DR. LIBBY ASKS SENATE:

Does 100-Megaton Bomb Give Russ Commanding Advantage?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Willard F. Libby urged senators today to determine whether Soviet possession of the 100-megaton bomb is a "commanding advantage" before voting on the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Libby, professor of chemistry at the University of California in Los Angeles, and a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission, testified that he is "worried that we have not fired one and observed the effects, which must be awful indeed."

"I think on the whole I probably would favor the treaty," he said. But, before doing so, he added he would "have to see the latest on the 100-megaton problem" and have reassurance that the treaty would not inhibit progress in the program for development of peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Libby was one of two former AEC members scheduled as witnesses today at hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The other is Lewis L. Strauss who headed the AEC from 1953 to 1958.

Dixie Chiefs Shifting To Moderation

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi strode to the podium at the Southern Governors Conference and said with the air of a Confederate general: "If there ever was a time when we should take a stand, gentlemen, it is today."

Barnett followed three other Dixie governors who condemned federal policy on civil rights and integration issues.

When they had heard Barnett's appeal, the other 10 chief executives applauded politely but that was all. There were no further appeals, no rebel yells.

"Times Changing" The damper had been slapped on the touchy issue of civil rights before the conference closed on a superficially harmonious note.

A few years ago resolutions like those backed by Barnett and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama would have had a ringing reception.

"Times are changing," said West Virginia's soft-spoken Gov. W. W. Barron.

Significance The significance of the governors' refusal to get into a fight over civil rights and integration was threefold even according to the chief executives themselves:

1. Only two of the governors—Wallace and Barnett—actively pushed for a showdown. The other governors said they felt nothing could be gained by a debate which nobody would win. They said this was not the time, the place, or the desirable approach.

2. Many of the Deep South governors show distinct tendencies toward avoiding extremism. A growing number are moderate in their views, although not always publicly.

3. Border-state governors belonging to the conference oppose Wallace's proposals. They—our constituents—have more liberal feelings on racial issues.

Gals Bid To Join Cigar Smokers!

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Sally Bison of Millis, Mass., cigar-smoking Phi Beta Kappa of Wellesley College, is seeking to have women admitted as members of the Cigar Smokers of America.

Her previous request to join the Boston Humidor—a cigar-smoking men's group—was turned down by men of that organization. She claims 1,000 women in this country now smoke cigars.

Senate Group Takes Up Rail Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—With rail negotiations at an impasse, the Senate Commerce Committee begins work today on legislation to avert a nationwide strike next Thursday.

Impelled by a new sense of urgency, the committee may be ready with a bill by early afternoon. Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., planned to confer with Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to see if the Senate will be ready to take up the measure Friday. If not, the bill will be brought up Monday.

Hanging Fire

Magnuson said that Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, had told him the Senate bill should reach the House early next week.

Although it held extensive hearings, the Commerce Committee has been hanging fire on legislation proposed by President Kennedy July 22 to avert a strike.

The committee hoped that the carriers and the rail unions, negotiating under the eye of the Labor Department, could settle the four-year work rules dispute themselves.

Hopes Dashed These hopes were dashed Wednesday. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said negotiations had broken down and there was no immediate prospect of reconciliation.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers, said that as things stand now, the railroads intend to post the new work rules, eliminating thousands of rail jobs, at 12:01 a.m. Aug. 29, "unless Congress takes action to avert a strike."

Promise Charles Luna, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, repeated that the unions have promised to man passenger trains and any others deemed necessary by the President in the event of a strike.

He pledged the cooperation of all state agencies dealing with young people in combatting what he termed an "annual waste of human potentialities."

On the basis of past figures, Romney said, more than 10,000 high school students will decide not to return to school next month and another 20,000 will drop out during the school year.

"At a time when our state and nation must exert every effort and harness every resource to

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev addressed workers in the motor plant at Rakovica, outside Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Wednesday. He boasted that the fact that the Soviet Union is rated on a par with the United States as a world power is a good argument for the Communist system and said the enemies of Communism would one day want to live in Communist countries. Khrushchev Visits Quake-Ruined City

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Nearly 100,000 persons lined the ruined streets of Skopje today as Soviet Premier Khrushchev drove through miles of wasteland left by the July 26 earthquake.

Under a blazing sun Khrushchev stopped to thank a 500-man Soviet team for their help in clearing the rubble.

He also talked with survivors of the disaster which killed more than 1,000 persons and turned Skopje into a ghost city.

President Tito, his wife and Mrs. Khrushchev accompanied the Soviet leader on the flight from Belgrade to the devastated Macedonian capital.

Skopje was the first stop after Belgrade on Khrushchev's 15-day "working vacation" in Yugoslavia. He arrived in the country two days ago.

The Soviet premier's visit came two weeks after U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman toured Skopje.

The Soviet Union sent 500 men to Skopje on Aug. 6, 10 days after a full American military field hospital was airlifted from West Germany to help treat the quake victims.

Secretary Freeman offered President Tito $50 million in U.S. aid for the stricken city. In accepting, Tito expressed warm appreciation to President Kennedy and the people of the United States.

Romney Bids To Curtail High School Drop-Outs

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney appealed directly to Michigan citizens today to join in a united effort aimed at reducing the number of high school students dropping out of school before graduation.

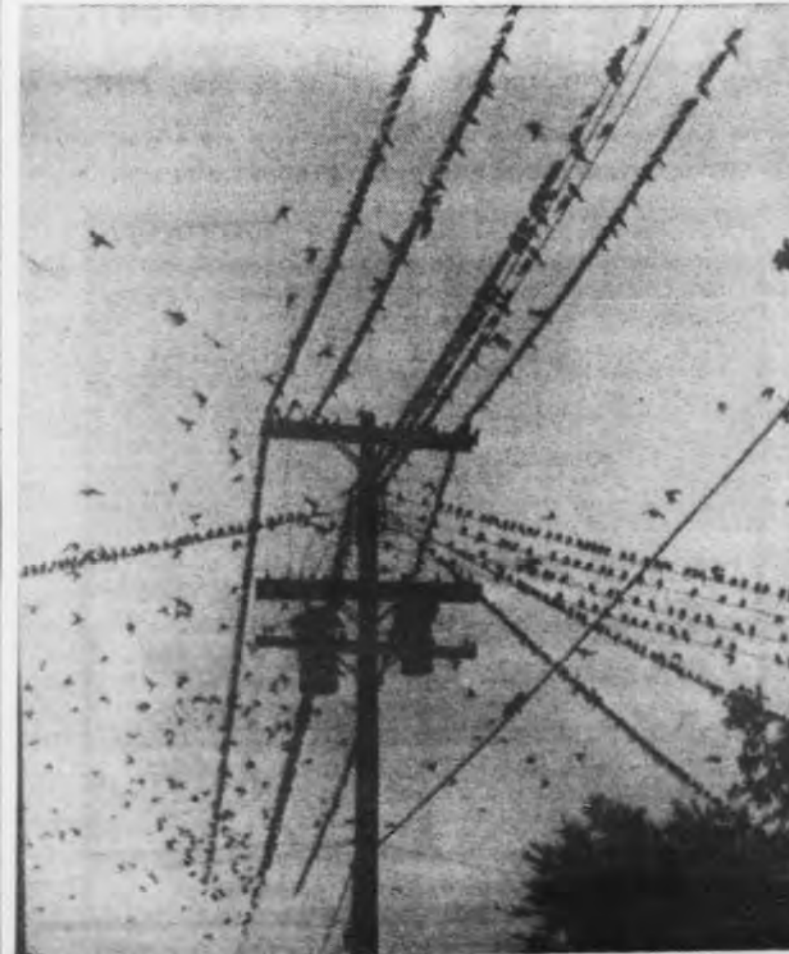

In a unique, five-page "open letter" prepared before he left on vacation in Europe, the Governor asked parents, teachers, employers, courts and other public agencies, and the teen-agers themselves to help.

He pledged the cooperation of all state agencies dealing with young people in combatting what he termed an "annual waste of human potentialities."

"Today, a high school diploma is already a prerequisite for most jobs, tomorrow, even more training or education will be required."

Romney asked parents to accept responsibility for keeping their children in school beyond the legal drop-out age of 16, and to "weigh carefully the full implications of a decision to leave high school before graduation."

Diem Successful In Crackdown On Buddhist Enemies

TOKYO (AP)—The South Vietnamese government appeared today to have succeeded in its crackdown on Buddhist opponents of President Ngo Dinh Diem. But the lightning action gave new impetus to an angry U.S. government's reassessment of its policy toward Diem's dictatorial regime.

A heavily censored dispatch from AP correspondent Malcolm W. Browne in Saigon said the Vietnamese army appeared to be remaining loyal to Diem and rebellion seemed unlikely.

Troops patrolled Saigon laughing and joking, Browne reported, and life was returning to normal as the capital settled down to living under martial law.

Buddhist high command. The Diem government's news agency, Viet Nam Presse, claimed no monks or nuns were killed.

A government announcement said the monks and nuns would be freed "as soon as they stop causing confusion and exploiting religion for political ends."

Viet Nam Presse said police and troops continued to search pagodas. It claimed they had found weapons, grenades and radio transmitters.

Henry Cabot Lodge, new U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, cut short a stopover in Japan and hastened to Saigon to assess the situation and express his government's anger.

Blistering Rebuke President Kennedy approved a blistering rebuke by the State Department denouncing the "repressive measures against the Vietnamese Buddhist leaders."

The State Department charged Diem had violated a promise to seek a reconciliation with the Buddhists.

AP NEWS ANALYSIS: Kennedy Cautious About Viet Nam

AP Diplomatic Affairs Writer By LEWIS GILICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is moving cautiously on Viet Nam because the stakes are high and he sees little room for maneuver.

Through the Washington looking glass, the Diem assault on the Buddhists looks like a bad side-show threatening to spoil the main act.

The main act is the struggle with the Reds—the longest hot fight of the cold war—with ultimate stakes the control of strategic Southeast Asia.

The Kennedy administration figures victory will come in the mean guerrilla war to which America has committed men and massive military aid. But it is increasingly worried that bad government in Saigon will reverse the tide in favor of the Communists.

The New Frontier urge to "do something" about this has run into the classic problem America has faced before: A deep commitment against the Communist threat, on the one hand; and on the other, a local anti-Communist regime lacking wide support among the people.

U.S. strategists say they see no alternative at present to the leadership of President Ngo Dinh Diem. A priority task of the newly arriving U.S. Ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge, will be to canvass what other choices may be open without weakening the campaign against the Reds.

A month ago, Kennedy at a news conference expressed his personal hope that a solution would be reached in the Diem-Buddhist struggle.

And he said at that time that the United States would not withdraw its support from Diem's government in its war against the Communist guerrillas. He declared:

"For us to withdraw from that effort would mean a collapse not only of South Viet Nam but Southeast Asia. So we are going to stay there."

The current situation is traced by U.S. analysts back to the World War II period when Japan occupied the area. Communist guerrilla leader Ho Chi Minh led a resistance movement against the Japanese and kept up his resistance after the French returned.

Inviting Target The French departure left the United States as the major Western power with interests in the area and the means to stem the Red tide. Washington saw the lush farmland and strategic peninsula location of South Viet Nam as an inviting target for Red China.

In 1954, the United States began a large-scale aid program that is on the way to totaling $2.5 billion this year.

Over the first few years of independence, South Viet Nam prospered in relative peace.

Then in 1950 the Communists began the large-scale, intensified effort to cripple the country which continues today.

Demand Reforms Diem appealed for more U.S. aid in 1961 and Kennedy responded with the stepped-up U.S. program which now finds some 14,000 American military men on the scene.

But by this time Washington had had enough trouble with Diem to demand reforms by the Saigon government in return for increased aid.

Among other things, Diem promised more representative rule, a crackdown on nepotism and corruption, better use of U.S. economic aid, new methods in military training and deployment and greater acceptance of American advice.

Encouraged U.S. authorities say they have been encouraged by the progress in the fight against the Reds. Under a presidential declaration of martial law, storming pagodas and arresting monks by the hundreds.

The U.S. government issued a public condemnation of these "repressive measures against the Vietnamese Buddhist leaders," calling them a direct violation of the Diem pledges of peaceful reconciliation with the Buddhists.

First Priority But why didn't Kennedy take a positive step to topple Diem—such as chopping off American aid which keeps his government going?

The answer given in official quarters here is that the campaign against the Communists is first priority and no non-Communist replacement for the Diem regime is in sight.

Nonetheless a U.S. policy reassessment is under way accompanied by a close study of the Diem martial law action.

New Escape Hole Misses Mine Pocket

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—The new escape hole-drilling missed the underground pocket harboring two of the three trapped coal miners today.

It missed by apparently only a few feet, and rescue crews hoped the miners, Henry Throne, 28, and David Fellin, 58, would be able to pinpoint the drill bit's location.

The first escape hole effort was abandoned late Tuesday when Fellin and Throne reported that it appeared to be cracking the ceiling over the tiny passageway where they have been trapped 331 feet underground for nine days.

The first hole took about 25 hours to drill; the second about 25—counting the six hours lost Wednesday afternoon when a drive shaft broke.

"We've got a little problem," Gordon Smith, deputy state secretary of mining, informed Throne and Fellin by way of the mine phone in the existing six-inch life-line hole.

"It looks like we've gone to the bottom rock," said Smith. "It looks to me like we hit bottom rock. White stuff is coming up the 12 inch hole."

Previously, anthracite dust had been coming up the drill as it churned with agonizing slowness. Considering that it was at about the proper depth and that Fellin and Throne were known to be trapped in a seam of coal, the coast dust was taken as a sign that the drill was about to break into the prison chamber.

When the drill passed the coal seam and hit solid rock again, it was obvious it had missed.

"White stuff coming up, heh?" Fellin replied.

Fraction Away There seemed to be not the slightest change in his voice—although he and Throne obviously knew it was a staggering blow to their chance of being rescued soon after being trapped for nine days.

At the time the second escape hole missed it seemed the rescue operation was only a fraction away from success.

Workers Locate Hidden Treasure

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Buried treasure continued to pour from the grounds of an old mill today with perhaps as much as a half million dollars uncovered by diggers.

The site is the Altman Mills feed plant four miles north of this southwestern Ohio city of about 14,000.

Workers earlier in the week uncovered two-10-gallon milk cans stuffed with an estimated $350,000. Early today a third five-gallon can was uncovered. It was stuffed with money.

Search for a fourth and perhaps other cans is under way. Money from the third can was taken to the Troy National Bank for counting.

The finds came from under concrete pilings at the mill. R. S. Altman, late owner of the mills, often had told relatives he did not trust banks.

A few hours before his death July 28 at the age of 76 in Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., Altman told a son and daughter he had buried all his money beneath the mill.

Money Undamaged The money was undamaged in the unsealed cans.

2,865 Flights At Airport During Month

Flights at the Marquette County Airport in Negaunee Township climbed again last month.

July flights totaled 2,865, or 60 more than for the previous month, reports H. L. Shroeger, Marquette, superintendent — engineer of the Marquette Road Commission, which supervises airport operations.

There were 279 operations by North Central Airlines, accounting for the arrival of 904 passengers and the departure of 884 passengers. There also were 22 transfer passengers.

There were 299 itinerant aircraft flights, involving 968 passengers, during the month, along with one ambulance flight and 2,286 local aircraft operations.

Through the airline, the airport handled 15,376 pounds of mail and 12,836 pounds of express and freight.

Gasoline Sales

A total of 8,164 gallons of gasoline was sold at the field during the month and 896 man-hours were required to run the airport, by the manager, D. F. Vailletta, Negaunee, and his assistant managers.

By comparison, there were 244 North Central flights in June, accounting for 710 arriving, 778 departing and 14 transferring passengers. The airport handled 14,809 pounds of mail and 12,996 pounds of express.

There were 2,200 local, 357 itinerant and four ambulance flights at the field in July.

The toothpick was in high favor among ancient and gold and silver picks were widely used by the Romans.

State Police Ticket Pair In Accidents

Two motorists were issued summonses and their automobiles were damaged in a pair of area traffic accidents reported today by state police from the Marquette post.

Another mishap also was probed by state police, in the Ishpeming area (see story on Page 20). There were no traffic accidents in Marquette yesterday. Reports of the other mishaps follow:

At 11:50 yesterday morning an automobile being driven west on M-28 by Ronald Hunt, 28, of 691 Lakewood Lane, Chocoley Township, struck a sign on the highway, being used by a Michigan State Highway Department survey crew, about a tenth of a mile east of Superior Rd., in Chocoley Township.

Failed To Report Crash

State police said the car dragged the sign for some distance and then its brake line broke. The driver left the automobile there and walked away, officers said.

A check of the automobile license plate registration was made and about an hour and a half after the accident state police arrested Hunt at his home on a charge of failing to report a property damage accident.

Hunt also was ticketed for a speed law violation.

The front end and undercarriage of the car, a 1963 convertible, were damaged. The vehicle had to be towed from the scene by a wrecker.

An automobile being driven north on M-35 by Barry Stoyer, 19, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, went

County Supervisors Receive Trial Balance Report, Get Request For Snow Plowing

Several reports and requests were among the business taken up by the Marquette County Board of Supervisors at its monthly meeting in the courthouse here yesterday afternoon.

Board Chairman Carl W. Corneliuson of Ishpeming ordered referred to the Marquette County Road Commission a request for snow plowing.

Brought In By Sleigh

The request was submitted by Mrs. John Swanson, Route 1, Box 809, Marquette, on behalf of Waino Alander of Duquesne. She said Alander is 77 and has only one leg and it is impossible for him to walk through the snow to the highway if it is unplowed.

She said all the food and fuel has to be brought in to his home by sleigh in winter.

In ordering the request referred to the road commission, Corneliuson said all such requests are channeled to the commission.

Inland Waters Level

Ordered referred to the board's budget and executive committee and to Prosecuting Attorney Edward A. Quinnell of Marquette was a communication from George W. Donaldson, Dearborn, concerning the determination and maintenance of the normal height and level of waters in inland lakes.

He also wanted to know if the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. had requested the right to build dikes that would affect the waterways and water levels of lakes and streams in certain areas in Marquette County.

Application For License

Also referred to the budget and executive committee and to Quinnell was a Federal Power Commission notice of an application by CCI for a license to construct a storage dam about 15 miles northwest of Ishpeming, on the Dead River.

The FPC said protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the FPC by Sept. 9.

All Credit Balances

County Treasurer Bertil Agnoli of Negaunee reported there were all credit balances in the ledger accounts in the monthly statement and trial balance.

Credit balances were as follows: General fund, $208,146.88; county road fund, $233,139.19; Morgan Heights Sanatorium and Medical Section, $106,635.70; soldiers relief fund, $8,011.14; county parks fund, $9,803.45; county airport fund, $40,706.72; social welfare fund, $83,579.23; and direct relief fund, $84,713.08.

Report On Parks

The board also:

- Approved general (statutory) bills totaling $20,826.33 and current bills totaling $7,643.56.
- Heard a Marquette County Road Commission report noting that attendance at the county's two parks totaled 6,525 swimmers, 4,315 visitors and 150 camping parties (2,550 swimmers, 2,785 visitors and 11 camping parties at the Gwinns Park and 3,975 bathers, 1,530 tourists and 139 camping parties at Perkins Park in Big Bay).

Plant Here Burglarized Second Time

Thieves entered the Lakeside Iron Works on Lake St. last night for the second time this week, city police said this morning.

Monday morning police received a report that $50 and an indicator, a measuring device valued at $100, had been taken from the building sometime over the weekend. Last night the building was ransacked again and $2.25 was taken from the cash box, police said.

Entry both times was made by going through a back window and it is likely that it was the same person, or persons, who broke in each time, police said.

Police are investigating the case, which is believed to be connected to larcenies this week from the Ward Beverage Co. and the General Tire Co. (See earlier story on Page 7.)

Demos Keep Promise To Gov. Romney

LANSING (AP)—The four-man teams have named for the Democrat-Republican fight over legislative apportionment.

All that is needed is the date to start struggling over the very partisan issue of redistricting the State Legislature under the new State Constitution.

Democrats kept a promise to Gov. George Romney Wednesday by naming four members to the temporary commission. Republicans previously named their team.

Compromise

Romney and Zelton Ferency worked out a compromise Monday to get the commission going.

The Democrats named: Henry Dongvillo, an attorney and farm-austin of Detroit, head of a firm of certified public accountants; A. Robert Kleiner, Grand Rapids attorney; and Ivan Brown, UAW-CIO representative from Iron Mountain.

GOP Members

Republicans earlier named former Gov. Wilbur Brucker of Grosse Pointe, William Hanna of Muskegon, Alfred Laporte of Standish and Ralph Huhtala of Kingsford.

Republicans Set Sights On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans plan a new attempt to write an economy requirement into the tax cut bill although President Kennedy opposes the move and has given new pledges to hold down spending.

In a letter Wednesday to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Kennedy wrote:

"I see no reason for placing any conditions or contingencies on the effectiveness of the second phase of the tax reduction program."

GOP Move

This referred to a Republican move to make the second installment of the proposed tax cut dependent on holding the budget deficit or the national debt to a specified figure.

Two key Republican members of the tax-writing committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin and Rep. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, said, however, the effort will be renewed.

A motion along these lines by Baker lost by only one vote in the committee last week.

Measure

Thanking Mills for his work on the bill and urging that remaining congressional action on it be taken promptly, Kennedy wrote that "any delay or contingent feature would substantially reduce the effectiveness of the legislation. This in turn could lead to decreases in revenues... and greater deficits."

The measure approved last week by the Ways and Means

Anglers Set To Trawl In U.P. Waters

The first commercial trawler to be operated in upper Green Bay and Bays de Noc waters is being fitted out at Cedar River this week by the Rulieu brothers, Robert and Louis. Louis lives at Cedar River and Robert lives at Sugar Creek to the south.

The trawl vessel is the 61x15 1/2 foot steel fish tug Luella May which the former owner, Harry Seabrook of Erie, Pa., delivered to the Rulieus last week in Escanaba. She is a shallow-V hull type, lies low in the water and was built at Erie in 1947 for the Lake Erie fishery. She hasn't been used for fishing for a year because of the decline of the Lake Erie fishery.

Fishing For Three Generations

The Rulieu brothers are from a well-known Green Bay west shore family of fishermen which has had a fishery south of Cedar River for three generations. Their grandmother was a member of the Williams family, which has fished on the West Shore since deep into the last century.

The Rulieu Brothers have fished smelt in the winter through the ice of Little Bay de Noc and they fished perch in these waters in the fall, but this fishery has declined until they found it unprofitable. "We have had only eight or nine weeks of pound net fishing in the summer," said Bob Rulieu, "and we're going to try trawling as a way to extend our season. We hope we can go until late in the fall."

Smelt Disappeared

"Our trawling will be under a permit from the Michigan Department of Conservation, which we have applied for and which we hope to receive this week. We'll start operations as soon as we get the permit and our boat is ready."

Rulieu said that the first pioneer trawling in Green Bay waters was done by Art Swayer of Fensauke, Wis., out of the port of Marinette-Menominee in 1958 for smelt. The operation prospered until the smelt disappeared. "Not Making A Fortune"

Swayer now has three trawlers operating in Lake Michigan waters out of Racine, Wis., and a fourth boat operating in Lake Winnebago. The lower Lake Michigan trawls take chubs and alewife.

At Saugatuck, Mich., Peel & Chambers are operating trawls in Lake Michigan. Rulieu said they could take fish but had difficulty marketing them for animal foods. "They're not making a fortune," he said.

Permit Expires Dec. 31

Clifford Long, Escanaba, district fisheries supervisor for the Michigan Conservation Department, said the conservation commission approved the permit at its last meeting and the department issued it on Aug. 16. It expires Dec. 31, and before any 1964 trawl permits are issued the season harvest will be reviewed.

A conservation department representative will be on the trawler at all times, and if any fish species is being endangered the regulations will be modified or the fishing suspended.

Restrictions Outlined

The permit will authorize the Rulieu Brothers to trawl for chubs, herring, alewife and smelt in upper Green Bay and Bays de Noc, and another area in Lake Michigan may be opened later.

The Green Bay and Bay de Noc waters are south of an east-west line from Escanaba Light and that part of Big Bay de Noc south of a line from Chiopewa Point (on the Stonington Peninsula) to the Snailshell Harbor lighted bell buoy at Fayette.

Trawling must be at depths not less than 30 feet except during April-May 20 and Oct. 1-Dec. 5 when it must be not less than 72 feet (to avoid catching spawning fish).

The area of Lake Michigan which will be opened to experimental trawling later is off Schoolcraft County inside a line south of Seul Choix to Boulder Reef and west to St. Martin's Island.

Large Investment Needed

Most of the Rulieu's catch will be for animal food. Chubs are in fair supply, but there are few herring, and the smelt population is down. The animal food market is low priced, and large volumes must be handled to make it possible to operate, as it pays only 1 to 2 cents a pound for fish.

Commercial fishermen oppose trawling because it points to the industrialization of their industry, traditionally carried on as a family operation of small size. The investment needed for trawling is a large one, and a few trawlers will have capacity to take as many fish as many small boats.

Create Fishery Problem

The U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service has been doing experimental trawling in Great Lakes and Green Bay waters to determine the commercial possibilities. It is concerned with management of the lake fishery, which has proved economically difficult or impossible with conventional small boat

Last Night One Of Warmest Of Summer For Marquette

Last night was one of the warmest nights of the summer in Marquette, as the hot spell which began Monday continued into its fourth day today.

Most residents had all the windows in their houses open last night, as the temperature was in the 70s practically all night.

In fact, Meteorologist Fred Mueller said, it wasn't until after the brief thunderstorm which began around 5 this morning that the mercury "cooled off" to 69, the lowest reading since early yesterday morning.

High here yesterday was 84, with the early morning low being 65, for a mean temperature of 75, which was 10 degrees below normal.

For the month the temperature's now averaging 1.6 degrees below normal, but it was almost three degrees a day below normal until the current hot spell started.

Only Light Rainfall

It was balmy throughout the Upper Peninsula yesterday, with cooler weather along the Lake Michigan shore and warm weather elsewhere. Escanaba's maximum was 78 but it was in the 80s in most other sections.

Some lightning accompanied this morning's thunderstorm here, but only .03 of an inch of rain came down.

That leaves the month's figures at 1.32 inches, still almost an inch below average. For the year precipitation totals 15.59, more than three inches below normal.

Mueller said it would be in the mid-80s this afternoon, with a low of 60 or 65 tonight and a high in the mid-80s expected again tomorrow.

He said some cooler air had been expected to move in from the Northern Plains, but that it slowed down as the southerly flow of warm air from the Mississippi Valley continued.

Variable cloudiness and continued warm weather is the prediction for tonight and tomorrow, with a chance of some isolated thunderstorms. There'll be little change Saturday.

5,800-Mile Titan Flight Cheers U.S.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Military planners and man-in-space officials were encouraged today by results of a successful 5,800-mile test flight by a Titan 2 missile.

The 103-foot rocket covered the course in flawless fashion Wednesday in a flight that had special significance for Project Gemini, the United States' next manned-space-flight program. Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom, who may one day be a Gemini pilot, was among those who monitored the test.

12th Success

Although Titan 2 was declared operational two months ago as this nation's most powerful intercontinental range rocket, the missile has encountered numerous troubles, especially in the second-stage propulsion system. Wednesday's success was the 12th in 21 test flights.

Manned Spacecraft Center officials, primarily Flight Operations Director Chris Kraft, have expressed concern that problems in both stages of the rocket could affect Gemini seriously.

Vibrations

Kraft told newsmen last week that the first-stage engine creates vibrations the length of the rocket which could prevent the two Gemini astronauts from reading their instrument panels. He reported the second stage on some shots was developing only 90 per cent of desired thrust, not enough to boost the approximately 7,000-pound capsule into proper orbit.

Officials said the Titan 2 registered its lowest vibration level yet Wednesday and developed full second-stage thrust. It hurled a warhead to a target in the South Atlantic Ocean.

Area Police Continue Hunt For Trusty

Law enforcement officers in the area continued searching today for Harold Jones, 36, who fled the Marquette State Prison's Honor Camp Sunday night.

Jones, serving a 15 to 30-year term for burglary, is believed to be hiding out in the Whitefish River area north of Trenary.

"We believe he's in that area," said Sgt. Grant C. Barry, Marquette state police post commander. Several officers are patrolling the area.

A $50 reward has been offered for information leading to Jones' apprehension.

European Task Force Headquarters of the United States Army here carried a list of available shoes in off sizes.

But what irked Capt. Charles L. Naegel was when some joker phoned to ask whether the size 12 triple E's came with or without oars.

Dr. Campbell
New Dentist
For Prison

New institutional dentist at Marquette State Prison is Dr. Atwood A. Campbell.

He replaces Dr. H. H. Bergh, Chocoma Township, who retired, last month.

Rosebush Native

A native of Rosebush, Mich., Dr. Campbell received pre-dental training at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant. He graduated from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, Ann Arbor, in 1933.

During World War II, Dr. Campbell served with the U. S. Air Force for three years, including 18 months with the Eighth Air Force in England.

Before World War II he practiced dentistry in Carson City, Mich. Since 1945 he has had a general private practice in Harrison, Mich.

Dr. Campbell is commander of the Harrison post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a member of the Masonic Order.

He and his wife have two sons, one serving with the U. S. Army in Germany and the other working in Harrison.

Tourist Notes:
Bridge Walk
At Straits
On Labor Day

More persons than ever before are expected to take part in the Labor Day Mackinac Bridge walk.

Walking usually is taboo on the big span, but on Monday, Sept. 2, anyone who wishes to do so can hike from Mackinaw City northward across the 4 1/2-mile bridge to St. Ignace.

Only a few hundred persons took part in the first such walk back in 1959, but last year more than 4,000—including Gov. George Romney—participated.

Rerouting of traffic through the downtown area because of construction work on Highway M-35 has resulted in more stops by tourists in Escanaba's downtown area this summer, the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce reports.

"They have had more opportunity to see our unusual Ludington Park with its mile-long lake front, with tables and charcoal grills, tennis courts, yacht club and basin, shuffleboard courts, modern bathhouse and bathing beach, and children's playground equipment," the chamber said.

"Tourists have told us and restaurants where they have stopped that Escanaba is unusually blessed with this lake front attraction."

Iron River probably will be the site next June of the 1964 convention of the Michigan Association of Chief of Police, E. B. Wilson, executive secretary, said following a study of convention facilities and attractions.

MUCC Parley There

He and Mrs. Wilson, during their tour of Iron County, were impressed with the area's county parks, beaches, golf courses, motels, hotels, restaurants and the National Guard Armory where much of the convention business would be transacted.

In addition, he said he had contacted Michigan United Conservation Club officials, who expressed pleasure with the MUCC convention held in Iron River early this summer.

The police chiefs' gathering is expected to bring 200 to 250 delegates and about as many more family members to the Upper Peninsula.

The Arcadian Copper Mine near Hancock, one of the Upper Michigan's top lures for thousands of visitors every summer, has been nominated as one of the outstanding attractions of the nation.

The Travelmat Co., with headquarters in Prairie du Chien, Wis., nominated the Arcadian for the title because, it said, "it gives value for the fee paid, is close to a recognized highway, is maintained in a clean and wholesome manner and has easy access."

Job Selection Vital Decision, Gilruth Tells Tech Graduates

HOUGHTON — In today's world, scientists and engineers are important as never before, said NASA's Dr. Robert R. Gilruth here this morning, but one of their most important decisions comes before they ever start their careers.

Dr. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Texas, delivered the address at Michigan Tech's summer commencement. The college conferred 92 bachelor degrees on 90 degree candidates.

An honorary doctor of engineering degree was conferred on Gilruth by Dr. J. R. Van Pelt, Tech president.

Salary Not Biggest Factor

Gilruth repeatedly emphasized the importance of job selection by a young engineer or scientist, and individual characteristics that lead to a successful professional life.

"Salary is not the most important factor," he said. "The job where you can make the greatest personal contribution is usually the right job." Most engineers would agree, he added, that money has a strange tendency to keep pace with professional growth and the contribution of the individual.

Gilruth further explained that a wrong choice can be a serious mistake. "The development of technology in all fields of engineering continues at an accelerated pace," he said. "It is extremely difficult for any engineer or scientist to 'go back' and catch up after a period of from three to five years."

Project Mercury Cited

As an example of this acceleration, Gilruth referred to NASA's

Hears Report
By Dorman

Ken Dorman, secretary-manager of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association, which is headquartered in Marquette, was one of several persons appearing before the State Senate Tourist Relations Committee in Clare yesterday.

Dorman said he thought that while the historical restoration projects have been excellent to date, communities do not fully recognize the economic aspects of such projects.

At the committee hearing on tourism, a new breed of tourist, one who's willing to spend his money for quality and variety, was described.

Urges Tourist Area Development

James Hall, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association of Bay City, described the new breed as he urged more development of tourist areas in the state.

Dr. George May, research architect of the Historical Commission, said many projects are being considered for development with funds gained from revenue bonds.

Among them, he said, are the possible restoration of Fort Brady at Sault Ste. Marie, of Fort St. Joseph at Niles, and local projects at Marshall and Holland.

Hart indicated he may pursue in the future one of Kefauver's pets — an inquiry into professional baseball, football and other sports.

Hart, in accepting the chairmanship made this statement: "The subcommittee's function is to serve as a watchdog for the free enterprise system. It always has been — and should remain — alert to see that competition is not threatened by monopolies, price-fixing agreements and criminal conspiracy."

The offense occurred between 7 p.m. and 8 yesterday morning, police said.

In the General Tire Co. office on the second floor of the building, two cash boxes, filled with a total of $70, are missing. The cash boxes were taken from a filing cabinet. Several desks were ransacked in the office, police said.

Missing from the beverage company office is a cash box which contained business papers and check books. There also is an unknown quantity of beer missing, police said.

Police said that it was presumed that entry had also been made previous to Tuesday night.

Michigan Gains In Pulpwood Income, Dips In Big Timber

A study of the economic importance of timber in the United States by the U. S. Forest Service comparing data of 1958 with that of 1954 shows Michigan still skidding in terms of old growth timber volume produced, but gaining in new forest production of pole size wood like pulpwood.

The stumpage value of U. S. timber cut in 1958 was valued at about $1 billion. The round products harvested from this stumpage were valued at point of local delivery at $2.7 billion, and this was equal to about 14 per cent of the value of all farm crops harvested in the nation and about equal to the value of all the wheat harvested. Corn was the only farm crop which substantially exceeded timber products in terms of local market value.

Greatest Economic Resource

The 1958 timber harvest increased in value nearly 25 times between the stump and delivery of the finished product to final consumers. Averagely, to each $1 worth of stumpage cut, another $1.50 was added in harvesting, $3.85 in primary manufacture, $5.45 in secondary manufacturing, $7.60 in construction and $5.35 in transportation and marketing.

The figures are especially meaningful to the Upper Peninsula and help explain its economic lag because the area has always been one of extractive industry. Its forest is its greatest economic resource and it has shipped much of its wood to market without primary manufacture or secondary manufacture.

U. P. Enriches Wisconsin

The pulpwood produced in the Upper Peninsula is a prime example of the process by which the U. P. has enriched Wisconsin more than it has itself. It ships more pulpwood to Wisconsin for manufacture into pulp paper, board and other products than it processes itself, so it gets only the stumpage fee (where ownership is not absentee, and most in the U. P. is absentee) and the timber harvesting income.

After stumpage value, harvesting is the lowest value added by manufacture in the federal statistics, and this is the chief income of the Upper Peninsula from its forests. Marketing is a problem for U. P. wood growers, and they are glad to have the Wisconsin market and wish it would take more of their wood, but if the U. P. could achieve the value added by manufacture as it does in the mills of Kimberly Clark at Munising, Marathon Division of American Can Co. and Scott Paper Co. at Menominee, Celotex at L'Anse, Escanaba Division of Mead Corp. and Manistique Pulp & Paper Co. for more of its wood harvest, thousands of new U. P. jobs would be created and the economy enhanced by millions of dollars of income yearly.

3,300,000 Employed In Industry

The report says employment attributed to timber industry amounted to 3.3 million people in the U. S. in 1958, but only about 3 per cent of this was attributed to forest management. The rest of the wood industries employment was: 10 per cent in harvesting; 15 per cent in primary manufacture (pulp, paper, lumber, dimension stock, etc.) 24 per cent in secondary manufacturing (furniture, woodboards, plastics), 25 per cent in construction and 23 per cent in transportation and marketing.

For each worker employed in forest management, another four were employed in harvesting and six more in primary manufacturing, construction and transporting and marketing activities.

Sources Of Timber Cut

In 1958 the volume of timber cut in the U. S. from domestic forests amounted to 10 billion cubic feet, about 4 per cent below the 10.4 billion cubic feet produced in 1954. About 46 per cent came from the South, another 39 per cent from the Pacific Coast and West and 15 per cent from the Northeastern third of the nation. From 1954 the North's portion was unchanged, but there was increasing dependence upon the old growth softwood forests of the West.

Michigan had an estimated total value of timber products harvested at local point of delivery in 1958 of $48.7 million compared with $57.8 million in 1954. The sawlog part of this total slipped from $18.7 million to $13.9 million; veneer logs from $8.1 million to $1.2 million.

But the new forest production of thousands of new U. P. jobs would be created and the economy enhanced by millions of dollars of income yearly.

Registration Under Draft Law Explained

Generally, every man is required to register under the Selective Service Law within five days after his 18th birthday.

So stated today Paul A. Ameen, Ishpeming, chairman of the Marquette County Draft Board, in explaining the registration phase of the draft law, which has been extended for another four years.

The county draft board office is located in the Marquette Post Office Building and Mrs. Frances Drake, Marquette, is the board clerk.

Give Home Address

Ameen said the person required by law to register may do so at the local board office, but he should be certain to give his home address, for that will determine the local board which will always have his records and which will deal with his case.

If a man is on active duty with the armed forces on his 18th birthday, he need not register at that time. Men on active duty must register within 30 days after they leave the service.

Concerning Aliens

Aliens born after Sept. 15, 1925, with a few specified exceptions, must also register within six months after entering the United States or at the age of 18, whichever is later.

Any person who at age 18 is not required to register must, however, register when his status changes, Ameen noted.

Failure to register, like failure to comply with other provisions of the law, may subject men to prosecution, or to induction out of turn and ahead of other men.

After he registers, each man is required by law to keep his local board informed of any change in his address, or any change in his personal situation which might affect his liability to serve.

Beef, Pork Cuts Best Store Buys

DETROIT (AP) — Hearty beef roasts and pork cuts play the starring roles among special offerings by food markets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

Fruit, Vegetables Season

This also is the season for some particularly good buys in fruits and vegetables.

Beef roasts, steaks and ground beef are among the best offerings at the red meat counters. Loin roast is the best bet in pork.

Broiler-fryers, turkeys, canned tuna, scallops and eggs round out the best buys in protein foods.

One big supermarket chain offers rib roasts at 53 cents a pound, down 16 cents from last week. Pork chops, at 79 cents a pound, are 20 cents lower than a week ago. Fryers are off 4 cents at 35-39. The same chain reported the price of eggs down 2 to 4 cents a dozen.

Vegetable offerings are plentiful. Best buys are cabbage, corn, cucumbers and peppers. Other good buys include green beans, topped carrots, celery, eggplant, lettuce, green and dry onions, radishes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and potatoes. Best buys among fruits include peaches, plums and watermelons. Grapes and cantaloupes are special bargains.

Only the heartwood of ebony is dark-colored. The outer wood, or sapwood, is white or grayish or pinkish-white.

Rapid Progress Being Made On Overpass Work On Bypass Here

Rapid progress is being made on the construction of the overpasses on the U.S. 41 and M-28 relocation in Marquette. These photos show the work at the Champion St. overpass as it appeared yesterday afternoon. Above is an overall view of the overpass, with a huge crane being used to lift some material into place. Below, the crane is used to place the cement for the pavement on the bridge itself. Above, right, crews of the Bacco Construction Co., Iron Mountain, the general contractor for the work, are smoothing out the concrete on the overpass. Work on the bypass, which consists of 1.7 miles of four-lane, limited access highway along the southern edge of the city, began last fall and is expected to be completed by the middle of next summer. The Bacco contract is for $1,078,446.80. Another contract was let for the Soo Line Railroad Co. overpass. The bypass will remove U.S. 41 and M-28 from the main business district of the city. Lawmakers Eye Powers Of New Group

LANSING (AP) — The controversial question of how much power Michigan's new Civil Rights Commission should have comes up today before a joint legislative subcommittee studying implementation of the recently adopted Constitution.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley already has declared in a formal opinion that the commission will have sweeping powers in several fields, including private housing, and that the legislature cannot blunt its scope.

In opposition to Kelley's stand, a state-wide initiative-petition drive has been launched to secure a law that would overrule Kelley's opinion as regards housing. One of the backers of the drive is the Michigan Real Estate Association.

Two versions of the draft law have been prepared for the subcommittee, however.

Much of the language is taken from the present statutes governing the Fair Employment Practices Commission, which Kelley said will be superseded by the Civil Rights Commission next Jan. 1, when the Constitution goes into effect.

Private Housing
But in the provisions dealing with private housing, one of the drafts would limit the commission's authority to those residences which have accommodations for more than two families.

If the owner lives in the house, the anti-discrimination rules for selling or leasing would only apply if there were accommodations for more than three families.

Another proposed draft would allow no exceptions to the commission's proposed authority to regulate the sale or rental of private houses.

The subcommittee devoted most of its session Wednesday to education, and decided to recommend that the terms of the governing boards of Michigan's three largest universities be extended by one year.

Bartlett Gives Views
The extension, if adopted by the Legislature, would apply to the University of Michigan regents, the Michigan State University trustees and the Wayne State University governors.

The recommendation, made by a subcommittee headed by Sen. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft, must be approved by a full committee before it goes to the Legislature.

U-M Slates Field Course In Peninsula

Each of the lecturers has spent considerable time in Asia studying and observing the people, the governments and lands of the Middle and Far East.

Persons 65 years of age or older this year for the first time will be allowed to enroll in the course for credit for half the registration fee.

Board Holds Meeting In 15 Minutes

Marquette County's board of supervisors conducted its monthly meeting in the courthouse here yesterday afternoon in record time. With Board Chairman Carl W. Corneliuson, of Ishpeming, presiding and County Clerk Lloyd LeVasseur of Marquette handling the roll calls (there were several), the supervisors whipped their nine items on the agenda in just under 15 minutes.

It was a record for a board meeting. The previous short meeting was around 19 or 20 minutes. "If some of these tardy supervisors don't get here on time they may well miss this meeting," Corneliuson quipped.

However, not all board meetings are that speedy. The August session generally is the briefest of the year. September's meeting, when some requests are received for the budget (taken up in October), is generally much longer. The board adjourned to 2 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 25.

be granted credit for it by that institution. For additional information, one may write the University of Michigan Extension Service, Box 394, Escanaba.

Michigan Minimum Wage

The legislative committee hearing on a minimum wage law for Michigan revealed some Upper Peninsula hotel bookkeeping. Our hotels represent large investments in their communities and they are not making a good rate of return on their investment.

The implications of the hearing, extraneous to the minimum wage study, are serious:

1. Communities should appreciate their hotels as important community resources which would, in most cases, be impossible to replace at this time with today's hotel prospects.

2. Hotels offer many services vital to communities, but they operate under changing conditions which make them bear the costs of some services which are no longer supported by the public enough to be profitable. The decline in commercial travelers' use of hotels with improvement in travel was cited as a major influence in business decline.

Faced with a struggle for income and survival, the hotels view with concern any proposal which would increase their operating costs without increasing their income. The minimum wage act would do this.

Witnesses at the legislative committee's hearing in Escanaba said that their costs would be increased in amounts like $32,000 and $29,000 a year if a $1.25 an hour minimum wage law were enacted by the state.

(There already is a federal minimum wage act whose rate will rise from $1.15 to $1.25 on Sept. 13, but it does not cover such service industry workers.)

The hotel men said that when tips are counted, waitresses in most of their establishments are substantially near a $1.15-an-hour minimum wage (This situation fluctuates from establishment to establishment. In some Lower Peninsula restaurants waitresses not only get no base pay as they do in the Upper Peninsula, but must kick back a part of their tips to their employers.)

The unions will be quick to say that if operational costs will be increased as much as cited there is need for a minimum wage act, but our legislators, sitting between the contending unions and the defensive hotel, restaurant, movie theater and other service industry representatives, must have been impressed with the sincerity of the position of the service industries of the Upper Peninsula.

It was notable that while Upper Peninsula operators were being urged to emulate other successful entrepreneurs in their fields by raising their wages and helping their communities, the examples cited to them are not operating in the Upper Peninsula. There are no Hilton hotels in the Upper Peninsula, there are no Stouffers restaurants, no Holiday Inns. These chains have no antipathy for the Upper Peninsula; they go where they can make a buck easiest. That doesn't describe the Upper Peninsula, with its short tourist season, small population and non-boom economy.

Mrs. Myra Wolfgang, international vice president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union, said, "We hear over and over: 'I'm for minimum wages, but not for my industry.'"

"The reason I'm personally interested is because one outstanding group in Michigan not covered by the federal act is service industries, and 80 per cent of its workers are women. Most women's organizations in the state, such as the Business and Professional Women, the YWCA, the Michigan Nurses Association, are supporting the minimum wage bill.

"Personnel in manufacturing industries is shrinking and there are fewer blue collar workers, but service industries are expanding. People making more than the minimum wages, like workers in manufacturing industry, are becoming unemployed and more are going into service industries where they are without job protection. Our economy will be seriously affected unless we raise the purchasing power of the people in the service industries.

"All the economists have stated that the standard of poverty in this country is anyone who earns less than $2,000 a year. The majority of non-professional women in the convalescent home industry and service workers in hotel and restaurant industry earn less than $2,000 a year, so there's a moral obligation on the part of the Legislature to correct this inequity."

The union position would force the wage law and let service industries cope with it as best they could. This could seriously injure some of our industries which have no hope of being like Stouffer or Hilton, but which are vital to their communities.

William J. Weddell, executive secretary of the Michigan Restaurant Association, testified that the average restaurant employee produces $6,600 in annual sales volume, compared to a supermarket worker's $12,000 and a department store worker's $18,000; that 34 cents of the restaurateur's dollar goes for labor costs.

He said a Department of Labor study of eating and drinking establishments showed 62 per cent of waiters and waitresses surveyed who earned under $1 an hour in wages, received $1 and over an hour in tips, and that 90 per cent earning under $1 an hour in wages averaged at least 50c an hour in tips.

U.S. Sees Lakes States As Top Recreation Resource

The Lake States, viewing their recreation business potential, have the assurance of the federal government that they are "one of the most opportunity-laden outdoor stages on the American scene."

This statement is a lead-off in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's new booklet, "Resources and Recreation in the Northern Great Lakes Region."

Remoteness Relative
An arc with a radius of 500 miles from the region's central area encompasses 25 per cent of the nation's people.

And while these recreational resources are as much as 500 miles remote from the great population belt to the south, this remoteness is relative, and by the year 2000 — only 37 years away — the present concentration of nearly 50 million people within a day's travel of the area is expected to grow to over 90 million. The remoteness also prescribes recreational character.

Area Boundaries
The area described by the booklet is northeastern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin, the entire Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula of Michigan to the Bay City line.

This region's land and water area of 56 million acres compares in size to the six New England states and half of New York State, but its 3 million acres of water surface distinguish it from all other American areas. And equally significant recreationally is that four-fifths of the land is forested and that much of it bears mineral deposits.

Keystone For Growth
"This provides the setting of woods, waters and mineral wealth which has shaped and molded people's work and their way of life," reports the task force which prepared the booklet, representing the U. S. Forest Service, the Soil Conservation Service and the Economic Research Service.

"Water is the lifeblood of much of the northern Great Lakes region. It is the keystone for future economic growth and social development."
Water-Oriented Setting
"The waters of the northern Great Lakes region are better distributed, in greater supply, freer from pollution, freer from floods and have smaller quantities of both chemical and mineral pollutants than in any other regional area of comparable size in the United States."
"The region is in many ways an 'island.' Land area exceeds water area, but the bodies of water, from the Great Lakes to the inland lakes and ponds, provide a water-oriented setting.

Another Dominant Feature
"Public ownership is another dominant feature in the region. Nearly 40 per cent, some 21 million acres, is public land administered by federal and state agencies, counties and other local governments. There are 1,600,000 people in the area with a work force of slightly over 360,000. Unemployment affects more than nine per cent of the work force, nearly twice the national average."
"There are unused resources, millions of tons of ore to be mined, but mining is curtailed by competition from outside sources. New technologies hold some hope for improvement here."

Testimony To Underdevelopment
"An annual supply of 150 million cubic feet of small, low-quality trees standing unused in the woods and accumulating each year bear mute testimony to underdevelopment. Markets for this material would put most of the region's unemployed to work."
"In this region, as in others where emphasis is on raw material production, a decline in either the demand for resources or in their supply adversely affects the livelihoods of much of the population. Today the region is in a state of change."

Industrious Storekeepers
"This land of lakes and forests is a resource storehouse with much useful merchandise on the shelves, tended by industrious storekeepers."

"Resourceful, energetic people are taking strong, concerted action in many parts of the region. They are organizing themselves into development groups of many kinds. They seek a resurgence of the latent potentials of the region. Specific plans have been developed in many local areas. The need now is for action and implementation — and there are signs of this as well."

"The major market for most goods and services of this region lies at a considerable distance in miles and particularly in travel time. Improved transportation facilities, for moving products to metropolitan markets and for moving people from metropolitan areas to recreation resources, are indispensable if this region is to expand outdoor recreation enterprises and other businesses are to make better use of the resources. It is especially important that:

1. Fund allocation formulas reflect the resource development needs of the region.

2. High priority be given to the construction of north-south express-type highways.

3. Access roads be provided from express-type highway interchanges to recreation facilities throughout the region.

4. Agriculture has an important place in the regional economy, although the opportunities for success are limited in some subareas. This report suggests:

1. Land capability maps and use recommendations are needed to guide farming in those areas likely to continue in agriculture.

2. A larger volume of business is needed on many farms to provide adequate bases for farm family incomes.

3. There is opportunity for using open grazing lands effectively by developing beef cattle production as an additional enterprise on present farms and as the main enterprise on ranch-type farms.

4. In many situations there are opportunities for nontypical agricultural activities, such as production of native fruits and berries and farm recreation enterprises.

5. The timber resource is now grossly underused. Opportunities exist for aiding economic growth through additional development in forest products utilization, as:

1. Emphasis on timber utilization by local planning and action groups.

2. Intensification and acceleration of the forest inventory program to provide basic data for feasibility studies of forest industry development opportunities in localized areas.

3. Recreation use of water.

Peninsula Perambulator

John W. Wells State Park at Cedar River, Menominee County, reports its attendance has reached 72,765 — an all-time record. Up to this time in 1962, Manager Arthur Lauren said, 63,976 persons had visited the 974-acre woodland park. The number of camping permits is up to 3,322, compared with 2,790 for the same period a year ago.

It is not probable that the big ore cargo of the Steel Corp. steamer Edensborn, 9,864 net tons, moved from Escanaba to South Chicago several days ago, will be exceeded by any of the lake freighters this season, as the Edensborn was afforded the greatest possible draught in the Escanaba-South Chicago run, but all the large vessels are still taking on bigger loads than they have ever carried in the past.

Dr. Sweetland, the well-known football coach, who has been turning out championship teams at Ishpeming during the past few years, was a Marquette visitor yesterday. The doctor has been spending some of his vacation at Chicago and in the East, but is now back and ready to begin work in the fall term of school. He said Ishpeming High School would again be represented by a strong eleven.

—Ishpeming—

In view of the small appropriation granted by the Legislature for Michigan's exhibit at the St. Louis exposition next year, individuals will have to contribute liberally if the display is to be in keeping with the commonwealth's importance. The members of the Michigan commission, who spent the past three days with the mining men in attendance at the meeting of the Lake Superior Mining Institute, were busy endeavoring to arouse interest among the officials of the different corporations represented. "The St. Louis exposition will outclass the World's Fair at Chicago in every way," one of the members of the commission said.

William Kibridge of Alpena has begun preparations for laying a cement walk in front of the Sellwood property on Main and Canda Sts. This will be the longest single strip of cement walk laid thus far in the city, extending as it will from the Johnston House to the alley adjoining the Urban House property.

John B. Pearce has been notified of his appointment as mail carrier, taking effect Sept. 1. His appointment raises the number of carriers to seven.

—Negaunee—

An alderman made a little contribution to the discussion of the cow nuisance yesterday, making the suggestion that the poundmaster ought to have some help in patrolling the streets and looking after the wandering bovine. "We ought to take hold of this matter at the very start as though we mean business, then people will learn a few things and take better care of their cattle."

L. E. Chaussee has purchased the barn on the rear of Albert Boyea's lot, at the corner of Case St. and Mackenzie Ave., and has moved it to a lot about three blocks distant on Case St. He will convert the building into a double tenement house.

For the second time in a number of years there will be no jury cases at the August term of circuit court, and Sheriff Andrew Lahti at the opening of the term yesterday was ordered to notify all jurors called for duty that they are not to report and are excused until further notice. All jurors were excused from duty at the June term of circuit court.

Calves exhibited by 4-H dairy calf members at this year's Marquette County Fair, which will be held Aug. 29 to Sept. 2, will provide one of the largest and most instructive educational displays, Secretary J. T. McNamara said yesterday.

A letter signed by Thomas S. Hammond, executive director of the President's re-employment program, has been sent to every employer by the National Recovery Administration, according to word received yesterday by Postmaster L. W. Biegler.

Plans are being made by the extension department of the Michigan State College to hold a meeting of Upper Peninsula distributors of milk and manufacturers of milk products in Marquette Sept. 5 or 6 for the discussion of a daily code, it was announced yesterday by J. G. Wells, assistant state agricultural leader.

—Ishpeming—

C. C. Cowpland of Ishpeming was informed today of his appointment as a member of a new Marquette County Emergency Relief Commission, created for the purpose of assisting the Michigan emergency welfare relief commission in its administration of funds allotted to the state under the federal public works program.

Announcement was made today by W. J. Billing, general manager of the Twin Cities Motor Coach Co., which operates buses between Ishpeming, Negaunee and Marquette, of a new bus schedule to take effect Saturday, Aug. 26.

Dan B. Bilkey, Pine and Ely St., announced today that he will be a candidate to fill one of the vacancies on the board of Ishpeming school trustees at the election to be held Labor Day. Mr. Bilkey said he will acquaint eligible voters of the city with his platform at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kangas were pleasantly surprised in their home, Elm St., on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Covers were laid for 212 guests.

All beauty operators in Marquette County are requested to meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in the council rooms in the Negaunee City Hall for the purpose of discussing cooperation under the NIRA code. Arrangements for the meeting were made today by Dorothy May Gundry, manager of the Dorothy May beauty shop in Marquette.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

(This is the second of two columns based on an exclusive interview with Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.)

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Barry Goldwater insists he wants to "pick fights with Democrats, not Republicans," but when he talks about Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York he can be devastating in an offhand manner.

Asked what he thinks about Rockefeller's "political philosophy" for example, the Arizona conservative replied deadpan, "Does he have a philosophy? I don't know what it is. Has he ever written anything that would give a hint?" Then he added graciously, "I think he is a Republican," but there was just the slightest emphasis on the word "think."

Nevertheless, Goldwater mostly pursues the pious line that all he's working for is Republican togetherness. "Rockefeller has been baiting me recently," he said, "but I care more about unity in the party than what some individual thinks of me." And he said flatly that he will support "whatever candidate the Republican convention comes up with, including Rockefeller," despite Rockefeller's reluctance to support him.

Points Of Agreement
"Rockefeller and I disagree just as I'd disagree with Bob Taft if he were still alive," Goldwater said. "There's nothing wrong in that. But I think we see eye-to-eye on the need for a balanced budget, reduced federal spending, a new tax code that would permit sensible tax cuts and a program to create more jobs by returning incentive to the economy."

Moreover, Goldwater now insists that "any candidate the Republicans nominate can defeat President Kennedy in 1964 and again includes Rockefeller. He hedged a bit here, adding that Kennedy can be taken "unless things change in his direction." But he pointed out that Kennedy "is in trouble with his civil rights program, the railroad mess, Cuba and the generally deteriorating international situation." As noted yesterday, Goldwater was not impressed with the test-ban treaty.

"I've been honest about this thing," Goldwater said. "In March, I said we couldn't beat Kennedy, but now his indecisiveness is catching up with him. Outside of last October's blockade of Cuba, the President has shown a seeming inability to make decisions. He has failed to halt the outflow of gold, he has failed to get the economy moving fast enough and he was very late in sending Congress a civil rights program."

Opposes Platforms
On the other hand, Goldwater commented, "Thank God, Kennedy hasn't tried to implement the 1960 Democratic platform too much." Such an utterance is consistent with his belief that platforms are phony and should be discarded in favor of a "statement of principle" that all members of the party can accept and interpret according to their political tastes. "It's impossible to implement a platform loaded with specifics," said Goldwater, "because of the ever-present balance of power within a party. And anyway, a platform is nothing but a bundle of compromises that mean nothing."

Goldwater suggested that one clause in the GOP "statement of principle" could assert the "freedom of the individual." That clause, he said, could be interpreted one way by New York's liberal Sen. Jacob Javits and another way by himself. "Javits could say that this meant federal laws were needed to assure the equality of the Negro," he said, "I could counter that I didn't believe federal laws would solve the problem. This is the kind of healthy difference of opinion that is good for a party; with the liberals, you have to agree with them all the way or you're out."

The Republican strength, said Goldwater, lies in the fact that they have "healthy but not excessive differences of opinion. Javits and I, for example, are closer than (Sen. Hubert) Humphrey (D. Minn.) and (Sen. Harry) Byrd (D. Va.). I didn't agree 100 per cent with Dick Nixon — in fact, I vigorously disagreed with him on a lot of issues — but I worked harder than anyone else to elect him, including Nixon himself."

'They'll Know How I Stand'
"As for Rockefeller's apprehension that he, Goldwater, might be 'a captive of the radical right,'" Goldwater was openly contemptuous. "Rockefeller hasn't defined the radical right," he said. "What is it? If he means the John Birch Society, I have publicly disavowed its demands for the impeachment of Chief Justice Warren, its slurs on Eisenhower and its call for a repeal of the income tax. But its members are within their constitutional rights in these matters."

Moreover, he asserted that he will accept the support of the John Birchers and of "any organization which does not call for the violent overthrow of the government. I exclude the Communists and this new Nazi movement because they're against all concepts of decency. It's stupid to stand up and say you don't want the support of any citizen just because you disagree with him."

At this point, Goldwater smiled slyly. "If those people still want to vote for me when they know I disagree with them on so many points, then that's their affair. They'll always know how I stand." (Bell-McClure Syndicate)

Compulsory Arbitration

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The railroad dispute has been going on for four years because in an essential industry the existing machinery of labor relations can no longer be made to work. The theory of free collective bargaining has been that the railroads and the unions would bargain until they agreed, the unions deriving their bargaining power from their willingness to strike and the railroads from their ability to outlast the unions when the trains stopped running.

This theory of labor relations was applied in the long New York newspaper strike, though the real and intangible costs were heavy. But the theory can no longer be applied in the great utilities and industries on which the economic life of the community depends.

Innerspring Dismantled
The theory of free collective bargaining in key industries has broken down because neither party to a dispute can any longer use its bargaining power. The sanctions behind the bargaining power — the strike and the lockout — can no longer be tolerated by the national government. They are in fact outlawed. A national stoppage is intolerable, and in one way or another, a nation-wide strike or a lockout will be broken. Thus, the innerspring of free collective bargaining is, as regards key industries, dismantled.

The country has outgrown the existing machinery for dealing with big labor disputes. But the country has not yet grown up to a consensus on the machinery to replace it. When a new system of industrial relations is established, it is bound to consist of some form of judicial inquiry and judgment.

In cold blood, labor leaders, employers and politicians are in theory against the principle of compulsory arbitration since 1886. When there is a crisis in a key industry, the theoretical horrors of arbitration are seen to be much less horrible than the practical horrors of a national stoppage.

Proved In Australia
Presumably, a railroad stoppage will be averted by a voluntary agreement to accept some kind of compulsory arbitration. But if this does not happen, if a stoppage is not averted, Congress will be bound to improvise an involuntary agreement for compulsory arbitration.

We may say then the old system of labor relations with strikes and lockouts is obsolete for the key industries and that eventually it is going to be replaced by a system of compulsory arbitration. That this is not an impossibly difficult thing to do has been proved in Australia, as free and turbulent a country as our own, where a system of compulsory arbitration has been operating since 1886. It has worked so well that it is accepted and supported by the unions and the employers alike.

It is said that compulsory arbitration in the key industries would amount to the fixing of prices and wages by the federal government. The realistic thing to say about this is that, in the key industries, it is no longer possible to have wages and prices fixed by strikes and that, in the great concentrations of big unions and big business, there is no longer any such thing as individual freedom to fix wages or prices. The widest possible freedom for labor, for management and for the community must come from the application of law, order and reason to the disputed issues.

From Hit-Run Victim

Sir: I have read with interest the views expressed by your readers on things they are concerned about, but have never used your column until now myself. But after an incident that happened to me before midnight Tuesday, I feel I have a right to you. I was the victim of a "hit and run," and it stunned me. I couldn't believe such a thing could happen to a woman, and her driving a small foreign model car, and at night. To think someone could give a small car a shove at a curve, push it out of the right-of-way and then, with a burst of speed, leave her there helpless in the middle of an intersection. I was so shocked, I was outraged. All I can think is that some parents have failed in their duties of raising their children by the performance put on by these "hit and runs."

It shames me that there are some people in our immediate vicinity who think nothing of breaking the laws and refuse to face up to their responsibilities after causing an accident. How can this be? Someone spent an anxious, sleepless night, I'll bet, wondering how and why he could do such a thing. I feel sorry for him, for this could be the beginning of a long, hard road of wrong turns if he doesn't own up to the error of his ways. I have over 20 years of accident-free driving all over this great country of ours and have three children (we are parents of six) who have reached the age to use their driving licenses and who drive, I hope, with caution, and if such a thing could happen to their mother, I shudder at what could happen to them even if they observe all the rules and have been taught to deal with others as they would want to be dealt with themselves.

So whoever this "hit and run" was in the new model white car who hit me with his left side and front bumper and left me there helpless, I hope you see the error of your ways before it is too late.

SHOCKING PATRONAGE

A recent report showing that students who won their way into the Air Force Academy on the basis of their academic excellence were far superior to those named by congressmen should be a matter of concern to our national legislators.

Cadets picked by congressional patronage rated lower in virtually every respect. Their dropout rate was higher — 27 per cent to 22 per cent — and they achieved fewer academic honors.

Congress recently has been expressing concern that our armed services have not always been buying the best of weapons. Shouldn't it also be interested in seeing that the armed services get the best manpower available? — Detroit News

Dear Abby....

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with your answers, but I think you were wrong to tell that 14-year-old girl who was only holding hands with a boy at the baseball game that "any show of affection was out of place in public." What's wrong with holding hands in public, Abby? Isn't it a lot better than doing other things on the sneak? Are you getting to be an old fogey or something? You sure let us kids down this time.

DISAPPOINTED: I'm sorry if I let you down, but if it's any consolation, you have lots of company. There is NOTHING wrong with holding hands. But it leads to other displays of affection, such as slipping the arm around the waist. Then a big controversy develops over WHERE the waist begins and where it ends. Honest affection is beautiful, but a hands-off policy in public is a good safeguard for a girl's reputation. And a boy's, too.

DEAR ABBY: I visited my son recently and never was I hurt more in my life. My daughter-in-law works part-time for a doctor, and all the time I was there she worked, which was all right with me because it gave me a chance to cook, sew, keep her house and take care of her two adorable children. The killing blow came when her best friend called up and told me that my daughter-in-law ASKED the doctor to let her work full time during my visit there because she hated me and did not care to be at home while I was there. Do you think I should talk to my son about this?

DEAR MOTHER: First, your informant is more of a fool than a friend, and may even be a liar. So, ignore the report and enjoy your visit. P. S. With a "best friend" like her, your daughter-in-law doesn't need any enemies.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 11, but I am very big for my age. My problem is I don't know how to ask my mother for a bra. But that isn't the hardest part. She is handicapped with "M.S." and even if she said yes my Dad would have to buy it for me, and that would be very embarrassing. Please tell me what to do because I am getting ashamed.

"JUST ME" DEAR "ME": Confide in an aunt, a grown girl cousin or even a friendly neighbor lady, and I'm sure one of them will be glad to take you shopping. And it is nothing to be

Anglicans Told They're Unique In Christendom

TORONTO (U) — An American Episcopalian said Anglicans are unique in Christendom because they combine the best of Catholicism and Protestantism and an attitude of "reverent agnosticism."

Canon Howard Johnson of New York City's Cathedral of St. John the Divine told the World Anglican Congress Anglicans must strengthen their church because they are best equipped to bring about the Christian unity that will cause them to disappear.

Present at the Northern Wisconsin district convention of the Lutheran Church, Missouri-Synod, convening in Marquette this week were the following members of the National Evangelical Lutheran Church: (From left) Dr. J. E. Nopola, the Rev. J. W. Sippola, the Rev. Toivo Miettinen and John Stenman.

Lutherans Pass Resolution: Merging Set For January

A resolution was passed at the North Wisconsin district convention of the Lutheran Church, Missouri-Synod, to accept all members of the National Evangelical Lutheran Church (Finnish) who apply for membership which is to become effective on Jan. 1, 1964. Seven pastors representing 10 congregations are present at the convention in Marquette this week.

In his report to the convention, the Rev. Lloyd H. Goetz, pastor of Hope Lutheran Congregation of DePere, Wis., and president of the North Wisconsin district, stated that there have been no less than 45 changes within the pastorates of the district during the past two years, involving at least one-third of all congregations within the district.

At present there are 11 parishes without the services of a resident pastor. The North Wisconsin district, which includes Upper Michigan, showed a 4.18 per cent gain during the past two years and now numbers about 95,000.

Son Of Marquette Native Gathering Laurels For Stage Work In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (Special to The Mining Journal) — A young, handsome boy breathed a sigh of fatigue and satisfaction the other night at the Hilton U. Brown Outdoor Theatre on the Bradley University campus here.

RANDY STRAND

The seventh and last performance of "The King and I" was over, and 11-year-old Randy Strand had completed more than a month's exhausting, but highly successful work in the role of Louis in the famous musical.

Randy's role as Louis in the Rodgers & Hammerstein musical put him in the position of Miss Morison's theater son, but his proximity to this illustrious star failed to dim his performance as the son of an English teacher who undertakes the education of an irascible Siamese king and his sizeable retinue.

of his life in perspective, last year turned down the national road company of "The Sound of Music" when they twice requested that he audition for the production.

It is therefore certain that Randy will enter the sixth grade this month, continue to handle his paper route and behave in all other ways like a smart and personable 11-year-old.

It is also certain that the high frequency of telephone calls to him at home will continue, as will the admiring but controlled regard in which his friends hold him.

Since then Randy has had minor roles in road productions of "Tom Sawyer," "Take Me Along," "Carousel" and "The Wizard of Oz," but he continues to think of professional acting as something he "might like to do" once his formal education is completed.

Newly Married Couples Share Responsibilities, Work Together At Tasks

By MRS. INGRID BARTELLI Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Michigan State University. So now you're married! How wonderful it is to "feather a nest for the two of you." Young brides seem to have a special gift in being able to take that first rented apartment or maybe even a single room and make a cozy, attractive "first home" of it.

Though she knew it would be her job, the new bride isn't always as ready to face the challenge of three meals on the table every day. Very often by the end of the first week she has cooked everything she knows how to cook. Maybe she has even spent the full month's grocery allotment.

One thing is more true of the young marrieds today that wasn't quite as true a generation or two ago — they're more apt to share the same responsibilities and work together on the same task. This may be grocery shopping, planning and preparing meals, "keeping" the house or mowing the lawn. More than likely both husband and wife have jobs.

Of course, the young folks today don't work any harder than we old-timers did, but the job definition is different. In our day, a woman's place was in the kitchen, period! Of course, things weren't so convenient, so it took most of the woman's time to get her housekeeping and cooking chores done. To see a man with his hands in dish water was a rare thing. As the young girls grew up they did their stint in the kitchen to learn all the tricks of the trade from mother.

Nowadays it's not unusual to see the kitchen completely deserted till one-half hour before mealtimes. Then both the new mistress and man of the house work together to put a meal on the table that will equal any we spent hours on back when we were "brides." The bride of today didn't spend too many hours in the kitchen with mother either. She had far too many other things to do. Because of this she knows she'll have to learn more about this food business. More than likely she and her husband will learn together. Some of the young fellows today can turn a mean hamburger and toss an elegant salad to go with it. Nor is the young groom above rolling up his sleeves and helping with the dishes.

We have just received an allotment of the new bulletin, "Food for the Young Couple," which gives some very practical information for the young folks tackling the responsibility of providing the kind of meal that will make for a happy, healthy life ahead. It contains a suggested list of staples to buy on that first shopping trip — even a suggested list of kitchen tools and utensils you might want for a starter. The main meat of the bulletin deals with meal planning, use of modern convenience foods, ways to cut menu costs and various weekly food plans. It's yours for the asking (even for you brides of a few years ago). Just write to Mrs. Ingrid Bartelli, MSU Extension Center, Box 719, Marquette, Mich.

Difficult To Adjust. It seems pretty normal and easy to learn how to shop and cook for "additions" to the growing family. But when the family has grown up and the numbers around the table begin to dwindle, it's much more difficult to adjust to cooking for two again. By this time we begin to feel the aches and pains that we've created by cooking what we like to eat and in the quantities we like to eat, rather than what we should be eating. Maybe we've even forgotten what a well planned food pattern is. We have some help here, too, under these titles, "Food Guide for Older Folks" and "Meals for Middle Years."

Sometimes it's hard for us old-timers to adjust our shopping habits to the modern store that carries all the convenience foods. We wander around in the maze of aisles of food displays looking for old-time foods that are just no longer available. Well, whether you're a bride of one week or a hundred weeks, we stand ready to help you with your food shopping and marketing problems. Don't ever hesitate to call on us for any help you may need.

Stampee-Dodendorf

ISHPEMING — Miss Carolyn June Stampee, daughter of Mrs. John Stampee and the late John Stampee, became the bride of Paul Francis Dodendorf, Sault Ste. Marie, son of Mrs. Leo Dodendorf and the late Mr. Dodendorf, Negaunee, at 11 a.m. Saturday in a Nuptial Mass in St. John's Church.

The Very Rt. Rev. Msgr. David P. Spelgatti was the celebrant of the double ring ceremony. White gladioli and blue pompons decorated the church altar.

Miss Elaine Anderson sang the "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother." The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Gerald, wore a gown of silk taffeta, fashioned with rosepoint applique lace, highlighted with pearls and crystal. It had traditional long sleeves, scooped neckline, molded bodice and bouffant skirt, adorned by lace appliques. The back detail consisted of a bustle and a large cabbage rose. The gown fell into a chapel train. Her forward headpiece was a large taffeta cabbage rose, highlighted by pearls and edged with lace, from which a veil of French illusion tulle fell. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and white pompons.

Miss Judith LaFond, Marquette, was her maid of honor. Mrs. Robert Lawson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gerald Stampee, sister-in-law of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They were gowned identically in long, light blue gowns of organza over taffeta, detailed with scooped neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, and long sideward skirts trimmed with small bows. They wore forehead clusters of petals, with French bouffant veils and carried colonial bouquets of blue and white pompons. Charlotte, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campain, Appleton, Wis. Friends and relatives from Negaunee, Marquette and Gwinn also attended.

James Manley and Francis DeCaire ushered. Mrs. Stampee wore a pale blue lace dress with a lace jacket and beige accessories. The groom's mother chose a pink shantung sheath with matching lace jacket and beige accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white roses. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Othilia Heikkila, wore a navy blue dress and a corsage of white carnations and pompons.

Reception For 450

A wedding dinner was served to 37 guests at the Thimmes Memorial Building, which was later the scene of the reception attended by 450 guests. The rehearsal supper, given by the groom's mother, was held at the Northwoods.

Following a wedding trip to Wisconsin, Dells, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Dodendorf will be at home at 1600 Minneapolis St., Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Dodendorf is a graduate of Ishpeming High School and Northern Michigan University's ARA Training Center. She was employed by A. Lindberg and Sons, Inc. Her husband, a graduate of St. Paul's High School, Negaunee, is employed as assistant disposal officer at Kincheloe Air Force Base, Sault Ste. Marie.

Out-of-town guests were John Wakui and Beverly Erkkin, Milwaukee; Robert Salmi and Christine Salmi, Maine; Howard Olsen and Douglas Stampee, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. James Vanover Hulle and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sundberg, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bye and family, Orange, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rodenborn and Michelle, Fort Dodge, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. David Gendron, Dexter; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stooks, Charlotte; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campain, Appleton, Wis. Friends and relatives from Negaunee, Marquette and Gwinn also attended.

Camp Group Tours Parks In Peninsula

Ten units of the Wells Vagabond Camping Club of Marquette have returned after spending two weeks touring Upper Michigan and Wisconsin.

The Vagabonds stressed that many beautiful parks are found in the least expected areas. Small towns such as Peshtigo, Wis., and Alpha, they said, have worked very hard to increase their tourist business by making available the best of accommodations for the many campers on the road today.

Travelers are urged to take advantage of the generosity of these people and express their thanks by helping to keep the parks clean and by telling others about them, they added.

Next Tour In September

Highlights of this outing included tours of the Mall and Mobile Home factory in West Bend, Wis., Schlitz Brewery, Milwaukee, and the Badger Paper Mills in Peshtigo. The club also visited the Wisconsin State Fair while in Milwaukee.

The next scheduled trip for the club will be the "color tour" to take place the last week in September.

People interested in the activities of the club or in becoming members should call Robert Zorza at CA 6-6989.

Nelson Will Give Recital Sunday In St. Paul's Church

St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Marquette will offer another recital Sunday in the Alex Hamby Memorial Recital Series, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the church, located at E. Ridge and High Sts.

Carl A. Nelson has been engaged as vocalist for this recital and will devote the major portion of his presentation to arias from two oratorios, "Judas Maccabaeus" and "The Messiah," both by Handel.

Nelson has had engagements at a number of churches of various denominations in Ann Arbor, Detroit and New York, as well as the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C. He is a student of one of Caruso's colleagues, Sr. Pompilio Malatesta, and has been heard in opera and in Broadway musicals in New York and with touring companies.

He also has sung in Carnegie Hall and in Radio City Music Hall. Locally, Nelson has studied with Miss Ruth Craig of NMU and has been a soloist for the Marquette Church of Christ, Scientist.

A future organ and vocal recital is planned to trace the development of hymns in the Christian church, touching on Roman plainsong and Gregorian chant, and will move through history to contemporary compositions for the church.

A free will offering will be taken, to be used for organ improvements and choir purposes at St. Paul's.

Criss-Lawry

ISHPEMING — Grace Episcopal Church was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Mary Ann Criss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Criss, 1308 Kennedy Ave., Duquesne, Pa., and David John Lawry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Vicary, Ishpeming.

The Rev. Reno Kuehnel performed the double ring ceremony at 4 p.m.

The bride, given in marriage by Ernest Bengry, uncle of the groom, wore a floor-length gown of white lace with net, fashioned with a fitted bodice, scalloped neckline, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt. A lace cap held her shoulder length veil in place, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Mrs. Gene Overby, Duquesne, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Mrs. Overby wore a pink chiffon street-length gown with a full skirt and a matching lace jacket; and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and one pink rose.

Thomas Vicary, Ishpeming, brother of the groom, was the best man. Seating the guests were Dewey Tippet, Ishpeming, uncle of the groom, and Donald Herman, Appleton, Wis.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Russell Hill, West Ishpeming. The couple will reside at 112 S. Angeline, Ishpeming. The bride is a graduate of Duquesne High School. The groom is a graduate of Ishpeming High School and was discharged from the U. S. Navy on July 1.

You can convert twin beds into a king-size bed with a king-size urethane foam mattress pad. Before you buy, measure the combined beds — width and length — to get the right size pad. There will be no center space between the two beds if you turn the twin mattresses parallel to the head and footboards before putting the pad on.

Lines from Lou's by... maggie

I have in front of me a fresh ream of paper, a handful of notes, and the typewriter has a brand new ribbon. And with that we're all ready to start a brand new season.

If you're wondering what has happened to us... well, in the last month we have taken a little vacation, driven to Detroit to pick up my Mother and Dad, who are visiting us here in Marquette, and in general gadding about and otherwise being lazy. And we've taken advantage of the swimming lessons at Shiras Pool every morning.

We vacationed at Eagle River again this year. Found a wonderful spot down there on Anvil Lake. Nice cabins, good beaches and wonderful swimming and boating. And we fed the fish plain ordinary worms and those big nit-crawlers. Let me just say that next year it will be more fun to catch them; they will be fatter! Haven't we had a terrific summer? Hot, not too much rain (not enough, in fact) and days that were just meant for relaxing in the backyard and watching the kid next door doing YOUR lawn! Of course, Ken doesn't even kick about working those hot days. Why should he, with the store so nicely air-conditioned for your shopping comfort. Shop in the heat of summer, but in the cool of fall, when you see the new fall styles at LOU'S in the center of Marquette. —Adv.

Steel Import Check Asked By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is asking the Treasury and State Departments to look into steel imports, the White House said today.

Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel Corp., and David J. McDonald, president of United Steel Workers, called on Kennedy Tuesday and asked him to do something about what they consider dumping of foreign steel on the American market.

After the meeting, Blough said the President indicated he would look into the matter. Blough said they did not ask the President to do more than that and did not suggest any specific remedy.

Blough said foreign countries had sold 4.3 million tons of steel in the United States last year and it appeared that sales this year would jump over five million tons.

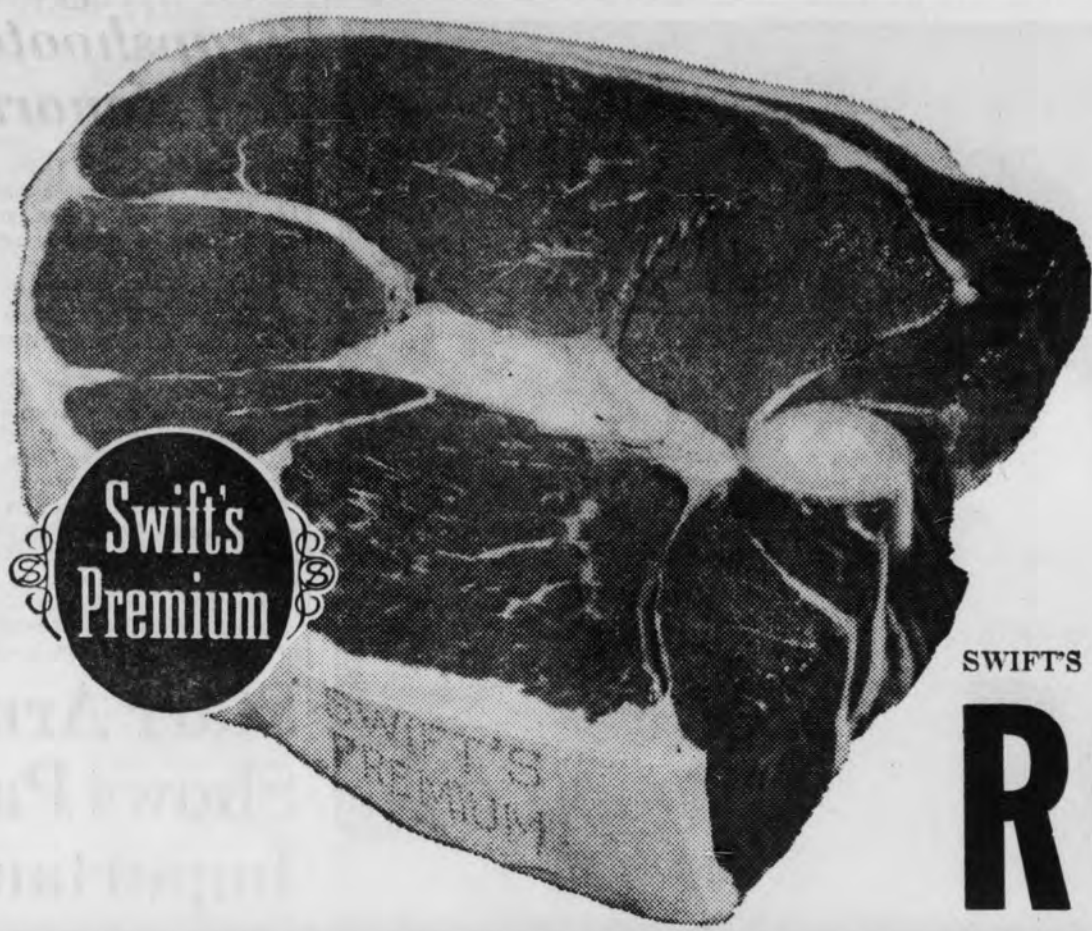

Many Nigerians Study In United Kingdom

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — British High Commission figures show 781 scholarships have been awarded to Nigerian students by the British government for study in the United Kingdom since this country became independent in 1960.

Hundreds of additional scholarships have been awarded through British industries operating in Nigeria.

The high commission estimated that more than 8,000 Nigerians are presently studying in Britain.

James Otis, American patriot, originated the phrase "Taxation without representation is tyranny."

Bunning Takes Big Loss; Not Mentioned In 1964 Season Plans By Charlie

DETROIT (AP) Improved pitching is Manager Charlie Dressen's top objective for the 1964 Tigers—and he has to be prodded to include Jim Bunning's name in talk of next year.

Bunning, Detroit's ace for several years, is the biggest flop of all on a pitching staff that has gone sour from top to bottom.

The Minnesota Twins raked the Tiger over for 15 hits in a 12-1 victory Wednesday. Bunning suffered his 17th loss against nine victories.

No Bunning Mention After the beating was over, Dressen spoke of his 1964 hopes. He mentioned Frank Lary and Hank Aguirre as the mainliners around whom he'll build his pitching staff.

There was an awkward silence when Dressen's comments failed to include Bunning. "What about Bunning?" Dressen finally was asked.

The manager paused before making his response. "Bunning's not too old," Dressen finally said. "What'd he win, 17 games two years ago and 19 last year? If he pitches like he did in his last four games before this one, he's got to win 20 games."

But the feeling was stronger than ever the 31-year-old veteran won't get the chance to win 20 games although he reportedly has told Dressen he'd prefer not to be traded.

Bombardment Bunning took the brunt of the Twins' bombardment in the fourth inning when they scored eight times and had nine hits.

Lions Acquire Mattson; Give Sewell Away

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP) — The Detroit Lions, seeking to improve their sporadic running game, have acquired fullback Olie Mattson from the Los Angeles Rams in a trade for lineman Harley Sewell.

The deal involving the two National Football League oldtimers was completed Tuesday night.

Once Feared Mattson, 33, once was one of the most feared runners in the NFL. He joined the Chicago Cardinals in 1932 after competing in the Olympics as a 400-meter runner.

He was a second-stringer behind Dick Bass last year. Mattson gained only 76 yards all season.

Sewell, 32, was a regular offensive guard for 10 years for the Lions.

4 Michigan Trapshooters Get Honors

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — Four Michigan residents took honors in the 64th Grand American Trapshoot when it opened here Monday.

Adolph Nelson, 77, of Detroit, captured first place in the veteran men's competition by breaking 99 of 100 targets.

Rita Piccobotta, of Flint, was runner up in the women's 200-target championship event. She broke 191 targets, trailing the winner, Mrs. Van Marker, by only one.

Ned Lilly, of Stanton, went into a seven-way tie in the 200-target men's competition. All seven had perfect scores of 200.

Douglas V. Bublitz, of Bad Axe, was in a four-way deadlock at 99 in the junior division shoot.

The committee said Robert Hicks, resident manager of the Alma Piston Co., has raised $1,000 and still is working.

A group has been organized in Detroit and its suburbs to help raise the $400,000 needed to finance the city's bid for the games.

The committee's executive group, including Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Gov. George Romney will go before International Olympic Committee in October.

Detroit Bid Improves With Money Drive

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's out-state communities have been lending Detroit a hand in its bid to bring the 1968 Olympic Games here, the Detroit Olympic Committee reports.

An anonymous volunteer from a central Michigan town called Olympic headquarters in Detroit with the message: "Wants To Give $200"

"I've got $131 for you but the banker won't back from vacation for a few days. Will it be all right if I wait until then and send you $200 even?"

The committee said Robert Hicks, resident manager of the Alma Piston Co., has raised $1,000 and still is working.

Starr Arm Shows Pass Importance

GREEN BAY (AP)—Green Bay Packers quarterback Bart Starr showed what the pass was for Wednesday, completing nine straight aeriels as the National Football League champions continued their score-or-else drills.

Given the ball on the 20, and two minutes in which to score, Starr rolled 80 yards with successive completions to Boyd Dowler, Ron Kramer, Max McGee, and Jim Taylor. The score came on a five-yard toss to Dowler.

Halfback Elijah Pitts pointed in the drill as his injured shoulder continued to improve. Coach Vince Lombardi said "he'll play if needed" in Saturday night's exhibition with the Chicago Bears in Milwaukee.

MSU Game Shifted To Avoid Conflict With Series Tilt EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State's football team will meet Southern California at the Los Angeles Coliseum Friday night, Oct. 4, instead of the originally-scheduled date of Saturday, Oct. 5.

An announcement Tuesday from MSU said the two athletic directors, Jess Hill of Southern California and Biggie Munn of MSU, agreed on the switch because the Los Angeles Dodgers may be playing a World Series baseball game at the Coliseum that day.

Munn explained that "should Los Angeles win the National League pennant, there would be a World Series game played in Los Angeles the afternoon of October 3."

"Obviously," Munn continued, "it wouldn't be very smart to have two games opposite each other, so Hill and I decided to make the change."

Game time for the evening contest will be 8 p. m. Pacific Daylight Saving Time, which is 10 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

UAR Major World's Best Distance Man

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — A United Arab Republic Army major and three-time conqueror of the English Channel has met a new challenge by swimming 60 miles across Lake Michigan from Chicago—a feat that earned him $15,000 in prize money.

Abdel-Latif Abo-Heis, 34, waded to the beach here at dusk Wednesday after spending an unofficial 34 hours and 45 minutes in the water. Sponsors of the race claimed Abo-Heif the world's open water endurance swimming champion.

Abo-Heif, a veteran marathon swimmer and selected as champion of Egypt this year, said he felt fine and full of pep after the swim. But he added the race "was the toughest, the longest and the coldest swim I've ever had."

Some 5,000 persons lined the beach to welcome him, including his wife, Manar.

After spending more than half an hour posing for photographers and answering questions, Abo-Heif was taken to St. Joseph Hospital for examination and then was taken to a Chicago hospital where he remained under observation overnight.

Only one other swimmer of the 16 who started from Chicago at 8 a. m. Tuesday, finished the race. Ted Erickson, 35, a Chicago chemical engineer, was about one mile out in the lake when Abo-Heif reached shore.

Red Wings Open Pre-Season Play DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings will open their pre-season schedule on Sept. 19 against the Toronto Maple Leafs in Peterborough, Ont. The teams will meet again on the following day.

When I played ball, the only guys we threw at were 300 hitters," Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts said wryly. "Hell, the Yankees haven't got any."

Fan Clubs Will Pick King Tiger

DETROIT — One of the Detroit Tigers is going to be crowned King Tiger, and will be recognized as the teen-agers' most popular player of the season. The coronation will take place August 24 at Tiger Stadium and the occasion is the third annual Fan Club Day.

More than 40 fan clubs, each with a minimum of 25 teen-age members, will take part in the selection of King Tiger and honor him with a pre-game presentation.

Personality, co-operation, good looks and grooming are the main factors for the player's selection in a poll of the young fans.

The poll and the ceremonies are being arranged by the Tigers Fan Club Association, of which Alberta Haesebrouck, 4686 Chalmers (Detroit), is president.

Any member of a bona fide fan club affiliated with the association will be admitted free to the Tigers' game with Kansas City on Fan Club Day, upon presentation of a fan club membership card at Gate No. 3 the day of the game.

Almost every Tiger has been honored by a fan club this season. Rocky Colavito is supported by the most clubs, but Hank Aguirre is pressing him for the largest number.

Grand Rapids Wins Again In Tourney

JACKSON (AP) — Grand Rapids won its third straight Class D championship, and Pontiac and Allen Park captured lower class crowns, in the Recreation Association of Michigan Boys Baseball tournament Tuesday.

Grand Rapids defeated Pontiac, 2-0, in the 18 and under final after downing Wandotte by the same score in the morning semi-final.

Pontiac ousted Dearborn Heights, 8-1, in the other semi-final.

In Class E, for boys 15 and under, Allen Park downed Roseville, 6-1, after disposing of Holland, 5-1, in the semis. Roseville qualified by defeating Dearborn Heights, 4-1.

In Class F, 13 and under, Pontiac blanked Allen Park, 3-0, in the finals. Pontiac ousted Jackson, 15-1, in semi-final tilt.

Roseville's Ed Marscher pitched a one-hitter and hit a two-run homer in the Class E victory over Dearborn Heights. The only other home run in the day's action was hit by Pontiac's Tony Delarosa against Jackson in Class F.

Try Hammer On Head, Says Gudelsky

MUSKOGON (AP) — Michigan Athletic Commissioner David Gudelsky wants to know how the state can be kicked out of a place it already has left.

The World Boxing Association (WBA) voted Tuesday to expel the state from the organization. Delegates at the WBA's Miami Beach convention voted 5-4 to oust Michigan for a "contemptuous attitude."

"Contemptuous attitude" covers Michigan's withdrawal from the WBA last June, sanctioning of the Lane-Armstead fight in Saginaw Monday as a title bout, and vacating the light heavyweight crown, on only 10 weeks ago by Willie Pastrano.

Name Calling After booting Michigan out of the association, WBA President Dr. Charles Larson said, "I could call Dave Gudelsky every name I use when I hit my finger with a hammer."

Larson should try his head with that hammer," replied Gudelsky from his Muskogon home. "And how can they kick us out of a place we've already left he asked."

Gudelsky said Michigan withdrew from the WBA by letter on June 6. Larson claims Gudelsky left "only in the newspapers."

Segregation Blamed For Game Switch

NEW YORK (AP)—A scheduled American Football League exhibition game between the Oakland Raiders and New York Jets at Mobile, Ala., Friday night has been switched to Oakland on Sunday because of a controversy over segregated seating.

Four Wouldn't Play Milt Woodard, assistant AFL commissioner, said the game had been canceled out of Mobile's Ladd Memorial Stadium by agreement of all parties involved after four Negro members of the Oakland team refused to play unless the stadium was completely desegregated.

The Mobile sponsors said this was impossible. The four players are Art Powell, Fred Williamson, Clem Daniels and Bo Robertson. There are eight Negroes on the Jets, four in the starting line-up.

David (Sonny) Werblin, new owner of the Jets, said he pressed for removal of the game from Mobile.

Werblin said he had been told by the Cleveland Browns Wednesday that the National Football League club reduced its squad to 44.

Four Tigers Will Play Puerto Rican Ball This Winter

DETROIT — Four players on the Detroit Tiger roster have accepted offers to play with the Mayaguez club in the Puerto Rico Winter League.

James A. Campbell, general manager of the Tigers, said permission has been granted to outfielder Gates Brown and Pitcher Fred Gladding, Alan Koch and Willie Smith to join Mayaguez when the season opens there Oct. 10.

The invitations to the Tiger players, all of whom have seen service with the major league club this season, were extended by Babel Perez, operator of the Mayaguez club and a Tiger scout in Puerto Rico.

Mayaguez will again be managed by Cal Ermer, formerly a manager in the minor league system.

Campbell indicated that other young players in the Tiger organization would possibly be invited to sign with other Puerto Rico clubs.

Brown, Gladding and Koch are now with the Tigers. Smith, who spent seven weeks with them during the current season, is with the Syracuse club of the International League.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Toledo Tornadoes of the United Football League have signed former University of Michigan quarterback Dave Glinka.

Arnie, Nick, Julius Will Be Watched

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Watch the big boys. That's the word in the American Golf Classic, a 72-hole test which begins Thursday and winds up Sunday.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros are favored because of their ability to master long, tough courses. The 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course is one of the longest and toughest in the country.

Most of the players competing agree that if Palmer and Nicklaus are hitting their drives the $50,000 tournament, with a top prize of $9,000, could become a two-man show.

Boros, the U.S. Open champion, is enjoying one of his best years as the 43-year-old veteran ranks as a strong contender.

Although the long hitters are getting all the attention, one man who shouldn't be overlooked is little Gary Player. He has not been on the tour since the PGA a month ago and is well rested.

Player started off with a bang in a practice round Wednesday. He had a birdie, an eagle and another birdie on the first three holes and finished with a two-under-par 68.

LEES LASTING STAR

the first and the best carpet made with DuPont 501 nylon pile

ONLY $7⁹⁵ SQ. YD.

AVAILABLE IN 12 & 15 FT. WIDTHS
24 DECORATOR COLORS TO CHOOSE FROM

Lasting Star not only wears better, it looks better than run-of-the-mill nylon carpets for two very good reasons.

First, 501 nylon is the first ever engineered especially for carpet use, in one long, strong, continuous filament that never can fuzz up into little dirt traps or broken, matted ends.

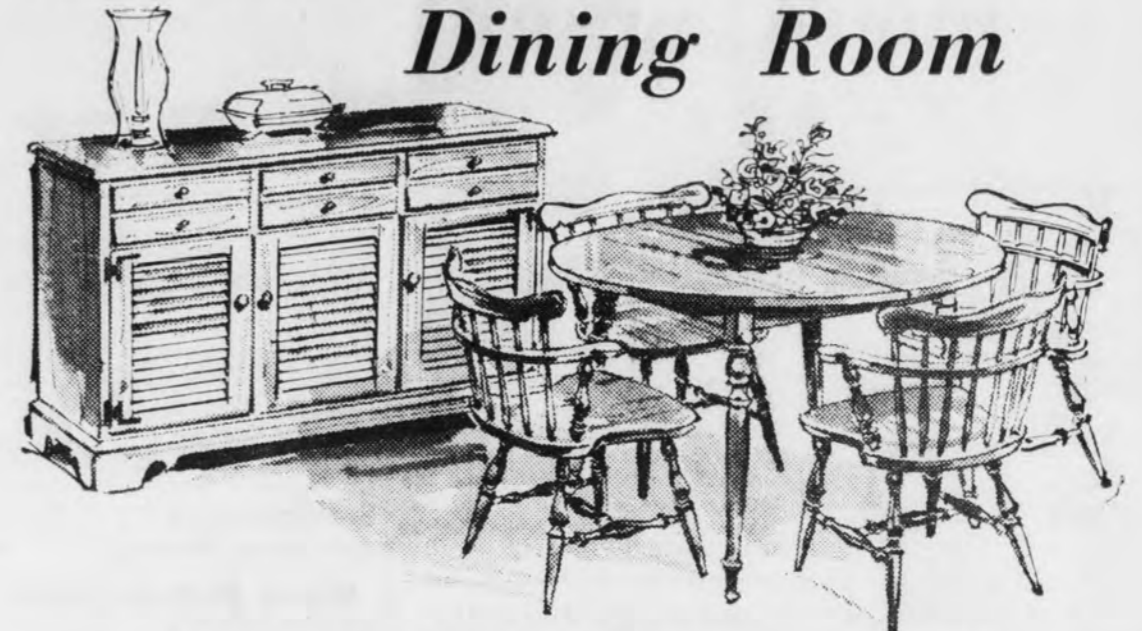

Second, Lee's gives this modern man-made fiber the same respectful care that's gone into every yard of carpet they ever made. Same number of painstaking inspections at every step of the way.

Every one... of these heavenly carpets by Lee's is registered by number for your protection.

That's why Lasting Star is not like other nylon carpets. Durable! Won't shed! Won't Mat! Resists stains and scuffs! And so easy to care for, you can go wild on color — the lightest, the brightest, even white. Naturally Lasting Star is mothproof, mildew-proof and non-allergenic. Truly a remarkable carpet.
