut. Many Congressmen, Democrats as well as Republicans, have said that they will oppose the tax cut unless the budget is also trimmed. Most of them do not insist on a perfect balance. They would go along with a deficit of a few billion dollars. But unless the budget is reduced by a sizable amount, they declare, they will oppose the tax cut or agree to only a pared down cut.

The leaders in the fight for the tax trim, notably Sen. Russell B. Long (D., La.), have been calling for a disassociation of the budget and the tax issues.

But they cannot be kept apart. Not only will the outcome of the fight over the budget affect the fight over tax cuts, but the Administration itself may have to do a little trading on both issues. It may find itself swapping cuts in the budget for votes for the tax cut.

Foreign Aid Endangered The President's request of $4.9 billion for foreign aid will be under heaviest attack by the budget cutters.

Foreign aid always has a difficult time getting through Congress and it is usually trimmed considerably. This year those who want aid cut will get fresh support from other members. India's failure to make peace with Pakistan and her persistence in her posture of neutrality despite the attack by Red China has angered many Congressmen. Others question the wisdom of pouring American aid into the new countries of Africa on the grounds that their governments are unstable and often corrupt.

The fight against aid to Poland and Yugoslavia will erupt again with great bitterness and those who have fought these appropriations before will gain support from those who simply want to get the budget into balance.

There will also be demands for cutting aid to those countries that have been doing business with Cuba. The law, as it stands, calls for cutting such aid but so far the State Department has been trying persuasion instead of threats to block this intercourse. (McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

A Tax Cut?

Gentlemen: The President of the United States has come up with a "theory" which he thinks will solve our country's financial problems.

The President's plan: By cutting taxes, business and the private citizens could spend more because they wouldn't have a heavy tax burden. With this spur in the economy, government revenues would go over the amount lost by cutting taxes.

But the big question is, will private spending go up enough, if at all? The President himself can't even say for sure it will. If you read the previous lines carefully you will see that he is gambling on the future of the United States.

Sure a "tax cut" sounds good to everyone's ears, but the truth is, when the matter is looked into, the people are gaining only a small fraction of what the President wants you to think.

The only sound way to help our economy is to cut spending on the government's part. Where do we start cutting? Well, take a close look at the way the present Administration is spending your money and you will see that we could cut a little on all of the government's spending affairs.

Usually, to say that a business "cannot stand the light of day" would be to imply it more than a bit on the shady side. All this may be true of the mushroom growing business and yet it has achieved an impressive growth in the United States on a completely reputable basis. Starting in caves, old cellars or abandoned quarries or mine shafts, cultivation of this edible has reached a point where special windowless growing houses are built for it. Evidently if you can produce a delicacy such as the mushroom, not many will put on a miner's lamp to see how you do it.—Christian Science Monitor

Salaries Of Teachers Up, NEA Avers

The nation's public school teachers this year will earn an average annual salary of $5,735, or $220 more than last (school) year. The figures are estimates compiled from all 50 states and the District of Columbia by the research division of the National Education Association. The figures, issued annually by the NEA, are contained in "Estimates of School Statistics: 1962-63," published this week. The estimates are only for public elementary and secondary schools.

Although the estimated average salary hike represents a four per cent increase over the average salary of $5,515 paid in the 1961-62 school year, it is the smallest pay hike in the last eight years. Gap Narrowing Elementary school teachers are still being paid less than teachers in the high schools, according to the report, but the gap is narrowing. While elementary school teachers 10 years ago earned just 85 per cent of what the high school teachers did, this year the percentage is up to 93.

The reason for the gap, the researchers say, is that high school teachers normally have spent more time in college preparing for their teaching roles, and their salaries have reflected this. But more and more elementary school teachers are now also getting extra preparation, and so the salary gap is closing.

Averages Given For the entire instructional staff of the public schools — which includes not only teachers but also principals, supervisors, and other persons whose tasks are directly related to teaching — the average salary throughout the nation is $5,940, or $205 more than the average for teachers alone. Last year, the average salary for the entire instructional staff was $5,710. The states of the Far West, according to the report, are still paying the highest salaries to instructional staff members. The average there is $7,161, followed by averages of $6,546 in the Middle Atlantic states; $6,114 in the Middle states; $6,099 in New England; $5,557 in the Southwest; $5,186 in the Northwest, and $4,750 in the Southeastern states.

Other Estimates of the 1962-63 estimates from the report:

- Pupil enrollment in public elementary and secondary schools by the end of this school year — up 3.4 per cent to 40,007,912.
● Classroom teachers — up 3.4 per cent to 1,509,281.
● Total income of the public schools — up 6.6 per cent to $21,571,644,000.
● Total expenditures — up 7.2 per cent to $19,543,692,000. This includes capital outlays of $3,083,132,000, up 4.2 per cent from the previous year, and $626,725,000 for interest, up 8.8 per cent.
● Operating school districts — down 7.1 per cent to 28,738; non-operating school districts — down 10 per cent to 4,153.
● Operating costs for the average number of pupils enrolled throughout the entire year — up 4.4 per cent to $404.

Panel Talks On 'Youth' For Public

A program on "Youth in a Troubled World," scheduled tonight at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian Church, is for the public, it was announced today by Mrs. William E. Laycock, chairman of arrangements. Because of limited space, it was at first announced that the meeting was for members of the Presbyterian Women's Association (the sponsoring organization), women of the Presbyterian Church in Ishpeming and local members of the clergy, but because of the general interest it was decided to open the meeting to the public and to hold it in the church sanctuary if necessary, Mrs. Laycock said today.

Participating in the panel talks will be Judge of Probate Michael F. DeFant, Chief of Police Donald C. Hermanson and Leslie Ruohomaki, who is attached to the county probate court as juvenile probation officer. Moderator for the discussion is Kenneth W. Brenner, former teacher at John D. Pierce School and now personnel manager and public relations director for the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad. There will be a question-and-answer period following the discussion. "Youth in a Troubled World" is one of the "targets" of the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A. this year, and Mrs. Laycock is the local chairman. Refreshments will be served later by members of the Rebecca Circle, with Mrs. Paul Gwinn as chairman.

Know About Your Food And Its Safe Handling. This is the second in a series of articles by Frank Sciotto, city sanitarian, scheduled at the request of the city health department. It has to do with conditions affecting the existence and growth of bacteria. Bacterial action depends entirely upon the environmental conditions which are either favorable or unfavorable to their growth or destruction. Such conditions take into consideration such environments as temperature, types of food, moisture, air and light. Most organisms, including those that cause disease in warm-blooded animals and also those that spoil vegetables, decay meats and sour milk, grow best in a temperature range of 50 to 140 degrees. (The human body, which has a normal temperature of 98.6 degrees F., provides a favorable temperature for the growth of bacteria. This will not necessarily kill the bacteria, but will discourage their growth. The refrigerator should be cleaned and aired frequently. Heat destroys bacteria but the

N-Test Ban Talks Move To New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The nuclear test ban negotiators moved their talks into New York today.

The Americans and the British were expected to pressure the Soviets for details on what some see as the key to a possible breakthrough in the long-deadlocked talks—the Soviet offer to accept limited on-site inspections.

U.S., British and Soviet negotiators scheduled an afternoon meeting at the headquarters of the Soviet mission to the United Nations. No progress was announced following similar sessions in Washington last week.

Western negotiators were expected to press for a detailed explanation of the Soviet offer to permit two or three on-site inspections in the Soviet Union each year. The West has regarded 8 or 10 inspections a year as necessary to insure that a test ban treaty is upheld.

New Message

Premier Khrushchev made the undetailed inspection offer in a letter to President Kennedy last month. Foy D. Kohler, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, is due in Washington Wednesday with a new Kremlin message for Kennedy.

Washington authorities expressed the opinion that a test ban agreement might be possible with the Soviets in the wake of Khrushchev's acceptance of the inspection principle. Some diplomats at the United Nations were cautiously hopeful.

The red and green lights to look for when investing in stocks and bonds

You never argue (we hope) with a red light when you roll up to one on the highway.

We'd like to suggest no less respect for the following Red and Green lights that always shine for the wise investor:

Red light: When you expect to get rich quickly.

Green light: When you've worked out long-term goals. What's most important to you? A second income from dividends? Growth of your money through part-ownership of some thriving company? Interest on your money with the relative safety of principal that good bonds can provide? Draw up a chair beside your broker, explain your goals and plan investments that seem most likely to fit them.

Red light: When you are convinced any broker will do.

Green light: When you know it's important to choose a broker with care. If you select a broker with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, you know that his firm has met many requirements for membership and is expected to follow the rules of the Exchange. Individual brokers in these firms also have had to measure up to Exchange qualifications.

You will not find clairvoyant powers there—or anywhere else. What you will find is the kind of information helpful in making wise investment decisions.

Red light: When you're pretty sure a hot tip is all you need.

Green light: When you're a stickler for facts. And how important they are! Stock and bond prices go down as well as up. A company may not make a profit or continue to pay dividends or interest. But facts about a company's earnings, dividends and prospects can help you choose more wisely. Your Member Firm broker will gladly share his facts with you.

Red light: When you plan to invest all the money you can raise.

Green light: When you've taken care of your regular living expenses. And made provision for serious emergencies. Then you might look into the advantages of investing for income or growth opportunities.

City Has $40,000 Balance At Year's End, Harris Says

NEGAUNEE — Although 1962 expenditures exceeded revenues by $46,000, the city ended its calendar and fiscal year with a balance of approximately $40,000, according to a fourth quarter financial report prepared by Manager Leonard Harris for the Negaunee City Council.

Harris emphasized yesterday that the figures were not final, as they could vary slightly in some instances depending on the way items might be charged in the annual municipal audit.

"We won't have our final figures until results of the audit are available, which is usually about March 1, but give or take a few dollars our balance should be about $40,000," he said.

Built Garage-Warehouse

Responsible for the fact that expenditures exceeded revenues was construction of the new municipal garage-warehouse, which was completed in the fall of the year. "However, we had a reserve of $80,000 set aside for this program, which enabled us to end the year with a balance," Harris explained.

Both electric and water utilities operated in the black, according to the report. Continuation of an extensive improvement program in the electric utility transmission system resulted in decreasing the line loss to 8.53 per cent, as compared with 30 per cent the previous year. Harris noted that a normal line loss varies from 8 to 12 per cent.

'Paper Profit' In Water Utility

Ending the year in the black was an outstanding accomplishment as far as the water utility was concerned, for the utility has annually operated at a deficit for several decades. The manager explained that the surplus of $2,100 resulted largely in an adjustment of rates charged to municipal accounts themselves.

"This is largely a paper profit," he said, "as it results from adjustments in our own accounts, but the program prevented the utility from winding up in the red again. These municipal accounts for some reason or other were not adjusted a few years ago when increases were made in industrial, commercial and residential rates, and they have now been brought into line with charges paid by other consumers."

Thomas Pellow Named State Press Association Director

NEGAUNEE — Thomas Pellow, Gwinn resident, was one of two new directors elected by the Michigan Press Association at its 95th annual business meeting in Kellogg Center on the campus of Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Pellow, a veteran Upper Peninsula newspaper man, is co-publisher of the Negaunee Iron Herald and heads the Mining Journal bureau in Negaunee. The other new member of the association's board of directors is Frank Angelo, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press.

Officers of Association

Re-elected to the board were John W. Fitzgerald, editor of the Pontiac Press; John P. Parks, publisher of the Highland Park, and Walter J. Rummel, publisher of the Sebewaing Blade.

New president of the Michigan Press Association is John H. Batdorf, business manager of the Traverse City Record Eagle and publisher of the Manistee News-Advocate. Other officers elected included Vidian Roe, publisher of the Fremont Times Indicator, president-elect; Arthur P. Gallagher, editor of the Ann Arbor News, vice president; Harry Weinbaum, publisher of the Courier Newspapers in Detroit, treasurer. Elmer E. White is executive secretary.

Native Of Negaunee

The new MPA director from the Upper Peninsula is a Negaunee native. He attended Northern Michigan College and received his degree in journalism from the University of Pittsburgh. He is a member of the Pitt Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national newspaper fraternity.

Prior to entering the publishing field in Negaunee, Pellow obtained newspaper experience as a member of the Escanaba Press staff, taught journalism at Webber School in Saginaw, where his student publications in seven years won five top awards in Columbia Scholastic Press competition and three All-American ratings in the annual National Scholastic Press Contest, and served as manager of the Saginaw Valley Journal, a weekly farm publication.

Heard Talk By Cartoonist

He is a past president of the Upper Peninsula Weekly Newspaper Publishers Association, serving two terms in the office, and is currently vice president of the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association.

Speakers at the two-day session were Cartoonist Al Capp, creator of the Little Abner comic strip; Pierre Salinger, press secretary to President John F. Kennedy; Michigan's Governor George Romney, and Dr. Kenneth McFarland of the General Motors Guest Lecture Bureau, who is regarded as one of the top speakers in the country on the subject of "Selling America to Americans."

Five Fined By Justice In L'Anse

L'ANSE — L'Anse Justice Leo D. Harrington collected fines and court costs totaling $55.80 from five motorists whose cases were heard during the past week.

Charged on two counts by L'Anse village police was Paul L. Kempainen, 22, Atlantic Mine. He paid a $5 fine plus $6.30 court costs for driving over the center line on Main St. in L'Anse and an additional $3 and $6.30 costs for driving with a mutilated operator's license. (Costs of $6.30 instead of the customary $4.30 were assessed because Kempainen had to be arraigned by officers on both counts, since he had lost his summons.)

David J. Kauranen, 17, Watton, paid $5 and $4.30 court costs for violation of the basic speed law following an accident near Watton Sunday.

For failure to have his car under control, Oscar Klemola, 77, L'Anse, paid $5 and $4.30. He was ticketed following an auto accident at the intersection of U. S. 41 and L'Anse Ave.

Failure to stop for a stop sign at the corner of Broad and Fall Sts. in L'Anse resulted in a $3 fine plus $4.30 court costs for Earl J. Lattrel, 60, L'Anse.

Kauranen, Klemola and Lattrel were all ticketed by state police officers.

Glenn I. Gransell, 28, Wakefield, paid $3 and $4.30 costs for improper backing. He received a summons from village police following a minor accident on Main St. in L'Anse.

Coldest Temperature During Alger's 16-Day Frigid Spell 23 Below

MUNISING — Sub-zero temperatures, registered here for 16 days in a row, were accompanied Monday by brisk southerly winds which added to hardships experienced by many Alger County residents. Many complained of heating plant troubles and frozen water lines.

The coldest day during the period, according to Mrs. E. J. Mitchell, Munising, cooperative weather observer, was on Jan. 22, when the mercury dipped to 23 below zero. On Saturday, Jan. 25, it was 20 below and Monday morning it was 18 below. The highest temperature reported during this time was 16 above zero Jan. 18.

Snowfall for the winter, as of Monday morning, was 91.5 inches, with a base of 29 inches on the ground.

A check with the weather station at the Cusino Wildlife Experimental Station at Shingleton revealed that a low of 33 below zero was recorded on Jan. 23, and yesterday's temperature at 8 a. m. was 26 below. The high at the station for the 16-day period was 19 above zero on Jan. 25.

Public works department crews are working three days a week thawing water lines in the city. City Manager Walter Looney reported today that so far this month there have been 158 freeze-ups in private residences, four breaks in water mains and three breaks in service mains leading to service outlets.

Near Mercy Hospital, the driver of a soft drink truck sat eating his lunch and washing it down with milk.

Puts Finger on Communism's Weak Spot

60,000,000 once-free people—of Poland, of Czechoslovakia, of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania—still resist Red domination. Many powerful Soviet divisions are thus tied down in Eastern Europe—unable to leave.

Here is Communism's weak spot; and putting a strong finger on that spot, helping to keep the Reds constantly on the defensive, are the daily news and commentary broadcasts of Radio Free Europe. RFE's 23 powerful transmitters blanket the area with up to 18 hours a day of programs carrying the unanswerable words of truth that expose Communist lies.

Radio Free Europe is supported by private American citizens. It is one of the Free World's strong weapons in the cold war. It needs your help to be stronger still.

Tiny Nations May Be Irked At Brinkley

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—NBC's rambling reporter, David Brinkley, spent part of last summer in five of the world's smallest countries, a piece of enterprising television journalism.

His filmed report, enlivened by witty, incisive comment, was shown Monday night in one of Brinkley's "Our Man" series. Last season, Brinkley did a similar report on Vienna, with such emphasis on its rich food and leisurely life that "Our Man in Vienna" drew some fire from loyal Viennese. There could be some such repercussion after the Brinkley comments on such tourist landmarks as Monaco and San Marino, where the industries are largely tourists and postage stamps.

CBS Special

One complainant might be rival CBS, which has an hour special on Monaco coming up next month on a guided tour by Princess Grace herself.

Brinkley seemed less impressed by Monaco's historic landmarks and glamorous history than by the fact its public information officer is a Hollywood

Bill Musolf's 711 Tops Pin Tallies

Veteran bowler Bill Musolf set the Marquette L&L league on its collective ear at Shoreland Alleys, and they haven't untangled the tangle yet.

Musolf bowled 711 (245-222-14) to set a new season's high mark.

Don Seppanen's nice 222 quailed Musolf's "bad" game. The Firemen rolled a 2.602 (817-874-911), while Maintenance managed a 921 team game.

Roy Long posted a 645 (187-213-245), chased by Jim Carlton's 536 (211-169-256), in the Marquette Olympic Classic league, while Dick Kepner managed a 618 (201-188-223), Leo Carlson a 607 (221-179-207), and Al Alvarado, 602 (209-190-203).

Paul Riopelle rolled a 231, John Robert, 228-203; Don Pierce, 226-212; Bruce Washburn and Lloyd Price, 223's, and Jim Berry, 211-202. Flanagan's had a 2.906 match, K. I. Sawyer, a 1.036 high team game, taking one point from Flanagan.

Charles Maki led the Marquette Prison Nights with a 626 (190-213-223), and Casino Bar had a 2.431 with an 842 team game. Ray Van Linden had a 222.

Wilho Isaacson rolled a 606 (204-220-182), Jim Torrealano, a 234, while Coca-Cola combined for a 2.777 (868-949-960) in the Neagune 66 league.

Frank Nelson led the Marquette Olympic Commercial league with a 606 (188-203-215). Emanuel Fosco had a 231. Stroh's rolled a 2.697 with a 922 high team game. Glen (Casino) Johnson bowled 230-207.

GWINN "850" HANDICAP

Leander Baumann rolled a 232 for the high individual game and with a 172 and 176 totaled 580 for the high match. O. K. Auto Supply took both high team game and series with 904-807-842 totaling 2,553.

ISH. CLEVELAND CLIFFS

Superior Equipment rolled a 2-561 on games of 823-873 and 865 to win the high team match; an 880 high team game was bowled by the Engineers and Lowell Holmgren captured the high individual match with a 579 on games of 182-196 and 201.

ISHPEMING WOMEN'S

Miracle League — Arola's 7-Up won the high match and team game with a 2,426 (725-879 and 822). Shirley Viera topped the league with a 545 match on games of 159-202 and 180. She also tied with Ida LaFreniere for the high game with a 202.

NMC Game On The Air At 8:55 P. M.

Northern Michigan's basketball game tonight at Mankato is the first of ten scattered through the next four weeks, opening the second semester. Five of the games are home affairs, including contests with Ferris (Friday) and Aquinas (Feb. 9), who beat the collegians earlier this season.

The Northern - Mankato game is scheduled to be broadcast over WDMJ at 8:55 p.m.

Hoosiers Eye Big 10 Lead

Indiana's Hoosiers kept pounding towards the Big Ten basketball title Monday night when they finally won a game at Purdue after a nine-year lapse.

The Hoosiers edged the Boiler-makers, 74-73, on a game-winning basket by sophomore Tom Van Arsdale, and boosted their Big Ten record to 3-0, one-half game behind idle Illinois which has a 4-0 mark.

Indiana returns home for a meeting with Northwestern Saturday where a victory will pull the Hoosiers in a tie with the Illini. Then the two teams meet Monday night at Illinois for the undisputed conference lead.

While Indiana was squeezing by Purdue, Ohio State's three-time defending champions remained in the running with a 72-70 victory over Northwestern.

Bradley Sharpshooter Gary Brasler led Ohio State's victory by canning 11 of 15 field goal attempts and hitting 13 straight from the free throw line for 35 points.

It was Ohio State's 44th straight victory at home and boosted the Buckeye conference record to 3-2.

Track-Field Feud Not Quite Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials of the U.S. Track and Field Federation and the Amateur Athletic Union conceded today that a crack had developed in the agreement arbitrated by Gen. Douglas MacArthur but expressed confidence that talks later this week would smooth out the problem.

At issue is whether the MacArthur agreement, accepted by both sides as a temporary truce in the amateur sports dispute, provides sanctioning rights for the federation as well as the AAU.

The crack was disclosed Monday when the federation confirmed reports that it had asked for sanctioning of high school, junior college and college athletes invited to open meets conducted by the AAU. The AAU said this amounted to dual sanctioning and was not part of the agreement reached before MacArthur on Jan. 19.

"The matter will be discussed at a meeting of the Olympic Eligibility Board, as provided by the MacArthur agreement, in New York on Friday," President William W. Russell of the federation said in Inglewood, Calif. "This isn't the resumption of a war or anything like that. We feel we are entitled to give our sanction to high school, junior college and college athletes invited to events like the indoor meets within the framework of the agreement."

Marquette 'B' Loop Deadlock Still Intact

Furnace Tavern and Shorelands stayed tied for first in the Marquette Municipal "Class B" league last night.

Shorelands downed Mel's Sinclair, 57-43 early in the second half, because of a twisted ankle. Shoreland led 5-2 after a slow first quarter. Louie Taccolini and Curt Vandenberg combined for 31 points, while Gary Gobert had 18 for Mel's, who trail the leaders by one game.

Furnace burned National Guard, 61-31. Ken Robertson had 22 for Furnace, Neil Anderson, 16 for the Guardians.

Olympics posted their second victory of the season as Dale Anderson set the pace with 24 in a very good effort. Bob Oberg scored 15. The final tally was 47-40.

Larry's Shell downed No-Names, 59-39, as John Dahke scored 18. Joe Bishop scored 14 in the second half for the losers.

MARQUETTE MAJOR

Nel Greenleaf bowled a 577 (170-195-212) to top the Shoreland circuit this time. Ahonen Lumber led the teams with a 2,373 (838-877-858) total.

White Pine Points For Tournaments

White Pine Coach Ed Helakoski has been pointing for the 1963 tournaments for a long time, and — from the way his Warriors have been going — realization of his dream is more than just a possibility.

Better known for the three state championship outfits he produced at Chassel in as many years, Helakoski "grew up" with White Pine, so to speak. He took over the positions of principal and coach while the school was still lacking its 12th grade, but it didn't take long to produce a winner.

The first year was spent in building his team. Then Helakoski made his bid, entered the Porcupine Mountains Conference and surprised just about everybody by winning the league basketball crown the first season.

That was last winter. Helakoski hadn't expected his boys to do as well as they did (15-3) and wasn't downhearted when they dropped a 60-58 decision to Bergland in Class D district tournament competition.

But the 1962-63 campaign is something else.

It got underway on a rather shaky note — a 46-39 loss to Mass. But since then, White Pine has been unstoppable. The Warriors defeated Mass by one point in a holiday tournament and have stayed on the Rockets' heels in the conference race.

They've won 11 straight games, second only to the 12 consecutive triumphs posted by all-winning Ontonagon and Champion.

Helakoski, with his cagers almost certain to be enjoying a comparatively easy time against last-place Ironwood St. Ambrose this week, will have his eye on Trout Creek's game at Mass this week in hopes that the Anglers can stop the league-leading Rockets. Unless Trout Creek or some other member can stop Mass, the best White Pine can hope for is a tie for the conference championship.

White Pine plays a return Porcupine Mountains game with Mass Feb. 21, but hopes that the latter can be tripped before that time.

And in the district and regional tournaments in March, White Pine's chances must be considered as good as Champion's, Neagunee St. Paul's, Brimley's or Hermansville's.

Also, since five of the first seven members of Helakoski's varsity cagers are sophomores and juniors, coaches can expect the former Chassel producer of champions to be a contender again next year.

Here are the standings of the Porcupine Mountains Conference and other Upper Peninsula school-boy leagues:

Champion To Host Mid-Pen 'B' Squads, Jr. High Tourney

CHAMPION — The Champion-Humboldt school will host the Mid-Peninsula 'B' basketball tournament, starting next Monday, and follow it up, a week later, with the Marquette County Junior High (Western Division) meet.

MHSAA Sets Meet Dates, Picks Officials

Officials for district and regional basketball tournaments were assigned at the winter meeting of the Upper Peninsula Athletic Committee in the Hotel Northland here Monday.

The 44 officials who will referee district tournament games were picked from more than 50 available for duty during the March 5-9 events. The names of those assigned were not announced, however, because confirmation of the available services of several had not been received.

Twenty-three were named for regional tournament duty — 18 at the three-class center at Marquette and five for the one-class meet at St. Ignace. Because downstate schools also will be entered in the latter, five Lower Michigan referees also will be assigned to that tournament.

C. E. Forsythe, state director of high school athletics who attended the session, said that officials at district tournaments may work only one game a day, but are permitted to referee daily during the length of the meet. In contrast, officials at regional tourneys will referee only one game.

Six regional track sites were selected for qualifying tests, May 18, with the Upper Peninsula championship finals being held the following Saturday, May 25, at Marquette. Northern Michigan College will be in charge of the finals.

The regional track affairs will be held at Pickford (Classes C and D), Newberry (A-B), Marquette (A-B and D), Escanaba (A-B and D), Bessemer (A-B and C), and Houghton (C and D).

With the exception of the Class C event at Pickford, the first four finishers in individual events will qualify for the championships at Marquette. In the Pickford meet — because St. Ignace and Sault Lorette will be the only schools taking part — only first and second places will be qualified for the U.P. tests.

The committee also set Oct. 19 as the date for the 1963 cross-country meet to be held in Marquette. The date is a week later than usual to avoid conflict with the Michigan Education Association regional meeting.

Attending the Athletic Committee meeting here, in addition to Forsythe and Al Bush, assistant state athletics director, were James Sheridan, Ironwood, members of the State Representative Council; C. J. Sullivan, L'Anse; Walter C. Peters, Rapid River; O. L. Vecellio, St. Ignace; C. E. Richards, Watersmeet, and William J. Cook, Manistique.

Cincy Keeps Top Spot; Illini Drop To 4th

(By The Associated Press)

For the ninth straight week the University of Cincinnati, unbeaten in 33 straight games, including 15 this season, is the No. 1 team in college basketball.

The defending national champions slipped a bit in this week's Associated Press poll although they passed one of their toughest tests. Instead of being the unanimous choice, the Bearcats gained only 42 of the 43 first-place votes cast by the AP panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The other first-place vote went to third-place Duke.

Chicago Loyola, unbeaten in 18 starts, retained its No. 2 ranking, but Illinois, beaten last Saturday by Cincinnati, fell to fourth. Duke moved up following its thumping of West Virginia. The 111-71 lacing at the hands of the Blue Devils dropped West Virginia out of the Top Ten.

The Top Ten with points based on 10 for first place votes, 9 for second, etc. and first place votes in parentheses:

1. Cincinnati (42)	429
2. Chicago Loyola	380
3. Duke (1)	332
4. Illinois	309
5. Arizona State	202
6. Georgia Tech	148
7. Stanford	80
8. Colorado	75
9. Mississippi State	66

Furman Stuns Mountaineers

(By The Associated Press)

If you wait long enough, anything can happen in college basketball — even Furman beating West Virginia.

The Paladins did just that Monday night, shading the Mountaineers 59-58 in their Southern Conference thriller. It was a feat Furman had not been able to accomplish in 17 games over a 10-year span.

Going all the way with its five starters, playing deliberately and cautiously to set up the good shots Furman perpetrated one of the biggest conference upsets of this or any other season.

The Paladins, who have specialized in tight ones this season, have lost most of them as their 7-11 record indicates, dealt West Virginia its second straight loss. Duke swamped the Mountaineers 111-71 Saturday and dropped them out of the national rankings.

Georgia Tech took over the Southeastern Conference lead with a 66-62 victory over slumping Kentucky.

Ninth-ranked Mississippi State had unexpected trouble but downed Southern Mississippi 62-52. A three-point play by Bill Debes in the final 8 seconds gave DePaul a 55-53 squeaker over Bowling Green.

NFL Owners Briefed On Investigation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — National Football League club owners moved into the regular business session today after being brought up to date by Commissioner Pete Rozelle on his continuing investigation into reports that some players bet on games and associated with gamblers.

Rozelle briefed representatives of the 14 clubs on the status of his probe Monday afternoon. Jim Kensil, league public relations director, said no specific names or teams were mentioned. The owners were saying nothing.

"No final report will be given at these meetings," said Kensil. "However, the commissioner will be in touch with all phases of the investigation at all times."

The latest flareup was reported Monday from San Francisco where reports were published that an investigator of the United States Senate Investigations subcommittee had been looking into alleged gambling associations of three unnamed San Francisco 49ers. There were heated replies from members of the San Francisco club.

"The first I heard of it was when I arrived here Monday afternoon," said Vic Morabito, co-owner of the 49ers. "I know nothing about it. I'd have to refer you to the commissioner."

Rozelle said his office was continuing to cooperate with the committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., in all phases of the investigation.

In Washington, Senator McClellan confirmed that his committee had a staff member in San Francisco checking on reports of possible improper activities. He declined to elaborate and said it was the practice of his committee to release no information about any preliminary investigation lest innocent persons might be hurt.

NFL business includes consideration of proposed changes in the playing rules and the player limit.

The Violent World: Bitter Reaction Continues Over Sam Huff's Play In NFL Title Contest

NEW YORK (AP)—Dark storm clouds hang low over the violent world of Sam Huff. Smilin' Sam is a troubled man, bewildered by bitter "fan" mail and clippings that start "Dear Sir, you rat."

Critics complain that Sam carried the violence too far in his personal duel with Jim Taylor of Green Bay in the National Football League title game a month ago. They claim Huff was guilty of piling on and committed extracurricular mayhem on the person of the Packers' fullback.

Huff insists he played rough, but not dirty, football.

"I never hit him (Taylor) when he didn't have the football," said Huff. "I don't remember ever hitting him after the whistle. The official was right there. If you hit a man after the whistle, I am sure he would call it."

Chicago Game Rougher "It was rough all right but not dirty. I think our game with Chicago was even rougher but nobody complained about any dirty play. You can't afford to play dirty in this league. When two 240-pounders come together it is bound to be rough but the owners and coaches of the New York Giants do not advocate or teach dirty football." "The mail has been so bitter that Huff's wife and family have been shaken.

"My wife wants me to quit," said the Giants' middle linebacker. "I don't want to do that. But I can't figure it out. One year you're the greatest, the next year you're the dirtiest."

Mention Commercial "You should see the letters I get with clippings. Most of them mention that television show I did about 'The Violent World of Sam Huff.'" One fellow wrote, "I'm surprised at you the way you play against Taylor. But even when I see you in the commercials you can't resist grabbing your own son by the face guard." How about that?

"People never stop to think what that sort of stuff does to a man or his family. I don't want to be labeled a dirty player but I don't know what to do about it."

Huff and the Giants were so disturbed about the reaction that they held a special showing of the title game films to let newsmen draw their own conclusions. The writer was one of those invited to watch.

Taylor Says He Still Hurts From Game

By LARRY BONKO
Norfolk Ledger-Star Sports Writer

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Jim Taylor has muscled his way into the middle of Sam Huff's critics. And the Hercules of the Green Bay Packers' backfield is short on silver lining for those dark storm clouds hanging over the violent world of Huff.

Huff insists he played rough but not dirty football in the Giants-Packers championship game of Dec. 30. Taylor, talking by telephone from his home in Baton Rouge, La., said "some hard feeling" existed between these two gladiators.

"Always Done It" "Sam Huff is a great one for piling on. He has always done it. Sam likes being there on top of the pile. But I'm not saying Huff played dirty against me. I haven't seen our game movies," Taylor said in an exclusive interview with the Norfolk, Va., Ledger-Star.

"But somebody was in there twisting my head. And somebody was in there digging a shoulder and elbow into me. I had a few words with Huff about it."

"I still hurt from that game with the Giants, particularly my elbow. It was smashed up pretty good. And on an out-of-bounds play I bit my tongue and ended by swallowing blood for the rest of the game. I still don't know how that happened. I mean I don't know where the blow came from."

The National Football League's leading rusher and most valuable player went on to say he cannot recall charges of "dirty player" against Huff.

"As I said, I must see those movies first. But I do know that more penalties for unnecessary roughness should have been called."

GABELGRAM

We didn't comment on the above situation before because we don't like to waste space repeating the same old wails. What's wrong with pro football, we say again, is that what happened to Taylor in that game. Encouraged by slow whistles, some players will do just as much as the officials let them get away with, and in pro football, this excludes little. Time after time, Huff was the last man on the pile on top of Taylor. He acted heartbroken when Taylor scored and he couldn't hit him without delaying the try for extra point—he was that far away from the hole. At least one Packer is talking as if it would be a rough day for Huff, the next time the teams meet. Maybe piling on, twisting heads, kicking players isn't "dirty." Maybe they'll install microphones on the players so that all the arguments can be heard by us fans. Maybe they'll turn the sport into a farce like professional wrestling, if they work at it long enough.—C.G.

17 All-Time Greats Pro Grid Hall Of Fame 'Charter Members'

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Seventeen men who contributed to pro football as players, coaches, club founders or league commissioners were named today as charter members of the National Professional Football Hall of Fame.

A 14-man board of selectors, one from each city in the National Football League, chose the men by unanimous vote, after considering 80 nominees. The election actually was held Dec. 29 on the eve of the NFL title game but was not announced until today.

Twelve of the 17 charter members are alive. They will be present next summer or fall when the formal induction is held at the Hall of Fame, now under construction here. Players must have been retired for at least three years to merit consideration.

The charter members, in alphabetical order, are:

Sammy Baugh, quarterback Washington Redskins (1937-52); Bert Bell, NFL commissioner (1946-59); Joe Carr, first pro football czar (1921-39); Dutch Clark, quarterback, Portsmouth (Ohio) Spartans and Detroit Lions (1931-38); Red Grange, halfback Chicago Bears (1923-37); George Halas, player, coach, founder Chicago Bears;

Mel Hein, center New York Giants (1931-45); Wilbur (Fats) Henry, tackle Canton Bulldogs, Akron Indians, New York Giants, Pottsville Maroons, Pittsburgh Steelers (1920-30); Cal Hubbard, tackle and end, New York Giants, Green Bay Packers, Pittsburgh Steelers (1927-36); Don Hutson, end, Green Bay (1935-45); Curley Lambeau, player, coach, founder Green Bay (1919-49); Tim Mara, founder New York Giants (1925-50); George Preston Marshall, Dear Abby . . .

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who has been retired for exactly four months. I have worked hard since the age of 14 and have earned the rest. My wife isn't very happy about it and has given me the nickname of "Sitting Bull." I enjoy sitting and don't like her calling me "Sitting Bull." Will you put this in your column? We both read it. Maybe she'll take the hint and cut it out.

SITTING BULL

DEAR SITTING: Yours is a noble nickname. Another retired gentleman wrote to tell me that his wife had nicknamed him "Honeydew." He said every two minutes she'd say, "Honeydew this" and "Honeydew that." Wanna trade?

DEAR ABBY: My son, who has been a good boy and very close to his family, brought home a young lady for us to meet. He is interested in marrying her. We all fell in love with her, Abby. She seemed a precious thing. Now he tells us that she told him she had had a child out of wedlock four years ago, and had it adopted out.

NOTE

MARQUETTE & HURON MOUNTAIN RAILROAD COMPANY, INC., a newly organized company hereby gives notice that on the 12th day of December, 1962, it filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D. C., an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the acquisition and operation in interstate and foreign commerce of an existing line of railroad of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad Company extending from Marquette (West Yard) to Big Bay, approximately 25.74 miles in Marquette County, Michigan, Finance Docket No. 22578.

I'd like to hear from a mother or mother-in-law who has experienced this. Or perhaps a man who has married a girl with this in her past, Abby, would you accept a girl like this in your family?

DEAR PUZZLED: Why not?

One mistake should not haunt a girl forever. She was honest enough to tell your son, and he was honest enough to tell you. Neither was necessary.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 but look much older. When my girl friend and I go to a night movie together, my mother picks me up. But she never waits until the show is over. She always come after me early because she says she is tired and wants to go to sleep and can't wait until the end of the movie. When I see her going up and down the aisles looking for me, I get so embarrassed I want to die. How can I get my mother to let me walk home with my girl friend?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Walking home at night is out of the question, so don't campaign for it. Perhaps your girl friend's mother or father can pick you both up and deliver you home after the movie. If that's not possible, you'd better be content with things as they are.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. (McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)
