

City's Electric Plant Bond Issue Okayed By State Finance Group

Formal approval of the Marquette request to issue revenue bonds totaling $3,775,000 to cover the construction of a steam electric plant has been given by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

In its notification to the city, the commission said it "heretofore issues an order, granting the requested permission for the City of Marquette to revenue bonds, authorized by the ordinance of the city, adopted Jan. 14, 1963, for paying the cost of extending, enlarging and improving the existing electric utility system of the City of Marquette."

The finance commission said it granted the approval after determining that the proposed bonds would comply with state statutes.

Notice of Sale Okayed

In the same order, the form of notice of sale was approved for publication. It will appear in publications normally used for such purposes, city officials said.

Bids will be taken when arranged for by the financial advisors of the city, Kenower, McArthur & Co. of Detroit.

Kelley In Marquette Area

Oddly enough, notification of the approval of the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for the bond issue came while its chairman, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, was in Marquette.

Kelley spent the afternoon in Marquette yesterday and last night addressed the Marquette County Law Enforcement Officers Association at its meeting in Three Lakes (see other local story).

In announcing approval of the Marquette bond issue, Kelley, on behalf of the finance commission, said:

"Approved in the amount of $3,775,000 were electric utility revenue bonds, Series II" for the City of Marquette.

"The proceeds of the sale of this issue of bonds will be used to extend, enlarge and improve the existing electric utility system of the City of Marquette.

Specifically, this includes the acquisition and development of site, the purchase of a turbo-generator, condenser with accessories, steam generating unit, boiler feed pumps, feedwater heaters, deaerating heaters, air compressors, circulating water pumps, evaporator, electrical equipment, crane, controls, substructure, piping, circulating water pump, elevator, coal handling equipment, ash handling equipment, superstructure, turbo-generator foundation.

Run To 1987

"Also for the acquisition and development of piping, oil storage and handling equipment, intake structure, traveling water screen, circulating water piping, backwash pump, power wiring, and substation foundation and coal handling structures. The bonds will run until 1987."

Other members of the Municipal Finance Commission are Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer; Billie S. Farnum, auditor general; and Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction.

Plans To Strengthen '63 Community Chest Drive Told By Council

Plans for strengthening the 1963 United Marquette Community Chest drive were announced today by the United Marquette Community Chest Council.

Last year the community chest drive raised only 75.8 per cent of the campaign goal of $57,000, following a trend begun several years ago.

This year council members plan to put forth a final effort to make the chest drive succeed. Adopting an attitude of "We've got to make 'er go," council members said they've begun planning well in advance for a stronger chest drive this fall.

Meeting this week, the council appointed a consultant committee of local businessmen to study past drives and make recommendations for revitalizing this year's drive.

In another effort to strengthen the program, an assistant drive chairman will be appointed this year. The 1963 chairman and his assistant will be announced this month.

James H. Luke, vice president of the council, said: "We realize the tough financial situation that community chest recipient agencies are in. We know that they can't do their job without a full budget and we hope that with the help of the consultant committee and the drive chairman we'll be able to go over the top of the quota this year."

"Otherwise, the recipient agencies may be forced to put on individual fund drives, which would defeat the purpose of a united drive."

Budgets Adjusted

Recipient agencies submit a budget, which is then adjusted by the community chest council.

However, last year agencies supported by the United Marquette Community Chest received only 69.84 per cent of the adjusted budget and a agencies which received contributions from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base received slightly higher totals.

Recipient agencies are Visting Nurse Association, Family Service Society, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Michigan United Fund, Catholic Social Services, American Red Cross and Women's Relief Corps.

Consultant Committee

Consultant committee members were chosen by the council as a cross-section of the community and leaders in local business.

The committee will meet on Thursday, June 6 at 4 p.m. in the Union National Bank Lounge with the council. Committee members will then break up into groups to study organization of the drive, the payroll deductions plan and the commercial and industrial drives. They will make recommendations to the council at monthly meetings.

Members of the consultant committee are: Allan F. Olson, Cliffs Dow Chemical Co.; Elmer K. Carlson, Lake Shore, Inc.; Harlan Larson, Downtown Motel; Kenneth W. Brenner, Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railroad Co.; W. H. Treloar, The Mining Journal.

School Census Slated In County This Month

In accordance with state statute, the Marquette County school census is being taken this month.

G. Vance Hiney, Negaunee county school superintendent, said the statute requires that each school year a school census be taken in each school district of the state. This school census must be taken during the last 20 days of May.

Each school district board of education is required to employ a census enumerator or enumerators whose duty it is to make a house to house canvass and list all children from birth to age 20.

All persons were reminded by Hiney to expect the census enumerator during the latter part of May and to cooperate fully with him.

All the information obtained is held in confidence by the school, he said.

Purpose Explained

"The purpose of the state school census is to determine the number of children in each age group from birth to 20 years of age as an index of the possible service to be rendered by the schools and of the extent of the requirements under the compulsory education laws as a basis for planning physical, instruction, and financial needs, and as a means for distributing primary school interest fund moneys," Hiney said.

Each school district is responsible for locating and maintaining records of the children within its jurisdiction.

Furthermore, it is the responsibility of the intermediate superintendent of schools to keep duplicate school census records in his office and to make a complete census report to the State Department of Public Instruction, Hiney added.

WDMJ Slates Big Coverage For AF Day

WDMJ, The Mining Journal radio station, will broadcast almost continuously from sign-on until early afternoon from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base Saturday, Armed Forces Day.

Base officials anticipate that up to 15,000 people will attend the Armed Forces Day Open House Saturday.

The WDMJ broadcast will be controlled from a studio set up in the dining room of the officers club. Through recording and remote transmitter facilities, events from other areas of the base will be broadcast.

WDMJ Program Manager Eldon W. Wallace said broadcasts will originate from a helicopter and from a T33 jet trainer.

Include Daily Briefing
Broadcasts will also originate from the NCO Club, SAGE (Semi Automatic Ground Environment) headquarters, the 56th USAF Hospital, MacDonald Elementary School, the F-101 Voodoo jet simulator, the base weather tower, the flight line and base operations headquarters.

A highlight of the broadcast from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base will be a broadcast of the daily briefing that Col. Richard W. Davania, North American Air Defense Command commander at Sawyer, receives on the world situation, both political and weather.

Comprehensive Report
The daily briefing is considered one of the most comprehensive reports on world conditions. "Of course, any material of classified nature will be deleted from the broadcast," Wallace noted.

The Armed Forces Day opening ceremonies at 10:30 a. m. also will be broadcast, Wallace said.

Five members of the WDMJ staff will be at Sawyer Saturday to make the broadcast.

"This is how we did it 45 years ago," exclaims Burt Hadley of Marquette, veteran World War I fighter pilot. Hadley was shown the operational facilities of the 62nd Fighter Squadron by F-101B "Voodoo" pilot Capt. Irving Buck during his recent visit to K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.—(USAF photo).

1st War Pilot Reviews Jets At Sawyer

This year's Armed Forces Day theme, "Power for Peace Over the Years," is personified by L. Burt Hadley, 420 E. Hewitt Ave., Marquette, who was a World War I aviator in the National Army of the U. S.

Hadley visited K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base this week in connection with Saturday's Armed Forces Day open house. The veteran pilot was briefed on the operations of the 62nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron by Capt. Irving Buck, who described the capabilities of the F-101B "Voodoo" flown by the 62nd.

Progress Noted
As he squeezed into the cockpit of the sleek, supersonic jet, Hadley commented on the progress made in the "flying machine business" since the day when he flew Nieuport 28's, Janics and Moran monoplanes.

He joined the armed forces in Chicago during November 1917 at the age of 20. Hadley received his commission at Call Field, Wichita Falls, Texas in May 1918. He saw service in France for several months before the Armistice.

A resident of Marquette since 1924, Mr. Hadley is in charge of contract sales for the Soo Hardware Co.

Romney Raps Ford-Canton Bill Critics

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney lashed out Wednesday at criticism of his plans to sign the Ford-Canton strike benefits bill.

For the third day in a row Romney was challenged to explain how his former employer, American Motors Corp., or he—as a stockholder—would benefit from the bill becoming law.

The Governor reacted sharply by calling his latest critic, former Gov. John Swanson, a "hypocrite." He declared:

"This is a political trick to hold us responsible for legislation prepared during and supported by the previous administration."

Demand
Swanson issued a statement demanding that Romney make a full

Isola will be stationed in the Marquette City Hall, on the second floor, on the third Monday of each month. Isola said this is a tentative schedule.

The DAV representative also will make monthly visits to Calumet, Ontonagon, Hancock, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Ignace, Munising, Menominee and Escanaba.

Munising Stop Not Certain
The exact date for Isola's appearance in Munising has not been determined.

Each Tuesday and Friday Isola is stationed at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Iron Mountain, where he maintains his headquarters.

Isola said home calls can be made when necessary. Arrangements for home calls may be made by contacting him at the Iron Mountain VA Hospital.

"Although this service is being provided by the DAV," Isola stressed, "the service is available to all veterans and their dependents."

60 Persons Attend Tourist Hospitality Clinics In City

Sixty Marquette area sales and service people attended sales clinics yesterday in the Graveraet High School to kick off the 1963 tourist season. The clinic, sponsored by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, is associated with the Upper Peninsula "Pays to Know" hospitality campaign which is being conducted by the Upper Michigan Tourist Association and Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

MSU Tourist and Resort Specialist Clare Gunn of East Lansing said an extensive survey conducted last summer indicated U.P. people did not oversell or mislead the tourist—but that they were not doing the best possible job of directing visitors to attractions or utilizing available literature. The Marquette area sales and service people were given booklets listing many local attractions and suggesting techniques for servicing the traveling public.

Farmer Hurt In Price War, Speaker Says

A reported "invasion" of Upper Peninsula dairy markets by "foreign" out-state dairy firms, has drawn the attention of Michigan's largest farm organization.

Walter Wightman, Lansing, president of the 70,000 farm family Michigan Farm Bureau, told an audience of Upper Peninsula farmers and newsmen in Hancock, that "everyone gets hurt in a price war, but mostly the dairy farmer who furnishes the products involved." A large number of farmers from this area attended the meeting.

The farm leader praised the action of the Michigan Legislature in setting up an interim committee to study dairy pricing practices.

Engineering Show At Tech On May 16-18

HOUGHTON—Michigan Tech's 1963 engineering show, scheduled May 16-18, will provide a perfect prologue to the 1963 Michigan Week observance May 19-25.

The Michigan Week theme this year is "Science and Research for Our Future." Tech's Engineering Show is a bigger-than-life exhibit of just that—from the worlds of both the student and practicing engineers and scientists.

The show is organized and sponsored every other year by the students. Its purpose is to bring together concepts of science and engineering on both the student and professional levels.

Featuring industrial and student exhibits, it has grown to one of the largest public exhibitions in the Upper Peninsula. More than 25,000 visitors attended the last show in 1961.

For 1963 a dozen industrial exhibitors have already signed up for space, and more than 25 student groups are expected to participate. The number of actual exhibits will be much greater, however, for many participants exhibit a variety of displays.

The industrial groups that will participate are: the National Aeronautics and Space Administration; Honeywell of Minneapolis; Ford Motor Co.; Harnischfeger of Milwaukee; Consumers Power Co. of Jackson; Collins Radio of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Cutler-Hammer of Appleton, Wis.; Michigan Bell; General Motors Corp.; Boeing of Seattle; DuPont of Wilmington, Delaware; and Arzonne National Laboratory of Arron, Ill.

Tech's first engineering show was held in 1931 for 400 select guests admitted by invitation only. Exhibits included a maze of electronic gadgetry, mostly in the form of games, puzzles and displays of interesting phenomena.

The second, two years later, was open to the public. It was held biennially until World War II, then reorganized in 1951.

This year, the show will be open to the public from 6:30 p. m. until 10 p. m. on Thursday and Friday, May 16 and 17, and from 1:5 p. m. and 7:10 p. m. on Saturday, May 18.

It will include both indoor and outdoor exhibits. Indoor exhibit areas will be in the Memorial Union, Ores Research Building, Sherman Gym and Koenig Hall. More than 135,000 square feet of outdoor exhibit area will be available on the campus, from the Administration Building to Sherman Gym.

'Rule Of Law' Outlined For County Officers By Kelley

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, chief law enforcer of Michigan, spoke to the Marquette County Law Enforcement Association last night about a mutual interest, the "rule of law."

Speaking at Salvador's Restaurant, Three Lakes, Kelley pointed out that under the rule of law, everyone is protected by rights granted to them the day they were born. In contrast is the rule of men, under which the people who are in power make their own laws.

Meredith Expense Noted
As an example of the rule of law, he noted that the Federal Government has spent up to $50 million to insure that the rights of James Meredith, the Negro student who entered the University of Mississippi last year, are enforced.

However, Kelley said, there will always be people who want their personal interests, the rule of man, to prevail. "The rule of law prevails only if people fight for it every day," he said.

He noted that circuit judges must follow the law in making their decisions, whether they personally agree with it or not.

Duties Described
Noting that few people understand the duties of the attorney general, Kelley described the duties of the state's chief law enforcer.

The attorney general has 70 assistant attorneys general, all lawyers who are career civil servants, to help him carry out the duties of the office, he said.

In addition, the attorney general works with the prosecuting attorneys in each of the 83 counties to enforce the law.

Besides being the chief law enforcer, the attorney general is the chief advocate of the state, Kelley said.

"People usually think that I'm the Governor's lawyer, just as if I worked for a private firm. This is not so; my job is to represent the eight million citizens of Michigan," Kelley said.

"I wear nobody's cloak except for what I feel is in the best interest of the citizens of the state," Kelley declared.

As the chief advocate of the state, Kelley noted that he went before the U. S. Supreme Court to obtain a preliminary injunction to sustain the state of Illinois and the Cook County sanitary division from taking what he termed "a dangerous amount of water from Lake Michigan."

"The attorney general is not the Governor's lawyer. The attorney general's superior is the constitution," Kelley asserted.

Legislative Adviser
A third duty of the attorney general is to be the legal advisor to the legislature and the executive branch of government. Kelley noted that the executive branch includes the 170 agencies created by the legislature.

A fourth job of the attorney general is called the attorney general's opinion. Kelley explained that his office issues opinions to all persons that it is charged with advising. Kelley said that since he took office Jan. 2, 1962, 160 opinions have been issued by his office.

Johnson Head Of County's Police Group

Arthur Johnson, Gwinn village marshal, was elected president of the Marquette County Law Enforcement Association at an annual meeting last night held at Salvador's Restaurant in Three Lakes.

Johnson succeeds Donald R. Small, Marquette, Bureau of Pardons and Paroles, who was elected to the association's board of directors.

Others elected to the board of directors are Russell Owen, Republic, State Department of Conservation, and Emil Huff, Ishpeming, chief of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. security police.

McCormick Treasurer
Don McCormick, former Marquette chief of police and now assistant county civil defense director, was elected treasurer, and Frank Marshall, Gwinn, department of conservation, was named secretary.

Elected first vice president was Pat Ellsworth, Marquette State Prison vocational school director, and named second vice president was Leslie Ruohomaki, Marquette, county juvenile probation officer.

Barmore Sentenced To Life

MUSKOGON (AP) — Herman Barmore, first person ever to serve as his own attorney in a Michigan murder trial, Wednesday was sentenced to life imprisonment in the 1955 slaying of Illinois boy scout Peter Gorham.

Circuit Judge John VanderWal decreed the term just one week after a jury convicted Barmore a second time of second degree murder.

The 49-year-old odd jobs drifter submitted motions to set aside and vacate the latest conviction. Judge VanderWal took the petitions under advisement and indicated that Prosecutor Harry Knudsen would have two weeks in which to prepare rebuttals.

Reiterates Claim
Barmore reiterated his claim of innocence as the judge ordered him returned to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

He based his motions on grounds that the prosecutor failed to prove a crime was committed in the Gorham boy's death, failed to prove a cause of death, failed to prove what weapon was used—

Four Vehicles Involved In Mishaps Here

Four vehicles were involved and a motorist was ticketed, but no one was injured, in a pair of traffic collisions which occurred in Marquette yesterday.

At 8:05 a. m. a car being driven south on Hebard Ct. by Anthony S. Guizzetti, 215 Gold St., Negaunee, struck an automobile operated by Garth E. Jones, 1921 Bancroft St., Marquette, who was traveling east on W. College Ave.

Officers said Guizzetti drove out into the intersection, saying he didn't see Jones' car approaching.

Right-Of-Way Violation
Extensive damage occurred to the right front of Guizzetti's car, a 1949 sedan, and to the left side of Jones' vehicle, a 1956 sedan. Both vehicles were driven from the scene under their own power.

City police ticketed Guizzetti for a right-of-way violation.

The other mishap took place at 5:50 yesterday afternoon when a car being backed into a parking place on the south side of W. Bluff St. by Janice L. Close, 118 N. Third St., got in too close and struck the left rear bumper of a parked automobile owned by Charles J. Reichel, 512 Oak St.

The mishap occurred just east of N. Third St. and resulted in minor damage to the right side of her 1963 four-door sedan. Apparently no damage occurred to the parked car.

Temperature Dip Follows Fog In City

Northerly winds that were colder than the lake temperature created fog along Lake Superior yesterday that reduced visibility most of the afternoon.

Clear skies were reported in all other areas of the county yesterday, but fog was thick over the Marquette harbor all afternoon and it also crept into the downtown area.

Rain, which amounted to .26 of an inch Tuesday night and yesterday morning, ended at 9:30 a. m. Then cold northerly winds moved in across Lake Superior, bringing a temperature drop to 42 at 11:30 a. m.

Charles Baldwin, meteorologist at the U. S. Weather Bureau here, explained that fog resulted because the northerly winds were colder than the water temperature, which is now up to 40 degrees. Visibility was worst in the downtown area in the mid-afternoon, when it was down to three-fourths of a mile.

Fog was observed at the Weather Bureau station from noon to 3 p. m. and again in the late afternoon.

High Here
High temperature yesterday was 62 at 3 a. m., although the mercury rose to 61 after the temperature drop, at 4 p. m. High temperature at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base was 70 and at the Marquette County Airport in Negaunee Township it was 65.

There's a chance of scattered showers tonight and tomorrow. High temperature tomorrow should range from the mid-50's along the lake to the upper 60's inland, but cooler temperatures are expected Saturday.

As the moon eclipses the face of the sun July 20 and 21, 1963, it will bring momentary night to the northern islands of Japan, the North Pacific, and parts of

Two Iron River High School seniors have been appointed to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., and will report there for duty Monday, June 24. The Village of Lake Linden has denounced dormitory regulations for male students in state-supported colleges as "exorbitant, over-protective, discriminatory" and denying civil rights. By resolution—copies of which have been sent to Gov. George Romney and to lawmakers in Washington and Lansing—it asks that state-financed colleges restrict campus housing of male students to the first academic year only, that such schools be required to inform freshman male students how to select suitable off-campus housing when eligible and that students, faculty members and other employees have the right to free speech and press without being penalized.

Raymond L. Krusic, 26, owner and operator of a bowling alley and former bank employee, has been appointed temporary city clerk and treasurer by the Manistique City Council. The appointment following receipt of a letter of resignation from W. A. Moreau, 33, which the council did not accept. Moreau, who still may return to the job, resigned after council criticism of municipal accounting. He acted as city manager since the resignation of John Murray in 1962 until March 25, when Clarence Metz was named to the post. Metz left after three weeks and a retired state policeman, John Carstensen, was named acting manager.

About 25 Brimley High School students picketed the school as that community's controversy over failure to retire five teachers continued. Superintendent Burl Snorf said the students walked up and down the road in front of the school with signs carrying such slogans as "Unfair to students." Classes, however, continued in session, with the 25 involved in the picketing being suspended indefinitely. The Brimley Board of Education decided earlier this spring not to renew contracts for five teachers.

Sawyer Air Base Fire Department Prepared For All Emergencies

When an alarm sounds at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, it's not always to send jet pilots scrambling to waiting aircraft.

In fact, there's one alarm that is so distinctive that personnel throughout this Air Defense Command base respond in one way or another.

90 Persons In Unit
Perhaps the greatest response comes from one of the most unheralded groups at Sawyer—the base fire department.

This unit, which has about 90 officers, airmen and civilians assigned as a fire-fighting team, has the responsibility and the capability for combating any type of fire erupting on the base at any time of

Today's Special Story

1,500 Families Protected
Once the alarm is sounded, it could mean that life, property or equipment are in danger. All three play an important part in the day-to-day mission of the ADC and SAC units assigned to the base. In addition, a community of some 1,500 families in the base housing area is protected by the professional firefighting techniques of the base fire department should the need ever arise. This also includes rendering assistance to local fire departments upon request.

Receive Constant Training
To fulfill this awesome responsibility and to provide crash and rescue personnel during times of emergencies, men assigned to the base station receive constant training in the use of modern equipment and in the various techniques for preventing injury or damage during a crisis.

Firefighting personnel, who maintain 13 pieces of equipment, plus an HH3B rescue helicopter, also know the many forcible entry points on all types of aircraft which enable them to rescue personnel and valuable cargo.

The alarm, when it rings gets quick response—24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Observatories Seek Clear, Dark Skies
Observatories are on the move. As cities grow, both new and old seek better locations for stargazing.

Astronomers are particular about the spot they choose to study the heavens. Cloudy or dusty places are taboo; so are well-lighted cities. They prefer high, secluded vantages with moderate temperatures and many clear nights.

Possible sites for a new observatory, especially in developed countries, are more intensively surveyed than ever before, says the National Geographic Society. Three years of study preceded the selection of Kitt Peak, in a remote section of southern Arizona, as the home of the new National Observatory.

Russian astronomers face the same problem of location—even in the vastness of the U.S.S.R. Their giant 236-inch scope, scheduled for completion in 1970, may scan the skies from desolate Siberia.

Hotels Banned
Japan's 74-inch telescope atop Mt. Chikurin enjoys fair weather. A range of hills blocks the glare from neighboring cities. The Government has banned the building of hotel in the scenic area. Only lodges and youth hostels are permitted.

England has shifted its famed Greenwich Observatory from the prime meridian to the ancient castle of Herstmonceux in the clear air of Sussex. The 98-inch Isaac Newton telescope, when completed, will not have to peer through the heavy fogs that often mask the London metropolitan area.

The United States Naval Observatory has transferred its 40-inch reflector from Washington, D. C., to the crystal-clear atmosphere of northern Arizona. A 60-inch will soon join it.

The Hopkins Observatory of Williams College in Massachusetts, oldest in the country, also made a recent trip. Workmen jacked the stone building with its seven-inch refractor onto steel rails and hauled it to a vacant corner of the campus to make room for new dormitories.

Though small by today's standards, Hopkins has influenced science and humanities in its 123-year history. Ralph Waldo Emerson sang its praises:

"This is the road to the stars. Every fixture in the building, every nail and pin, has a direct reference to the Milky Way, the fixed stars, and the nebulae, and we leave Massachusetts and the Americas and history outside the door when we come in."

The heart of the fire department at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base is the alarm room. Here all reports of fires are first received, and the alarm room operators, such as A2C Bruce Zinkle (above), quickly dispatch the necessary equipment.

The Sawyer Base fire department's HH-3B helicopter is used to perform rescue and fire fighting operations in conjunction with crash rescue vehicles, as pictured above.

Firemen shown here are practicing second story fire fighting and rescue operations at Sawyer AFB. (USAF photos by AIC Robert Kingsley).

6th Term Seen For Sen. Byrd

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—The consensus at the black tie dinner honoring Harry Flood Byrd's 30 years of continuous service in the U. S. Senate was that the Virginia gentleman apple grower will run for re-election in 1964.

"If he doesn't, all hell will break loose in Virginia among the people who want to succeed him," one Old Dominion official put it. Most Effective In U. S.

And if that happens, the famous Byrd political organization—the most effective but the loosest-knit political machine in the United States, built around the personality of one leader—might well fall apart.

Byrd will be 76 in June. If he runs he will be re-elected, and he would be 83 at the end of another term.

But as Virginius Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, said in unanimous applause: "I hope he runs for another term in 1964. Any man who can climb Old Rag Mountain every year, leading young men, is able to serve a sixth term."

Byrd did announce that he would retire in 1958 at the end of his fourth term, when he was a mere 71. But all his cohorts and followers demanded that he run again. And in that connection, Vice President Lyndon Johnson told this story:

Among those who went down to Richmond to make impassioned speeches that Byrd should change his decision not to run was the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla. As ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, Kerr might succeed to the chairmanship if Chairman Byrd retired.

Three days after Kerr pulled all his oratorical stops in an appeal that Byrd must run for re-election, the withdrawal was withdrawn. And the crestfallen Kerr came to Johnson, who was then majority leader to ask, "Why do you reckon Harry changed his mind?"

Johnson in turn asked his long-time desk-mate Byrd and got the cryptic reply, "I just couldn't let Bob down."

"It was the only time," Kerr commented later, "that Harry Byrd ever paid a damned bit of attention to any of my speeches."

Ham And Champagne Dinner
These were just a couple of the highlights at the Smithfield (Virginia) ham and (imported) champagne dinner which the Reader's Digest gave for some 300 of Byrd's colleagues and admirers to mark the 30th anniversary of his original appointment to the U. S. Senate.

"Just think of it," said the Digest's executive editor Hobart Lewis, who presided. "Sen. Byrd has been down here holding his finger in the dyke all this time. We wanted to title an article about him, 'Profile in Courage,' but decided not to."

Bernard Baruch, now 93, came up from South Carolina to honor the 75-year-old Byrd with this tribute: "If Diogenes had lived in this age, he would have put out his lantern and gone home, happy to have found his honest man."

Tribute From Dirksen
There were about as many Republican senators at the dinner as Democratic senators, which was only to be expected. Because that's the kind of following and appeal Harry Byrd has.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen spoke for the Republicans, and also as a Virginian, because, as he said, his opponents back home in Illinois had accused him of being a "fugitive" when he built a house near Leesburg, Va., "a $350,000 estate," they charged, though it was all on one floor.

"The Senate has just conferred on Winston Churchill the citizenship of the United States," said Dirksen. "We have no titles in America, but we have a nobility which has to be earned. And you (Sen. Byrd) are of the nobility of free men."

There were other tributes galore which the senator modestly said later he did not deserve, though they filled his heart.

At the end they gave the senator a golden apple because, as Lewis said:

"We hope all your endeavors will bear fruit and that all of your days will be golden." "I hope these can be raised on my trees," said Byrd. Somebody had pointed out earlier that in all his years as an apple grower, Byrd had never taken one soil conservation payment from the government and had never sold the government one apple.

That characterized him as well as anything said all evening.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — Today you can denounce me as a shill for the welfare state because I believe it's time we spent a little dough on our children's education.

President Kennedy has asked for $1.3 billion in assistance to elementary and secondary schools, which would seem a trifling amount for a country committed to keeping Morocco's King Hassan shoulder-deep in Cadillacs. But the word from Capitol Hill, not surprising in view of Congress' congenial shortsightedness in such matters, is that the bill hasn't a chance.

The usual fatheaded reasons are advanced for this dark prophecy, such as that the country is bankrupt and that we should solve the problem on the local level. If Big Business or Big Labor wanted something, of course, these reasons would be dismissed forthwith and Congress would vote the hand-out, whistling as it worked. But kids do not vote and rarely come up with political contributions in five figures.

Trained Brains Needed
The situation is heavy with irony. In an era when everybody is bellyaching about bolstering the economy and worrying lest the Russians beat us to the moon, few seem interested in shaping the raw material which would contribute most to both the economy and the space race. This consists of the kids now studying borrowed textbooks in slum-like schools under ill-paid teachers.

Over the long haul, higher wages and higher profits are not achieved by illiterate and badly trained pupils. John Glenn and the astronauts are heroes partly because their country could afford to teach them a few things. Hopefully, bright kids will always make their own way, but it's poor economics for the nation to continue to toss into discard the boys and girls who require only a little more attention and better facilities to grow into people with a contribution to make.

'Just A Loan'
Economic experts are often wrong and mostly unintelligible, but nobody can quarrel with the thesis advanced by Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Heller insists that "an investment in education yields at least as much and probably a good deal more than a business investment in plant and equipment." And he can produce figures to prove that the country's long-term economic advance has been due in large part to America's rising level of education.

The point is that grants to education are really self-liquidating. Or, as Sen. Wayne Morse, (D., Ore.), puts it, "Just a loan to the present generation that will be paid back later in terms of higher economic output for the nation."

More High Schooling Needed
As things look now, President Kennedy's $2 billion college aid probably will pass. That's fine. But what is the good of grander colleges with brighter professors drawn by higher salaries if no help is given to the project of getting kids ready for those colleges? The boy whose progress has been stalled by a perfunctory high school education is not going to set the campus on fire at Yale if, indeed, Yale, lets him in.

Jerome B. Wiesner, the presidential science adviser, acknowledges that the urgent immediate need is for more trained graduate students. But he points out that what will be needed a decade from now will be better trained elementary and high school students.

This is a country that can afford to give $750 million to Indonesia's President Sukarno so he and his pals can live like an association of emperors. We can spend $50 billion a year on guns, and $4.5 billion in foreign aid to keep our allies on our side. There ought to be an odd buck available to teach Johnny to read.

Dear Abby....

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am married to the coldest woman this side of Alaska. I'll bet she hasn't kissed me in two years. I met a cute little woman who is just what the doctor ordered. Am I justified? A man is not made of wood, you know.

ONLY HUMAN DEAR ONLY: I KNOW a man is not made of wood. (Just his head.) The cute little woman may be "just what the doctor ordered," but she is NOT what fortune dealt you nor what your pastor delivered. Forget her, and try to thaw out your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a factory with many girls. One day last week one of the girls had what she called a "Charlie horse" in the calf of her leg. Our foreman (a married man of about 55) said his wife got them all the time and he knew how to get rid of them. Well, this girl (she is also married) let the foreman massage her leg! That evening all the other girls went home on time and the foreman asked this one girl with the "Charlie horse" to stay. She got an hour's "overtime" pay. What do you think about that?

WORKING GIRL DEAR WORKING GIRL: I would have to know more about the girl, the foreman, the "overtime"—and you!

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that women cannot bear to see a happy, moderately well-to-do bachelor enjoy his freedom without wanting to ruin everything for him by getting him married to a "lovely woman" (either herself) or a friend who is looking for a lifetime of support, or a father for her noisy, spoiled brats?

I am 41 and perfectly contented to remain a bachelor for the rest of my life. And I know many other bachelors who feel the same way. I wish these women would leave us happy, hard-working bachelors alone once we have refused their advances on the subject of marriage. You probably won't publish this, but if you do, sign me—J.

DEAR J: The next time a woman tries to interest you in marriage (for herself or a friend), recite your little speech to her and that will be all, brother!

Episcopal Women To Submit Thank Offerings Sunday

This Sunday will mark the spring "ingathering" of the United Thank Offering of the Women of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. UTO envelopes will be turned in during the 11 a. m. service on Sunday. This is the 74th year in which United Thank Offerings have been contributed by Episcopal women in support of the church's missionary work.

From very small beginnings at a triennial meeting of the church in 1880, the UTO idea has grown until it now embraces almost 100 per cent of Episcopal church women.

Funds provided annually help to build churches and other buildings, to buy books and supplies and to offer education through mission work among people in this country and foreign lands.

Episcopal women make their United Thank Offering twice a year — in the spring and in the fall.

Don't Skip Meals, U-M Advice To Weight-Watchers

ANN ARBOR — Wise weight-watchers don't skip meals, say dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Meal skipping, they report, often results in an overconsumption of calories because the dieter frequently eats snacks — such as desserts, candy and chocolate — when he has hunger impulses resulting from inadequate food intake. The number of calories in the snack generally outnumbers the calories which would have been consumed in a normal meal.

According to the U-M food specialists, there is only one satisfactory way to control body weight: change your eating habits by eating three well-planned meals a day.

The calorie-counter's meal should consist of smaller-than-average servings from a wide variety of choices. This list includes milk, lean meat, poultry, fish, eggs, cheese, fruits, vegetables, bread and butter. Rich foods such as desserts and gravies should be avoided except as an occasional treat.

Celery, cabbage, lettuce and other raw, green vegetables are excellent choices for snack foods because of their low calories count.

Unless only a few pounds are to be lost, the U-M dietitians warn that a doctor should be consulted before a weight reduction diet is undertaken.

However, developing sound eating habits based on three well-chosen meals a day remains the only satisfactory solution to maintaining weight, remind the U-M dietitians.

Lines from Lou's by ... maggie

Often we go to market and place a new line or something special that we're really excited about. And then it seems we wait and wait until the items come in. Naturally, this is the one item or group of items that take the longest, or the order is invalid or sent to the wrong store. We could compile a long list on all the things that go wrong, and usually does.

But it is true that good things are worth waiting for. And so finally ... that wonderful coordinate set from Koret of California is now in. In fact, it is being unpacked as I write this. The colors are in dainty pink or blue, and many of the items are in prints of those colors with a white background.

The group includes slim skirts in print or solid, jamaicas, jackets, sleeveless slippers, skirt, pedal pushers, slax, and other items. And don't forget the Koret of California bag group in the famous pop-corn sitch. We'll see you tomorrow at LOU'S in the center of Marquette.

This Week — 'Food-From-The-Wilds'

By MRS. INGRID BARTELLI (Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Michigan State University)

How would you fare if you had to depend for your food on what you could gather from the outdoors? Our reducing programs would be unnecessary. I'll bet. If I were to depend on what I could gather, the U.P. would be a good location and, next to berry time, springtime would be my next choice. As far as vegetables are concerned, we have our choice between the many wild greens and the "best," according to most folks, in wild mushrooms.

Certainly the "food-from-the-wild" we collect has little effect on the amount of grocery money we spend, but to gather it gives us legitimate cause to forget about gardening and spring house cleaning and take off for the woods.

Dandelion greens, when you can find nice tender leaves, before the bloom has set, are excellent raw in salads or cooked as greens. A better "spring tonic" you'll not find.

A lucky few know where to find crisp, tender, peppery-tasting water cress. Guard your secret patch well! Did you ever price precious perishable water cress in a store? Asparagus Substitute — Bracken "fiddle heads" (those are the fronds as they are curled when they first poke through the ground) are a fair substitute for asparagus. That's what some folks call it — wild asparagus. (Personally, I'm happy to have my asparagus bed in my garden.)

Wild leeks (some folks dig and dry them for year around use) and marsh marigold greens lure some collectors.

The springtime morsels probably bring more folks to the woods to "gather" than any other wild native plant. They're just beginning to come around this area, where we've been so badly in need of a warm rain. The more is an easy mushroom to identify and one you may wish to hunt. But be very sure you know what you're after — and learn from an authority — not just someone's word. Too many people are willing to pass out advice on mushrooms. There are many authentic books on native mushrooms. A most recent one, authored by Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith, is an inexpensive paperback pocket edition called "Some Common Mushrooms of Michigan's Parks and Recreation Areas," which was written for the Michigan Botanical Club.

We do have a set of mimeographed descriptions of the true and false morsels that are yours for the asking. Call CANAL 6-3508 or write to Mrs. Ingrid Bartelli, U. P. Extension Center, 700 W. Bluff St., Marquette.

Early Garden Crops — Because in the early springtime we're so hungry for something fresh from the garden, most of us with even a minimum amount of space plant some perennial that will provide "eating-from-the-garden" as soon as the snow is gone. Cultivated sorrel comes as early as anything, then chives, German celery and scallions, with asparagus and rhubarb following close behind. Most of these plants will come up year after year. Most gardeners toss in a few "very-early-garden" seeds, taking a chance on the weather for the first radishes, lettuce, spinach and peas.

Can't we be thankful that we live where the "out-of-doors" is all around us and where most of us can dig in the soil to try out our green thumb?

Outdoor Training Session Scheduled On Saturday By Timberlane Council

An outdoor training workshop for Girl Scout leaders and other interested adults is scheduled Saturday at the Marquette Tourist Park from 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Timberlane Council is sponsoring the "Show and Do" session, which is expected to attract people not only from this area but from several other counties, as well.

Those attending will meet at the Girl Scout "Little House" at 9:30 and then will be divided into smaller patrol units to facilitate individual instruction from the six trainers: Mrs. Eugene Cole, council president; Mrs. Russell Daisey, council director, and Mrs. Warren Smith, council training chairman; and Einar Lindquist and Charles Hannon, Ishpeming, and Sgt. Norris Shane, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, all registered members of Timberlane Council.

Learn Use Of Compass — Trainees will be taught the in's and out's of outdoor cooking, knotting and lashing, use of the compass, use of hatchet, axe and knife, and methods of erecting trail tents.

Women planning to attend are asked to bring an 18-inch length of rope and eating utensils and to dress for the weather. Food will be provided at noon.

A nominal registration fee will be required of those enrolling in the workshop, Mrs. Smith announced.

Max Fernekes Guest Artist Here Tuesday

Max Fernekes, nationally-noted artist from Mineral Point, Wis., will appear as a guest at the Lake Superior Creative Arts Association meeting scheduled next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in Parkview School.

Chiefly a water colorist, Fernekes is well-known in Wisconsin as a painter, but his fame extends even more widely. As guest artist in Marquette, he will present a lecture and demonstration, Mrs. G. C. Meyland reported today.

As an added feature, he is bringing with him some pottery by Wilhelm Ziegler and the wood carvings and wooden bowls of Henry Nohr. Both craftsmen also are from Mineral Point, famous in its own right for its "Shake Rag Street."

Legend Of Street — The old lead-mining community so named one of its streets because the Cornish miners would be called home from work by their wives, waving rags from the windows of the homes, which were close to the mines.

Fernekes, who will receive I.S.A.A. members Tuesday from 1 to 4 p. m. at the Downtowner Motel, has been described as one of the very few persons who set out to be an artist and did not let either the lure of creature comforts or the fear of insecurity divert him from his goal.

In fact, he and his wife, Ava (also an artist), who have been married over 28 years and helped put two daughters through college, have never had income from any source but painting. Although some of their work is commissioned, much of it is done on prospect.

Varied Talents — She paints faces and makes boy-and-girl figurines, while he specializes in water colors, particularly landscapes, but also makes linoleum block prints.

Fernekes has become singularly noted for his treatment of landscapes, which emanate a pale gold light, it has been reported. In addition, his drawing of buildings is considered unusually precise, while he may give just a general impression of hillside and tree, field and meadow.

Scenes he paints often are totally depopulated. Although animals appear now and then, human beings never do. The effect of this, according to one critic, is to give the viewer himself the feeling that he is the person on the land.

Fernekes' work has been shown frequently in Milwaukee art galleries, and Nohr's woods have won him acclaim at Wisconsin fairs and art shows. Ziegler, whose pottery venture is relatively new, has achieved a new glaze in turquoise which is said to have the translucence and opacity of the sea.

Progress In Solving Mining Problems In Upper Peninsula Noted By Attorney General

ISHPEMING — Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, in Marquette County yesterday to attend a county law enforcement officers meeting, declared that progress made since an attorney general's conference on iron ore problems last September has included two bills providing tax relief, more money for research and increased appropriations for geological surveys.

The attorney general called the conference at Northern Michigan University, Marquette, Sept. 21, 1962, to review problems affecting the iron ore industry.

Representatives of the three or more in the Upper Peninsula attended the conference to make recommendations which would aid the mining industry.

Bi-Partisan Cooperation

Kelley noted that progress made since the September conference has been the result of bi-partisan cooperation, as well as cooperation among mining and railroad companies.

Cooperation in Lansing stems from the feeling that rejuvenation of the Upper Peninsula's ore industry is important to the future of the entire state, Kelley said, adding that state and federal resources must be used to help mining companies develop low-grade ore.

One of the recommendations which came out of the attorney general's conference was that federal assistance should be obtained to finance research projects on iron ore beneficiation processes.

Kelley noted that as a result of conferences held this winter in Washington, D.C., the U.S. Bureau of Mines has announced that for the first time it will include in its budget funds for a continuing program of research in Upper Peninsula ores.

Grant For Tech Project

Also following the Washington meetings, it has been announced that Dr. M. E. Volin, professor at Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, has received a grant for a project for increased activities in search of more inexpensive utilization of U.P. ores, Kelley said.

Recommendations made at the attorney general's conference also pointed to the need for revamping of tax assessments on deep mine operations to make the assessments on a more even par with the tax of low-grade operations.

Kelley noted that two bills passed through bi-partisan cooperation in the Legislature this year will provide tax relief immediately upon becoming effective. (Both were signed into law yesterday by Gov. George Romney.)

House Bill 209 is intended to place mine tax rates at the same level as other property tax rates and its impact will be felt primarily on the Gogebic and Menominee Ranges, where mining property is now taxed at a rate far in excess of other property.

House Bill 635 is intended to encourage the agglomeration of underground ores by granting tax relief on mining properties from which all or a part of the ore is agglomerated. Its impact will be felt principally in Marquette County.

Another recommendation made by representatives of mining companies at the attorney general's conference was for increased appropriations for surveying and mapping of lands in the U.P.

Appropriations For Surveys

Kelley pointed to legislative appropriations for surveys to be made by the geological survey division of the State Department of Conservation which are double appropriations of past years.

Appropriations included $25,000 for a survey in Gogebic County and $25,000 for a survey in Marquette and Dickinson Counties. These state funds will be matched by federal funds, Kelley noted.

Another problem brought out at the attorney general's conference involved transportation costs for iron ore shipping, particularly by railroad.

Kelley noted that railroad rates are identical for carrying foreign ore from the Atlantic seaboard to blast furnaces in Pittsburgh, a distance of 200 miles, and for carrying domestic ore from Lake Erie ports to blast furnaces 70 miles away.

The attorney general's office is now making investigations prior to filing necessary legal actions with the Interstate Commerce Commission, of transportation rates which are prejudicial to Upper Peninsula ores.

Another recommendation which came out of the attorney general's office was the possibility of separation of mineral rights from surface rights and the requirement of an annual payment or fee on mineral rights.

Surface Owner Pays Taxes

Kelley noted that hundreds of thousands of acres of potential ore are not open for exploration because of present laws which make the surface owner pay all of the taxes. The mineral owner, who may live outside the state, pays no taxes and therefore has no interest in developing potential minerals, he said.

Kelley said the attorney general's office is working with mining companies, the department of conservation and the department of revenue on legislation which would solve this problem.

State Police Ticket Pair After Crashes

NEGAUNEE — State police from the Marquette post ticketed two motorists yesterday after crashes they investigated on M-35.

At 11 last night a pickup truck being driven south on M-35 by Wallace Pietila, 23, Palmer, spun and into a two-wheel trailer owned by Eugene Korpi, Route 1, Negaunee, which was parked off the right side of the highway, 3.5 miles south of Negaunee, in Richmond Township.

Extensive damage resulted to the front end of Pietila's truck, a 1952 model, which was towed from the scene.

Arrested On Two Counts

Pietila was arrested for (1) driving while his operator's license was revoked and (2) drunk driving. He was lodged in the county jail in Marquette.

The other collision took place on M-35 at Spruce St. in Gwinn State police said Douglas Ward, 32, Gwinn, was driving north on M-35 and slowed down while approaching a left curve. His car was hit from behind by an automobile operated by Charles Lundstrom, 21, Johnson Lake, Gwinn.

Apparently no damage resulted to Ward's 1961 sedan, with the left front of Lundstrom's 1961 foreign model being damaged.

Lundstrom was ticketed for failing to have his car under control.

New Pews To Be Dedicated At Church In Michigamme

ISHPEMING — The congregation of the Michigamme Methodist Church will dedicate new pews at a special service this Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

The Rev. and Mrs. Everett Erickson of Gwinn will assist in the service and Paul Bennett of Ishpeming will be the guest organist.

Special music will be offered by Mrs. B. Rantala, Lois Rantala and the church choir.

Three months ago the Women's Society of Christian Service of the church accepted the project of purchasing new pews to take the place of those which have been in use since 1884.

It was through donations, memorials and love gifts and the efforts of the women that the entire cost of the pews was met.

Men of the church, under the direction of Rudolph Sperberg, installed new hardwood floors and new carpeting for the center aisle and front of the church.

"This completes the entire remodeling of the sanctuary, so that the church lends itself to a worshipful atmosphere," the pastor, the Rev. Cecil C. Lutey, said.

Tax Bills Designed To Aid U. P. Mine Industry Signed

LANSING (AP) — Two bills which Gov. George Romney said should strengthen the Upper Peninsula mining industry have been signed into law.

The measures provide for placing a specific tax on underground pelleted iron ore to take the place of all ad valorem taxes and obtaining an equality of assessment between mining and non-mining property.

Operators To Invest Savings

Mining operators have said they expect a substantial savings as the result of the specific tax bill and indicated that the resultant savings would be applied to capital investments in the agglomerating plants.

The tax will be an amount equal to the average annual total shipments from the ore processing facility during the preceding five-year period, multiplied by two or three per cent of the mine value of base grade ore.

Under the property tax bill, the state geologist is to report the true cash value of the mineral deposits and the tax commission is to assess on the same basis as other property in the districts.

Romney also signed a number of other bills Wednesday. They included the Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act, part of a four-bill package of economic expansion bills passed by the Legislature with overwhelming support.

"One of the principal virtues of the measure is that it enables local communities to take positive steps toward attracting new plants without depending on the state or federal governments to solve their economic problems," Romney said.

May Issue Industrial Bonds

The bill provides that local units of government may issue bonds to finance industrial buildings, with the structures then being leased or sold to private corporations.

Romney also signed into law the Construction Safety Act, establishing a five-member commission empowered to draft safety rules and regulations for projects and investigate contractors whose safety records fail to meet minimum standards.

Other bills signed:

Ferris Now 'State College'

- Change the name of Ferris Institute to Ferris State College.
- Prohibit the use of front parking lights on automobiles on Michigan highways.
- Require voters to register every two years rather than four if they do not exercise their ballot privileges.
- Abolish the office of coroner in counties of 30,000 or more population, with the duties to be assumed by the county health officer.
- A pair of "low-fat milk" bills which would allow the production of milk with a butterfat content of two per cent, about halfway between requirements for skimmed milk (one-half to one per cent) and whole milk (three per cent) and permit the manufacture of "flavored skimmed milk" to contain not more than one-half per cent butterfat.

Kindergarten Registration In Negaunee

NEGAUNEE — Parents of children in the Negaunee School District who will attend local public schools for the first time next fall were advised today by Supt. A. B. Haist that the annual registration of kindergarten pupils will be held from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. Wednesday, May 15.

Children eligible to attend kindergarten classes starting in September include those who will be five years old by Dec. 1, 1963.

Registration will take place at the Kirkpatrick School in Palmer, Central Grade and Lakeview Schools in Negaunee. Children should be registered in the kindergarten room at the school which serves the area in which the family resides.

Parents are reminded that they should bring with them either birth certificates or other proof of birth dates for children who will be registered.

Banker To Head Fund Campaign For Home For Aged

CRYSTAL FALLS — Joseph F. White, a Crystal Falls banker, Wednesday was named chairman of a fund drive to raise $300,000 for the development of a senior citizens' home in Crystal Falls.

The drive already has received pledges totaling $25,000. One gift for $20,000 was pledged by Mr. and Mrs. David M. Kennedy of Iron Mountain.

Plans for the home call for a facility capable of housing 110 persons. No definite date for construction has been set.

In addition to the fund drive, the proposed home will receive matching funds from the Lutheran Hospital and Home Society. The society will operate the home.

The demand for all types of engineers is reflected in a study showing the number of jobholders in this field nationally jumped 64 per cent — from 319,000 to 533,700 — in the 1950s.

Three Candidates In School Board Race; Deadline For Filing Petitions 4 Saturday

NEGAUNEE — Residents of the Negaunee School District were reminded today by Mrs. Laila Rivers, secretary of the Negaunee Board of Education, that Saturday, May 11, will be the deadline for filing nominating petitions for candidates seeking board seats at the annual school election Monday, June 10.

Petitions may be filed until 4 p. m. with Mrs. Rivers or at the board of education office.

Only school district residents who have property assessed for taxes are eligible to hold membership on the board. The restriction applies to persons living in the City of Negaunee, Richmond or Negaunee Townships. Nominating petitions must be signed by not less than 50 qualified electors.

To date, petition forms have been procured by three candidates, Lawrence Collins and Richard G. Haight, incumbents, and Tony Russo.

Haight is completing his first term on the board during which he resigned to become a candidate for the Legislature last year. Following his defeat in the November general election, he was reappointed by his colleagues to complete the unexpired portion of his term.

Collins, a resident of Richmond Township, was appointed last year by the board to fill the unexpired portion of the term of Harold Matthews, Palmer, who died while in office.

Russo, a local businessman and a partner in the firm of Russo Bros., was an unsuccessful candidate for the board last year in his first attempt to gain a local office.

Deadline For Registration

Mrs. Rivers also reminded school district residents that the deadline for registration for the school election will be 5 p. m. Monday, May 13.

City residents should register with Edward C. Stevens, municipal clerk, at his office in the city building, while persons living in either of the townships may register with their respective township clerks.

Munising Chamber's 'Tree Planting Bee' On May 20

MUNISING — A Munising Chamber of Commerce "tree planting bee" will be held Monday, May 20, according to Richard McLaughlin, president.

The tree-planting operation is another effort to raise funds for chamber operations, but it also may prove to be a fine item to present to some visiting groups as a memento of their stay in our city," McLaughlin said.

A special invitation is extended by chamber officials to anyone in outlying areas, not affiliated with the chamber, to give their views on what they would like the chamber to be, in order that they might be counted on as members and backers.

"Second-hand complaints are given a deaf-ear, but a few words from the source would be welcome," McLaughlin added. "Board of directors meetings as well as the monthly general meetings are always open to anyone who will take the time to attend. The next general meeting will be held May 20."

Chamber officials also congratulated new officers of the Alger Junior Chamber of Commerce and extended them an invitation to attend.

Eben School Program Set For Friday

EBEN — The kindergarten, first, second and third grades of the Eben Elementary School will present a combined spring and Mother's Day program in the multi-purpose room of the school Friday afternoon, beginning at 1.

Byron Yinen will lead the kindergarten in the flag salute, followed by numbers, recitations and songs by David Johnson, Dale Hayes, Matt Lake, Charles Thurlow, Kenneth Nelson, Kenneth Johnson and Kevin S. Onge.

Taking part in a skit, "What We Will Be When We Grow Up," will be Scott Howard, Kurt Uimala, Connie Lindfors, Carrie Laurich, Carol Young, Darla Hautamaki, Dawn Kempainen, Kevin S. Onge, Billy Chasteen, and Larry Richmond.

The morning kindergarten class will give a skit, "Who Knows?" The program will conclude with songs by the entire kindergarten. Mrs. Mildred Kallio is the teacher in the kindergarten.

The first grade program, under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Pelkki, will open with recitations by Steven Ikkala and Patty Ikkala. The following children will take part in a skit, "Spring Is Fun": Millie Swajanen, Linda Williams, Debbie Skoien, Billy Maki, Melanie Dhondt, Mike Lampi, Arthur Jarvinen, Joe Niemi and Reino Hill. There will be a recitation by Mike Norman, Mike Kirby, Donna Young, Judy Kientz, Cleone Lauric, Vern Richmond, Bernie Takkinen, Christine Nelson, Steve Lintula, Susan Lehto-maki, Barry Johnson, Kim Salmi and Pamela Yinen. The program will conclude with a song by all.

The second grade, under Mrs. Carl Christofferson, will give a play, "The Seven Basic Foods," and will sing two numbers.

The third grade program, under the direction of Mrs. Hilda Trelford, will open with a welcome by Nick Hautamaki. There will then be a tableaux by Donald Hennig, Alan Salminen, Billy Lake, Keith Maki, Mark Maki, Robert Hawley, Mark Luoma and Timothy Luoma. Anita Haapala will lead the pledge to the flag, followed by a piano solo by Phyllis Latvala and recitation by David Johnson, Allen Seppanen and Roger Kangas. An arithmetic class will be represented with the following: Rose Takkinen, Linda Ikkala, Sandra Niemi, Mavis Heltikko, Sue Woodazi and Doris Koski.

Henry Dhondt, Jack Saari and Robert Hendrickson will give a recitation, and all of the children will take part in three songs. There will be a choral reading by Janice Verbigghe, Marion Kientz and Pamela Chasteen. The program will be concluded with a reading by Christina Kallio.
