

Neutrals Eye Compromise On Test Ban

GENEVA (AP) — Nonaligned delegates said today they foresaw an ultimate compromise on the nuclear test ban issue with both sides settling for five annual on-site inspections in the United States and the Soviet Union.

They based this analysis on speeches in Monday's session of the 17-nation disarmament conference by American delegate William C. Foster and Romanian Deputy Foreign Minister George Macovescu.

Long Way Off
The neutral delegates stressed, however, that they believed agreement was still a long way off. They suggested it may come about only after some top-level bargaining on such other cold war issues as Berlin and Cuba.

Foster and Macovescu seemed to leave the door open for a final inspection quota compromise between the American minimum demand of seven and the Soviet maximum offer of three.

Halfway
"There is no issue of ours that we have declared to be immutably save the fundamental principle that a test ban agreement must be adequately verified," the American delegate said.

Macovescu was more explicit. He chided the West for expecting more Soviet concessions without meeting the Soviet position "half way."

Compromise
"The natural conclusion to draw from this is that the two sides ultimately will come together on five inspections," said one highly placed nonaligned source.

Such a compromise would involve a major political concession by each side.

Betancourt Ends Visit To Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt wound up a visit to Mexico today after failing to get President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to support his view that Cuba's Fidel Castro constitutes an evident threat to the continent.

Betancourt predicted at a news conference that the Castro regime "is not going to last long," and said Havana is a relay point to pass on Moscow's terrorism and subversion orders to the rest of Latin America.

Agreements
But when he and Mexican Lopez Mateos issued a joint communique on Betancourt's three-day state visit, the sensitive Cuban issue was sidestepped.

The communique said the two chiefs of state agreed:

1. Consultations will take place on ways to protect basic prices of raw materials in the Western Hemisphere.
2. Venezuela and Mexico will exchange petroleum technicians.
3. They will set up a mixed commission to boost commerce.

Warning From Wife Unheeded; Man Dies

VALENZA, Italy (AP) — Agatino Lo Re, 34, lost his balance and dropped to his death while working high atop a building project Monday.

In his pocket police found a letter from his wife in Sicily. "Please come home at once. Last night I had a terrifying dream about you. If you don't return immediately, something horrible will happen to you."

Prehistoric Lizards Returned To Life By Russian Scientists

LONDON (AP) — Russian scientists say they have brought two prehistoric tritons — vertebrates resembling lizards — back to life. They lay frozen solid for 5,000 years in Siberia, Moscow radio said today.

The story of the tritons, the broadcast said, suggests that space travelers might be put in a sort of deep freeze to make long journeys without the embarrassment of huge amounts of supplies.

The broadcast gave this account: "Some time ago Soviet geologists found something resembling a lizard at a depth of about 25 feet in the frozen ground of northern Siberia.

"It revived after being kept at room temperature for some time. Scientists finally classified it as a four-toed triton, one of the oldest and most primitive orders of tailed amphibia that inhabited the earth in the Mesozoic era (the dinosaur age).

Asleep 5,000 Years
"Judging by the state of the earth in which it was found, biologists concluded that the triton had been asleep for about 5,000 years.

"On awakening the creature behaved exactly as it had thousands of years ago. It ran around, ate and slept. It was not afraid of people, willingly eating wild berries, flies and mosquitoes out of their hands.

Second Triton
"It died after three weeks. "Another triton was found frozen about 13 feet underground. This one also revived and lived practically all summer."

Flu Ailments Continue To Take Big Toll

(By the Associated Press)
Influenza and respiratory ailments continue to take a heavy toll. The U.S. Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta said Asian flu has been confirmed now in 16 states and the District of Columbia.

In one North Carolina area, where flu reached epidemic proportions, there were indications that the outbreak has passed its peak.

School officials in Wilkes County, N.C., reported Monday that the number of absentees is declining and the county's 28 schools have been reopened. They were closed Feb. 15 because of flu.

Connecticut and Iowa were added to the list of states where Asian flu has been found. Shifted from the list of indefinite to Asian diagnosis were South Carolina, Delaware and New Jersey.

Anti-Commie Bill Backfires On Legislator

LANSING (AP) — A proposal aimed at banning Communist speakers from state college campuses backfired against a Detroit legislator Monday night after fellow House members saw red over some of the things he said.

Lawmakers took particular umbrage at the statement by Rep. Richard Guzowski, D-Detroit, that he had introduced several anti-Communist proposals in the current session, made a three-minute speech calling for the House to discharge the Committee on Constitutional Revision from further consideration of the resolution.

He charged Wayne State University, the University of Michigan and Michigan State University had violated the will of the people by permitting known and suspected Communists to make public addresses on their campuses.

Whatever support Guzowski had at the outset, he apparently lost with his final statement. "I'd be glad to support the proposal if it was properly presented," said Speaker Pro tem Wilfred Bassett, R-Jackson. "But saying a 'no' vote is a vote for Communism — That's going too far."

Arctic Blast Continues To Numb State

(By the Associated Press)
Temperatures plunged below zero in all of Michigan today in a late-February Arctic blast. The icebox area in the north-west corner of Lower Michigan got the worst of it. Pellston had 27 below and Traverse City 24 below.

The U. S. Weather Bureau promised the severe conditions would be brief. An almost immediate warming trend is to send the mercury up to a high range of 15 to 20 degrees Wednesday in all of Michigan.

All-Time Record
Detroit's 1 below zero set an all-time record for Feb. 26. The previous coldest Feb. 26 was zero in 1934.

Other readings included -12 at Muskegon, -9 at Grand Rapids, -8 at Bay City-Saginaw, and -10 at Flint.

U. P. Lows
The reported low in the Upper Peninsula was -13 at Sault Ste. Marie. Houghton had -12 and Marquette -7.

Dem Leader Admits Yanks Died In Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has acknowledged that during the heat of the 1961 Cuban invasion several Americans volunteered to fly combat missions and four lost their lives.

Thus the Senate's Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, got no argument from the administration's chief Senate spokesman on his charge Monday that four Americans had been shot down in the Bay of Pigs fiasco.

Details
Mansfield, who said that in this case, he was speaking only for himself, added some details in his statement.

"It is known that a few experienced American airmen were employed to train Cuban pilots, navigators and radio operators. Because of exhaustion of Cuban pilots, several of these Americans volunteered to fly combat missions. Apparently a decision was made by those directing operations to accept this offer. Several planes were attacked and four of these Americans lost their lives," Mansfield said.

Castro Denial
Shortly before Mansfield's statement, the Castro government sent a stiff note dealing with a more recent scrape—last week's attack on a U.S. shrimp boat.

Cuba denied that its planes had fired on the boat and then counter-charged that two U.S. Air Force jets machine-gunned Cuban territory early this month, endangering the lives of Russian and Cuban oil workers.

The U.S. State Department termed the denial propaganda. Dirksen said in an interview that he had uncovered evidence of the deaths of the four fliers in his one-man investigation of the U.S.-backed invasion which collapsed under the fire of Fidel Castro forces.

As to the Cuban charge that two U.S. fighter planes machine-gunned 100 Cubans and several Russian technicians who were working in Las Villas province on Feb. 9, a U.S. Defense Department spokesman said "no such incident occurred."

Post Office To Soup Up Mail Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department plans to soup up its service. Postmaster General J. Edward Day outlined the new steps at a businessmen's luncheon Monday.

Three Steps
1. A gradual expansion of an airlift for first-class mail which misses the last train but can still be put aboard a plane for the same destination.
2. The trying out of a luminescent ink on air mail stamps so that high-speed machinery can pick out the air mail from other types and channel it for faster handling.
3. The extension to 214 more cities of the new four-hour downtown delivery program for business mail.

Episcopalians, Methodists Eye Merger Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — The newly advanced proposal for merger of Methodists and the Church of England in Great Britain comes in the midst of a worldwide effort to restore Christian unity.

Church leaders have referred to the trend as a "new Reformation," marking a reversal of the long series of denominational divisions.

It has involved every branch of Christianity — Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic — and emerged as the dominant note of the first session of the Second Vatican Council.

Among Protestants, more than 50 merger negotiations are currently going on in 25 countries. This was disclosed in a recent survey by the Rev. Patrick C. Rodger, of Geneva, Switzerland, executive secretary of the Department of Faith and Order of the World Council of Churches.

"There are people all over the world terribly anxious to attain a greater measure of Christian Community," he said in a recent interview.

In the United States, several merger negotiations are now going on, and several have recently been successfully completed.

Ford Decides To Build Eveleth Taconite Plant

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor Co., has informed Minnesota's Democratic congressional delegation the firm has decided to go ahead with construction of a multi-million dollar taconite plant near Eveleth, Minn.

GI's In Asia Use Right Of Self-Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says that American military men in South Viet Nam have exercised the right of self-defense.

The question is: Does this mean holding fire until shot at?

At a news conference 11 months ago, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara spelled out this "basic rule of engagement" for U.S. personnel in Viet Nam: "The Americans are under instructions not to fire unless fired upon."

A Pentagon spokesman declined Monday to say whether the rule had been changed. He refused to confirm or deny Saigon reports that American advisers with government troops fighting the Communist Viet Cong have received permission to fire first.

Liquor Bill Wins Praise, Denunciation

LANSING (AP) — A bill to permit Michigan bars to serve liquor on Sunday — on a local option basis — was praised by hotel and convention industry spokesmen but denounced by church and temperance leaders Monday at a public hearing in the Senate chamber.

During the four-hour hearing, one senator admitted he had broken the law and another lawmaker said several "independent" witnesses were all using charts and graphs furnished by a temperance organization.

Support for the measure, sponsored by Sen. Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit, was voiced by members of the Detroit Common Council, convention bureau officials and major Detroit hotels.

The council already has voted to support a Sunday liquor policy for the Motor City.

Convention officials testified Detroit has had trouble lining up meetings because many convention-goers have the idea the city is a dead town on Sundays, when many delegates arrive for pre-convention activities.

Opposition
Opposition to the bill was based mainly on arguments that allowing bars to serve liquor on Sundays would result in an increase in traffic accidents.

But Rep. Edwin Fitzpatrick, D-Detroit, who has sponsored similar unsuccessful bills in the House for several sessions, said the present law puts Michigan in the bush league.

"I wonder if the do-gooders think they will deny anyone a drink of whiskey by the Sunday ban," he said.

'Blind Pig'
"If a man does not know a bar that is cheating on Sunday — and there are many of them — or does not know a 'blind pig' — which are plentiful — he will buy a bottle of whiskey on Saturday, so who is kidding who?"

"All these holier-than-thou people are doing is making chiselers out of people, cheats out of bartenders and crooks out of policemen."

President Spurs Campaign To Get Tax Cut In 1963

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is stepping up his personal campaign for a tax cut after being told by top congressional strategists his whole fiscal program is in trouble with Congress and the public.

Capitol Hill sources close to the tax problem said today the chances of a reduction this year — which Kennedy said again Monday has the "first priority" — may depend on two things:

Popular Idea
1. Kennedy's success in making the idea more popular than many members now believe it to be. A surprising number report that most constituents who write at all about the subject oppose tax reduction because they are worried about deficits or do not think the cut would amount to much for them.

2. The state of the U.S. economy as measured by the employment figures published in April, the month when the House Ways and Means Committee will get down to writing a bill.

Without Revision
Speaking Monday to an American Bankers Association symposium, Kennedy went further than any previous administration spokesman in advocating a tax reduction of $10 billion or more — even if the tax revisions he proposed as part of the package are junked.

He had proposed reducing rates enough to cut revenues $13.6 billion, but reworking portions of the internal revenue code to correct what he termed inequities and restore $3.4 billion of the lost revenue.

Not Converted
Kennedy recently has been told by top congressional strategists that the lawmakers as a whole have not been converted to the idea of cutting taxes while the government expects an $11.9 billion deficit next year — despite the argument that stimulated business will hasten a budget balance.

Moreover, he was told there is little chance of the House Ways and Means Committee agreeing on much of a tax structure change.

Payroll Tax
They would get additional overtime for work after 37 hours. If there was practically full employment — or as Reuther suggested an idle rate of no more than 2 to 2.5 per cent (it is now 5.8 per cent) — workers would stay on a regular 40-hour week.

Full Employment
"What we really want," Reuther said, "is not more leisure but full 40-hour wages and work for everybody. If the economy cannot provide enough jobs the equalization fund from payroll tax collections would continue 40-hour pay but on a reduced work-week basis."

The AFL-CIO Executive Council was expected to issue a new appeal for its 35-hour week goal at windup sessions today.

Prefer Idea
"I just happen to prefer the flexible week idea," he said.

Reuther said a 35-hour week could badly hurt some industries and actually cause increased unemployment. Instead, he proposed a formula that would reduce the standard work week automatically and progressively as unemployment reached prescribed levels.

"The details are not important," he said. "It's a concept of a full employment week."

There would be a payroll tax to accumulate a national fund if the work week should fall to, say, a 37-hour week. Payments from the fund would provide 40-hour regular pay to employees working the temporary 37-hour week.

Reuther Favors 'Flexible' Week

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Walter Reuther said today he favors a flexible work week shifted according to changes in economic winds rather than the rigid 35-hour week advocated by most other AFL-CIO leaders.

Reuther, head of the Auto Workers Union, said in an interview that he was not opposed to a straight slash in the present 40-hour week as called for by fellow federation leaders.

Bette, Katy Top Contenders In 35th Annual Oscar Derby

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two volatile actresses who won their last Academy Awards in the 1930s are the hottest contenders today in Hollywood's Oscar race.

Bette Davis and Katharine Hepburn, born in 1908 and 1909, respectively, are the ones to beat in the best actress category at the 35th Oscar awards. The nominees were announced Monday.

touching "situation wanted" ad in the local papers.

But that was before "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" became the year's box office sensation.

Should Bette win, she would become the first actress to win three Oscars. Her previous ones came in 1935 for "Dangerous" and in 1938 for "Jezebel."

Her closest competitor in nominations is Miss Hepburn who got her ninth as the tormented mother of Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night."

Miss Hepburn hasn't won an Oscar since 1933 for "Morning Glory."

The other top actress nominees: Anne Bancroft, the strong-willed mentor of Helen Keller in "The Miracle Worker"; Geraldine Page, the fading actress of "Sweet Bird of Youth"; and Lee Remick, the alcoholic wife of "Days of Wine and Roses."

For Peck, the nomination is his fifth. He has yet to win an Oscar. One of the screen's most handsome men, he wore spectacles to play the small-town Southern lawyer in "To Kill a Mockingbird."

Lemmon, as the alcoholic husband of "Days of Wine and Roses," got his fourth nomination — third as top actor.

He previously had won as best supporting actor in 1955 for "Mr. Roberts."

Other male nominees: Marcello Mastroianni, the Italian star of "Divorcee-Italian Style"; Burt Lancaster, the "Birdman of Alcatraz"; and Peter O'Toole as "Lawrence of Arabia."

'Operation Action' To Be Launched At Meet Here Friday

"Operation Action — U. P." devoted to economic development in the Upper Peninsula, will be launched this Friday at a meeting of Upper and Lower Peninsula leaders in Marquette.

Members of the Operation Action advisory committee will meet with Upper Peninsula representatives to discuss objectives and projects designed to strengthen the U. P. economy.

William F. Wilson will be introduced as the executive manager of Operation Action, with headquarters in the Marquette Club Building.

Updated Economic Survey
William Rooney of Ebasco Services, Inc., New York, will present his firm's updated economic survey of the Upper Peninsula at the 2 p. m. meeting in the Northern Michigan University Student Center. The group will meet again for dinner at the Northland Hotel.

Unpaid City, County Taxes To Become Delinquent Friday

Unpaid city, school, library and county taxes will become delinquent Friday, City Treasurer Glen B. Wilson warned Marquette residents today.

Taxes can be paid at the city treasurer's office through Thursday, Wilson reminded residents.

On Friday the tax rolls will be turned over, as delinquent, to the county treasurer, for payment at that office. According to state law, a collection fee which increases by one-half of one per cent will go into effect Friday.

A collection fee of four per cent on unpaid county taxes went into effect Jan. 20. On unpaid city, school and library taxes, a collection fee of one per cent per month went into effect Aug. 1, so that there is now a penalty of seven per cent on these unpaid taxes.

Collection Breakdown
Total collections, up to today, of city and library taxes amounted to $547,354.40, which was 96.5 per cent of the total levy of $567,308.80. The unpaid balance for

Edison Co. and Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Business, Government Leaders

The advisory committee is comprised of civic, business and government leaders from throughout Michigan and other states.

Among the members expected to attend the March 1 meeting are R. E. Cross, chairman of the board, American Motors Corp.; A. H. Aymond Jr., chairman of the board, Consumers Power Co.; Carl G. Hogberg, president, Michigan Limestone Division, U. S. Steel Corp.; and Troy Browning, president, Browning Lines, Inc., Detroit.

Operation Action is an outgrowth of a week-long tour and series of conferences in the Peninsula last October. An executive manager of the program, Wilson will coordinate proposals and projects and marshal efforts to stimulate economic growth in the U. P. He will work closely with the advisory committee, area development groups, and other associations concerned with similar objectives.

held by Gov. Romney and inaugurated a new research laboratory here today.

Romney is taking part in the dedication of new laboratories of the Federal-Mogul division of T. Federal Mogul - Bower Bearing, Inc., in the Ann Arbor Research Park, south of the city.

He also will deliver the principal address at the annual meeting of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce.

What Will Happen
As the firm's scientists explained it, here's what will happen:

Radio signals from the crab Nebula, in the constellation of Taurus, will be picked up by the U-M radio telescope at nearby Peach Mountain.

The impulse will be relayed to the laboratory and to the gun. The "plasma gun," which can generate temperatures up to 30,000 degrees Fahrenheit, will spray molten metal on commemorative medallions.

Tremendous Impact
A $2.5 million, 150-unit motel across the road from the Research Park, announced Monday, "will have a tremendous impact on the development of the park."

said William J. Bott, executive director of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce.

The motel, to be built by the Boron Oil Co., a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of Cleveland, will provide much-needed conference space and restaurant facilities near the Park, Bott added.

Review Social Security Plan, Workers Told

Workers in the tri-county area scheduled for retirement and others concerned with their social security accounts are invited to take advantage of social security facilities.

According to George C. Franzen, district manager, Marquette Social Security District Office, there are times when a worker should review his social security account even if he is not immediately concerned with drawing the monthly payments.

Workers are advised by Franzen as follows:

Get Earnings Statement
If you have never asked the Social Security Administration to furnish you with a written statement of earnings credited to your account you should do so now. You may obtain Form OAR-7004. Request for Statement of Earnings, from the Marquette Social Security Office.

You will then be provided with a complete record of all earnings without charge.

Franzen noted that all employed or self-employed persons are encouraged to check their account at least once every three years to make sure that their earnings are being properly reported and credited to their account.

He added that anyone who finds that his statement is not correct should then contact the Social Security Administration as soon as possible.

If you are nearing retirement age you may also ask for an estimate of the potential benefits payable to you and your family. You can at that time also find out what documents or information will be needed when you do file a claim for retirement benefits.

For example, most applicants must furnish adequate evidence of their correct date of birth. A common cause of delay in benefit payments is the failure of the applicant to secure acceptable evidence before he retires.

"If you are in doubt as to whether the documents which you now have will be acceptable, a representative of the Social Security Administration will gladly review them with you," Franzen said.

Three Held In Theft Of U.S. Equipment

Two Munising men and an airman from Kincheloe Air Force Base near Sault Ste. Marie waived preliminary examination when arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Roscoe Baldwin of Marquette yesterday on charges of stealing and selling federal government equipment.

They were bound over to federal court. In lieu of $1,000 bond each, the men are being held in the Marquette County Jail. Airman Joseph Lambert, 21, of the supply department at Kincheloe AFB is accused of having taken Air Force flying jackets, a parka, knit sweaters and thermal underwear — with a collective value in excess of $100—and turning them over to Anthony Drake, 21, and Ronald Martell, 23, both of Munising, for sale. The alleged thefts were reported to have occurred on or about Jan. 30-31.

The case was investigated by the Marquette office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, assisted by state police from the Munising post.

$120,000 Borrowing For Rest Of Fiscal Year Okayed By City

Marquette's city commission last night authorized the borrowing of $120,000 for operating expenses, which had been unforeseen, for the remaining five months of the fiscal year.

Commenting on the city's policy of keeping a tight hold on the purse strings, Mayor James R. Smith said: "We're heading in the right direction and meeting our obligations as we move along."

Commissioners noted that the city had to borrow $160,000 last year and $210,000 in the previous year for unforeseen operating expenses of the last half of those fiscal years.

City Manager Thomas Moore predicted that the city's deficit will be reduced even more next year and said, "In fact, it may not even be necessary to borrow money next year."

Moore reported that the amount needed to be borrowed this year would have been considerably less if several unforeseen projects, including the Spring St. sewer repair job, had not been necessary.

The $120,000 will be borrowed in anticipation of the collection of operating taxes for the next fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1964. These taxes are due July 1 of this year.

The resolution passed last night authorizes City Clerk Everett H. Kent to make application to the Municipal Finance Commission for permission to borrow the $120,000.

To expedite the application, the commission also authorized Moore and, if necessary, Mayor Smith, to present the application to the Municipal Finance Commission in person.

Sale Of Notes Okayed
The commission also approved a notice of sale of the notes, at a date which will be determined later.

According to the resolution, the notes will bear interest not to exceed four per cent per year.

They will be dated March 1, 1963 and will be payable Sept. 1, 1963, which is the estimated time of collection of a sufficient amount of the operating taxes for the next fiscal year to pay the notes in full.

The notes will be subject to redemption prior to maturity in inverse numerical order at par and accrued interest on the first day of the month prior to maturity.

The resolution further states that "from the first collections of taxes for the next succeeding fiscal year there be set aside in a special fund that percentage of such collections which the tax levied for operating bears to the total levy, said fund to be used for the payment of the principal and interest on said notes, and until the amount so set aside shall be sufficient for such payments, collections of such taxes shall be used for no other purposes."

Farm Bureau Hears Talk By Prentice

Clarence Prentice, Lansing, secretary-manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau, addressed members of the Marquette-Alger County Farm Bureau at their "victory supper" Saturday in the Eben School.

He spoke on the future of the Farm Bureau in the Upper Peninsula and the importance of legislation to the Farm Bureau and its members.

Anderson Presided
Reports, musical selections, a skit and various presentations also were featured on the program, for which Edward Anderson, president of the Marquette-Alger County Farm Bureau, served as master of ceremonies.

Members and guests were greeted by Waino Rajala and Wilho Matson, and the Rev. Tauno Jarvinen of Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Eben, gave the invocation preceding the potluck ham supper.

'Little Brown Jug'
Regional Representative Hugo Kivi presented the Marquette-Alger County unit with a "little brown jug" for being first in the Upper Peninsula to reach its membership goal.

Lawrence Ewing of Choclay Township, Marquette County, was given a hat for his participation as roll call manager during the membership drive. He also received a $5 check.

Freedom Conference Report
Ed Sager, district director, was introduced to the group, as were Wilho Matson, insurance agent, and John Campans, Munising, county agricultural agent.

Al Hebert, past county president, received a gift on behalf of the bureau, presented by Mrs. William Bakewell, women's representative.

A report on the Freedom Comference in Mount Pleasant, Feb. 7 and 8, was given by Ed Coryell. He and Mrs. Rajala attended the conference.

Music numbers included accordion renditions by George Larson of Marquette, who played selections from Czechoslovakia, Israel, Spain, Germany and Finland. Miss Christine Johnson, Eben High School student, presented a baton twirling drill. Mrs. William Conine and her daughter, Arlene, offered an accordion duet. The Munising Farm Bureau Group, led by Mrs. Earl Passinault, presented a short skit.

Anderson and Earl Passinault were presented with $5 each for having signed up six new members each.

30 Years In Agriculture
Prentice spoke on medicare, the wheat referendum and other government programs and stressed that farm people become well-informed on all state and national issues.

Prentice, who has been with the Farm Bureau four years, holds a bachelor of arts degree in agriculture from Michigan State University and a master of arts degree from Kansas State University. He has served for 30 years in agriculture, holding such positions as 4-H leader, county extension agent, director of the ASC and with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He has been with the Farm Bureau four years.

The speaker said the Farm Bureau is a voluntary, dues-financed, non-partisan, farmer-owned and farmer controlled family organization. It is governed by local, state and national member-elected boards and committees, through which members decide policies and programs. Programs, he said, aim at high farm family net incomes, less governmental control, promoting the private enterprise system and solving farmers' problems.

Al Hebert, past county president, received a gift on behalf of the bureau, presented by Mrs. William Bakewell, women's representative.

No End To Winter's Rampage; Area Gets 36th Day Of Subzero

Marquette's coldest winter ever continued on the rampage today—the 36th day this winter that the temperature has been zero or below.

The Marquette County Airport in Negaunee Township was one of the coldest spots in the nation, with a reading of 26 below at daybreak.

The official minimum temperature in Marquette was -7, at 3:30 this morning, Weather Bureau Meteorologist Fred Mueller reported.

Yesterday's high temperature was five above, and with a low of six below at midnight, the average temperature of one below for the day was 22 degrees below normal.

7.8 Below Normal
So far this month, the average temperature is 7.8 degrees below normal.

Snow fell intermittently during the day yesterday and with fairly strong northwest winds, visibility was poor in the afternoon. Winds reached the velocity of 17 miles per hour.

Another Arctic outbreak, now centered over northern Illinois, passed through the area yesterday and brought falling temperatures.

The mercury dropped from the high of five at 3:30 p.m. to the low of seven below early this morning, and then began to rise again to nine above at 10 a.m.

Warmer Tomorrow?
Slightly warmer temperatures are expected tonight and tomorrow. The moderation is caused by a high pressure area east of here which will bring a southwest flow of air to this area.

A low pressure area and a slightly warmer air mass moving in from the Rockies will add to the slight moderation in temperatures and bring increasing cloudiness tomorrow and occasional light snowfall.

But Cold Later On
Mostly sunny skies were predicted this afternoon and the temperature was expected to get up to 15 or 18 degrees. Temperatures tonight aren't expected to be quite so cold, with lows from five below to five above expected.

However, to complete this winter's usual cycle of bitter cold—a slight moderation—then bitter cold again, another Polar outbreak is expected to bring colder temperatures Thursday.

Superior May Freeze Over For 1st Time

SAULT STE. MARIE — (AP)
So far as man knows, Lake Superior never has frozen over, end to end and side to side.

But it is close to that now, and it shortly may close what little gaps of open water that remain.

Meteorologist Arthur Myers said that a Trans-Canada Airlines pilot flying over the 400 mile long, 100 mile wide lake reported that the only open water visible was in scattered patches not more than one to two acres in size.

More Open Week Ago
Only a week ago, a Trans-

Canada pilot reported 25 to 75 miles of water visible in the northern part of the lake, from Isle Royale east toward Michipicoten Island.

It is unusual for Superior, the world's largest fresh water lake, to freeze that close to shut.

Myers said extremely cold weather, which skidded thermometers here to 21 degrees below zero Friday and to 8 below Saturday, is likely to continue for a week and conceivably might last two weeks.

This has been one of Michigan's coldest winters in years.

"We could have a complete freeze-over," Myers said. "It has been ice making weather every day for the last week."

Because man had no convenient way of looking at the whole lake before the advent of the airplane, no one knows for sure whether there ever was a complete freeze over.

There hasn't been since aerial surveillance became possible, but the theory is that wolves and moose on Isle Royale got there from the mainland over ice, because it is much too far out for swimming.

Myers is trying to get the Air Force to take pictures from an altitude high enough to cover the whole lake.

Developments For Peninsula Studied At UPCAP Meet Here

Indicators of bigger and better developments in Upper Peninsula agriculture were discussed yesterday when UPCAP's agricultural committee met in Marquette.

The group, one of the more active standing committees of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems, headed by Frank Molinare of Iron Mountain, was looking at more than "straws in the wind."

A survey reported by Del Melster of Marquette, area conservationist with the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, showed there are 2,275,900 acres in the Upper Peninsula suitable for growing the area's current best-selling Russet Burbank potatoes.

Outstate investors are reported looking with "more than lukewarm interest" into the possibilities of establishing processing and shipping facilities in the U. P.

ASC Report Given
An Agricultural Stabilization Committee report by Mike Pellagrini of Norway indicated that 37,312 U. P. acres will come out of the soil by this year.

The group agreed that much of this land might be utilized for beef farming after hearing an optimistic report on the feeder calf business from George Capps of Delta County. He has a 200-cow beef herd and predicts an even stronger market for the northern feeders that go into southern Michigan and Wisconsin feedlots.

To Check Trade Laws
Discussing the "not so bright" dairy situation which is currently clouded by a special dock delivery pricing arrangement by outstate importers, the committee voted to have UPCAP's legislative advisors check both state and federal trade laws to see if any infractions are being committed.

A resolution calling for the above action was to be drafted today at a dairy marketing meeting scheduled for Escanaba. Discussing a fair trades bill currently being introduced in Michigan, the group said it was practically the same bill that was unfortunately misinterpreted last year as being a price-fixing, instead of a price-posting bill.

Bill On Milk Cited
Pointing out a need for processors to check the quality record of new producers they take on for Grade B milk, the committee agreed that Michigan Manufacturing Milk Bill No. 1028 now being considered by the Michigan legislators would take care of the problem and there was agreement that agricultural and food processing interests should urge passage of the bill.

Others attending yesterday's meeting were dairy manufacturers Roy Fassbender of Marquette and William Gilbert of Calumet; Dairy-men Bruce Crandall and Charley Donaldson of Stephenson; Hugo Kivi of Escanaba, regional representative for the Michigan Farm Bureau; Werner Biekkola of Marquette, western U. P. supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration; and Richard T. Hartwig, agricultural economist with the Michigan State University Extension Center, Marquette.

Three Drivers Fined Here On Tipsy Charges

Three persons, all arrested by city police for drunk driving, were ordered to pay a total of $195.30 in municipal court yesterday.

A fine of $75 and costs of $5.10 were paid by August V. Wood, 27, Richland, Mich. He was arrested Saturday on Bluff St. Alternative sentence to paying the fine and costs was to spend 10 days in the Marquette County Jail.

10-Day Alternative
Arrested Saturday on Baraga Ave., Thomas O. Lokken, 25, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and $10.10 costs. Alternative sentence to paying the fine and costs was to spend 10 days in the county jail.

Ernest D. Trezona, 54, of 315 W. Park St., paid a fine of $50 and costs of $5.10. Alternative sentence to paying the fine and costs was to spend five days in the county jail. The arrest was made on E. Ridge St. Friday.

As in all drunk driving convictions, their operators' licenses will be automatically revoked for a period of three months to two years by the secretary of state's office.

History Of Banking Told By Braddock

History of banking in the United States, which is observing its centennial this year, was reviewed by James Braddock, vice president, Union National Bank, at yesterday afternoon's luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club in the Clifton Hotel.

Speaking at one part of a two-part program (see other local story on talk on changes in banking), Braddock observed that "exactly 100 years ago today" President Lincoln created a new national currency, signing the National Currency Act and giving birth to a new banking system, which included the establishment of the comptroller of the currency.

2,000 Banks Were Chartered Prior to the act, people paid their bills with bank notes which were issued by close to 2,000 banks chartered by the various states. The notes were not uniform in size, design, or, more importantly, value. The value of a note usually declined in relation to the distance it traveled from the issuing bank.

"A bank note from a western bank, for example," he said, "would be redeemed in the East but at less than face value. This, of course, caused problems."

Under the act, the new national banks purchased government bonds. The banks then were authorized to issue and circulate a specified amount of the new currency.

The new banking system, however, Braddock stated, did not replace the state banks which had been in operation for about 80 years. With the increase in the deposit function, banks found that they did not have to be a bank of issue to operate.

Thus, in effect, the act signed by Lincoln led to what bankers refer to as the dual banking system. This is a system under which banks chartered and supervised by the Federal Government operate side by side with banks chartered and supervised by the states.

Federal Reserve System Begins In 1913 the Federal Reserve System was established to regulate the supply of money and credit in the interest of economic stability and sustained growth. In the 1930s the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. was set up to insure bank deposits. Both of these im-

City Firemen Put Out Blaze At Warehouse

Marquette's fire department extinguished a blaze in the H. H. Pellow & Sons Co. warehouse at 1112 W. Ridge St. yesterday morning.

Firemen, called out by a phone alarm at 8:54 a.m., said workers at the Butler type warehouse were attempting to thaw out an oil line with a torch.

In doing so, the insulation between the sheet metal panel walls ignited and started the blaze. A high pressure booster hose off the No. 4 (750-gallon) pumper was used to extinguish the blaze.

Firemen had the blaze under control shortly after arriving at the scene, but remained there until 10:07 a.m. as a precautionary measure.

Damage Under $200 Ten on-duty firemen and 12 off-duty firemen were called. The No. 3 (1,000-gallon) pumper and the service truck also were driven to the scene.

good for banking. Together we can work toward mutual progress. That is why we selected as the theme for our centennial, "progress through service."

"If you ever want to understand the full significance of banking in your community, review the economic growth of the community. In doing so, you will also be reviewing the role that bank credit played in helping your community to grow."

"Banks are in business to provide service to the community. And in the final analysis, what is good for the community is also

Changes In Banking Business Here Described By Mattson

Changes in the banking business today in Marquette and elsewhere were described by Ellwood A. Mattson, vice president and cashier, First National Bank & Trust Co., at yesterday afternoon's Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting in the Clifton Hotel.

Mattson's talk was one part of a two-part talk on banking presented at the meeting (see other local story on banking's centennial and history).

"Gone is the day when bankers can sit in their banking houses and wait for the customers to come in," Mattson noted. "And come in they did in times gone by, because there was no other place for them to go. But banks now face more competition than at any time in their history — we have to work hard to get and hold our customers today."

"Merchandise of Money" "The banker today has to be a 'merchandise of money' — he has to sell customers to bring deposits into his bank — This is done by every form of 'gimmie' possible, from high interest rates to give-a-ways of every type. Then after he gets the money into his bank, he has to merchandise it so as to attract enough loans to pay his commitments to his depositors, take care of operating expenses, and leave a reasonable profit for his stockholders.

"You know, that's why bankers always have that worried look — they worry because they don't have deposits to loan out, when they get it, they worry about loaning it out, then they worry 'til they get it back — and then the cycle starts all over.

Past Bankers Wouldn't Approve "As I reflect back on the men who have been regarded as outstanding bankers in the bank that I am with today — men such as S. P. Ely, Peter White, C. W. Case, L. G. Kaufman, E. S. Bice, Charles Brainerd — I often wonder what they would say about some of the things which are done by banks today. Things such as: Displaying stoves, refrigerators, boats, TVs, radios, hi-fis, furniture, cars, etc. in banks to stress bank financing. Imagine loaning money for such items.

"Whatever our forefathers might think of this — the promotions have helped make most banks successful. We have had to change with the times and meet competition."

Saving More Today People are saving more money today than ever before in history; eight per cent of their earnings are going into savings, he reported.

Most banks have more money to loan out than they know what to do with, and this is especially true of most Upper Peninsula banks, which are attracting more deposits than they can prudently loan out, he said.

"Most of our banks up here average 55 to 60 per cent of their annual volume is expected to be 18.5 billion. Equipment is available for full automation of banks, but the cost is almost prohibitive.

"I personally predict that within 10 years most banks will be fully automated, however, as costs are bound to come down," Mattson stated. "The day is not too far away when you will no longer have savings passbooks — you will just get receipts."

"The day may come when you won't receive a paycheck from your employer but you will instead receive a copy of a deposit made to your account at the bank."

"The day may come when your utility bill, your telephone bill and your gas bill may be paid by the bank from your account. We pay many insurance premiums that way now."

"The day of revolving credit is here. In some banks you can just write checks against an established line of credit at the bank and pay it back monthly."

"Banks are moving into the business of selling accounting services to industries such as the rendering of utility bills and the making out of payrolls. This will be a by-product of automation."

Smaller banks, in order to make use of automation, have banded together and formed service corporations to handle the accounting work of several banks, he said.

"These are just a few of the new ideas coming into banking today. They all point to better banking services to the entire community," Mattson said.

"Banking continues to touch everyone of you in some way every day. It has been a very important part of our way of life for over 100 years, and we feel that the future looks equally promising."

How the wise investor acquires stocks and bonds (and what the beginner may do wrong) There are many ways to go about investing in stock. But probably only one way that's thoroughly sensible. Begin with your own goals. You may want to own stock primarily to have extra income from dividends. Or your main interest may be in stock that seems to have good possibilities for growth in value. If safety is your goal, you may be more interested in high quality bonds.

The beginner sometimes takes a hazardous route. The veteran usually takes a wiser one. Beginner: Hears about a "good thing" from his wife's uncle and off he goes. It's important, he feels, to buy the stock immediately—before other people in on the "tip" lift the price out of sight.

Veteran: Selects investments carefully. Goes after facts. What does the company sell? What is its recent record? What dividend has it been paying? How much is it likely to earn per share? Anything new?

To get this—and other—information he probably asks the help of his Member Firm broker. Then he weighs the risk, well aware that a stock is only as good as the company. That stock and bond prices go both down and up. That dividends or interest may be omitted.

Beginner: Invests all the money he can dig up. Veteran: Apportions his income carefully. Makes sure living expenses come first. Has made provision for any emergency that might bring sudden large expenses. Considers how much of the rest he might reasonably invest.

Beginner: Is unaware of the real differences between brokers. Veteran: Realizes that a member firm is infallible. But he also knows that if he selects a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange he will have available to him useful experience and knowledge from a firm subject to the regulations of the Exchange. And that the firm's Registered Representatives have had to meet Exchange qualifications for knowledge of the securities business.

"The day may come when you won't receive a paycheck from your employer but you will instead receive a copy of a deposit made to your account at the bank."

"The day may come when your utility bill, your telephone bill and your gas bill may be paid by the bank from your account. We pay many insurance premiums that way now."

"The day of revolving credit is here. In some banks you can just write checks against an established line of credit at the bank and pay it back monthly."

"Banks are moving into the business of selling accounting services to industries such as the rendering of utility bills and the making out of payrolls. This will be a by-product of automation."

Smaller banks, in order to make use of automation, have banded together and formed service corporations to handle the accounting work of several banks, he said.

Ice Cover To Delay Shipping

DETROIT (AP)—A late start in the spring shipping season on the Great Lakes appears almost certain.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported Monday all the lakes except Ontario are 90 to 100 per cent ice-covered.

Ordinarily, shipping gets well under way by mid-March. But W.

W. Oak, Detroit Weather Bureau chief, predicted navigation would be late and difficult.

First Report In its first ice report of 1963, the weather Bureau said ice generally is at least two feet thick north of Grand Haven on Lake Michigan and north of Bay City on Lake Huron Saginaw Bay, Saginaw Bay and other harbors are frozen tight.

The report said Lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron are 90 per cent ice-covered and Lakes Erie and St. Clair are nearly 100 per cent covered.

Bond Ordinance For Steam Electric Generating Plant In Effect; No Petitions Filed

City Clerk Everett H. Kent reported at last night's city commission meeting in the city hall that the bonding ordinance for the city's steam electric generating plant is now in effect.

The revenue bond ordinance was approved by the commission Jan. 14, but under the ordinance terms, citizens were allowed 30 days to initiate procedures which would have brought the ordinance to a referendum.

Period Lapsed Feb. 18

Kent reported that the 30-day period lapsed Feb. 18 and that no petitions requesting a referendum were filed.

The ordinance provides that revenue bonds totaling $3,775,000 will be issued. The bonds will be payable out of the revenue of the municipal electric utility system.

Under terms of the ordinance, the revenue bonds will be used to pay the cost of constructing and acquiring extensions and improvements in the city electric utility system, including the payment of engineering, legal and other expenses in connection with the issuance of bonds.

Dated May 1, 1963

The bonds will be dated May 1, 1963, and will be payable as follows: $75,000 on July 1, 1969; $100,000 on July 1 of each of the years 1970 and 1971; $200,000 on July 1 of each of the years 1972 to 1984 and

Abstinence, Fasting Rules For Lent Told

Fastings and abstinence rules which will be in effect for Catholics in the Marquette Diocese during Lent and other times during the year were announced today by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D.D., bishop of the diocese.

Lent begins tomorrow, with Ash Wednesday, and continues to Easter Sunday, April 14. Last year Lent began on March 7. Lenten regulations are unchanged from last year.

Every Catholic over seven years of age is bound to observe the law of abstinence.

Complete abstinence is to be observed on Fridays, Ash Wednesday and the vigil of the Immaculate Conception (Dec. 7). On days of complete abstinence, meat and soup or gravy made from meat may not be used at all.

Concerning Partial Abstinence

Partial abstinence is to be observed on Ember Wednesdays and Saturdays, and on the vigil of Pentecost. On days of partial abstinence, meat and soup or gravy made from meat may be taken only once a day at the principal meal.

Every Catholic over 21 and under 59 years of age also is bound to observe the law of fast.

The days of fast are the weekdays of Lent, including Holy Saturday, Ember Days, and the vigils of Pentecost and the Immaculate Conception.

On days of fast, only one full meal is allowed. Two other meals, sufficient to maintain strength, may be taken to each one's needs; but together they should not equal another full meal, Bishop Noa said.

Meat At Principal Meal

Meat may be taken at the principal meal on a day of fast, except on Fridays, Ash Wednesday, and the vigils of the Immaculate Conception and Christmas.

Eating between meals is not permitted; but liquids, including milk and fruit juices, are allowed.

When health or ability to work would be seriously affected, the law does not oblige. In doubt concerning fast or abstinence, a parish priest or confessor should be consulted, Bishop Noa said.

'Observe Good Works'

Bishop Noa said the Lenten and yearly rules and regulations are concluded with an exhortation to observe "a life of penance, good works and a special practice of giving prayerful consideration to the passion and death of Our Lord."

He added: "Traditionally during Lent special devotions, including the Way of the Cross, are held weekly in each parish. All are exhorted to be in regular and faithful attendance at these devotions and particularly at Mass, including Sunday.

"All the priests of the diocese are instructed to give special instructions to the faithful about active participation in the Mass and to take advantage of attendance at the liturgy of Holy Week.

"True Meaning Of Devotion"

"Considering the parish as a larger edition of family life, we must give attention to cooperating with other families in the life of the parish. The greatest uniting factor is to be found in the Mass and Holy Communion.

"Here the faithful should be of one mind and one heart in the breaking of the bread. Here is the true meaning of devotion to God and the Church."

Two Vehicles Involved In Mishap Here

Two vehicles were involved and a motorist was ticketed, but no one was hurt, in a minor traffic mishap here at 10:20 yesterday morning.

City police said John F. O'Neil, 423 Spring St., was turning his truck around on East Ave. and went too far over, with his vehicle striking another truck, owned by Jessie L. Wright, 547 W. Washington St., which was parked on the west side of the street, facing south.

The left rear fender of Wright's truck, a 1961 pickup, was damaged to a minor extent and apparently no damage occurred to the O'Neil car, a 1946 truck. Both vehicles were driven from the scene under their own power.

City police ticketed O'Neil for having an expired operator's license.

Tech Feted By Newcomen Unit Tonight

HOUGHTON — Michigan Tech will be honored by the Michigan Committee of the Newcomen Society in North America at a dinner meeting in Detroit tonight at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Dr. J. R. Van Pelt, Tech president, will speak on "The Happy Partnership — Michigan Tech and Michigan Progress."

The society, first established in England, perpetuates the life and work of Thomas Newcomen (1663-1729), British inventor whose valuable contributions to improvements in the newly-developed steam engine brought him lasting fame in the field of mechanic arts. The Newcomen engine, in use from 1712 to 1775, paved the way for the industrial revolution.

In North America, the society has 14,000 members, leaders in industry, transportation, communication, utilities, mining, agriculture, banking, finance, economics, insurance, education, invention and the law. Van Pelt is a member. Michigan has 335 members.

First Time For U. P. Group

Meetings are held throughout the U. S. and Canada at which Newcomen addresses are presented by leaders in their respective fields.

Walker L. Cisler, president, Detroit Edison Co. and head of the Michigan Newcomen Committee, will preside at the dinner.

It will mark the first time that the Michigan Committee of Newcomen has honored any organization located in the Upper Peninsula.

New Night Classes Start This Week

Adults interested in obtaining their high school equivalency diploma are asked to report to the Gravaet High School library this evening, beginning at 7:30.

Henning J. Anderson, administrator of the general education development testing program, will be present to explain the tests necessary for qualification, as well as to set up the schedule of testing periods.

Seventeen adults have already registered for the program, but additional enrollments will be taken Tuesday evening. A minimum of two year's attendance in a high school is the basic requirement.

For further information one may call Milton Johnson, adult education director, CANAL 6-2874.

Bookkeeping Class

The beginning bookkeeping class will hold its first session in Room 210 on Thursday Evening beginning at 7:30.

Special emphasis and help will be given those students seeking help in setting up bookkeeping procedures for their own household or small businesses.

The class is open for further registrations, and if interested call adult education director before Thursday evening.

Reviving Fishing Industry

Representatives of commercial fishing interests in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota were meeting in Superior, Wis., today to discuss a coordinated three-state approach to solving the problems of the hard-hit Lake Superior fishing industry. The meeting stems from action taken by the fisheries committee of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems, which drafted a proposal for federal grants under the Area Redevelopment Administration program to study means of developing new processing techniques and marketing procedures for the Lake Superior cisco, commonly known as the lake herring. Leo Gariepy of Munising is chairman of the fisheries committee.

The meeting in Superior brought together representatives of UPCAP, ARA, the conservation departments of the three states, the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, the fishing industry, economic development agencies, land grant colleges and experiment stations. Among other things, they discussed the development of a marketing cooperative for Superior fish products from all three states.

But the emphasis undoubtedly was on ciscoes, the species around which the UPCAP committee built its proposal. If ciscoes can be marketed as prime food for families, instead of being sold for 2 to 4 cents a pound for animal food, as is the case now, the Lake Superior commercial fishing industry may be well on its way to recovery.

In order to accomplish this, however, a lot of information will be needed about such things as maintenance of fish quality, cisco filleting, canning, capture and handling effects on quality, adaptability of ocean fishing methods to the Great Lakes, market development and industry organization, sales promotion, biological characteristics.

And the fishing industry itself would have to undergo some important changes. Dr. Peter Tack, professor in the Department of Fisheries and Wildlife at Michigan State University, outlined some of these changes when he addressed a meeting of Lake Superior commercial fishermen in Marquette earlier this month.

The ciscoes must be presented in the markets as frozen fillets, he said, because the traditional fresh fish market is becoming a thing of the past. Ciscoes would have to be on the market at all times, which would call for a change in the customary method of netting ciscoes. In the past, nearly all cisco fishing has been concentrated in the fall when the fish entered the shallows in great numbers and were captured in nets floated just beneath the surface. This method of fishing produced a surplus in November and December that was unmarketable except as animal food. But, Dr. Tack said, new methods of setting nets in deeper water has revolutionized cisco fishing by permitting good catches for nine to ten months of the year.

Fishermen also would have to change their methods of handling their catches to prevent crushing and bruising. Dr. Tack advocated that fishermen voluntarily limit their catches in times of plenty to prevent crushing.

Modern promotional practices, such as commissioning commercial artists to design attractive labels and retaining advertising agencies to promote ciscoes, would have to be followed if cisco fillets are to become an American household staple.

UPCAP's fisheries project holds out much hope for reviving the Lake Superior fishing industry. If it can get over the hurdles of governmental delays, it may do much to spur the Upper Peninsula's economy.

A new element that might affect the UPCAP project is Sen. Philip A. Hart's bill proposing an appropriation of $5,000,000 a year for five years to the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries to help states with fisheries finance research and development. Grants would be not less than $25,000 a year and not more than $500,000 to any one state. But federal agencies involved in the UPCAP project should not wait for Congress to act on Sen. Hart's bill. They should give immediate and effective attention to the project that was discussed in Superior today.

Tax Cut Fails To Stir Public

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The tax cut proposal's failure to arouse the expected public enthusiasm is reported by various pulse takers. A tax cut is supposed to be the most popular of political acts. Public reaction this time has brought forth many explanations.

One is that linking tax cuts and federal deficits to economic growth rates has made the whole thing too academic for most people to grasp. But President Kennedy says his proposal is far from academic.

He tells a symposium sponsored by the American Bankers Association that "pushing our economy to grow at a rate of 4 per cent instead of 3 per cent" would work out over the next 10 years to an increase of "$5,000 more in income for every family."

The ordinary fellow can understand $5,000 all right. He may be a little hazy as to how he can be sure that getting something called the Gross National Product to increase by 2 per cent a year instead of 3 is going to mean that he will get an extra $500 a year, instead of some other fellow getting $1,000. This is the educational problem that the President and his advisers face.

Another reason many persons haven't gone overboard for the tax cutting plan could be that after figuring up everything else involved they can't see how they'll be ahead much if any at the end of the year. Some contend that the proposed cut in deductions would take away much of the benefit from any lowering of federal income tax rates.

Others point out that other taxes, fees, rates, at all levels of government, are going up at the same time. When they've paid everything from Social Security to property to sales taxes to auto license fees, their disposable income may be about the same size. They wonder just how much of a boost they personally can give to the economic growth rate.

The new economic school rejects this fear as outdated. It holds that the tax cuts and the increased government spending between them will spur business in general. This will get the GNP — the total dollar value of all goods and services produced in the nation — to move ahead by the 4 per cent the President is aiming at, which he says over 10 years would add $210 billion more to wages and $110 billion to profits. And if it did, the U.S. Treasury could take in $80 billion more in taxes.

They'd Like To Believe

Many people would like to believe this, if only they could be sure in their own minds.

Best Known British Church, Westminster, Not A Cathedral

BY JEAN WORTH
Journal Special Correspondence

LONDON — Rome's most famous church, St. Peter's, is not a cathedral, nor is England's Westminster Abbey.

A cathedral is a Christian church which contains the official throne or chair of a bishop, called a "cathedra," the Latin word for chair. In Rome the cathedral chair of the Pope is not in St. Peter's but in another church and here in London, famous Westminster Abbey, the scene of so many great events in British history, was a cathedral in 1539 when it became the seat of a bishop, but has never been one since. Back to the time of Queen Elizabeth (Good Queen Bess of Elizabethan times) and not Elizabeth of the Atomic Age, the head of Westminster Abbey has been a dean and not a bishop.

Edward the Confessor, a Catholic saint who is buried in the Abbey, built a church on the site of the Abbey between 1050 and 1065 and parts of this church still remain, but the main part of the present building was started in 1245 by Henry III and the twin towers were not completed until 1299, which was very late, as the cathedral age is reckoned.

Great Buried Here

The American visitor to Westminster, which stands near the Houses of Parliament on the Thames here, will be assailed by all of the memories of mentions of the Abbey from his growing up. All English rulers from the time of William the Conqueror except a few were crowned here, and burial in Westminster is one of the greatest honors which England can give the dead. The chapel of Henry VII has many kings and queens buried in it and the great of British history are entombed elsewhere about the Abbey so that a walk almost anywhere in it is upon floor stone inscriptions that causes a "this hallowed ground" reaction.

Probably most visitors seek out the Poet's Corner of the Abbey for the comit of familiarity. The place is so full of dead kings that only a historian could sort them out without reference to a text, but where's the thrill in this process to compare with reading: "M-S 25 Octobris 1400 Galfridus Chaucer," "Handel," "Rudyard Kipling," "Alfred Tennyson," "Robert Browning," "Charles Dickens."

Southey, Burns and Wordsworth and many other great ones are here, but the greatest of them all is not Shakespeare is elsewhere. Samuel Johnson is here and I took that in stride and wondered where Ben Johnson was because I had read long ago that he had been buried in Westminster, but in a begrudging sort of way — standing up — so that he'd take up less space, and his floor marking emerged "O Rare Ben Johnson." This properly translated from the Latin and not the English meant "Pray for Ben Johnson" and not "Oh 'e was a rare one, Ben was," although in truth all who have read him know that he was a true rare one, and worthy of an o rare.

'Warm' Weather Irks Swedish Artillerymen

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) —

While seven million Swedes shiver during the coldest spell in years, Swedish army artillerymen are complaining that the weather is too warm.

The gunners are testing automatic cannon in the arctic wastes of Swedish Lapland and need temperatures colder than 22 below zero. But the winter is not as severe as usual and the mercury stays a little above the mark.

It was cold enough during the first day of the test, but a huge herd of reindeer wandered over the range just as soldiers were about to fire.

Visitors to Westminster are handed a little slip pleading: "Please keep this to remind you of your visitor to Westminster Abbey. You cannot help being a 'sighiser' and we welcome you, but the Abbey, first and foremost is a House of God, where worship has been offered continuously for nearly 900 years. Every day the Holy Communion is celebrated here. Every day morning and evening prayers are said or sung.

"Please do not hesitate to ask the vergers for any information."

So I asked if Winston Churchill would be buried there and the vergers said: "We think that Churchill will be buried at Blenheim, where he was born." Is Churchill, like Shakespeare, greater than even Westminster's tradition?

C. P. Snow wrote wonderfully of him: "Churchill ruled the country (during World War II years) more comprehensively, more directly and with a greater measure of support than any prime minister has ever done. If I am sad about the country, then I have an aching fear that this was our last great effort in the twilight.

"If I am feeling cheerful — and there are plenty of forces making for hope — then I fancy that, in a different and socially better Britain, our descendants will think of it with at least a sneaking pride. Lord Macaulay said of Oliver Cromwell that everyone, whether they believed in kings or not, could not help feeling that he was the greatest prince who ever ruled England. I suspect that will be something like the attitude of posterity to Churchill, at any rate in the first years of his wartime administration."

Cromwell is buried in Westminster. And so are Charles Darwin, who changed the world with his origin of a species theory, and the diplomats Gladstone and Disraeli. And when you seek out their tombs you encounter men with pumice stones cleaning the grime of 900 years from the stonework. And you encounter the Churchillianism in stone: "We Few: We Happy Few . . ."

By a phrase maker older than Churchill, one Will Shakespeare, who wrote in Henry V: "From this day to the ending of the world. . . We few, we happy few, we band of brothers. . . That fought upon St. Crispin's Day. . ."

Beyond Modern Thought

Cathedrals were created in ages which are not only very long ago, but which are well beyond recapture by men of modern thought. Our lives have changed too much to permit us understanding of the huge devotions that raised these great, impressive piles. There is a cult of cathedral worshippers who bandy words like apse, transept, nave and narthex as easily as their address or phone number. They explain that Westminster is an example (glorious) of Early English (Gothic) architecture.

The visitor need know nothing about the architectural style that refined the pointed arch out of the rounded arch of the earlier Romanesque style to sense that this building is a man made miracle, like all the great cathedrals. They are so far beyond modernity that even an understanding of them is difficult.

Westminster was built when 13th Century London had a population of only 20,000 to 30,000 and the labor was performed mostly by serfs from the London countryside and by the people of London. It represents a prodigious outpouring of skimp medieval treasure by a society of people who lived by primitive agriculture and wool trading. Medieval man lived for heaven.

Medieval architects worked almost without benefit of mathematics so they couldn't calculate the exact weight of a roof and how it would be distributed on its walls and pillared supports. The uncertainty resulting from this primitive approach caused the needless sturdiness of Westminster. The nave or main hall is 102 feet high and its massive pillars could bear a weight twice the one that they support. (The church is over 500 feet long.)

Westminster Abbey was bombed in World War II and damaged severely; the roof of the central part of the Abbey burned and collapsed. It was restored after the war.

In the farthest end of the south transept, where the Poet's Corner is, visitors find St. Faith's Chapel, which is reserved for private prayer. The card for visitors suggests: "Enter in, think and thank and pray."

If Spring Comes---Can Mao Be Far Behind?

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

BY ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Dropping in on the petulant Senate these silly days, the man from Mars could be excused for believing that the Republicans are the majority party on Capitol Hill and that President Kennedy is a politically homeless mendicant seeking alms.

While the GOP, despite its sometime clumsiness, is getting things done, the Democrats have deserted their titular leader in the White House and are behaving generally like a mob of delinquents flashing switch blade knives at one another.

Whatever the politics of the observer, it has to seem strange to find the Democratic "Establishment," as Pennsylvania's Sen. Joseph Clark calls it, refusing to exercise the privileges of the party in power.

JFK Spurned

Specifically, the Establishment took its stand against Kennedy by refusing to enlarge the Senate Finance Committee, which will work its will on the President's controversial tax bill.

In effect, the Southern Democrats and their conservative allies in the party said to Kennedy, "No, we are not going to make it any easier for you to get an acceptable bill. Who do you think you are — a Democratic President, or something?"

Georgia's Sen. Richard B. Russell, a man of integrity, has denied that he made a deal with Sen. Everett Dirksen, the GOP's minority leader, whereby Dirksen opposed the anti-filibuster fight in return for Southern support in maintaining the 11 to 6 finance committee ratio. But anybody who believes there were no political shenanigans between the Democrats and Republicans on that one is hereby permitted to write an extra letter to Santa Claus. Such deals are the essence of the power wielded by the Southern Democrats and Republican conservatives.

There is also little doubt that Southern senators managed matters so that liberal Democrats who fought for the anti-filibuster rule were passed over for juicy assignments on other committees. For instance, the sacred rule of seniority, bulwark of Southern strength on the Hill, was ignored in assigning to several important committees. This may not be fair, but it is a political way of life in Congress. Meanwhile, the Republicans in both the Senate and House have sneaked under the tent and offered the audience their own versions of politically powerful legislation on which Kennedy was presumed to have a lock. Senate Republicans have come up with their own Medicare legislation, shortly after a group of House Republicans offered a civil rights bill.

The major provision of the GOP Medicare bill calls for financing Medicare under the social security system, a method blasted by both Democrats and Republicans in the past.

The Liberal Touch

This is traceable to the liberal flavor of the bill's sponsors — GOP Whip Thomas H. Kuchel of California and Sens. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob K. Javits of New York. The bill differs from last year's Administration proposal most importantly in giving beneficiaries the option of receiving hospital benefit programs through private plans, rather than through the government.

Over in the House, 10 Republicans have stressed modernization in their civil rights proposal, although insisting that its scope is sufficiently broad for the times. The bill puts the civil rights commission on a permanent basis, bolsters the committee charged with ending employment discrimination by companies and unions with government contracts and gives the attorney general more power in dealing with integration suits.

President Kennedy has insisted his own civil rights and Medicare legislation will be given high priority. But the GOP has beaten him to the punch on both, and with the Democrats in the Senate treating the President like a poor relation there is not much for the White House to be happy about at this stage of the game. A Special Kind Of Life

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Senators and representatives have a special kind of life in government.

A check, minor or major, is made on all employees of the executive branch for behavior or loyalty. The FBI checks all federal judges and district attorneys before they take office.

Hear Highly Secret Information

The White House requires FBI investigations of the men the President appoints to high office.

Absolutely no check is made on members of Congress even though some of them in closed-door hearings hear highly secret information. For instance, members of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

There is no law saying members of Congress must be checked over. In the executive branch some checking is done on every employee and the FBI can be called in under presidential order going back to 1953.

Beyond Conflict Of Interest Law

Generally, the staffs in the various federal courts are not investigated, although in some exceptional cases a judge may request one. Court employees are seldom, perhaps never, privy to secret government information involving national security.

While there is a law against letting present or former government employees sweeten their pocketbook because of their government connection — the conflict of interest law — no such law applies to members of Congress.

Thus a senator with a fortune in oil is free to plug for a bill that benefits the oil industry. He's not apt to brag that he has some self-interest in what he is doing.

Staffs Not usually Checked

No check is made on the staffs of the 535 members of Congress — they run up into the thousands — unless for some reason a senator or representative asks the FBI to investigate a specific individual.

Nor is any FBI check made on the staff employees of the various committees of Congress except in some special and limited cases when the committee chairman asks the FBI to step in.

That happens in the case of employees of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and employees of the Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Appropriations committees of both houses.

Exposed To Delicate Information

This may be done — although hardly in the case of the Atomic Energy Committee — on an individual basis, depending on what employee the chairman wants checked.

These committees, by their nature, are exposed to some of the most delicate government information. Therefore, their staff members might have access to it.

In these investigations the FBI turns its information over to the committee chairman requesting it. He is the one who decides whether a staff employee should be retained or fired.

New Law Signed

The information goes back to the FBI files for secrecy and safe-keeping. Otherwise, it might wind up being gossiped around the halls of Congress.

Last October President Kennedy signed a new law tightening and broadening the scope of existing conflict of interest regulations.

The major provision permanently bars former full-time federal employees from representing private interests before federal agencies on matters in which they took part personally and substantially before leaving government service.

Earlier law prohibited employees from handling claims against the government for a period of two years after the individual left government.

The new provisions disqualify former employees for one year from handling private business before an agency in matters for which they had higher responsibility but no personal involvement.

INSTALLMENT CHARGES

More and more states are adopting laws which require that finance charges, fee delinquency assessments and so forth be spelled out in installment sales contracts.

Laws of this type applying especially to purchase of automobiles are on the books in 26 states. Michigan will soon become the 25 state to put into force such legislation with respect to household appliances and other retail sales. Counting some overlapping, there are 42 states which regulate either one type of sales or the other or both.

A "truth in lending" bill by Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois to apply throughout the United States has encountered stiff resistance. This is largely because it requires interest charges to be stated in terms of percent per year, and there are conflicting ways of calculating this rate.

State laws which compel simple specifying of the dollars and cents charges are more satisfactory — both because the method is simpler and because the subject is one for state public powers. States that have not yet acted should do so. — Christian Science Monitor.

ARE YOU A SQUARE?

A Madison Ave. advertising agency president has come out foursquare to restore a six-letter word to its proper place in everyday talk. The word is "square." We think he's got hold of something.

Adam Charles H. Brower reminds us that back in Mark Twain's day, "square" was one of the best words in the language. . . you gave a man a square deal of you were honest. (He adds:)

"You gave him a square meal when he was hungry. When you got out of debt, you were square with the world. And that was when you could look your fellow man square in the eye."

Then a lot of characters ran down the word. Result: "A square today is a man who never learned to get away with it; a Joe who volunteers when he doesn't have to; a guy who gets his kick from trying to do something better than anyone else can. . ."

"This country was discovered, put together, fought for and saved by squares — Nathan Hale, Patrick Henry, Paul Revere, George Washington. . ."

Brower dares us to get with it — get back to this nation's old beliefs in such things as "patriotism, pride, patriotism, loyalty, devotion — even hard work."

Movie About Nun Slated By Isabellas

"The Song of Sister Maria," a film about a young and beautiful Spanish singer who gives up a promising career to become a nun in a nursing order, will be shown at the Delft Theater next month under the sponsorship of Father Marquette Circle of the Daughters of Isabella.

The film, a colorama feature presentation released by Citation Films, Inc., is scheduled for showing March 26, 27 and 28. Advance sale of tickets has already begun. Mrs. Robert Frazier is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the movie and Mrs. James Olivier is co-chairman. Mrs. Frank Sciotto is ticket chairman and the committee handling advertising is composed of Mrs. Fred Gagne, Mrs. Walter Fassbender Jr., Mrs. J. Robert Dupras, Mrs. Edward Downey Jr., Mrs. Ronald LaBonte, Mrs. Orval Cherrette, Mrs. Robert Haley, Mrs. James Brindel, Mrs. Stuart Johnson, Mrs. Emmett J. Havican, Mrs. James DeMarinis, Mrs. Edward O'Donnell, Mrs. Walter Toupin, Mrs. Homer Gingras and Mrs. George Summers.

True Story

The film tells the true story of Sister Maria's pursuit of her vocation over the objections of her wealthy aunt and details the unorthodox way she goes about bringing happiness and help to the less fortunate. She teaches a paralytic boy to walk through her patience and kindness, secretly makes six vocal recordings to earn money which she has delivered anonymously to the hospital where she works and eventually persuades her aunt to be one of the hospital's benefactors.

After her apprenticeship is over, she asks for assignment to a leper colony in India and it is there that her life is sacrificed while helping others.

In the title role is Dominique Blanchard, daughter of Pierre Blanchard, famed veteran French actor and the wife of equally famous Jean Servais. JWSC Party For FSS Is Big Success

A dessert card party Saturday afternoon sponsored by the Junior Woman's Service Club for the benefit of the Family Service Society netted more than 200 pairs of shoes for needy families and $110 in cash.

Twenty-one tables of cards were in play at the party, held in the Parkview School's multi-purpose room in charge of the benefit were Mrs. Kenneth Case and Mrs. John D. Rule, co-chairmen. Mrs. Rodney Smith, Mrs. Bernard Pelto and Mrs. Richard Lutey, Expresses Gratitude

Mrs. Bernice Chamberlain, executive secretary of the Family Service Society expressed the organization's "deep appreciation" today for "the wonderful response to the JWSC endeavor." She said that the cash contribution would go toward the repair of shoes to be distributed and for incidental clothing expenses for the needy. "Blankets, clothing and shoes are sought continually by the Family Service Society for families in the area hit by unemployment and for others in which earnings are either inadequate or there is no wage earner at all," Mrs. Chamberlain said. Persons having these articles to donate to the needy are asked to bring them to the FSS office in the Veterans' Center on Blaker St.

First Scheduled

Saturday's party was the first benefit the Junior Woman's Service Club has planned for the Family Service Society, which has previously held an annual silver tea for the shoe collection. "We hope the club will make such a project a yearly undertaking," the FSS secretary said.

Finnish Recipes Sought By County Natives In Italy

Ingrid Bartelli, Michigan State University consumer information agent at the U. P. Extension Center here, has received a request for recipes including the famous Finnish Kaalakuikko and Mojakka from Marquette County natives now in Italy.

The request came from Frederick G. Soyring, formerly of Gwin, now serving with the U. S. Naval Support Activity in Naples. He asked for recipes for his wife, Ardelia, and for Dorothy Hamel, a Marquette native who is also assigned to the U. S. Naval Support Activity.

Soyring said both the Soyring and Hamel families receive The Mining Journal and read the article Mrs. Bartelli wrote about the Finnish taste tempters.

Ancient Ritual Tomorrow Marks Opening Of Lent In Six Catholic Churches

Blessing and distribution of ashes, a centuries-old ceremonial derived from the custom of public penance in the early Christian Church, will open the Lenten season tomorrow (Ash Wednesday) in the six Roman Catholic churches in Marquette, Trowbridge Park, Harvey and Big Bay.

The ashes, obtained by burning the remains of the palms blessed on the previous Palm Sunday, are placed in a vessel on the altar and consecrated before the High Mass. The priest then invites those present to approach the communion rail and dipping his thumb in the ashes, marks them on each person's forehead with the words "Memento, homo, quia pulvis es, et in pulverem reverteris (Remember, man, that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return)." He himself receives the ashes from another priest present or puts them on his own head in silence.

At what date the custom of distributing ashes to the whole congregation as a symbol of penance began is not known. A passage in Aelfric's "Lives of the Saints" (996-997) implies that it was then in common use; it certainly was so in 1091 (synod of Beneventum).

Times for the distribution in local area churches and schedules of services throughout Lent were announced today by the Rt. Rev. Nolan B. McKeitt, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral; the Rev. Raymond J. Garin, pastor of St. John's Church; the Rev. Patrick Frankard, St. Michael's; the Very Rev. Msgr. Arnold L. Casanova, St. Christopher's in Trowbridge Park; the Rev. David Harris, St. Louis the King in Harvey; and the Rev. Glen G. Weber, St. Mary's Big Bay.

At St. Peter's, the ashes will be blessed before the 8 a. m. Mass tomorrow and will be distributed before and after the Mass and again at 3 and 7 p. m.

During Lent, St. Peter's will have its regular novena in honor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 followed by a Lenten sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On Fridays the stations of the Cross will be said at 3:10 and 7:30 p. m. and daily Masses will be offered at 7:15, 8 and 11 a. m.

Sunday's Mass schedule is the same and confessions will be heard on Saturdays, also according to the regular schedule: 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. and each morning during the 8 a. m. Mass.

At St. John's there will be Stations of the Cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament Sunday afternoons at 4. Wednesday evenings at 7:30, Mass will be offered and the Lenten sermon given by the Rev. Alaric Wolf, O.F.M. Cap., on the general topic "Characters of the Passion" Friday evenings at 7:30, the regular novena in honor of Our Sorrowful Mother and Benediction are scheduled. During the week, except Wednesday, Masses will be offered at 8 a. m. and 12-

10 p. m. on Wednesdays, including Ash Wednesday. Masses are at 8 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. and at 8 p. m. and daily Masses Monday to Friday at 6:30 and 8 a. m. and at 5 p. m. (The weekly Lenten sermon will be given at the 5 p. m. Mass on Thursdays by the Rev. Norbert LaCasse, assistant, except this Thursday; Father LaCasse's first sermon in a series entitled "The Seven Last Words" will be tomorrow night.) Saturday Masses will be at 7 and 8 a. m.

Stations of the Cross will be said at 7:30 p. m. Fridays and weekly devotions are on Tuesdays at 7:30 when the regular novena in honor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help is scheduled. Confessions at St. Michael's will be from 4 to 5 and from 7 to 8:30 p. m. on Saturdays and during the 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. Masses on other days.

At St. Christopher's, the blessing of ashes tomorrow will be prior to the 7:15 a. m. Mass and distribution is scheduled after the morning Mass, following religious instruction classes at 4:30 p. m. and again following the evening Mass at 8.

The opening evening Lenten service tomorrow will begin with the regularly-scheduled Miraculous Medal novena before the Mass. Lenten sermons at St. Christopher's this year will be preached by the Rev. Matthew Nyman, assistant, who will give a series of instruction on the sacraments each Wednesday evening.

During Lent, Masses at the Trowbridge Park church will be daily at 7:15 a. m. with extra Masses at 4:30 p. m. on Mondays and Fridays, and at 6:45 a. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Wednesday evening's Mass is at 8 and on Saturday, the Mass is at 8 a. m. Sunday Masses are at 7, 9 and 11 a. m., and confessions on Saturday from 4 to 5 and 7 to 8 p. m.

New Exhibits Added To Historical Center At Ishpeming Armory

ISHPEMING — Several new exhibits are being readied at the Military History Center in the Ishpeming Armory, built around recent donations of uniforms and other military material, according to Chief Warrant Officer Leonard L. Lorge, historian for the 107th Engineer Battalion.

A display which has grown rapidly is that of military uniforms. The battalion now has every uniform worn by the Army since 1917 except for one. Each is complete with the proper insignia, service medals and other items just as they were worn.

Besides the current Army green uniform, on display is a World War I coat donated by Oral J. LaCombe of Sault Ste. Marie; the familiar "ikee" jacket donated by CWO Lorge; and the recent officers' dress uniform, the "pinks and greens" donated by Col. Leonard C. Ward of Washington, D.C.

Several foreign uniforms also have been offered to the center, with a World War II German uniform, donated by Charles Waters of Ishpeming, currently displayed.

Two German knives and a field pack with fur trimming have been received from Edward C. Vickstrom of Ishpeming. Lorge noted that these items, along with several others, make up an exhibit of knives, swords and bayonets, some of which date back to the Civil War.

"Much of the material we receive has to be cleaned before it can be displayed; however, anything of a military nature is welcomed, regardless of condition," Lorge said. "One such item currently being restored is a 1904

Vickers-Maxim .30 cal. machine gun. A member of Ishpeming's Headquarters Company, SFC Bruce Bureau, is doing the restoration work, since almost the entire weapon was covered with paint. It is unusual to find such a large weapon intact, and we hope to have it with our other weapons exhibits soon.

Among other additions were several front pages of newspapers from 1944 and 1945, on loan from Dwight LaFreniere of Ishpeming, and a collection of military insignia on loan from CWO Lorge.

Presented by members of the Ishpeming National Guard Auxiliary were a World War I U.S. Army helmet, a German World War II parade helmet, and a World War I U.S. Army gas mask. A most unusual addition to this group was a German leather helmet of the World War I era, which has a large insignia of metal on the front, but about which little else is known.

"Although we still lack showcases for proper display area, we do have many interesting pieces of present and former military equipment which the public will enjoy seeing," Lorge said. "We have found that this exhibit has drawn much interest, and we are happy to have an area in the Ishpeming Armory for this purpose."

The Military History Center will accept any material which is of a military nature, and items can be either donated or placed on loan. Interested persons may visit the center any day, Monday through Friday, or by special arrangement at other times.

White Pine Man President Of Metallurgical Society

DALLAS, Tex. — New officers and directors of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers took their posts today at AIME's 92nd annual meeting here. So, too, will new officers and directors of the institute's three constituent organizations, Society of Mining Engineers, the Metallurgical Society and Society of Petroleum Engineers.

Roger V. Pierce, mining consultant, of Salt Lake City, becomes 1963 AIME president. He succeeds Lloyd E. Elkins, Tulsa, Okla., production research director for Pan American Petroleum Corp.

Edward G. Fox, Washington, D.C., president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, takes office as president of the Society of Mining Engineers. He replaces William B. Stephenson, Paoli, Pa.

The new president of the Metallurgical Society will be Richard C. Cole, White Pine, Mich., executive vice president and general manager of the White Pine Copper Co. He succeeds Dr. Karl L. Fetters, Youngstown, Ohio.

The 1963 president of the Society of Petroleum Engineers will be L. Preston Whorton, Dallas, manager of the crude oil production, research and development department, the Atlantic Refining Co., currently an AIME director. He succeeds Richard A. Morse, Pittsburgh.

Dr. Fetters becomes AIME president-elect, slated to be its 1964 president.

Stephenson takes up a second term as AIME vice president. Cole, now an AIME director, becomes an AIME vice president in addition to becoming president of the Metallurgical Society. Dr. Carlton C. Long, Monaca, Pa., former president of the Metallurgical Society, takes up a second term as AIME vice president. Morse and two other current AIME directors became AIME vice presidents. They are Robert B. Gilmore, Dallas, and Norman L. Weiss, Tucson, Ariz.

Dr. Clarence E. Sims, Columbus, Ohio, former technical director of Battelle Memorial Institute and now a consultant to Battelle, has been elected an AIME director for one year to fill out the term in that post of Dr. Fetters.

Dr. Smith Heads Unit Of AIME

HOUGHTON — Dr. R. L. Smith, head of Michigan Tech's Department of Metallurgical Engineering, has been named a division chairman for the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers.

Dr. Smith, attending the annual meeting of AIME in Dallas this week, will assume the duties as chairman of the Institute of Metals Division of the Metallurgical Society of AIME. He will serve until the next annual meeting in February, 1964.

A member of the Tech faculty since 1959, Dr. Smith also serves as coordinator of research and chairman of the faculty research committee at Tech. His own primary research interests are currently in the field of ultra-pure metals. He has received more than $80,000 in grants during the past three years from the American Iron and Steel Institute to support this work.

Dr. Smith is a native of Vanceboro, Me., received his BS degree from the University of Alaska. His MS and Ph D degrees were earned at the University of Pennsylvania. He has taught at the University of Alaska and worked in research at Philadelphia's Franklin Institute, where he was successively senior research engineer, metallurgy section head, associate director of solid state physics and technical director for the laboratories for research and development.

In addition to AIME, Dr. Smith is a member of the American Society for Metals, British Institute of Metals, Franklin Institute and several other professional organizations.

Mrs. Duane Phillips To Speak At Scout Meet

ISHPEMING — Mrs. Duane Phillips, 855 S. Pine St., will be guest speaker at a Girl Scout leaders meeting in the multi-purpose room of the Phelps Intermediate School at 7 tonight.

Mrs. Phillips, who has a master's degree in physical education from the University of South Dakota, will speak on songs and games with instructions given on singing, equipment and table games. Singing games from foreign countries also will be discussed.

Well qualified to instruct this course, Mrs. Phillips has taught physical education for five years and has been active in the Girl Scouts as a leader for three years, working with intermediate groups.

Sion Church Services Set

CHATHAM — Midweek Lenten services at Sion Lutheran Church will begin with a sermon entitled "The Violent Crowd" tomorrow night at 7, the Rev. Harold Linn announces.

Sion again will take part in a pulpit exchange with the Rev. Theodore Pflug of Trinity Lutheran Church, Marquette, and the Rev. J. William Sippola of Sion Lutheran, Marquette, on alternate weeks.

The general theme for all services will be "Crowds Around Calvary." The schedule for the sermon follows:

- March 6 — "A Hate-Filled Crowd," Rev. Pflug.
- March 13 — "A Careless Crowd," Rev. Sippola.
- March 20 — "A Thrill-Seeking Crowd," Rev. Linn.
- March 27 — "A Lonely Crowd," Rev. Pflug.
- April 3 — "A Frightened Crowd," Rev. Sippola.

After all services, a fellowship hour will follow and refreshments will be served by the various circles of the Sion Guild in the church dining room.

Obituary

RICHARD H. SANGALA

ISHPEMING — Services for Richard Henry Sangala, who died Sunday in Milwaukee, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the Jackson Funeral Home. The Rev. Albert Hautamaki will officiate and burial will be made in Ishpeming Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning this afternoon.

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—George Washington, a Concord truck driver, celebrated his 33rd birthday Friday by eating a piece of cherry pie.

Snow Ball To Be Held March 9th

ISHPEMING — A committee of seven is making plans for the 1963 Snow Ball, sponsored by the Xi Alpha Zeta Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. The event annually has contributed much to the entertainment and enjoyment of those who come to Ishpeming for ski jumping activities.

The Snow Ball, to be conducted in conjunction with the Olympic tryouts March 9 and 10 at Suicide Hill, will be held in the Mather Inn's Georgian Room Saturday, March 9, with music for dancing by the Joe Barabe orchestra.

Proceeds of the dance will be given to the Bay Cliff Health Camp.

Mrs. Helen Romeli and Mrs. Dorothy Malone are chairmen for the event, which will feature a twist and limbo contest. Assisting them will be Mrs. Florence Dawe, Mrs. Jan Ready, Mrs. Ruth McLaughlin, Mrs. Timmy Campbell and Mrs. Joyce Remboldt.

Tickets are available from members of the sorority or they may be obtained at the door.

The sorority said the event is open to the public and should prove to be one of the highlights during the weekend.

World Day Of Prayer On Friday

NEGAUNEE — "More Than Conquerors" will be the theme for the annual World Day of Prayer service in Negaunee, which is scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday, March 1, at the Bethany Lutheran Church.

Mrs. George T. Collins is chairman for the 1963 World Day of Prayer program, which is sponsored by the United Church Women of Negaunee. The Rev. Byron Hatch, pastor of the Mitchell Methodist Church, will be the principal speaker.

World-wide in character, the 1963 service will be held on March 1 in 150 countries. The theme was prepared by Christian women of Korea.

Participating in the local service will be women from the Mitchell Methodist, Bethany Lutheran, Calvary Baptist, Immanuel Lutheran, Mission Covenant and St. John's Episcopal Churches.

Music will be provided by a girls' trio from Negaunee High School composed of Vivian Kantola, Katherine Partanen and Patricia Fellow, with Susan Roberts as accompanist.

The offering will be dedicated through the Home Missions and Foreign Missions divisions of the National Council of Churches for aid to Christian colleges abroad and work among migrants and American Indians in the United States.

6 Motorists Pay $46.50

L'ANSE — Fines and court costs totaling $46.50 were assessed against six motorists whose cases were heard before L'Anse Justice Leo D. Harrington during the past week.

Mark H. Perrault, 30, L'Anse, was ordered to pay a $5 fine plus $4.30 costs for driving on the wrong side of the road.

Ronald T. Emery, 25, Chicago, formerly of L'Anse, failed to answer a charge of speeding and an $8 bond posted with state police was forfeited.

James W. Chartier, 34, Pelkie, ticketed for driving with defective brakes, paid a $3 fine and $4.30 court costs. An identical fine and costs were assessed against Roderick J. Emblad, 38, L'Anse, who also was ticketed for driving a vehicle with defective brakes.

Dale W. Borgen, 17, L'Anse, who received a summons for excessive noise, paid $3 and $4.30.

No Big Obstacles To Output Of Self-Fluxed Pellets, CCI Shows In Republic Mine Test

DALLAS, Tex. — A test at the Republic, Mich., Mine of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. has shown that "no huge roadblocks stand in the way of commercial production of self-fluxed pellets," E. B. Johnson, range metallurgist, said today at a meeting of the Minerals Beneficiation Division of the Society of Mining Engineers.

The society is a constituent organization of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers, now in national convention.

Step Up Furnace Efficiency

"The fame of pellets has become world-wide," Johnson said. "Pellets have set blast furnace production records that would have been unbelievable a few years ago. The use of self-fluxed sinter has greatly enhanced operation of the blast furnace. It is reasonable to assume that the use of self-fluxed pellets might correspondingly reflect greater furnace efficiency as did self-fluxed sinter, compared to the regular sinter."

"A great share of development in agglomeration has been directed toward techniques related to the production of self-fluxed pellets. An appreciable tonnage of self-fluxed pellets had not been produced on a commercial scale until the test of May, 1962, conducted

Former Negaunee Woman To Appear On 'Truth' Show

NEGAUNEE — A former Negaunee resident, Mrs. Prude Schlenitzauer of Lovell, Mich., will appear on "To Tell the Truth" over WLUC-TV at 3 Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Schlenitzauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sitala, 128 E. Lincoln St., is the champion women's pistol shooter in the U. S. She represented this country in an international meet in Egypt last fall, competing against women from 40 countries. She won third place.

James D. Barnett, 23, Aura, was fined $3 and $4.30 for driving without an operator's license.

NOTICE TO BID

Sealed bids, plainly marked, will be accepted at the office of the Board of Education, Negaunee, Michigan up to and including 3:00 P. M. on Monday, March 11th, 1963 for the purchase and installation of draperies, and rigging apparatus where necessary, for the Negaunee High School Auditorium.

All materials are to be made flameproof according to Public Assemblage Regulations of the State of Michigan.

Bidders are to submit samples of draperies and lining to be furnished and approximate date of installation.

Further information may be procured at the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

The Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

pellet approximately three per cent compared to regular pellet analyses.

Role Still To Be Determined

"While the role of self-fluxed pellets in the big picture of steel-making is yet to be determined, and such factors as proper basicity, porosity, reductibility, high temperature strengths and optimum induration temperature levels will be clarified by the continuing research work, the test demonstrated that no huge roadblocks stand in the way of commercial production of self-fluxed pellets."

Another paper on the development of fluxed pellets was presented by K. E. Merklin, Hibbing, Minn., chief metallurgist, Pickands Mather & Co., and F. D. DeVaney, Duluth, director of metallurgy and research for the same company. Reporting on a series of research works and tests by various laboratories and operations, their paper said:

"The fluxed pellets is a natural outcome of years of work with fluxed sinters and the development of suitable additives to produce a high-quality pellet. While much of the research in the past has been devoted to the physical aspects of the pellets, most of these problems now have been solved satisfactorily and closer attention is being paid to its other characteristics. Great importance has been attached recently to uniformity of pellets. A fluxed pellet can possibly contribute to both chemical uniformity and physical quality."

Technology Available

"A question has been raised, however, as to the resistance of fluxed pellets to high-temperature reduction disintegration as measured by the modified Limier test, and further work must be carried out in this area before definite conclusions can be reached."

IN APPRECIATION

We are sincerely grateful to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their many acts of kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Harry H. Kintgen. We especially wish to thank Father John H. Ryan, pallbearers, those who donated or drove cars, those who sent flowers, cards, spiritual bouquets and donations, the ladies who served, and all who helped in any way. Their many acts of kindness will ever be remembered.

'Cats Feed On Muskies In Home Court Finale

Northern Michigan basketballers were those movin' Wildcats again last night, making a shambles of what should have been a close game with 50 per cent shooting, strong rebounding, tough play, as they ended the regular season with a 98-63 victory over Lakeland College.

With the band absent, rehearsing for "Guys & Dolls," they didn't play "O, Canada," or even "The Maple Leaf Forever," and that's a shame, as Gary Silc, the Sudbury senior center, poured in 25 points in his fieldhouse finale.

But the "guys & dolls" who saw the game gave him much vocal support, and at least as much for Marty Gharrity, who closed out his brief, sparkling tour on the HPER hardwoods with 17 points.

Gharrity has eligibility left, but is academically a senior. He picked up a sagging Wildcat team this semester, just as Silc did last year.

Bobby Armstead was back on target again, scoring 20 points — and who needs backboards and rims? Bob Peotote tallied 10.

About the only thing that would have made it a happier night would have been to have the same score on the board with a full game out of 6-11 soph Wes Seyller of the Muskies. Coach Bob Griggas benched the big fellow after he "smarted off at halftime."

But the Lakeland coach can't have been too pleased with what happened on the floor in the first 20 minutes, either. The 240-pounder had only three points, and one rebound in that time.

A duplicate of that half would have found the St. Paul youngster 16 points under his scoring average for the season.

But then, this was his first outing against the 'Cats, who were ready to please an enthusiastic (to put it mildly) crowd.

Ray Cronk, the 6-6 Minnesota transfer, proved of Big Ten caliber, but the Muskies' supporting cast wasn't up to the script, with the possible exception of outside shot Sam Graber (a 5-11 "midgit" in a team with five men topping 6-6).

Northern ends the regular season, and looks to the State NAIA playoffs, with a 15-7 record. This was Lakeland's fourth loss against 18 victories.

Lakeland got off almost as many shots as did Northern, but they didn't often get the easy one. Seyller's lone basket was a swinging pivot type, but most of Cronk's seven had to be fought for.

Northern tore into the lead off the fast break, as Peotote made it 4-0, and Lakeland, proud of an 89-points-a-game scoring average, suddenly tried control ball.

Armstead hit from the corner, a low liner dropped from Duane Soine, and Gharrity fed Soine on a hook.

Northern drew back the press midway in the half, holding a 22-14 lead. Silc unlimbered his hook, and ended up with 17 in the half, and the 'Cats led 49-37.

Helping Northern was another fine streak of free throw shooting. The 'Cats were 9-for-9 at the half, and ended up with 12-for-13.

Gharrity scored eight straight in the opening moments of the second half, breaking the string by a mid-air recovery of a ball out of bounds, which he turned into a feed for Peotote for the lay-up.

The score grew to 66-43, and both Gharrity and Silc were pulled. Silc returned after Armstead picked up his fourth foul, but the Beat had already scored 10 in the half, and the score was 75-40.

With 2:19 left, Coach Stan Albeck cleared the bench, having used his first eight in various combos before that. The lead reached its largest at the end, on two baskets by Pat Schlomer.

NOTES: Unusual calls marked each of the last two games for Northern this basketball season. Saturday, a rare twin foul, charging two Wildcat players with fouls on a foe at the same time, earned separate free throws (luckily the one-at-one was not in effect) for a Hillsdale player. Monday, for the first time, a foe objected to Wayne Lundy's wearing No. 62. No digit over a five is legal on a basketball uniform (to make refs' hand signals simple) but opponents usually let it pass. Capt. Charley Davidson missed the shots. — G. F.

Aquinas, Alma Fives Pad Win Records

(By the Associated Press) Olivet, which has won only one game in 20 this season, made a brave try at improving its record but bowed to Defiance College 89-80. Olivet stayed in contention until the final four minutes when the Ohioans came up with six quick points.

Senior forward Don Phillips closed out his Alma College basketball career by scoring 32 points in leading Alma to a 113-108 decision over Lawrence Tech. Alma finished the season with a 12-9 record. Lawrence Tech is 11-14.

Gary Fewless scored 22 points in Aquinas College's 89-68 victory over Albion. The victory left Aquinas with a 10-6 record, while Albion, which finished its season, wound up with a 7-14 overall mark.

Celts, Lakers Match Paces In NBA Race

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers are putting on a neck-and-neck race to decide which will finish the regular National Basketball Association schedule with the highest percentage.

This is about the only main interest left in the regular NBA season which ends March 17. At stake is a bonus of $2,000 and the odd home game should the Lakers and Celtics again meet in the championship playoff as expected.

Los Angeles currently leads 753 to 718. The Lakers won their 50th game against 18 defeats by defeating the Detroit Pistons 113-107 at Des Moines in the only game scheduled Monday night.

Boston, with a 51-20 record, has nine games left to play, two each against New York, Chicago and Syracuse and one each against San Francisco, Detroit and Cincinnati. Los Angeles has 12 to play, 4 against St. Louis, 2 each against San Francisco and Cincinnati and one each against New York, Syracuse, Chicago and Detroit.

'62 Tigers Hit More Homers, Scored Less

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Restoration of the Tigers' run-producing ability is manager Bob Scheffing's objective as full-scale spring training opens today.

"Look at this," said Scheffing as the Detroit batterymen worked out Monday, "we hit 29 more home runs last year and scored nearly 100 less runs."

In 1961 the Tigers scored the most runs in the American League and led in team batting. They finished a strong second after being in a position to win the pennant until the final weeks. Last year the run total fell off despite a club record of 209 homers. The Tigers dropped to ninth in team batting. The result was they finished fourth and didn't clinch that spot until the final days.

A multitude of injuries, of course, contributed greatly to the Tigers' slide. But of the eight regulars starting last season as holdovers from 1961, six tailed off in the batting averages.

The exceptions were Billy Bruton and Chico Fernandez.

Most starting pitching behind Jim Bunning and Hank Aguirre is another aim of spring training. If Frank Lary continues his comeback from a sore shoulder, this matter automatically will be resolved.

It's unlikely any changes in the Detroit lineup will result from spring training. The opening day lineup against the Chicago White Sox April 9 is just about set.

Gus Triandos, catcher; Norm Cash, first base; McAuliffe, second base; Fernandez, shortstop; Bubba Phillips, third base; Al Kaline, right field; Bruton, center field; and Rocky Colavito, left field.

The only newcomers are Phillips and Triandos, both acquired in trades.

Colavito, Cash, Bruton and Fernandez are unsigned. Bruton was expected to sign today. Colavito said he remained far from agreement with general manager Jim Campbell. Cash and Campbell were getting closer. Fernandez was unreported.

Also unsigned was reserve outfielder Bob Farley.

Campbell signed rookie outfielder Frank Kostro Monday.

Pitcher Bob Dostal complained of pains in his stomach and was admitted to a hospital.

Central League Race Undecided As Season Enters Last Week

Three teams have their eyes on the Central U. P. League flag in the final week of the Upper Peninsula's regular-season high school basketball campaign.

The Central championship, with Nahma, Perkins and Eben engaged in a down-to-the-wire battle, is the only one still to be decided. A couple of other items are keeping interest alive, however, as most coaches and teams begin polishing their play for next week's district tournament competition.

Still eager to become only the second team in U. P. cage history to win 19 straight games during a regular season were the Champion Indians. They face Republic Tuesday and National Mine Friday.

Champion already has won 17 straight and is rated the No. 1 Class D quintet in the state. Since a Michigan high school regulation prohibits scheduling of more than 18 games (but permits participation in a holiday tournament even three games — to count only as two), only one other team — Rudyard — has ever won as many as 19 in season's play.

Coupled with Champion's attempt to remain undefeated will be its No. 1 scorer's efforts to wrest the point crown from Nahma's Pat Groleau. Bill Koski, winding up a brilliant career that has seen him become the second highest career scorer in Peninsula history, has 525 points, an average of 30.9. Groleau has 503 for 16 games, an average of 31.4.

Lucas Stand-In Now Starring For Buckeyes

(By the Associated Press) A stand-in who became a star, Gary Bradds is playing to rave notices to very discriminating audiences—Big Ten conference basketball fans.

The 6-foot-8 junior who understudied the celebrated Jerry Lucas last season is the spotlighted performer for Ohio State's Buckeyes now, and he is carrying off the role superbly.

Bradds put on a typical show Monday night, netting 13 of Ohio State's last 16 points as the Buckeyes topped Northwestern 50-45 on the Wildcats' floor. The victory was a clutch one, keeping Ohio State tied for the Big Ten lead with Illinois.

The Illini shook loose in the closing moments and won at Minnesota 81-70, leaving the Gophers with only a mathematical chance to tie for the conference championship. Indiana's hopes also were dashed in a 102-96 loss at Wisconsin. Ohio State and Illinois are 9-2 with three games left, Indiana is 7-4 and Minnesota 7-5.

Mississippi nailed down two less than a share of the Southeastern Conference crown, posting a 78-67 victory at Tulane, while Georgia Tech took sole possession of second place by winning at home against Florida, 89-69. Auburn dropped to third in a 55-47 setback at Tennessee.

The Big Eight race loosened up a bit, with Colorado whipping Iowa State 72-59 and Nebraska upending Oklahoma State 49-48 for its first conference victory of the season.

Bowling Green assured itself of at least a tie for the Mid-American championship in a high-scoring romp at home, 114-86 over Marshall.

Arizona State, the Western Athletic Conference champion, struggled to its 47th home floor victory in a row, 73-70 over Creighton, although Art Becker went out in the opening half with an ankle sprain and Joe Caldwell fouled out with 6 minutes to play.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan overtook Iowa in the second half of a Big Ten basketball game Monday night to defeat the Hawkeyes 78-70 and break their tie for fifth place in conference standings.

Led by the 32-point shooting of sophomore Bill Buntin, the Wolverines went ahead to stay on a layup by the scoring leader, 42-40, with 15 minutes to play.

Down 35-31 at intermission, the Wolverines poured in 47 points in the second half as they stepped up their offense and sharpened their shooting.

Dave Roach, shooting well from the outside, paced the Hawks with 27 points on 11 field goals and five free throws.

The Hawks led the Wolverines by seven points twice in the first half, Michigan at first was unable to penetrate Iowa defenses and missed distance shots with consistency.

The victory gave Michigan undisputed control of fifth place in Big Ten standings with a 6-5 conference record and 14-7 overall. Iowa stands 5-6 in the conference and 9-12 overall.

Best Bombs Lanes With 726 Totals

Ken Best of Sawyer AFB shook up the local bowling fraternity last night as he drilled a 726 (257-224-245) down the alleys in the Marquette Olympic Classic league.

What's happened to the pins lately we don't know, but Best's big series wasn't even the highest in the Upper Peninsula in the past two weeks, wherever it might stand in all-time local annals.

Ralph Brown of Menominee racked up a 740 two weeks ago, and a 759 in January.

But, needless to say, Best's was a new league high, and it left some frustrated leggers in its wake. Jim Carlton had a 680 (224-210-246), Con Lempenis a 662 (226-200-236); Mel Hirvonen, 644 (204-238-202); Walt Knutson, 621 (189-190-242); Glen Johnson, 618 (179-224-215); Ev Semole, 616 (204-200-212); Marty Grobar, 615 (200-215-191); Don Borland, 611 (205-189-215); Steve Petros, 606 (246-179-181); Clark Lambros, 604 (192-204-208); and Randy Zack, 602 (162-217-223). There are people around who top leagues with less than 600 pins, but that's no consolation to 12th-place Randy.

Leo Carlson had a 244. Bud Kramer 227; Joe Crispigna, 221; Ed Lohf, Jr., 220.

The Ishpeming Classic league bowlers were again sharp as 33 bowlers hit the 200 mark. Roxie Lawson led the pack with a smooth 245 game while Joe Nicholson crashed through with a 671 match on games of 226-202 and 243.

It was the Miners' First National Bank taking team game and national glory as they posted a match of 2,936 and a team game of 1,069.

Vito Bertucci rolled a 621 match, Walter Ludholz a 639, James (Roxie) Lawson a 629, Honey Anderson, 606 and Don Nardi, 608.

But in the Cleveland Cliffs league, Ken Racine clicked for a 672 with games of 224-234 and 214. His 234 was tops. Ray W. Dahl rolled a 207. E. Peterson, 201; Dominic Polini, 213. L. Prusi, 210; Wm. Goldsworthy, 201. Paul Lake-ner, 213 and Al King a 211.

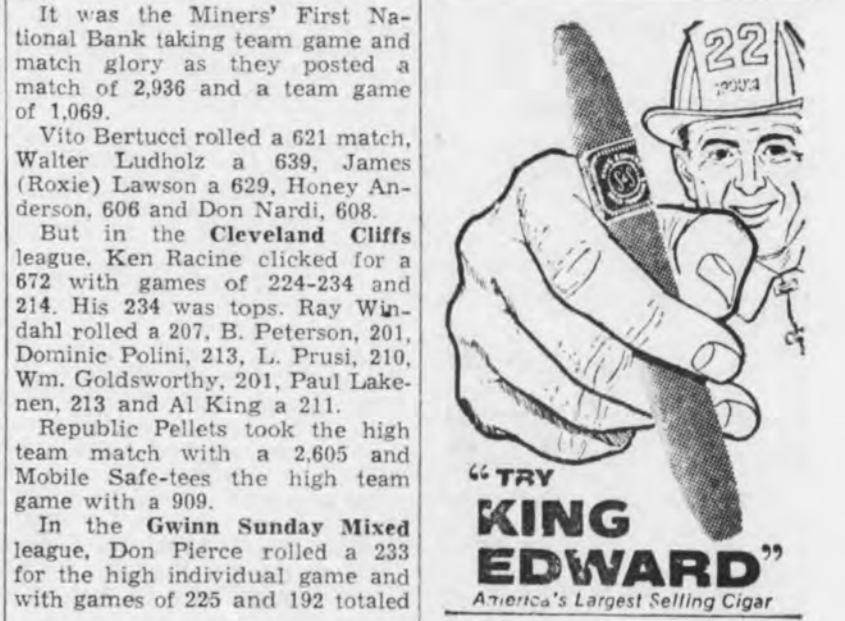

Republic Pellets took the high team match with a 2,605 and Mobile Safe-tees the high team game with a 909.

In the Gwinn Sunday Mixed League, Don Pierce rolled a 233 for the high individual game and with games of 225 and 192 totaled

Romney Cites LA Smog To Olympians

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney brought up a touchy subject Monday in counter-punching California's efforts to ease Detroit out as the U.S. bidder for the 1968 Olympic Games.

The Michigan Governor declared this state has a better summer climate than Los Angeles.

"Our summer climate at 71 degrees is a lot better than that of Los Angeles," said Romney.

"Those degrees are clear, sunny Michigan degrees and not smog degrees such as are found in Los Angeles."

Romney spoke at a meeting of Detroit's Olympic Committee which has been expanded to more than 300 members to back up Michigan's efforts to bring the 1968 summer games to Detroit. The committee includes leaders of industry, labor, business and government.

The U.S. Olympic Committee last Oct. 15 designated Detroit as the U.S. bidder for the 1968 games. But competition among U.S. cities was re-opened two weeks ago at the urging of Los Angeles, which suggested Detroit wasn't making progress in preparing facilities.

The U.S. Olympic Committee will meet in New York March 18-19 to reconsider American contenders.

Leaders Hold Berths In AP HS Hoop Poll

(By the Associated Press) Eight down and just one more to go!

That's what the four top teams in the Associated Press' weekly basketball poll must be saying today.

Three of this week's leaders—Benton Harbor (14-0) in Class A, River Rouge (16-1) in Class B, and Champion (17-0) in Class D—have led since the first week.

Capac (15-0), named the top team in Class C for only the second week by the AP's panel of Michigan sports writers and sportscasters, was in second place for many weeks before taking over first place last week.

And now there's only one week left. Next Tuesday—the day district basketball play will start for many teams—the AP will name its top four teams for 1963.

The voting based on 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. through 1 point for a 10th-place vote:

L'Anse, Doelle In Jr. High Meet Finals

L'ANSE — L'Anse faces Doelle tonight in the championship game of the L'Anse Invitational Junior High School basketball tournament. The game is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the high school gym.

L'Anse defeated Houghton, 30-19, to gain the finals. The Junior High Hornets are unbeaten in six games this season.

Resident Of Munising 55 Years Dies

MUNISING — John O. Seger, 82, of 210 1/2 W. Superior St., died at 4 Sunday afternoon in Morgan Heights, Marquette. He had been in ill health several years.

Mr. Seger was born March 6, 1880, in Sweden and came to Munising in 1908 from Grand Marais and had lived here since then. He operated a candy store on W. Superior St. in the early 1900's and also was owner and operator of Johnny's Lunch until his retirement in 1942.

There are no known survivors. The body is in the Bowerman-Hallifax Funeral Home, where friends may begin calling this afternoon. Services will be held in the funeral home at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. L. F. Danner will officiate and interment will take place in Maple Grove Cemetery.

6 Michigan Tech Faculty Members At AIME Session

HOUGHTON — Six Michigan Tech faculty and staff members are in Dallas, Tex., this week in connection with the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers.

One of the Tech representatives, Andrew L. Mular, research engineer in the Institute of Mineral Research, will deliver a technical paper at one of the sessions on crushing and grinding.

Others attending are Dr. James M. Neilson, assistant dean of the faculty; Dr. R. L. Smith, head of the Department of Metallurgical Engineering; Walfrid Been, head of the Department of Mining Engineering; Dr. Edwin T. Williams, vice president, and Thomas F. Hruby, director of alumni relations.

Hruby and Dr. Williams are winding up a series of visits to Tech alumni clubs in western states. They have scheduled an alumni meeting in Dallas Wednesday night for Dallas-Fort Worth area alumni attending the AIME convention. AIME annually draws approximately 3,500 persons connected with the mineral, metal and fuel industries.

Baraga Board Orders Razing Of Abandoned Grade School

BARAGA — The Baraga Township Board of Education agreed to raze the now abandoned elementary school building, authorized sale of two parcels of school property adjacent to the Pelkie School, passed a resolution calling for reimbursement of 100 per cent of school transportation expenses and made application for tuition payments for Indian children living on tax-exempt lands.

The old elementary school building, abandoned last year, will be torn down during the coming summer. Bids for dismantling the building, hauling away the material, cleaning up and filling the site will be solicited soon.

Board members stipulated that conditions of the sale of land adjacent to the Pelkie School include payment of all surveying or legal fees by the purchasers. Bids of $200 from Elmer Lyytikainen of Maywood, Ill., and of $100 from Paul Tahminen of Pelkie were accepted, with the understanding that the sale be completed quickly on cash terms.

Board president Onnie K. Koskinen proposed that proceeds from sale of this land be placed in a building fund.

The resolution calling for 100 per cent state reimbursement for school transportation expenses was passed after Superintendent E. E. Erickson stated that during the past few years the state has reimbursed individual school districts for approximately 82 per cent of the expense incurred in transporting students to and from school. He said total bus transportation costs at Baraga run about $17,000 a year, so if 100 per cent reimbursement were granted, this would free approximately $3,400 for use in other phases of the school program.

Waino Maki, school custodian, reported that gas consumption at the Pelkie School has been cut considerably after the hot water heater was connected directly to the boiler instead of running on gas all the time. Payment of the gas bills were authorized, pending an adjustment on gas consumed before the connection was changed.

Noting an insurance engineer's recommendation that a fire escape be installed at the Pelkie School, Maki told the board that, during fire drills, all children housed on both floors of the school can be evacuated within one minute. Erickson said there had been no fire marshal inspection of the school for some time, but added that the building has been deemed quite fire resistant.

Application was made to the federal government for tuition payment for Indian students who live on non-taxable land, in lieu of local tax receipts.

A meeting between members of the salary and welfare committee and representatives of the teachers was set up for this week to discuss wage and longevity details for next year.

Erickson suggested that the board consider a proposal similar to the one accepted by the L'Anse board, whereby the schools would not press for their entire millage allotment but would agree to drop the millage requirements to a point where the tax yield would approximate the collections if there had been no increase in state equalized valuations recently imposed by the State Tax Commission. Action on the proposal was deferred until a formal appeal is made to the board.

educational program. Erickson noted that small schools in low population areas incur heavier per-pupil expenses because transportation costs than schools in populous metropolitan areas.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the chairmen of the education committee of both the Senate and Legislature.

Application For Equipment Erickson reviewed the Baraga application for $1,300 worth of materials available through the National Defense Education Act, of which the school will pay 40 per cent and the government the remaining 60 per cent. This year's purchases, if final approval is received, will include a movie projector, tape recorder and foreign language records.

During the past three years a large amount of equipment used in chemistry, physics and biology has been acquired through the NDEA. Erickson also told the board that he keeps a close watch on equipment listings from federal surplus stores at Escanaba and Jackson, but added that, as a rule, the schools which are closer to the outlet stores get first choice on most items.

Gas Consumption Lower Waino Maki, school custodian, reported that gas consumption at the Pelkie School has been cut considerably after the hot water heater was connected directly to the boiler instead of running on gas all the time. Payment of the gas bills were authorized, pending an adjustment on gas consumed before the connection was changed.

Noting an insurance engineer's recommendation that a fire escape be installed at the Pelkie School, Maki told the board that, during fire drills, all children housed on both floors of the school can be evacuated within one minute. Watchtower Meetings Set For Negaunee

NEGAUNEE — Ronald T. Soliday of New York City, traveling minister and special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, will be in Negaunee this week to supervise the training of local ministers.

Tonight at 6:30 Soliday will meet with ministers who are entrusted with specific duties within the congregation and who serve the needs of the individual minister. At 7:30 the local Ministry School and Christian Field Service meeting will be held.

Group Bible studies are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights.

At 8 Saturday night, Soliday will discuss and compare Bible translations with the congregation. A 30-minute discussion will be held regarding new Bible truths learned by Bible scholars in recent months.

Climaxing his visit, Soliday will deliver a talk entitled "Is Your Destiny in Your Own Making?" at 3 Sunday afternoon, which will be followed by a regular Watchtower study.

Meetings will be held at Kingdon Hall, corner of Tobin and Jackson Sts. The public is invited to all sessions.

Heart Stamp Program Told By Auxiliary

ISHPEMING — Mrs. Donald Krook, president of the IshpeMING American Legion Auxiliary, announced that Wednesday's regular meeting will start at 8 p. m. instead of 7:30 because of Ash Wednesday.

Each member of the auxiliary has received a sheet of heart stamps and is asked to make contributions in order to make the program a success. Contributions may be given direct or sent to the auxiliary to be sent in from the unit.

Funds from the heart stamps will be used to further install heating plants and fire safety installations in the various buildings at Otter Lake, according to fire laws.

Plans will be discussed for initiation of new members and tiny, too, promotional and junior membership certificates will be presented at that time.

Mrs. Frank Sarvello, Wolverine Girls' State chairman, will announce the name of the delegate who will attend Girls' State in June. During this meeting Mrs. Arnold Anderson, Americanism chairman, will conduct a test on Americanism.

A social hour will follow. Mrs. Clifford Jackson is chairman of the hostess committee.

Dear Abby...

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You told a reader that it was poor manners to use a toothpick in public. I agree with you. But why bother with that when every day millions of so-called refined people commit a far more grievous social error by breathing the air with stinking cigarette and cigar smoke? If a person picks his teeth in public, those who won't like it can always look away. But if someone lights a cigarette or a smelly cigar, those who don't like it can either lump it or leave the room.

DEAR DETESTS: You ratted the right name! I have had dogs, cats, fish, birds, and now I have a white rat, but I am still lonely. If anyone wants to trade a brother or sister for a house-broken white rat, it is a deal.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day and see where kids complain about their brothers and sisters. I hope they see this. I am an only child and I would give anything for a brother or sister. I am very lonely. I have had dogs, cats, fish, birds, and now I have a white rat, but I am still lonely. If anyone wants to trade a brother or sister for a house-broken white rat, it is a deal.

ONLY CHILD, AGE NINE

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle something once and for all? Is it proper to tip the owner of a beauty shop if she has done your hair? I was told that you are supposed to tip only the employees and never the owner.

IN DOUBT
DEAR IN: When in doubt, offer a tip. If the owner of the shop refuses it, say "Thank you" and forget it. If this is embarrassing, you'll be embarrassed only once, which is better than being in a constant state of doubt.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GREG: Take care of your character and your reputation will take care of itself!

Sunday Closing Law Out In Berrien County

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Berrien County supervisors voted 43 to 2 to exempt the county from observance of Michigan's so-called Sunday closing law which takes effect March 28. Berrien thus joins Allegan, Cass Huron and St. Joseph counties in exercising their option.
